उवाच विनयाद्भक्त्या कृताञ्जलिपुटो मुदा॥३९॥

O Nārada, the people can hardly have a change of rescue when they get entangled in the evil effects of their own actions. That is why the noble people always aspire for the destruction of the deeds. Because it is the same knowledge, it is the same tapas, it is the same wisdom, it is the same teacher, it is the same brother, the same parents and the same sons who really help in the destruction of the karmas. For humans it is the biggest ailment to face the result of good and bad deeds. Therefore the devotees using the medicine of adoration of Kṛṣṇa, try to destroy the deeds. After serving the gods in each birth, it is the goddess Durgā alone who bestows the devotion of the lord. She preserves the universe and getting pleased she bestows the noble wisdom to the devotees; she is the primeval illusion which over powers the devotees with her influence and cannot regain their senses. Therefore, the king having been influenced with the illusion went to the sage and spoke to him with folded hands, the humble words.

राजोवाच

देहि भिक्षां कल्पतरो कामधेनुं च कामदाम्।
मह्यं भक्ताय भक्तेश भक्तानुग्रहकारक॥४०॥

The king said - O wish fulfilling tree, you give away this Kāmadhenu in charity to me which fulfils all the desires. O lord of the devotees, I happen to be one of your devotees.

युष्मद्विधानां दातृणामदेयं नास्ति भारते।
दधीचिर्देवताभ्यश्च ददौ स्वास्थि पुरा श्रुतम्॥४१॥
भ्रूभङ्गलीलामात्रेण तपोराशे तपोधन।
समूहं कामधेनूनां स्रष्टुं शक्तोऽसि भारते॥४२॥

In the land of Bhārata nothing is beyond charity for a devotee like you because it is heard that the sage Dadhīci gave away his bones in the earlier times for the welfare of the gods. O best of the sages, you are the treasure of tapas and you are competent enough to create a herd of Kāmadhenu cows simply with the raising of your eye-brows.

मुनिरुवाच

अहो व्यतिक्रमं राजन्ब्रवीषि शठ वञ्चक।
दानं दास्यामि विप्रोऽहं क्षत्रियाय कथं नृप॥४३॥

The sage said - O king, this is just the reverse and you are talking like a wicked person or a cheat. O king, being a Brāhmaṇa, how can I give charity to a kṣatrīya.

कृष्णेन दत्ता गोलोके ब्रह्मणे परमात्मना।

गोलोकजा कामधेनुर्दुर्लभा भुवनत्रये।
लीलामात्रात्कथमहं कपिलां स्रष्टुमीश्वर:॥४६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa gave away this Kāmadhenu in Goloka to Brahmā. Therefore it is not fit to be given away. O king, Brahmā gave her to his dear son named Bhṛgu and in turn the same sacred cow was given to me by Bhṛgu. Therefore this cow happens to be my ancestral property. This Kāmadhenu who was born in Goloka is beyond the reach of anyone in the three worlds. Therefore, how can I create such a sacred cow playfully.

नाहं रे हालिको मूढ स्तुत्या नोत्थापितो बुधः।

गृहं गच्छ गृहं गच्छ मे कोपं नैव वर्द्धय।
पुत्रदारादिकं पश्य दैवबाधित पामर॥४८॥

O foolish king, I am not a farmer and the learned people never get influenced by flattery. Of course, have you not been my guest, I would have reduced you to ashes in a moment. Therefore, you get back home. I again emphasise that you get back home and don't ignite my anger. O degraded one, misfortune has overshadowed you. You should therefore get back to your house at once and see the face of your wife and son.

मुनेस्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा चुकोप स नराधिपः।
नत्वा मुनिं सैन्यमध्यं प्रययौ विधिबाधितः॥४९॥

Hearing these words of the sage, the king at the turn of destiny, went back to his army, bowing at the feet of the sage.

गत्वा सैन्यसकाशं स कोपप्रस्फुरिताधरः।
किंकरान्प्रेषयामास धेनुमानयितुं बलात्॥५०॥

Reaching there, his lips started fluttering in anger. He, therefore, deputed his army-men to forcibly take away the cow from the hermitage.

कपिलासंनिधिं गत्वा रुरोद मुनिपुंगवः।

रुदन्तं ब्राह्मणं दृष्ट्वा सुरभिस्तमुवाच ह।

On the other hand Jamadagni, the sage, went to the cow and started crying before her narrating the entire story to her. Finding the Brāhmaṇa crying, the sacred cow Surabhi who was indeed the form of Lakṣmī herself said to the sage.

सुरभिरुवाच

इन्द्रो वा हालिको वाऽपि वस्तु स्वं दातुमीश्वरः।
शास्ता पालयिता दाता स्ववस्तूनां च संततम्॥५३॥
स्वेच्छया चेन्नृपेन्द्राय मां ददासि तपोधन।
तेन सार्द्धं गमिष्यामि स्वेच्छया च तवाऽऽज्ञया॥५४॥

Surabhi said- Whether he is Indra or a farmer, he has the right to give away his own things. Therefore he can control, preserve or give away his own things in charity. Therefore, O sage, in case you intend to willingly hand me over to the king, then in that case, bowing at your command I shall willingly go to the king.

अथवा न ददासि त्वं न गमिष्यामि ते गृहात्।
मत्तो दत्तेन सैन्येन दूरी कुरु नृपं द्विषम्॥५५॥

But in case you are not willing to give me to the king, I shall never leave your abode. Therefore, you drive away the king with the soldiers provided by me.

त्वं वा को मे तवाहं का संबन्धः कालयोजितः।
याददेव हि संबन्धो ममत्वं तावदेव हि॥५७॥

O all knowledgeable one, why are you crying? Your mind has been influenced by illusion because of the meeting with somebody and not within the competence of any individual. What are you to me and what am I to you? But your relationship with me has been established due to the time because the attachment remains till such time as the relationship is there.

मनो जानाति यद्द्रव्यमात्मीयं चेति केवलम्।

Whatever is known to the mind as its own and till such time as the mind accepts its ownership only up to that time he feels painful by its separation.

इत्युक्त्वा कामधेनुश्च सुषाव विविधानि च।
शस्त्राण्यस्त्राणि सैन्यानि सूर्यतुल्यप्रभाणि च॥५९॥

Thus speaking, the sacred cow Kāmadhenu created many soldiers equipped with various types of weapons.

निर्गताः कपिलावक्त्रात्त्रिकोट्यः खड्गधारिणाम्।
विनिःसृता नासिकायाः शूलिनः पञ्चकोटयः॥६०।

Thereafter, three crores of soldiers appeared from the mouth of Kapilā the cow, who were holding swords and shields, five crores of soldiers holding tridents, a hundred crores of soldiers from the eyes holding bow and arrow, three crores of soldiers, carrying staff and three crores of warriors holding śaktis and a hundred crores of warriors holding clubs. Thousands of drummers emerged from the soles of hoofs, besides three crores of Rājaputras from the thighs and from private parts and three crores of soldiers who were Mlecchas. Thus the sacred cow Kapilā handed over the entire army of soldiers to the sage and granted him full protection. She said these soldiers will go immediately and fight with the king's army. You do not have to go there. Thus getting protected with so great an army, the sage was delighted. The messengers of the king went back to him and conveyed the news of the army of Kapilā. On realising the possibility of his defeat, the king felt panicky and deputing his messengers he called for more army from his kingdom.

Battle between Jamadagni and Kārtavīryārjuna

नारायण उवाच

हरिं स्मरन्कार्ततीर्यो हृदयेन विदूयता।

दूतं प्रस्थापयामास कुपितो मुनिसंनिधिम्॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - The king Kārtavīrya was painful at heart and in anger he sent a messenger to the sage.

युद्धं देहि मुनिश्रेष्ठ किंवा धेनुं च वाञ्छिताम्।

मह्यं भृत्यायातिथये सुविचार्य यथोचितम्॥ २॥

He said, "O best of the sage, I am your servant and a guest, therefore you give me appropriately either the sacred cow or the battle, whatever you deem better."

दूतस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा जहास मुनिपुंगवः।

हितं सत्यं नीतिसारं सर्वं दूतमुवाच ह॥ ३॥

On hearing the words of the messengers, the sage laughed and spoke to the messenger, the words which were beneficial, truthful and quite appropriate.

मुनिरुवाच

दृष्टो नृपो निराहारः समानीतो मया गृहम्।

विविधं च यथाशक्त्या भोजितश्च यथोचितम्॥ ४॥

The sage said - Finding the king hungry I brought him to my abode and served him with food appropriately whatever was available with me.

कपिलां याचते राजा मम प्राणाधिकां बलात्।

तां दातुमक्षमो दूत युद्धं दास्यामि निश्चितम्॥ ५॥

O messengers, now the same king is demanding my sacred cow from me which is dearer to me than my life. I am therefore unable to part with her. I will fight now; this is my resolve.

मुनेस्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा दूतः सर्वमुवाच ह।
नृपेन्द्रं च सभामध्ये संनाहैः संयुतं भिया॥६॥

On hearing the words of the sage, the messenger felt panicky at heart and spoke to the king whatever the sage had told him.

मुनिश्च कपिलामाह सांप्रतं किं करोम्यहम्।
कर्णधारं विना नौका तथा सैन्यं विना मया॥७॥

Thereafter, the sage spoke to the cow. "You tell me what I should do now, because the army is like a boat without a sailor."

कपिला च ददौ तस्मै शस्त्राणि विविधानि च।
युद्धशास्त्रोपदेशं च संधानं चौपयोगिकम्॥८॥

Kapilā then imparted the sage with the knowledge of the use of various types of weapons and arrows and other tricks of the battlefield.

जयो भवतु ते विप्र युद्धे जेष्यसि निश्चितम्।
तव मृत्युर्न भविता सत्यमस्त्रं विना मुने॥९॥

गृहीत्वा सर्वसैन्यं च स जगाम रणाजिरम्॥११॥

She then said, "O Brāhmaṇa, you will surely be victorious in the battle-field." O sage, you are not supposed to die without the Satyāstra. A Brāhmaṇa is going to fight with a king who is the disciple of Dattātreya and is quite powerful, is quite valorous but useless. Thus speaking, O Brāhmaṇa, the sacred cow kept quiet.

Thereafter the sage kept the army ready and proceeded on to the battle-field.

राजा जगाम युद्धाय ननाम मुनिपुंगवम्।
उभयोः सैन्ययोर्युद्धं बभूव बहुदुष्करम्॥१२॥

The king also bowed in reverence to the sage Jamadagni reaching in the battle-field. Thereafter the battle between the two armies started.

The soldiers of Kapilā forcefully defeated the army of the king and the chariot of the king was also playfully broken. His kavaca was cut-off; the king was unable to be victorious over the army of Kapilā. By the showering of the weapons, the army was deprived of the arrows and the weapons.

O sage, only a small number of the king's army could escape and some of the soldiers fled from the battle field. The merciful sage found the king fainted.

नृपाय मुनिना शीघ्रं दत्ताश्चरणरेणवः।
आशीर्वादं प्रदत्तं च जयोऽस्त्विति कृपालुना॥१८॥

Thereafter, the sage gave the king the dust of his feet besides the blessings, saying, "You will be victorious." Thus speaking he took away the water from the Kamaṇḍalu and brought him back to life.

On regaining consciousness, the king came out of the battle-field and spoke humble words, folding his hands to the sage bowing in reverence to him at the same time. The sage blessed him variously and embraced the king. The king was then bathed and was served food. The mind of the Brāhmaṇas is always soft like butter.

The mind of other people is always sharp like the edge of a blade, which is quite stiff and hard. Thereafter the sage said, "O king you go back to your abode."

The king said - "O great warrior I shall not return home; you kindly give me the battle or the cow desired by me."

नारद उवाच

हरिं स्मरन्मुनिश्रेष्ठो वाक्यं श्रुत्वा च भूभृतः।

Nārāyaṇa said - "On hearing the words of the king, the best of the sages started speaking to him, reminding himself of the name of the lord, which were quite beneficial, truthful and the full of essence."

मुनिरुवाच

The sage said - "O virtuous one, you go back to your house and protect your everlasting dharma because by falling from the dharma, the wisdom remains stable." This is certain.

On hearing the words of the sage the king bowed in reverence to the sage and mounting on the chariot, said, "You allow me to fight." Thereafter wearing the kavaca, the sage started fighting with him. The king on his part getting enraged fought a fierce battle. The sage on the other hand with the use of these weapons by the sacred cow, relieved the king of all the weapons. Thereafter, with the use of śakti provided by Kapilā, the king again fainted.

पुनश्च चेतनां प्राप्य राजा राजीवलोचनः।

Thereafter regaining consciousness, the king having the lotus-like eyes, fought a fierce battle with the sage; then the best of the king used the fire-arrow on the sage in the battle-field which was neutralised by the sage with the use of Vāruṇāstra.

The king on his part used in the battle-field the Vāruṇāstra quite playfully.

वायव्यास्त्रं नृपश्रेष्ठश्चिक्षेप समरे तदा।
गान्धर्वेण मुनिश्रेष्ठ: शमयामास तत्क्षणम्।। ११।।
नागास्त्रं च नृपश्रेष्ठश्चिक्षेप रणमूर्द्धनि।
गारुडेन मुनिश्रेष्ठो निजघान क्षणान्मुने।। १२।।

The king attacked the sage with Vāyavyāstra and the sage neutralised it with the use of Gāndharvāstra. The king used serpent-arrow on the sage in the battle-field and the sage in turn, in an instant, shot, a Garuḍa arrow destroying the weapons of the king.

माहेश्वरं महास्त्रं च शतसूर्यसमप्रभम्।

वैष्णवास्त्रेण दिव्येन त्रिलोकव्यापकेन च।
मुनिर्निर्वापयामास बहुयत्नेन नारद।। १४।।

O Nārada, the king then shot Māheśvarāstra on the sage which was the terrific of all and emitted lustre like hundreds of suns illumining the entire universe. The sage on the other hand, neutralised the same with the use of divine Vaiṣṇavāstra which pervaded the three worlds.

मुनिर्नारायणास्त्र च चिक्षिपे मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

ऊर्ध्वं च भ्रमणं कृत्वा क्षणं दीप्त्वा दिशो दश।

Thereafter, the sage attacked the king with Nārāyaṇāstra reciting the mantra. The king throwing away all the weapons, bowed in reverence to the same and took refuge under it. The weapon started roaming in all the directions in the universe emitting flames of fire like the fire of dissolution out of it.

जृम्भणास्त्र च स मुनिश्चिक्षेप रणमूर्धनि।
निद्रां प्रापत्तेन राजा सुष्वाप च मृतो यथा।। १७।।

The sage then used in the battle-field Jṛmbhaṇāstra as a result of which the king felt sleepy and he went to sleep as if dead.

दृष्ट्वा नृपं निद्रितं तं चार्द्धचन्द्रेण तत्क्षणम्।
चिच्छेद सारथिं यानं धनुर्बाणं मुनिस्तदा।। १८।।

Finding that the king was so sleeping, the sage used the crescent arrow which destroys the king's chariot, the charioteer, the bow and the arrows.

मुकुटं च क्षुरप्रेण च्छत्रं संनाहमेव च।
अस्त्रं तूणं वाजिगणं विविधेन च भूभृत:।। १९।।

As a result of the shooting of the arrow, the crown of the king, the chatra, the kavaca the weapons, the quiver and the horses also were cut-off.

Thereafter the sage with the use of Nāgāstra captured the king as well as his courtiers. Thereafter Sumantra brought back to the king to sense and showed him the captured courtiers.

दर्शयित्वा नृपं तांश्च मोचयामास तत्क्षणम्।
नृपेन्द्रमाशिषं कृत्वा गृहं गच्छेत्युवाच ह।। २२।।

Thereafter showing the same to the king he was freed. Blessing him, the sage said, "You go back home."

राजा कोपात्समुत्थाय शूलमुद्यम्य यत्नत:।
चिक्षेप तं मुनिश्रेष्ठं मुनि: शक्त्या जघान तम्।। २३।।

Getting enraged the king got up and attacked the sage with a trident which was destroyed by the sage with his śakti.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे ब्रह्मा समागत्य रणस्थलम्।
सुप्रीतिं जनयामास सुनीत्या च परस्परम्।। २४।।

In the meantime Brahmā arrived there and extending nice advise to both of them, he developed love for each other in the mind of both of them.

Getting satisfied in the battle-field, the sage bowed before the king. The king on the other hand bowed in reverence to Brahmā as well as the sage and went back to his kingdom while the sage reverted to his abode. Brahmā on the other hand also went back to his abode. I have spoken all this to you, what more do you want to listen to from me?

Destruction of Jamadagni and Paraśurāma's resolve

नारायण उवाच

हरिं स्मृत्वा गृहं गत्वा राजा विस्मितमानसः।

आजगाम महारण्ये जमदग्न्याश्रमं पुनः॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - The king reciting the name of the lord and getting surprised left for his abode. He once again arrived at the hermitage of Jamadagni.

रथानां च चतुर्लक्षं रथिनां दशलक्षकम्।

अश्वेन्द्राणां गजेन्द्राणां पदातीनामसंख्यकम्॥ २॥

He was accompanied by four lakhs of chariots, ten lakhs of soldiers mounted on chariots, one lakh big horses besides elephants, foot soldiers, the number of which could not be estimated.

सर्वतो वेष्टयामास जमदग्न्याश्रमं मुने।

There were a lakh of others kings who were great, valorous and strong. Thus the king arrived there with a well equipped army and could conquer the three worlds. He surrounded the hermitage of Jamadagni from all sides. Kārtavīryārjuna was mounted on a chariot wearing the kavaca.

सैन्यशब्दैर्वाद्यशब्दैर्महाकोलाहलैर्मुने।

जमदग्न्याश्रमस्थाश्च मूर्च्छामापुर्भयेन च॥ ५॥

O sage, with the sound produced from the playing of musical instruments and with the terrific sound of the movement of the troops all the people in the hermitage of Jamadagni fainted.

कुटीं प्रविश्य बलवान्गृहीत्वा कपिलां शुभाम्।

पुरं गन्तुं मनश्चक्रे दुर्बुद्धिरसदाशयः॥ ६॥

The valorous king entered the hermitage and caught hold of the Kapilā cow and the degraded king dragged her and thought of carrying her to his abode.

समुत्तस्थौ मुनिश्रेष्ठो गृहीत्वा सशरं धनुः।

आजगाम रणस्थानं निःशङ्को नृपतेः पुरः॥ ८॥

Thereafter, the dwellers of the hermitage of the sage took the bows and arrows in their hands, with naked bodies bowing at the feet of the cow, reciting the name of the lord, assuring variously, appeared before the king for a fight.

निर्ममे शरजालं च स मुनिर्मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

आच्छादयत्स्वाश्रमं नैर्मानवं वर्मणा यथा॥ ९॥

The sage making great effort created a net of arrows and he covered his entire hermitage with the net of arrows as if a human being was wearing a kavaca.

अपरं शरजालं च निर्ममे पुनिपुंगवः।

तैरेवाऽऽवरणं चक्रे सर्वसैन्यं यथाक्रमम्॥ १०॥

The sage then created another net of arrows and surrounded the entire army of the king with the same.

मुनिना शरजालेन सर्वसैन्यं समावृतम्।

तानि सर्वाणि गुप्तानि यथा पत्राणि पञ्जरे॥ ११॥

Thus with the net of the arrows created by the sage, the entire royal army was imprisoned in it like a bird placed in a cage.

राजा दृष्ट्वा मुनिश्रेष्ठमवरुह्य रथात्पुरः।
सार्द्धं नृपेन्द्रैर्भक्त्या प्रणनाम कृताञ्जलिः॥ १२॥

Thereafter finding the army thus imprisoned there, the king got down from his chariot and with folded hands together with all other kings bowed in reverence to the sage.

शूलं चिक्षेप नृपतिस्तं जघान तदा मुनिः॥१५॥
अपरं शरजालं च निर्ममे मुनिपुङ्गवः।
शस्त्रौघैर्निवार्यैश्च खण्डं खण्डं चकार सः॥१६॥

The sage blessed them variously; thereafter the king was delighted and mounted his chariot. The king then together with all other kings started shooting arrows, clubs and śaktis but the sage destroyed all of them playfully. The sage also used his own weapons which were also shattered by the king who ultimately used the trident to attack the sage. The trident was destroyed by the sage and he created another net of arrows but the king with the use of his terrific weapons shattered the same.

निबद्धाः शरजालेन न च शक्ताः पलायितुम्।
जृम्भणास्त्रेण मुनिना ते च सर्वे विजृम्भिताः॥१७॥
हस्त्यश्वरथपादातसहितं सर्वसैन्यकम्।
राजानं निद्रितं दृष्ट्वा न जघान मुनीश्वरः॥१८॥
गृहीत्वा कपिलां हृष्टो रुदन्तीं शोकमूर्च्छिताम्।
बोधयित्वा पुरः कृत्वा स्वाश्रमं गन्तुमुद्यतः॥१९॥

Those who were captured in the net of arrows, could not escape anywhere. Thereafter, the sage with the use of Jṛmbhaṇāstra, made all the elephants, the horses, the foot soldiers and all other soldiers to be overpowered in a deep swoon. Finding the king asleep, the sage, did not kill him.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे राजा चेतनां प्राप्य नारद।
निवारयामास मुनिं गृहीत्वा सशंरं धनुः॥२०॥

Delightfully he brought to senses the Kapilā cow who had fainted while weeping and taking her with him he returned to his Āśrama.

जगाम कपिला त्रस्ता स्वस्थानं च रणाजिरात्।
मुनिश्च तस्थौ निःशङ्को गृहीत्वा सशरं धनुः॥२१॥

In the meantime, the king recovered his senses, prevented the movement of the sage and the cow with the use of his arrows.

ब्रह्मास्त्रं च नृपश्रेष्ठः स चिक्षेप मुनौ तदा।
ब्रह्मस्त्रेण मुनीन्द्रस्य सद्यो निर्वाणतां गतम्॥२२॥

But inspite of the danger ahead he left the battle-field and went to his abode. The sage thereafter moved fearlessly towards his hermitage.

दिव्यास्त्रेण मुनिश्रेष्ठो नृपस्य सशरं धनुः।
रथं च सारथिं चैव विच्छिदे वर्म दुर्वहम्॥२३॥
अथ राजा महाक्रुद्धो ददर्श स्वसमीपतः।
दत्तेन दत्तां शक्तिं तामेकपूरुषघातिनीम्॥२४॥

The king then shot Brahmāstra on the sage which was neutralised by the sage with the use of his own Brahmāstra. The sage then with the use of divine weapons with him, neutralised all the weapons of the king including his bows and arrows, the chariot with charioteer and the horrible kavaca also.

जग्राह नत्वा दत्तं तं स नत्वा शक्तिमुल्बणाम्।
चूर्णयामास तत्रैव शतसूर्यसमप्रभाम्॥२५॥

This enraged the king who looked at the śakti which was lying close by and could surely destroy a human being and was bestowed by Dattātreya.

यत्तेजः सर्वदेवानां तेजो नारायणस्य च।
शंभोश्च ब्रह्मणश्चैव मायायाश्चैव नारद॥२६॥

The king mentally bowed in reverence to Dattātreya and then to the śakti. Thereafter the śakti which dazzled like hundreds of suns and started wielding the same in the battle-field.

तत्रैवाऽऽवाहयामास स योगी मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।
तेजसा द्योतयामास गगनं च दिशो दश॥२७॥

दृष्ट्वा क्षिपन्तीं तां देवा हाहाकारेण चुक्रुशुः।
आकाशस्थाश्च समरं पश्यन्तो दु:खिता हृदा॥ २८॥

O Nārada, the king invoked the lustre of all the gods, Nārāyaṇa, Śiva, Brahmā and the illusion reciting the mantras as a result of which, the lustre of the same was spread in all the ten directions.

चिक्षेप तां चूर्णयित्वा कार्तवीर्यार्जुन: स्वयम्।
सद्य: पपात सा शक्तिर्ज्वलन्ती मुनिवक्षसि॥ २९॥

Finding the king using that śakti on the sage, all the gods who had assembled there to witness the battle started crying in terror.

विदार्योरो मुने: शक्तिर्जगाम हरिसंनिधिम्।
दत्ताय हरिणा दत्ता शस्त्रास्त्रनिधये तदा॥ ३०॥

Kārtavīryārjuna had himself shot it wielding in the air. The śakti got ignited and struck at the chest of the sage.

मूर्च्छां संप्राप्य स मुनि: प्राणांस्तत्याज तत्क्षणम्।
तेजोऽम्बरे भ्रमित्वा च ब्रह्मलोकं जगाम ह॥ ३१॥

It pierced through the heart of the sage and then went to the lord which was given by the lord to Dattātreya.

युद्धे मुनिं मृतं दृष्ट्वा रुरोद कपिला मुहुः।
हे तात तातेत्युच्चार्य गोलोकं सा जगाम ह॥ ३२॥

The sage fainted instantaneously and the life departed out of his body. His lustre went to Brahmaloka while roaming in the air for some time.

सर्वं सा कथयामास गोलोके कृष्णमीश्वरम्।
रत्नसिंहासनस्थं तं गोपैर्गोपीभिरावृतम्॥ ३३॥

Finding the sage killed in the battle-field, the Kapilā cow started crying in the battle-field. She said, "O lord" and thus speaking she went to the Goloka.

कृष्णेन ब्रह्मणे दत्ता ब्रह्मणा भृगवे पुरा।
सा प्रीत्या पुष्करे ब्रह्मन्भृगुणा जमदग्नये॥ ३४॥

Reaching Goloka she narrated the entire story to lord Kṛṣṇa who was seated there, on the gem-studded lion-throne comfortably and was surrounded by the cow-herds and cowherdesses.

नत्वा च कामधेनूनां समूहं सा जगाम ह।
तदश्रुबिन्दुना मर्त्ये रत्नसंघो बभूव ह॥ ३५॥

O Brāhmaṇa, the cow was first of all given by lord Kṛṣṇa to Brahmā. Brahmā gave her to Bhṛgu and Bhṛgu lovingly gave her away to Jamadagni at Puṣkara.

अथ राजा तं निहत्य बोधयित्वा स्वसैन्यकम्।
प्रायश्चित्तं विनिर्वर्त्य जगाम स्वपुरं मुदा॥ ३६॥

Thereafter, she bowing in reverence to the group of Kāmadhenu cows left the place. With the tears dropping from her eyes pearls were formed on earth.

प्राणनाथं मृतं श्रुत्वा जगाम रेणुका सती।
मुनिं वक्षसि संस्थाप्य क्षणं मूर्च्छामवाप सा॥ ३७॥

The king after killing Jamadagni performed repentance with his soldiers and left for his place.

तत: सा चेतनां प्राप्य न रुरोद पतिव्रता।
एहि वत्स भृगो राम राम रामेत्यवाच ह॥ ३८॥

Finding his lord having been killed, the chaste Menakā arrived there taking the body in her lap, she fainted.

आजगाम भृगुस्तूर्णं क्षणाद्वै पुष्करादहो।
ननाम मातरं भक्त्या मनोयायी च योगवित्॥ ३९॥

On regaining consciousness the chaste lady, did not cry but reciting the name of Rāma and her husband started summoning Paraśurāma.

दृष्ट्वा रामो मृतं तातं शोकार्तां जननीं सतीम्।
आकर्ण्य रणवृत्तान्तं प्रयान्तीं कपिलां शुचा॥ ४०॥

Paraśurāma on the other hand who could move at the speed thought and was well-versed in the yogas arrived there from Puṣkara and he bowed in reverence to his mother.

विललाप भृशं तत्र हे तात जननीति च।
चितां चकार योगीन्द्रश्चन्दनैराज्यसंयुताम्॥ ४१॥
रेणुका राममादाय तूर्णं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।
चुचुम्ब गण्डे शिरसि रुरोदोच्चैर्भृशं मुने:॥ ४२॥

Paraśurāma then found his father having been killed, the mother filled with grief and the cow Kapilā having proceeded to Goloka. He also learnt about the news of the battle. He lamented again and again reciting the name of his father and mother. Thereafter he, who was the best of the yogīs prepared a pyre of a sandal-wood.

राम राम महाबाहो क्व यामि त्वां विहाय च।

वत्स वत्सेति कृत्वैवं विललाप भृशं मुहुः॥४३॥

Reṇukā on the other hand embraced Paraśurāma, kissed his cheeks and head. Thereafter she started crying aloud.

मत्प्राणाधिक हे वत्स मदीयं वचनं शृणु।

पित्रोः शेषक्रियां कृत्वा याया युद्धं न पुत्रक॥४४॥

She uttered, "O Rāma, where should I proceed leaving you." Thus speaking she went on lamenting again and again.

गृहे तिष्ठ सुखं वत्स तपस्यां कुरु शाश्वतीम्।

समरं नैव सुखदं दारुणैः क्षत्रियैः सह॥४५॥

मातुर्वचनमश्रुत्वा प्रतिज्ञां तां चकार ह।

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां करिष्यामि ध्रुवं महीम्॥४६॥

O son, you have been dearer to me than my life even. On son, you don't go to the battle-field after performing the last rites of your parents. O son, you remain in your abode comfortably and perform tapas but don't fight with terrific kṣ atrīyas because by doing so, the result becomes unpleasant."

कार्तवीर्यं हनिष्यामि लीलया क्षत्रियाधमम्।

पितृंश्च तर्पयिष्यामि क्षत्रियक्षतजैस्तथा॥४७॥

इत्युदीर्य्य पुरो मातुर्विललाप मुहुर्मुहुः।

हितं तथ्यं नीतिसारं बोधयामास मातरम्॥४८॥

राम उवाच

पितुः शासनहन्तारं पितुर्वधविधायकम्।

यो न हन्ति महामूढो रौरवं स व्रजेद्ध्रुवम्॥४९॥

Thus hearing the words of his mother, Paraśurāma took a vow that "I shall surely rid the earth of the kṣatrīyas twenty one times and I shall kill this degraded Kārtavīrya playfully." I shall then offer tarpaṇa to my ancestors with the blood of Kārtavīrya." Thus taking a vow before his mother, Paraśurāma again started lamenting. Thereafter he started speaking to his mother, the words which were prosperous, truthful and according to the scriptures.

अग्निदो गरदश्चैव शस्त्रपाणिर्धनापहः।

क्षेत्रदारापहारी च पितृबन्धुविहिंसकः॥५०॥

Paraśurāma said - The one who disobeys the command of his father and does not kill the killer of the father, such a foolish fellow surely falls in the terrific hell.

सततं मन्दकारी च निन्दकः कटुजल्पकः।

एकादशैते पापिष्ठा वधार्हा वेदसंमताः॥५१॥

The one who ignites fire, administers poison or holds weapons or the one who snatches away the riches and the one who snatches away another fields and the wife, the one who kills the father and the brother, the one who is always lazy, the back-biter, the one who always speaks harsh words, such people are always treated to be sinners and according to the provision of the Vedas, they are fit to be killed.

द्विजानां द्रविणादानं स्थानान्निर्वासनं सति।

वपनं ताडनं चैव वधमाहुर्मनीषिणः॥५२॥

The one who snatches away the riches, drives away others' possessions, the shaving of the head or denouncement these are considered to be the death for the Brāhmaṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र चाऽऽजगाम भृगुः स्वयम्।

अतित्रस्तो मनस्वी च हृदयेन विदूयता॥५३॥

दृष्ट्वा तं रेणुकारामौ विनतौ संबभूवतुः।

स तावुवाच वेदोक्तं परलोकहिताय च॥५४॥

In the meantime the sage Bhṛgu himself arrived there and he started expressing his heart felt grief. Finding both Paraśurāma and Reṇukā in a melancholy mood he started speaking to them the words which was according to the Vedas and were beneficial even for the next world.

भृगुरुवाच

मद्वंशजातो ज्ञानी त्वं कथं विलपसे सुत।
जलबुद्बुदवत्सर्वं संसारे च चराचरम्॥५५॥

Bhṛgu said - O son, you are born in my race and are very well-read. Why are you lamenting? Because everything in the universe is perishable like the bubble of water.

सत्यसारं सत्यबीजं कृष्णं चिन्तय पुत्रक।
यद्गतं तद्गतं वत्स गतं नैवाऽऽगमिष्यति॥५६॥

O son, recite the name of lord Kṛṣṇa, who is the essence of truth and is quite truthful as well. O son, whosoever is gone is gone. The one who has gone can never come back.

यद्भवेत्तद्भवत्येव भविता यद्भविष्यति।
पूर्वार्जितं स्वीयकर्मफलं केन निवार्यते॥५७॥

Whatever is destined to happen, it happens always. Who can prevent one from facing the results of the deeds performed by him in earlier births?

भूतं भव्यं भविष्यं च यत्कृष्णेन निरूपितम्।
निरूपितं यत्तत्कर्म केन वत्स निवार्यते॥५८॥
मायाबीजं मायिनां च शरीरं पाञ्चभौतिकम्।
संकेतपूर्वकं नाम प्रात:स्वप्नसमं सुत॥५९॥

O son, whatever past, present and future is there, has been built preordained by lord Kṛṣṇa on the basis of the deeds which are destined to be performed; who can prevent them? O son this body of five elements is the seed of illusion which vanishes like the dream of the morning hours.

क्षुधा निद्रा दया शान्ति: क्षमा कान्त्यादयस्तथा।
यान्ति प्राणा मनो ज्ञानं प्रयाते परमात्मनि॥६०॥

With the departing of the soul from the body, hunger, sleep, mercy, glory, forgiveness and grace besides the wisdom of the mind also depart from the body.

बुद्धिश्च शक्तय: सर्वा राजेन्द्रमिव किंकरा:।
सर्वे तमनुगच्छन्ति तं कृष्णं भज यत्नत:॥६१॥

His wisdom and all his strength also leave the body like the servants of the king who always follow him. Therefore, you make an effort to recite the name of lord Kṛṣṇa,

के वा केषां च पितर: के वा केषां सुता: सुत।
कर्मभि: प्रेरिता: सर्वे भवाब्धौ दुस्तरे परम्॥६२॥

O son, who happens to be the father of whom and who happens to be the son of whom; all of them are influenced by their own deeds and are wandering here in the ocean of the universe.

ज्ञानिनो मा रुदन्त्येव मा रोदी: पुत्र सांप्रतम्।
रोदनाश्रुप्रपतनान्मृतानां नरकं ध्रुवम्॥६३॥

O son, the intellectuals do not lament like this. Therefore, you stop crying because the tears that fall with the crying drive the dead person to the hell.

संकेताख्योच्चारणेन यद्रुदन्ति च बान्धवा:।
शतवर्षं रुदित्वा तं प्राप्नुवन्ति न निश्चितम्॥६४॥
पार्थिवांशं च पृथिवी गृह्णात्यस्थित्वचादिकम्।
तोयांशं च तथा तोयं शून्यांशं गगनं तथा॥६५॥
वाय्वंशं च तथा वायुस्तेजस्तेजांशकं तथा।
सर्वे विलीना: सर्वेषु को वाऽऽयास्यति रोदनात्॥६६॥

By calling whose name the sages cry, they cannot get him back even when they cry for him. This is certain because the soul is part of the body. The skin and bones are consumed by the earth. Similarly a part of the body is consumed by the water, the void goes to the sky and the part of the wind merges into the wind and the part of lustre merges into the light.

नामश्रुतियश:कर्मकथामात्रावशेषित:।
वेदोक्तं चैव यत्कर्म कुरु तत्पारलौकिकम्॥६७॥

Thus everything merges into the five elements. Therefore no one would gain anything by lamenting. Thereafter, only the name his glory, his good deeds are remembered by the people after the death of a person. Therefore, you perform the last rights as prescribed in the Vedas.

स च बन्धु: स पुत्रश्च परलोकहिताय य:।

भृगोस्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा शोकं तत्याज तत्क्षणम्।।
रेणुका च महासाध्वी तं वक्तुमुपचक्रमे।। ६८।।

Because the one who performs these rites for the welfare of the departed soul, he could be called the real relative." On hearing the words of Bhṛgu, the chaste Reṇukā shed all her grief and started speaking to him.

Chapter 28

The Departure of Bhṛgu to Brahmaloka

रेणुकोवाच

ब्रह्मन्ननुगमिष्यामि प्राणनाथस्य सांप्रतम्।
ऋतोश्चतुर्थदिवसे मृतोऽयं चाद्य मानद:॥ १॥
कर्तव्या का व्यवस्थाऽत्र वद वेदविदां वर।
त्वमागतो मे सहसा पुण्येन कतिजन्मनाम्॥ २॥

Reṇukā said - I shall follow the footsteps of my husband, but this is the fourth day of the period of my menses when my husband has been killed. O best of those well-versed in the Vedas, because of the merits of many of my earlier births, you have arrived here and you kindly tell me as to what I should do in my present condition.

भृगुरुवाच

अहो पुण्यवतो भर्तुरनुगच्छ महासति।
चतुर्थदिवसं शुद्धं स्वामिन: सर्वकर्मसु॥ ३॥
शुद्धा भर्तुश्चतुर्थेऽह्नि न शुद्धा दैवपित्र्ययो:।
दैवे कर्मणि पित्र्ये च पचमेऽह्नि विशुध्यति॥ ४॥

Bhṛgu said - O chaste lady, you follow the footsteps of your virtuous husband because on the fourth day of the period a woman gets purified in all respects and can perform all the deeds for the husband. But the woman gets purified on the fourth day for the husband and not for performing divine actions. For performing the tasks of the gods and the manes she is purified on the fifth day.

व्यालग्राही यथा व्यालं बिलादुद्धरते बलात्।
तद्वत्स्वामिनमादाय साध्वी स्वर्गं प्रयाति च॥ ५॥

As the snake-charmer catches the snake from the hole in the earth, similarly the wife carries the husband with her in the heaven.

मोदते स्वामिना सार्धं यावदिन्द्राश्चतुर्दश।
अत ऊर्ध्वं कर्मभोगं भुङ्क्ष्व साध्वि शुभाशुभम्॥ ६॥

O virtuous one, she remains there for the period is equivalent to the life of fourteen Indras. Therefore you also enjoy the result of your good or bad deeds.

स पुत्रो भक्तिदाता य: सा च स्त्री याऽनुगच्छति।
स बन्धुर्दानदाता य: स शिष्यो गुरुमर्चयेत्॥ ७॥

O daughter, only that son is virtuous who bestows the devotion of the lord and only that woman is virtuous who follows the footsteps of the husband. Only such of the brothers could be termed as true brothers who give away in charity. A true pupil always respects his brother.

सोऽभीष्टदेवो यो रक्षेत्स राजा पालयेत्प्रजा:।
स च स्वामी प्रियां धर्ममतिं दातुमिहेश्वर:॥ ८॥

Only he could be termed as the true family god who protects his devotees, only that king could be called a true king who maintains his people well. Only such a lord could be treated as a true lord who can make his wives devoted the dharma.

स गुरुर्धर्मदाता यो हरिभक्तिप्रदायक:।
एते प्रशंस्या वेदेषु पुराणेषु च निश्चितम्॥ ९॥

Only such of the teacher could be termed as true teacher who could bestow on his pupils the devotion of lord. This is because they have been praised accordingly in the Vedas and Purāṇas.

रेणुको वाच

गन्तुं स्वस्वामिना सार्धं का शक्ता भारते मुने।
का वाऽप्यशक्ता नारीषु तन्मे ब्रूहितपोधन॥ १०॥

Reṇukā said - O sage, O virtuous one, which are the ladies in the land of Bhārata who are competent to follow the footsteps of their husbands and those who are considered to be incompetent. You tell me.

भृगुरुवाच

बालापत्याश्च गर्भिण्यो ह्यदृष्टऋतवस्तथा।
रजस्वला च कुलटा गलितव्याधिसंयुता॥ ११॥
पतिसेवा विहीना या ह्यभक्ता कटुभाषिणी।
एता गच्छन्ति चेद्दैवान्न कान्तं प्राप्नुवन्ति ताः॥ १२॥
संस्कृताग्निं पुरो दत्त्वा चितासु शयितं पतिम्।
कान्तास्तमनुगच्छन्ति कान्ताश्चेत्प्राप्नुवन्ति ताः॥ १३॥

Bhṛgu said- The ladies having small children, those who are pregnant, the lady who has not started the menses, the lady in period, degraded woman, woman suffering from leprosy, the women who are averse to serving the husbands, undevoted women and the women with foul tongue are not considered to be suitable for following the footsteps of their husband. In case by the move of destiny, they do so, they cannot achieve for their husbands the desired goal. The one who pleasantly carries the body of the husband to the pyre and follows him, the one who is dear to the husband, she surely gets him the heaven.

अनुगच्छन्ति याः कान्तं तमेव प्राप्नुवन्ति ताः।
सार्द्धं कृत्वा पुण्यभोगं दिवि जन्मनि जन्मनि॥ १४॥
इयं ते कथिता साध्वि व्यवस्था गृहिणां ध्रुवम्।
तीर्थे ज्ञानमृतानां च वैष्णवानां गतिं शृणु॥ १५॥

Because such of the ladies who follow their husbands, they achieve them again and they get together again and again in their future births. O virtuous lady, I have narrated to you the position of the house-holder. Now I tell you the position of such of the Vaiṣṇavas as die in the sacred places. You listen to me.

या साध्वी वैष्णवं कान्तं यत्र यत्रानुगच्छन्ति।
प्रयाति स्वामिना सार्द्धं वैकुण्ठे हरिसंनिधिम्॥ १६॥

Wherever the husband of a chaste lady goes, she follows him. She ultimately reaches Vaikuṇṭ ha together with the husband.

विशेषे नास्ति भक्तानां तीर्थे वाऽन्यत्र नारद।
मरणेन फलं तुल्यं मुक्तानां कृष्णभाविनाम्॥ १७॥
तयोः पातो नास्ति तस्मान्महति प्रलये सति।
नारायणं तं भजेत पुमांस्त्री कमलालयाम्॥ १८॥

But, O Nārada, in the land of Bhārata there is nothing special if one dies at a sacred place because the devotees of lord Kṛṣṇa are always free from the death; therefore they earn the same merit by meeting with their end anywhere. They do not fall even at the time of dissolution. Therefore the husband and wife always adore Nārāyaṇa and Lakṣmī.

तीर्थे ज्ञानमृतश्चापि वैकुण्ठं याति निश्चितम्।
सभार्यो मोदते तत्र यावद्वै ब्रह्मणः शतम्॥ १९॥

If one dies at a sacred place possessing all the knowledge, he surely goes to Vaikuṇṭha and he remains there up to the life of Brahmā with pleasure."

इत्युक्त्वा रेणुकां तत्र जामदग्न्यमुवाच ह।
वेदोक्तं वचनं सर्वं स भृगुः समयोचितम्॥ २०॥

After thus speaking to Reṇukā, Bhṛgu also spoke to Paraśurāma the words which were appropriate to the time and also according to the Vedas.

एहि वत्स महाभाग त्यज शोकमङ्गलम्।
उत्तानं कुरु तातं च दक्षिणाशिरसं भृगो॥ २१॥
वस्त्रं यज्ञोपवीतं च नूतनं परिधापय।
अनश्रुनयनो भूत्वा संतिष्ठन्दक्षिणामुखः॥ २२॥

He said, "O Paraśurāma, O son, you come here. O virtuous one, you relieve yourself from the inauspicious grief and you place the body of your father on the pyre with the head towards the southern direction. You clad it in a new cloth and yajñopavīta but your tears would not fall while doing so. You also remain facing the south.

अरणीसंभवाग्निं च गृहाण प्रीतिपूर्वकम्।
पृथिव्यां यानि तीर्थानि सर्वेषां स्मरणं कुरु॥ २३॥
गयादीनि च तीर्थानि ये च पुण्याः शिलोच्चयाः।
कुरुक्षेत्रं च गङ्गां च यमुनां च सरिद्वराम्॥ २४॥

कौशिकीं चन्द्रभागां च सर्वपापप्रणाशिनीम्।
गण्डकीमथ काशीं च पनसां सरयूं तथा॥२५॥
पुष्पभद्रां च भद्रां च नर्मदां च सरस्वतीम्।
गोदावरीं च कावेरीं स्वर्णरेखां च पुष्करम्॥२६॥
रैवतं च वराहं च श्रीशैलं गन्धमादनम्।
हिमालयं च कैलासं सुमेरुं रत्नपर्वतम्॥२७॥
वाराणसीं प्रयागं च पुण्यं वृन्दावनं वनम्।
हरिद्वारं च बदरीं स्मारंस्मारे पुनः पुनः॥२८॥
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीसुगन्धिकुसुमं तथा।
प्रदाय वाससाऽऽच्छाद्य स्थापयैनं चितोपरि॥२९॥

You ignite the fire from the wood and remember all the sacred places of the earth which include Gayā and other sacred places like the sacred mountain, besides Kurukṣetra, Gaṅgā, Yamunā, the best of rivers, Kauśikī, Candrabhāgā which removes all the sins, Gaṇḍakī, Kāśī, Panasā, Sarayū, Puṣpabhadrā, Bhadrā, Narmadā, Sarasvatī, Godāvarī, Kāverī, Svarṇarekhā, Puṣkara, Raivata, Varāha, Śrīśaila, Gandhamādana, Himālaya, Kailāsa, Ratnaparvata, Sumeru, Vārāṇasī, Prayāga, the sacred Vṛndāvana, the Haridvāra and Badrikāśrama. You recite the name of the these again and again.

And fragrant flower on the fire covered the same with the cloth.

कर्णाक्षिनासिकास्ये त्वं शलाकां च हिरण्मयीम्।
कृत्वा निर्मन्थनं तात विप्रेभ्यो देहि सादरम्॥३०॥

O son, adoring your ears, eyes, nose and face with gold, you give it away to the Brāhmaṇa.

सतिलं ताम्रपात्रं च धेनुं च रजतं तथा।
सदक्षिणं सुवर्णं च दत्त्वाऽग्निं देह्यकातरः॥३१॥
ॐ कृत्वा दुष्कृतं कर्म जानता वाऽप्यजानता।
मृत्युकालवशं प्राप्य नरं पञ्चत्वमागतम्॥३२॥

The copper vase filled with sea-same seeds, the cows and silver, should be given in charity together with dakṣiṇā in gold. Thereafter, the fire should be lit in the pyre and you should speak out that knowingly or unknowingly, by performing good or bad deeds, the human has met with the death.

धर्माधर्मसमायुक्तं लोभमोहसमावृतम्।
दह सर्वाणि गात्राणि दिव्यांल्लोकान्स गच्छतु॥३३॥
इमं मन्त्रं पठित्वा तु तातं कृत्वा प्रदक्षिणम्।
मन्त्रेणानेन देह्यग्निं जनकाय हरिं स्मरन्॥३४॥

Thereafter you burn all the limbs of the body which are free from dharma or adharma, greed or desire which will enable it to proceed to the divine abode of the lord. By reciting a mantra you should circumambulate the pyre and by reciting the mantra you perform all the last rites.

ॐ अस्मत्कुले त्वं जातोऽसि त्वदीयो जायतां पुनः।
असौ स्वर्गाय लोकाय स्वाहेति वद सांप्रतम्॥३५॥

Reciting ओं you must think that you can be reborn in this race once again. You again recite the word svāhā and desire for the proceeding of the soul to the region of heaven.

अग्निं देहि शिरःस्थाने हे भृगो भ्रातृभिः सह।
तच्चकार भृगुः सर्वं सगोत्रैराज्ञया भृगोः॥३६॥
अथ पुत्रं रेणुका सा कृत्वा तत्र स्ववक्षसि।
उवाच किंचिद्वचनं परिणामसुखावहम्॥३७॥

O son of Bhṛgu, you ignite the fire towards the head of the body together with your brothers." Thus with the command of Bhṛgu he performed the last rites with his kith and kin.

Thereafter Reṇukā embracing her son Paraśurāma spoke to him the pleasant words.

अविरोधो भवाब्धौ च सर्वमङ्गलमङ्गलम्।
विरोधो नाशबीजं च सर्वोपद्रवकारणम्॥३८॥

"The best form of prosperity in the universe is not to come into conflict with anyone. The conflict is the cause of destruction and upheavals.

अकर्तव्यो विरोधो वै दारुणैः क्षत्रियैः सह।
प्रतिज्ञा चैषा कर्तव्या मदीयं वचनं शृणु॥३९॥

Therefore you do not pick up controversy with the Kṣatriyas. And for this you give me your solemn words. You listen to my few other words.

आलोच्य ब्रह्मणा सार्धं भृगुणा दिव्यमन्त्रिणा।

यथोचितं च कर्तव्यं सद्भिरालोचनं शुभम्॥ ४०॥

Consulting Brahmā and your divine courtier Bhṛgu, you act according to their advice because it is always good to consult the noble people."

इत्युक्त्वा तं परित्यज्य कान्तं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।

Thus speaking she left Paraśurāma and taking the body of her husband in her lap. She entered the funeral pyre

वह्निं ददौ चितायां च प्र रामो भ्रातृभिः सह।

भ्रातृभिः पितृशिष्यैश्च सार्द्धं स विललाप च॥ ४२॥

Thereafter Paraśurāma together with his brother ignited the fire in the pyre. He then started lamenting with his brothers and the pupils of his father.

राम रामेति रामेति वाक्यमुच्चार्य सा सतीं।

The chaste Reṇukā reciting the name of Rāma was reduced to ashes. On hearing the name of their lord, the messengers arrived there at once who were of dark complexion having four arms and holding śaṁkha, cakra, gadā and padma in the four hands wearing a long garland of forest flowers round the neck and the kirīṭa on the head and kuṇḍalas in the ears. They were clad in lower yellow garment.

Those messengers carried Reṇukā and Jamadagni to the heaven before the lord.

तौ दम्पती च वैकुण्ठे तस्थतुर्हरिसंनिधौ।

कृत्वा दास्यं हरेः शश्वत्सर्वमङ्गलमङ्गलम्॥ ४७॥

Thus the divine couple arrived in the Vaikuṇṭ ha and started serving the lord as his slaves with devotion.

अथ रामो ब्राह्मणैश्च भृगुणा सह नारद।

ब्राह्मणेभ्यो धनं दत्त्वा ब्रह्मलोकं जगाम सः॥ ५१॥

O Nārada, thereafter Paraśurāma accompanied by Bhṛgu and other Brāhmaṇas performed the last rites of his parents and gave away riches in charity to the Brāhmaṇas which included cows, land, gold, garments, beautiful beds, water, fruits, sandal-paste, lamp of gems, heaps of silver and gold, golden seat, fragrant betel, umbrella, sandals, rosary, roots and fruits and tasteful sweets. Thus giving away charities to the Brāhmaṇas, he left for Brahmaloka.

ददर्श ब्रह्मलोकं स शातकुम्भविनिर्मितम्।

स्वर्णप्राकारसंयुक्तं स्वर्णस्तम्भैर्विभूषितम्॥ ५२॥

Reaching there he saw Brahmaloka which was built in gold and was having the boundary wall of gold and pillars of gold.

ददर्श तत्र ब्रह्माणं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा।

रत्नसिंहानस्थं च रत्नभूषणभूषितम्॥ ५३॥

He found Brahmā there possessing divine lustre and seated on a gem-studded lion-throne in a comfortable posture and adorned with gem-studded ornaments.

सिद्धेन्द्रैश्च मुनीन्द्रैश्च ऋषीन्द्रैः परिवेष्टितम्।

विद्याधरीणां नृत्यं च पश्यन्तं सस्मितं मुदा॥ ५४॥

He happens to be the best of the siddhas, sages, ascetics and was surrounded by them, wearing a serene smile on his face. He witnessed the dance of Vidyādhārīs.

संगीतमुपशृण्वन्तं गीयमानं च गायकैः।

परिपूर्णतमं ब्रह्म जपन्तं कृष्णमीश्वरम्।
गुह्ययोगं प्रवोचन्तं पृच्छन्तं शिष्यमण्डलम्॥५७॥

He was listening to the singing accompanied by music. The fragrance of sandal-wood, kastūrī, saffron pervaded the place. He happened to be the one who granted the results of all the deeds and riches. He was the creator of the entire universe and its preserver as well. He was the supreme lord, complete in all respects, eternal Brahman and was reciting the name of lord Kṛṣ ṇa and was revealing the truth about the secret yogic practices when asked by his pupils to do so.

दृष्ट्वा तमव्ययं भक्त्या प्रणनाम् भृगुः पुरः।
उच्चैश्च रोदनं कृत्वा स्ववृत्तान्तमुवाच ह॥५८॥

Finding such a type of Brahman before him, Paraśurāma stood before him and bowed in reverence to him. Thereafter he started crying aloud and told him the cause of his mental agony.

भृगुरुवाच

ब्रह्मंस्त्वद्वंशजातोऽहं जमदग्निसुतो विधे।
पितामहस्त्वमस्माकं सर्वज्ञं कथयामि किम्॥५९॥

Bhṛgu said - "O Brāhmaṇa, I am born in your race and am the son of Jamadagni. You happen to be my grandfather and are well-aware of everything. What should I speak to you?

मृगयामागतं भूपं पिता मे चोपवासिनम्।
पारणां कारयामास कपिलादत्तवस्तुभिः॥६०॥

The king who was wandering in the forest feeling hungry having arrived there for hunting, was served with food by my father which emerged from the Kapilā cow. He was fed with that food.

स राजा कपिलालोभात्कार्तवीर्यार्जुनः स्वयम्।
घातयामास मत्तातमित्युक्त्वोच्चै रुरोद सः॥६१॥

Thereafter the king who happened to be none else than Kārtavīrya, tempted to snatch away Kapilā from my father and in greed for the cow, he killed my father." Thus speaking he started crying aloud.

निरुध्य वाष्पं च पुनरुवाच करुणानिधिः।
माता मेऽनुगता साध्वी मां विहाय जगद्गुरो॥६२॥

The merciful Paraśurāma some how controlled himself and stopped the flowing of tears and said to Brahmā, "O teacher of the universe, my mother has also left me and accompanied my father.

अधुनाऽहमनाथश्च त्वं मे माता पिता गुरुः।
कर्ता पालयिता दाता पाहि मां शरणागतम्॥६३॥
आगतोऽहं तव सभां प्रमातुर्मातुराज्ञया।
उपायेन जगन्नाथ मद्वैरिहननं कुरु॥६४॥

I am an orphan at the moment and therefore you are my father, mother and teacher. You are also the performer, the preserver and a man of charity. You, therefore, protect me since I have come to take refuge under you. I have come here in your court with the permission of my mother. O lord of the universe, you tell me the way out by which I should be able to take revenge.

स राजा स च धर्मिष्ठः स दयालुर्यशस्करः।
स पूज्यः स स्थिरश्रीश्च यो दीनं परिपालयेत्॥६५॥

Because the king who maintains the down-trodden can be considered as religious, merciful, glorious, respectable and the possessor of imperishable wealth.

धनिदीनौ समं दृष्ट्वा यः प्रजां न च पालयेत्।
तद्गेहाद्याति रुष्टा श्रीः स भवेद्भ्रष्टराज्यकः॥६६॥

Because the rich man who does not care for the down-trodden person, fortune getting annoyed leaves him and he falls from grace."

श्रुत्वा विप्रबटोर्वाक्यं करुणासागरो विधिः।
दत्त्वा शुभाशिषं तस्मै वासयामास वक्षसि॥६७॥

Brahmā, the ocean of mercy, on hearing the words of the Brāhmaṇa boy blessed him at the same time.

श्रुत्वा भृगोः प्रतिज्ञां च विस्मितश्चतुराननः।

अतीव दुष्करां घोरां बहुजीवविघातिनीम्॥६८॥

The four-faced Brahmā was astonished to know about the vow of Paraśurāma, which was quite terrific and could result in the killing of innumerable creatures.

कर्मणा तद्भेत्सर्वमिति कृत्वा तु मानसे।

उवाच जामदग्न्यं तं परिणामसुखावहम्॥६९॥

Everything happens according to one's own deeds. Thus thinking he started speaking to Jamadagni, the words which were quite pleasant in result.

ब्रह्मोवाच

प्रतिज्ञा दुष्करा वत्स बहुजीवविघातिनी।

सृष्टिरेषा भगवतः संभवेदीश्वरेच्छया॥७०॥

Brahmā said - O son, this is a very difficult vow of yours which will result in the killing of many creatures. The universe is created with the desire of the lord.

सृष्टिः सृष्टा मया पुत्र क्लेशेनैवेश्वराज्ञया।

सृश्टिलुप्तौ प्रति ते दारुणाऽकरुणा परा॥७१॥

O son, I have created this universe with great efforts at the command of the lord and your vow is quite horrible and cruel. The universe will be destroyed by it.

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां कर्तुमिच्छसि मेदिनीम्।

ब्रह्मक्षत्रियविट्छुद्रैर्नित्या सृष्टिश्चतुर्विधैः।

आविर्भूता तिरोभूता हरेरेव पुनः पुनः॥७३॥

You want to deprive the earth of the kings twenty-one times. You want to destroy the entire race of Kṣatriyas because of the sin of a single person. The universe created at the command of the lord includes Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and Śūdras who always remain in the same status.

अन्यथा त्वत्प्रतिज्ञा च भविता प्राक्तनेन ते।

वह्वायासेन ते कार्यसिद्धिर्भवितुमर्हति॥७४॥

Because of your traditional beliefs, this vow of yours cannot materialise but you can be successful after making great efforts.

शिवलोकं गच्छ वत्स शंकरं शरणं व्रज।

श्रीकृष्णमन्त्रकवचग्रहणं कुरु शंकरात्।

दुर्लभं वैष्णवं तेजः शैवं शाक्तं विजेष्यति॥७८॥

Therefore, O son, you go to Śivaloka and take refuge under lord Śiva. There are several kings who are devoted to lord Śiva who always wear the kavaca of Śiva as well as Durgā and till such time as they wear those kavacas no one can kill them without the permission of lord Śiva. You must make great efforts to meet with success, because one could meet with success only by making sustained efforts. You try to receive from Śiva the mantra of Kṛṣṇa, his kavaca and the Vaiṣṇava glory which is difficult to get. With the application of the same, you will be able to overcome the tejas of Śiva as well as the śakti.

गुरुस्ते जगतां नाथः शिवो जन्मनि जन्मनि।

मन्त्रो मत्तो न युक्तस्ते यो युक्तः स भवेद्विधिः॥७९॥

Śiva, the lord of the universe, happens to be your teacher for many births, therefore, my mantra will be of no use to you. I have spoken to you whatever would be appropriate for you to do.

कर्मणा लभ्यते मन्त्रः कर्मणा लभ्यते गुरुः।

स्वयमेवोपतिष्ठन्ते ये येषां तेषु ते ध्रुवम्॥८०॥

Because one can get the mantra only because of his deeds and one can get a teacher with his deeds. Therefore everyone gets whatever belongs to him.

त्रैलोक्यविजयं नाम गृहीत्वा कवचं वरम्।

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां करिष्यसि महीं भृगो॥८१॥

O Bhṛgu, by receiving the best of kavaca named Trailokyavijaya, you can relieve the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty one times.

दिव्यं पाशुपतं तुभ्यं दाता दास्यति शंकरः।
तेन दत्तेन शस्त्रेण क्षत्रसंघं विजेष्यसि॥८२॥

Lord Śiva can give you the Pāśupata weapon and you will be able to destroy Kṣatriyas with the use of his mantra.

Chapter 29
The Arrival of Paraśurāma at Kailāsa

नारायण उवाच

ब्रह्मणो वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रणम्य च जगद्गुरुम्।
स्फीतस्तस्माद्वरं प्राप्य शिवलोकं जगाम सः॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of Brahmā, Paraśurāma bowed in reverence to him and after getting blessed by him, went to Śivaloka with great enthusiasm. This Śivaloka is located a lakh of yojanas above Brahmaloka.

लक्षयोजनमूर्ध्वं च ब्रह्मलोकाद्विलक्षणम्।
अनिर्वाच्यसुशोभाढ्यं वाय्वाधारं मनोहरम्॥ २॥
वैकुण्ठं दक्षिणे यस्य गौरीलोकश्च वामतः।
यदधो ध्रुवलोकश्च सर्वलोकात्परः स्मृतः॥ ३॥

This is more astonishing than the abode of Brahmā having glory which cannot be explained and is floating in the air besides being quite charming. Vaikuṇṭha is located to its north and the abode of Gaurī is located below. The region of the Dhruva is located still below it and it is beyond all the lokas.

तेषामूर्ध्वं च गोलोकः पञ्चाशत्कोटियोजनः।
अत ऊर्ध्वं न लोकश्च सर्वोपरि च स स्मृतः॥ ४॥

The Goloka is located at a distance of fifty crore yojanas and above that there are no other lokas. It is the topmost of all. This has been stated in the scriptures.

मनोयायी स योगीन्द्रः शिवलोकं ददर्श ह।

यागीन्द्राणां वरेण्यैश्च सिद्धविद्याविशारदैः।
कोटिकल्पतपः पूतैः पुण्यवद्भिर्निषेवितम्॥ ६॥

That Paraśurāma the best of the yogīs who could move with the speed thought reached there is an instance. Śivaloka which was incomparable, immensely astonishing and was the dwelling place of great yogīs, siddhas, for crores of kalpas was purified by the auspicious souls.

It was surrounded by kalpavṛkṣas which fulfil the desires of all, besides innumerable herds of Kāmadhenu cows, innumerable forests of Pārijāta trees, infatuated with black-wasps always greedy for honey, filled with freest tree leaves and the sweet notes of cuckoos. It was built as per the desires of Śiva and the yogīs. Such a type of construction had not been witnessed to even by Viśvakarmā, the teacher of the architects. O Brāhmaṇa, Śivaloka was surrounded by yogīs and healthy wild animals.

There were hundreds of divine pools with lines of lotus flowers and orchards, which added to the beauty of the place.

There were many pedestals made of gems and the roads were also decorated with gems besides hundreds of dwelling places which were made of the best of precious gems and the astonishing type of decorated bases.

He found the abode of lord Śiva surrounded by beautiful buildings which were surrounded by a beautiful boundary wall.

It was quite high almost touching the sky, white in colour like milk and had sixteen entrance gates besides other buildings.

It had charming pillars and doors which were studded with gems.

There were beds of fine decorations with sapphire gems, best of gems and many types of beautiful paintings.

He found again the main gates in front of the palace, which had a gate in which the best of the gems were studded. He then saw the palace having the pedestal decorated with gems and precious stones besides beautiful paintings. He found two terrific looking gatekeepers guarding the gate. Their teeth were protruding, were terrific to look at, with red and deformed eyes. They looked like a burnt-out mountain, were quite valorous and great warriors. They had applied ashes on their bodies, were clad in tiger skins, having broad pinkish eyes, wearing matted locks of hair on the head, having three eyes and held a strident and a paṭṭiśa in their hands and appeared like burning fire flames. The sight of those gate-keepers frightened Paraśurāma but inspite of that he spoke to them.

प्रत्येकं षोडश द्वारो ददर्श सुमनोहराः।
द्वारपालैर्नियुक्ताश्च नानाचित्रविचित्रिताः।। २७।।

Becoming meek and humble, appearing miserable, he narrated the pathetic story before the gate-keepers.

On hearing the story of the Brāhmaṇa both of them felt pity and getting permission from lord Śiva, they allowed him to have an audience with the lord. At the command of the lord Paraśurāma reciting his name entered the chamber of Śiva.

Thus he crossed sixteen gates, all of which were quite charming to look at and were guarded by astonishing types of gate-keepers.

After witnessing all the gate-keepers he entered the court of lord Śiva which was surrounded by the siddha people and ascetics. The breeze carrying the fragrance of Pārijāta flowers pervaded the place. He found there Śiva, the lord of the gods, wearing a crescent on his head. He was holding a trident and paṭṭiśa, wore the skin of a tiger with all the limbs plastered with ashes, wearing the yajñopavīta of nāgas and was seated in sukhāsana on the gem-studded lion-throne, adorned with all the ornaments studded with gems.

He bestowed welfare, the seed of prosperity, refuge of welfare, the great soul, the one who fulfils all the desires, having the lustre of crores of suns. Wearing a serene smile on his face, he was having a delightful face. He is the one who is always merciful towards his devotees, always having the form of flame and the one who takes to the human forms for the welfare of all, wearing matted locks of hair, accompanied by Gaurī. He is the result of tapas and bestower of all the riches, having the spotless complexion like a crystal gem, having five faces, three eyes and was imparting the divine knowledge to his pupils in tattva and the divine knowledge of Brāhmaṇa. He was adored by the yogīs, served the siddhas all round, served by the attendants with white fly-whisks, form of flame and reciting the name of blissful lord Kṛṣṇa, who is primeval and beyond Prakṛti, meditated upon by people as Mahāśiva, getting emotional. They were loudly reciting the name of the lord who happens to be oceans of virtues and the tears were flowing from their eyes. He was surrounded by bhūtas, Rudras and kṣetra-pālas. Thereafter Paraśurāma bowed in reverence to him; Kārtikeya appeared to his left, Gaṇeśa appeared to his right, while Nandīkeśvara, Mahākāla and Vīrbhadra were seated in front of him. Pārvatī the daughter of the king of mountains was seated in his lap. With his mind filled with devotion Paraśurāma offered his salutation to lord Śiva bowing his head. Finding Śiva there, Paraśurāma was satisfied and he started offering prayers to him. He was feeling miserable, his eyes were filled with tears and he stood there with folded hands. He then started reciting the glory of lord Śiva with a choked voice.

यमाकाशमिवाऽद्यन्तमध्यहीनं तथाऽव्ययम्।
विश्वतन्त्रमतन्त्रं च स्वतन्त्रं तन्त्रबीजकम्॥ ४५॥

Paraśurāma said - O lord, I intend to eulogise you but am unable to do so. What type of prayer can I offer to the one who is imperishable, eternal and without any desire?

ध्यानासाध्यं दुराराध्यमतिसाध्यं कृपानिधिम्।
त्राहि मां करुणासिन्धो दीनबन्धोऽतिदीनकम्॥४६॥

I cannot think about it but still I venture to do so being an utterly foolish person because the one whose glory is beyond the reach of the Vedas, then who else can recite your glory.

अद्य मे सफलं जन्म जीवितं च सुजीवितम्।
स्वप्नेऽप्यदृष्टं भक्तैश्चाधुना पश्यामि चक्षुषा॥४७॥

You are beyond speech, wisdom and the mind; you are the essence of the essence, beyond everything. You are the one who can be achieved only by divine knowledge. You are the siddha and are served by the siddhas.

शक्रादय: सुरगणा: कलया यस्य संभवा:।

You are without beginning, middle or end, like the sky, without destruction, tantra of the universe, beyond tantra, independent, the seed of tantra, difficult to achieve even by meditation, difficult to meditate upon and are most merciful. Therefore, O ocean of mercy, O lover of the down-trodden, I am in a miserable condition, therefore, you kindly protect me.

यं भास्करस्वरूपं च शशिरूपं हुताशनम्।
जलरूपं वायुरूपं तं नमामि महेश्वरम्॥५०॥

My life has been a successful today because the one who is beyond the reach of the devotees even in dream, him I am visualising with my own eyes.

अन्नतविश्वसृष्टीनां संहर्तारं भयंकरम्।
क्षणेन लीलामात्रेण तं नमामि महेश्वरम्॥५१॥

From whose race, the gods like Indra have emerged and all the movable and immovable things on earth are his reflection alone. I bow in reverence to such a type of Maheśvara.

I bow in reverence to Maheśvara who is having the form of a man, a woman, impotent, possessing great prowess and the base of all; I bow in reverence to Maheśvara.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स भृगु: पपात चरणाम्बुजे।
आशिषं च ददौ तस्मै सुप्रसन्नो बभूव स:॥५२॥

The one who is the form of the sun, the moon, fire, water and the wind, I bow in reverence to the same Maheśvara.

जामदग्न्यकृतं स्तोत्रं य: पठेद्भक्तिसंयुत:।
सर्वपापविनिर्मुक्त: शिवलोकं स गच्छति॥५३॥

The one who can destroy the entire universe in an instant, I bow in reverence to the same Maheśvara.

Thus speaking Paraśurāma fell at the feet of Śiva who getting delighted blessed him.

Whosoever recites the stotra composed by Paraśurāma, he is relieved of all sins and he ultimately achieves Śivaloka.

Śiva gives away weapons to Paraśurāma

शंकर उवाच

कस्त्वं बटो कस्य पुत्र: वास: स्तवनं कथम्।
किं वा तेऽहं करिष्यामि वाञ्छितं वद सांप्रतम्॥ १॥

Śiva said - "O child, who are you, who is your father and where do you live? Why are you eulogising me? You express your desire to me.?

पार्वत्युवाच

शोकाकुलं त्वां पश्यामि विमनस्कं सुविस्मितम्।
वयसाऽतिशिशुं शान्तं गुणेन गुणिनां वरम्॥ २॥

Pārvatī said - "I find you filled with grief, sad and surprised, you resemble a child in age but because of your peaceful nature and other virtues, you are comparable to the virtuous people."

भृगुरुवाच

क्रीणीहि मां दयासिन्धो विद्यापण्येन किंकरम्।
त्वामीश शरणापन्नं रक्ष मां दीनवत्सल॥ ४॥

Bhṛgu said - "O lord, I am the son of Jamadagni and am born in the race of Bhṛgu; the name of my mother is Reṇukā and my name is Paraśurāma. O lord of the universe, by imparting divine knowledge to me, you take me as your pupil. O lord, O uplifter of the down-trodden, I take refuge under you. Therefore, you protect me.

Finding the king who had come for hunting, hungry, my father welcomed him as a guest and served him with food provided by the Kapilā cow. Thereafter, the foolish king became desirous of possessing the Kapilā cow and he killed my father. Kapilā on her part, finding my father dead, went back to Goloka.

The mother also accompanied the father and I am an orphan at the moment. Therefore, O lord, you are my father at the moment and Pārvatī happens to be my mother. You protect me like your own son. With my mind filled with grief I have taken a difficult vow that I shall rid the earth of Kṣatriyas, twenty one times in the battle-field and shall also destroy Kārtavīrya who had killed my father.

O lord you, enable me to fulfil this vow."

ब्राह्मणस्य वचः श्रुत्वा दृष्ट्वा दुर्गामुखं हरः।
बभूवाऽऽनम्रवक्त्रश्च सा च शुष्कौष्ठतालुका॥ १०॥

On listening to the words of the Brāhmaṇa, Śiva looked at the face of Durgā and the palate of Pārvatī dried up.

पार्वत्युवाच

तपस्विन्विप्रपुत्र क्ष्मां निर्भूपां कर्तुमिच्छसि।
त्रिःसप्तकृत्वः कोपेन साहसस्ते महान्बटो॥ ११॥
हन्तुमिच्छसि निःशस्त्रः सहस्रार्जुनमीश्वरम्।
भ्रूभङ्गलीलया यस्य रावणस्य पराजयः॥ १२॥

Pārvatī said - "O tapasvī, because of your anger, you want to relieve the kings of the earth twenty one times. O ascetic this is a great courage of yours that you want to kill Sahasrārjuna without any weapon. He is the one by the side glance of whom even Rāvaṇa was defeated.

O ascetic, he has been provided with a kavaca of the lord by the Dattātreya and there is no let up in his prowess which never decreases because of which he has killed your father. He is the one who recites the name of the lord throughout day and night. Who can kill him on earth? I don't have any such person known to me.

अये विप्र गृहं गच्छ किं करिष्यति शंकरः।
अन्ये भूपाश्च मद्भृत्याः का भीस्तेषां मयि स्थिते॥ १५॥

O Brāhmaṇa, you get back to your home. What shall Śiva be able to do in this case, the rest of the kings are my devotees and why should they be afraid when I am there."

भद्रकाल्युवाच

अये विप्रबटो जाल्म निर्भूपां कर्तुमिच्छसि।
यथा हि वामनश्चन्द्र करेणाऽहर्तुमिच्छति॥ १६॥

Bhadrakālī said - "O Brāhmaṇa ascetic, you are foolish that you intend to deprive the earth of her rulers. It is like the one who is dwarf but intends to catch hold of the moon.

कृतयज्ञान्महापुण्यान्महाबलपराक्रमान्।
दिगम्बरसहायेन मद्भृत्यान्हन्तुमिच्छसि॥ १७॥

Do you intend to kill my devotees who are quite virtuous and have become meritorious with the help of Śiva."

Paraśurāma listening to the words of both of them started crying aloud and in their very presence he got ready to end his life. Hearing the cries of Paraśurāma the merciful lord Śiva looked at Kālī and Durgā both and with their permission, he started speaking to Paraśurāma.

शंकर उवाच

अद्यप्रभृति हे वत्स त्वं मे पुत्रसमो महान्।
दास्यामि मन्त्रं गुह्यं ते त्रिषु लोकेषु दुर्लभम्॥ २१॥

Śiva said - "O son, from today onwards you will be like my son and I shall bestow on you the inaccessible secret mantra of the three world.

एवंभूतं च कवचं दास्यामि परमाद्भुतम्।
लीलया मत्प्रसादेन कार्तवीर्यं हनिष्यसि॥ २२॥

I will also give you an astonishing kavaca with the use of which you will be able to kill Kārtavīrya.

O Brāhmaṇa, you will relieve the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty one times and the glory of your prowess will be spread in the universe. There is no doubt about it." Thus speaking lord Śiva gave him the inaccessible mantra called Trilokyavijaya the astonishing kavaca, stotra and the method of adoration, besides puraścaraṇa-mantra siddhi and the relevant regulations to be followed for making the same a success.

सिद्धिस्थानं कालसंख्यां कथयामास नारद।
वेदवेदाङ्गादिकं च पाठयामास तत्क्षणम्॥ २६॥

O Nārada, he then told him the name and time of success. He imparted to him the knowledge of the Vedas.

नागपाशं पाशुपतं ब्रह्मास्त्रं च सुदुर्लभम्।
नारायणास्त्रमाग्नेयं वायव्यं वारुणं तथा॥ २७॥
गान्धर्वं गारुडं चैव जृम्भणास्त्रं तथैव च।
गदां शक्तिं च परशुं शूलमव्यर्थमुत्तमम्॥ २८॥

He also imparted to him the knowledge of Nāgāstra, Pāśupata, inaccessible Brahmāstra, Nārāyaṇāstra, the fire weapon, the wind weapon, the water weapon, Gāndharvāstra Jṛmbhaṇāstra, besides the use of gadā, śakti, parśu and the indestructible trident.

नानाप्रकारमतुलमुपायं रणसंकटे॥
संहारे मोहिनीं विद्यां ददौ मृत्युहरां हर:॥ ३१॥

He also imparted the knowledge of the use of various types of weapons, mantras, the method of their use, the quivers and infallible arrows, the methods of protecting himself, for achieving success in the battle-field, many types of illusory wars, uttering of huṁkāra, reciting of mantras, protection of his army and destruction of the enemy army, the method of protecting himself at the time of danger in the battle-field and the knowledge of over-coming death, besides the knowledge of illusion.

स्थित्वा चिरं गुरोर्वासे संर्वविद्यां विबोध्य सः।
तीर्थे कृत्वा मन्त्रसिद्धिं तांश्च नत्वा जगाम सः॥३२॥

Remaining with the teacher for a long time, he fully acquainted himself with the use of all the weapons achieving the entire knowledge. Thereafter, bowing in reverence to everyone, Parasurāma left the place.

The Giving of Śrī Kṛṣṇa kavaca to Paraśurāma

नारद उवाच

भगवञ्छ्रोतुमिच्छामि कं मन्त्रं भगवान्हर:।

कृपयाऽदात्परशुरामाय किं स्तोत्रं कवचं ददौ॥ १॥

को वाऽस्य मन्त्रस्याऽऽराध्य: किं फलं कवचस्य च।

स्तवनस्य फलं किं वा तद्भवान्वक्तुमर्हति॥ २॥

Nārada said - O lord, which one of the mantra, stotra and kavaca was given by the lord to Paraśurāma, who is prime god of the kavaca, what reward does that kavaca bestow on the devotee and what is the result of the kavaca you kindly let me know?"

नारायण उवाच

मन्त्राराध्यो हि भगवान्परिपूर्णतम: स्वयम्।

गोलोकनाथ: श्रीकृष्णो गोपगोपीश्वर: प्रभु:॥ ३॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Lord Kṛṣṇa who is complete in himself and is the lord of the Goloka besides the cowherds and cowherdesses, himself happens to be the prime god of the kavaca.

त्रैलोक्यविजयं नाम कवचं परमाद्भुतम्।

स्वयंप्रभानदीतीरे पारिजातवनान्तरे।

आश्रमे देवलोकस्य माधवस्य च संनिधौ॥ ६॥

The extremely astonishing kavaca named Trailokyavijaya emerged with the combination of fortune and bestows great merit on one who recites it. Its mantra is kalpataru which fulfils all the desires. He gave it to Paraśurāma in the forest of Pārijāta of Devaloka near the Mādhavāśrama located on the bank of Svayaṁprabhā river.

महादेव उवाच

वत्साऽऽगच्छ महाभाग भृगुवंशसमुद्भव।

शृणु राम प्रवक्ष्यामि ब्रह्माण्डे परमाद्भुतम्।

अतिगुह्यतरं तत्त्वं सर्वमन्त्रौधविग्रहम्।

पुण्यात्पुण्यतरं चैव परं स्नेहाद्वदामि ते॥ १०॥

Śiva said - O son, O virtuous one born in the race of Bhṛgu, you come here and receive this kavaca, you will be dearer and more loveable to me than my own son. O Paraśurāma, I am imparting to you the knowledge of the kavaca and Trailokyavijaya of Śrī Kṛṣṇa which is an astonishing one and provides victory in the universe. You listen to it. In the earlier times lord Kṛṣṇa imparted the knowledge of the same to me in Goloka in the Rāsamaṇḍala of Rādhikāśrama, located in the Vṛndāvana forest. This is the essence of all the mantras and is quite meritorious. I am speaking it out to you because of my love for you.

यद्धृत्वा पठनाद्देवी मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।

यद्धृत्वाऽहं च जगतां संहर्ता सर्वतत्त्ववित्।
अवध्यं त्रिपुर पूर्वं दुरन्तमपि लीलया॥ १२॥

By bearing it by a person or by reciting it, the Mūlaprakṛti of the lord killed the demons like Śumbha, Niśumbha, Mahiṣāsura and Raktabīja. Possessing its knowledge I become aware of all the Tattavas and destroyed the entire universe. I had killed the terrific demon Tripurāsura in no time.

यद्धृत्वा पठनाद्ब्रह्मा ससृजे सृष्टिमुत्तमाम।
यद्धृत्वा भगवाञ्छेषो विधत्ते विश्वमेव च॥ १३॥

By holding it and reciting it Brahmā created the best of the universe and by holding and reciting it, Śeṣa bears the load of the entire universe.

यद्धृत्वा कूर्मराजश्च शेषं धत्ते हि लीलया।
यद्धृत्वा भगवान्वायुरविश्वाधारो विभुः स्वयम्॥ १४॥

By hearing it the tortoise playfully carries the load of Śeṣa. By bearing it, the wind-god pervades it in the universe.

यद्धृत्वा वरुणः सिद्धः कुबेरश्च धनेश्वरः।
यद्धृत्वा पठनादिन्द्रो देवानमधिपः स्वयम्॥ १५॥

By bearing it, Varuṇa became the siddhas, Kubera became the lord of riches and by holding and reciting it, Indra became the lord of god.

यद्धृत्वा भाति भुवने तेजोराशिः स्वयं रविः।
यद्धृत्वा पठनाच्चन्द्रो महाबलपराक्रमः॥ १६॥

By holding it Sūrya gained the lustre illumining the universe. By holding it, the moon became valorous and strong.

अगस्त्यः सागरान्सप्त यद्धृत्वा पठनात्पपौ।
चकार तेजसा जीर्णं दैत्यं वातापिसंज्ञकम्॥ १७॥

By holding it Agastya drank the water of the seven oceans. By its glory, he also consumed the demon named Vātāpī and destroyed him.

यद्धृत्वा पठनाद्देवी सर्वाधारा वसुंधरा।
यद्धृत्वा पठनात्पूता गङ्गा भुवनपावनी॥ १८॥

By holding and reciting it, the goddess earth became the base of everything. By holding and reciting it Gaṅgā was purified and she became the purifier of the universe.

यद्धृत्वा जगतां साक्षी धर्मो धर्मभृतां वरः।
सर्वविद्याधिदेवी सा यच्च धृत्वा सरस्वती॥ १९॥
यद्धृत्वा जगतां लक्ष्मीरत्नदात्री परात्परा।

वेदाश्च धर्मवक्तारो यद्धृत्वा पठनाद्भृगो।
यद्धृत्वा पठनाच्छुद्धस्तेजस्वी हव्यवाहनः॥
सनत्कुमारो भगवान्यद्धृत्वा ज्ञानिनां वरः॥ २१॥

By holding it dharma became adorable by all the religious people and became the witness of the universe. By holding it, Sarasvatī became the bestower of gems and riches and became the better of the best. By bearing and reciting it, Sāvitrī created the Vedas which became the speakers for dharma. By bearing and reciting it, the fire-god became purified and glorious and by bearing it Sanatkumāra became the best of the intellectuals.

दातव्यं कृष्णभक्ताय साधवे च महात्मने।
शठाय परशिष्याय दत्त्वा मृत्युमवाप्नुयात्॥ २२॥
त्रैलोक्यविजयस्यास्य कवचस्य प्रजापतिः।

प्रणवो मे शिरः पातु श्रीकृष्णाय नमः सदा।
पायात्कपालं कृष्णाय स्वाहा पञ्चाक्षरः स्मृतः॥ २५॥

Therefore the knowledge of the same is imparted alone to the noble people and the devotees of lord Kṛṣṇa. Because by parting its knowledge to the wicked people one has to face death. Prajāpati happens to be the Ṛṣi of the kavaca named Trailokyavijaya and lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be its god. One has to take a resolve for getting victorious in the three worlds. This kavaca is beyond everything and is inaccessible in the three worlds. ओं कृष्णाय नमः, this mantra should protect my head and the five letter mantra कृष्णाय स्वाहा should protect my skull.

इति ते कथितं वत्स सर्वमन्त्रौघविग्रहम्।

त्रैलोक्यविजयं नाम कवचं परमाद्भुतम्॥४६॥

O son, thus I have imparted to you the knowledge of the kavaca named Trailokyavijaya which happens to be the essence of all the mantras and is quite an astonishing one.

मया श्रुतं कृष्णवक्त्रात्प्रवक्तव्यं न कस्यचित्।

गुरुमभ्यर्च्य विधिवत्कवचं धारयेत्तु यः॥४७॥

कण्ठे वा दक्षिणे बाहौ सोऽपि विष्णुर्न संशयः।

स च भक्तो वसेद्यत्र लक्ष्मीर्वाणी वसेत्ततः॥४८॥

यदि स्यात्सिद्धकवचो जीवन्मुक्तो भवेत्तु सः।

निश्चितं कोटिवर्षाणां पूजायाः फलमाप्नुयात्॥४९॥

I heard this from the mouth of Śrī Kṛṣṇa himself. Therefore, you do not part with the knowledge of this to anyone, by adoring the teacher, whosoever bears this kavaca around the neck or around the arm, he is turned like Viṣṇu. There is no doubt about it. Whenever such a devotee recites, Lakṣmī and Sarasvatī also reside there. In case one achieves success with this kavaca then he is relieved of the cycle of birth and death and he earns the merit of performing pūjā for crores of years.

राजसूयसहस्राणि वाजपेयशतानि च।

अश्वमेधायुतान्येव नरमेधायुतानि च॥५०॥

महादानानि यान्येव प्रादक्षिण्यं भुवस्तथा।

त्रैलोक्यविजयस्यास्य कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥५१॥

The merit one earns by performing a thousand Rājasūya, a hundred Vājapeya, ten thousand Aśvamedha, ten thousand Naramedha, yajñas, performing all the great charities, going round the entire universe, do not compare one sixteenth times of the merit of Trailokyavijaya.

व्रतोपवासनियमं स्वाध्यायाध्यनं तपः।

स्नानं च सर्वतीर्थेषु नास्यार्हति कलामपि॥५२॥

Even the vratas, fasting, austerities, studies, self-studies, performing of tapas and bathing at the sacred places, do not compare even with the smallest ray of the same.

सिद्धत्वममरत्वं च दासत्वं श्रीहरेरपि।

यदि स्यात्सिद्धकवचः सर्वं प्राप्नोति निश्चितम्॥५३॥

स भवेतसिद्धकवचो दशलक्षं जपेत्तु यः।

यो भवेत्सिद्धकवचः सर्वज्ञः स भवेद्ध्रुवम्॥५४॥

Whosoever meets with success with this kavaca, achieves the position of siddhas everlasting slavehood of lord Hari and all other pleasures of life.

The one who recites the same ten lakhs of times, he meets success with this kavaca.

इदं कवचमज्ञात्वा भजेत्कृष्णं सुमन्दधीः।

कोटिकल्पं प्रजप्तोऽपि न मन्त्रः सिद्धिदायकः॥५५॥

Whosoever adores the lord without being fully aware of the kavaca, such a foolish fellow cannot meet with success even after adoring it for crores of kalpas.

Lord Jamadagni is quite valorous and happens to be the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇa. He also happens to be the pupil of Śiva who is the destroyer of the universe.

त्रि:सप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां करिष्यामि महीमिति।
प्रतिज्ञा यस्य रामस्य तेन सार्द्धं रणं त्यज॥४४॥

He has taken a resolve to rid the earth of Ks astriya twenty-one times. Therefore, you discard the idea of fighting against Paraśurāma.

पापिनं रावणं जित्वा शूरं त्वमपि मन्यसे।
स त्वया न जितो नाथ स्वपापेन पराजित:॥४५॥

You are considered to be a great warrior after defeating Rāvaṇa. In fact, O lord, you have not defeated him but he has been defeated because of his own sins.

यो न रक्षति धर्मं च तस्य को रक्षिता भुवि।
स नश्यति स्वयं मूढो जीवन्नपि मृतो हि स:॥४६॥

Because the one who does not protect dharma, who can protect him on the earth? Such a person is himself destroyed by his own actions and seems to be dead while still alive.

शुभाशुभस्य सततं साक्षी धर्मस्य कर्मण:।
आत्माराम: स्थित: स्वान्तो मूढस्त्वं नहि पश्यसि॥४७॥

The one who is a witness to the good and bad deeds, the religious deeds, the soul of everyone and resides in the hearts of everyone, you are unable to realise his worth because of your ignorance.

पुत्रदारादिकं यद्यत्सर्वैश्वर्यं सुधर्मिणाम्।
जलबुद्बुदवत्सर्वमनित्यं नश्वरं नृप॥४८॥
संसारं स्वप्नसदृशं मत्वा सन्तोऽत्र भारते।
ध्यायन्ति सततं धर्मं तप: कुर्वन्ति भक्तित:॥४९॥

O king, for the religious people, the son, the wife and all the pleasures are perishable like the bubbles of water; therefore the ascetics and noble persons considering the universe to be like a dream, always devote themselves to dharma and perform tapas with great devotion.

दत्तेन दत्तं यज्ज्ञानं तत्सर्वं विस्मृतं त्वया।
अस्ति चेद्विप्रहिंसायां कुबुद्धे त्वन्मन: कथम्॥५०॥
सुखार्थे मृगयां गत्वा तत्रोपोष्य द्विजाश्रमे।
भुक्त्वा मिष्टमपूर्वं च हतो विप्रो निरर्थकम्॥५१॥

You have forgotten the divine knowledge imparted to you by Dattātreya; otherwise how could you involve yourself in the killing of a Brāhmaṇa? You had gone for the sake of pleasure.

गुरुविप्रसुराणां च य: करोति पराभवम्।
अभीष्टदेवस्तं रुष्टो विपत्तिस्तस्य संनिधौ॥५२॥

The one who insults the teacher, the Brāhmaṇa and the gods, the gods get annoyed with him and he is approached by misfortune pretty fast.

स्मरणं कुरु राजेन्द्र दत्तात्रेयपदाम्बुजम्।
गुरौ भक्तिश्च सर्वेषां सर्वविघ्नविनाशिनी॥५३॥

O king, you remember the lotus-like feet of Dattātreya because of which the obstructions are removed by the reciting of the name of the teacher with devotion.

गुरुदेवं समभ्यर्च्य तं भृगुं शरणं व्रज।
विप्रे देवे प्रसन्ने च क्षत्रियाणां नहि क्षति:॥५४॥

Adoring the same teacher you take refuge with Bhṛgu. A Kṣatriya never meets with any harm when he adores the gods and the Brāhmaṇas.

विप्रस्य किंकरो भूपो वैश्यो भूपस्य भूमिप।
सर्वेषां किंकरा: शूद्रा ब्राह्मणस्य विशेषत:॥५५॥

O lord of the earth, the king happens to be the servant of the Brāhmaṇas, Vaiśya happens to be the servant of the king and the Śūdra happens to be the servant of everyone and more so of a Brāhmaṇa.

अयश: शरणं शश्वत्क्षत्रियस्य च क्षत्रिये।
महद्यशस्तच्छरणं गुरुदेवद्विजेषु च॥५६॥

By taking refuge with the Kṣatriya, he meets with disgrace but by taking refuge with the teacher, the gods and Brāhmaṇas, one achieves great glory.

ब्राह्मणं भज राजेन्द्र गरीयांसं सुरादपि।
ब्राह्मणे परितुष्टे च संतुष्टा: सर्वदेवता:॥५७॥

इत्येवमुक्त्वा राजेन्द्रं क्रोडे कृत्वा महासती।

क्षणं तिष्ठ महाराज पुनरेवमुवाच सा।
स्नानं कुरु महाराज भोजयिष्यामि वाञ्छितम्॥५९॥

O best of the kings, the Brāhmaṇas are considered to be better then the gods. Therefore, you serve them because at the pleasure of the Brāhmaṇas all the gods also get pleased. Thus the immensely chaste lady made the king to understand everything and took him in her lap. She then started crying looking at his face, she again said, "O lord, you wait for a while; have a bath I shall serve you the food of your liking.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकर्पूरैः कुङ्कुमैर्युतम्।
अनुलेपं करिष्यामि सर्वाङ्गे तव सुन्दर॥६०॥

O beautiful one, I shall adorn your body with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī, camphor, saffron.

क्षणं सिंहासने तिष्ठ क्षणं वक्षसि मे प्रभो।
सभायां पुष्परचिते तल्पे पश्यामि शोभनम्॥६१॥

O lord, you take your seat on the lion-throne for a moment and be seated on my breast for a moment. I would like to see you on the flowery bed in the court.

शतपुत्राधिकः प्रेम्णा सतीनां वै पतिर्नृप।
निरूपितो भगवता वेदेषु हरिणा स्वयम्॥६२॥

Because, O king, for the chaste ladies the husband is dearer to them than hundreds of their sons. This has been ordained by the lord himself in the Vedas.

मनोरमावचः श्रुत्वा राजा परमपण्डितः।
बोधयामास तां राज्ञीं ददौ प्रत्युत्तरं पुनः॥६३॥

On hearing the words of Manoramā the most intelligent king tried to convince the queen and said to her.

कार्तवीर्यार्जुन उवाच

शृणु कान्ते प्रवक्ष्यामि श्रुतं सर्वं त्वयेरितम्।
शोकार्तानां च वचनं न प्रशंस्यं सभासु च॥६४॥

Kārtavīrya said - O damsels, I have listened to all your words. The court does not take seriously the words of the people who are in grief.

सुखं दुःखं भयं शोकः कलहः प्रीतिरेव च।

कालो ददाति राजत्वं कालो मृत्युं पुनर्भवम्।
कालः सृजति संसारं कालः संहरते पुनः॥६६॥

O beautiful one, the pleasure, the pain, fear, grief, quarrel and love, appear only according it is time above the time and to time alone that gives them their due importance. The time is death and rebirth. The time also creates the universe and also destroys it.

करोति पालनं कालः कालरूपी जनार्दनः।

The time preserves it and Janārdana himself is the form of time. Lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be the death for the time, the creator of the creator, the killer of the killer, the preserver of the preserver and the one who performs the deeds. He alone becoming the form of the deeds provides the result of all the deeds. O chaste lady, who can kill anyone without the influence of deeds, by his command the creator creates the universe, the destroyer destroys it and the preserver preserves the universe. By whose command the wind getting terrified, always blows and death prevails everywhere and the sun burns, the god of death goes on roaming about getting everyone terrified, all the immovable things remain static and the movable things move on endlessly. The trees blossom with fruits and flowers and according to time they also dry up. They also grow up at the command of time, at the command of the time the universe appears and then disappears, the humans move according to the will of the time and nothing is possible on their own will.

Lord Paraśurāma is the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇa and the great warrior, he has already taken a vow to rid the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty-one times which cannot be otherwise. Therefore, O chaste lady, I am bound to meet my death at his hands and I am sure of this.

ज्ञात्वा सर्वं भविष्यं च शरणं यामि तत्कथम्।
प्रतिष्ठितानां चाकिर्तिर्मरणादतिरिच्यते॥७६॥

Being well aware of the future, how can I take refuge with him, because for the glorious people disgrace is worse than death.

इत्येवमुत्वा राजेन्द्रः समरं गन्तुमुद्यमः।
वाद्यं च वादयामास कारयामास मङ्गलम्॥७७॥

Thus speaking the king got ready for proceeding to the battle field. He started the playing of war-bands and also have the welfare song recited.

His army consisted of a hundred crore of kings, three lakhs of great kings accompanied by great warriors and hundred Akṣauhiṇī army including elephants, horses, foot soldiers and innumerable chariots. He intended to move on with the entire army. But in the meantime Manoramā wearing a smile on her face prevented him from moving forward and take away the infallible kavaca, the arrow and the bow.

क्रीडागारे क्षणं तस्थौ कृत्वा कान्तं स्ववक्षसि।
पश्यन्ती तन्मुखाम्भोजं चुचुम्ब च मुहुर्मुहुः॥८१॥

She took him to the pleasure house and embraced him, kissing his face again and again.

Śaṅkara kavaca

नारायण उवाच

मनोरमा प्राणनाथं क्षणं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।
भविष्य मनसा चक्रे यद्यत्स्वामिमुखाच्छ्रुतम्॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Manoramā embraced her husband for a moment and whatever she had heard from the mouth of her husband, she seriously considered its the meaning.

पुत्रांश्च पुरत: कृत्वा बान्धवांश्च स्वकिंकरान्।
सस्मार सा हरिपदं मेने सत्यं भवेन्मुने॥ २॥
योगेन भित्त्वा षट्चक्रं वायुं संस्थाप्य मूर्धनि।
ब्रह्मरन्ध्रस्थकमले सहस्रदलसंयुते॥ ३॥
स्वान्तमाकृष्य विषयाज्जलबुद्बुदसंनिभात्।
संस्थाप्य बध्वा ज्ञानेन लोलं ब्रह्मणि निष्कले॥ ४॥

O sage, thereafter she called for her relatives, sons and servants before her and considered the destiny's will which always prevails. She started reciting the name of the lord. With the yogic practices, she pierced through the Ṣaṭ-cakra and established the air in Brahmāṇḍa. Thereafter quick as a bubble of water she removed her mind from worldly pleasures and then concentrated her attention on the thousand pettaled lotus in Brahmarandhra. She then attracted the attention of her mind to the Brāhmaṇa and devoted her unstable mind to the divine knowledge making it stable.

द्विविधं कर्म संन्यस्य निर्मूलमपुनर्भवम्।
तत्र प्राणांश्च तत्याज न च प्राणाधिकं प्रियम्॥ ५॥

She then discarded three types of deeds in order to destroy completely the deeds as well as rebirth. She even ended her life without ending her relationship with her husband.

स राजा तां मृतां दृष्ट्वा विललाप रुरोद च।
संनाहं संपरित्यज्य कृत्वा वक्ष्यस्युवाच ताम्॥ ६॥

Finding her dead the king started lamenting and crying and throwing away the kavaca, he took her into his lap and said.

मनोरमे सुमत्तिष्ठ न यास्यामि रणाजिरम्।
सचेतना मां पश्येति विलपन्तं मुहुर्मुहुः॥७॥

The king said - "O Manoramā, get up I will not go to the battle-field now. You revive your senses and look at me." He thus kept on lamenting again and again.

मनोरमे समुत्तिष्ठ मया सार्द्धं गृहं व्रज।
न करिष्यामि समरं भृगुणा सह भामिनि॥ ८॥

Manoramā, you get up and accompany me. O damsel, I shall not fight against Bhṛgu now.

मनोरमे समुत्तिष्ठ श्रीशैलं व्रज सुन्दरि।
तत्र क्रीडां करिष्यामि त्वया सार्धं यथा पुरा॥ ९॥

O Manoramā, O beautiful one, get up and accompany me to the mountain peak and let me enjoy the love-sport with you there.

मनोरमे समुत्तिष्ठ व्रज गोदावरीं प्रिये।
जलक्रीडां करिष्यामि त्वया सार्धं यथा पुरा॥ १०॥
मनोरमे समुत्तिष्ठ नन्दनं व्रज सुन्दरि।
पुष्पभद्रानदीतीरे विहरिष्यामि निर्जने॥ ११॥

O Manoramā, dear one, you get up, go to Godāvarī and let us have the water-sport there as usual. O Manoramā, O beautiful one, you get up and let us go to Puṣpabhadrā river and visit a secluded place in your company.

मनोरमे समुत्तिष्ठ मलयं व्रज सुन्दरि।
त्वया सार्द्धं रमिष्येऽहं तत्र चन्दनकानने॥ १२॥

O Manoramā, O beautiful one, you get up and let us move to the Malaya mountain; let me enjoy your company in the forest of sandal-wood trees.

शीतेन गन्धयुक्तेन वायुना सुरभीकृते।
भ्रमरध्वनिसंयुक्ते पुंस्कोकिलरुतश्रिते॥ १३॥

The place is filled with fragrance and cool breeze and the place is reverberated with the hissing sound of the black-wasps and the sweet sound of the cuckoo.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुकुंमालेपनं कुरु।
चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गं पश्य मां सस्मिते सति॥ १४॥

Reaching there you adorn my body with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī, saffron, smilingly and look at the limbs of my body delightfully.

सुधातुल्यं सुमधुरं वचनं रचय प्रिये।
कुटिलभ्रूविकारं च कथं न कुरुषेऽधुमा॥ १५॥

O dear one, you speak out sweet words like nectar, why are you not looking at me with side glances?"

नृपस्य रोदनं श्रुत्वा वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी।
स्थिरो भव महाराज कुरुषे रोदनं कथम्॥ १६॥

Hearing the cries of the king there was a divine voice from the sky. "O king, be stable. Why are you crying?

त्वं महाज्ञानिनां श्रेष्ठो दत्तात्रेयप्रसादतः।
जलबुद्बुदवत्सर्वं संसारं पश्य शोभनम्॥ १७॥

By the grace of Dattātreya you are the best of intellectuals and treat this universe like a bubble of water.

कमलांशा च सा साध्वी जगाम कमलालयम्।
त्वमेव गच्छ वैकुण्ठं रणं कृत्वा रणाजिरे॥ १८॥

The chaste Kamalā was the aṁśa of Lakṣmī who has departed to her abode; you also proceed to the battle-field and achieve Vaikuṇṭha while fighting there."

इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा जहौ शोकं नराधिपः।
ततश्चन्दनकाष्ठेन चितां दिव्यां चकार ह॥ १९॥
संस्काराग्निं कारयित्वा पुत्रद्वारा ददाह ताम्।
नानाविधानि रत्नानि ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ मुदा॥ २०॥

Hearing this the king shed away the grief and arranged for a pyre of sandal-wood and made his son to perform the last rights of his mother and distributed charity to the Brāhmaṇas with delight.

नानाविधानि दानानि वस्त्राणि विविधानि च।
मनोरमायाः पुण्येन ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ मुदा॥ २१॥

For the welfare of the departed soul of Manoramā, the king distributed several types of riches including clothes to the Brāhmaṇas with a delightful mind.

भुज्यतां भुज्यतां शश्वद्दीयतां दीयतामिति।
शब्दो बभूव सर्वत्र कार्तवीर्याश्रमे मुने॥ २२॥

राजा जगाम समरं हृदयेन विदूयता।
सार्द्धं सैन्यसमूहैश्च वाद्यभाण्डैरसंख्यकैः॥ २४॥

O sage, at that point of time the words of "consume more" or "bring more" were constantly heard. The king gave away in charity enormous riches whatever was available in his treasury. Thereafter, the king with a heavy heart accompanied by innumerable soldiers and war-bands moved towards the battle-field.

ददर्शामङ्गलं राजा पुरो वर्त्मनि वर्त्मनि।

While moving on the journey he met with many inauspicious signs but disregarding them he kept on his forward march and never returned home.

He met with a naked widow with dishevelled hair and a severed nose and crying. Besides the wicked-faced, the degraded and ailing kuṭṭinī, a woman without a child, Ḍakinīs, an unchaste woman, a potter, an oil-man, a hunter, a snake-charmer, a man with dirty clothes and a bright body which was naked besides the one wearing ascetic garments, a seller of fat, a seller or daughter, a fire in which a body was burning, ashes, coal, a human bitten by snakes, a lizard, a rabbit, poison, food of śrāddha, piṇḍa, moṭaka, sesamum, a temple of Śūdra, a driver of bullocks, a performer of the śrāddhas of the Śūdras, a store-keeper of the Śūdras, a performer of the yajña of Śūdras, the one who performed yajñas from village to village, the one who burnt puppets in the cremation ground, an empty pitcher, a broken pitcher, oil, salt, bones, cotton, a tortoise, powder, barking dogs, a jackal howling on the right, small shells, a barber, nails, refuse, quarrelling people, lamenting people and the one who always spoke evil words, crying men, men in grief, men who always gave false evidence, a thief, a killer of humans, wicked women without husband and sons, the one who lived on the rice of a wicked woman, gods, teachers, the one who stole away the belongings of the Brāhmaṇas, the one who usurped the things given away in charity, decoits, a terrorist, a back biter, a wicked person, the one who neglected his parents, the killers of the Brāhmaṇa and the pīpala tree, a person who spoke falsehood, an ungrateful person, a usurper of the trust, the one who betrays Brāhmaṇas and the friends, an injured person, a betrayer of the faith, the one who denounces the teacher, gods and Brāhmaṇas, a destroyer of his own limbs, a killer of the creatures, deformed, cruel, the one deprived of the vrata and the vow, the one who did not give dakṣiṇā, impotent, suffering from leprosy, a one-eyed person, deaf, cāṇḍāla, the one whose male organs are cut-off, a drunkard, a seller of wine, the one vomiting blood, a he-buffalo, a donkey, urine, refuse, cough, a person with shaven head, a terrific wind, a rain of blood, a man falling from a tree, a hyena, a pig, a vulture, an eagle, a white-kite, a bear, a bamboo, dry wood, a crow, sulphuric acid, a Brāhmaṇa the giver of charity, the one who lived on tantric practices, a physician, red flowers, medicine, straw, bad news, news of death, a terrific curse of Brāhmaṇa, a wind with foul smell, a horrible wound, a wind - these were the evil signs met by with king on the way.

मनश्च कुत्सितं प्राणाः क्षुभिताश्च निरन्तरम्।
वामाङ्गस्पन्दनं देहजाड्य राज्ञो बभूव ह॥४७॥

All these made the mind of the king gloomy and he became upset, his body was fatigued and his left limbs started fluttering.

तथाऽपि राजा निःशंको ददर्श समराङ्गणम्।
सर्वसैन्यसमायुक्तः प्रविवेश रणाजिरम्॥४८॥

Inspite of all this, the king marched on towards the battle-field quite courageously. He entered the battle-field together with all his army.

अवरुह्य रथात्तूर्णं दृष्ट्वा च पुरतो भृगुम्।
ननाम दण्डवद्भूमौ राजेन्द्रैः सह भक्तितः॥४९॥

Finding Paraśurāma there, he descended from his chariot and he bowed in reverence to him together with all his sons.

आशिषं युयुजे रामः स्वर्गं याहीति वाञ्छितम्।
तेषां सह्यं तद्बभूवुर्दुर्लङ्घ्या ब्राह्मणाशिषः॥५०॥

Paraśurāma on his part blessed them saying, "You achieve your desired heaven." Thus the words of a Brāhmaṇa cannot be otherwise.

भृगुं प्रणम्य राजेन्द्रो राजेन्द्रैः सह तत्क्षणात्।
आरुरोह रथं तूर्णं नानायुधसमन्वितम्॥५१॥
नानाप्रकारवाद्यं च दुन्दुभिं मुरजादिकम्।
वादयामास सहसा ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ धनम्॥५२॥

The king assisted by many of the princes bowed in reverence to the king and hurriedly mounted on the chariot and made the war-bands and other musical instruments to be played upon. He gave away charities to the Brāhmaṇas.

उवाच रामो राजेन्द्रं राजेन्द्राणां च संसदि।
हितं सत्यं नीतिसारं वाक्यं वेदविदां वरः॥५३॥

Thereafter, Paraśurāma addressing the king in the assembly of kings spoke the beneficial words which were filled with welfare, were truthful and appropriate.

परशुराम उवाच

श्रृणु राजेन्द्र धर्मिष्ठ चन्द्रवंशसमुद्भव।
विष्णोरंशस्य शिष्यस्त्वं दत्तात्रेयस्य धीमतः॥५४॥
स्वयं विद्वांश्च वेदांश्च श्रुत्वा वेदविदो मुखात्।
कथं दुर्बुद्धिरधुना सज्जनानां विहिंसना॥५५॥

Paraśurāma said - O king, you are quite a religious one; having been born in the solar race, you are aṁś of Viṣṇu and are the pupil of great intellectual Dattātreya. You have heard the recitation of the Vedas from the mouth of those who were well-versed in the Vedas but how did you achieve this thought to kill the noble people?

त्वं पूर्वमहनो लोभान्निरीहं ब्राह्मणं कथम्।
ब्राह्मणी शोकसंतप्ता भर्त्रा सार्द्धं गता सती॥५६॥

Why did you kill an ascetic Brāhmaṇa getting overwhelmed grief? As a result of which, the chaste lady went to the abode of her husband.

किं भविष्यति ते भूप परत्रैवानयोर्वधात्।
सर्वं मिथ्यैव संसारं पद्मपत्रे यथा जलम्॥५७॥
सत्कीर्तिश्चाथ दुष्कीर्तिः कथामात्रावशेषिता।
विडम्बना वा किमतो दुषकीर्तेश्च सतामहो॥५८॥

O king, what is the merit you could achieve by killing both of them? The entire universe is like the drops of water falling on a lotus leaf. In this universe a person meets only with grace and disgrace and the tales of his good and bad deeds are left behind. What is the use of earning disgrace by putting the noble people to disgrace?

क्व गता कपिलां त्वं क्व क्व विवादो मुनिः कुतः।
यत्कृतं विदुषा राज्ञा न कृतं हालिकेन तत्॥५९॥

Where has that Kapilā gone? Where is the remorse that developed because of that and where has the ascetic gone? Thus evidentially the deeds performed by a king cannot even be performed by the one who ploughs the field.

त्वामुपोषितमीशं हि दृष्ट्वा तातो हि धार्मिकः।
पारणां कारयामास दत्तं तस्य फलं त्वया॥६०॥

Finding you hungry my religious-minded father served you with food and you gave him the reward.

अधीतं विधिवद्दत्तं ब्राह्मणेभ्यो दिने दिने।
जगत्ते यशसा पूर्णमयशो वार्द्धके कथम्॥६१॥

You have yourself studied the Vedas, served food to the Brāhmaṇa daily, which earned you the glory assured in the Vedas but why did you earn this disgrace in your old age?

दाता बलिष्ठो धर्मिष्ठो यशस्वी पुण्यवान्सुधीः।
कार्तवीर्यार्जुनसमो न भूतो न भविष्यति॥६२॥
पुरातना वदन्तीति वन्दिनो धरणीतले।
यो विख्यातः पुराणेषु तस्य दुष्कीर्तिरीदृशी॥६३॥

Because no one could be as charitable, valorous, religious-minded, glorious, meritorious and intelligent as a king like Kārtavīrya in the past nor shall be in the future. These are the songs which the bards recite on the earth, the one who is well known is the Purāṇas, how could he meet with such a disgrace.

दुर्वाक्यं दुःसहं राजंस्तीक्ष्णास्त्रादपि जीविनाम्।
संकटेऽपि सतां वक्त्राद्दुरुक्तिर्न विनिर्गता॥६४॥

O king, the harsh words of a person are worse than the sharp-edged weapons but inspite of any danger the noble people never utter harsh words.

न ददामि दुरुक्तिं ते प्रकृतं कथयाम्यहम्।
उत्तरं देहि राजेन्द्र मह्यं राजेन्द्रसंसदि॥६५॥

I don't want to use harsh words against you, but I am only speaking with reference to the context. Therefore, O king, you give me the answer in your court.

सूर्यचन्द्रमनूनां च वंशजाः सन्ति संसदि।
सत्यं वद सभायां च शृण्वन्तु पितरः सुराः॥६६॥
शृण्वन्तु सर्वे राजेन्द्राः सदसद्वक्तुमीश्वराः।
पश्यन्तो हि समं सन्तः पाक्षिकं न वदन्ति च॥६७॥

Because the descendants of the solar, lunar and Manu's races are present here. you speak out the truth in this assembly to enable your manes and the gods to listen to the truth besides other kings; the noble people always look at all the people similarly."

इत्युक्त्वा रैणुकेयश्च विरराम रणस्थले।
राजा बृहस्पतिसमः प्रवक्तुमुपचक्रमे॥६८॥

Thus speaking Paraśurāma kept quiet in the battle-field. Thereafter the king started speaking like Bṛhaspati in the battle-field.

कार्तवीर्यार्जुन उवाच

शृणु राम हरेरंशो हरिभक्तो जितेन्द्रियः।

श्रुतो धर्मो मुखाद्येषां त्वं च तेषां गुरोर्गुरुः॥६९॥

Kārtavīrya said - O Paraśurāma you are the aṁśa of the lord besides being devoted to him and are the one who had controlled all his senses and the persons from whose mouth I have learnt about dharmas; you happen to be the teacher of the same teacher.

कर्मणा ब्राह्मणो जातः करोति ब्रह्मभावनाम्।

स्वधर्मनिरतः शुद्धस्तस्माद्ब्राह्मण उच्यते॥७०॥

The one who is born of the Brāhmaṇa, his mind is influenced by Brahman and he always gets devoted to the dharma. That is why he is called a Brāhmaṇa.

अन्तर्बहिश्च मननात्कुरुते कर्मनित्यशः।

मौनी शश्वद्वदेत्काले या यो वै स मुनिरुच्यते॥७१॥

The one who acts moving around and keeping mum and speaks only when it is necessary, he is called the muni.

स्वर्णे लोष्टे गृहेऽरण्ये पंके सुस्निग्धचन्दने।

समताभावना यस्य स योगी परिकीर्तितः॥७२॥

सर्वजीवेषु यो विष्णुं भावयेत्समताधिया।

हरौ करोति भक्तिं च हरिभक्तः स च स्मृतः॥७३॥

The one who has an equal feeling for gold, dust, house, forest, mud and sandal-paste, is called a yogī, the one who visualises Viṣṇu, equally in all the creatures and is always devoted to the lord, he is called a devotee.

तपो धनं ब्राह्मणानां तपः कल्पतरुर्यथा।

तपस्या कामधेनुश्च सततं तपसि स्पृहा॥७४।

ऐश्वर्यं क्षत्रियाणां च वाणिज्ये च तथा विशाम्।

शूद्राणां विप्रसेवैव स्पृहा वेदेष्वनिन्दिता॥७५॥

The Brāhmaṇas have only the tapas as their riches which serve them like kalpavṛkṣa and their tapas is like Kāmadhenu; therefore they always remain engaged in the tapas; the Brāhmaṇas are highly esteemed. The riches are the belongings of Kṣatriyas and the Vaiśyas always remain engaged in business while the Śūdras serve the Brāhmaṇa as well as the other people.

क्षत्रियाणां च तपसि स्पृहाऽतीवाप्रशंसिता।

ब्राह्मणानां विवादे च स्पृहाऽतीव विनिन्दिता॥७६॥

The Kṣatriyas are not so much devoted to performing tapas and if a Brāhmaṇa enters into any controversy he becomes deplorable.

रागी राजसिकं कार्यं कुरुते कर्मरागतः।

रागान्धो यो राजसिकस्तेन राजा प्रकीर्तितः॥७७॥

रागतः कामधेनुश्च मया वै याचिता मुने।

को दोष एक मे जातः क्षत्रियस्यानुरागिणः॥७८॥

The greedy person getting overcome by grief performs accordingly and involves himself in Rajoguṇa. He is, therefore, called a king. O sage, infatuated with greed I demanded Kāmadhenu, therefore what is the wrong if a Kṣatriya like me becomes greedy.

कुतः कस्य मुनेरस्ति कामधेनुस्त्वया विना।

स्पृहा रणे वा भोगे वा युष्माकं च व्यतिक्रमः॥७९॥

Except you, who else is the sage possessing Kāmadhenu, you have the opposite feeling about the battle-field and worldly pleasures?

त्रिंशदक्षौहिणीं सेनां राजेन्द्राणां त्रिकोटिकाम्।

निहत्याऽऽयान्तमेकं मां न हन्तुं सहनं मुने॥८०॥

O sage, how can one tolerate a person who kills three akṣauhiṇī army and three crores of kings.

आत्मानं हन्तुमायान्तमपि वेदाङ्गपारगम्।

न दोषो हनने तस्य न तेन ब्रह्महाऽभवम्॥८१॥

Even if a person well-versed in the Vedas comes to kill me, there is no harm in destroying him. Therefore I do not happen to be the killer of a Brāhmaṇa.

प्रायश्चित्तं हिंसकानां न वेदेषु निरूपितम्।

वधः समुचितस्तेषामित्याह कमलोद्भवः॥८२॥

पित्रा ते निहता भूपा महाबलपराक्रमाः।

इदानीं राजपुत्राश्च शिशवोऽत्र समागताः॥८३॥

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां कृत्स्नां कर्तुं महीमिति।

त्वया कृता प्रतिज्ञा या तस्यास्त्वं पालनं कुरु॥८४॥

Because the Vedas do not prescribe for any repentance for the killing of the one who comes to kill you. It would be proper for anyone to kill such a person. This has been ordained by Brahmā. Your father has killed many of the valorous kings possessing great prowess. The princes, who have come to face you are only the sons of those kings.

Therefore, you fulfil your vow for ridding the earth of Kṣatriyas twenty one times.

क्षत्रियाणां रणो धर्मो रणे मृत्युर्न गर्हितः।
रणे स्पृहा ब्राह्मणानां लोके वेदे विडम्बना॥८५॥

Kṣatriyas, dharmas is to fight; therefore their death in the battle-field is not denounced. It is also a fallacy for the Brāhmaṇas to think of fighting which is neither accepted in the Vedas nor by the people.

तपोधनानां विप्राणां वाग्बलानां युगे युगे।
शान्तिःस्वस्त्ययनं कर्म विप्रधर्मो न संगरः॥८६॥

Therefore such of the ascetic Brāhmaṇas who are well-versed in the speech and the Vedas, have always to remain peaceful in all the yugas. They are devoted to the performing of the dharma of the Brāhmaṇa and do not take to fighting.

क्षत्रियाणां बलं युद्धं व्यापरश्च बलं विशाम्।
भिक्षाबलं भिक्षुकाणां शूद्राणां विप्रसेवनम्॥८७॥
हरौ भक्तिर्हरेर्दास्यं वैष्णवानां बलं हरिः।

बलं वेषश्च वेश्यानां योषितां यौवनं बलम्।

हिंसा च हिंस्रजन्तूनां सतीनां पतिसेवनम्।
वरशापौ सुराणां च शिष्याणां गुरुसेवनम्॥९४॥
बलं धर्मो गृहस्थानां भृत्यानां राजसेवनम्।
बलं स्तवः स्तावकानां ब्रह्म च ब्रह्मचारिणाम्॥९५॥
यतीनां च सदाचारो न्यासः संन्यासिनां बलम्।
पापं बलं पातकिनामशक्तानां हरिर्बलम्॥९६॥

The valour of the Kṣatriyas is in fighting, business is the strength of the Vaiśyas, the ascetic's strength is taking to the alms. The strength of the Śūdras lies less in the serving of the Brāhmaṇas and the devotees of the lord getting engaged in the adoration of Hari. The Vaiṣṇavas remain devoted to lord Viṣṇu and that is their strength. The wicked people remain engaged in terrific deeds, which happen to be their strength, the performing of tapas happens to be the strength of the ascetics; the wicked women have the strength as their self decoration. The ladies have the strength of youthfulness; the strength of the kings is their glory, the strength of the children is their cries, the strength of the noble people is truthfulness; the strength of the wicked people is falsehood, following in others' footsteps is the strength of the follower; the collecting of money is the strength of the poor; the learned people have the strength of courageous people; the riches happen to be the strength of the rich people as well as those who lead a purified life. Intelligence happens to be the strength of peaceful persons. The virtuous people have the strength of unity. Virtue is considered to be the strength of virtuous people. Theft is the strength of the thieves, deceitfulness happens to be the strength of the wicked people; boons happen to be the strength of the gods, besides the pronouncing of curses. Pupils have the strength in serving the teacher; house-holders have the strength of performing dharma, a servant's strength lies in serving the king; prayer happens to be the strength of those offering prayers, Brāhmaṇa happens to be the strength of the Brahmacārīs; the yatis have the strength of performing noble deeds, recluses have the strength of disowning everything, sinners have the strength of performing sins and people having no strength have the strength of belief in the lord.

पुण्यं बलं पुण्यवतां प्रजानां नृपतिर्बलम्।
फलं बलं च वृक्षाणां जलजानां जलं बलम्॥९७॥
जलं बलं च सस्यानां मत्स्यानां च जलं बलम्।
शान्तिर्बलं च भूपानां विप्राणां च विशेषतः॥९८॥

Noble people have the strength of merits; the strength of the people happens to be the king, the strength of the tree lies in its fruits, the aquatic creatures have their strength in water, the cereals have their strength in water, the fish have the strength in water. Peace happens to be the strength of the king as well as the Brāhmaṇa.

विप्रः शान्तो रणोद्योगी नैव दृष्टो न च श्रुतः।
स्थिते नारायणे देवे बभूवाद्य विपर्ययः॥९९॥

We have never come across a Brāhmaṇa who is desirous of all. All this happened when lord Nārāyaṇa was present.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा राजेन्द्रो विरराम रणाजिरे।
तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा सद्यस्तूष्णीं बभूव ह॥१००॥
रामस्य भ्रातरः सर्वे तीक्ष्णशस्त्रासिपाणयः।
आरेभिरे रणं कर्तुं महावीरास्तदाज्ञया॥१०१॥

Thus speaking in the battle-field, the king kept quiet and all other kings also kept quiet on hearing his words. Thereafter the valorous brothers of Paraśurāma started fighting holding in their hands sharp-edged weapons.

रणोन्मुखांश्च तान्दृष्ट्वा मत्स्यराजो महाबलः।
समारेभे रणं कर्तुं मङ्गलो मङ्गलालयः॥१०२॥
शरजालेन राजेन्द्रो वारयामास तानपि।
चिच्छिदुः शरजालं च जमदग्निसुतास्तदा॥१०३॥

The great and valorous king of the Matsya-country who happened to be the most prosperous of all the properties, got ready for a fight in the battle-field. The king stopped the flow of arrows from the opponents with the shooting of his own arrow. The sons of Jamadagni then cut-off the arrows of the king.

राजा चिक्षेप दिव्यास्त्रं शतसूर्यप्रभं मुने।
माहेश्वरेण मुनयश्चिच्छिदुश्चैव लीलया॥१०४॥

O sage, the king used a divine weapon which was shining like a hundred suns which was neutralised by the sages with the use of Māheśvara-weapon playfully.

दिव्यास्त्रेणैव मुनयश्चिच्छिदुः सशरं धनुः।
रथं च सारथिं चैव राज्ञः संनाहमेव च॥१०५॥
न्यस्तशस्त्रं नृपं दृष्ट्वा मुनयो हर्षविह्वलाः।
दधार शूलिनः शूलं मत्स्यराजजिघांसया॥१०६॥

Thereafter the sages, with the use of the divine weapons, cut-off the bow, the chariot, the charioteer and kavaca into pieces. Finding the king with weapons, the ascetics were delighted and they tried to use the weapons of Śiva to kill the king of Matsya.

शूलनिःक्षेपसमये वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी।
शूलं त्यजत विप्रेन्द्राः शिवस्याव्यर्थमेव च॥१०७॥
शिवस्य कवचं दिव्यं दत्तं दुर्वाससा पुरा।
मत्स्यराजगलेऽस्त्येतत्सर्वावयवरक्षणम्॥१०८॥
प्राणानां च प्रदातारं कवचं याचतं नृपम्।
तदा निक्षिप्तशूलं च जघानं नृपतीश्वरम्॥१०९॥
तच्छूलं तं नृपं प्राप्य शतखण्डं गतं मुने।
श्रुत्वैवाकाशवाणीं च शृङ्गी संन्यासवेषकृत्॥११०॥
ययाचे कवचं भूपं जमदग्निसुतो महान्।
राजा ददौ च कवचं ब्रह्माण्डविजयं परम्॥१११॥

At the time when they were about to shoot the trident of Śiva there was a divine voice from the sky, "O best of the Brāhmaṇas this trident of Śiva never goes waste; therefore it should not be used now. The king was bestowed with a divine kavaca by the sage Durvāsā in earlier times which is worn by him round his neck and protects all his limbs. First of all you ask for the kavaca from the king, only then should the trident be used. O sage, those people had already used the trident. Therefore, reaching before the king the trident was reduced to a hundred of pieces. On hearing the words of the divine voice, Śṛṅgī an ascetic who happened to be the son of Jamadagni took to the form of an ascetic and went to the king begging for the kavaca. The king gladly gave away the kavaca to the Brāhmaṇa.

गृहीत्वा कवचं तच्च शूलेनैव जघान ह।
पपात मत्स्यराजश्च शतचन्द्रसमाननः॥

महाबलिष्ठो गुणावांश्चन्द्रवंशसमुद्भवः॥ ११२॥

Thereafter getting the kavaca he again shot the trident. The king was hurt with the same and he fell down to the ground. He possessed the glory of a hundred moons, besides great prowess. He was virtuous and was born in the solar race.

नारद उवाच

शिवस्य कवचं ब्रूहि मत्स्यराजेन यद्धृतम्।
नारायण महाभाग श्रोतुं कौतूहलं मम॥ ११३॥

Nārada said - O Nārāyaṇa, you kindly tell me the details about the kavaca of Śiva which was worn by the king of Matsya. I am quite anxious about it.

नारायण उवाच

कवचं शृणु विप्रेन्द्र शंकरस्य महात्मनः।

पुरा दुर्वाससा दत्तं मत्स्यराजाय धीमते।
दत्त्वा षडक्षरं मन्त्रं सर्वपापप्रणाशनम्॥ ११५॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O Brāhmaṇa, the kavaca of Śiva is known as Brahmāṇḍavijaya and always protects the limbs of the body. I am going to tell you about the same; you please listen to it. In the earlier times Durvāsā had imparted the knowledge of the same to Matsyarāja with the mantra of six letters which removes all sins.

स्थिते च कवचे देहे नास्ति मृत्युश्च जीविनाम्।
अस्त्रे शस्त्रे जले वह्नौ विद्धिश्चेन्नास्ति संशयः॥ ११६॥

When the kavaca is worn on the body, the death never approaches him, the weapons, water and fire cannot affect him adversely.

By wearing it and reciting it Bāṇāsura gained the knowledge of Śivatva and Nandīkeśvara became like Śiva himself. Sāmba became the best of the warriors and by wearing which Hiraṇyakaśipu became the lord of the three worlds.

हिरण्याक्षश्च विजयी चाभवद्धारणाद्धि सः।

By holding which Hiraṇyākṣa was victorious and by reciting which Durvāsā and achieved success and was adored by the universe.

While reciting and holding which Jaigīṣavya became a great ascetic besides Vāmadeva, Devala, the wind-god himself. Agastya and Pulastya became adorable through out the universe. 'ओ नमः शिवाय' should protect my head.

Mṛḍa should protect the upper regions and Mṛtyuñjaya should protect the lower regions besides the water, the land, space, while sleeping or awake. A devotee like me should be protected by the Pināka-holder. O son, thus have I explained to you the astonishing type of kavaca.

दशलक्षजपेनैव सिद्धिर्भवति निश्चितम्।
यदि स्यात्सिद्धकवचो रुद्रतुल्यो भवेद्ध्रुवम्॥ १३५॥

The one who recites it ten lakhs of times, surely meets with its success. The one who meets with the success of this kavaca, becomes like Rudra himself.

Because of my affection for you, I have explained this kavaca to you. It should not be revealed by you to anyone. This has been explained in the Kāṇvaśākhā and is quite secret and inaccessible.

The merit of performing a thousand Aśvamedha sacrifices or a hundred Rājasūya sacrifices and all the yajñas cannot compare even to the one sixteenth of the ray of the merit of this kavaca.

By the grace of this kavaca, the humans are freed from the circle of birth and death, become all knowledgeable and lords of all the success and fortune and attaining the spread of the mind.

Chapter 36

Description of the battle between Kārtavīrya and Bhṛgu

नारायण उवाच

मत्स्यराजे निपतिते राजा युद्धविशारदः।
राजेन्द्रान्प्रेषयामास युद्धशास्त्रविशारदान्।।१।।

बृहद्बलं सोमदत्तं विदर्भं मिथिलेश्वरम्।
निषधाधिपतिं चैव मगधाधिपतिं तथा॥ २॥
आययु: समरे योद्धुं जामदग्न्यं महारथा:।
त्रितयाक्षौहिणीभिश्च सेनाभि: सह नारद॥ ३॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O Nārada, after the killing of Matsyarāja, the king who was well-versed in the art of welfare and also the scripture on the subject deputed Bṛhadvala, Somadatta, Vidharbha, Mithileśvara, Niṣidheśvara and Magadheśvara, who were the great warriors. All these kings came forward to fight against Paraśurāma the son of Jamadagni.

रामस्य भ्रातर: सर्वे वीरास्तीक्ष्णास्त्रपाणय:।
वारयामासुरस्त्रैश्च तानेव रणमूर्द्धनि॥ ४॥
ते वीरा: शरजालेन दिव्यास्त्रेण प्रयत्नत:।
वारयामासुरेकैकं भ्रातृवर्गान्भृगोस्तथा॥ ५॥

Paraśurāma and all his brothers blocked their forward movement with the shooting of several arrows and weapons. The warriors too shot numerous arrows besides divine weapons. They also stopped the forward movement of the brother of Paraśurāma.

आययौ समरे शीघ्रं दृष्ट्वा तांश्च पराजितान्।
पिनाकहस्त: स भृगुर्ज्वलदग्निशोखोपम:॥ ६॥

Finding his brothers defeated Bhṛgu held the Pināka-bow which was emitting burning flames like fire and came forward in the battle-field.

चिक्षेप नागपाशं च जामदग्न्यो महाबल:।
चिच्छेद तं गारुडेन सोमदत्तो महाबल:॥ ७॥
भृगु: शंकरशूलेन सोमदत्तं जघान ह।
बृहद्बलं च गदया विदर्भं मुष्टिभिस्तथा॥ ८॥
मैथिलं मुद्गरेणैव शक्त्या वै नैषधं तथा।
मागधं चरणोद्घातैरस्त्रजालेन सैनिकान्॥ ९॥

Thereafter the valorous Paraśurāma used Nāgapāśa and the immensely valorous Somadatta neutralised it with the use of Garuḍāstra. Thereafter Bhṛgu using the trident of Śiva killed Bṛhadvala with a blow of the club, Vidharbha with fists, Mithilā, with Mudgara (huge club), Naiṣadha, with the use of śakti, Magadheśvara with kicks and all the army was destroyed with the use of weapons.

निहत्य निखिलान्भूपान्संहाराग्निसमो रणे।
दुद्राव कार्त्तवीर्यं च जामदग्न्यो महाबल:॥ १०॥

Paraśurāma the great warrior like the fire of dissolution moved forward and killing all the kings rushed towards Kārtavīrya.

दृष्ट्वा तं योद्धुमायान्तं राजानश्च महारथा:।
आययु: समरं कर्तुं कार्त्तवीर्यं निवार्य च॥ ११॥

The great kings finding Bhṛgu approaching them for a fight removing Kārtavīrya aside started this battle themselves.

कान्यकुब्जाश्च शतश: सौराष्ट्रा: शतशस्तथा।
राष्ट्रीया: शतशश्चैव वीरेन्द्रा: शतशस्तथा॥ १२॥
सौम्या वाङ्गाश्च शतशो महाराष्ट्रास्तथा दश।
तथा गुर्जरजातीया: कलिङ्गा: शतशस्तथा॥ १३॥

Out of them, a hundred belong to Kānyakubja, a hundred to Saurāṣṭra, a hundred to Rāṣṭrīya, a hundred valorous kings, a hundred noble kings, a hundred from king of Bengal, a thousand from Mahārāṣṭra, a hundred from Gujarata and others happened to be the kings of Kaliṅga.

कृत्वा ते शरजालं च भृगुंचिच्छिदुरेव तत्क्षणम्।
तं छित्वाऽभ्युत्थितो रामो नीहारमिव भास्कर:॥ १४॥

All of them created a net with shooting the arrow and covered Paraśurāma with it. Paraśurāma on his part cut-off all the arrows and emerged as if the sun emerges from a fog.

त्रिरात्रं युयुधे रामस्तै: सार्द्धं समराजिरे।
द्वादशाक्षौहिणीं सेनां तथा चिच्छेद पर्शुना॥ १५॥
रम्भास्तम्भसमूहं च यथा खड्गेन लीलया।
छित्त्वा सेनां भूपवर्गं जघान शिवशूलत:॥ १६॥

For three nights Paraśurāma continued the battle with those kings and he emerged victorious like the sun who emerges out of the sky. He cut off all the soldiers like the cutting of the trunk of a banana tree and after doing so, he killed all the kings with the use of the trident of Śiva.

सर्वस्तान्निहतान्दृष्ट्वा सूर्यवंशसमुद्भवः।
आजगाम सुचन्द्रश्च लक्षराजेन्द्रसंयुतः॥ १७॥

Finding them killed Sucandra who was born in the solar race came forward with a lakh of kings for a fight.

द्वादशाक्षौहिणीभिश्च सेनाभिः सह संयुगे।
कोपेनयुयुधे रामं सिंहं सिंहो यथा रणे॥ १८॥

The king was accompanied by twelve akṣ auhiṇīs of army. Paraśurāma fought there with great anger like a lion attacking other lions.

भृगुः शंकरशूलेन नृपलक्षं निहत्य च।
द्वादशाक्षौहिणीं सेनामहन्वै पर्शुना बली॥ १९॥

The valorous Bhṛgu then using the trident of Śiva killed the lakh of kings along with the twelve akṣauhiṇīs of army.

निहत्य सर्वाः सेनाश्च सुचन्द्रं युयुधे बली।
नागास्त्रं प्रेरयामास निहतं तं भृगुः स्वयम्॥ २०॥
नागपाशं च चिच्छिदे गारुडेन नृपेश्वरः।
जहास च भृगुं राजा समरे च पुनः पुनः॥ २१॥

After killing the army Paraśurāma started fighting with Sucandra. The valorous Bhṛgu shot the Nāgāstra at king Sucandra which was neutralised by the king with the use of Garuḍāstra. He then started attacking the son of Bhṛgu again and again.

भृगुर्नारायणास्त्रं च चिक्षेप रणमूर्धनि।
अस्तं ययौ तं निहन्तुं शतसूर्यसमप्रभम्।२२॥

Finding Sucandra behaving thus, Bhṛgu shot Nārāyaṇāstra having the lustre of hundreds of suns.

दृष्ट्वाऽस्त्रं नृपशार्दूलश्चावरुह्य रथात्क्षणात्।
न्यस्तशस्त्रः प्राणमच्च स्तुत्वा नारायणं शिवम्॥ २३॥

The lion among the kings, finding Nārāyaṇāstra approaching him, got down from his chariot and stood on the crown. He threw away all his weapons and bowed before it reciting the mantras of Śiva and Viṣṇu.

तमेव प्रणतं त्यक्त्वा ययौ नारायणान्तिकम्।
अस्त्रराजो भगवतो रामः संप्राप विस्मयम्॥ २४॥

Finding him going down, the Nārāyaṇāstra left the king and went back to Nārāyaṇa. This completely surprised Paraśurāma.

भृगुः शक्तिं च मुसलं तोकरं पट्टिशं तथा।
गदां पर्शुं च कोपेन चिक्षिपे तज्जिघांसया॥ २५॥
जग्राह काली तान्सर्वान्सुचन्द्रस्यन्दनस्थिता।
चिक्षेप शिवशूलं स नृपमाल्यं बभूव सः॥ २६॥

Thereafter Bhṛgu got enraged and shot for the killing of the king, śakti, mūsala, tomara, paṭṭiśa, club and battle-axe but Kālī who was lodged on the chariot of Sucandra, caught hold of all the weapons in her hand. Thereafter, Paraśurāma made use of the trident of Śiva, which reached the king and adorned his neck like a garland.

ददर्श पुरतो रामो भद्रकालीं जगत्प्रसूम्।
वहन्तीं मुण्डमालां च विकटास्यां भयंकरीम्॥ २७॥।

Thereafter, Paraśurāma spotted Kālī there, who was wearing the garland of skulls, having a terrific face and horrible appearance.

विहाय शस्त्रमस्त्रं च पिनाकं च भृगुस्तदा।
तुष्टाव तां महामायां भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः॥ २८॥

Bhṛgu on his part throwing away all the weapons including Pināka-bow stood in reverence to the goddess and started eulogising the goddess Mahāmāyā.

परशुराम उवाच

नमः शंकरकान्तायै सारायै ते नमो नमः।
नमो दुर्गतिनाशिन्यै मायायै ते नमो नमः॥ २९॥

Paraśurāma said - I bow in reverence to the wife of Śiva who is the essence of all; I bow in reverence to her again and again. She is the one who destroys misfortune and is known as Mahāmāyā, I bow in reverence to her.

नमो नमो जगद्धात्र्यै जगत्कर्त्र्यै नमो नमः।
नमोऽस्तु ते जगन्मात्रे कारणायै नमो नमः॥ ३०॥

She is the one who sustains the universe; I offer my salutation to her again and again. She is the creator of the universe. I bow in reverence to the mother of the universe and also the one who is the cause of the same, I bow in reverence to her.

प्रसीद जगतां मात: सृष्टिसंहारकारिणि।

त्वत्पादौ शरणं यामि प्रतिज्ञां सार्थिकां कुरु॥३१॥

O goddess, you are the destroyer of the universe and also its mother. Be pleased with me as I have come to take refuge under your feet; let me fulfil my vow.

त्वयि मे विमुखायाञ्च को मां रक्षितुमीश्वर:।

त्वं प्रसन्ना भव शुभे मां भक्ते भक्तवत्सले॥३२॥

In case you turn your face against me, no one on earth can save me. Therefore, O pleasant one, the bestower of grace on devotees, you be pleased with me.

युष्माभि: शिवलोके च मह्यं दत्तो वर: पुरा।

तं वरं सफलं कर्तुं त्वमर्हसि वरानने॥३३॥

O beautiful faced goddess, in earlier times, you had bestowed me with a boon in the presence of Śiva; you kindly make it a success.

रैणुकेयस्तवं श्रुत्वा प्रसन्नाऽभवदम्बिका।

मा भैरित्येवमुक्त्वा तु तत्रैवान्तरधीयत॥३४॥

एतद्भृगुकृतं स्तोत्रं भक्तियुक्तश्च य: पठेत्।

महाभयात्समुत्तीर्ण: स भवेदेव लीलया॥३५॥

Thereafter hearing the prayer of Paraśurāma, the son of Reṇukā, the goddess Ambikā was pleased. There was a divine voice from the sky which declared that the king should not be afraid of anyone. The goddess at the same time disappeared from the scene. Whosoever recites this stotra composed by Bhṛgu, will cross over all the dangers playfully.

स पूजितश्च त्रैलोक्ये तत्रैव विजयी भवेत्।

ज्ञातिश्रेष्ठो भवेच्चैव वैरिपक्षविमर्दक:॥३६॥

He will be adored in all the three lokas and shall become the best. He will be adored in all the three lokas and will be victorious. He would become the best of the intellectuals and shall destroy all his enemies.

एतस्मिन्नतरे ब्रह्मा भृगु धर्मभृतां वरम्।

आगत्य कथयामास रहस्यं राममेव च॥३७॥

In the meantime Brahmā arrived in front of the religious-minded Bhṛgu and revealed the secret to him.

ब्रह्मोवाच

शृणु राम महाभाग रहस्यं पूर्वमेव च।

सुचन्द्रजयहेतुं च प्रतिज्ञाफलमेव च॥३८॥

दशाक्षरी महाविद्या दत्ता दुर्वाससा पुरा।

सुचन्द्रायैव कवचं भद्रकाल्या सुदुर्लभम्॥३९॥

Brahmā said - "O virtuous one, O Paraśurāma, I am going to reveal a secret of the earlier times which can be helpful to you in becoming victorious over Sucandra. You please listen to me. In the earlier times, Sucandra was provided with a kavaca of ten letters of Durvāsā for the adoration of Mahāvidyā and Bhadrakālī.

कवचं भद्रकाल्याश्च देवानां च सुदुर्लभम्।

कवचं तद्गले यस्य सर्वशत्रुविमर्दकम्॥४०॥

अतीव पूज्यं शस्तं च त्रैलोक्यजयकारणम्।

तस्मिन्स्थिते च कवचे कस्त्वं जेतुमलं भुवि॥४१॥।

The kavaca of Bhadrakālī is beyond the reach of gods. It destroys all the enemies and is adorable in the three world. It could become the cause of conquering the three worlds. That kavaca has been tied around the neck of the king and till such time as the kavaca remains there, no one on earth can defeat the king.

भृगुर्गच्छतु भिक्षार्थं करोतु प्रार्थनां नृपम्।

सूर्यवंशोद्भवो राजा दाता परमधार्मिक:॥४२॥

Therefore, O Bhṛgu, you go and approach the king demanding for the kavaca. The king is born in the solar race and is quite religious minded and a giver of charities. He will give away the kavaca and the mantra besides other details on your demand.

प्राणांश्च कवचं मन्त्रं सर्वं दास्यति निश्चितम्॥४३॥

भृगु: संन्यासिवेषेण गतव राजान्तिकं मुने।

भिक्षां चकार मन्त्रं च कवचं परमाद्भुतम्॥४४॥

O sage, Bhṛgu then went to the king in the form of an ascetic and begged for the astonishing type of kavaca from the king.

राजा ददौ च तन्मन्त्रं कवचं परमादरात्।

तत: शंकरशूलेन तं जघान नृपं भृगु:॥४५॥

The king handed over gracefully the mantra

and the kavaca to Bhṛgu who ultimately killed the king with the use of the trident of Śiva.

Nārāyaṇa said - O Nārada, I am going to reveal the truth about the Daśākṣarī-vidyā and the secret kavaca which are inaccessible in the world. You please listen to me.

पञ्चलक्षजपेनैव पठन्कवचमुत्तमम्॥ ४॥

By reciting it ten lakhs of times, he achieved success of this mantra in the earlier times. Thereafter reciting the same five lakhs of times, he met with success on the best of the kavaca.

बभूव सिद्धकवचोऽप्ययोध्यामाजगाम सः।

Nārāyaṇa said - O best of the Brāhmaṇas, I am going to reveal to you the secret about the astonishing kavaca, the knowledge of which was bestowed gracefully by Nārāyaṇa to Śiva.

Durvāsā on his part imparted the knowledge of the same to Sucandra, which is extremely secret and is the form of all the mantras including the tattvas.

Chapter 38

Lakṣmī kavaca

नारायण उवाच

सुचन्द्रे पतिते ब्रह्मन्राजेन्द्राणां शिरोमणौ।
अगमत्पुष्कराक्षस्तु सेनात्र्यक्षौहिणीयुत:॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O Brāhmaṇa, after the king, Sucandra met with his end in the battle-field, Puṣ karākṣa came forward in the battle-field for waging a war. He happened to be the best of the kings and was accompanied by three akṣauhiṇī armies.

सूर्यवंशोद्भवो राजा सुचन्द्रतनयो महान्।
महालक्ष्मीसेवकश्च लक्ष्मीवान्सूर्यसंनिभः॥ २॥

The king who belonged to the solar dynasty, happened to be the eldest son of Sucandra, adored Mahālakṣmī and had immense fortune and glory resembling the sun-rays.

महालक्ष्म्याश्च कवचं गले यस्य मनोहरम्।
परमैश्वर्यसंयुक्तस्त्रैलोक्यविजयी ततः॥ ३॥

The pleasant kavaca of Mahālakṣmī always adorned around his neck. He was lord of immense fortune and had conquered all the three worlds.

तं दृष्ट्वा भ्रातरः सर्वे रैणुकेयस्य धीमतः।
आययुः समरं कर्तुं नानाशस्त्रास्त्रपाणयः॥ ४॥
राजेन्द्रः शरजालेन च्छादयामास तांस्तथा।
चिच्छिदुः शरजालं च ते वीराश्चैव लीलया॥ ५॥

Finding him there, Paraśurāma's brothers came forward to fight with him holding several weapons in their hands and the prince covered all of them with his arrows and the great warrior also did not lag behind in destroying the net of the arrows.

चिच्छिदुः स्यन्दनं राज्ञस्ते वीराः पञ्चबाणतः।
सारथिं पञ्चबाणेन रथाश्वं दशबाणतः॥ ६॥
तद्धनुः सप्तबाणेन तूर्णं वै पञ्चबाणतः।
चिच्छिदुस्तद्भ्रातृवर्गान्विप्राः शंकरशूलतः॥ ७॥

Thereafter, those warriors shot five arrows at the king, killing his charioteer with five arrows, the charioteer and horses with ten arrows, the bow with seven arrows and the quiver with five arrows. With the use of the trident of Śiva, they destroyed all the brothers.

ते च त्र्यक्षौहिणीं सेनां निजघ्नुश्चापि लीलया।
हन्तुं नृपेन्द्रं ते वीराः शिवशूलं निचिक्षिपुः॥
गले बभूव तच्छूलं राज्ञः पुष्करमालिका॥ ८॥

The three akṣuhiṇī armies of the king were also playfully destroyed with the shooting of the arrow and the trident of Śiva, but the trident of Śiva touching the neck of the king became like a garland of flowers.

शक्तिं च परिघं चैव भृशुण्डीं मुद्गरं तथा।
गदां च चिक्षिपुर्विप्राः कोपेन ज्वलदग्नयः॥ ९॥

Thereafter, getting enraged like the burning fire-flame, the Brāhmaṇas shot śaktis, parighas, bhuṣuṇḍis, mudgaras and gadās.

तानि शस्त्राणि चूर्णानि क्ष्माभृतो देहयोगतः।
विस्मिता भ्रातरः भृगोरेव महामुने॥ १०॥

O great sage, with the very touch of the body of the king, all the weapons were reduced to pieces. This surprised immensely the brothers of Bhṛgu.

रथं धनुश्च शस्त्राणि चास्त्राणि विविधानि च।
सेनां प्रस्थापयामास कार्त्तवीर्यार्जुनः स्वयम्॥ ११॥

Thereafter Kārtavīrya himself deployed the army soldiers with chariots, bows and various types of other weapons.

राजा स्यन्दनमारुह्य पुष्कराक्षो महाबलः।
चकार शरजालं च महाघोरतरं मुने॥ १२॥

O sage, the great warrior king Puṣkarākṣa mounted on the chariot, immensely started showering arrows.

चिच्छिदुः शरजालं च ते वीराः शस्त्रपाणयः।
राजा प्रस्वापनेनैव निद्रितांस्तांश्चकार ह॥ १३॥

The warriors also faced them holding weapons in their hands, shooting arrows and destroyed the net of arrows. The king then cast a swoon on all of them and overpowered them with sleep.

भ्रातॄंश्च निद्रितान्दृष्ट्वा जामदग्न्यो महाबलः।
क्षतविक्षतसर्वाङ्गान्बोधयामास तत्त्वतः॥ १४॥
बोधयित्वा तान्निवार्य जगाम रणमूर्धनि।
चिक्षेप पर्शुं कोपेन शीघ्रं राजजिघांसया॥ १५॥
छित्त्वा राज्ञः किरीटं च पर्शुर्भूमौ पपात ह।
जग्राह परशुं शीघ्रं जामदग्न्यो महाबलः॥ १६॥

Thereafter Paraśurāma's brothers, who were the great warriors got wounded in the battle-field who were removed by him carefully from the battle-field. He therefore himself came forward holding a battle-axe in the hand. The hand of the king was cut-off who fell on the ground. Paraśurāma caught hold of it.

तदा शंकरशूलं च चिक्षिपे मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

नृपस्य कुण्डलं छित्त्वा जगाम शिवसंनिधिम्॥ १७॥

Thereafter he used the trident of Śiva reciting the mantra, which cut off the kuṇḍalas of the king and went back to Śiva.

राजा निहन्तुं तं रामं शरजालं चकार ह।

चिच्छेद शरजालं च रैणुकेयश्च लीलया॥ १८॥

The king on the other hand shot arrows creating a net around Paraśurāma but Bhṛgu on his part shattered the same.

क्रमेण राजा नानास्त्रं चिक्षिपे मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

तच्चिच्छेद क्रमेणैव भृगुः शस्त्रभृतां वरः॥ १९॥

The king however used many weapons which were destroyed by Paraśurāma the great archer.

भृगुश्चिक्षेप नानास्त्रं महासंधानपूर्वकम्।

तच्चिच्छेद महाराजः संधानेनैव लीलया॥ २०॥

रामश्चिक्षेप संधाय ब्रह्मास्त्रं मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

राजा निर्वापणं चक्रे संधानेनैव लीलया॥ २१॥

Bhṛgu also used many types of weapons available with him, which were easily destroyed by the king, Paraśurāma then thought of attacking the king with Brahmāstra but the king on coming to know about the intention of Paraśurāma playfully destroyed the same.

सर्वाण्यस्त्राणि शास्त्राणि राम पाशुपतं विना।

चिक्षेप कोपविभ्रान्तो भूपश्चिच्छेद तानि च॥ २२॥

Thereafter Paraśurāma was enraged and he shot the Pāśupata arrow, besides several other weapons which were in turn neutralised by the king.

रामः स्नात्वा शिवं नत्वाऽऽददे पाशुपतं मुने।

नारायणश्च भगवानवोचद्विप्ररूपधृक्॥ २३॥

O sage, then Paraśurāma bowed in reverence to Śiva and held the Pāśupata weapons again. At that very moment Nārāyaṇa, taking to the form of a Brāhmaṇa came to him with a request.

वृद्धब्राह्मण उवाच

किं करोषि भृगो वत्स त्वमेव ज्ञानिनां वरः।

नरं हन्तुं पाशुपतं कोपात्किं क्षिपसि भ्रमात्॥ २४॥

विश्वं पाशुपतेनैव भवेद्भस्म च सेश्वरम्।

सर्वघ्नं स्याच्छस्त्रमिदं विना श्रीकृष्णमीश्वरम्॥ २५॥

The Brāhmaṇa said - O son, O Paraśurāma, you are best among the intellectuals. What is all this being done by you. You are using the great Pāśupata weapon just for the killing of the ordinary human. By doing so the entire universe would be reduced to ashes together with Śiva because everything else gets destroyed by its use except lord Kṛṣṇa.

अहो पाशुपतं जेतुं नालमेव सुदर्शनम्।

हरेः सुदर्शनं चैव सर्वास्त्रपरिमर्दकम्॥ २६॥

Not only this, in order to over-power Pāśupata, the Sudarśana-cakra of lord Kṛṣṇa will be of no consequence. It destroy all the weapons and the enemies.

खट्वाङ्गिनः पाशुपतं हरेरेव सुदर्शनम्।

एते प्रधाने सर्वेषामस्त्राणां च जगत्त्रये॥ २७॥

Therefore, the Pāśupata of Śiva and Sudarśana-cakra of lord Kṛṣṇa are believed to be the best of all the weapons.

त्यज पाशुपतं ब्रह्मन्मदीयं वचनं शृणु।

यथा जेष्यसि राजानं पुष्कराक्षं महाबलम्॥ २८॥

कार्त्तवीर्यमजेतारं यथा जेष्यसि सांप्रतम्।

श्रूयतां सावधानेन तत्सर्वं कथयामि ते॥ २९॥

Therefore, O Brāhmaṇa you place the Pāśupata weapon aside and listen to my words. I shall let you know the way to be victorious on Puṣakarākṣa. I am also going to tell you the way to become victorious over Kārtavīrya. You listen to me attentively.

महालक्ष्म्याश्च कवचं त्रिषु लोकेषु दुर्लभम्।

भक्त्या च पुष्कराक्षेण धृतं कण्ठे विधानतः॥ ३०॥

The king Puṣakarākṣa is wearing around his right arm the inaccessible kavaca of Mahālakṣmī.

परं दुर्गतिनाशिन्याः कवचं परमाद्भुतम्।
धृतं च दक्षिणे बाहौ पुष्कराक्षसुतेन च॥३१॥
कवचस्य प्रभावेण विश्वं जेतुं क्षमौ च तौ।
को जेता च त्रिभुवने देहे च कवचे स्थिते॥३२॥

The son of Puṣkarākṣa has also tied the kavaca of goddess Durgā around his right arm. With the influence of the kavacas both of them are competent enough to over-power the entire universe. Therefore till such time as the kavacas are worn by them, no one can defeat them.

अहं यास्यामि भिक्षार्थं संनिधाने तयोर्मुने।
करिष्यामि च तद्भिक्षां प्रतिज्ञासफलाय ते॥३३॥

O sage, I am therefore proceeding to both of them begging for the kavacas after which you will meet with success."

ब्राह्मणस्य वचः श्रुत्वा रामः संत्रस्तमानसः।
उवाच ब्राह्मणं वृद्धं हृदयेन विदूयता॥३४॥

On hearing the words of the Brāhmaṇa the mind of Paraśurāma felt panicky and with a painful heart, he spoke to the Brāhmaṇa.

परशुराम उवाच

न जानामि महाप्राज्ञ कस्त्वं ब्राह्मणरूपधृक्।
शीघ्रं च ब्रूहि मां मूढे तदा गच्छ नृपान्तिकम्॥३५॥

Paraśurāma said - O great intellectual, I am not aware, as to who you are and why you have appeared in the form of an old Brāhmaṇa. First of all you enlighten a foolish person like me on this and then proceed to the king."

जामदग्न्यवचः श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य ब्राह्मणः स्वयम्।
उक्त्वा चाहं विष्णुरिति ययौ भिक्षितुमीश्वरः॥३६॥

On hearing the words of Jamadagni, Brāhmaṇa smiled and said - "I am Viṣṇu." Thereafter the lord Viṣṇu went for begging alms.

गत्वा तयोः संनिधानं ययाचे कवचे च तौ।
ददतुस्तौ च कवचे विष्णवे विष्णुमायया॥
गृहीत्वा कवचे विष्णुर्वैकुण्ठं निर्जगाम सः॥३७॥

Approaching both of them he begged for the kavacas. Both of them influenced by the illusion of Viṣṇu handed over their respective kavacas to him and lord Viṣṇu went back to Viṣṇuloka carrying both of them with him.

नारद उवाच

महालक्ष्म्याश्च कवचं केन दत्तं महामुने।

कवचं चापि दुर्गायाः पुष्कराक्षसुताय च।
दुर्लभं केन वादत्तं तद्भवान्वक्तुमर्हति॥३९॥

Nārada said - O great sage, who had bestowed the kavaca of Mahālakṣmī? I am anxious to know about it.

Who gave the invaluable kavaca of Durgā to Puṣkarākṣa? You tell me all this.

कवचं चापि किंभूतं तयोर्वा तस्य किं फलम्।
मन्त्रो तु किंप्रकारौ च तन्मे ब्रूहि जगद्गुरो॥४०॥

You kindly tell me, O teacher of the universe, all about both the kavacas and the relevant mantras and the result thereof.

नारायण उवाच

स्तवनं चापि गोप्यं वै प्रोक्तं तच्चरितं च यत्।
ध्यानं च सामवेदोक्तं पूजां चैव मनोहराम्॥४२॥

Nārāyaṇa said - The kavaca of Mahālakṣmī has the ten letter mantra, secret stotra, her life story as brought out in the Sāmaveda, the dhyānam and the method of adoration which was revealed to Puṣkarākṣa by Sanatkumāra.

दुर्गायाश्चापि कवचं दत्तं दुर्वाससा पुरा।
स्तवनं चातिगोप्यं च मन्त्रश्चापि दशाक्षरः॥४३॥

In the earlier times the Durgā-kavaca was endowed by Durvāsā to the king and the secret stotra and the ten letter mantra.

पश्चाच्छ्रोष्यसि तत्सर्वं देव्याश्च परमाद्भुतम्।
महायुद्धसमारम्भे दत्तं प्रार्थनया च यत्॥४४॥

The extremely astonishing kavaca of the goddess Durgā shall be told to you later, which was handed over to the kings at the start of the great war.

महालक्ष्म्याश्च मन्त्रं च शृणु तं कथयामि ते।
ॐ श्रीं कमलवासिन्यै स्वाहेति परमाद्भुतम्॥४५॥

Currently I am revealing the mantra of Mahālakṣmī to you ओं कमलवासिन्यै स्वाहा. This is the best of the mantras.

ध्यानं च सामवेदोक्तं शृणु पूजाविधिं मुने।
दत्तं तस्मै कुमारेण पुष्कराक्षाय धीमते॥४६॥

O sage, the dhyānam, the method of adoration, whatever was revealed by Sanatkumāra to Puṣ karākṣa is being retold by me. You please listen to it.

सहस्रदलपद्मस्थां पद्मनाभप्रियां सतीम्।
पद्मालयां पद्मवक्त्रां पद्मपत्राभलोचनाम्॥४७॥
पद्मपुष्पप्रियां पद्मपुष्पतल्पाधिशायिनीम्।

पद्मभूषणभूषाढ्यां पद्मशोभाविवर्द्धनीम्।
पद्माटवीं प्रपश्यन्तीं सस्मितां तां भजे मुदा॥४९॥

Mahālakṣmī, the beloved of lord Viṣṇu, is lodged on the lotus of a thousand petals. She is chaste, lotus-faced, having the eyes like lotus flowers and she is like the lotus flowers. She sleeps on the bed of lotus flowers and holds the lotus stalk in her hand. She wears garlands of lotus flowers and is also adorned with the ornaments of lotus flowers. She increases the glory of lotus flowers, looks at the forest of lotus flowers and she is the one who wears a serene smile on her face. I serve her with devotion.

चन्दनाष्टदले पद्मे पद्मपुष्पेण पूजयेत्।

ततः स्तुत्वा च प्रणमेत्साधको भक्तिपूर्वकम्।
कवचं श्रूयतां ब्रह्मन्सर्वसारं वदामि ते॥५१॥

One should write it on the lotus with ten petals and should adorn her with lotus flowers; her attendants should also be adored and the offerings of sixteen types should be made to her, after making prayers. Thereafter, the devotees should bow before her with devotion. (O Brāhmaṇa, now you listen from me about the essence of all the kavacas from me.

नारायण उवाच

शृणु विप्रेन्द्र पद्मायाः कवचं परमं शुभम्।
पद्मनाभेन यद्दत्तं ब्रह्मणे नाभिपद्मके॥५२॥
संप्राप्य कवचं ब्रह्म तत्पद्मे ससृजे जगत्।
पद्मालयाप्रसादेन सलक्ष्मीको बभूव सः॥५३॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O best of the Brāhmaṇa, this is the best kavaca of Lakṣmī which was bestowed by lord Padmanābha on Brahmā who emerged seated on a lotus from the navel of Viṣ ṇu. Brahmā after receiving the kavaca started the creation of the universe seated on the lotus and with the grace of Lakṣmī, he achieved all the riches.

पद्मालयावरं प्राप्य पाद्मश्च जगतां प्रभुः।
पाद्मेन पद्मकल्पे च कवचं परमाद्भुतम्॥५४॥
दत्तं सनत्कुमाराय प्रियपुत्राय धीमते।
कुमारेण च यद्दत्तं पुष्कराक्षाय नारद॥५५॥

After receiving a boon from Lakṣmī, Brahmā, the lord of the universe then imparted the knowledge of the kavaca to his intelligent son Sanatkumāra. O Nārada, the same kavaca was bestowed by Sanatkumāra to Puṣkarākṣa.

यद्धृत्वा पठनाद्ब्रह्मा सर्वसिद्धेश्वरो महान्।
परमैश्वर्यसंयुक्तः सर्वसंपत्समन्वितः॥५६॥

By wearing and reciting the same Brahmā became the great lord and was bestowed with all the fortunes and riches.

यद्धृत्वा च धनाध्यक्षः कुबेरश्च धनाधिपः।
स्वायंभुवो मनुः श्रीमान्पठनाद्धारणाद्यतः॥५७॥

By wearing this, Kubera became the lord of riches and wealth and by wearing this Manu became Svāyaṁbhuva.

प्रियव्रतोत्तानपादौ लक्ष्मीवन्तौ यतो मुने।
पृथुः पृथ्वीपतिः सद्यो ह्यभवद्धारणाद्यतः॥५८॥
कवचस्य प्रसादेन स्वयं दक्षः प्रजापतिः।
धर्मश्च कर्मणां साक्षी पाता यस्य प्रसादतः॥५९॥

O sage, by wearing this Priyavrata and Uttānapāda gained all the riches and the king Pṛthu became the king of his kingdom.

यद्धृत्वा दक्षिणे बाहौ विष्णुः क्षीरोदशायितः।
भक्त्या विधत्ते कण्ठे च शेषो नारायणांशकः॥६०॥

With the grace of this kavaca Dakṣa became Prajāpati. By the grace of this kavaca, dharma became the witness of all and by wearing it around the right arm, Viṣṇu became the dweller of the ocean of milk and with the grace of Nārāyaṇa, Śeṣa became devoted to the lord.

यद्धृत्वा वामनं लेभे कश्यपश्च प्रजापतिः।

त्रैलोक्याधिपतिः श्रीमान्नहुषो यस्य धारणात्॥६२॥

By wearing it, Kaśyapa became Prajāpati and achieved Vāmana as a son. Mahendra also became the lord of the gods with the same.

विश्वं विजिग्ये खटवाङ्गः पठनाद्धारणाद्यतः।
मुचुकुन्दो यतः श्रीमान्मान्धातृतनयो महान्॥६३॥

By wearing it Maruta became the lord; the great king Nahuṣa became the lord of the three worlds. By reciting it or wearing it, the king Khaṭ vāṅga conquered the entire universe and Mucukunda the son of king Māndhātā became the great lord.

सर्वसंपत्प्रदस्यास्य कवचस्य प्रजापतिः।

धर्मार्थकाममोक्षेषु विनियोगः प्रकीर्तितः।
पुण्यबीजं च महतां कवचं परमाद्भुतम्॥६५॥

The kavaca which bestows all the fortune and riches has Prajāpati as its Ṛṣi, Bṛhatī as the metre, Lakṣmī herself is the goddess and one should resolve to achieve dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa with this mantra. This is quite an astonishing kavaca and is the sacred seed for becoming glorious.

The merit one gets by giving in charity heaps of gold measuring the Meru mountain will be of no consequence as compared to the merit one derives by reciting this kavaca.

कण्ठे वा दक्षिणे बाहौ स श्रीमान्प्रतिजन्मनि॥७८॥

One should wear this kavaca round the neck or around the right arm, adoring the teacher in a proper manner and by doing so one becomes lord of Lakṣmī in all one's births.

Therefore, it should not be parted with because of greed, passion and fear to anyone else. It should be given to a person who is devoted to his teacher and takes refuge under him.

Bhṛgu's departure for Kailāsa

नारायण उवाच

तं गृहीत्वा तदा विष्णौ वैकुण्ठं च गते सति।
सपुत्रं च सहस्राक्षं जघान भृगुनन्दन:॥ १॥
कृत्वा युद्धं तु सप्ताहं ब्रह्मास्त्रेण प्रयत्नत:।
राजा कवचहीनोऽपि सपुत्रश्च पपात ह॥ २॥
पतिते तु सहस्राक्षे कार्तवीर्यार्जुन: स्वयम्।
आजगाम महावीरो द्विलक्षाक्षौहिणीयुत:॥ ३॥

Nārāyaṇa said - When the kavacas were carried to Vaikuṇṭha by Viṣṇu, Paraśurāma the son of Bhṛgu then killed Sahasrākṣa. Having been deprived of the kavaca, the king continued to fight for a week with Brahmāstra but was destroyed with all his sons. At the fall of Sahasrākṣa, the valorous Kārttivīrya himself came foreword with two lakhs akṣauhiṇī army.

सुवर्णरथमारुह्य रत्नसारपरिच्छदम्।
नानास्त्रं परित: कृत्वा तस्थौ समरमूर्धनि॥ ४॥

He mounted on a golden chariot. He was clad in costumes studded with the best of gems and was surrounded by several of the weapons all round him. Thus having been assured protection from all the sides, he marched foreword in the battle-field.

समरे तं परशुरामो राजेन्द्रं च ददर्श ह।
रत्नालंकारभूषाढ्यै राजेन्द्राणां च कोटिभि:॥ ५॥
रत्नातपत्रभूषाढ्यं रत्नालंकारभूषितम्।
चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गं सस्मितं सुमनोहरम्॥ ६॥

Paraśurāma then saw the king in the battle-field, who was adorned with innumerable ornaments studded with gems and equated the glory of crores of Indras. He had a chatra of gems and was adorned with gem-studded ornaments. All his limbs were plastered with sandal-paste. He looked quite pleasant while smiling.

राजा दृष्ट्वा मुनीन्द्रं तमवरुह्य रथादहो।
प्रणम्य रथमारुह्य तस्थौ नृपगणै: सह॥ ७॥

Having a look at sage Paraśurāma, the king got down from the chariot and bowed down in reverence to him with all the kings. Thereafter, he went back to his chariot with the kings and took his seat there.

ददौ शुभाशिषं तस्मै रामश्च समयोचिताम्।
प्रोवाच च गतार्थं तं स्वर्गं गच्छेति सानुग:॥ ८॥

Paraśurāma blessed the king and spoke appropriate words which suited the time, "You proceed to heaven with your attendants."

उभयो: सेनयोर्युद्धमभवत्तत्र नारद।
पलायिता रामशिष्या भ्रातरश्च महाबला:॥

क्षतविक्षतसर्वाङ्गाः कार्तवीर्यप्रपीडिताः॥ ९॥

O Nārada, thereafter both the armies fought with each other in which the pupils and brothers of Paraśurāma were shattered by Kārtavīrya who fled away from the battle-field.

नृपस्य शरजालेन रामः शस्त्रभृतां वरः।

न ददर्श स्वसैन्यं च राजसैन्यं तथैव च॥ १०॥

With the shooting of innumerable arrows, Paraśurāma was unable to look at his army as well as the relatives.

चिक्षेप रामश्चाऽऽग्नेयं बभूवाग्निमयं रणे।

निर्वापयामास राजा वारुणेनैव लीलया॥ ११॥

Thereafter Paraśurāma shot the fire arrows in the battle-field, as a result of which, everything was in flames in the battle-field. The king on his part shot the Varuṇa-arrow, which extinguished the fire making the atmosphere peaceful.

चिक्षेप रामो गान्धर्वं शैलसर्पसमन्वितम्।

वायव्येन महाराजः प्रेरयामास लीलया॥ १२॥

Paraśurāma then shot Gāndharvāstra which emitted mountains and snakes which was neutralised by the king by shooting the wind arrow.

चिक्षेप रामो नागास्त्रं दुर्निवार्यं भयंकरम्।

गारुडेन महाराजः प्रेरयामास लीलया॥ १३॥

Paraśurāma then shot Nāgāstra which was quite terrific but the king neutralised it by shooting Garuḍāstra which destroyed the serpent without much effort.

माहेश्वरं च भगवांश्चिक्षेप भृगुनन्दनः।

निर्वापयामास राजा वैष्णवास्त्रेण लीलया॥ १४॥

Paraśurāma the son of Bhṛgu then used the weapon of Māheśvara which was neutralised by the king, by using the Vaiṣṇava weapon.

ब्रह्मास्त्रं चिक्षिपे रामो नृपनाशाय नारद।

ब्रह्मास्त्रेण च शान्तं तत्प्राणनिर्वापणं रणे॥ १५॥

O Nārada, thereafter Paraśurāma used Brahmāstra for the destruction of the king. The king also used the same type of Brahmāstra neutralising the one shot by Paraśurāma.

दत्तदत्तं च यच्छूलमव्यर्थं मन्त्रपूर्वकम्।

जग्राह राजा परशुरामनाशाय संयुगे॥ १६॥

The king at that point of time shot the trident bestowed to him by Dattātreya for killing his enemy which was always successful in its mission.

शूलं ददर्श रामश्च शतसूर्यसमप्रभम्।

प्रलयाग्निशिखोद्रिक्तं दुर्निवार्यं सुरैरपि॥ १७॥

पपात शूलं समरे रामस्योपरि नारद।

मूर्च्छामवाप स भृगुः पपात च हरिं स्मरन्॥ १८॥

Paraśurāma then saw the trident emitting lustre of crores of suns which was extremely glorious and emitted fire like the fire of dissolution. Even the gods were unable to face it.

O Nārada, the trident fell over Paraśurāma as a result of which he fell down fainted.

पतिते तु तदा रामे सर्वे देवा भयाकुलाः।

आजग्मुः समरं तत्र ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥ १९॥

With the fall of Paraśurāma, all the gods became restive. At that point of time Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva also arrived in the battle-field.

शंकरश्च महाज्ञानी महाज्ञानेन लीलया।

ब्राह्मणं जीवयामास तूर्णं नारायणाज्ञया॥ २०॥

At the instance of Nārāyaṇa the valorous Śiva brought back the Brāhmaṇa to life with this illusion.

भृगुश्च चेतनां प्राप्य ददर्श पुरतः सुरान्।

प्रणनाम परं भक्त्या लज्जानम्रात्मकंधरः॥ २१॥

After regaining consciousness Bhṛgu found all the three gods before him and he bowed in reverence to them.

राजा दृष्ट्वा सुरेशांश्च भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः।

प्रणम्य शिरसा मूर्ध्ना तुष्टाव च सुरेश्वरान्॥ २२॥

Finding them there, the king bowed his head in devotion and offered his salutation to all of them, besides eulogising them.

तत्राऽऽजगाम भगवान्दत्तात्रेयो रणस्थलम्।

शिष्यरक्षानिमित्तेन कृपालुर्भक्तवत्सलः॥ २३॥

भृगुः पाशुपतास्त्रं च सोऽग्रहीत्कोपसंयुतः।

दत्तदत्तेन दृष्टेन बभूव स्तम्भितो भृगुः॥ २४॥

In the meantime lord Dattātreya also reached in the battle-field for the protection of his devotee. Thereafter Paraśurāma getting enraged shot the Pāśupata weapon but at the same time Bhṛgu was surprised at the sight of Dattātreya.

ददर्श स्तम्भितो रामो राजानं रणमूर्धनि।
नानापार्षदयुक्तेन कृष्णेनाऽऽरक्षितं रणे॥ २५॥

Inspite of getting surprised Paraśurāma looked at the king in the battle-field, who was protected in the battle-field by lord Kṛṣṇa and many of his courtiers.

सुदर्शनं प्रज्ज्वलन्तं भ्रमणं कुर्वता सदा।
सस्मितेन स्तुतेनैव ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वरैः॥ २६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa was protecting him wielding his Sudarśana-cakra. All the gods including Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva were offering prayers to him smilingly.

गोपालशतयुक्तेन गोपवेषविधारिणा।
नवीजलदाभेन वंशीहस्तेन गायता॥ २७॥

He was surrounded by hundreds of cowherds and was clad in the costumes of cowherds, possessing the complexion of new clouds and holding a flute in his hand. Lord Kṛṣṇa was playing on the flute.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी।
दत्तेन दत्तं कवचं कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः॥ २८॥
राज्ञोऽस्ति दक्षिणे बाहौ सद्रत्नगुटिकान्वितम्।
गृहीतकवचे शंभौ भिक्षया योगिनां गुरौ॥ २९॥
तदा हन्तुं नृपं शक्तो भृगुश्चेति च नारद।
श्रुत्वाऽशरीरिणीं वाणीं शंकरो द्विजरूपधृक्॥ ३०॥
भिक्षां कृत्वा तु कवचमानीय च नृपस्य च।
शंभुना भृगवे दत्तं कृष्णस्य कवचं च यत्॥ ३१॥

In the meantime a divine voice from the sky was heard that the king possessed the kavaca of Kṛṣṇa which was handed over to him by Dattātreya and he was wearing it in the casket of gem bound over the right arm. Therefore Śiva the teacher of the yogīs should bet it from him. Paraśurāma would be able to kill the king only thereafter. O Nārada on hearing this divine voice, Śiva took to the form of a Brāhmaṇa and went to the king and begged for the kavaca of Kṛṣṇa which he had received from the lord and gave it ultimately to Bhṛgu.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे देवा जग्मुः स्वस्थानमुत्तमम्।
प्रत्युवाचापि परशुरामो वै समरे नृपम्॥ ३२॥

Thereafter the gods dispersed to their respective abodes and then Paraśurāma again said to the king.

परशुराम उवाच

राजेन्द्रोत्तिष्ठं समरं कुरु साहसपूर्वकम्।
कालभेदे जयो नृणां कालभेदे पराजयः॥ ३३॥

Paraśurāma said - "O Indra among the kings, get up and fight with me quite courageously. The humans face victory or defeat according to the time.

अधीतं विधिवद्दत्तं कृत्स्ना पृथ्वी सुशासिता।
सम्यककृतश्च संग्रामो त्वयाऽहं मूर्च्छितोऽधुना॥ ३४॥

Because I have carefully studied myself the scriptures and also made my pupils do so, I have ruled the entire universe pretty well and have fought also pretty well but you made me fainted.

जिताः सर्वे च राजेन्द्रा लीलया रावणो जितः।
जितोऽहं दत्तशूलेन शम्भुना जीवितः पुनः॥ ३५॥

You also playfully became victorious indulging the Brāhmaṇas but still I have been defeated with the trident given to you by Dattātreya. Śiva then arrived and brought me back to life."

रामस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा राजा परमधार्म्मिकः॥
मूर्ध्ना प्रणम्य तं भक्त्या यथार्थोक्तिमुवाच ह॥ ३६॥

On hearing the words of Paraśurāma, the religious minded king bowed to him with devotion and spoke to him the appropriate words.

राजोवाच

किमधीतं तथा दत्तं का वा पृथ्वी सुशासिता।
हताः कतिविधा भूपा मादृशा धरणीतले॥ ३७॥

The king said - What have you studied? What have you given away in charity? Which is the earth ruled by you and how many of the kings like me have been killed by you?

बुद्धिस्तेजो विक्रमश्च विविधा रणमन्त्रणा।
श्रीरैश्वर्यं तथा ज्ञानं दानशक्तिश्च लौकिकम्॥ ३८॥
आचारो विनयो विद्या प्रतिष्ठा परमं तपः।
सर्वं मनोरमासङ्गे गतमेव मम प्रभो॥ ३९॥

O lord, my wisdom, glory, prowess, various types of battle art, wealth, fortune, knowledge, capacity for giving charity, universal glory, conduct, discipline, knowledge, position, great tapas and everything has been lost with Manoramā.

सा च स्त्री प्राणतुल्या मे साध्वी पद्मांशसंभवा।
यज्ञेषु पत्नी मातेव स्नेहे क्रीडति सङ्गिनी॥ ४०॥
आबाल्यात्सङ्गिनी शश्वच्छयने भोजने रणे।
तां विना प्राणहीनोऽहं विषहीनो यथोरगः॥ ४१।

She was dearer to me than my life, quite chaste and was born out of the aṁśa of Kamalā. The wife in the yajñas becomes affectionate like mothers and at the time of love sports she becomes a good companion besides sleeping, taking food, in the battle-field and in childhood she always remains with him. Therefore without her I have become a serpent without poison.

त्वया न दृष्टं युद्धं मे पुरेयं शोचना स्थिता।
द्वितीया शोचना विप्र हतोऽहं ब्राह्मणेन च॥ ४२॥

O Brāhmaṇa you had never seen me fight earlier, this is my first grief and my second grief is that I am being defeated by a Brāhmaṇa.

काले सिंहः सृगालं च सृगालः सिंहमेव च।
काले व्याघ्रं हन्ति मृगो गजेन्द्रं हरिणस्तथा॥ ४३॥

Though according to the times a lion kills a jackal and a jackal kills a lion. At certain times, a stag kills a tiger and a buck kills an elephant.

महिषं मक्षिका काले गरुडं च तथो रगः।
किंकरः स्तौति राजेन्द्रं काले राजा च किंकरम्॥ ४४॥

At times a fly kills a he-buffalo and similarly a snake kills a Garuḍa. Ordinarily the king is adored by his servants but at times the king has also to adore the servant.

इन्द्रं च मानवः काले काले ब्रह्मा मरिष्यति।
तिरोभूत्वा सा प्रकृतिः काले श्रीकृष्णविग्रहे॥ ४५॥

At times a human kills Indra and in due course of time Brahmā also has to meet with his death; at times Prakṛti also gets merged into the body of lord Kṛṣṇa.

मरिष्यन्ति सुराः सर्वे त्रिलोकस्थाश्चराचराः।
सर्वे काले लयं यान्ति कालो हि दुरतिक्रमः॥ ४६॥

All the gods will have to meet with their end, all the movable and immovable riches of the world have to meet with their end in due course of time. Therefore the time is indeed horrible and cannot be averted.

कालस्य कालः श्रीकृष्णः स्रष्टुः स्रष्टा यथेच्छया।
संहर्ता चैव संहर्तुः पातुः पाता परात्परः॥ ४७॥

But lord Kṛṣṇa by his own sweet will is the death for the lord of death, is the creator of the creators, destroyer of the destroyers and preserver of the preservers besides being beyond all of them.

महास्थूलात्स्थूलतमः सूक्ष्मात्सूक्ष्मतमः कृशः।
परमाणुपरः कालकालः स्यात्कालभेदकः॥ ४८॥

He is harder than the hardest, smaller than the smallest, lifeless, extremely small, death for the god of death and creates difference in time.

यस्य लोमानि विश्वानि स पुमांश्च महाविराट्।
तेजसां षोडशांशश्च कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः॥ ४९॥

There are innumerable globes which happen to project only one sixteenth of the tejas of lord Kṛṣṇa.

ततः क्षुद्रविराड्जातः सर्वेषां कारणं परम्।
यः स्रष्टा च स्वयं ब्रह्मा यन्नाभिलोद्भवः॥ ५०॥
नाभेः कमलदण्डस्य योऽन्तं न प्राप यत्नतः।
भ्रमणाल्लक्षवर्षं च ततः स्वस्थानसंस्थितः॥ ५१॥

The pure Virāṭ emerged from him who is the cause of all in the universe. Brahmā himself who is the creator of the universe emerged out of his navel but inspite of making strenuous efforts Brahmā couldn't find the end of the lotus stalk.

He wandered for a lakh of years in search of it and ultimately returned to his original place.

तपश्चक्रे ततस्तत्र लक्षवर्षं च वायुभुक्।
ततो ददर्श गोलोकं श्रीकृष्णं च सपार्षदम्॥५२॥

Thereafter inhaling air he performed tapas for a lakh of years and ultimately he achieved Goloka and had an audience with lord Kṛṣṇa.

गोपगोपीपरिवृतं द्विभुजं मुरलीधरम्।
रत्नसिंहासनस्थं च राधावक्षःस्थलस्थितम्॥५३॥
दृष्ट्वाऽनुज्ञां गृहीत्वा च प्रणम्य च पुनः पुनः।
ईश्वरेच्छां च विज्ञाय स्रष्टुं सृष्टिं मनो दधे॥५४॥

Brahmā then found lord Kṛṣṇa resting his head on the breasts of Rādhā, seated over a gem-studded lion-throne, having two arms and surrounded by cowherds and cowherdesses. He offered salutations to him again and again. He getting permission from the lord and knowing his mind, started creating the universe.

यः शिवः सृष्टिसंहर्ता स च स्रष्टुर्ललाटजः।
विष्णुः पाता क्षुद्रविराट्श्वेतद्वीपनिवासकृत्॥५५॥

Śiva who destroyed the universe appeared from the head of Brahmā and Viṣṇu who resides in the Śveta-dvīpa is known as small Virāṭ.

सृष्टिकारणभूताश्च ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
सन्ति विश्वेषु सर्वेषु श्रीकृष्णस्य कलोद्भवाः॥५६॥

Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva who emerged from the rays of lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be the cause of the creation of universe.

तेऽपि देवाः प्राकृतिकाः प्राकृतश्च महाविराट्।
सर्वप्रसूतिः प्रकृतिः श्रीकृष्णः प्रकृते परः॥५७॥
न शक्तः परमेशोऽपि तां शक्तिं प्रकृतिं विना।
सृष्टिं विधातुं मायेशो न सृष्टिर्मायया विना॥५८॥

All the gods have emerged from Prakṛti; even Parameśvara is unable to resort to creation without the strength of Prakṛti. He happens to be the lord of illusion and no creation is possible without him.

सा च कृष्णे तिरोभूत्वा सृष्टिसंहारकारके।
साऽऽविर्भूता सृष्टिकाले सा च नित्या महेश्वरी॥५९॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the creator of the universe absorbs Prakṛti ultimately in his body at the time of dissolution. At the time of recreation, she emerges again. The same goddess Prakṛti is eternal.

कुलालश्च कटं कर्तुं यथाऽशक्तो मृदं विना।
स्वर्णं विना स्वर्णकारः कुण्डलं कर्तुमक्षमः॥६०॥

As a potter is unable to make a pot without clay or a gold-smith can never make ornaments without gold, similarly there can be no creation without illusion.

सा च शक्तिः सृष्टिकाले पञ्चधा चेश्वरेच्छया।
राधा पद्मा च सावित्री दुर्गा देवी सरस्वती॥६१॥

The Prakṛti who is the form of śakti with the will of the lord, turned herself as Rādhā, Padmā, Sāvitrī, Durgā, Sarasvatī. She is divided into these five forms.

प्राणाधिष्ठातृदेवी या कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः।
प्राणाधिकप्रियतमा सा राधा परिकीर्त्तिता॥६२॥

She is called Rādhā because, she is dearer to lord Kṛṣṇa than his life and is quite dear to him.

ऐश्वर्याधिष्ठातृदेवी सर्वमङ्गलकारिणी।
परमानन्दरूपा च सा लक्ष्मीः परिकीर्त्तिता॥६३॥

She is the goddess of fortune and bestows all the welfare and is blissful, as a result of which, she is called Lakṣmī.

विद्याधिष्ठातृदेवी या परमेशस्य दुर्लभा।
या माता वेदशास्त्राणां सा सावित्री प्रकीर्तिता॥६४॥

The one who is the great goddess of knowledge and the strength of the lord, beside being the creator of the Vedas, is known as Sāvitrī.

बुद्ध्यधिष्ठातृदेवी या सर्वशक्तिस्वरूपिणी।
सर्वज्ञानात्मिका सर्वा सा दुर्गा दुर्गनाशिनी॥६५॥

The one who is the goddess of wisdom and prowess, possessing all the knowledge and the form of all, besides being destroyer of the misfortune, is known as Durgā.

वागधिष्ठातृदेवी या शास्त्रज्ञानप्रदा सदा।
कृष्णकण्ठोद्भवा सा स्याद्या च देवी सरस्वती॥६६॥

The goddess who controls the speech and bestows the wisdom in the scriptures, has been born out of the throat of lord Kṛṣṇa and is known as Sarasvatī.

पञ्चधाऽऽदौ स्वयं देवी मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।

ततः सृष्टिक्रमेणैव बहुधा कलया च सा॥६७॥

The great goddess also known as Mūlaprakṛti is divided into five forms and thereafter in the process of creation, she appears in many forms.

योषितः प्रकृतेरंशाः पुमांसः पुरुषस्य च।

मायया सृष्टिकाले च तद्विना न भवेद्भवः॥६८॥

Therefore all the ladies of the universe are born out of the aṁśa of Prakṛti and the men are born out of the aṁśa of Puruṣa because during the time of creation without Māyā no creation is possible.

सृष्टिश्च प्रतिविश्वेषु ब्रह्मन्ब्रह्मोद्भवा सदा।

पाता विष्णुश्च संहर्ता शिवः शश्वच्छिवप्रदः॥६९॥

O Brahmā in every globe, Brahmā happens to be the creator of the universe while Viṣṇu remains the preserver and Śiva always becomes the destroyer.

दत्तदत्तं ज्ञानमिदं राम मह्यं च पुष्करे।

दीक्षाकाले च माघ्यां च मुनिप्रवरसंनिधौ॥७०॥

O Paraśurāma, this knowledge was bestowed on me by Dattātreya at Puṣkara on the full moon day of the month of Māgha.

इत्युक्त्वा कार्त्तवीर्यश्च रामं नत्वा च सस्मितः।

आरुरोह रथं शीघ्रं गृहीत्वा सशरं धनुः॥७१॥

Thus speaking to Paraśurāma, Kārttivīrya offered salutations to him and holding his bow and arrow, at once mounted the chariot.

रामस्ततो राजसैन्यं ब्रह्मास्त्रेण जघान ह।

नृपं पाशुपतेनैव लीलया श्रीहरिं स्मरन्॥७२॥

Soon thereafter, Paraśurāma with the use of Brahmāstra destroyed the army of the king and reciting the name of Śrīhari in his mind killed the king with the use of Pāśupatāstra.

एवं त्रिःसप्तकृत्वश्च क्रमेण च वसुंधराम्।

रामश्चकार निर्भूपां लीलया च शिवं स्मरन्॥७३॥

Thus Paraśurāma reciting the name of Śiva rid the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty one times quite easily.

गर्भस्थं मातुरङ्कस्थं शिशुं वृद्धं च मध्यमम्।

जघान क्षत्रियं रामः प्रतिज्ञापालनाय वै॥७४॥

For the fulfilment of his vow he killed even the infants being carried by the mothers in their wombs, besides the old as well as the young Kṣatriyas.

कार्तवीर्यश्च गोलोकं त्वगमत्कृष्णसंनिधिम्।

जगाम परशुरामश्च स्वालयं श्रीहरिं स्मरन्॥७५॥

After his death Kārttivīrya reached Goloka and met lord Kṛṣṇa there. Paraśurāma on the other hand continued reciting the name of Hari and left the place.

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां महीं दृष्ट्वा महेश्वरः।

पर्शुना रमणं दृष्ट्वा परशुरामं चकार तम्॥७६॥

Maheśvara ridding the earth of Kṣatriyas twenty one times and because of his holding the battle-axe on his shoulders, he came to be known by the name of Paraśurāma subsequently.

देवाश्च मुनयो देव्यः सिद्धगन्धर्वकिन्नराः।

सर्वे चक्रुः पुष्पवृष्टिं राममूर्ध्नि च नारद॥७७॥

स्वर्गे दुन्दुभयो नेदुर्हर्षशब्दो बभूव ह।

यशसा चैव परशुरामस्याऽऽपूरितं जगत्॥७८॥

O Nārada, the gods, the sages, goddesses and siddhas, Gandharvas and Kinnaras, showered flowers on Paraśurāma. The musical instruments were played upon including the Dundubhīs in the heaven, the gods felt immensely delighted. The glory of Paraśurāma was spread all over the universe.

ब्रह्मा भृगुश्च शुक्रश्च वाल्मीकिश्च्यवनस्तथा।

जमदग्निर्ब्रह्मलोकादाजगाम प्रहर्षितः॥७९॥

Thereafter Brahmā, Bhṛgu, Śukra, Vālmīki, Cyavana and Jamadagni delightfully went to Goloka.

पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गाः सानन्दाश्रुसमन्विताः।

दूर्वापुष्पकराः सर्वे कुर्वन्तो मङ्गलाशिषः॥८०॥

All the people were feeling emotional and tears were coming out of their eyes gleefully. They were offering blessings to him holding

Dūrvā-grass and the flowers in their hands, uttering the words of blessing and welfare.

प्रणनाम च तान्रामो दण्डवत्पतितो भुवि।
क्रोडे चकार ब्रह्माऽऽदौ क्रमात्तातेति संवदन्॥८१॥
तमुवाचाथ परशुरामं ब्रह्मा जगद्गुरुः।
वेदसारं नीतियुतं परिणामसुखावहम्॥८२॥

Finding them there, Paraśurāma prostrated on the ground and also expressed his reverence for them. He was carried by Brahmā in his lap and expressed his delight. Brahmā the teacher of the Vedas then spoke to him the appropriate words which bestowed pleasure.

ब्रह्मोवाच

शृणु राम प्रवक्ष्यामि सर्वसंपत्करं परम्।
काण्वशाखोक्तवचनं सत्यं वै सर्वसंमतम्॥८३॥
पूज्यानामेव सर्वेषामिष्टः पूज्यतमः परः।
जनको जन्मदानाच्च पालनाच्च पिता स्मृतः॥८४॥

Brahmā said - O Paraśurāma, I am going to speak to you the words which are quite appropriate, bestow all the fortunes, are the best, truthful and respected by all. You please listen to them. The family god happens to be the most adorable one of all the gods. Someone is termed as the father who happens to be the cause of one's birth and another is known as the father because he brings up a child.

गरीयाञ्जन्मदातुश्च सोऽन्नदाता पिता मुने।
विनाऽन्नं नश्वरो देहो न नित्यं पितुरुद्भवः॥८५॥

O sage, the father who brings up the child is considered to be better than the one who becomes the cause of the birth because without food the body perishes. It is not enough to be born from a father.

तयोः शतगुणं माता पूज्या मान्या च वन्दिता।
गर्भधारणपोषाभ्यां सैव प्रोक्ता गरीयसी॥८६॥

Out of these the mother happens to be a hundred times more adorable. Because of her holding the child in the womb and by bringing up the child, she is considered to be the best.

तेभ्यः शतगुणं पूज्योऽभीष्टदेवः श्रुतौ श्रुतः।
ज्ञानविद्यामन्त्रदाताऽभीष्टदेवात्परो गुरुः॥८७॥

Out of these the gods are a hundred times more adorable. This has been ordained by the Vedas. The teacher who imparts wisdom, knowledge and mantra is better than the family gods.

गुरुवद्गुरुपुत्रश्च गुरुपत्नी ततोऽधिका।
देवे रुष्टे गुरू रक्षेद् गुरौ रुष्टे न कश्चन॥८८॥
गुरुर्ब्रह्मा गुरुर्विष्णुर्गुरुर्देवो महेश्वरः।
गुरुरेव परं ब्रह्म ब्राह्मणेभ्यः प्रियः परः॥८९॥

The son of the teacher who happens to be like the teacher is also adorable and the wife of the teacher is much more adorable because when the gods get annoyed the teacher protects a person and when the teacher is annoyed no one can protect him. A Guru happens to be Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva besides being Parabrahman and is dearer than Brāhmaṇa.

गुरुर्ज्ञानं ददात्येव ज्ञानं च हरिभक्तिदम्।
हरिभक्तिप्रदाता यः को वा बन्धुस्ततः परः॥९०॥

A Guru imparts wisdom and knowledge, himself for the lord. The one who bestows the devotion of the lord, no other relative can equate him.

अज्ञानतिमिराच्छन्नो ज्ञानदीपं यतो लभेत्।
लब्ध्वा च निर्मलं पश्येत्को वा बन्धुस्ततः परः॥९१॥
गुरुदत्तं सुमन्त्रं च जप्त्वा ज्ञानं ततो लभेत्।
सर्वज्ञात्वाच्च सिद्धिं च को वा बन्धुस्ततोऽधिकः॥९२॥

A person who is engrossed in darkness, attains the light of wisdom from the teacher and ultimately attains wisdom and success in many fields. Therefore no one could be a relative better than the teacher.

सुखं जयति सर्वत्र विद्यया गुरुदत्तया।
यया पूज्योऽपि जगति को वा बन्धुस्ततोऽधिकः॥९३॥

The knowledge imparted by the teacher makes one to achieve success in various fields pleasantly. He is adored in the universe. The same knowledge, therefore, could be a better relative than the teacher.

विद्यान्धो वा धनान्धो वा यो मूढो न यजेद्गुरुम्।
ब्रह्महत्यादिकं पापं लभते नात्र संशयः॥९४॥

A foolish person getting intoxicated with knowledge and riches does not adore his teacher and he therefore earns the sin of Brahmahatyā. There is no doubt about it.

दरिद्रं पतितं क्षुद्रं नरबुद्ध्या भजेद्गुरुम्।
तीर्थस्नातोऽपि न शुचिर्नाधिकारी च कर्मसु॥९५॥

The person who serves the Guru inspite of his being a pauper, the degraded one as an ordinary person, his taking bath at the sacred places cannot purify him nor can he become entitled to the performing of noble deeds.

अभीष्टदेवः श्रीकृष्णो गुरुस्ते शंकरः स्वयम्।
शरणं गच्छ हे पुत्र देवपूज्यतमं गुरुम्॥९६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be your family god and Śiva happens to be your teacher. Therefore, O son, you go to take refuge under your respectable teacher who is more adorable than other gods.

त्रिः सप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपा त्वया पृथ्वी कृता यतः।
प्राप्ता त्वया हरेर्भक्तिस्तं शिवं शरणं व्रज॥९७॥

By his grace you have been able to rid the earth of the Kṣatriyas, twenty one times, because of whom you have achieved the devotion of the lord, you go and take refuge under the same lord Śiva.

शिवां च शिवरूपं च शिवदं शिवकारणम्।
शिवाराध्यं शिवं शान्तं गुरुं त्वं शरणं व्रज॥९८॥

You go and take refuge under lord Śiva who happens to be the lord of Pārvatī, is quite blissful, bestower of bliss and the cause of welfare besides being adored by Pārvatī.

गोलोकनाथो भगवानंशेन शिवरूपधृक्।
य इष्टदेवः स गुरुस्तमेव शरणं व्रज॥९९॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa the lord of Goloka takes to the form of Śiva with his aṁśa. The family god happens to be the teacher, therefore, you go and take refuge under him.

आत्मा कृष्णः शिवो ज्ञानं मनोऽहं सर्वजीविषु।
प्राणा विष्णुः सा प्रकृतिः सर्व शक्तियुता सुत॥१००॥

O son, lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be the soul of everyone; Śiva happens to be the store of knowledge; I myself am the mind; Viṣṇu is the life and Prakṛti appears as the strength in everyone.

ज्ञानदं ज्ञानरूपं च ज्ञानबीजं सनातनम्।
मृत्युंजयं कालकालं तं गुरुं शरणं व्रज॥१०१॥
ब्रह्मज्योतिस्वरूपं तं भक्तानुग्रहविग्रहम्।
शरणं व्रज सर्वज्ञं भगवन्तं सनातनम्॥१०२॥
प्रकृतिर्लक्षवर्षं च तपस्तप्त्वा यमीश्वरम्।
कान्तं प्रियपतिं लेभे तं गुरुं शरणं व्रज॥१०३॥

He happens to be bestower of knowledge, the form of knowledge, the seed of knowledge, eternal, the one who has conquered death and is death for the death. You, therefore, take refuge under him. He takes to many forms inspite of his being the form of Brāhmaṇa, in order to shower his grace on his devotees. He is all knowledgeable, eternal and as such you go and take refuge under him. Prakṛti (Pārvatī) achieved him in the form of husband after performing tapas for a lakh of years. You go and take refuge under the teacher like this.

इत्युक्त्वा मुनिभिः सार्द्धं जगाम कमलोद्भवः।
रामश्च गन्तुं कैलासं मनश्चक्रे च नारद॥१०४॥

O Nārada, thus speaking Brahmā accompanied by the sages and Paraśurāma resolved to proceed to Kailāsa.

इति श्रीब्रह्म० महा० गणपति० नारदना० भृगोः

Chapter 41

The Description of Kailāsa

नारायण उवाच

हरेश्च कवचं धृत्वा कृत्वा निःक्षत्रियां महीम्।
रामो जगाम कैलासं नमस्कर्तुं शिवं गुरुम्॥ १॥
गुरुपत्नीं शिवामम्बां द्रष्टुं गुरुसुतौ च तौ।
गुणैर्नारायणसमौ कार्तिकेयगणेश्वरौ॥ २॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Paraśurāma wore the kavaca and rid the earth of Kṣatriyas. Thereafter he went to Śiva, his teacher for offering salutations to him, besides Pārvatī the wife of his teacher. He went to Kailāsa and also met Kārttikeya and Gaṇeśa, the sons of the teacher, who were like Nārāyaṇa himself in virtues.

मनोयायी महात्मा स भृगुः संप्राप्य तत्क्षणम्।
ददर्श नगरं रम्यमतीव सुमनोहरम्॥ ३॥
शुद्धस्फटिकसंकाशैर्मणिभिः सुमनोहरैः।

यक्षाणामालयैर्दिव्यैः संयुक्तं शतकोटिभिः।
कपाटस्तम्भसोपानैः शोभितैर्मणिनिर्मितैः॥ ६॥

Paraśurāma the son of Bhṛgu who could travel with the speed of thought, at once reached Kailāsa and found the beautiful city which was shinning like transparent crystal gems and had the roads shining like gold. It was decorated with many maṇḍapas studded with rubies, pearls and valuables gems. It had a hundred crores of divine houses of the Yakṣas. Those houses had the doors of gems and the pillars and steps were also decorated with gems.

सुवर्णकलशैर्दिव्यै राजतैः श्वेतचामरैः।
रत्नकाञ्चनपूर्णैश्च यक्षेन्द्रगणवेष्टितैः॥ ७॥
रत्नभूषणभूषाढ्यैर्दर्पितैः सुन्दरीगणैः।

It had the divine kalaśas made of gold and silver beside the white fly-whisks. It had heaps of gem and gold. The Yakṣas were adorned with heaps of ornaments studded with gems. The same was the condition with beautiful Yakṣīs. The children were carrying small dolls in their hands and played with them happily. There were trees of Pārijāta flowers on the bank of the divine river Gaṅgā, bunches of fragrant flowers were found everywhere. The siddhas were resting under the shades of kalpavṛkṣas. There were many of Kāmadhenu cows and the people well-versed in divine knowledge. There was an eternal banyan tree having a height of three lakhs of yojanas and was spread in an area of a hundred yojanas. It had a hundred trunks, innumerable branches and was filled with many fruits. It created quite a pleasant sound and provided abode to innumerable birds. The fragrant cool breeze made the leaves to move. The city had a thousand orchards, a hundred streams and a lakh of abodes of siddhas which were built with gems and jewels.

सुवर्णमूल्यशतकैर्मणिभिः स्वर्णवर्णकैः।

Witnessing the city of such a great devotee, the mind of Paraśurāma felt delighted; thereafter he found the abode of lord Śiva which was quite graceful and filled with all the riches.

It was built by Viśvakarmā using gold and gems.

त्रिपञ्चयोजनोच्छ्रायं चतुर्योजनविस्तृतम्।
चतुरस्रं चतुष्कोणं प्राकारं सुमनोहरम्॥ १७॥

It had the height of fifteen yojanas and the width of four yojanas besides being square and quite charming to look at, having been surrounded by beautiful boundary walls.

द्वारं रत्नकपाटेन नानाचित्रान्वितेन च।
मणीन्द्रवेदिभिर्युक्तं मणिस्तम्भविराजितैः॥ १८॥

There were several types of paintings and the doors were made of gems. Its pillars and pedestals were decorated with jewels.

कृष्णाङ्गभैरवं चैव क्रोधभैरवमुल्बणम्।
कपालभैरवं चैव रुद्रभैरवमेव च॥ २२॥

O Nārada, Nandī was lodged to Śiva's right. To the left were lodged the lion the lord of Nandī, Mahākāla, the terrific Piṅgalākṣa, Viśālākṣa, Bāṇa; then the valorous Virūpākṣa, Vikaṭākṣa, Bhāskarākṣa then Raktākṣa, Vikaṭ odara, Saṁhārabhairava, the terrific Kālabhairava, Rurubhairava, Īśābha, Mahābhairava, Kṛṣṇāṅgabhairava, Krodha-bhairava, Ulbaṇa, Kapālabhairava and Rudrabhairava.

Thereafter Rudras like Siddhendra, the Rudras, Vidyādharas, Guhyakas, the goblins, the Pretas, Piśācas then Kūṣmāṇḍas, Brahmarākṣas, Vetālas, Dānavas then, the ones having matted locks of hair on the heads, the yogīs, the Yakṣas, Kiṁpuruṣas and Kinnaras.

तान्दृष्ट्वा नन्दिकेशाज्ञां गृहीत्वा भृगुनन्दनः।
तान्संभाष्याभ्यन्तरं च जगामाऽऽनन्दसंप्लुतः॥ २५॥

After looking at them Paraśurāma the son of Bhṛgu, getting permission from Nandikeśvara entered the premises delightfully talking to others.

रत्नेन्द्रसारखचितं ददर्श शतमन्दिरम्।

He found several of the temples there which were studded with the essence of the gems and had innumerable vases made of gems there were several mirrors which were made of gems and jewels. The doors were also decorated with gems and jewels. Besides there were hundreds of pillars which were decorated with Gorocana and jewels, beside the steps which were similarly decorated. He then found the inner-gate which had beautiful paintings, painted on it, besides the strings of pearls and gems hanging on the same.

ददर्श कार्तिकेयं च वामे दक्षे गणेश्वरम्।
वीरभद्रं महाकायं शिवतुल्यपराक्रमम्॥ ३०॥

He found Kārttikeya seated to the left and the Nandikeśvara of gigantic size seated to the right besides Vīrabhadra who was as valorous as Śiva himself.

प्रधानपार्षदगणान्क्षेत्रपालांश्च नारद।
रत्नसिंहासनस्थांश्च रत्नभूषणभूषितान्॥ ३१॥

O Nārada, he found many of the courtiers and kṣetrapālas who were all seated on the gem-studded lion-thrones and were adored with gem-studded ornaments.

तान्संभाष्य भृगुः शीघ्रं महाबलपराक्रमः।
पर्शुहस्तः स परशुरामो गन्तुं समुद्यतः॥ ३२॥

Holding the battle-axe in his hand, the immensely valorous Paraśurāma got ready to go to them for a talk.

गच्छन्तं तं गणेशश्च क्षणं तिष्ठेत्युवाच ह।
निद्रितो निद्रया युक्तो महादेवोऽधुनेति च॥ ३३॥

Finding him entering the palace of Śiva, Gaṇeśa said, "You stop for a while." Lord Śiva is sleeping at the moment.

ईश्वराज्ञां गृहीत्वाऽहमत्राऽऽगत्य क्षणान्तरे।
त्वया सार्द्धं गमिष्यामि भ्रातस्तिष्ठात्र साम्प्रतम्॥ ३४॥

O brother, I shall jut now go to him and get his permission in a moment. Thereafter, I shall accompany you to him."

गणेशवाक्यं परशुरामश्रुत्वा महाबलः।
बृहस्पतिसमो वक्ता प्रवक्तुमुपचक्रमे॥ ३५॥

On hearing the words of Gaṇeśa, Paraśurāma who was speaker a like Bṛhaspati started speaking to him.

Chapter 42

A Discussion between Paraśurāma and Gaṇapati

परशुराम उवाच

यास्माम्यन्तःपुरं भ्रातः प्रणामं कर्तुमीश्वरम्।
प्रणम्य मातरं भक्त्या यास्यामि त्वरितं गृहम्।। १।।

Paraśurāma said - O brother, with my mind filled with devotion, I am entering into the inner apartment to offer my salutation to mother Pārvatī and lord Śiva. Thereafter, I shall return in no time.

त्रिःसप्तकृत्वो निर्भूपां कृत्वा पृथ्वीं च लीलया।
कार्त्तवीर्य्यः सुचन्द्रश्च हतो यस्य प्रसादतः।। २।।
नानाविद्या यतो लब्धा नानाशास्त्रं सुदुर्लभम्।
तं गुरुं जगतां नाथं द्रष्टुमिच्छामि साम्प्रतम्।। ३।।
सगुणं निर्गुणं चैव भक्तानुग्रहविग्रहम्।
सत्यं सत्यस्वरूपं च ब्रह्मज्योतिः सनातनम्।। ४।।
स्वेच्छामयं दयासिन्धुं दीनबन्धुं मुनीश्वरम्।
आत्मारामं पूर्णकामं व्यक्ताव्यक्तं परात्परम्।। ५।।
परापराणां स्रष्टारं पुरुहूतं पुरुस्कृतम्।
पुराणं परमात्मानमीशानं त्वादिमव्ययम्।। ६।।
सर्वमङ्गलमाङ्गल्यं सर्वमंगलकारणम्।
सर्वमङ्गलदं शान्तं सर्वैश्वर्य्यप्रदं वरम्।। ७।।
आशुतोषं प्रसन्नास्यं शरणागतवत्सलम्।
भक्ताभयप्रदं भक्तवत्सलं समदर्शनम्।। ८।।

Because by their grace I rid the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty one times, besides killing the great kings like Kārtavīrya and Sucandra and from whom I achieved the divine knowledge and the inaccessible weapons, I want to have an audience with such a great lord of the universe, who happens to be my teacher as well. He is visible as well as invisible, besides being the one who takes to the definite form for the sake of his devotees, truthful, Brāhmaṇa, the eternal flame, ever-lasting, truthful, the one who moves at will, ocean of mercy, the one who provides welfare to the down-trodden, the great ascetic, the one who always roams about with the soul, the one who fulfils the wishes of all, who is visible as well as invisible, beyond everyone, who creates the universe, adored and eulogised by many, the form of Purāṇa, the great soul, Īśāna, the eternal form, indestructible, welfare of all the welfare, the one who bestows prosperity, the peaceful one, the one who provides with all the fortune, the best of all, the one who gets pleased quickly, the one having a smiling face, the one who loves the people who take refuge under him, the one who provides protection to his devotees, the lover of the devotees, the one who looks at all with a compassionate glance.

इत्थं परशुरामोऽस्थादुक्त्वा गणपतेः पुरः।
वाचा मधुरया तत्र समुवाच गणेश्वरः।। ९।।

After thus speaking Paraśurāma stood before Gaṇapati. Thereafter Gaṇapati the leader of the gaṇas started speaking to Paraśurāma in a sweet voice.

गणेश्वर उवाच

क्षणं तिष्ठ क्षणं शृणु भ्रातरिदं वचः।
रहःस्थलस्थितो नैव द्रष्टव्यः स्त्रीयुतः पुमान्।। १०।।

Gaṇeśvara said - O brother, you kindly wait for a moment and listen to me. One should not look at a man and a woman when they are alone.

स्त्रीसंयुक्तं च पुरुषं यः पश्यति नराधमः।
करोति रसभङ्गं वा कालसूत्रं व्रजेद्ध्रुवम्॥ ११॥

Because only a degraded person looks at the couple engaged in love-sports or disturbs their pleasure. The one who does so surely has to fall in the hell named kālasūtra.

तत्र तिष्ठति पापीयान्यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ।
विशेषतश्च पितरं गुरुं भूपतिं द्विज॥ १२॥
रहः सुरतसंसक्तं नहि पश्येद्विचक्षणः।
कामतः कोपतो वाऽपि यः पश्येत्सुरतोन्मुखम्॥ १३॥
स्त्रीविच्छेदो भवेत्तस्य ध्रुवं सप्तसु जन्मसु।
श्रोणींवक्षस्थलं वक्त्रं यः पश्यति परस्त्रियः।
कामतोऽपि विमूढश्च सोऽन्धो भवति निश्चितम्॥ १४॥

O Brāhmaṇa such a sinner has to remain in hell as long as the sun and the moon last. Particularly the people with wisdom should not look at the father, the teacher, the king and the Brāhmaṇa engaged in conjugal pleasures in lonely places, because the one who is infatuated with passion or anger looks at the people engaged in conjugal pleasure, such a person has to face separation from his wife for seven births. The one who castes a voluptuous eye at others' wives, her breasts, the pelvic region or the face, such a great fool surely becomes blind.

गणेशस्य वचः श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य भृगुनन्दनः।
तमुवाच महाकोपान्निष्ठुरं वचनं मुने॥ १५॥

O sage, on hearing the words of Gaṇeśa Paraśurāma got enraged. He then smiled and uttered harsh words in anger.

परशुराम उवाच

अहो श्रुतं किं वचनमपूर्वं नीतिसंयुतम्।
इदमेवमहो नैवं श्रुतमीश्वरवक्त्रतः॥ १६॥

Paraśurāma said - I have heard today the most appropriate and the unprecedented word because I had never heard such words from the mouth of the lord.

श्रुतं श्रुतौ वाक्यमिदं कामिनां च विकारिणाम्।
निर्विकारस्य च शिशोर्न दोषः कश्चिदेव हि॥१७॥

Because such punishment has been prescribed for the passionate persons or those with a deformed mind have not been heard of in the Vedas. This has been heard by me that the child having a spotless mind does not attract any sin. Therefore, O brother, I am entering the inner apartment. O child, what can you do. Don't stop me from moving forward.

यास्याम्यन्तःपुरं भ्रातस्तव किं तिष्ठ बालक।
यथादृष्टं करिष्यामि मत्कार्य्यं समयोचितम्॥१८॥
तवैव तातो माता चेत्येवं नैव निरूपितम्।
जगतां पितरौ तौ च पार्वतीपरमेश्वरौ॥१९॥
पार्वती स्त्री पुमाञ्छम्भुरिति कैर्न निरूपितः।
सर्वरूपः शङ्करश्च सर्वरूपा च पार्वती॥२०॥
गुणीतीतस्यका क्रीडा तद्भंगो वा कुतो विभो।
क्रीडा लज्जा भीतिभङ्गो ग्राम्यस्यैव न चेशितुः॥२१॥
स्तनन्धयं च मां दृष्ट्वा पित्रोर्लज्जा कुतो भवेत्।
लज्जायाश्च कुतो लज्जा लज्जेशस्य च सा कुतः॥२२॥

I am reaching the place. I shall act according to the prevailing situation. They are not your parents alone, because those Pārvatī and Parameśvara happen to be the parents of the universe. It is never believed that Pārvatī is the woman and Śiva is the man. Śiva has the universal form and the same is the case with Pārvatī. O virtuous one, the one who is beyond virtues, how can he indulge in the love-sport and how could the same be disturbed. The love-sport, shame and fear, are meant for ordinary people and not for the lord.

लज्जा लज्जां किमाप्नोति तापं किं वा हुताशनः।
शीतं शैत्यमहोभ्रातर्निदाघो दाहमेव च॥२३॥
भीतेर्भीतिमवाप्नोति मृत्योर्मृत्युर्बिभेति किम्।
कुतो ज्वरो ज्वरं हन्ति व्याधिं व्याधिश्च जीर्यति॥२४॥

How can the parent keep shy by looking at an infant who feeds on the breasts. Will the lord of same, can attract the shame. Can the shame achieve the shame or can the fire achieve the warmth. O brother, can the cold get the cold, can the fire get the burning sensation, can the fear get the fear or can the death face the death? In fact can the fever destroy the fever; can the ailment destroy the ailments.

संहर्त्तारं नापि संहर्तुं कालः कालाद्बिभेति किम्।
स्रष्टारं सृजते स्रष्टा पाता किं पाति ते मते॥२५॥

Can the killer be afraid of the killer and can the god of death be afraid of death? Can the creator according the your opinion, create the creator and can the preserver preserve the preserver?

क्षुत्क्षुधं समवाप्नोति तृष्णां प्रयाति किम्।
निद्रा निद्रां च शोभां श्रीः शान्तिः शांति च ते मते॥२६॥
पुष्टिः पुष्टिं किमाप्नोति तुष्टिस्तुष्टिं क्षमा क्षमाम्।
आत्मनः परमात्माऽस्ति शक्तिः शक्त्या बिभेति किम्॥२७
कामक्रोधौ लोभमोहौ स्वात्मनैते न बाधिताः।
दया न बद्धा दयया नेच्छा बद्धेच्छया प्रभो॥२८॥

Can the hunger satisfy the hunger and the lust satisfy the lust? According to your opinion can the sleep get the sleep, the glory get the glory, the satisfaction get the satisfaction, can the pleasure get the pleasure and the mercy get the mercy and can the soul be afraid of the great soul or can the strength be afraid of the strength?

ज्ञानबुद्ध्योः को विकारो जरां नो बाधते जरा।
चिन्ता न चिन्तया ग्रस्ता चक्षुश्चक्षुर्न पश्यति॥२९॥

O lord, the lust, the anger, the passion and the grief cannot be destroyed by themselves, the mercy cannot be connected with mercy nor the can the passion be linked with passion.

हर्षो मुदं किं प्राप्नोति शोकं शोको न बाधते।
का विपत्तिर्विपत्तेश्च सम्पत्तिः सम्पदः कुतः॥३०॥

Can the divine intelligence develop any blemish? The old age cannot be destroyed by the old age, the worries cannot be removed by worries; one eye cannot look at the other eye.

मेधाया धारणाशक्तिः स्मृतेर्वा स्मरणं कुतः।
न दग्धः स्वप्रतापेन विवस्वानिति सम्मतः॥३१॥

Can the pleasure get pleased and cannot the grief destroy the grief, cannot the misfortune remove the misfortune and cannot the fortune attract fortune.

विपरीतमतो भ्रातस्त्वयैवाऽऽचरितोऽधुना।
न श्रुतोऽयं गुरुमुखान्न दृष्टो न श्रुतौ श्रुतः॥३२॥

The memory cannot remember the memory and the son can never be destroyed with his own deeds. This is believed by everyone.

इत्युक्त्वा चापि परशुरामशश्वत्प्रहस्य सः।
शीघ्रं गन्तुं मनश्चक्रे तद्गृहाभ्यन्तरं मुदा॥३३॥
तच्च रामवचः श्रुत्वा जितक्रोधो गणेश्वरः।
शुद्धसत्त्वस्वरूपश्च प्रहस्य तमुवाच ह॥३४॥

O brother, currently you have conducted yourself in opposite directions. I have heard this neither from the mouth of my teacher nor is it provided in the Vedas. Thus speaking Paraśurāma continued laughing and tried to forcibly enter the house.

गणपतिरुवाच

अज्ञानतिमिराच्छन्नो ज्ञानं प्राप्नोति तद्विदः।
पितुर्भ्रातुर्मुखाज्ज्ञानं दुर्लभं भाग्यवाँल्लभेत॥३५॥
श्रुतं ज्ञानं विशिष्टं च ज्ञानिनामपि दुर्लभम्।
किञ्चिन्मे त्वं मन्दबुद्धेः शृणु भ्रातर्निवेदनम्॥३६॥

Listening to the words of Paraśurāma, Gaṇeśa overcoming his anger and maintaining the peaceful form, kept on smiling and said, "A person who is infatuated with darkness and is devoid of the knowledge can achieve wisdom from the one who possesses the same but the inaccessible knowledge comes only from the mouth of the father and the brother.

यो निर्गुणः स निर्लिप्तः शक्तिभिर्नहि संयुतः।
सिसृक्षुराश्रितःशक्त्या निर्गुणः सगुणो भवेत्॥३७॥

O brother, I have heard about the inaccessible knowledge which is meant for the intellectuals only. Therefore you kindly listen to a few words of an unwise person like me.

यावन्ति च शरीराणि भोगार्हाणि महामुने।
प्रकृतानि च सर्वाणि विना श्रीकृष्णविग्रहम्॥३८॥

He who is Nirguṇa, does not involve himself and does not remain with śakti. The creator has to remain dependent on śakti. Therefore sometimes, the formless appears in a definite form.

ध्यायन्ति योगिनस्तं च शुद्धज्योतिः स्वरूपिणम्।
हस्तपादादिरहितं निर्गुणं प्रकृतेः परम्॥३९॥

O great sage, barring the body of lord Kṛṣṇa all other bodies have to enjoy all the pleasures or displeasures of life and that is quite natural.

वैष्णवास्तं नमस्यन्ति भक्तानुग्रहकारकम्।
कुतो बभूव तज्ज्योतिरहो तेजस्विना विना॥४०॥

Because of that the yogīs meditate upon the formless form of the lord which is spotless, illumining without hand and feet and is beyond Prakṛti.

ज्योतिरभ्यन्तरे नित्यं शरीरं श्यामसुन्दरम्।
द्विभुजं मुरलीहस्तं सस्मितं पीतवाससम्॥४१॥

The one who bestows his grace on his devotees is called Viṣṇu and people adore him, because there could be no flame without the tejas.

अतीवामूल्यसद्रत्नभूषणैश्च विभूषितम्।
ज्योतिरभ्यन्तरे मूर्तिं पश्यन्ति कृपया विभोः॥४२॥
तदा दास्ये नियुक्तास्ते भवन्त्येवेश्वरेच्छया।
योगस्तपो वा दास्यस्य कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥४३॥

The beautiful dark-complexioned body always remains inside the flame which is always beautiful and eternal. He has two arms and holds a flute in his hands, wears a serene smile on his face and pītāmbara as the lower garment and is adorned with valuable gem-studded ornaments. The yogīs conceive him as all-pervading and visualise this form of the lord in the eternal flame.

यदा सृष्ट्युन्मुखः कृष्णः ससृजे प्रकृतिं मुदा।
तद्योनौ ह्यर्पितं वीर्य्यं वीर्य्याड्डिम्भो बभूव ह॥४४॥

They engage themselves with the grace of the lord for his slavehood. All the yogic practices and the tapas do not equate to one-sixteenth part to the slavehood of the lord.

दिव्येन लक्षवर्षेण गर्भाड्डिम्भो विनिर्गतः।
तदा बभूव निश्श्वासस्ततो वायुर्बभूव ह॥४५॥
निश्श्वासेन समं भ्रातर्मुखबिन्दुर्विनिर्गतः।
ततो बभूव सहसा जलराशिर्हरेः पुरः॥४६॥

Whenever lord Kṛṣṇa desired for creation, he delightfully created Prakṛti and implanted the semen in her womb. The semen created an egg which remained in the womb of Prakṛti for a lakh of years and ultimately it came out. Then, there was a deep sigh and the wind was created.

तज्जले च स्थितो डिम्भो दिव्यवर्षाणि लक्षकम्।
ततो बभूव सहसा विश्वाधारो महाविराट्॥४७॥

O brother, with the deep sigh a drop emerged from the mouth as a result of which the water appeared in the very presence of the lord.

यावन्ति गात्रलोमानि तस्य सन्ति महात्मनः।
ब्रह्माण्डानि च तावन्ति विद्यमानानि निश्चितम्॥४८॥

The egg was consigned into the water for a lakh of years and Mahāvirāṭ suddenly emerged out of the same becoming the base of the universe.

तत्रैव प्रतिविध्यण्डे ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
देवा नराश्च मुनयो विद्यमानाश्चराचराः॥४९॥

All the hair-pits on the body of Virāṭ and a globe remain enshrined in each one of his hair-pits.

महाविराडाश्रयश्च सर्वस्य च जनस्य च।
निश्श्वासवायुर्भगवान्बभूव श्रीहरेर्मुने॥५०॥
महाविष्णुश्च कलया ततः क्षुद्रविराडभूत्।
तन्नाभिकमले ब्रह्मा शंकरस्तल्ललाटजः॥५१॥
विष्णुस्तदंशः पाता यः श्वेतद्वीपनिवासकृत्।
एवं ते प्रतिविध्यण्डे ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥५२॥
स्वयं च स्वांशकलया नानामूर्त्तिधरो हरिः।
तदाऽभवच्च सगुणः सर्वशक्तियुतस्तदा॥५३॥
कथं लज्जादिरहितः स च स्वेच्छामयो महान्।
सर्वदा सर्वभोगार्हः सर्वशक्तिसमन्वितः॥५४॥

In every globe, Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva besides the gods, the sages and moveable and immovable creatures always exist. Mahāvirāṭ happens to be the refuge of everyone. O sage, with the inhaling of air, the wind was turned into the god and by one of the rays Mahāviṣṇu was created. From him the small Virāṭ (Viṣṇu) emerged from whose navel Brahmā emerged and from Brahmā's forehead emerged Śiva. Viṣṇu was born out of the aṁśa of Rāma who dwells in the Śveta-dvīpa and is the protector of the universe. Therefore, in each and every globe Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva always reside. The lord himself appeared in various forms because of his own rays when he turns himself into a definite shape. Thereafter, he was called omnipotent, possessing all the virtues with definite forms because he moves at will being a great lord and how could he be freed from the same? He is all-powerful and therefore he can indulge in all the worldly pleasures.

लज्जा नास्त्येव लज्जायामतोऽयं सर्वसम्मतः।

या च लज्जावती देवी तस्या लज्जा कुतो गता॥५५॥

सर्वशक्तिमती दुर्गा प्रकृत्या सा च शैलजा।

तस्या लज्जादयः सन्ति सर्वदा सर्वसम्मताः॥५६॥

Though one does not feel shy because of the same, it is well-known that the goddess who is full of shyness disappears. Goddess Durgā is all-powerful but currently she is born out of Himālaya. She was the form of Prakṛti and as such the shyness is always enshrined in her. It is quite well-known.

पञ्चधा प्रकृतिर्या च श्रीकृष्णस्य बभूव ह।

राधा पद्मा च सावित्री दुर्गा देवी सरस्वती॥५७॥

प्राणाधिष्ठातृदेवी या कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः।

प्राणाधिका प्रिया सा च राधाऽऽस्ते तस्य वक्षसि॥५८॥

The Prakṛti of lord Kṛṣṇa is known in five forms as Rādhā, Padmā, Sāvitrī, Durgā and Sarasvatī. Out of these five, Rādhā happens to be the dearest beloved of lord Kṛṣṇa who always resides in his heart.

विद्याधिष्ठातृदेवी या सावित्री ब्रह्मणः प्रिया।

लक्ष्मीर्नारायणस्यैव सर्वसम्पत्स्वरूपिणी॥५९॥

सरस्वती द्विधा भूत्वा कृष्णस्य मुखनिर्गता।

सावित्री ब्रह्मणः कान्ता स्वयं नारायणस्य च॥६०॥

The great goddess of learning known as Sāvitrī became the spouse of Brahmā and Lakṣmī the goddess of all the riches became the spouse of Nārāyaṇa. Sarasvatī after emerging out of the mouth of lord Kṛṣṇa was divided into two forms, one of them was known as Sāvitrī and became the spouse of Brahmā while Sarasvatī became the beloved of Nārāyaṇa.

बुद्ध्यधिष्ठातृदेवी या ज्ञानसूः शक्तिसंयुता।

सा दुर्गा शूलिनः कान्ता तस्या लज्जा कुतो गता॥६१॥

The goddess of wisdom and the strength was known as Durgā who became the spouse of Śiva. Therefore, where shall the shyness of these goddesses disappear.

प्रकृतिः पञ्चधा भ्रातर्गोलोके च बभूव ह।

इमाः प्रधानाः कलया बभूवुर्नैकधा यतः॥६२॥

O brother, Prakṛti took to these five forms in Goloka itself and they are well-known in the universe and they appeared again and again.

विप्रेन्द्र नित्यं वैकुण्ठं ब्रह्माण्डात्परमुच्यते।

अविनाशि स्थलं शश्वल्लये प्राकृतिके ध्रुवम्॥६३॥

O best of the Brāhmaṇas, the eternal Vaikuṇṭ ha is the best place in the globe, it remains intact even during the time of dissolution.

तत्र नारायणो देवः कृष्णार्द्धांशश्चतुर्भुजः।

वनमाली पीतवासाः शक्त्या वै पद्मया सह॥६४॥

स्वयं कृष्णश्च गोलोके द्विभुजः श्यामसुन्दरः।

सस्मितो मुरलीहस्तो राधावक्षःस्थलस्थितः॥६५॥

Viṣṇu resides in Vaikuṇṭha as a part of lord Kṛṣṇa having four arms wearing a garland of forest flowers and a yellow lower garment. The dark-complexioned lord Kṛṣṇa having two arms remains in Goloka and plays on the flute wearing a serene smile on his face, living in the heart of Rādhā.

शश्वद्गोगोपगोपीभिः संयुक्तो गोपरूपधृत्।

सुराः कलोद्भवा यस्य षोडशांशो महाविराट्॥६७॥

He is always surrounded by cowherds and cowherdesses appearing in the form of a cowherd. He is complete in all respects, full of fortune, formless, beyond Prakṛti, moves at will, independent and blissful. All the gods appear from his rays and Mahāvirāṭ happens to be the one-sixteenth part of his rays.

यतो भवन्ति विश्वानि स्थूलसूक्ष्मादिकानि च।

पुनस्तत्र प्रलीयन्त एवमेव मुहुर्मुहुः॥६८॥

The stout and the small are all born from him and they ultimately merge in him. This process is repeated again and again.

गोलोक ऊर्ध्ववैकुण्ठात्पञ्चाशत्कोटियोजनः।

नास्ति लोकस्तदूर्ध्वं च नास्ति कृष्णात्परः प्रभुः॥६९॥

The Goloka is located at a distance of five crores yojana above Vaikuṇṭha and above that, there is no other loka. There is no other lord greater than lord Kṛṣṇa.

इदं श्रुतं शम्भुवक्त्रान्मया ते कथितं द्विज।

क्षणं तिष्ठाधुना भ्रातरीश्वरः सुरतोन्मुखः॥७०॥

O Brāhmaṇa I had heard the whole of it from the mouth of lord Śiva which I have told you about. Therefore, O brother, you please wait here for a moment because both Śiva and Pārvatī are currently engaged in conjugal pleasures.

Chapter 43

The Breaking of the trunk of Gaṇeśa

नारायण उवाच

गणेशवचनं श्रुत्वा स तदा रागतः सुधीः।
पर्शुहस्तस्स वै रामो निर्भयो गन्तुमुद्यतः॥ १॥
गणेश्वरस्तदा दृष्ट्वा शीघ्रमुत्थाय यत्नतः।
वारयामास संप्रीत्या चकार विनयं पुनः॥ २॥

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of Gaṇeśa, the wise Paraśurāma holding the battle-axe in his hand tried to force his entry into the house. Finding Paraśurāma so behaving, Gaṇeśa got up at once and making great effort tried to stop Paraśurāma, making several requests.

रामस्तं प्रेरयामास हुं कृत्वा तु पुनः पुनः।
बभूव च ततस्तत्र वाग्युद्धं हस्तकर्षजैः॥ ३॥
पर्शुनिक्षेपणं कर्तुं मनश्चक्रे भृगुस्तदा।
हाहा कृत्वा कार्त्तिकेयो बोधयामास संसदि॥ ४॥
अव्यर्थमस्त्रं हे भ्रातर्गुरुपुत्रे कथं क्षिपेः।
गुरुवद्गुरुपुत्रं च मा भवान्हन्तुमर्हति॥ ५॥

But Paraśurāma challenged him again and again, as a result of which a controversy developed besides the scuffle between the two. Bhṛgu at that point of time intended to attack Gaṇeśa with battle-axe which created panic in the court. Thereafter Kārttikeya said, "O brother, why are you attacking with this infallible weapon on the son of the teacher. The son of the teacher cannot be killed like the teacher himself.

पर्शुं क्षिपन्तं कुपितं रक्तपद्मदलेक्षणम्।
गणेशो रोधयामास निवर्त्तस्वेत्युवाच तम्॥ ६॥
पुनर्गणेशं रामश्च प्रेरयामास कोपतः।
पपात पुरतो वेगान्मानहीनो गजाननः॥ ७॥

Wielding the battle-axe Paraśurāma was enraged and his eyes became red like the red-lotus. Inspite of that, Gaṇeśa stopped him and said, "You better return." But Paraśurāma getting enraged challenged Gaṇeśa again. Finding thus humiliated Brāhmaṇa rushed forward and stood before Paraśurāma.

गजाननः समुत्थाय धर्मं कृत्वा तु सक्षिणम्।
पुनस्तं बोधयामास जितक्रोधः शिवात्मजः॥ ८॥
निवर्तस्व निवर्तस्वेत्युच्चार्य्य च पुनः पुनः।
प्रवेशने ते का शक्तिरीश्वराज्ञां विना प्रभो॥ ९॥

Gaṇeśa became attentive citing dharma as the witness. Gaṇeśa who had over-powered his anger, again tried to convince Paraśurāma again and again and said, "O lord you go back." Without the permission of the lord you don't have the strength to enter the inner apartment.

मम भ्राता त्वमतिथिर्विद्यासम्बन्धतो ध्रुवम्।
ईश्वरप्रियशिष्यश्च सोढं वै तेन हेतुना॥ १०॥

You are my brother in relation to the bestowing of knowledge to you Śiva. You are a guest and are the dear pupil of the lord. Therefore, I am tolerating all your misbehaviour.

नह्यहं कार्त्तवीर्य्यश्च भूपास्ते क्षुद्रजन्तवः।
अतो विप्र न जानासि मां च विश्वेश्वरात्मजम्॥ ११॥

O Brāhmaṇa, I am neither Kārtavīrya nor any petty king, killed by you in the battle-field. Evidently you are not aware of the birth of the son of the lord.

क्षणं तिष्ठ निवर्त्तस्व समये ब्राह्मणातिथे।
क्षणान्तरे त्वया सार्द्धं यास्यामीश्वरसन्निधिम्॥ १२॥

O Brāhmaṇa you are a guest, you wait for a while; go back and I shall accompany you to Śiva in a moment.

नारायण उवाच

हेरम्बवचनं श्रुत्वा प्रजहास पुनः पुनः।
पर्शुं क्षेप्तुं मनश्चक्रे प्रणम्य हरिशंकरौ॥ १३॥

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of Gaṇeśa, Bhṛgu laughed at him again and again and bowing before Hari and Śiva in his mind he resolved to make use of the battle-axe.

पर्शुं क्षिपन्तं कोपेन तं च रामं गजाननः।
दृष्ट्वा मुमूर्षुं देवेशो धर्मं कृत्वा तु साक्षिणम्॥ १४॥
योगेन वर्द्धयामास शुण्डां तां कोटियोजनाम्।
योगीन्द्रस्तत्र संतिष्ठन्भ्रामयित्वा पुनः पुनः॥ १५॥
शतधा वेष्टयित्वा तु भ्रामयित्वा तु तत्र वै।
ऊर्ध्वमुत्तोल्य वेगेन क्षुद्राहिं गरुडो यथा॥ १६॥
सप्तद्वीपांश्च शैलांश्च मेरुं चाखिलसागरान्।
क्षणेन दर्शयामास रामं योगपराहतम्॥ १७॥

Gaṇeśa realised that Paraśurāma intends to attack him with battle-axe. Therefore citing dharma as his witness, he extended his trunk to crores of yojanas in length and encircling Paraśurāma, he lifted him up like Garuḍa lifting a serpent. Thus entwining Paraśurāma in his trunk, he removed Paraśurāma around all the seven continents, the mountains, Meru and all the oceans in a moment.

हस्तपादाद्यनाथं तं जडं सर्वाङ्गकम्पितम्।
पुनस्तं भ्रामयामास दर्पितं दर्पनाशनः॥ १८॥

Thereafter, Gaṇeśa who destroys the arrogance, making Paraśurāma helpless in feet as well as arm, all his limbs started trembling and Gaṇeśa again took him round and round the globe.

भूर्लोकं च भुवर्लोकं स्वर्लोकं च सुरेश्वरः।
जनोलोकं तपोलोकं दर्शयामास लीलया॥ १९॥
पुनस्तत्र भ्रामयित्वा ब्रह्माण्डादूर्ध्वमुत्तमम्।
सत्यलोकं ब्रह्मलोकं ध्रुवलोकं च तत्परम्॥ २०॥
गौरीलोकं शंभुलोकं दर्शयामास नारद।
दर्शयित्वा तु विध्यण्डं स ययौ सप्तसागरान्॥ २१॥

Thereafter Gaṇeśa carried Paraśurāma round the earth, Bhūloka, Bhuvarloka, Svarloka, Janoloka and Tapoloka, playfully. After taking him round these places, then he carried him to Satyaloka, Brahmaloka, Dhruvaloka, Gaurīloka and Śivaloka. Thereafter showing him round the globe he took him round all the oceans.

पुनरुद्गिरणं चक्रे सनक्रमकरोदकम्।
तत्र तं पातयामास गम्भीरे सागरोदके॥ २२॥

He then threw out all the aquatic animals like crocodiles and others and threw him in the oceanic water.

मुमूर्षुं तं संतरन्तं पुनर्जग्राह लीलया।
पुनस्तत्र भ्रामयित्वा ब्रह्माण्डादूर्ध्वमप्यमुम्॥ २३॥
वैकुण्ठं दर्शयामास सलक्ष्मीकं जनार्दनम्॥ २४॥

Paraśurāma started floating in the oceanic water, where he was about to die but he again picked him up from there and moving him round and round, the globe, he lifted him up to Vaikuṇṭ ha and produced him before lord Viṣṇu and Lakṣmī.

क्षणं तत्र भ्रामयित्वा योगीन्द्रो योगमायया।
पुनः करं च योगेन वर्धयामास लीलया॥ २५॥
गोलोकं दर्शयामास विरजां च नदीश्वरीम्।
वृन्दावनं शृङ्गशतं शैलेन्द्रं रासमण्डलम्॥ २६॥
गोपीगोपादिभिः सार्द्धं श्रीकृष्णं श्यामसुन्दरम्।
द्विभुजं मुरलीहस्तं सस्मितं सुमनोहरम्॥ २७॥
रत्नसिंहासनस्थं च रत्नभूषणभूषितम्।
तेजसा कोटिसूर्याभं राधावक्षःस्थलस्थितम्॥ २८॥

Thus Gaṇeśa, the lord of the yogīs with the application of illusion extending his trunk carried him to Goloka, where the river Virajā was flowing. He then carried him through Vṛndāvana, Himālaya having a hundred peaks, Rāsamaṇḍala and produced him before lord Kṛṣṇa surrounded by the cowherds and cowherdesses. He was having two arms and holding a flute in his hands, wearing a serene smile on the face. He was seated on a gem-studded lion-throne and was adorned with all the ornaments, bearing the lustre of crores of suns, resting his head on the breasts of Rādhā.

एवं कृष्णं दर्शयित्वा प्रणमय्य पुनः पुनः।
क्षणेन लम्बमानं च भ्रामयित्वा पुनः पुनः॥२९॥
दृष्ट्वा कृष्णं चेष्टदेवं सर्वपापप्रणाशनम्।
भ्रूणहत्यादिकं पापं भृगोर्दूरं चकार ह॥३०॥

Having an audience with lord Kṛṣṇa he bowed in reverence to him again and again and then he extended his trunk. Taking Paraśurāma round and round he produced him before lord Kṛṣṇa, as a result of which Paraśurāma was relieved of all the sins committed by him, because an audience with the lord destroys all the sins.

न भवेद्यातना नष्टा विना भोगेन पापजा।
स्वल्पां च बुभुजे रामो गताऽन्या कृष्णदर्शनात्॥३१॥
क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य भुवि वेगात्पपात ह।
बभूव दूरीभूतं च गणेशस्तम्भनं भृगोः॥३२॥

The result that emerged from sin can never be destroyed without facing the same. Paraśurāma had already faced the result of some of his misdeeds and the result of the remaining sins vanished with the audience with lord Kṛṣṇa. He, therefore, regained consciousness in a moment and at once he reached the earth and was relieved of the miseries caused to him by Gaṇeśa.

सस्मार कवचं स्तोत्रं गुरुदत्तं सुदुर्लभम्।
अभीष्टदेवं श्रीकृष्णं गुरुं शंभुं जगद्गुरुम्॥३३॥

Thereafter, Paraśurāma adored the inaccessible kavaca bestowed to him by his teacher, besides the stotra of lord Kṛṣṇa reciting the name of lord Śiva who happens to be the teacher of the universe.

चिक्षेप पर्शुमव्यर्थं शिवतुल्यं च तेजसा।
ग्रीष्ममध्याह्नमार्तण्डप्रभाशतगुणं मुने॥३४॥

O sage, thereafter he thought of using the infallible battle-axe which was like Śiva and dazzling like the shine of the mid-day sun of the summer season.

पितुरव्यर्थमस्त्रं च दृष्ट्वा गणपतिः स्वयम्।
जग्राह वामदन्तेन नास्त्रं व्यर्थं चकार ह॥३५॥

Gaṇapati on his part witnessed the weapon which was granted by Śiva himself to Paraśurāma and face the attack on the left tusks. He did not make it infractuous.

निपात्य पर्शुर्वेगेन च्छित्वा दन्तं समूलकम्।
जगाम रामहस्तं च महादेवबलेन च॥३६॥

The battle-axe shot by Paraśurāma severed the left tusk of Gaṇapati with the force of Mahādeva and again went back to Paraśurāma.

हाहेति शब्दमाकाशे देवाश्चक्रुर्महाभिया।
वीरभ्रद: कार्तिकेय: क्षेत्रपालाश्च पार्षदाः॥३७॥

Finding this the gods in the sky, Vīrabhadra, Kārttikeya and other attendants of Śiva beside Kṣetra-pālas felt panicky.

पपात भूमौ दन्तश्च सरक्तः शब्दयंस्तदा।
पपात गैरिकायुक्तो यथा स्फटिकपर्वतः॥३८॥

Like the mountain of crystal of red ochre, the tusk soaked in blood making a thundering sound fell on the ground.

शब्देन महता विप्र चकम्पे पृथिवी भिया।
कैलासस्था जनाः सर्वे मूर्च्छामापुः क्षणं भिया॥३९॥

O dear one the deafening sound created by its fall made the earth to shake and the dwellers of Kailāsa fainted with panic in a moment.

निद्रा बभञ्ज तत्काले निद्रेशस्य जगत्प्रभोः।
आजगाम बहिः शंभुः पार्वत्या सह संभ्रमात्॥४०॥

Thereafter Śiva, the lord of the universe woke up with Pārvatī and came out of the chamber.

पुरो ददर्श हेरम्बं लोहितास्यं क्षतेन तम्।
भग्नदन्तं जितक्रोधं सस्मितं लज्जितं मुने॥४१॥

O sage, they saw Gaṇeśa with a broken tusk,

he had already over-come the anger and was smiling with shyness.

चुकोप दुर्गा कृपया रुरोद च मुहुर्मुहुः।

Pārvatī at once asked Skanda, "O son what was happened?" He narrated the entire story to Pārvatī. At that point of time Durgā was enraged and she started crying again and again feeling merciful carrying her son in her lap.

संबोध्य शंभुं शोकेन भिया विनयपूर्वकम्।
उवाच प्रणता साध्वी प्रणतार्तिहरं पतिम्॥४४॥

Because of grief and fear she addressed lord Śiva. The chaste lady meekly spoke to her husband who always removed the miseries of his devotees.

Chapter 44

The Stotra of Gaṇeśa

पार्वत्युवाच

सर्वे जानन्ति जगति दुर्गां शंकरकिंकरीम्।
अपेक्षारहिता दासी तस्या वै जीवनं वृथा॥ १॥
ईश्वरस्य समाः सर्वास्तृणपर्वतजातयः।
दासीपुत्रस्य शिष्यस्य दोषः कस्येति च प्रभो॥ २॥
विचारं कर्तुमुचितं त्वं च धर्मविदां वरः।
वीरभद्रः कार्तिकेयः पार्षदाः सन्ति साक्षिणः॥ ३॥
साक्ष्ये मिथ्यां को वदेद्वा द्वावेषां भ्रातरौ समौ।
साक्ष्ये समे शत्रुमित्रे सतां धर्मनिरूपणे॥ ४॥

Pārvatī said - Everyone in the universe knows that Durgā happens to be the slave of Śiva but when the slave has no importance in the household of the lord, the same becomes of no consequence. O lord, in the abode of Śiva all the creatures from a straw to the mountain are treated equally. Then who is at fault? My son or your devotee? You are the best in those well-versed in the dharma; therefore, you kindly think over it. Vīrabhadra, Kārttikeya and all other courtiers are witnesses to the event, though both Gaṇeśa and Kārttikeya are brothers but who can speak falsehood at the time of giving witness, because at the time of giving evidence according to dharma both friends and foes are considered to be equal.

साक्षी सभायां यत्साक्ष्यं जानन्नप्यन्यथा वदेत्।
कामतः क्रोधतो वाऽपि लोभेन च भयेन च॥ ५॥
स याति कुम्भीपाकं च निपात्य शतपूरुषम्।
तैश्च सार्द्धं वसेत्तत्र यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥ ६॥

In the court, if a witness knowingly, influenced by passion, anger and fear, gives false evidence, he is driven to the kumbhīpāka hell with his hundred generations and has to remain there till the life of the sun and moon lasts.

अहं विबोधितुं शक्ता यन्निर्णेत्री द्वयोपरि।
तथाऽपि तव साक्षात्तु ममाऽऽज्ञा निन्दिता श्रुतौ॥ ७॥

Though I am unable to take a decision on both of them, still it will not be proper for me to do so when you are there, because in these circumstances any opinion of mine will be deplorable in the Vedas.

किंकराणां प्रभा कुत्र नृपे वसति संसदि।
उदिते भास्करे पृथ्व्यां खद्योतो हि यथा प्रभो॥ ८॥

O lord, when the king is present in the court, all the courtiers appear like fire-flies before the sun.

सुचिरं तपसा प्राप्तं त्वदीयं चरणाम्बुजम्।
परित्यागभयेनैव संततं भीतया मया॥ ९॥
यत्किंचित्कोपशोकाभ्याकमुक्तं मोहेन तत्परम्।

त्वया यदि परित्यक्ता तदा पुत्रेण तेन किम्।
साध्व्या सद्वंशजायाश्च शतपुत्राधिकः पतिः॥ ११॥

I have achieved the grace of your feet after performing tapas for a long time. I am, therefore, always apprehensive, lest I might be disowned. Therefore, O lord of the universe, whatever I have spoken in anger or out of affection of my son, you kindly forgive me for the same. Because in case you disown me, then what shall I do with the sons. Because for the chaste lady the husband is more important than hundreds of sons.

असद्वंशप्रसूता या दु:शीला ज्ञानवर्जिता।
स्वामिनं मन्यते नासौ पित्रोर्दोषेण कुत्सिता॥१२॥

The ladies born in the low caste or those who are wicked and unwise, do not show due respect to the husband because of the defect in their approach because of their parents.

कुत्सितं पतितं मूढं दरिद्रं रोगिणं जडम्।
कुलजा विष्णुतुल्यं च कान्तं पश्यति संततम्॥१३॥
हुताशनो वा सूर्यो वा सर्वतेजस्विनां वर:।
पतिव्रतातेजसश्च कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्॥१४॥

The denounce, the fallen, foolish, poor, those suffering from ailment or the deaf and dumb husband who is always considered by a chaste lady like Viṣṇu. Therefore, fire and even the sun cannot compare with the one-sixteenth ray of the chaste lady.

महादानानि पुण्यानि व्रतान्यनशनानि च।
तपांसि पतिसेवाया: कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥१५॥

All the great charities, merits, vratas and fasting or the performing of tapas cannot be compared with the sixteenth part of the lady serving her husband with devotion.

पुत्रो वाऽपि पिता वाऽपि बान्धवोऽथ सहोदर:।
योषितां कुलजातानां न कश्चित्स्वामिन: सम:॥१६॥

For the chaste lady, the son, father, brother and real brother cannot be equated with the husband.

इत्युक्त्वा स्वामिनं दुर्गा ददर्श पुरतो भृगुम्।
शंभो: पदाब्जं सेवन्तं निर्भयं तमुवाच ह॥१७॥

Thus speaking to the lord, Durgā looked at Bhṛgu who was serving at the lotus-like feet of lord Śiva and was fearless. She said to him.

पार्वत्युवाच

अये राम महाभाग ब्रह्मवंश्योऽसि पण्डित:।
पुत्रोऽसि जगदग्नेश्च शिष्योऽस्य योगिनां गुरो:॥१८॥

Pārvatī said - O lord Paraśurāma, you are born in a Brāhmaṇa family and are quite well-read. You are the son of Jamadagni and are the pupil of the teacher of the yogīs.

माता ते रेणुका साध्वी पंद्माशा सत्कुलोद्भवा।
मातामहो वैष्णवश्च मातुलश्च ततोऽधिक:॥१९॥

Reṇukā happens to be your mother who was quite a chaste lady born out of the aṁśa of Kamalā (Lakṣmī), your maternal grandfather was a great Vaiṣṇava and your maternal uncle happens to be superior to him in devotion.

त्वं च रेणुकभूपस्य मनुवंशोद्भवस्य च।
दौहित्रो मातुल: साधु: शूरो विष्णुपदाश्रय:॥२०॥

You are the son of the daughter of Reṇukā of the Manu family, your maternal uncle is quite a noble person besides being valorous and always remains devoted to the feet of lord Viṣṇu.

कस्य दोषेण दुर्द्धर्षस्त्वं न जानेऽप्यशुद्धधी:।
येषां दोषैर्जनो दुष्टस्तमृते शुद्धमानस:॥२१॥

I am unable to understand the cause of your losing wisdom in such a way. The blame by which one becomes wicked and without that blame one gets purified (has to be taken into account).

अमोघं प्राप्य पर्शुं च गुरुं च करुणानिधे:।
परीक्षां क्षत्रिये कृत्वा बभूवास्य सुते पुन:॥२२॥

After receiving the infallible battle-axe from the teacher who happens to be extremely merciful, you used the same initially on the Kṣatriyas and now you have used it on the son of the teacher.

गुरवे दक्षिणादानमुचितं च श्रुतौ श्रुतम्।
भग्नो दन्तस्तत्सुतस्य छिन्धि मस्तकमप्यहो॥२३॥
गणेश्वरं रणे जित्वा स्थितश्चेदावयो: पुर:।
स त्वं लब्ध्वाऽऽशिषो लोके पूजितोऽभूर्जगत्त्रये॥२४॥

Giving such a type of dakṣiṇā the teacher has been well rewarded by you. Presently you have only cut off the tusk of the son of the teacher, now you serve his head also. After defeating Gaṇeśvara in the battle-field you will present yourself in the world as victorious and will also earn blessings from us.

पर्शुनाऽमोघवीर्येण शंकरस्य वरेण च।

हन्तुं शक्तः सृगालश्च सिंहं शार्दूलमाखुभुक्॥ २५॥

You are not aware that by getting the infallible weapons from Śiva like the battle-axe and receiving a boon from him, a jackal can kill a lion and a mouse can kill even a tiger.

त्वद्विधं लक्षकोटिं च हन्तुं शक्तो गणेश्वरः।

जितेन्द्रियाणां प्रवरो नहि हन्ति च मक्षिकाम्॥ २६॥

Gaṇeśa is competent to kill lakhs and crores of persons like you but the one who has over-powered his organs of senses, will never try to kill even a fly.

तेजसा कृष्णतुल्योऽयं कृष्णांशश्च गणेश्वरः।

देवाश्चान्ये कृष्णकलाः पूजाऽस्य पुरतस्ततः॥ २७॥

The leader of the gaṇas is compared with lord Kṛṣṇa in lustre and happens to be his aṁśa alone. All other gods happen to be his rays. That is why he is adored first of all.

व्रतप्रभावतः प्राप्तः शंकरस्य वरेण च।

शोकेनातिकठोरेण नहि संपद्विनाऽऽपदम्॥ २८॥

With the influence of vrata, the boon of Śiva and after performing great tapas I had achieved him as my husband because no one can achieve pleasure without pain.

इत्युक्त्वा पार्वती रोषात्तं रामं शप्तुमुद्यता।

रामः सस्मार तं कृष्णं प्रणम्य मनसा गुरुम्॥ २९॥

Thus speaking, Pārvatī got ready to pronounce a curse on Paraśurāma suffering from mental agony. Finding this, Paraśurāma feeling panicky at heart, started reciting the name of the lord Kṛṣṇa in his mind, bowing before the teacher in reverence.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे दुर्गा ददर्श पुरतो द्विजम्।

अतीव वामनं बालं सूर्यकोटिसमप्रभम्॥ ३०॥

शुक्लदन्तं शुक्लवस्त्रं शुक्लयज्ञोपवीतिनम्।

दधतं तुलसीमालां सस्मितं सुमनोहरम्।

रत्नकेयूरवलयं रत्नमालाविभूषितम्॥ ३२॥

रत्ननूपुरपादं च सद्रत्नमुकुटोज्ज्वलम्।

रत्नकुण्डलयुग्माढ्यगण्डस्थलविराजितम्॥ ३३॥

In the meantime Durgā saw a dwarfish boy coming to her having the lustre of crores of suns, having white teeth, clad in white garment and yajñopavīta, holding a staff and an umbrella in his hands. His forehead was painted with bright Tilakam and he wore the rosary of Tulasī. He had a serene smile on his face and looked quite pleasant. He was adorned with armlets of gems besides wristlets and the rosary of gems, he had anklets of gems and his feet were quite charming. He was wearing a beautiful crown on his head and gem-studded kuṇḍalas appeared in his ears.

स्थिरमुद्रां दर्शयन्तं भक्तं वामकरणे च।

दक्षिणेऽभयमुद्रां च भक्तेशं भक्तवत्सलम्॥ ३४॥

He displayed Sthira-mudrā with his left hand and Abhaya-mudrā with his right hand to his devotees. He happens to be the lord of his devotees.

बालिकाबालकगणैर्नगरैः सस्मितैर्युतम्।

कैलासवासिभिः सर्वैरावृद्धैरीक्षितं मुदा॥ ३५॥

Wearing a serene smile on his face, he was surrounded by the boys and girls of the town. All the dwellers of Kailāsa, a group of young and old stared at him.

तं दृष्ट्वा संभ्रमाच्छम्भुः सभृत्यः सहपुत्रकः।

मूर्ध्ना भक्त्या प्राणमच्च दुर्गा च दण्डवद्भुवि॥ ३६॥

आशिषं प्रददौ बालः सर्वेभ्यो वाञ्छितप्रदाम्।

तं दृष्ट्वा बालकाः सर्वे महाश्चर्यं ययुर्भिया॥ ३७॥

At the sight of the lord, Śiva at once offered his salutation to him with devotion, together with his attendants and sons. Durgā also prostrated before him; thereafter the boy blessed all those present there for the fulfilment of their desires. All the children of the town left the place looking at the boy with surprise.

दत्त्वा तस्मै शिवो भक्त्या तूपचारांस्तु षोडश।

रत्नसिंहासनस्थं च प्रावोचच्छंकरः स्वयम्।

अतीव तेजसाऽत्यन्तं प्रच्छन्नाकृतिमेव च॥४०॥

Lord Śiva then adored the boy with his mind filled with devotion making sixteen types of offerings to him. Getting emotional, he adored him lowering his head before him, offering prayer to him at the same time.

Thereafter lord Śiva seated on the gem-studded lion-throne spoke to the boy who possessed immense lustre.

शंकर उवाच

आस्मारामेशु कुशलप्रश्नोऽतीव विडम्बनम्।

ते शश्वत्कुशलाधाराः कुशलाः कुशलप्रदाः॥४१॥

Śiva said - It is just a fallacy to ask about the welfare of those who always roam about in the soul because they are themselves the base of the welfare, the form of the welfare and the bestowers of the welfare.

अद्य मे सफलं जन्म जीवितं च सुजीवितम्।

परिपूर्णतमः कृष्णो लोकनिस्तारहेतवे।

O Brāhmaṇa, my birth has met with success today. My life has become glorious because of your arrival here with the grace of lord Kṛṣṇa. You are complete in all respects, besides being the abode of lord Kṛṣṇa.

अतिथिः पूजितो येन पूजिताः सर्वदेवताः।

अतिथिर्यस्य संतुष्टस्तस्य तुष्टो हरः स्वयम्॥४४॥

The one who adores the guest, the gods get pleased with him. When the guest is pleased even the god is pleased.

सर्वैस्तपोभिर्विविधैर्नित्यैर्नैमित्तिकादिभिः।

तदेवातिथिसेवायाः कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्॥४६॥

The merit earned by taking a bath in all the holy places, performing all the charities, performing all the vratas and yajñas and performing all other religious ceremonies and the tapas, do not compare with one sixteenth part of serving a guest.

अतिथिर्यस्य भग्नाशो याति रुष्टश्च मन्दिरात्।

कोटिजन्मार्जितं पुण्यं तस्य नश्यति निश्चितम्॥४७॥

If a guest returns disappointed from a householder, the merit earned by him during crores of births in the past, is destroyed.

एकादशीकृष्णसेवाहीनो विप्रश्च भारते।

एते महापातकिनस्त्रिषु लोकेषु निन्दिताः॥५३॥

The one who kills his wife and the cow, the ungrateful person, the killer of a Brāhmaṇa, the one enjoying the company of the wife of the teacher, one who denounces his father, mother and teacher, killer of human beings, the one who is deprived of the sandhyā-vandanā, the one who commits suicide, the killer of truthfulness, the denouncer of lord Hari, the killer of Brāhmaṇas, the thief of wealth, the one who gives false evidence, the one who betrays his friend, the ungrateful one, the one who loads the bulls, the store-keeper, the one who burns the dead bodies, the one who performs pūjā from village to village, the Brāhmaṇa husband of a wicked woman, the one who performs śrāddha of the Śūdras and takes food with them, the seller of daughters, the seller of the name of god, of wax, meat, sea-same and salt, the one who sells away the cows and horses, the Brāhmaṇa who does not perform Ekādaśī vrata and the one who is deprived of the devotion of lord Kṛṣṇa are considered to be great sinners in the universe and are therefore denounced everywhere.

कालसूत्रे च नरके पतन्ति ब्रह्मणां शतम्।

एतेभ्योऽप्यधमः सोऽपि यश्चातिथिपराङ्मुखः॥५४॥

All of them fall into the kālasūtra hell and remain there up to the age of Brahmā. The position of those who make the guest to return disappointed is much verse.

नारायण उवाच

शंकरस्य वचः श्रुत्वा संतुष्टः श्रीहरिः स्वयम्।

मेघगम्भीरया वाचा तमुवाच जगत्पतिः॥५५॥

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of Śiva, the lord was pleased and thereafter, the lord of the universe spoke thundering like the clouds.

विष्णुरुवाच

श्वेतद्वीपादागतोऽहं ज्ञात्वा कोलाहलं च वः।

अस्य रामस्य रक्षार्थं कृष्णभक्तस्य सांप्रतम्॥५६॥

Viṣṇu said - Listening to the uproar, I have arrived here from Śveta-dvīpa in order to protect Paraśurāma the devotee of lord Kṛṣṇa.

नैतेषां कृष्णभक्तानामशुभं विद्यते क्वचित्।

रक्षामि तांश्चक्रहस्तो गुरुमन्यं विना शिव॥५७॥

O Śiva, the one who is devoted to lord Kṛṣṇa has never to face miseries anywhere, I protect him always holding a disk in my hand, barring the one who betrays his teacher.

नाहं पाता गुरौ रुष्टे बलवद्गुरुहेलनम्।

तत्परः पातकी नास्ति सेवाहीनो गुरोश्च यः॥५८॥

Because I cannot protect a person who annoys his own teacher, the denouncing of the teacher is a terrific sin. There is no other greater sinner than the one who neglects the adoration of the teacher.

मान्यः पूज्यश्च सर्वेभ्यः सर्वेषां जनको भवेत्।

अहो यस्य प्रसादेन सर्वान्पश्यति मानवः॥५९॥

By his grace a human is in a position to look at everything, he is adorable by all and respectable by all.

जनको जन्मदानाच्च रक्षाणाच्च पिता नृणाम्।

ततो विस्तारकरणात्कलया स प्रजापतिः॥६०॥

पितुः शतगुणं माता पोषणाद्गर्भधारणात्।

वन्द्या पूज्या च मान्या च प्रसूः स्याद्वै वसुंधरा॥६१॥

One becomes the father because of giving birth to a human being or becomes the father because of feeding the child and with the expansion is called Prajāpati. The mother is a hundred times more adorable than the father because she carries the child in her womb and feeds it. She is more adorable and respectable. Not only this, she happens to be the form of the earth.

मातुः शतगुणं वन्द्यः पूज्यो मान्योऽन्नदायकः।

यद्विना नश्वरो देहो विष्णुश्च कलयाऽन्नदः॥६२॥

The giver of food is a hundred times more adorable and respectable than the mother because the body perishes without food, the giver of food actually is considered to be the form of lord Viṣṇu.

अन्नदातुः शतगुणोऽभीष्टदेवः परः स्मृतः।

गुरुस्तस्माच्छतगुणो विद्यामन्त्रप्रदायकः॥६३॥

The family god is more adorable than the giver of food and the teacher is a hundred times more adorable than the family god who bestows knowledge and mantra.

अज्ञानतिमिराच्छन्नं ज्ञानदीपेन चक्षुषा।

यः सर्वार्थं दर्शयति तत्परो नैव बान्धवः॥६४॥

A teacher provides the knowledge of lamp to a person who roams in the darkness of ignorance and makes him realise the truth; therefore there is no other brother greater than him.

गुरुदत्तेन मन्त्रेण तपसेष्टसुखं लभेत्।

सर्वज्ञत्वं सर्वसिद्धिं तत्परो नैव बान्धवः॥६५॥

After adoring with the mantra provided by the guru, a person achieves the desired pleasure, becomes all knowledgeable and achieves all success; there are, therefore, no other relatives greater than the teacher.

सर्वं जयति सर्वत्र विद्यया गुरुदत्तया।
तस्मात्पूज्यो हि जगति को वा बन्धुस्ततोऽधिकः॥६६॥

A person becomes victorious with the use of arms from the knowledge achieved by him from his teacher, therefore, there are no other relatives more respectable than the teacher in the universe.

विद्यान्धो वा धनान्धो वा यो मूढो न भजेद्गुरुम्।
ब्रह्महत्यादिभिः पापैः स लिप्तो नात्र संशयः॥६७॥

Therefore, blinded with knowledge or riches, if a foolish fellow does not serve the teacher, he earns the sin of Brahmahatyā. There is no doubt about it.

दरिद्रं पतितं क्षुद्रं नरबुद्ध्याचरेद्गुरुम्।
तीर्थस्नातोऽपि न शुचिर्नाधिकारी च कर्मसु॥६८॥

Therefore if a person adores a teacher who has become a pauper, has fallen or becomes degraded, he cannot be purified even after taking baths in all the sacred places nor does he get entitled to performing all the religious ceremonies.

पितरं मातरं भार्यां गुरुपत्नीं गुरुं परम्।
यो न पुष्णाति कापट्यात्स महापातकी शिव॥६९॥
गुरुर्ब्रह्मा गुरुर्विष्णुर्गुरुर्देवो महेश्वरः।

गुरुश्चन्द्रस्तथेन्द्रश्च वायुश्च वरुणोऽनलः।
सर्वरूपो हि भगवान्परमात्मा स्वयं गुरुः॥७१॥

O Śiva, he who does not maintain his own father, mother, wife, teacher, deceitfully, earns a very great sin. Because the teacher happens to be Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva besides being the eternal Brāhmaṇa and the form of Sūrya. Guru also is the form of the moon, Indra the wind-god, Varuṇa and Agni. The teacher happens to be the form of everything and the great soul.

नास्ति वेदात्परं शास्त्रं नहि कृष्णात्परः सुरः।
नास्ति गङ्गासमं तीर्थं न पुष्पं तुलसीदलात्॥७२॥
नास्ति क्षमावती भूमेः पुत्रान्नास्त्यपरः प्रियः।

शालग्रामात्परो यन्त्रो न क्षेत्रं भारतात्परम्।
परं पुण्यस्थलानां च पुण्यं वृन्दावनं यथा॥७४॥

There is no other scripture greater than the Vedas and no other god greater than lord Kṛṣṇa. There is no other holy place greater than the Gaṅgā. There is no other leaf greater than the Tulasī leaf. There is no other greater in forgiveness than the earth and there is on one else dearer than the son. There is no other strength greater than the destiny and no other vrata greater than Ekādaśī. There is no other yantra greater than Śālagrāma and there is no other place more sacred than the land of Bhārata and out of other sacred places, there is no other place more auspicious than Vṛndāvana.

मोक्षदानां यथा काशी वैष्णवानां यथा शिवः।
न पार्वत्याः पराः साध्वी न गणेशात्परो वशी॥७५॥

There is no other place providing redemption better than Kāśī and among the Vaiṣṇavas, there is no other devotee better than Śiva himself. There is no chaste lady better than Pārvatī on earth and there is no other god more self-controlled than Gaṇeśa.

न च विद्यासमो बन्धुर्नास्ति कश्चिद्गुरोः परः।

गुरुस्त्रियां च पुत्रे चाप्यभवद्रामहेलनम्।
परं संमार्जनं कर्तुमागतोऽहं तवाऽऽलयम्॥७७॥

There is no relative greater than the learnings and there is no well-wisher greater than the teacher, the wife of the teacher and the teacher's sons are also comparable with the same. There is no doubt about it. Paraśurāma has insulted the wife and the son of the teacher, I have arrived here in order to remove the same.

नारायण उवाच

इत्येवमुक्त्वा शंभुं च दुर्गां संबोध्य नारद।
उवाच भगवांस्तत्र सत्यसारं परं वचः॥७८॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O Nārada, thus speaking addressing Śiva and Durgā, the lord spoke truthful and the best of the words.

विष्णुरुवाच

श्रृणु देवि प्रवक्ष्यामि मदीयं वचनं शुभम्।
नीतियुक्तं वेदसारं परिणामसुखावहम्॥७९॥

Viṣṇu said - O goddess, I am speaking to you so auspicious words which are quite appropriate and are the essence of the Vedas and would be pleasant in result.

यथा ते गजवक्त्रश्च कार्तिकेयश्च पार्वति।
तथा परशुरामश्च भार्गवो नात्र संशयः॥८०॥
नास्त्येषु स्नेहभेदश्च तव वा शंकरस्य च।
विचार्य सर्वं सर्वज्ञे कुरु मातर्यथोचितम्॥८१॥

O Pārvatī, as you had the sons like Gaṇeśa and Kārttikeya, similar is the case with Paraśurāma, there is no doubt about it. O all knowledgeable mother, you do not have any difference in the love for him, nor does Śiva has so. Therefore you think over it and do whatever you consider best.

पुत्रेण सार्द्धं पुत्रस्य विवादो दैवदोषतः।
दैवं हन्तुं को हि शक्तो दैवं च बलवत्तरम्॥८२॥

If there has been a controversy between the two sons, it has developed due to the move of the destiny. Who can avert the mover of the destiny which is all powerful?

पुत्राभिधानं वेदेषु पश्य वत्से वरानने।
एकदन्त इति ख्यातं सर्वदेवनमस्कृतम्॥८३॥
पुत्रनामाष्टकं स्तोत्रं सामवेदोक्तमीश्वरि।
श्रृणुष्वावहितं मातः सर्वविघ्नहरं परम्॥८४॥

O daughter, O damsel, you search in the Vedas and you will find that your son is known with the epithet of Ekadanta (single tusk). He is well known with the same epithet; therefore, O goddess, O mother, you kindly listen to the stotra of Gaṇeśa which has been inscribed in the Sāmaveda.

विष्णुरुवाच

गणेशमेकदन्तं च हेरम्बं विघ्ननायकम्।
लम्बोदरं शूर्पकर्णं गजवक्त्रं गुहाग्रजम्॥८५॥

Viṣṇu said - He is known in the Sāmaveda as Gaṇeśa, Ekadanta, Heramba, Vighnanāyaka, Lambodara, Śūrpakarṇa (the one having the ears like winnowing basket), Gajānana, Guhāgraja. These are the eight names given in the scriptures.

अष्टाख्यार्थं च पुत्रस्य श्रृणु मातर्हरप्रिये।
स्तोत्राणां सारभूतं च सर्वविघ्नहरं परम्॥८६॥

O beloved of loved Śiva, O mother, you listen from me to the meaning of the eight names of Gaṇeśa which happen to be the gist of the stotra and remove all obstructions.

ज्ञानार्थवाचको गश्च णश्च निर्वाणवाचकः।
तयोरीशं परं ब्रह्म गणेशं प्रणमाम्यहम्॥८७॥

ग stands for knowledge, ण stands for redemption. The one who is the lord of both of them is known as Gaṇeśa. I bow in reverence to him.

एकशब्दः प्रधानार्थो दन्तश्च बलवाचकः।
बलं प्रधानं सर्वस्मादेकदन्तं नमाम्यहम्॥८८॥

एक stands for principal, दन्त stands for strength. Therefore the one who is the foremost of the valorous persons is known as Ekadanta, I bow in reverence to him.

दीनार्थवाचको हेश्च रम्बः पालकवाचकः।
पालकं दीनलोकानां हेरम्बं प्रणमाम्यहम्॥८९॥
विपतिवाचको विघ्नो नायकः खण्डनार्थकः।
विपत्खण्डनकारं तं प्रणमे विघ्ननायकम्॥९०॥

हे stands for the poor and रम्ब stands for protector, therefore the one who protects the poor in the universe, is known as Heramba. विघ्न stands for obstruction or misfortune and नायक stands for the one who removes it. Therefore the one who removes misfortunes is known as Vighnanāyaka and I adore him.

विष्णुदत्तैश्च नैवेद्यैर्यस्य लम्बं पुरोदरम्।
पित्रा दत्तैश्च विविधैर्वन्दे लम्बोदरं च तम्॥९१॥

The one whose belly became protruding because of the excessive eating of the food provided by lord Viṣṇu or his own father, is known by the name of Lambodara. I bow in reverence to him.

शूर्पाकारौ च यत्कर्णौ विघ्नवारणकारकौ।
संपद्दौ ज्ञानरूपौ च शूर्पकर्णं नमाम्यहम्॥९२॥

The one whose ears are as large as the winnowing baskets for the removal of obstructions, he has been designated as Śūrpakarṇa and also bestows riches and learning. I bow in reverence to the god.

विष्णुप्रसादं मुनिना दत्तं यन्मुर्ध्नि पुष्पकम्।
तद्गजेन्द्रमुखं कान्तं गजवक्त्रं नमाम्यहम्॥ १३॥

The one on whose head the garland of Viṣṇu was placed by Indra, I bow in reverence to the same Gajendara having the face of an elephant.

गुहस्याग्रे च जातोऽयमाविर्भूतो हरालये।
वन्दे गुहाग्रजं देवं सर्वदेवाग्रपूजितम्॥ १४॥

He was born in the house of Śiva earlier than Skanda. Therefore he is known as the elder brother of Skanda and I adore him as such.

एतन्नामाष्टकं दुर्गे नानाशक्तियुतं परम्।
एतन्नामाष्टकं स्तोत्रं नानार्थसहितं शुभम्॥ १५॥

O Durgā, these eight verses comprise of many śaktis and different meanings and is a devotional stotra for Gaṇeśa.

त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नित्यं स सुखी सर्वतो जयी।
ततो विघ्नाः पलायन्ते वैनतेयाद्यथोरगाः॥ १६॥

The one who recites this stotra thrice a day, enjoys all the worldly pleasures and becomes victorious in the universe like Garuḍa who always overcomes the serpents.

गणेश्वरप्रसादेन महाज्ञानी भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
पुत्रार्थी लभते पुत्रं भार्यार्थी कुशलां स्त्रियम्॥ १७॥

With the grace of Gaṇeśvara he attains all knowledge and learning, the person desirous of a son gets the son, a person desirous of a wife gets a virtuous wife.

महाजडः कवीन्द्रश्च विद्यावांश्च भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
पुत्र त्वं पश्य वेदे च तथा कोपं च नो कुरु॥ १८॥

The immensely foolish person becomes a great poet and achieves all the learnings; therefore, O daughter, you look into the Vedas and shed away your anger.

इति श्रीब्रह्म० महा० गणपतिख० नारदना० गणेशस्तोत्रकथनं नाम चतुश्चत्वारिंशोऽध्यायः॥ ४४॥

Chapter 45

Prayers to Durgā by Paraśurāma

नारायण उवाच

पार्वतीं बोधयित्वा तु विष्णु नाममुवाच ह।
हितं सत्यं नीतिसारं परिणामसुखावहम्॥ १॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Thus making Pārvatī understand the reality, Viṣṇu spoke to Paraśurāma the words which were beneficial, truthful, appropriate and could result in pleasure, ultimately.

विष्णुरुवाच

रामत्वमधुना सत्यमपराधी श्रुतेर्मते।
कोपात्कृत्वा दन्तभङ्गं गणेशस्य स्थिते शिवे॥ २॥

Viṣṇu said - O Paraśurāma, according to the Vedas, you are truly a culprit because inspite of Śiva remaining present on the scene you have broken the tusk of Gaṇeśa.

स्तोत्रेणैव मयोक्तेन स्तुत्वा गणपतिं परम्।
काण्वशाखोक्तविधिना स्तुहि दुर्गां जगत्प्रसूम्॥ ३॥

Therefore, you recite the prayer according to Kāṇvaśākhā in favour of Gaṇapati and Durgā, the mother of the universe.

श्रीकृष्णस्य परा शक्तिर्बुद्धिरूपा जगत्प्रभोः।
अस्यां च तव रुष्टायां हता बुद्धिर्भविष्यति॥ ४॥

Because she happens to be the extreme intelligence of lord Kṛṣṇa and in case of her getting annoyed with you, you will be deprived of all your wisdom.

सर्वशक्तिस्वरूपेयमनया शक्तिमज्जगत्।
अनया शक्तिमान्कृष्णो निर्गुणः प्रकृतेः परः॥ ५॥

She is all powerful and represents the strength of the universe; even lord Kṛṣṇa becomes powerful because of her strength alone.

सृष्टिं कर्तुं न शक्तश्च ब्रह्मा शक्त्याऽनया विना।
वयमस्यां प्रसूताश्च ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥ ६॥

Even Brahmā is unable to resort to his creation without her strength. All of us including Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva have emerged out of her.

सुरसंघेऽसुरग्रस्ते काले घोरतरे द्विज।
तेजस्सु सर्वदेवानामिविर्भूता पुरा सती॥७॥

O Brāhmaṇa, at the time when the gods were over-powered by the demons, she emerged out of the tejas of all the gods.

कृष्णाज्ञयाऽसुरान्हत्वा दत्त्वा तेभ्य: पदं तत:।
दक्षपत्न्यां जनिं लेभे दक्षस्य तपसा पुरा॥८॥

She destroyed the demons at the command of lord Kṛṣṇa and restored the gods to their original status. Because of the tapas of Dakṣa, she was born as his daughter from his wife.

भार्या भूत्वा शंकरस्य पुन: पत्युश्च निन्दया।
देहं त्यक्त्वा शैलपत्न्यां जनिं लेभे पुरा सती॥९॥

She became the spouse of Śiva and because of the denouncement of her husband, she ended her body born out of Dakṣa. Thereafter she was born of the wife of Himālaya.

शंकरस्तपसा लब्धो योगीन्द्राणां गुरोर्गुरु:।
लब्धो गणपति: पुत्र: कृष्णांश: कृष्णसेवया॥१०॥

She then performed tapas for a long time and achieved Śiva, the teacher of the great teachers as her husband and after serving Śiva, she achieved Gaṇapati as her son who happens to be the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa.

यं ध्यायस्येव नित्यं किं तं न जानासि बालक।
स एव भगवान्कृष्णश्चांशेन गिरिजासुत:॥११॥

O child, the one who is always adored by you, are you not aware of her? The same lord Kṛṣṇa has appeared as the son of Girijā.

कृताञ्जलिर्नतो भूत्वा स्तुहि दुर्गां शिवप्रियाम्।
शिवां शिवप्रदां शैवा शिवबीजां शिवेश्वरीम्॥१२॥
शिवाया: स्तोत्रराजेन पुरा शूलिकृतेन वै।
त्रिपुरस्य वधे घोरे ब्रह्मणा प्रेरितेन च॥१३॥

Therefore you offer prayers to Durgā, the beloved of Śiva, meekly with folded hands. Śivā is the bestower of welfare, devoted to Śiva, the form of the seed of Śiva and the goddess of Śiva, you adore Pārvatī by reciting the stotra composed by Śiva which was composed by him at the time of the killing of Tripura under the influence of Brahmā.

इत्युक्त्वा श्रीपदं शीघ्रं जगाम श्रीनिकेतनम्।
गते हरौ हरिं स्मृत्वा रामस्तां स्तोतुमुद्यत:॥१४॥
स्तोत्रेण विष्णुदत्तेन सर्वविघ्नहरेण च।
धर्मार्थकाममोक्षाणां कारणेन च नारद॥१५॥

O Nārada, thus speaking that dwarfish boy at once left for Viṣṇuloka. After the departure of the lord, reciting the name of the lord, Paraśurāma started offering prayers to Pārvatī which were given to him by Viṣṇu and could remove all obstructions and was the cause of dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa.

कृताञ्जलिपुटो भूत्वा स्नात्वा गङ्गोदके शुभे।
गुरुं प्रणम्य भक्तेशं धृत्वा धौते च वाससी॥१६॥
आचम्य नत्वा मूर्ध्ना तां भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधर:।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गश्चानन्दाश्रुसमन्वित:॥१७॥

After taking a bath with the auspicious water of the Gaṅgā and bowing his head, he offered salutation to the teacher of the gods and then clad himself in two washed clothes and performing ācamana, he bowed in reverence getting emotional and his eyes were filled with tears. He prostrated before him and started adoring the goddess.

परशुराम उवाच

श्रीकृष्णस्य च गोलोके परिपूर्णतमस्य च।
आविर्भूता विग्रहत: पुरा सृष्ट्युन्मुखसय च॥१८॥

Paraśurāma said - In the earlier times, in the Goloka when he was emerging out of body of lord Kṛṣṇa at the time of creation you appeared on earth.

सूर्यकोटिप्रभायुक्ता वस्त्रालंकारभूषिता।
वह्निशुद्धांशुकाधाना सस्मिता सुमनोहरा॥१९॥
नवयौवनसंपन्ना सिन्दूरारुण्यशोभिता।
ललितं कबरीभारं मालतीमाल्यमण्डितम्॥२०॥

You have the lustre of crores of suns and are adorned with the best of ornaments and costumes. You are clad in the garments purified by the fire and wear a serene smile on your face; you are quite pleasant, youthful and decorated with vermilion. You are wearing the garland of jasmine flowers and you wear a beautiful hair-do on the head.

अहोऽनिर्वचनीया त्वं चारुमूर्तिं च बिभ्रती।
मोक्षप्रदा मुमुक्षूणां महाविष्णुर्विधिः स्वयम्॥ २१॥
मुमोह क्षणमात्रेण दृष्ट्वा त्वां सर्वमोहिनीम्।
बालैः संभूय सहसा सस्मिताधाविता पुरा॥ २२॥
सद्भिः ख्याता तेन राधा मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।
कृष्णास्तां सहसा भीतो वीर्याधानं चकार ह॥ २३॥

You have a beautiful figure, which is adorable. You provide salvation to the truth seekers. Your immense beauty attracts lord Mahāviṣṇu and Brahmā in an instant. At that point of time you start running with the children wearing a smile on your face. That is why the noble people achieve you in the form of Rādhā, though you happen to be the supreme goddess and Mūlaprakṛti. Lord Kṛṣṇa too getting afraid planted his seed in your womb.

ततो डिम्भं महाज्जज्ञे ततो जातो महान्विराट्।
यस्यैव लोमकूपेषु ब्रह्माण्डान्यखिलानि च॥ २४॥

As a result of this a great egg emerged out of your body and Mahāvirāṭ was born out of it in whose hair-pits the innumerable globes are enshrined.

राधारतिक्रमेणैव तन्निःश्वासो बभूव ह।
स निःश्वासो महावायुः स विराड् विश्वधारकः॥ २५॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa while enjoying the dance with Rādhā took a deep sigh which resulted in the creation of the great wind and also Virāṭ which became the base of the universe.

भयघर्मजलेनैव पुप्लुवे विश्वगोलकम्।
स विराड्विश्वनिलयो जलराशिर्बभूव ह॥ २६॥

At that point of time out of sweat of the Virāṭ, the water emerged. Ultimately the same Virāṭ was converted into the vast expanse of water.

Thereafter you emerged in five forms. The one who happens to be the beloved and life-like of lord Kṛṣṇa and is dearer to him than his own life, is called Rādhā by the ancient people. The one who is the great goddess of the Vedas and the creator of the Vedas, such an intellectual and auspicious goddess is known as Sāvitrī. Being the goddess of all the fortunes and riches, you are quite peaceful in nature and because of that nature you are called Lakṣmī, the goddess who is white in complexion, is the mother of the noble people; being the goddess of learning she is called Sarasvatī. The one who is the goddess of intelligence and learning, besides being the strength of the universe and who also provides prosperity to all is called Sarvamaṅgalā. Lord Kṛṣṇa imparted the divine knowledge to Śiva, as a result of which the latter became victorious over the death. You respect the same.

ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेशानां सा त्वमेव नमोऽस्तु ते॥४८॥

You happen to be the strength of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva for creation, preservation and destruction. I bow in reverence to you.

मधुकैटभभीत्या च त्रस्तो धाता प्रकम्पितः।
स्तुत्वा मुक्तश्च यां देवीं तां मूर्ध्ना प्रणमाम्यहम्॥४९॥

Brahmā was terrified because of the demons Madhu and Kaiṭabha. He started trembling and it is the goddess who relieved him of the danger and the one who was offered prayer by him, you happen to be the same. I offer my salutation to you.

मधुकैटभयोर्युद्धे त्राताऽसो विष्णुरीश्वरीम्।
बभूव शक्तिमान्स्तुत्वा तां दुर्गां प्रणमाम्यहम् ॥५०॥

The goddess for whom lord Viṣṇu prayed at the time of danger from Madhukaiṭabha, you happen to be the same, I offer my salutations to you.

विष्णुना वृषरूपेण स्वयं शंभुः समुत्थितः।

जघान त्रिपुरं स्तुत्वा तां दुर्गां प्रणमाम्यहम् ॥५२॥

The goddess who is adored by the gods after the chariot of Śiva fell at the time of the war with Tripura, I offer my salutation to the same goddess, Viṣṇu himself turned into the form of a bull and lifted up Śiva. Thereafter Śiva offered prayers to the goddess and killed Tripura, I offer my salutation to the same goddess.

यदाज्ञया वाति वातः सूर्यस्तपति संततम्।

संहर्ता संहरेत्काले तां दुर्गां प्रणमाम्यहम् ॥५५॥

With your command the wind blows, the sun always burns, Indra pours the rain and the fire burns, I offer my salutation to the same Durgā. At the command of whom Kāla, the god of death, always roams about, I offer my salutation to the same Durgā. At your command the creator creates the universe, Viṣṇu preserves it and Śiva destroys it, I offer my salutation to the same goddess Durgā.

ज्योतिःस्वरूपो भगवाञ्छ्रीकृष्णो निर्गुणः स्वयम्।
यया विना न शक्तश्च सृष्टिं कर्तुं नमामि ताम्॥५६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa, is the form of the flame and is invisible but he is unable to resort to the creation without the goddess. I, therefore, bow in reverence to the same goddess.

रक्ष रक्ष जगन्मातरपराधं क्षमस्व मे।
शिशूनामपराधेन कुतो माता हि कुप्यति॥५७॥

O mother of the universe, protect me and forgive me my sins. The mother never gets annoyed in case the children commit mischief.

इत्युक्त्वा परशुरामश्च नत्वा तां च रुरोद ह।
तुष्टा दुर्गा संभ्रमेण चाभयं च वरं ददौ॥५८॥

Thus speaking and bowing in reverence to the goddess, Paraśurāma started crying. The goddess Durgā was instantaneously pleased with him and granted him the boon.

She said, "O son you will be eternal. O son be composed and by the grace of all you will be victorious always in future.

अमरो भव हे पुत्र वत्स सुस्थिरतां व्रज।
शर्वप्रसादात्सर्वत्र जयोऽस्तु तव संततम्॥५९॥
सर्वान्तरात्मा भगवांस्तुष्टः स्यात्संततं हरिः।
भक्तिर्भवतु ते कृष्णे शिवदे च शिवे गुरौ॥६०॥

Let the universal lord be pleased with you always and you remain devoted to lord Kṛṣṇa and lord Śiva who happens to be the bestower of welfare and your teacher.

इष्टदेवे गुरौ यस्य भक्तिर्भवति शाश्वती।
तं हन्तुं न हि शक्ता वा रुष्टा वा सर्वदेवताः॥६१॥

Because to the one who is devoted to his teacher and the family god, no one can do any harm.

श्रीकृष्णस्य च भक्तस्त्वं शिष्यो वै शंकरस्य च।
गुरुपत्नीं स्तौषि यस्मात्कस्त्वां हन्तुमिहेश्वरः॥६२॥

Becoming the devotee of lord Kṛṣṇa and the pupil of Śiva, you are adoring the wife of the teacher, therefore who on earth can dare to kill you?

अहो न कृष्णभक्तानामशुभं विद्यते क्वचित्।
अन्यदेवेषु ये भक्ता न भक्ता वा निरङ्कुशाः॥६३॥

The devotees of lord never have to face any unpleasantness. Those who are attached to other gods, are either not devoted to me or are independent.

चन्द्रमा बलवांस्तुष्टो येषां भाग्यवतां भृगो।
तेषां तारागणा रुष्टाः किं कुर्वन्ति च दुर्बलाः॥६४॥

O son of Bhṛgu, the fortunate people with whom the moon gets pleased but the stars get annoyed, then what harm can the weak starts bring on him?

यस्मै तुष्टः पालयति नरदेवो महान्सुखी।
तस्य किंवा करिष्यन्ति रुष्टा भृत्याश्च दुर्बलाः॥६५॥

The one who is protected by the king wholeheartedly, enjoys the pleasure always. Even if the servants get annoyed with him they cannot do any harm to him.

इत्युक्त्वा पार्वती तुष्टा दत्त्वा रामाय चाशिषम्।
जगामान्तः पुरं तूर्णं हर्षशब्दो बभूव ह॥६६॥

Thus speaking Pārvatī delightfully blessed Paraśurāma and retired to her inner apartment. Thereafter, there was rejoicing everywhere.

स्तोत्रं वै कण्वशाखोक्तं पूजाकाले च यः पठेत्।
यात्राकाले तथा प्रातर्वाञ्छितार्थं लभेद्ध्रुवम्॥६७॥

This happens to be the prayer from the Kāṇvaśākhā and whosoever recites the same at the time of pūjā, at the time of journey or daily in the morning, surely gets his desires fulfilled.

पुत्रार्थी लभते पुत्रं कन्यार्थी कन्यकां लभेत्।
विद्यार्थी लभते विद्यां प्रजार्थी चाऽप्नुयात्प्रजाः।
भ्रष्टराज्यो लभेद्राज्यं नष्टवित्तो धनं लभेत्॥६८॥
यस्य रुष्टो गुरुर्देवो राजा वा बान्धवोऽथवा।
तस्मै तुष्टश्च वरदः स्तोत्रराजप्रसादतः॥६९॥

लभते सा दिव्यपुत्रं ज्ञानिनं चिरजीविनम्।
असौभाग्या च सौभाग्यं षण्मासश्रवणाल्लभेत्॥७४॥

The one who is desirous of a son will get a son, the one who is desirous of a daughter will get a daughter, the one who is desirous of learning will get learning, the one who is desirous of the people will get the people, the one who has lost his kingdom will get it back and the one who has lost his riches will get them back, the one, with whom the teacher, the king or the relatives get annoyed, he will make them all pleased with the reciting of the stotra. The one who is surrounded by thieves, bitten by a snake, surrounded by the enemies suffering from terrific disease, will get himself relieved with the reciting of the stotra. One gets freed from the royal court, the cremation ground, prison and fetters, besides the deep waters. All the desires of a person are fulfilled with the reciting of this stotra, inspite of opposition from the husband, son or the friends, such of the ladies who consuming the left-over of the yajña for a year and recite this stotra regularly or listens to it, performing the pūjā of Durgā, they inspite of being completely barren get a child. She gets a well-read and a divine son having long life.

नवमासं काकवन्ध्या मृतवत्सा च भक्तितः
स्तोत्रराजं या श्रृणोति सा पुत्रं लभते ध्रुवम्॥७५॥

The one who listens to it for six months, earns all the fortunes by the grace of Durgā. The one who is totally barren and the one who gives birth to dead infants, gets a son if she recites the stotra or listens to it, for nine months.

कन्यामाता पुत्रहीना पञ्चमासं श्रृणोति या।
घटे संपूज्य दर्गां च सा पुत्रं लभते ध्रुवम्॥७६॥

The one who listens to the best of the stotra surely achieves the son, the woman who gives birth only to daughters or the one having no son at all, if she listens to this stotra for five months and performs pūjā of Durgā consecrating the vase, she surely achieves a son.

Chapter 46

Conversation between Gaṇeśa and Tulasī

नारायण उवाच

स्तुत्वा तां परशुरामोऽसौ हर्षसंफुल्लमानस:।
स्तोत्रेण हरिणोक्तेन स तुष्टाव गणाधिपम्।। १।।

Nārada said - Paraśurāma adored Pārvatī delightfully and thereafter he also adored Gaṇeśa by reciting this stotra provided to him by the lord.

पूजां चकार भक्त्या च नैवेद्यैर्विविधैरपि।
धूपैर्दीपैश्च गन्धैश्च पुष्पैश्च तुलसीं विना॥ २॥

He also offered various types of eatables with devotion including essence, lamp, fragrance and flowers.

संपूज्य भ्रातरं भक्त्या स रामः शंकराज्ञया।
गुरुपत्नीं गुरुं नत्वा गमनं कर्तुमुद्यतः॥ ३॥

With the permission of Śiva, Paraśurāma adored Pārvatī and Gaṇeśa besides Śiva, his teacher and went back to his abode.

नारद उवाच

पूजां भगवतश्चक्रे रामो गणपतेर्यदा।
नैवेद्यैर्विविधैः पुष्पैस्तुलसीं च विना कथम्॥ ४॥
तुलसी सर्वपुष्पाणां मान्या धन्या मनोहरा।
कथं पूतां सारभूतां न गृह्णाति गणेश्वरः॥ ५॥

Nārada said - Paraśurāma offered pūjā to Gaṇeśa with all the eatables, flowers, etc., but how could his adoration be accepted without the Tulasī leaves because of all the flowers, Tulasī is considered to be the best; then why Tulasī leaves are not acceptable by Gaṇeśa?

नारायण उवाच

शृणु नारद वक्ष्येऽहमितिहासं पुरातनम्।
ब्रह्मकल्पस्य वृत्तान्तं निगूढं च मनोहरम्॥ ६॥

Nārāyaṇa said - O Nārada, I am going to tell you an ancient story which is contained as an ancient secret. You listen to it.

एकदा तुलसी देवी प्रोद्भिन्ननवयौवना।
तीर्थं भ्रमन्ती तपसा नारायणपरायणा॥ ७॥
ददर्श गङ्गातीरे सा गणेशं यौवनान्वितम्।
अतीव सुन्दरं शुद्धं सस्मितं पीतवाससम्॥ ८॥

Once Tulasī in her youthful age, performing tapas and reciting the name of Nārāyaṇa was visiting holy places. Thereafter the youthful Gaṇeśa spotted her on the bank of the Gaṅgā. He was quite beautiful, having a spotless mind, wearing a serene smile on his face and was clad in a yellow lower garment.

चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गं रत्नभूषणभूषितम्।
ध्यायन्तं कृष्णपादाब्जं जन्ममृत्युजरापहम्॥ ९॥

All his limbs were plastered with sandal-paste and he was wearing gem-studded ornaments on his body and devoted his mind to the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, who happens to be the remover of birth, death and old age.

जितेन्द्रियाणां प्रवरं योगीन्द्राणां गुरोर्गुरुम्।
सुरूपहार्यं निष्कामं सकामा तमुवाच ह॥ १०॥

He happens to be the best of those who had controlled the organs of senses, a great yogī, teacher of the teachers but the passionate Tulasī looked at him and said.

तुलस्युवाच

अहो ध्यायसि किं देव शान्तरूप गजानन।
कथं लम्बोदरो देहो गजवक्त्रं कथं तव॥ ११॥

Tulasī said - O elephant-faced god, whom are you adoring with a peaceful mind? How could you achieve the big belly and the face of an elephant?

एकदन्तः कथं वक्त्रे वदामुत्र च कारणम्।
त्यज ध्यानं महाभाग सायंकाल उपस्थितः॥ १२॥

O virtuous one, why are you having only one tusk on your face, you tell me the reason for it? It is getting evening time and you stop performing dhyānam.

इत्युक्त्वा तुलसी देवी प्रजहास पुनः पुनः।
परं चेतसि दग्धा सा कामबाणैः सुदारुणैः॥ १३॥

Thus speaking the goddess Tulasī was laughing again and again but she was burning in passion from inside.

गणेशस्य प्रधानाङ्गे दत्त्वा किंचिज्जलं मुने।
जघान तर्जन्यग्रेण निष्पन्दं कृष्णमानसम्॥ १४॥

Then she dropped some water on Gaṇeśa and pushed him with the tip of her forefinger. Gaṇeśa was engrossed in the devotion of lord Kṛṣṇa.

बभूव ध्यानभग्नं च तस्य नारद चेतनम्।
दुःखं च ध्यानभेदेन तद्विच्छेदो हि शोकदः॥ १५॥

O Nārada, this disturbed his meditation and he felt painful because being disturbed in one's meditation is quite painful.

ध्यानं त्यक्त्वा हरिं स्मृत्वा चापश्यत्कामिनीं पुरः।
नवयौवनसंपन्नां सस्मितां कामपीडिताम्॥ १६॥

Having been disturbed in meditation on Hari, he opened his eyes and found a beautiful damsel standing before him who was quite youthful and was smiling besides being infatuated with passion.

लम्बोदरश्च तां दृष्ट्वा परं विनयपूर्वकम्।
उवाच सस्मितः शान्तः शान्तां कामातुरां वशी॥ १७॥

Lord Gaṇeśa who had controlled his senses smilingly and with a peaceful mind spoke looking at her, who was filled with passion.

गणेश्वर उवाच

का त्वं वत्से कस्य कन्या मातर्मां ब्रूहि किं शुभे।
पापदोऽशुभदः शश्वद्ध्यानभङ्गस्तपस्विनाम्॥ १८॥
कृष्णः करोतु कल्याणं हन्तु विघ्नं कृपानिधिः।
तद्ध्यानभङ्गजाद्दोषान्नशुभं स्यात्तु ते शुभे॥ १९॥

Gaṇeśvara said - O damsel, who are you? Who is your father? O mother, O auspicious one, you tell me. It is sinful to disturb a person performing the tapas which results in evil. O virtuous one, let lord Kṛṣṇa bestow welfare on you and also remove all obstructions. Let you be free of the sin of disturbing my meditation.

गणेशवचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच स्मरातुरा।
सस्मितं सकटाक्षं च देवं मधुरया गिरा॥ २०॥

On hearing the words of Gaṇeśa, the passionate Tulasī laughed and casting side-glances she spoke in a sweet voice.

तुलस्युवाच

धर्मात्मजस्य कन्याऽहमप्रौढा च तपस्विनी।
तपस्या मे स्वामिनोऽर्थे त्वं स्वामी भव मे प्रभो॥ २१॥

Tulasī said - "O lord, I am the daughter of Dharmaputra. I am youthful and am an ascetic, I am performing tapas for achieving a husband; therefore you be my husband."

तुलसीवचनं श्रुत्वा गणेशः श्रीहरिं स्मरन्।
तामुवाच महाप्राज्ञः प्राज्ञीं मधुरया गिरा॥ २२॥

On hearing the words of Tulasī, the intelligent Gaṇeśa while reciting the name of the lord spoke to the intelligent damsel.

गणेश उवाच

हे मातर्नास्ति मे वाञ्छा घोरे दारपरिग्रहे।
दारग्रहो ही दुःखाय न सुखाय कदाचन॥ २३॥

Gaṇeśa said - O mother, it is terrible for me to accept a spouse. I am, therefore not interested in the same. After marriage no one gets pleasure but one is sure to get pain.

हरिभक्तेर्व्यवायश्च तपस्यानाशकारकः।
मोक्षद्वारकपाटश्च भवबन्धनपाशकः॥ २४॥

By doing so one's devotion towards the lord is interrupted and the tapas is disturbed. The door to salvation is closed and a person gets entangled in the worldly fetters.

गर्भवासकरः शश्वतत्वज्ञाननिकृन्तकः।
संशयानां समारम्भो यस्त्याज्यो वृषलैरपि॥ २५॥
गेहोऽहंकरणानां च सर्वमायाकरण्डकम्।
साहसानां समूहश्च दोषाणां च विशेषतः॥ २६॥

One has to face pregnancy and ultimate loss of the knowledge of tattvas resulting in an increase of doubts. Therefore even the Śūdras should not indulge themselves in the same. This is a store-house of pride and a box of illusion. It is a bundle of courage and a heap of sins.

निवर्त्तस्व महाभागे पश्यान्यं कामुकं पतिम्।
कामुकेनैव कामुक्याः संगमो गुणवान्भवेत्॥ २७॥

Therefore, O virtuous one, you return and search for another passionate husband. Because only a passionate one can be the husband of a passionate lady and their union is always beneficial."

इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा कोपात्सा तं शशाप ह।
दारास्ते भविताऽसाध्वी गणेश्वर न संशयः॥ २८॥
इत्याकर्ण्य सुरश्रेष्ठस्तां शशाप शिवात्मजः।

देवि त्वमसुरग्रस्ता भविष्यसि न संशयः॥२९॥

On hearing these words she pronounced a curse on him saying, "O Gaṇeśvara, you will get a wicked woman, there is no doubt about it." On hearing this Gaṇeśa also pronounced a curse on her saying, "goddess, you will be over-powered by a demon. There is no doubt about it.

तत्पश्चान्महतां शापाद्वृक्षस्त्वं भवितेति च।

महातपस्वीत्युक्त्वा तां विरराम च नारद॥३०॥

शापं श्रुत्वा तु तुलसी सा रुरोद पुनः पुनः।

तुष्टाव च सुरश्रेष्ठं स प्रसन्न उवाच ताम्॥३१॥

Thereafter with the curse of elders you will have to be turned into the form of a tree." Thus speaking the immensely intelligent Gaṇeśa kept quiet. On hearing the curse Tulasī weeping again and again, started offering prayer to lord Gaṇeśa. Lord Gaṇeśa was pleased with her and said.

गणेश्वर उवाच

पुष्पाणां सारभूता त्वं भविष्यसि मनोरमे।

कलांशेन महाभागे स्वयं नारायणप्रिया॥३२॥

Gaṇeśvara said - O pleasant one, you will be the best of flowers known as Tulasī. O virtuous one, because of the rays of lord Viṣṇu, you will become the beloved of Nārāyaṇa.

प्रिया त्वं सर्वदेवानां श्रीकृष्णस्य विशेषतः।

पूता विमुक्तिदा नृणां मया भोग्या न नित्यशः॥३३॥

You will be loved by all and particularly you would be beloved of lord Kṛṣṇa; you will always remain auspicious and shall bestow salvation on the people but I shall never accept your leaves.

इत्युक्त्वा तां सुरश्रेष्ठो जगाम तपसे पुनः।

हरेराराधनव्यग्रो बदरीसंनिधिं ययौ॥३४॥

जगाम तुलसीदेवी हृदयेन विदूयता।

निराहारा तपश्चक्रे पुष्करे लक्षवर्षकम्॥३५॥

Lord Gaṇeśa thus speaking and because of his devotion towards the lord, went to Badrikāśrama. Tulasī on the other hand feeling painful at heart went to the Puṣkara-kṣetra. She performed tapas therefore a lakh of years without consuming anything.

पश्चान्मुनीन्द्रशापेन गणेशस्य च नारद।

सा प्रिया शङ्खचूडस्य बभूव सुचिरं मुने॥३६॥

ततः शंकरशूलेन स ममारासुरेश्वरः।

सा कलांशेन वृक्षत्वं ययौ नारायणप्रिया॥३७॥

O Nārada, O sage, because of the curse of Gaṇeśa, the best of the sages, Tulasī remained the wife of Saṁkhacūḍa for a long time. Thereafter, Saṁkhacūḍa was killed with the trident of Śiva. Tulasī became devoted to Nārāyaṇa and after due course of time she was turned into a tree.

कथितश्चेतिहासस्ते श्रुतो धर्ममुखात्पुरा।

मोक्षप्रदश्च सारश्च पुराणेन प्रकीर्तितः॥३८॥

I have heard this from the mouth of Dharma, the story which I have narrated to you and is well known in the Purāṇas, which provides salvation.

ततः परशुरामोऽसौ जगाम तपसे वनम्।

प्रणम्य शंकरं दुर्गां संपूज्य च गणेश्वरम्॥३९॥

Thereafter, Paraśurāma adoring Gaṇeśa, Śiva and Durgā offered his adoration to them and performed tapas.

पूजितो वन्दितः सर्वैः सुरेन्द्रमुनिपुंगवैः।

पार्वतीशिवसांनिध्ये सुखं तस्थौ गणेश्वरः॥४०॥

Gaṇeśa also having been adored by the gods and the sages started living with Pārvatī and Śiva comfortably.

इदं गणपतेः खण्डं यः शृणोति समाहितः।

स राजसूययज्ञस्य फलमाप्नोति निश्चितम्॥४१॥

अपुत्रो लभते पुत्रं श्रीगणेशप्रसादतः।

धीरं वीरं च धनिनं गुणिनं चिरजीविनम्॥४२॥

यशस्विनं पुत्रिणं च विद्वांसं सुकवीश्वरम्।

सुशीलं च सदाचारं प्रशंस्यं वैष्णवं लभेत्।

अहिंसकं दयालुं च तत्त्वज्ञानविशारदम्॥४४॥

Thus, he who listens to the Gaṇapati Khaṇḍa attentively, surely achieves the merit of performing the Rājasūya-yajña. With the grace of Gaṇeśa, the one having on son, gets a son, who is always valorous, patient, rich, virtuous, having a long life and glorious, intelligent, a poet and the best of those who control their sense organs. He gets immense riches, gives immense riches in charity, is quite noble, praise-worthy, is a Vaiṣṇava, merciful and possesses the knowledge of tattvas.

भक्त्या गणेशं संपूज्य वस्त्रालंकारचन्दनैः।
श्रुत्वा गणपतेः खण्डं महाबन्ध्या प्रसूयते॥४५॥
मृतवत्सा काकबन्ध्या ब्रह्मन्पुत्रं लभेद्ध्रुवम्।
अदूष्यदूषणपरा शुद्धा चैव लभेत्सुतम्॥४६॥

Adoring Gaṇeśa offering with devotion, the garment and ornaments one should listen to the Gaṇapati Khaṇḍa and whosoever does so, even the totally barren one gets a son. O Brāhmaṇa, the lady who gives birth to dead children or is totally barren gets a son. The lady who blames other ladies with unblemished character is relieved of his sin and gets a son.

संपूर्णं ब्रह्मवैवर्तं श्रुत्वा यल्लभते फलम्।
तत्फलं लभते मर्त्यः श्रुत्वेदं खण्डमुत्तमम्॥४७॥

The merit one earns by listening to the entire Brahmavaivarta Purāṇa, the same merit is achieved by a person by listening to the Gaṇapati-khaṇḍa.

वाञ्छां कृत्वा तु मनसि शृणोति परमास्थितः।
तस्मै ददाति सर्वेष्टं सुरश्रेष्ठो गणेश्वरः॥४८॥

प्रदीयते वाचकाय स्वस्तिकं तिललड्डुकान्।
परिपक्वफलान्येव देशकलोद्भ्वानि च॥५०॥

The one who listens to the same keeping some desires in his mind, is bestowed with the fulfilment of the desires by lord Gaṇeśa. On listening to the Gaṇapati Khaṇḍa one should give away in charity the yajñopavīta of gold, a white umbrella, a rosary, sea-same, sweet balls and the fruits of the season. The one who recites the same for the removal of obstruction (his obstructions will be removed).

The praise for Viṣṇu and Vaiṣṇavas

Offering salutation to Nārāyaṇa and Nara the best of the humans, the goddess Sarasvatī and Vyāsa, one should thereafter recite the Jaya Purāṇa.

Nārada said- O Brahman, I have seen listened to the astonishing story of Brahma-khaṇḍa from the mouth of Brahmā, thereafter with his permission I went to him and also listened to the Prakṛti-khaṇḍa which was nectar-like sweet and thereafter I listened to the Gaṇapati Khaṇḍa which removes the cycle of birth and death for humans. But my unstable mind has not been satisfied. I therefore. intend to listen to some special type of story relating to the birth of Kṛṣṇa in the form of Kṛṣṇa Janma-khaṇḍa. Therefore you please narrate the same to me. It removes the cycle of birth and death among the humans and bestows salvation and the devotion of the gods. It is instrumental in developed attachment and also removes the disease of involvement in the worldly pleasures. It is the seed of redemption, is like a boat in the ocean of the universe, removes the ailments of several births after bearing the result of the same, serving at the form of the medicine. It serves as the step for the achievement of lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa and is the purifier of the entire universe. I happen to be your pupil having taken refuge with you. Therefore, you narrate the same to me quite extensively. At whose request did lord Kṛṣṇa appear or earth in all the aṁśas.

केन वा प्रार्थितः कृष्ण कुत्रवाऽऽविर्बभूव ह।
वसुदेवोऽस्य जनकः को वा का वा च देवकी॥ १०॥

In which yuga did he appear and for what reason and at which place on earth? Who was Vasudeva his father and Devakī his mother?.

वद कस्य कुले जन्म पायया सुविडम्बनम्।
किं चकार समागत्य केन रूपेण वा हरिः॥ ११॥

In whose rays was he born with this illusion? And what were the deeds performed by him in which form.

जगाम गोकुलं कंसभयेन सूतिकागृहात्।
कथं कंसात्कीटतुल्याद्भयेशस्य भयं मुने॥ १२॥

O sage, (it is leant) that being afraid of Kaṁsa, he disappeared from the labour room and was carried to Gokula but Kaṁsa happen to be like a small insect for him and he could appear in a dangerous form then was he afraid of Kaṁsa?

हरिर्वा गोपवेषेण गोकुले किं चकार ह।
कुतो गोपाङ्गनासार्धं विजहार जगत्पतिः॥ १३॥

The lord of the universe, arriving in Goloka what type of deeds were performed by him in the form of a cowherds? Where did he perform the divine dance with the cowherdesses?

का वा गोपाङ्गना के वा गोपाला बालरूपिणः।
का वा यशोदा को नन्दः किं वा पुण्यं चकार ह॥ १४॥
कथं राधा पुण्यवती देवी गोलोकवासिनी।
व्रजे वा व्रजकन्या सा बभूव प्रेयसी हरेः॥ १५॥

Who were the cowherdesses? Who was the child Gopāla? Who were Nanda and Yaśodā? What merit did they earn as a result of which the lord was born as their son? Why was the virtuous Rādhā, the dweller of the Goloka descended in Vraja and became the beloved of Kṛṣṇa?.

कथं गोप्यो दुराराध्यं संप्रापुरीश्वरं परम्।
कथं ताश्च परित्यज्य जगाम मथुरां पुनः॥ १६॥

How could the cowherdesses achieve the lord who is difficult to get even with devotion, as their spouse. Why did the lord leave Goloka and went to Mathurā?

भारावतरणं कृत्वा किं विधाय जगाम सः।
कथयस्व महाभाग पुण्यश्रवणकीर्तन॥ १७॥

O Brahman, you have listened to auspicious words and also recited them; therefore, O virtuous one, you kindly tell me that the lord who had actually incarnated on earth to rid her of the burden of the evil people, what did he actually do.

सुदुर्लभां हरिकथां तरणिं भवसागरे।
निषेकभोगनिगडक्लेशच्छेदनकर्तनीम्॥ १८॥
पापेन्धनानां दहने ज्वलदग्निशिखामिव
पुंसां श्रुतवतां कोटिजन्मकिल्विषनाशिनीम्॥ १९॥
मुक्तिं कर्णसुधारम्यां शोकसागरनाशिनीम्।
मह्यं भक्ताय शिष्याय ज्ञानं देहि कृपानिधे॥ २०॥

The auspicious story of the lord is quite inaccessible and serves as a boat to cross the ocean of the universe including the flatters of the deeds and removal of the pain. It serve as a burning wood for the sins and also destroys like fire many of the sins performed in the earlier births. It serves like nectar for the ear and relieves one of all the pain. O merciful one, you kindly enlighten a devotee like me who happens to be your pupil as well as.

तपोजपमहादानात्पृथिव्यां तीर्थदर्शनात्।
श्रुतिपाठादनशनद्व्रताद्देवार्चनादपि॥ २१॥
दीक्षायाः सर्वयज्ञेषु यत्फलं लभते नरः।
षोडशीं ज्ञानदानस्य कलां नार्हति तत्फलम्॥ २२॥

Because one earns merit by performing tapas, recitation of the name of the lord, performing great charity, visiting of the holy places on earth, listening to the recitation of the Vedas, fasting, vrata, adoration of the gods and performing of various yajñas; all these do not compare even one sixteenth part the listening to the glory of the lord.

पित्राऽहं प्रेषितो ज्ञानादानाय तव सन्निधिम्।
सुधासमुद्रं संप्राप्य को वाऽन्यत्पातुमिच्छति॥ २३॥

My father has asked me to seek the divine knowledge from you. After reaching the ocean of nectar who will seek the ordinary water.

नारायण उवाच

मया ज्ञातोऽसि धन्यस्त्वं पुण्यराशिः सुमूर्तिमान्।
करोषि भ्रमणं लोकान्पावितुं कुलपावन॥ २४॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- O purifier of the race, you are quite graceful, meritorious and quite an intelligent one. I am do realise this for purifying the universe you move around here and there on earth.

जनानां हृदयं सद्यः सुव्यक्तं वचनेन वै।
शिष्ये कलत्रे कन्यायां दौहित्रे बान्धवेऽपि च॥ २५॥
पुत्रे पौत्रे च वचसि प्रतापे चाऽऽपदि स्त्रियाम्।
वृद्धौ वैरिणि विद्यायां ज्ञायते हृदयं नृणाम्॥ २६॥

With the speaking of a few words, the mind of a person becomes clear. One know the mind through the pupil, the wife, the daughter, the son of the daughter brother, son, grandson, speaking, influenced wife, misery, elevation, enemy and learnings.

जीवन्मुक्तोऽसि पूतस्त्वं शुद्धभक्तो गदाभृतः।
पुनासि पादरजसा सर्वाधारां वसुंधराम्॥ २७॥

You are free from birth and death, are quite spotless and are the devout follower of lord Viṣ ṇu, the holder of gadā. You are purifying this earth with the dust of your feet.

पुनासि लोकान्सर्वांश्च स्वीयविग्रहदर्शनात्।
सुमङ्गलां हरिकथां तेन त्वं श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥ २८॥

You remove all the miseries the people by appearing before them. Because of this you are getting interested in listening to the story of the lord which provides prosperity.

यत्र कृष्णकथाः सन्ति तत्रैव सर्वदेवताः।
ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव तीर्थानि निकिलानि च॥ २९॥

Whosoever listens to the story of lord Kṛṣṇa or recites it all the gods, sages, ascetics and all the holy places reside there.

कथाः श्रुत्वा कथान्ते ते यान्ति सन्तो निरापदम्।
भवन्ति तानि तीर्थानि येषु कृष्णकथाः शुभाः॥ ३०॥
सद्यः कृष्णकथावक्ता स्वस्य पुंसां शतं शतम्।
समुद्धृत्या श्रुतवतां पुनाति निखिलं कुलम्॥ ३१॥

After listening to the sacred story of the lord and after his completion, the noble people achieve the infallible place of the lord. Wherever the story of lord Kṛṣṇa is recited the place is turned as the sacred one. The one who recites the story of lord Kṛṣṇa he redeems a hundred generations.

प्रष्टा तु प्रश्नमात्रेण पुनाति कुलमात्मनः।
श्रोता श्रवणमात्रेण स्वकुलं स्वस्वबान्धवान्॥ ३२॥
शतजन्मतपःपूतो जन्मेदं भारते लभेत्।
करोति जन्म सफलं श्रुत्वा हरिकथामृतम्॥ ३३॥

The one who puts a question about the same purifies his race with the putting of the question and the listener purifies his entire race together with the brothers and other relatives. After performing tapas for a hundred births one is born in the land of Bhārata to enable him to be successful in his births after listening to the story of the lord.

अर्चनं वन्दनं मन्त्रजपः सेवनमेव च।
स्मरणं कीर्तनं शश्वद्गुणश्रवणमीप्सितम्॥ ३४॥
निवेदनं तस्य दास्यं नवधाभक्तिलक्षणम्।
करोति जन्म सफलं कृत्वैतानि च नारद॥ ३५॥

Performing the adoration of the lord and the reciting of his mantra, performing pūjā reciting of his name always, performing kirtana, listening to his virtues with complete surrender serving as a slave or performing the nine types of adoration of the lord. O Nārada, performing all these acts, a person becomes successful in life.

न च विघ्नो भवेत्तस्य परमायुर्न नश्यति।
न याति तत्पुरः कालो वैनतेयमिवोरगः॥ ३६॥

Such a person never has to face obstructions and his life span never gets waisted and the god of death gets terrified from him like the serpent getting testified from Garuḍa.

न जहाति समीपं च क्षणं तस्य हरिः स्वयम्।
उपतिष्ठन्ति तूर्णं तमणिमादिकसिद्धयः॥ ३७॥

The lord never leaves him alone and all the siddhis like aṇimā and others, automatically reach him.

सुदर्शनं भ्रमत्येव तस्य पार्श्वे दिवानिशम्।
कृष्णाज्ञया च रक्षार्थं को वा किं कर्तुमीश्वरः॥ ३८॥

At the command of the lord, his Sudarśana-cakra always hovers round his devotees and as such no one can do any harm toys.

न यान्ति तत्समीपं च स्वप्नेऽपि यमकिंकराः।

ज्वलदग्निं यथा दृष्ट्वा शलभा न व्रजन्ति तम्॥ ३९॥
व्याधयो विपद: शोका विघ्नाश्च न प्रयान्ति तम्।
न याति तत्समीपं च मृत्युर्मृत्युभयान्मुने॥ ४०॥

As the fire-flies do not approach the place were the fire bums in flame, similarly the messengers of Yama never approach such a person even in dream. O sage, the diseases, misfortune, grief, obstructions never approach. him and because of the fear of destruction even the death avoids him.

ऋषयो मुनय: सिद्धा: संतुष्टा: सर्वदेवता:।
स च सर्वत्र नि:शङ्क: सुखी कृष्णप्रसादत:॥ ४१॥

The sages, the ascetics, siddhas and the gods remain always pleased with him. Because of the grace of lord Kṛṣṇa, he moves about fearlessly with comfort.

तव कृष्णकथायां च रतिरात्यन्तिकी सदा।
जनकस्य स्वभावो हि जन्ये तिष्ठति निश्चितम्॥ ४२॥

You have always been far attracted to the listening of story of lord Kṛṣṇa. Truly the nature of the father is inherited by son.

विप्रेन्द्र का प्रशंसेय जन्म ते ब्रह्ममानसे।
यस्य यत्र कुले जन्म तन्मतिस्तादृशी भवेत्॥ ४३॥

O Indra among the Brāhmaṇas, how shall I praise you, you are mind-born son of Brahma. The race from which one is born, he inherits the intelligence of similar type.

पिता विधाता जगत: कृष्णपादाब्जसेवया।
नित्यं करोति य: शश्वन्नवधाभक्तिलक्षणम्॥ ४४॥

Your father became the creator of the universe by the grace of lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa and he always remains devoted his lotus-like feet.

रति: कृष्णकथायां च यस्याश्रुपुलकोद्गम:।
मनो निमग्नं तत्रैव स भक्त: कथितो बुधै:॥ ४५॥

The intelligent people call only such a person as the true devotee of lord Kṛṣṇa who remains attracted towards the listening to the story of lord Kṛṣṇa with tears flowing from his eyes in emotion and he remains engrossed in the same position always.

पुत्रदारादिकं सर्वं जानाति श्रीहरेरिति।
आत्मना मनसा वाचा स भक्त: कथितो बुधै:॥ ४६॥

He treats with action, thought and behaviour, his son, wife and the entire family as having blessed by the lord. Such a person is considered to be a true devotee of the lord.

निर्जने तीर्थसंपर्के नि:सङ्गा ये मुदाऽन्विता:।
ध्यायन्ते चरणाम्भोजं श्रीहरेस्ते च वैष्णवा:॥ ४७॥

The one who devote himself at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa at the lonely places as well as the sacred places, he is called the true Vaiṣṇava.

दयाऽस्ति सर्वजीवेषु सर्वं कृष्णमयं जगत्।
यो जानाति महाज्ञानी स भक्तो वैष्णवो मत:॥ ४८॥

Those who are merciful on all the creatures, visualise the entire universe like Kṛṣṇa himself. Such great intellectuals are known as a Vaiṣṇava devotee of the lord.

शश्वद्ये नाम गायन्ति गुणं मन्त्रं जपन्ति च।
कुर्वन्ति श्रवणं गाथा वदन्ति तेऽतिवैष्णवा:॥ ४९॥
लब्धानीष्टानि वस्तूनि प्रदातुं हरये मुदा।
तूर्णं यस्य मनो हृष्टं स भक्तो ज्ञानिनां वर:॥ ५०॥

One who recites the name of the lord besides his virtues, reciting of the mantras performing japam and listens to the sacred story of the lord, he is indeed considered as great Vaiṣṇava. The one who offers the things desired by him to the lord with pleasure, such a devotee is considered to be best of the intellectuals.

यन्मनो हरिपादाब्जे स्वप्ने ज्ञाने दिवानिशम्।
पूर्वकर्मोपभोगं च बहिर्भुङ्क्ते स वैष्णव:॥ ५१॥

The one whose mind is always engrossed in the lotus-like feet of the lord throughout the day and night whether in sleeps or awake and who places the reward of the deeds performed by him in earlier births outwardly in an attached manner, he is called the true Vaiṣṇava.

गुरुवक्त्राद्विष्णुमन्त्रो यस्य कर्णे विशत्ययम्।
तं वैष्णवं महापूतं प्रवदन्ति मनीषिण:॥ ५२॥

The one in whose ear the mantra of the lord enters through mouth of his preceptor, he is called the great Vaiṣṇava.

पूर्वान्सप्त परान्सप्त सप्त मातामहादिकान्।

सोदरानुद्धरेद्भवतः स्वप्रसूं च प्रसूप्रसूम्॥५३॥

He redeems the earlier as well as the future seven generations of his parents and the maternal parents beside the relatives, the mother and mother of the maternal grandmother.

कलत्रं कन्यकां बन्धुं शिष्यं दौहित्रमात्मनः।

किंकरान्किंकरीश्चैवमुद्धरेद्वैष्णवः सदा॥५४॥

Such a Vaiṣṇavas redeems his wife, the daughter, brothers, pupils, son of the daughter beside the male and female servants.

सदा वाञ्छन्ति तीर्थानि वैष्णवस्पर्शदर्शने।

पापिदत्तानि पापानि तेषां नश्यन्ति सङ्गतः॥५५॥

All the holy places remain anxious in order to have a look at the true Vaiṣṇavas and with their contact all the sins of the sinners of those places get vanished.

गोदोहनक्षणं यावद्यत्र तिष्ठन्ति वैष्णवाः।

तत्र सर्वाणि सन्ति तावन्महीतले॥५६॥

At which ever place a Vaiṣṇava remains up to the time of the milking of the cows all the holy places reached that place.

ध्रुवं तत्र मृतः पापी मुक्तो याति हरेः पदम्।

तथैव ज्ञानगङ्गायामन्ते कृष्णस्मृतौ यथा॥५७॥

The people who die at such places are redeemed instantaneously and proceed to the abode of the lord, in the same way as a person at the time of death recites the name of the lord Kṛṣ ṇa or a person reciting the name of the Gaṅgā, meets with his death and achieves the abode of the lord.

तुलसीकानने गोष्ठे श्रीकृष्णमन्दिरे पदे।

वृन्दारण्ये हरिद्वारे तीर्थेष्वन्येषु वा यथा॥५८॥

The forest of Tulasī plants, abodes of the cows, the temples of lord Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana, Haridvara and other sacred places are considered to be quite auspicious and whose dies at such places surely reaches the abode of the lord.

पापानि पापिनां यान्ति तीर्थस्नानावगाहनात्।

तेषा पापानि नश्यन्ति वैष्णवस्पर्शवायुना॥५९॥

न हि स्थातुं शक्नुवन्ति पापान्येव कृतानि च।

ज्वलदग्नौ यथा क्षिप्रं शुष्काणि हि तृणानि च॥६०॥

The sinners are relieved of the sins after taking a bath at the sacred places. Their sins vanish with the touching of the air with the bodies of the Vaiṣ ṇava. The sins cannot sustain like the dry leaves, are sure to bum in the fire flames.

भक्तं वर्त्मनि गच्छन्तं ये येपश्यन्ति मानवाः।

सप्तजन्मार्जिताघानि तेषां नश्यन्ति निश्चितम्॥६१॥

Such of the people who have a look at the devotees walking on the road, the sins accumulated by them in the past seven births get destroyed with the casting of the glance at the devotee of the lord.

ये निन्दन्ति हृषीकेशं तद्भक्तं पुण्यरूपिणम्।

शतजन्मार्जितं पुण्यं तेषां नश्यति निश्चितम्॥६२॥

Such of the people who denounce the meritorious devotees of the lord, the merits earned by them during the past hundred births get destroyed.

ते पच्यन्ते महाघोरे कुम्भीपाके भयानके।

भक्षिताः कीटसंघेन यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥६३॥

Ultimately they fall into the terrific kumbhīpāka hell and remain there till the time of the sun and the moon and the insects eat them up.

तस्य दर्शनमात्रेण पुण्यं नश्यति निश्चितम्।

गङ्गां स्नात्वा रविं नत्वा तदा विद्वान्विशुध्यति॥६४॥

All the merits disappear at the sight of such people, such a person is purified after bowing in reverence to the sun taking bath in the Gaṅgā.

वैष्णवस्पर्शमात्रेण मुक्तो भवति पातकी।

तस्या पापानि हन्त्येव स्वान्तःस्थो मधुसूदनः॥६५॥

इत्येवं कथितो विप्र विष्णुवैष्णवयोर्गुणः।

अधुना श्रीहरेर्जन्म निबोध कथयाम ते॥६६॥

But the sinner is purified at the very sight of a Vaiṣṇava because such a Vaiṣṇava is always devoted to lord Madhusūdana and all his sins get destroyed. O Brahman, a thus I have narrated to you the virtues of Viṣṇu and Vaiṣṇavas now I am going to speak to you about the birth of lord Hari which you please listen.

Chapter - 2

The cowherds Virajā turns to the form of river

नारायण उवाच

येन वा प्रार्थित: कृष्णा आजगाम महीतलम्।
यं यं विधाय भूमौ स जगाम स्वालयं विभु:॥ १॥
भारावतरणोपायं दुष्टानां च वधोद्यमम्।
सर्वं ते कथयिष्यामि सुविचार्य विधानत:॥ २॥

Nārāyaṇa said- I shall narrate to you at whose prayer lord Kṛṣṇa incarnated on earthy the deeds performed by him in the universe, the efforts made by him to relieve the earth of her burden, besides killing of the wicked people.

अधुना गोपवेषं च गोकुलागमनं हरे:।
राधा गोपालिका येन निबोध कथयामि ते॥ ३॥

The arrival of lord Kṛṣṇa in the form of a cowherds in Goloka and the reason for incarnation Rādhā as a cowherds, is going to narrated by me, You please listen to it.

शङ्खचूडवधं पूर्वं संक्षेपात्कथितं श्रुतम्।
अधुना तत्सुविस्तार्यं निबोध कथयामि ते॥ ४॥

I had briefly spoken to you about the killing of Śaṁkhacūḍa, I am now narrating the same story in considerable details. You please listen to it.

श्रीदाम्न: कलहश्चैव बभूव राधया सह।
श्रीदामा शङ्खचूडश्च शापात्तस्या बभूव ह॥ ५॥

Once the cowherd named Śrīdāmā quarrelled with Rādhā as a result of which the latter had to be born as Śaṁkhacūḍa on earth.

राधां शशाप श्रीदामा याहि योनिं च मानवीम।
व्रजे व्रजाङ्गना भूत्वा विचरस्व महीतले॥ ६॥

Śrīdāmā also pronounced a curse on Rādhā to be born as a human being and to remain Vraja as a female roaming about in that place.

भीता श्रीदामशापात्सा श्रीकृष्णं समुवाच ह।
गोपीरूपा भविष्यामि श्रीदामा मां शशाप ह॥ ७॥
कमुपायं करिष्यामि वद मां भयभञ्जन।
त्वया विना कथमं धरिष्यामि स्वजीवनम्॥ ८॥

Thereafter with the curse of Śrīdāmā, Rādhā was afraid who spoke to Kṛṣṇa, "O lord, I shall have to be born as a cowherds because of the curse of Śrīdāmā, you tell me the remedy for the same, because without you how can I be reborn."

क्षणेन मे युगशतं कालं नाथ त्वया विना।
चक्षुर्निमेषविरहाद्भवेद्दग्धं मनो मम॥ ९॥
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्राभं सुधापूर्णाननं तव.
नाथ चक्षुश्चकोराभ्यां पिबाम्यहमहर्निशम्॥ १०॥
त्वमात्मा मे मन: प्राणां देहमात्रं वहाम्यहम्।
दृष्टिशक्तिश्च चक्षुस्त्वं जीवनं परमं धनम्॥ ११॥

O lord, without you a moment will be spent by me like yugas. Even separation from you of the twinkling of an eye disturbed me immensely. I actually consume the nectar-like the full moon of the winter season representing your glory, day and night like the partridge bird. You are toy soul and my life though I move about with this body. Therefore you happen to be my eye-sight, my eyes and the treasure of my life.

स्वप्ने ज्ञाने त्वयि मन: स्मरामि त्वत्पदाम्बुजम्।
तव दास्यं विना नाथ न जीवामि क्षणं विभो॥ १२॥

I always adore you while sleeping or awake and always meditate upon your lotus-like feet. O lord, O virtuous one, I cannot remain alive even for a moment without serving you.

कृष्णास्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा बोधयामास सुन्दरीम्।
वक्षमि प्रेयसीं कृत्वा चकार निर्भयां च ताम्॥ १३॥
महीतलं गमिष्यामि वाराले च वरानने।
त्वया सार्धं भूगमनं जन्म तेऽपि निरूपितम्॥ १४॥

On listening to the words of Rādhā, lord Kṛṣṇa to convince her. He embraced his beloved and reassured her variously saying, O beautiful faced one, in the Vārāha-kalpa. I shall walk on the surface of the earth and you will also be born with me at that time.

व्रजं गत्वा व्रजे देवि विहरिष्यामि कानने।

मम प्राणाधिका त्वं च भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते॥ १५॥

O goddess, we shall be born in Vraja and roam about in the forest, you are dearer to me than my life therefore why do you get afraid when I am there.

तामित्युक्त्वा हरिस्तत्र विरराम जगत्पतिः।

अतो हेतोर्जगन्नाथो जगाम नन्दगोकुलम्॥ १६॥

Kṛṣṇa, the lord of the universe; kept quiet after thus speaking. Because of this the lord of the universe went to Gokula.

The lord who removes the fears of others, how could he be afraid of Kaṁsa? Displaying his illusory fear he went to Rādhā and for the fulfilment of this words the performed the divine dance with Rādhā and other cowherdesses.

ब्रह्मणा प्रार्थितः कृष्णः समागत्य महीतलम्।

At the request of Brahmā, lord Kṛṣṇa incarnated on earth and relieved her of the burden and then went back too his abode.

नारद उवाच

Nārada said- Earlier you had mentioned about the dispute of Rādhā and Śrīdāmā briefly but currently you speak out to me the same in detail.

नारायण उवाच

एकदा साधया सार्धं गोलोके श्रीहरिः स्वयम्।

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- Once lord Kṛṣṇa was roaming about in the secluded place in Rāsamaṇḍala of Goloka.

Engrossed in the love sport with Rādhā, he was filled with illusion; that is why after performing of the love-sport, he left Rādhā and was engaged in the same play with a cowherds named Virajā. She happened to be as beautiful as Rādhā herself and lived in Vṛndāvana.

She had a hundred crores of beautiful cowherdesses as female friends. She happened to be dearer to Kṛṣṇa than his own life. She was seated on the gem-studded lion-throne and found lord Kṛṣṇa approaching her, who looked at her face which was shining like the full moon of the winter season.

She was smiling and casting side glance and was of tender age of sixteen, quite truthful, adorned in all the beautiful ornaments, wearing white garments. He was feeling emotion and passionate at the same time. Looking at her lord Kṛṣṇa enjoyed conjugal pleasures with her on the flowery bed in the secluded orchard.

She enraged Kṛṣṇa who appeared beautiful like crores of gods of love and enjoyed his company variously getting ultimately fainted. The lord however remained with her in the gem-studded maṇḍapa. The female friends of Rādhikā looked at this performance of lord Kṛṣṇa and reported the same to Rādhikā, On hearing the words of the female friends, Rādhikā was enraged and she started crying and her eyes were turned like the red lotus flowers. The great goddess then spoke to her female friends. In case you are telling me the truth then get along with me and show me the place, shall punish the cowherds together with lord Kṛṣṇa appropriately. I shall see who protects them from my ray.

O friend, you bring before me the cowherds and Kṛṣṇa here who happens to be wicked from with in but as a smiling race, filled with poison but coated with nectar. A few people will not be able to bring him here therefore let us move to the beautiful maṇḍapa and protect him.

She saw there a beautiful gate-keeper surrounded by a lakh of cowherds and had a smiling face. He happened to be Śrīdāmā, the best of the servants of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. He found Rādhā burning in anger and her eyes setting red like red-lotus flowers. She said to him, "O servant of a passionate lord, you remove yourself from this place to enable me to have a look at the beloved of your lord who is important then me."

Chapter - 3

Pronounce of mutual curse between Rādhā and Śrīdāmā

नारायण उवाच

राधा रतिगृहं गत्वा न ददर्श हरिं मुने।
विरजां च सरिद्रूपां दृष्ट्वा गेहं जगाम सा॥१॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, on her entry into the pleasure chamber Rādhikā could not find the lord and finding Virajā having been turned into the form of a stream she returned to her abode.

श्रीकृष्णो विरजां दृष्ट्वा सरिद्रूपां प्रियां सतीम्।
उच्चै रुरोद विरजातीरे नीरमनोहरे॥२॥
ममान्तिकं समागच्छ प्रेयसीनां परे वरे।
त्वया विनाऽहं सुभगे कथं जीवामि सुन्दरि॥३॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa finding that his beloved having been turned into a stream, he started crying seated on its bank and said, "O best of the beloved, you come to me immediately, O virtuous lady, O beautiful one, how shall I be able to remain alive without you"?.

नद्यधिष्ठात्रि देवि त्वं भव मूर्तिमती सती।

जलादुत्थाया चाऽऽगच्छ विधाय तनुमुत्तमाम्।
अष्टौ सिद्धीर्मया दत्ता: सुरसुन्दरि सत्वरम्॥६॥

You become the best of the streams on earth. O beautiful one, with my boon you become a beautiful damsel. As a matter of luck you be more beautiful then your original figure because your earlier body has been turned into the stream. Therefore with a beautiful body you emerge out of the water of the stream. O beautiful one, with that and in view I have bestowed upon you all the siddhis (success.

कृष्णाज्ञया च विरजा विधाय तनुमुत्तमाम्।
आजगाम हरेरग्रे साक्षाद्राधेव सुन्दरी॥७॥

Thereafter with the permission of lord Kṛṣṇa, Virajā emerged as Rādhā herself and stood before Kṛṣṇa.

पीतवस्त्रपरीधाना स्मेराननसरोरुहा।
पश्यन्तं प्राणनाथं च पश्यन्ती वक्रचक्षुषा॥८॥

Wearing a yellow lower garment and a serene smile on her face, the lotus faced damsel stood before Kṛṣṇa and started looking at him with side-glances.

She was carrying the weight of the heavy pelvic region besides the developed round breasts. She walked like a cow-elephant. She was a best of the beautiful ladies and most virtuous one, she had the complexion of beautiful campaka flower and her lips were resembling the ripe wood-apples. Her teeth were beautifully arrange like the pomegranate. Her face was having the lustre of the full moon of the winter season and her eyes were like blossoming lotus flower. She had a red spot of kastūrī on her forehead and she had beautiful hair on the head which was designed in an attractive manner. She wore the ear ornaments studded with gems beside the rosary of jewels. She wore a jewel in the nose and the necklace of jewels adorned her neck. She wore the armlets and wristlets of gems besides the ornaments of conch. The anklets worn by her produced the dazzling sound.

तां च रूपवतीं दृष्ट्वा प्रेमोद्रेकाज्जगत्पतिः।
चकाराऽऽलिङ्गनं तूर्णं चुचुम्ब च मुहुर्मुहुः॥ १५॥

Finding the beautiful damsel there, the lord of the universe embraced her lovingly and kissing her at the same time.

नानाप्रकारश्रृङ्गारं विपरीतादिकं विभुः।
रहसि प्रेयसीं प्राप्य चकार च पुनः पुनः॥ १६॥
विरजा सा रजोयुक्ता धृत्वा वीर्यममोघकम्।
सद्यो बभूव तत्रैव धन्या गर्भवती सती॥ १७॥

The lord enjoyed her company in a secluded place and also enjoyed the conjugal pleasure with her again and again. Thereafter the chaste Virajā bore the semen of the lord and was impregnated.

दधार गर्भमीशस्य दिव्यं वर्षशतं च सा।
ततः सुषाव तत्रैव पुत्रान्सप्त मनोहरान्॥ १८॥

She bore the divine semen of the lord for a hundred year and thereafter she gave birth to seven sons.

माता सा सप्तपुत्राणां श्रीकृष्णस्य प्रिया सती।
तस्थौ तत्र सुखासीना सार्धं पुत्रैश्च सप्तभिः॥ १९॥

Then the beloved of lord Kṛṣṇa became the mother of seven sons and she started dwelling there with her sons.

एकदा हरिणा सार्धं वृन्दारण्ये च निर्जने।
विजहार पुनः साध्वी श्रृङ्गारासक्तमानसा॥ २०॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र मातुः क्रोडं जगाम ह।
कनिष्ठपुत्रस्तस्याश्च भ्रातृभिः पीडितो भिया॥ २१॥

Getting attracted towards the make-up she again wandered with the lord in the secluded Vṛndāvana. At that very moment the youngest son rushed towards her getting afraid from his brothers and sat in her lap.

भीतं स्वतनयं दृष्ट्वा तत्याज तां कृपानिधिः।
क्रोडे चकार बालं सा कृष्णो राधागृहं ययौ॥ २२॥
प्रबोध्य बालं सा साध्वी न ददर्शान्तिके प्रियम्।
विललाप भृशं तत्र श्रृङ्गारातृप्तमानसा॥ २३॥

The merciful lord finding a son looking fearful disowned Virajā. She picked up the child in her lap and lord Kṛṣṇa retired to the abode of Rādhā, after consoling the child and pacifying him Virajā again came to the spot but could not find his beloved Kṛṣṇa there remaining dissatisfied in the conjugal pleasure, she started crying.

शशाप स्वसुतं कोपाल्लवणोदो भविष्यसि।
कदाऽपिते जलं केचिन्न खादिष्यन्तित जीविनः॥ २४॥

She then cursed her small son. You become the ocean of saline water as a result of which no one would be able to drink your water.

शशाप बालान्सर्वांश्च यान्तु मूढा महीतलम्।
गच्छध्वं च महीं मूढ जम्बुद्वीपं मनोहरम्॥ २५॥

द्वीपस्थाभिर्नदीभिश्च सह क्रीडन्तु निर्जने।
कनिष्ठो मातृशापाच्च लवणोदो बभूव ह॥२७॥

She then cursed her other sons also saying, "All of you should proceed to the earth, on reaching the present Jambūdvīpa, you cannot remain at one place, you remain in seven continents separately and live there quite comfortably you will remain in the secluded place and shall enjoy ,ourself in the waters of the rivers of the respective continents." Thus the youngest son of Virajā became the ocean of saline water because of the curse pronounced on him by his mother.

कनिष्ठः कथयामास मातृशापं च बालकान्।
आजग्मुर्दु:खिताः सर्वे मातृस्थानं च बालकाः॥२८॥
श्रुत्वा विवरणं सर्वे प्रजग्मुर्धरणीतलम्।
प्रणम्य चरणं मातुर्भक्तिनम्रात्ममूर्तयः॥२९॥

Thereafter the youngest son came to his brothers and apprised them about the curse of their mother. All of them felt painful and came to the mother and all of them bowed in reverence to her in devotion and started moving towards the earth.

सप्तद्वीपसमुद्राश्च सप्त तस्थुर्विभागशः।
कनिष्ठाद्वृद्धपर्यन्तं द्विगुणं द्विगुणं मुने॥३०॥
लवणेक्षुसुरासर्पिर्दधिदुग्धजलार्णवाः।
एतेषां च जलं पृथ्व्यां सस्यार्थं च भविष्यति॥३१॥

O sage, thus all of them were lodged in the seven continents surrounded by seven oceans. Thus the area of each one of them was doubled. All of them became the oceans of saline juice of sugar-cane, wine, ghee, curd, milk and water. The waters of these oceans would be particularly use for the crops on the earth.

व्याप्ताः समुद्राः सप्तैव सप्तद्वीपां वसुन्धराम्।
रुरुदुर्बालकाः सर्वे मातृभ्रातृशुचाऽन्विताः॥३२॥

All the seven oceans covered the earth having seven continents thereafter all of them started crying getting separated from the brothers and the mother. Virajā on the other hand getting separated from her husband as well as her sons started crying and she ultimately got fainted.

रुरोद च भृशं साध्वी पुत्रविच्छेदकातरा।
मूर्च्छामवाप शोकेन पुत्राणां भर्तुरेव च॥३३॥
तां शोकसागरे मग्नां विज्ञाय राधिकापतिः।
आजगाम पुनस्तस्याः स्मेराननसरोरुहः॥३४॥

Finding her so grief-stricken lord Kṛṣṇa the beloved of Rādhikā arrived at that place wearing a smile, on his face.

दृष्ट्वा हरिं सा तत्याज शोकं रोदनमेव च।
आनन्दसागरे मग्ना दृष्ट्वा कान्तं बभूव ह॥३५॥
चकार श्रीहरिं क्रोडे विजहार स्मरातुरा।
तां च पुत्रपरित्यक्तां हरिस्तुष्टो बभूव ह॥३६॥

Finding her lord there she stopped crying and also shed away the grief. She was engrossed in the ocean of bliss, because of her getting passionate she held the lord in embrace. The lord on his part felt delighted over Virajā who had been deprived of her sons.

वरं तस्यै ददौ प्रीत्या प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः।

यथा राधा तत्समा त्वं भविष्यसि प्रिया मम।
पुत्रान्द्रक्ष्यसि नित्यं त्वं मद्वरस्य प्रसादतः॥३८॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa then expressing pleasure from his face and eyes delightfully spoke to her, "O damsel, I shall surely visit your place daily withou fall." You are equally dear to me like Rādhā and with my blessings you will always have a look at your sons.

इत्युक्तवन्तं श्रीकृष्णं वसन्तं विरजान्तिके।

मत्तो बहुतराःकान्ता गोलोके सन्ति ते हरे।

याहि तासां संनिधानं मया ते किं प्रयोजनम्॥४२॥

When lord Kṛṣṇa was so speaking to Virajā, the female friends of Rādhā again went to her and informed her about the union of Kṛṣṇa and Virajā. Rādhā was immensely enraged and, went to chamber of anger burning with rage. In the meantime lord Kṛṣṇa also carried before Rādhā. O Nārada, Śrī Kṛṣṇa was standing at the door of Rādhikā with Śrīdāmā, Rādhā the goddess of divine dance finding them there started speaking in anger, "O lord Hari, you have many of the damsels in the Goloka who are dear to you like me." Therefore, you go to them, you will no more be concerned with me.

विरजा प्रेयसी कान्ता सरिद्रूपा बभूव ह।

नदस्य नद्या सार्धं च सङ्गमो गुणवान्भवेत्।

स्वजातौ परमा प्रीतिः शयने भोजने सुखात्॥४५॥

Your beloved Virajā getting afraid of me turned herself into the stream and is quite dear to you because you still to sit her. It would have been better if you had constructed a temple beside her abode and remain, there with her. Or in case of her becoming a stream you also become a river because the confluence of the rivers with streams is always beneficial and at the time of going to bed or eating with the like minded people, the develops love.

देवचूडामणेः क्रीडा नद्या सार्धमहो बत।

महाजनः स्मेरुमुखः श्रुत्वा सद्यो भविष्यति॥४६॥

Alas, you are enjoying love-sports with a stream being the lord of all the gods, on hearing this the noble people will laugh at you.

ये त्वां वदन्ति सर्वेशं ते किं जानन्ति तत्त्वतः।

भगवान्सर्वभूतात्मा नदीं संभोक्तुमिच्छति॥४७॥

Do all the people who claimed to you be their lord, will truly adore you now? Because becoming the soul of all the creatures the lord intends to enjoy the conjugal pleasure with the stream.

Thus speaking Rādhikā kept quiet. Because of her being in rage, he fell down on the ground and did not get up. She was surrounded by a lakh of her female friends and the attendants, some of them started moving the fly-whisks, some of them were holding the fine cloth in their hand, some of them were offering the betels or the rosary, scented water, lotus, vermilion, beverages, gem-studded ornaments collyrium for the eyes while some of them held flute and vīṇā or the combs in their hand.

Some of them were serving at the feet.

Crores of slaves were standing at the main gates while some of them held the canes in their hands and were of comparable age serving as a door keepers. All those gate-keepers prevented Kṛṣṇa from getting in. Finding lord Kṛṣṇa there Rādhā again starts speaking harsh words which were not proper and should not have been spoken being in proper.

राधिकोवाच

Rādhikā said- O Kṛṣṇa, O lord of Virajā, you leave this place and get out of sight, O Hari, you are unstable and the thief of love-sport, you are quite a degraded one. Why do you want to tease me? You immediately proceed to Padmāvatī, Manoramā, Ratnamālā or immensely beautiful Vanamālā.

O lord of the steam, O lord of the gods, O teacher of the gods, I have known you fully well. Therefore it will be in your interest to leave this place.

Because you had been always behaving like a degraded person. Therefore you leave this Goloka at once. And dwell on earth as a human being. O Suśīlā, O Śaśikalā, O Padmāvatī, O Mādhavī, you remove this cheat from here. What has he to do here?.

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, the slave cowherdesses spoke to Kṛṣṇa, the words which were beneficial truthful, meek and were quite appropriate, suiting the occasion. Some of them said, "O Hari you move to some other place for sometime and after the anger of Rādhikā is subsided, we shall come to bring you back."

काश्चिदूचुरिति प्रीत्या क्षणं गच्छ गृहान्तरम्।

O sage, some of the slave girls said to the lord, fill such time Rādhā is brought round you better go to Vṛndāvana. Some of the cowherdesses spoke jokingly to the lord, "O great lover, you better remove the anger of Rādhā with devotion.".

काश्चनोचुरितीशं तं याहि जायान्तरं तव।

Some of them spoke to the lord quite harsh words, "Who would be competent enough to look at the lotus-like face of the queen." Some of them said to the lord, "O Hari, you go to some other place for a moment and you come back again when her anger subsides.".

Thereafter some out-spoken cowherdesses spoke to the lord, we shall stop your entry into the chamber otherwise you go to your place. Some of the indiscreet cowherdesses removed the lord from that place and did not allow to move forward but the lord regained peaceful without anger, wearing a smile on his face and moved from that place.

When the cowherdesses did not allow the lord to enter the chamber of Rādhā, lord Kṛṣṇa went to another palace but Śrīdāmā was immensely enraged. He went to Rādhikā and spoke to her, though she was immensely angry and her eyes had become red like the red lotus flowers.

He is the one by serving whom you will become the best of the goddesses and by serving at whose feet you have become the great goddess. O goddess of welfare are, you not fully aware of him. All the Vedas recite the glory of the sixteenth, part of the lord but are unable to know about his reality. O damsel, are you not aware of him. O goddess, Brahmā, the creator of the Vedas go on reciting his glory with all the four mouths and serve at his lotus-like feet. Śiva the lord of yogīs with his five mouths always recites his glory and also serves at his lotus-like feet and with his mind filled with emotion he serves as his lotus-like feet. Śeṣa recited his glory with thousands of his moths with devotion and also served at his lotus-like feet. Dharma protects all besides being the witness of all he also serve at his feet being the lord of all. Viṣṇu the resident of Śveta-dvīpa who is all-pervading happens to be an aṁśa of the lord and has taken to the eternal form. All the gods, demons, sages, ascetics, intellectuals and humans continuously serve at his lotus-like feet but are unable to visualise him even in dream, you must serve at the lotus-like feet of lord Hari shedding away your anger because he can reduce the earth to ashes with a simple side-glance.

With the twinkling of an eye of the lord, Brahmā vanishes and with the spending of single day of the lord twenty eight Indras disappear. O Rādhā, he is the one having the age of hundred and eight years, the entire universe and the goddesses are being controlled by the same lord.

O Brahman, on hearing the words of Śrīdāmā which were quite harsh, Rādhā the beloved of lord was immensely enraged. At that point of time burning with rage her lips were uttering, the hair was dishevelled, the eyes became red like red lotus dower. She then came out and spoke very harsh-words.

राधिकोवाच

Rādhikā said- O degraded one, a food and servant of a thief, listen to me. You are well aware of everything I am not aware of your lord. O degraded one, lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be your lord alone and not of we people. Therefore, you get lost from here I am quite well-aware that you always praise your father and denounce your mother.

O foolish one, as the demons always denounce the gods similarly you have always been denouncing me. You will therefore, become a demon. O cowherd, you will fall from Goloka and will be born as a demon on earth. O foolish one, I have pronounced a curse on you. I shall see who comes to your rescue, Thus sneaking Rādhā, the goddess of the divine dance kept quiet and when she went to sleep her female friends started moving the fly-whisks with the handles decorated with gems.

श्रुत्वा च वचनं तस्याः कोपेन स्फुरिताधरः।
शशाप तां च श्रीदामा व्रजयोनिं च मानुषीम्॥ १०२॥

But on the other hand on hearing the words of Rādhā, the lips of Śrīdāmā also started uttering, he also cursed her to be born in a human race.

श्रीदामोवाच

मानुष्या इव कोपस्ते तस्मात्त्वं मानुषी भुवि।

छायया कलया वाऽपि परशक्त्या कलङ्किना।

Śrīdāmā said- O mother your anger is like an ordinary human being Therefore, with my curse you will also be born as a human being on earth. There is no doubt about it. With the shadow of the eternal force you will appear on earth but the foolish people will call you as the wife of Rāyaṇa. Vaiśya, who will be born of the Goloka of lord Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana.

रायणः श्रीहरेरंशो वैश्यो वृन्दावने वने।
भविष्यति महायोगी राधाशापेन गर्भजः॥
गोकुले प्राप्य तं कृष्णं विहरिष्यसि कानने॥ १०५॥

Because of the curse of Rādhā he would become a Mahāyogī in his mothers womb and shall be reborn as such. Thereafter you will achieve lord Kṛṣṇa Gokula and shall roam about with him in the forest.

भविता ते वर्षशतं विच्छेदो हरिणा सह।
पुनः प्राप्य तमीशं च गोलोकमागमिष्यसि॥ १०६॥

Thereafter you will be separated from the lord for a hundred years and thereafter getting united with him you would return to Goloka.

तामित्युक्त्वा च नत्वा च स जगाम हरेः पुरः।
गत्वा प्रणमम्य श्रीकृष्णं शापाख्यानमुवाच ह॥ १०७॥

Thus speaking to her and bowing before her Śrīdāmā went to the lord. He bowed in reverence to him and narrated to him the incident of the pronouncing of the curse.

आनुपूर्व्यात्तु तत्सर्वं रुरोद च भृशं पुनः।

He started crying again and again. At that point of time the lord said to him. Now you proceed on to the earth. There will be no other demon in the three worlds to over-power you. You will be the king of the demons and in due course of time you will meet with your end with the striking of the trident of Śiva and come back to Goloka. I am going to bless you that you will remain there for fifty yugas. On hearing the won of lord Kṛṣṇa, Śrīdāmā felt grief-stricken and spoke to him, I accept your command but you do not deprive me of your devotion on earth at any time. Thus speaking he bowed before the lord and came out of his āśrama.

पश्चाज्जगाम सा देवी रुरोद च पुनः पुनः।

श्रीदामाऽपि च तां नत्वा रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः।

Rādhā also started following him and started speaking while weeping bitterly. O son, where are you going? Thus speaking she lamented again and again. Śrīdāmā also bowed in reverence to her and cried aloud for a long time. Ultimately he became Śaṁkhacūḍa and husband of Tulasī.

गते श्रीदाम्नि सा देवी जगामेश्वरसंनिधिम्।
सर्वं निवेदयामास हरिः प्रत्युत्तरं ददौ॥ ११४॥

At the departure of Śrīdāmā, Rādhā also went to lord Kṛṣṇa and narrated the entire story to him. The lord then spoke to her.

शोकातुरां च तां कृष्णो बोधयामास प्रेयसीम्।
शङ्खचूडश्च कालेन संप्राप पुनरीश्वरम्॥ ११५॥

Finding Rādhā engrossed in grief lord Kṛṣṇa consoled her variously. In due course of time Śaṁkhacūḍa again became the attendants of the lord.

O sage, Rādhā went to the earth at the time of Vārāha incarnation of Viṣṇu and was born in Gokula in the house of Vṛṣabhānu.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं श्रीकृष्णाख्यानमङ्गलम्।
सर्वेषां वाञ्छितं सारं किं भूयः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥ ११७॥

Thus I have narrated to you the entire story of lord Kṛṣṇa which provides welfare in all the times and all the people desire to listen to it. What else do you want to listen from me?

Detailed description of Goloka

नारद उवाच

केन वा प्रार्थित: कृष्णो महीं च केन हेतुना।

आजगाम्र जगन्नाथो वद वेदविदां वर॥ १॥

Nārada said- O best of these well versed in the Vedas, at whose request lord Kṛṣṇa who happens to be the lord of the universe appeared on earth in human form and what was the reason for it.

नारायण उवाच

पुरा वाराहकल्पे सा भाराक्रान्ता वसुंधरा।

भृशं बभूव शोकार्ता ब्रह्माणं शरणं ययौ॥ २॥

Nārāyaṇa said - In earlier times during the Vārāha-kalpa, the earth was disturbed with the lord of the wicked people and was grief-stricken. She then went to Brahmā to take refuge with her.

सुरैश्चासुरसंतप्तैर्भृशमुद्विग्नमानसै:।

सार्धं तैस्तां दुर्गमां च जगाम वेधस: सभाम्॥ ३॥

Having been terrified immensely by the demons, the goddess earth accompanied with the gods, reached the inaccessible court of Brahmā,.

ददर्श तस्यां देवेशं ज्वलन्त ब्रह्मतेजसा।

ऋषीन्द्रैश्च मुनीन्द्रैश्च सिद्धेन्द्रै: सेवितं मुदा॥ ४॥

And found Brahmā the lord of the gods there illumining; with divine lustre and surrounded by a Ṛṣis, sages and siddhas delightfully.

जपन्तं परमं ब्रह्म कृष्ण इत्यक्षरद्वयम्।

Wearing a smile on his face, he was witnessing the dance of the apsarās, accompanied with the music by Gandharvas. He was reciting the two latter name of Kṛṣṇa, his eyes were filled with tears because of his devotion and the entire body had become sensational.

भक्त्या सा त्रिदशै: सार्धं प्रणम्य चतुराननम्।

कथमागमनं भद्रे वद भद्रं भविष्यति।

सुस्थिरा भव कल्याणि भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते॥ ९॥

O sage, the goddess Pṛthvī together with the gods bowed to the four faced Brahmā and told him the story of his suffering at the hands of the demons. Thereafter, getting emotional her eyes was filled with tears and while crying she started offering prayer to Brahmā. Looking at her Brahmā the creator of the universe said, "O noble lady, why ace you crying and offering prayer at the same time"? How have you arrived here?

Tell me at once. Surely you will meet with welfare, O prosperous one, why are you feeling panicky? You be composer.

आश्वास्य पृथिवीं ब्रह्मा देवान्पप्रच्छ सादरम्।

पीडिता येन भारेण पृथिवीयं पितामह।
वयं तेनैव दुःखार्तास्तद्भारहरणं कुरु॥ १३॥

Thus assuring the goddess of earth variously Brahmā asked the gods respectfully, "O gods, why have you arrived here"? You tell me the reason for it. On listening to the words of Brahmā the gods spoke to Prajāpati thus, O lord, the earth is suffering because of the weight of the demons and the people also suffering at the hands of the demons. You happen to be the creator of the universe and therefore you urgently search for a remedy for her. O Brahman, O grandsire, you are the only source for us; therefore you think of the ways and means to free ourselves from the torture of the demons since the goddess earth is suffering with the weight of the demons. He are also suffering at the hands of the demons therefore you kindly remove her burden.

तस्य सा वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच स्वपीडनम्।
पीडिता येन येनैवं प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा॥ १६॥

Listening to the words of the gods, Brahmā told them O goddess earth, you get relieved of the terror and be happy. I do something to relieve you of your misery. O lotus eyed one, I shall surely removed your burden and you will meet with prosperity. O noble lady, I shall surely move in the direction which brings welfare to you. On hearing the words of Brahmā, the goddess earth narrated to him details of her sufferings with a smiling face.

Her protection by anyone else has been denounced.

You are the father of the universe and are asking me. Therefore the people with the weight of whom I am suffering, I am going to tell you about them. Because I will not feel shy in narrating my tale to you.

O Nārada, the house was decorated with crores of invaluable and beautiful kalaśas of gems and diamonds decorated with vases of gems and the sweet sound of music was emerging from the same. The vīṇā and other musical instruments were being played upon with the beating or the double drums and their sound was quite pleasant. The songs relating to the glory of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa were being recited. All the gods felt surprised with the look of this astonishing type of houses they listened to the sweet music there and witnessed the best of the dance. All the gods stood there attentively and they felt attracted towards the sound of the music, Thereafter the gods spotted a gem-studded beautiful lion-throne which was as vast as a bow. It looked circular from all the sides. Various types of small vases made in gems were fixed to it. The astonishing types of puppets, the flowers and the artificial forests were painted in the same. O Brāhmaṇa, they witnessed an astonishing type of the mass of lustre which resembled the lustre to crores of suns, it was shining like the divine flames and its glory was spread on the height of seven tāla trees. The mass of lustre could snatch away the tejas of all and was pervading the entire āśramas, it was all-pervading, the seed of all and could dazzle the eyes of all.

All of them bowed before the mass of lustre. Thereafter all of them got up and went closer to the mass of lustre and looked at it quite carefully.

O Nārada, while looking at it carefully the hands of Brahmā, the creator of the universe were automatically folded, He made Śiva to stand on his right and Dharma to his left and with their mind filled with devotion, all of them started offering prayer to the lord, who is beyond the comprehension of everyone and is the great soul.

ब्रह्मोवाच

वरं वरेण्यं वरदं वरदानां च कारणम्।
कारणं सर्वभूतानां तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥९४॥

Brahmā said- I bow in reverence to the form of lustre who happens to be the best, bestower of the boons, the cause of the boons and the cause of all the creatures.

मङ्गलं मङ्गलानां च मङ्गलं मङ्गलप्रदम्।
समस्तमङ्गलाधारं तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥९५॥

He is the one who happens to be the prosperity for all the prosperities, bestower of prosperity and the base of all of them. I bow in reverence to the same lustre.

स्थितं सर्वत्र निर्लिप्तमात्मरूपं परात्परम्।
निरीहमवितर्क्यं च तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥९६॥

The one who is all-pervading, uninvolved, the form of Ātmana and beyond the comprehension of all, indifferent and the subject of discussion for everyone. I bow in reverence to that lustre.

सगुणं निर्गुणं ब्रह्म ज्योतीरूपं सनातनम्।
साकारं च निराकारं तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥९७॥
तमनिर्वचनीयं च व्यक्तमव्यक्तमेककम्।
स्वेच्छामयं सर्वरूपं तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥९८॥

The one who is of visible and invisible Brahman, the form of flame, eternal and ever lasting, having no qualities as well as possessing all the qualities, I bow in reverence to such a type of lustre. The one who is manifesto beyond description and unmanifest, the supreme one, the one who moves at will and is the form of all. I bow in reverence to such a type of lustre.

गुणत्रयविभागाय रूपत्रयधरं परम्।.
कलया ते कृताः सर्वे किं जानन्ति श्रुतेः परम्॥९९॥

He is the one who takes to three forms because of the three qualities (sattva, rajas and tamas). All the gods have emerged from your rays. You are beyond śruti and therefore no one can be aware of your true form.

सर्वाधारं सर्वरूपं सर्वबीजमबीजकम्।.
सर्वान्तकमनन्तं च तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१००॥

Therefore the one who is the base of everyone, the form of everyone the cause of everyone's without seed and is the cause of end of everyone and is beyond measures I bow in reverence to the divine lustre like this.

लक्ष्यं षड्गुणरूपं च वर्णनीयं विचक्षणैः।
किं वर्णयामि लक्ष्यं च तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१०१॥
अशरीरं विग्रहवदिन्द्रियं यदतीन्द्रियम्।
यदसाक्षि.सर्वसाक्षि तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१०२॥

You are the from of all the qualities, the only goal, are discussed by the people of wisdom always but how can I describe your invisible form? I bow in reverence to such a form of tejas. You are formless as well as with form, having the organ of senses and without them, you have no witness but you serve as a witness of all. I therefore adore the form of tejas.

गमनार्हमपादं यदचक्षुः सर्वदर्शनम्।
हस्तास्यहीनं यद्भोक्तृ तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१०३॥

You move at several places without feet, you can see everything without the eyes and can eat without the hands and the mouth, I bow in reverence to that lustre.

वेदे निरूपितं वस्तु सन्तः शक्ताश्च वर्णितुम्।
वेदेऽनिरूपितं यत्तत्तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१०४॥
सर्वेशं यदनीशं यतसर्वादि यदनादि यत्।
सर्वात्मकमनात्मं यत्तेजोरूपं नमाम्यहम्॥१०५॥

The intellectual are unable to truly visualise the form described in the Vedas but even the Vedas as conceived him beyond description. I, therefore, adore the form of that tejas. You are the one who is the lord of everyone and is otherwise also, the one who happens to be the beginning and end of everything, who happens to be the soul of everyone and also behave otherwise, I adore the form of that tejas.

अहं विधाता जगतो वेदानां जनकः स्वयम्।
पाता धर्मो हरो हर्ता स्तोतुं शक्ता न केऽपि यत्।।१०६।।

I am myself the creator of the universe and the Vedas, the protector of Dharma and the destroyer of the universe therefore there is no one else to offer prayer to you.

सेवया तव धर्मोऽयं पालने च निरूपितः।.
तवाऽऽज्ञया च संहर्ता त्वया काले निरूपिते।।१०७।।
निःशेषोत्पत्तिकर्ताऽहं त्वत्पदाम्भोजसेवया।
कर्मिणां फलदाता च त्वं भक्तानां च नः प्रभुः।।१०८।।

Dharma was deputed only to serve you. Śiva was entrusted at your command to serve as a destroyer for the prescribed period and I have become the creators of the universe because of my serving at your lotus-like feet. Because of you I bestow the reward for the deeds. Therefore you happen to be the lord of the devotees like us.

ब्रह्माण्डे बिम्बसदृशो भूत्वा विषयिणो वयम्।
एवं कतिविधाः सन्ति तेष्वनन्तेषु सेवकाः।।१०९।।

We are attracted towards the worldly elements in this universe like the word-apple. Similarly there are innumerable devotees of your sin the other globes.

यथा न संख्या रेणूनां तथा तेषामणीयसाम्।

एकैकलोमविवरे ब्रह्माण्डमेकमेककम्।
यस्यैव महतो विष्णोः षोडशांशस्तवैव सः।।१११।।

Since the particles of dust and atoms can never be counted similarly the number of your devotees cannot be counted but the one who is the creator of everyone's who can be competent enough to offer prayers to him because the Mahāviṣṇu one in whose hair-pit a complete globe is enshrined happens to be only the sixteenth part of your rays.

ध्यायन्ते योगिनः सर्वे तवैतद्रूपमीप्सितम्।
त्वद्भक्तदास्यनिरताः सेवन्ते चरणाम्बुजम्।।११२।।

All the yogis meditate upon your present, form and with their mind filled with devotion, your devotees always serve at your feet.

The sandal-paste, kastūrī, aguru, and saffron are applied over all the limbs and you are adorned with all the ornaments studded with gem, wearing a kirīṭ a-mukuṭa on the head, having the face of the fully blossomed lotus flowers of the winter season and the lips resembling the ripe wood-apples. You are the one having the teeth like the ripe pomegranate seeds, standing under the kadamba tree anxious to perform the divine dance with the cowherdesses, glancing at your smiling face, the one in whose chest Rādhā always dwells. Who will not be anxious to have a look at such a charming face of yours?.

Thus speaking Brahmā the creator of the universe, started bowing before him again and again. Similarly, Śiva and Dharma also offered prayers to him with their eyes filled with tears and bowing before him again and again. The gods also offered their prayer remaining there. O sage, in that āśrama all the gods were influenced with the lustre of lord Kṛṣṇa, whosoever will recite this stotra of lord Kṛṣṇa recited by Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Dharma after offering pūjā, with devotion daily, he will achieve the inaccessible and deep devotion of the lord.

इहैव विष्णुतुल्यश्च विख्यातः पूजितो ध्रुवम्।
वाक्सिद्धिर्मन्त्रसिद्धिश्च भवेत्तस्य सुनिश्चितम्।।१२५।।

This is inaccessible to the gods, the demons and the sages and if one gets the slavehood of the lord, all his siddhis including aṇimā and Sālokya and all the four types of salvation are achieved by him. He is adored in the universe like Viṣṇu and becomes famous like him. He attains success in speech as well as mantras.

He achieves all the fortunes sound health and his glory spreads in the universe. He achieves sons, knowledge, poetry and the indestructible riches. The goddess Lakṣmī always resides him. He becomes chaste and noble and all his people becomes stable. His glory pervades the universe for a long time and ultimately he achieves the abode of lord Kṛṣṇa.

The best of kaustubha gem worn by him was illuminating the environment. The gods also found Rādhā with beautiful figure within the mass of lustre. She was looking with her side-glance with a smile on her face towards his beloved. She had the line of teeth which could put even the jewels to shame. She had beautiful nails which were shining like the gems. The soles of her feet were tainted with saffron and were emitting beautiful shine. She was wearing the waist-band which was made of the best of gems and her pelvic region appeared quite graceful. She had the element of having been clad in the fine and valuable garment purified by fire. Her tinkling ornament was studded with the best of gems. Her nose resembled the beak of Garuḍa and her nose was decorated with the pearls. In her curly hair, the garland of jasmine flowers were decorated.

Her breasts were decorated with the rosaries of the best of diamonds. With the decoration of the garland of Pārijāta flowers, her costumes appeared more graceful.

भूषितां भूषणैः सर्वैः सौन्दर्येण विभूषितैः।
विस्मितास्त्रिदशाः सर्वे दृष्ट्वा तामीश्वरीं वराम्
तुष्टुवुस्ते सुराः सर्वे परिपूर्णमनोरथाः।।२०।।

She was looking beautiful adorned with all the ornaments. All the gods felt surprised having a look at, the goddess. Thinking in their mind that they were successful in their mission, they started eulogising her.

ब्रह्मोवाच

तव चरणसरोजे मन्मनश्चञ्चरीको
भ्रमतु सततमीश प्रेमभक्त्या सरोजे।
भुवनविभवभोगात्तापशान्त्यौषधाय
सुदृढसुपरिपक्वां देहि भक्तिं च दास्यम्।।२१।।

Brahmā said- O lord, the black-wasps of my mind who always roam about around your lotus-like feet and you bestow your devotion which should enable us to remove the sufferings emerging out of the riches of the universe and provide us; to remove the sufferings emerging out of the riches of the universe and provide us peace and your slavehood.

शंकर उवाच

भवजलधिनिमग्नश्चित्तमीनो मदीयो
भ्रमति सततमस्मिन्घोरसंसारकूपे।
विषयमतिविनिन्द्यं सृष्टिसंहाररूप-
मपनय तव भक्तिं देहि पादारविन्दे॥२२॥

Śiva said- My mind like the fish is floating in the ocean of the universe. Therefore removing the condemned action of the destruction of the universe and relieving me from the same, you bestow the devotion of your lotus-like feet.

धर्म उवाच

तव निजजनसार्धं संगमो मे मदीश
भवतु विषयबन्धच्छेदने तीक्ष्णखड्गः।
तव चरणसरोजे स्थानदानैकहेतु-
र्जनुषि जनुषि भक्तं देहि पादारविन्दे॥२३॥

Dharma said- O my lord, you bestow me a sharp sword which could destroy the fetters of worldly attractions and enjoy the company of your devotees. It happens to be the only way to serve at your feet. You bestow the devotion of your lotus-like feet in each one of my births.

इत्येवं स्तवनं कृत्वा परिपूर्णैकमानसाः।
कामपूरस्य पुरतस्तिष्ठन्तो राधिकापतेः॥२४॥

Thus offering prayers, having their desires fulfilled, all the three of them stood before Kṛṣṇa, the spouse of Rādhikā.

सुराणां स्तवनं श्रुत्वा तानुवाच कृपानिधिः।
हितं तथ्यं च वचनं स्मेराननसरोरुहः॥२५॥

On hearing the prayer of the gods, the compassionate lord Kṛṣṇa with a smiling face spoke to them, the beneficial and truthful words.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

तिष्ठताऽऽगच्छत सुरा मदीया नात्र संशयः।
शिवाश्रयाणां कुशलं प्रष्टुं युक्तं न साम्प्रतम्॥२६॥
निश्चिन्ता भवतात्रैव का चिन्ता वो मयि स्थिते।
स्थितोऽहं सर्वजीवेषु प्रत्यक्षोऽहं स्तवेन वै॥२७॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa said- O gods, you are my people there is no doubt about it. Therefore you come along and have your seats. Such of the people who has takes refuge with lord Śiva, it would not be proper to enquire about their welfare, is such you be rest assured at this place. How can you have any cause of worry when I am there. I pervade all the creatures, but I appear in person only after salutations.

युष्माकं यमभिप्रायं सर्वं जानामि निश्चितम्।
शुभाशुभं च यत्कर्म काले खलु भविष्यति॥२८॥

I am quite well-aware of the purpose of your arrival here. One gets the reward of good and bad deeds at the appropriate time.

महत्क्षुद्रं च यत्कर्म सर्वं कालकृतं सुराः।
स्वे स्वे काले च तरवः फलिताः पुष्पिणः सदा॥२९॥

O god, the big or the small appears, according to the time. The trees blossom according to the time.

परिपक्वफलाः कालेऽकाले पक्वफलान्विताः।
सुखं दुःखं विपत्संपच्छोकचिन्ताशुभाशुभम्॥३०॥
स्वकर्मफलनिष्ठं च सर्वकालेऽप्युपस्थितम्।
न हि कस्य प्रियः को वा विप्रियो वा जगत्त्रये॥३१॥
काले कार्यवशात्सर्वे भवन्त्येवाप्रियाः प्रियाः।
राजानो मनवः पृथ्व्यां दृष्टा युष्माभिरत्र वै॥३२॥
स्वकर्मफलपाकेन सर्वे कालवशं गताः।
युष्माकमधुना चैव गोलोके यत्क्षणं गतम्॥३३॥
पृथिव्यां तत्क्षणेनैव सप्त मन्वन्तरं गतम्।
इन्द्राः सप्त गतास्तत्र देवेन्द्रश्चाष्टमोऽधुना॥३४॥

At proper time they bear fruits and at proper time they have unripe fruits. The pleasure, pain, misery, wealth, grief, worries, good and bad appear before a person according to the result of his own deeds at suitable times. In fact, there is no one liked or hated in the universe. It happens according to time, that the unliked person is also liked. You have observed the conduct of the people like Manus and the kings. Bearing the results of their own deeds, all of them proceed to the heavenly abodes. The moment you have spent in the Goloka presently, during the same period on the earth seven manvantaras have elapsed, seven Indras have spent their times and currently the eighth Indras is in position.

कालचक्रं भ्रमत्येव मदीयं च दिवानिशम्।
इन्द्राश्च मानवा भूपा: सर्वे कालवशं गता:।।३५।।

My wheel of time rotates always; therefore even Indra, Manu and kings disappear according to the time.

कीर्ति: पृथ्व्यां पुण्यमद्य कथामात्रावशेषितम्।
अधुनाऽपि च राजानो दुष्टाश्च हरिनिन्दका:।।३६।।

At present only their glory, virtues, and the stories of their noble deeds are known on earth. Even now there are a number of kings who are wicked and denounce lord Hari.

बभूवुर्बहवो भूमौ महाबलपराक्रमा:।
सर्वे यास्यन्ति राजान: कालान्तरवशं ध्रुवम्।।३७।।

There had been several valorous kings on earth but all of them had ultimate to leave for the heavenly abode.

उपस्थितोऽपि कालोऽयं वातो वाति निरन्तरम्।
वह्निर्दहति सूर्यश्च तपत्येव ममाऽऽज्ञया।।३८।।

The time Is present even at the moment. With my command the wind always blows, the fire burns and the sun emits the heat.

व्याधय: सन्ति देहेषु मृत्युश्चरति जन्तुषु।
वर्षन्त्येते जलधरा: सर्वे देवा ममाऽऽज्ञया।।३९।।

O gods, the ailments appear in the bodies at my command, the death is influencing all the creatures and the clouds pour rain at my command.

ब्राह्मण्यनिष्ठा विप्राश्च तपोनिष्ठास्तपोधना:।
ब्रह्मर्षयो ब्रह्मनिष्ठा योगनिष्ठाश्च योगिन:।४०।।

The Brāhmaṇas are engaged in their respective duties, the ascetics are engaged in tapas, the Brahmarṣis are engaged in search of Brahman and yogīs are engaged in yogic practices.

ते सर्वे मद्भयाद्भीता: स्वकर्मधर्मतत्परा:।
मद्भक्ताश्चैव नि:शङ्का कर्मनिर्मूलकारका:।।४१।।

All of them are engaged in their respective dharma getting panicky from me, but my devotees who destroy the karmas are quite free.

देवा: कालस्य कालोऽहं विधाता धातुरेव च।
संहारकर्तु: संहर्ता पातु: पाता परात्पर:।।४२।।

O gods, I am death for the death, the creator for the creator and destroyer of the destroyer, besides being the protector of the protector.

ममाऽऽज्ञयाऽयं संहर्ता नाम्ना तेन हर: स्मृत:।
त्वं विश्वसृट् सृष्टिहेतो: पाता धर्मश्च रक्षणात्।।४३।।

Śiva became destroyer at my command that is why he is called Hara. You are the creator of the universe being the cause of the universe and because you protect them you become the protector of dharma.

ब्रह्मादितृणपर्यन्तं सर्वेषामहमीश्वर:।
स्वकर्मफलदाताऽहं कर्मनिर्मूलकारक:।।४४।।

I happen to be the lord of everyone, starting from Brahmā to a straw. I bestow the reward of ones own deeds and uproots the deeds.

अहं यान्संहरिष्यापि कस्तेषामपि रक्षिता।
यानहं पालयिष्यामि तेषां हन्ता न कोऽपि वा।।४५।।

Who can protect the creatures who are to be killed by me? Who could protect the creatures who are to be destroyed by me.

सर्वेषामपि संहर्ता स्रष्टा पाताऽहमेव च।
नाहं शक्तश्च भक्तानां संहारे नित्यदेहिनाम्।।४६।।

I happen to be the creator, the preserver and the destroyer of everyone but I am unable to destroy the devotees who have achieved the eternal body.

भक्ता ममानुगा नित्यमत्पादार्चनतत्पर:।
अहं भक्तान्तिके शश्वत्तेषां रक्षणहेतवे।।४७।।

The devotees always remain engaged in the adoration of my feet. Therefore, they follow me and I always remain with them for their protection.

सर्वे नश्यन्ति ब्रह्माण्डे प्रभवन्ति पुन: पुन:।
न मे भक्ता: प्रणश्यन्ति नि:शङ्काश्च निरापद:।।४८।।

In the universe everything ms destroyed again and again, reemerging at the same time, but my devotees never get destroyed but remain quite hail and hearty and freely roam about in the universe.

अतो विपश्चित: सर्वे दास्यं वाञ्छन्ति नो वरम्।
ये मां दास्यं प्रयाचन्ते धन्यास्तेऽन्ये च वञ्चिता:।।४९।

Therefore all the intellectuals aspire for achieving my slavehood and they do not aspire for any other boon. Graceful are the person who aspire for my slavehood and other people are deprived of it.

जन्ममृत्युजराव्याधिभयं च यमयातना।
अन्येषां कर्मिणामस्ति न भक्तानां च कर्हिचित्।।५०।।

Thus the birth, the death, the old age, ailment, fear and the torture of Yama are meant for other people and not for my devotees.

भक्ता न लिप्ता: पापेषु पुण्येषु सर्वकर्मिण:।
अहं धुनोमि तेषां च कर्मभोगान्सुनिश्चितम्।।५१।।
अहं प्राणश्च भक्तानां भक्ता: प्राणा ममापि च।
ध्यायन्ते ते च मां नित्यं तान्स्मरामिदिवानिशम्।।५२।।
चक्रं सुदर्शनं नाम षोडशारं सुतीक्ष्णकम्।
यत्तेज: षोडशांशोऽपि नास्ति सर्वेषु जीविषु।।५३।।
भक्तान्तिके तु तच्चक्रं दत्त्वा रक्षार्थमीप्सितम्।
न स्वास्थ्यं नच प्रीतिर्मे यामि तेषां च संनिधिम्।।५४।।

Because my devotees are never involved in sinful ways and always engage themselves in noble deeds and as such I surely destroy the result of their deeds, I happen to be the life of the devotees who daily meditate upon me while I myself recite their name daily. The Sudarśana-cakra with sixteenth spokes is very sharp and one-sixteenth of its lustre can destroy the entire universe, I don't feel satisfied; by giving away the cakra for the protection of my devotees. Therefore I myself remain with them always.

न मे स्वास्थ्यं च वैकुण्ठे गोलोके राधिकान्तिके।
यत्र तिष्ठन्ति भक्तास्ते तत्रतिष्ठाम्यहर्निशम्।।५५।।

I don't feel stable in the Goloka or with Rādhā as much as I do by remaining with my devotees whenever they stay.

प्राणेभ्य: प्रेयसी राधा स्थितोरसि दिवानिशम्।
यूयं प्राणाधिका लक्ष्मीर्न मे भक्तात्परा प्रिया।।५६।।

Though Rādhā is dearer to me than my life and she dwells always on my chest. But you devotees are much dearer for me than Lakṣmī.

भक्तदत्तं च यद्द्रव्यं भक्त्याऽश्नामि सुरेश्वरा:।
अभक्तदत्तं नाश्नामि ध्रुवं भुङ्क्ते बलि: स्वयम्।।५७।

O lord of the gods, I lovingly accept the offerings made ray devotees with deep sense of devotion but whatever is given by a none-believers to me is not accepted me at all. Such offerings are consumed by Bali himself.

स्त्रीपुत्रस्वजनांस्त्यक्त्वा ध्यायन्ते मामहर्निशम्।
युष्मान्विहाय तान्नित्यं स्मराम्यहमहर्निशम्।।५८।।

The devotees do not care for their wives, sons and others members of the family and spend towards the time only in adoring me. Therefore leaving you all, I always adore such of my devotees.

दुष्टा यदा मे भक्तानां ब्राह्मणानां गवामपि।
क्रतूनां देवतानां च हिंसां कुर्वन्ति निश्चितम्।।५९।।
तदाऽचिरं ते नश्यन्ति यथा वह्नौ तृणानि च।
न कोऽपि रक्षिता तेषां मयि हन्तर्युपस्थिते।।६०।।

That is why in case the wicked people troubles my devotees, Brāhmaṇas, cows, yajñas and gods, they get destroyed like the straw which in the fire. Such people cannot be protected by anyone till I am there.

यास्यामि पृथिवीं देवा यात यूयं स्वमालयम्।
यूयं चैवांशरूपेण शीघ्रं गच्छत भूतलम्।।६१।।
इत्युक्त्वा जगतां नाथो गोपानाहूय गोपिका:।
उवाच मधुरं वाक्यं सत्यं यत्समयोचितम्।।६२।।

Therefore, O gods, I shall incarnate on earth but all of you should return to your respective abodes. I shall incarnate on earth from my Goloka. Having been thus spoken to the gods, the lord of the universe, called for the cowherds and cowherdesses and talked to them appropriately according to the time.

गोपा गोप्यश्च शृणुत यात नन्दव्रजं परम्।
वृषभानुगृहे क्षिप्रं गच्छ त्वमपि राधिके॥६३॥

He said, "O cowherds and cowherdesses listen to me, you go to Vraja on earth and O Rādhikā, you proceed to the abode of Vṛṣabhānu."

वृषभानुप्रिया साध्वी नन्दगोपकलावती।

तस्या गृहे जन्म लभ शीघ्रं नन्दव्रजं व्रज।
त्वामहं बालरूपेण गृह्णामि कमलानने॥६६॥

Vṛṣabhānu has a loving queen known as the chaste loving queen known as the chaste Kalāvatī who happened to be the daughter of Subala and was born out of the aṁśa of Kamalā, she was the mind born daughter of the manes and is considered to be quite graceful among the ladies. In earlier times she was born in Vraja with the curse of Durvāsā. O louts faced one, you go and take your birth in that house. Therefore, you go to Vraja of Nanda, I shall own you there from my childhood.

त्वं मे प्राणाधिका राधे तव प्राणाधिकोऽप्यहम्।
न किंचिदावयोर्भिन्नमेकाङ्गं सर्वदैव हि॥६७॥

O Rādhā, you are dearer to me than my life even and I am like the same to you. There has been no point of separation or difference between us. Both of us have one and the same form.

श्रुत्वैवं राधिका तत्र रुरोद प्रेमविह्वला।
पपौ चक्षुश्चकोराभ्यां मुखचन्द्रं हरेर्मुने॥६८॥

O sage, on hearing this, Rādhikā getting infatuated with love kept on crying and started starring at the face of the lord with her eyes.

जनुर्लभत गोपाश्च गोप्यश्च पृथिवीतले।
गोपानामुत्तमानां च मन्दिरे मन्दिरे शुभे॥६९॥

O cowherds and cowherdesses, you are also to be born on earth in the divine houses of the cowherds.

In the meantime all of them found a divine chariot there which was built with precious gems and studded with rubies. It had a lakh of white fly-whisks, ten thousands mirrors, fine clothes, sanctified by fire, having thousands of pitchers built in gems, having large number of garlands of Pārijāta flowers and had a number of the best of courtiers. It was like gold, auspicious, possessing lustre and had the glory like hundreds of suns.

In that a human being was seated having dark-complexion, with charming appearance, holding śaṁkha, cakra, gadā and padma. He wore yellow lower garments, kirīṭa crown, kuṇḍalas and the long garland of forest flowers. His body was plastered with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron. He had four arms and had a smiling face and was anxious to shower his grace on his devotees. He was adorned with all the ornaments studded with gems.

Thereafter, the gods, goddesses and the cowherdesses also took their seats. Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Kāmadeva would be born as the son of Rukmiṇī, he would be married with Māyāvatī, the daughter of Śambrāsura, who would be the reflection of Satī. You will be the son born to her and will be known by the name of Aniruddha, Bhāratī would be born as the daughter of Bāṇāsura in Śoṇitapura. The lord of the universe would be born from the womb of Rohiṇī, he would be known also with the name of Saṁkarṣaṇa because the foetus would be drawn from the womb of Devakī and transplanted in to the womb of Rohiṇī by means of illusion. In the land of Bhārata Kālindī, the daughter of Sūrya would be born out of the rays of the Gaṅgā. With half of her aṁśa, Tulasī would be born as princess Lakṣmaṇā. Sāvitrī the mother of the Vedas would be born as the daughter of Nagnajit and would be known with the name of Satyā. Vasundharā would be born as Satyabhāmā and Sarasvatī would be born as Śaivyā. Rohiṇī would be born as the princess named Mitravindā, Sañjñā the wife of Sūrya would be born as Ratnamālā by her ray or Ratnamālā of Jagatsvāmī. Suśīlā would be born of the aṁśa of Svāhā besides nine other ladies including Rukmiṇī. Durgā would be born from half of her aṁśa as Jāmbavatī. These would be the ten chief queens the names of whom are given by me. Pārvatī from half of her aṁśa would proceed to the house of Jāmbavān. This had been ordained by Śiva himself at Kailāsa for Pārvatī. He had said., "O damsel, you provide your embrace to lord Viṣṇu who had arrived at Kailāsa from Śveta-dvīpa. If you do so at my command, you would not earn any sin.

ब्रह्मोवाच

Brahmā said- O lord of Rādhikā, in earlier times how did Śiva commanded Pārvatī to do so in favour of Viṣṇu the dweller of Śveta-dvīpa.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

पुरा गणेशं द्रष्टुं च प्रजग्मुः सर्वदेवताः।

The lord said- In earlier times all the gods reached Kailāsa to have a look at the child Gaṇeśa. Viṣṇu also arrived from Śveta-dvīpa.

He was immensely pleased while looking at Gaṇeśa and comfortably took his seat. At that point of time all the people present there had a glance of the face of lord Viṣṇu which could attract the entire universe, he was wearing kirīṭa-crown, kuṇḍalas and clad in yellow garment. He was quite youthful, having dark complexion and his body was plastered with sandal-paste, kastūrī, aguru and saffron and he was adorned with gem-studded ornaments. He wore a smile over his face.

He was seated on a gem-studded lion-throne and was surrounded by his courtiers. All the gods offered their salutations to him. Śiva also adored him performing pūjā.

Looking at Viṣṇu, the mind and eyes of Pārvatī were filled with delight. At this Pārvatī felt shy and covered her face with a piece of cloth but she looked at the charming face of Viṣṇu again and again and covering her mouth with a piece of cloth, she then looked at Viṣṇu delightfully with a side-glance and wearing a smile on her face, she was engrossed in bliss and her hair of the body stood at end.

In a moment she looked at Śiva having five faces and fair complexion, with three eyes, holding a trident, paṭṭiśa and looked more beautiful than the crores of the gods of love. Then in the next moment she had a look at Viṣṇu who was dark-complexioned having a single face, two eyes, four arms, clad in a pītāmbara and wearing a long garland of forest flower round his neck. Looking at him, she started thinking in her mind, "Brahma is one but he had created different types of figures". Thus thinking the passion in the mind Pārvatī was aroused.

मदंशाश्च त्रयो देवा ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।

She thought that in spite of the fact that Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva, all the three of them had emerged from her aṁśa, in spite of that Viṣṇu happens to be the most superior and preserves sattvaguṇa in him.

But feelings of Durgā were well understood by Śiva himself, who was the lord of world and living in the heart of all creature.

Śiva said-O daughter of the mountain, you listen to my request, you provide the conjugal pleasure to lord Viṣṇu, because myself, Brahmā and Viṣṇu represent the everlasting Brahman. The god are without differentiation and the worldly pleasures create difference in the form. Prakṛti happened to be the one for all. You happen to be mother in all the forms. You happen to be Sarasvatī in the heart of Brahmā, Lakṣmī in the heart of Nārāyaṇa and Durgā in my heart. Therefore, O chaste lady, you listen to my divine words. On hearing the words of Śiva, Pārvatī the goddess of all them spoke.

भूमौ कतिविधे भूपे संस्थिते पार्वती कथम्।
ललाभ भारते जन्म निन्दिते भल्लुके गृहे॥१७३॥

Brahmā said- Why did, Pārvatī take a birth in a degraded race of bears, when there were many royal families on earth?.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

रामावतारे त्रेतायां देवांशाश्च ययुर्महीम्।
हिमालयांशो भल्लूको जाम्बवान्नाम किंकरः॥१७४॥
रामस्य वरदानेन चिरंजीवी श्रिया युतः।
कोटिसिंहबलाधानं विधत्ते च महाबलः॥१७५॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa said- In the Tretāyuga, at the time of incarnation of Rāma, all the gods as had to appear on earth in various forms. Out of them, from the aṁśa of Himalaya, my servant named, Jāmbavān was also born, he enjoyed long life because of the boon of Rāma. He was quite virtuous, possessed great prowess and had a strength of crores of lions.

पितुरंशगृहे दुर्गा जगामांशेन भूतलम्।
पूर्वं पूर्वस्य वृत्तान्तं कथितं शृणु मन्मुखात्॥१७६॥

At that time Pārvatī having an Goloka of her father emerged on the earth. Now you listen to an earlier story in this connection for my mouth.

सर्वेषां च सुराणां वै वंशा गच्छन्तु भूतलम्।
नृपपुत्रा मत्सहाया भविष्यन्ति रणे विधे॥१७७॥

The aṁśas of all the gods would be born on earth and becoming princes participate in the war.

कमलाकलया सर्वा भवन्तु नृपकन्यकाः।
मन्महिष्यो भविष्यन्ति सहस्राणां च षोडश॥१७८॥

From the aṁśa of Kamlā, all the princesses were to be born to become my wife numbering sixteen thousand.

धर्मोऽयमंशरूपेण पाण्डुपुत्रो युधिष्ठिरः।
वायोरंशाद्भीमसेनः स वज्री ह्यर्जुनः स्वयम्॥१७९॥
नकुलः सहदेवश्च स्ववैद्यांशसमुद्भवौ।
सूर्यांशः कर्णवीरश्च विदुरः स यमः स्वयम्॥१८०॥

From his aṁśa Dharma would be born as Yudhiṣṭhira, Bhīmsena would be born of the aṁśa of Vāyu, Arjuna would be born as the aṁśa of Indra, while Nakul and Sahadeva would be born from the aṁśa of Aśvinīkumāra. The valorous Karṇa would be born from the aṁśa of Sūrya and while Yama would appear in the form of Vidura.

दुर्योधनः कलेरंशः समुद्रांशश्च शंतनुः।
अश्वत्थामा शंकरांशो द्रोणो वह्न्यंशसंभवतः॥१८१॥
हुताशनांशो भगवान्धृष्टद्युम्नो महाबलः।
चन्द्रांशोऽप्यभिमन्युश्च भीष्मश्चैव वसूद्भवः॥१८२॥
वसुदेवः कश्यपांशोऽप्यदित्यंशा च देवकी।
वस्वंशो नन्दगोपश्च यशोदा वसुकामिनी॥१८३॥

Duryodhana would be born of the aṁśa of Kali, Śantanu would be born from the aṁśa of ocean, Aśvatthāmā would be born from the aṁśa of Śiva while Droṇa would be born of the aṁśa of the god of fire. The great warrior Dhṛṣṭ adyumna was born from the aṁśa of Hutāśana while Abhimanyu was born of the aṁśa of the moon; Bhīṣma was born of the aṁśa of Vasu while Vasudeva was born of the aṁśa of Kaśyapa. Devakī was born of the aṁśa of Diti, the cowherd Nanda was born from the aṁśa of Vasu and his wife Yaśodā was also born from the aṁśa of Vasu.

द्रौपदी कमलांशा च यज्ञकुण्डसमुद्भवा।
सुभद्रा शतरूपांशा देवकीगर्भसंभवः॥१८४॥

From the aṁśa of Kamalā, Draupdī emerged out of the fire altar; from the womb of Devakī, Subhadrā was born from the aṁśa of Śatarūpā.

देवा गच्छन्तु पृथिवीमंशेन मारहारकाः।
कलया देवपत्न्यश्च गच्छन्तु पृथिवीतलम्॥१८५॥

Thus in order to rid the earth from her burden all the gods and goddesses appeared on earth with their respective aṁśas.

इत्येत्रमुक्त्वा भगवान्विरराम च नारद।
सर्वं त्रिवरणं श्रुत्वा तत्रोवास प्रजापतिः॥१८६॥

O Nārada, thus speaking the lord kept quiet. On hearing these words, Brahmā came back and took his seat.

कृष्णास्य वामे वाग्देवी दक्षिणे कमलालया।
पुरतो देवताः सर्वाः पार्वती चापि नारद॥१८७॥
गोप्यो गोपाश्च परितो राधा वक्षःस्थलस्थिता।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे सा च तमुवाच व्रजेश्वरी॥१८८॥

Nārada, Sarasvatī was lodged to the left of lord Kṛṣṇa while Lakṣmī stood to the right, all the gods were facing him besides Pārvatī. Rādhikā was enshrined in the heart of cowherds and cowherdesses. In the meantime Vrajeśvarī Rādhikā said to the lord.

राधिकोवाच

शृणु नाथ प्रवक्ष्यामि किंकरीवचनं प्रभो।
प्राणा दहन्ति सततमान्दोलयति मे मनः॥१८९॥
चक्षुर्निमीलनं कर्तुमशक्ता तव दर्शने।
त्वया विना कथं नाथ यास्यामि धरणीतलम्॥१९०॥

Rādhikā said-O lord, you kindly listen to a small servant like me. O lord my life is burning all the time and the mind is unstable. I am unable to separate from you even when close my eyes or even winking there for a moment. how shall I be able to move on to the earth alone without you?

कियत्कालान्तरेणैव मेलनं मे त्वया सह।
प्राणेश्वर ब्रूहि सत्यं भविष्यत्येव गोकुले॥१९१॥

O lord of my life, tell me truthfully the period after which both of us would unite in Gokula.

निमेषं च युगशतं भविता मे त्वया विना।
कं द्रक्ष्यामि क्व यास्यामि को वा मां पालयिष्यति॥१९२।
मातरं पितरं बन्धुं भ्रातरं भगिनीं सुतम्।
त्वया विनाऽहं प्राणेश चिन्तयामि न कंचन॥१९३॥

Without you a moment is like a yuga for me. Whom shall I look at on earth. Where shall I go? O lord of my life, with you I never bother about my mother, my father, my relatives, my brothers, my sister and even the son.

करोषि मायया छन्नां मां चेन्मायेश भूतले।
विस्मृतां विभवं दत्त्वा सत्यं मे शपथं कुरु॥१९४॥
अनुक्षणं मम मनोमधुपो मधुसूदन।
करोतु भ्रमणं नित्यं समाध्वीक पदाम्बुज॥१९५॥
यत्र यत्र च यस्यां वा योनौ जन्म भवत्विदम्।
त्वं स्वस्य स्मरणं दास्यं मह्यं दास्यसि वाञ्छितम्॥१९६

O lord of illusion, in case you want to send me to the earth with your illusion, then you give me a solemn promise, O Madhusūdana, let the black-wasps of my mind always roam about around your lotus-like feet to extract the money. Wherever and whenever I am born in any form, you would always own me and provide me your slavehood.

कृष्णास्त्वं राधिकाऽहं च प्रेमसौभाग्यमावयोः।
न विस्मरामि भूमौ च देहि मह्यं वरं परम्॥१९७॥
यथा तन्वा सह प्राणाः शरीरं छायया सह।
तथाऽऽवयोर्जन्म यातु देहि मह्यं वरं विभो॥१९८॥

Even after descending on earth you as Kṛṣṇa and myself as Rādhikā should never separate of forget each other. You kindly bestow the boon on me. O all pervading one as the life follows the body and the shade also follows the same, therefore, both of us should be born together. This is the boon which I desire from you.

चक्षुर्निमेषविच्छेदो भविता नाऽऽवयोर्भुवि।
तत्राऽऽगत्यापि कुत्रापि देहि मह्यं वर प्रभो॥१९९॥

O lord on arriving the earth, there should be no separation between us even for a while. You kindly grant this boon to me.

मम प्राणैस्तव तनुः केन वा करुणा हरे।
आत्मना मुरलीपादौ मनसा वा विनिर्मितौ॥२००॥
स्त्रियः कतिविधाःसन्ति पुरुषा वा पुरुष्टुतः।
नास्तिकुत्रापिकान्ता वाकान्त्या शक्त्या च मादृशी॥२०१॥

O Hari, your body should remain alive with my life. The flute should be made of my body and your feet should be made by my mind. There are several people in the universe who adore each other but there is no other damsel equal to me in glory and prowess on earth.

तव देहार्धभागेन केन वाऽहं विनिर्मिता।
अयमेवाऽऽवयोर्भेदो नास्त्यतस्त्वयि मे मनः॥२०२॥

Who has created me from half of your body, there is therefore no difference between us and my mind always remains devoted to you.

ममाऽऽत्मा मानसं प्राणास्त्वयि संस्थापिता यथा।
तवाऽऽत्ममानसप्राणा मयि वा संस्थितास्तथा॥२०३॥

My mind, my soul and my life always remain devoted to you, similarly your mind, life and soul should always remain devoted to me.

अतो निमेषविरहादात्मनोर्विक्लवं मनः।
प्रदग्धं सततं प्राणा दहन्ति विरहश्रुतौ॥२०४॥

Therefore even a moment's separation disturbs me. With the very hearing of the separation from you, me life gets disturbed.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा सा देवी तत्रैव सुरसंसदि।
भूयो भूयो रुरोदोच्चैर्धृत्वा तच्चरणाम्बुजम्॥२०५॥

Thus speaking, in the assembly of gods, Rādhikā fell on the feet of the lord and started crying aloud.

कोडे कृत्वा तु तां कृष्णो मुखं संमृज्य वाससा।
बोधयामास विविधं सत्यं तथ्यं हितं वचः॥२०६॥

Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa took her in his lap and rinsed her face with a piece cloth. He then spoke soft beneficial, and truthful words consoling her at the same time.

आध्यात्मिक पर योग शोकच्छेदन कारकम्।
शृणु देवि प्रवक्ष्यामि योगीन्द्राणां च दुर्लभम्॥२०७॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa said- I am going to reveal before you the best of the divine yoga, which removes mental agony and is beyond the reach of the great yogis, you listen to me.

आधाराधेययोः सर्वं ब्रह्माण्डं पश्य सुन्दरि।
आधारव्यतिरेकेण नास्त्याधेयस्य संभवः॥२०८॥
फलाधारं च पुष्पं च पुष्पाधारं च पल्लवम्।
स्कन्धश्च पल्लवाधारः स्कन्धाधारस्तरुः स्वयम्॥२०९।

O beautiful one, the entire universe has been divided between the one who takes the shelter and the place of shelter. In both of them, there could be no possibility of any difference from the one who takes refuge and the base of such refuge.

The base of fruit is the flower and the base of the flower is the tender leaves, the base of the tender leaves or and the base of branches is the tree itself.

वृक्षाधारोऽप्यङ्कुरश्च जीवशक्तिसमन्वितः।
अष्टिरेकाऽङ्कुराधारश्चाऽस्याधारो वसुंधरा॥२१०॥
शेषो वसुंधराधारः शेषाधारो हि कच्छपः।
वायुश्च कच्छपाधारो वाय्वाधारोहऽमेव च॥२११॥
ममाऽऽधारस्वरूपा त्वं त्वयि तिष्ठामि सांप्रतम्।
त्वं च शक्तिसमूहा च मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी॥२१२॥
त्वं शरीरस्वरूपाऽसि त्रिगुणाधाररूपिणी।
तवाऽऽत्माऽहं निरीहश्च चेष्टावांश्च त्वया सह॥२१३।

Sprouting is the base of the tree which produces the life in the tree. The seeds is the base of sprouting and the base of the seed happens to the earth. The base of the earth is the Śeṣa and the base of Śeṣa is the tortoise, the base of tortoise is the wind and the base of wind is in me you happen to be my base, because I always remain in you. You happen to be the cluster of strength and also the great goddess known as Mūlaprakṛti. You appear in human form and are also the base of all the three guṇas. I happen to be your soul and coming in contact with you I get activity.

पुरुषाद्वीर्यमुत्पन्नं वीर्यात्संततिरेव च।
तयोराधाररूपा च कामिनी प्रकृतेः कला॥२१४॥

The semen emerges from the man and from the semen emerges the progeny and the woman happen to be the base of both of them representing Prakṛti.

विनादेहेन क्वाऽऽत्माच क्वशरीरं विनाऽऽत्मना।
प्राधान्यं च तयोर्देविविना त्वाद्यांकुतो भवः॥२१५॥

There could be no soul without the body and without the soul there could be no body. O goddess though both of them have their own importance but the things of earth cannot move without both of them.

न कुत्राप्याऽऽवयोर्भेदो राधे संसारबीजयोः।
यत्राऽऽत्मा तत्र देहं च न भेदो विनयेन किम्॥२१६॥
यथा क्षीरे च धावल्यं दाहिका च हुताशने।
भूमौ गन्धो जले शैत्यं तथा त्वयि मयि स्थितिः॥२१७
धावल्यदुग्धयोरैक्यं दाहिकानलयोर्यथा।
भूगन्धजलशैत्यानां नास्ति भेदस्तथाऽऽवयोः॥२१८॥
मया विना त्वं निर्जीवा चादृश्योऽहं त्वया विना।
त्वया विना भवं कर्तुंनालं सुन्दरि निश्चितम्॥२१९॥

O Rādhā, in the form of seeds there is no difference between both of us wherever there is the soul there is the body. Both of them cannot be separated from each other as the whiteness which is integral part of the milk, the power of burning is an integral part of fire, coolness is the integral part of the water; similar is the case with both of us. As the whiteness cannot be separated from the milk, the power of burning cannot be separated from the fire, the earth cannot be separated from fragrance, coolness cannot be separated from water and are integral part of each other, similar is the case with both of us. O beautiful one, you remain in active in my absence and without you, I also remain invisible. It is also sure that without you, I cannot indulge in any activity of the universe.

विना मृदा घटं कर्तुं यथा नालं कुलालकः।
विना स्वर्णं स्वर्णकारोऽलंकारं कर्तुमक्षमः॥२२०॥

As a potter cannot make a pitcher without the clay and the goldsmith cannot make any ornament without the gold, similarly I become helpless without you.

स्वयमात्मा यथा नित्यस्तथा त्वं प्रकृतिः स्वयम्।
सर्वशक्तिसमायुक्ता सर्वाधारा सनातनी॥२२१॥
मम प्राणसमा लक्ष्मीर्वाणी च सर्वमङ्गला।
ब्रह्मेशानन्तधर्माश्च त्वं मे प्राणाधिका प्रिया॥२२२॥
समीपस्था इमे सर्वं सुरा देव्यश्च राधिके।
एभ्योऽप्यधिका नो चेत्कथं वक्षःस्थलस्थिता॥२२३॥

As the soul is eternal, similarly you as Prakṛti are also eternal. You are the base of all the strength and are everlasting. Lakṣmī, Sarasvatī, Pārvatī, Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣanāga and Dharma are all like my life but you are dearer to me then my life. O Rādhā, all these gods and goddesses live with me. Had you not been dearest to me than all of them, then how could you reside in my heart.

त्यजाश्रुमोक्षणं राधे भ्रान्तिं च निष्फलां सति।
विहाय शंका निशंकं वृषभानुगृहं व्रज॥२२४॥

Therefore, O Rādhā, you stop shedding tears and get yourself relieved of the illusion. Therefore you go to the house of Vṛṣabhānu fearlessly.

कलावत्याश्च जठरे मासानां नव सुन्दरि।
वायुना पूरयित्वा च गर्भं रोधय मायया॥२२५॥
दशमे समनुप्राप्ते त्वमाविर्भव भूतले।
स्वात्मरूपं परित्यज्य शिशुरूपं विधाय च॥२२६॥
वायुनिःसारणे काले कलावत्याः समीपतः।
भूमौ विवसनीभूय पतित्वा रोदिषि ध्रुवम्॥२२७॥

O beautiful one, reaching there you enter the womb of Kalāvatī and remain there for nine months, shedding your form you take to the form of Viṣṇu and then appear before the universe. At the time of birth you emerge from the womb of Kalāvatī in the form of an infant without robes and start crying.

अयोनिसंभवा त्वं च भविता गोकुले सति।
अयोनिसंभवोऽहं च नाऽऽवयोर्गर्भसंस्थितिः॥२२८॥

O chaste lady, you appear in Gokula and having been born without any human contact. I shall also be born without human contact. It is not possible for both of us to remain in the womb.

भूमिसंस्पृष्टमात्रं मां गोकुले प्रापयिष्यति।
तव हेतोर्गमिष्यामि कृत्वा कंसभयं छलम्॥२२९॥

As soon as I incarnate on earth my father will carry me to Gokula because of the fear of Kaṁsa I shall surely go to Gokula for your sake.

यशोदामन्दिरे मां च सानन्दं नन्दनन्दनम्।
नित्यं द्रक्ष्यसि कल्याणि ममाऽऽश्लेषणपूर्वकम्॥२३०॥

O virtuous one, you will meet me there in the house of Nanda where I shall the present in the form of the son of Nanda and you would also meet me there.

स्मृतिस्ते भविता काले वरेण मम राधिके।
स्वच्छन्दं विहरिष्यामि नित्यं वृन्दावने वने॥२३१॥

O Rādhā, with my boon you will remember me at the proper time and I shall enjoy your company in the forest of Vṛndāvana.

त्रिःसप्तशतकोटीभिर्गोपीभिर्गोकुलं व्रज।
त्रयस्त्रिंशद्वयस्याभिः सुशीलादिभिरेव च॥२३२॥
संस्थाप्य संख्यारहिता गोपीर्गोकुल एव च।
ता आश्वास्य प्रबोधैश्च मितया च सुधागिरा॥२३३॥

Therefore, O noble lady, you incarnate on earth with in Gokula with your thirty three female friends and twenty one hundred crores of cowherdesses. In Gokula you have an equal number of cowherds and you should assure them with your nectar like words in Gokula properly.

अहं गोपालसुहृदः संस्थाप्यात्रैव राधिके।
वसुदेवाश्रमं पश्चाद्यास्यामि मथुरां पुरीम्॥२३४॥

O Rādhikā, I myself shall move on to Mathurā keeping all my cowherds friends in Gokula. In Mathurā I shall meet my father Vasudeva in his abode.

व्रजं व्रजन्तु क्रीडार्थं मम सङ्गे प्रियात्प्रियाः।
बल्लवानां गृहे जन्म लभन्तां गोपकोटयः॥२३५॥

All my dear cowherd friends will move along with me and go to Vraja and should be born in the houses of crores of Gopas there.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीकृष्णो विरराम च नारद।
ऊषुर्देवाश्च देव्यश्च गोपा गोप्यश्च तत्र वै॥२३६॥

O Nārada, thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa kept quiet. Thereafter all the gods and goddesses besides the cowherds and cowherdesses also stayed there.

ब्रह्मेशशेषधर्माश्च श्रीकृष्णं तं परात्परम्।
शिवापद्मासरस्वत्यस्तुष्टुवुः परया मुदा॥२३७॥

Brahmā, Śiva, Dharma, Pārvatī, Lakṣmī and Sarasvatī offered prayers to lord Kṛṣṇa delightfully.

भक्त्या गोपाश्च गोप्यश्च विरहज्वरकातराः।
तत्र संस्तूय श्रीकृष्णं प्रणेमुः प्रेमविह्वलाः॥२३८॥

Feeling grieved because of separation all the cowherds and cowherdesses started offering prayers to lord Kṛṣṇa with their minds filled with devotion.

प्राणाधिकं प्रियं कान्तं राधापूर्णमनोरथम्।
परितुष्टोऽभवद्भक्त्या विरहज्वरकातराम्॥२३९॥
साश्रुपूर्णातिदीनां च दृष्ट्वा राधां भयाकुलाम्।
प्रबोधवचनं सत्यमुवाच तां हरिः स्वयम्॥२४०॥

Rādhā also adored her husband who was dearer to her than her own life and could fulfil the desirous of all. Lord Kṛṣṇa then spoke to Rādhā who was feeling panicky because of the separation with her eyes filled with tears. She looked quite meek and was upset because of fear. Lord Kṛṣṇa assured her with truthful words.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

प्राणाधिके महादेवि स्थिरा भव भयं त्यज।
यथा त्वं च तथाऽहं च का चिन्ता ते मयि स्थिते॥२४१॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa said-O great goddess, you are dearer to me than my life; therefore you remain healthy, shedding all the fears. As you are so am I, therefore why should you feel afraid when I am there.

किं तु ते कथयिष्यामि किंचिदेवास्त्यमङ्गलम्।

श्रीदामशापजन्येन कर्मभोगेन सुन्दरि।
भविष्यत्येव मम च मथुरागमनं ततः॥२४३॥

Off-course, I am telling you something which is unpleasant, "We shall be separated from each other for a hundred years". O beautiful one, which could happen because of the curse of Śrīdāmā. During that period I shall remain at Mathurā.

तत्र भारावतरणं पित्रोर्बन्धनमोचनम्।

तुभ्यमाध्यात्मिकं दत्त्वा पुनः सत्यं त्वया सह।
दिवानिशमविच्छेदो मया सार्धमतःपरम्॥२५०॥

Living there I shall be relieving the earth of her burden and remove the fetters of my parents. I shall redeem the gardener, a tailor and hunch-back lady. Destroying a Yavana, redeeming Mucukunda and constructing the city of Dvārakā, I shall, thereafter, attend the Rājasūya-yajña of Yudhiṣṭhra. Marrying sixteen thousand princesses I shall destroy a hundred and ten enemy. Restoring Sudāmā my friend to a graceful position, burning the city of Vārāṇasī, supporting Śiva defeating Bāṇāsura, forcibly removing the tree of Pārijāta and accomplishing all other tasks, I shall go on pilgrimage with you Thereafter, we will meet the great sages talk witl the relatives, completing the yajña of my fathe then I shall meet time you in an auspicious an all the cowherdesses.

भविष्यति त्वया सार्धं पुनरागमनं व्रजे।

शतवर्षान्तरे साध्यमेतदेव सुनिश्चितम्।
भविष्यति पुनस्तत्र वने रासस्त्वया सह॥२५३॥

Thereafter, I shall bestow the divine an truthful knowledge to you and shall keep yo always with me. Thereafter you will alway remain with me and shall never get separated. shall return to Vraja with you thereafter. O dea one, during the time of separation of a hundre years from you, both of us will always meet i the dream daily. Getting separated from you an reaching Dvārakā all the important tasks will b performed by me from the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇ during all these hundred years. This is certain Thereafter, we shall again engage ourselves i the divine dance at Vṛndāvana.

पुनः पित्रोश्च गोपीनां शोकसंमार्जनं परम्।
कृत्वा भारावतरणं पुनरागमनं मम॥२५४॥
त्वया सहापि गोलोकं गोपैर्गोपीभिरेव च।

वैकुण्ठगमनं राधे नित्यस्य परमात्मनः।
श्वेतद्वीपं धर्मगेहमंशानां च भविष्यति॥२५६॥

Thereafter, relieving the parents and th cowherdess of their grief and removing th burden of the earth, accompanied with you an the cowherdesses, I shall come back again to th Goloka. O Rādhā, the aṁśas of Nārāyaṇa in m shall accompanied with Lakṣmī and Sarasvatī t Vaikuṇṭha and Viṣṇu and Dharma gettin separated from my aṁśa shall revered to Śveta dvīpa.

देवानां चैव देवीनामंशा यास्यन्ति स्वक्षयम्।
पुनः संस्थितिरत्रैव गोलोके मे त्वया सह॥२५७॥

Such of the gods and goddesses who had emerged from aṁśas from the gods would also revert to their respective abodes. Thereafter we shall all remain in the Goloka.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं भविष्यं च शुभाशुभम्।
मया निरूपितं यत्तत्कान्ते केन निवार्यते॥२५८॥

O damsel, I have now narrated to you all the future pleasant the unpleasant happenings and whatever I have told you can never be otherwise.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीकृष्णः कृत्वा राधां स्ववक्षसि।
तस्थौ तस्थुः सुराः सर्वे सुरपत्न्यश्च विस्मिताः॥२५९॥

Thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa embraced Rādhā and all the gods and their spouses were surprised at this.

उवाच श्रीहरिर्देवान्देवीं च समयोचितम्।
देवा गच्छत कार्यार्थं स्वालयं विषयोचितम्॥२६०॥
गच्छ पार्वति कैलासं सुताभ्यां स्वामिना सह।
मया नियोजितं कर्म सर्वं काले भविष्यति॥२६१॥

Thereafter Śrī Hari spoke to the gods and goddesses, "You go to your respective place for the accomplishment for the future task." O Pārvatī, you go back to Kailāsa with your husband and both the sons. Whatever have I spoken about the accomplishment of the tasks, it would surely happen.

भविता कलया जन्म सर्वषां च व्रजेश्वरि।
क्षुद्राणां चैव महतां देवं लम्बोदरं विना॥२६२॥

O goddess of Vraja, excepting Gaṇeśa, all the gods and goddesses from their aṁśas should appear on earth.

प्रणम्य श्रीहरिं देवाः स्वालयं प्रययुर्मुदा।
लक्ष्मीं सरस्वतीं भक्त्या प्रणम्य पुरुषोत्तमम्॥२६३॥
हरिणा योजितं कर्म कर्तुं व्यग्रा महीं ययुः।
भर्त्रा निरूपितं स्थानं देवानामपि दुर्लभम्॥२६४॥

Thereafter all the gods delightfully bowed in reverence to lord Kṛṣṇa and Sarasvatī with devotion and went back to their respective abodes. Whatever tasks had been prescribed by the lord were to be established by them and for that purpose they emerged on the earth. Because the place prescribed by the lord was inaccessible even to the gods.

उवाच राधिकां कृष्णो वृषभानुगृहं व्रज।
गोपगोपीसमूहैश्च सह पूर्वनिरूपितैः॥२६५॥
अहं यास्यामि मथुरां वसुदेवालयं प्रिये।
पश्चात्कंसभयव्याजाद्गोकुलं तव संनिधिम्॥२६६॥

Then Śrī Kṛṣṇa spoke to Rādhā first of all you go to the house of Vṛṣabhānu, together with the cowherds and cowherdesses. O dear one, I am also appearing in the house of Vasudeva; thereafter I shall reach you in Gokula on the pretext on the fear from the Kaṁsa.

राधा प्रणम्य श्रीकृष्णं रक्तपंकजलोचना।
भृशं रुरोद पुरतः प्रेमविच्छेदकातरा॥२६७॥

Thereafter Rādhā having the eyes like red lotus become anxious bitterly before him.

स्थायं स्थायं क्वचिद्यान्ती गत्वा गत्वा पुनः पुनः।
पुनः पुनः समागत्य दर्शं दर्शं हरेर्मुखम्॥२६८॥
पपौ चक्षुश्चकोराभ्यां निमेषरहिता सती।
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्राभसुधापूर्णं प्रभोर्मुखम्॥२६९॥

She walked slowly for some distance and again come back and stood before the lord. She enjoyed looking at the moon.

ततः प्रदक्षिणीकृत्य सप्तधा परमेश्वरी।
प्रणम्य सप्तधा चैव पुनस्तस्थौ हरेः पुरः॥२७०॥

Thereafter the goddess Rādhikā went round the lord seven times and ultimately stood before Hari.

आजग्मुर्गोपिकानां च त्रिःसप्तशतकोटयः
आजगाम च गोपानां समूहः कोटिसंख्यकः॥२७१॥

At that point of time seventy three crores of cowherdesses and a crore of cowherds arrived here.

गोपानां गोपिकानां च समूहैः सह राधिका।
पुनः प्रणम्य तं राधा तत्र तस्थौ च नारद॥२७२॥
त्रयस्त्रिशद्वयस्याभिर्गोपीभिः सह सुन्दरि।
गोपानां च समूहैश्च प्रणम्य प्रययौ महीम्॥२७३॥

O Nārada, Rādhā again stood before the lord with the cowherds and cowherdesses and then stared at him. On the arrival on the thirty three female friends of Rādhikā, she bowed in reverence to the lord and then moved on accompanied with cowherd and cowherdesses.

हरिणा योजितं स्थानं प्रजग्मुर्नन्दगोकुलम्।
वृषभानुगृहं राधा गोपी गोपगृहं ययौ॥२७४॥

They arrived in Gokula of Nanda. Rādhā appered in the house of Vṛṣabhānu and the cowherdesses appeared in the houses of other cowherds.

मही गतायां राधायां गोपीभिः सह गोपकैः।
बभूव श्रीहरिः सद्यः पृथिवीं गमनोत्सुकः॥२७५॥

Thus Rādhā descended on earth together with cowherds and cowherdesses. The cowherds also got ready to reach the houses of other cowherds.

संभाष्य गोपान्गोपीश्च नियोज्य स्वीयकर्मणि।
मनोयायी जगन्नाथो जगाम मथुरां हरिः॥२७६॥

Thus speaking to the cowherds and cowherdesses and deputing them variously, the lord of the universe incarnated in Mathurā.

पूर्वं यद्यदपत्यं च देवकीवसुदेवयोः।
बभूव सद्यस्तत्कंसः पुत्रषट्कं जघान ह॥२७७॥

Kaṁsa had killed all the six children born of Devakī one by one.

शेषांशं सप्तमं गर्भं माययाऽऽकृष्य गोकुले।
निधाय रोहिणीगर्भे जगाम चाऽऽज्ञया हरेः॥२७८॥

At the command of the lord Yogamāyā extracted the foetus from the womb of Devakī which happen to be that of Śeṣanāga Ananta and carried the same to Gokula transplanting in the womb of Rohiṇī.

Nārada said-O lord, you kindly narrate to me the story relating to the birth of lord Kṛṣṇa which is quite auspicious, the best and destroys the birth, the death and the old age who was the father of Vasudeva and who was the father of Devakī? Who was Devakī and Vasudeva in their earlier births? You kindly tell me how were they married? How did the terrible Kaṁsa kill their six sons and when was lord Kṛṣṇa born? I would like to listen to it in detail.

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- Kaśyapa appeared in the form of Vasudeve and Aditi, the mother of the gods was born as Devakī. They got the lord as their son because of the merits of their earlier births, Vasudeva was born from Devamīḍha as father and Māriṣā as the mother. At the time of their births, the gods were rejoiced who rounded Dundubhis and beating of drums besides playing on other musical instrument. That is why in the ancient time Vasudeva the son of the lord was also known as Ānakadunbubhi.

आहुकस्य सुत: श्रीमान्यदुवंशसमुद्भव:।
देवको ज्ञानसिन्धुश्च तस्य कन्या च देवकी॥७॥

In the race of Yadus Śrīman Deva happened to be the son of Ānaka who was the ocean of knowledge. Devakī happened to be his daughter.

Garga the family priest of Yadus, married Devakī with Vasudeva, according to the scriptures.

महासंभृतसंभारो वसुदेव: शुभे क्षणे।
उद्वाहे देवकीं तस्मै देवक: प्रददौ किल॥९॥

At the time of marriage, Vasudeva was decorated with coat of arms. At the time of marriage her father gave away his daughter Devakī to Vasudeva.

O Nārada, Devaka gave away in marriage to Vasudeva thousands of horses, hundreds of elephants, hundreds of ornaments, beautiful slave girls and several typed of beverages, besides the gems, diamonds, jewels and vases of gold.

कथं हृष्टोऽसि राजेन्द्र शृणु सत्यं वचो हितम्।
देवक्या ह्यष्टमो गर्भो मृत्युहेतुस्तवैव हि॥१६॥

The girl who was adorned with all the ornaments had the lustre of hundreds of moons and could attract all the three worlds towards herself. She was quite graceful in the ladies and was the ocean of virtues, wearing a serene smile on her face and looking with side glances. She was best suited for love-sport and was quite youthful. After marriage she was made to sit in the chariot with Vasudeva. But when they were about to start, Kaṁsa also accompanied them delightfully, feeling joyful after the marriage of Devakī. When Kaṁsa was accompanying Devakī, at that very moment there was a divine voice from the sky, addressed to him "O best of the kings, why are your getting over-joyed? You listen to the truthful and beneficial words. The eighth child of Devakī would be the cause of your death.".

श्रुत्वैवं देवकीं कंस: खड्गहस्तो महाबल:।
देववाक्याद्भयात्क्रोधात्पापिष्ठो हन्तुमुद्यत:॥१७॥

On hearing this, the valorous Kaṁsa took out the divine word he felt panicky, getting enraged. The sinful person got ready for the killing of Devakī.

तां हन्तुमुद्यतं दृष्ट्वा वसुदेव: सुपण्डित:।
बोधयामास नीतिज्ञो नीतिशास्त्रविशारद:॥१८॥

Vasudeva on the other hand finding Kaṁsa getting ready to kill Devakī, spoke to him appropriate words which were well-suited to the times and since Vasudeva was well-versed in the scriptures.

वसुदेव उवाच

राजनीतिं न जानामि शृणु मे वचनं हितम्।
यशस्करं च दोषघ्नं शास्त्रोक्तं समयोचितम्॥१९॥

Vasudeva said-You are unaware of the royal practices. You listen to my words which are beneficial, glorious, remover of the sins and are strictly according to the scriptures.

अस्या एवाष्टमो गर्भो मृत्युश्चेत्तव भूमिप।
इमां च हत्वा दुष्कीर्तिं करोषि त्वं नर: कथम्॥२०॥

O king, in case Devakī's eight child is going to be the cause of your death then why to you indulge in undignified and sinful action of killing her and earning disgrace in the universe.

वधे च क्षुद्रजन्तूनां हिंसकानां च पण्डित:।
कार्षापणं समुत्सृज्य मृत्युकाले प्रमुच्यते॥२१॥

Because a killer when kills the insignificant creatures he gets relieved of the sin after giving away in charity, even a counter feet coin at the time of death.

अहिंसकानां क्षुद्राणां वधः शतगुणं ध्रुवम्।
प्रायश्चित्त मृत्युकाले कथितं पद्मयोनिना॥२२॥
वधे विशिष्टजन्तूनां पश्वादीनां च कामतः।
ततः शतगुणं पापं निश्चितं मनुरब्रवीत्॥२३॥

By killing the non-ferocious animals, one has to performed repentance, hundred times more then killing a terrific creatures. This has been ordained by Brahmā. By killing special creatures and the animals and or by deliberately killing them, one earns hunared times more sins. This has been ordained by Manu.

नराणां म्लेच्छजातीनां वधे शतगुणं ततः।
म्लेच्छानां च शतानां च यत्पापं लभते वधे॥२४॥
सच्छूद्रेकस्य च वधे तत्पापं लभते पुमान्॥२५॥
सच्छूद्राणां शतानां च यत्पापं लभते वधे।
तत्पापं लभते नूनं गोवधैकेन निश्चितम्॥२६॥
गवां दशगुणं पापं ब्राह्मणस्य वधे भवेत्।

भगिनीं त्यज धर्मिष्ठ स्ववंशपद्मभास्कर।

He earns hundred times more sins by killing a persons of mleccha race and the sin one earns by killing a mleccha, the same amount of sin is earned by him by killing a Śūdra; the sin one earns by killing a Śūdra. The sin one earns by killing a hundred Śūdras is equal to killing of arrow. One earns ten times more sins by killing a cow; the sin earned by killing a Brāhmaṇa is equal to killing of ten cows. The sin of killing ten Brāhmaṇas would be equal to killing of a women. The situation as further aggravated when the lady happens to be your own sister or the one who is dependent on you or the one who has taken refuge with you. O king, you are therefore sure to earn hundred times more the sins of killing a woman in case of killing Devakī. The intelligent persons performs tapas, recitation, gives away charity, performing of pūjā, visiting holy places, offering food to Brāhmaṇa and performing of sacrifice for achieving heaven. The noble people consider the entire universe to be like the bubble of the water or like a dream, having no essence and illusory and therefore move on the righteous path. O religious minded one, You are the son of your race like the lotus. Therefore you free your sister, O king there are many types of intellectuals available in your court.

अस्याश्चैवाष्टमो गर्भो यदपत्यं भविष्यति।

भगिनीं त्यज राजेन्द्र कन्यातुल्यां प्रियां तव।
मिष्टान्नपानदानेन वर्धितामनुजां सदा॥३४॥

Whatever child is born from her womb on the eighth time I shall hand him over to you. He will be of no consequence to me. O best of the intellectuals, I shall hand over of the born to Devakī you because there is no one else dearer to me then you. O best of the kings you kindly leave alone your sister who is quite dearer to you like your own daughter. You have brought her up offering sweet food, bets and various types of eatables.

वसुदेववचः श्रुत्वा तत्याज भगिनीं नृपः।
वसुदेवः प्रियां नीत्वां जगाम निजमन्दिरे॥३५॥

On hearing the words of Vasudeva, the king left Devakī. Thereafter Vasudeva went to his abode together with Devakī.

क्रमादपत्यषट्कं च यद्यद्भतं च नारद।
ददौ तस्मै वसुः सत्यात्स जघान क्रमेण तान्॥३६॥

O Nārada, One after the other six sons were born to Vasudeva but as per his words Vasudeva handed over each one of them to Kaṁsa who killed them one after the other.

देवक्याः सप्तमे गर्भे कंसो रक्षां ददौ भिया।
रोहिणीजठरे माया तमाकृष्य ररक्ष च॥३७॥

Thereafter Kaṁsa variously protected the seven conception of Devakī but Yogamāyā with her illusion extracted the foetus from Devakī and transplanted it in the womb of Rohiṇī.

रक्षकाः कथयामासुर्गर्भस्रावो बभूव ह।
तस्माद्बभूव भगवानात्मा संकर्षणः प्रभुः॥३८॥

The gate-keeper informed Kaṁsa that Devakī had met with an abortion. A child was born from the womb of Rohiṇī who was given the name of Saṁkarṣaṇa.

तस्या एवाष्टमो गर्भो वायुपूर्णो बभूव ह।
गते च नवमे मासि दशमे समुपस्थिते॥३९॥

दृष्ट्वा तामसुरेन्द्रश्च विस्मयं परमं ययौ।
अस्माद्गर्भादपत्यं च मृत्युबीजं ममैव च॥४३॥

Thereafter the eighth son of Devakī was born when her womb was filled with the wind. After the completion of nine months, there arrived the tenth month and the lord had to appear from that womb. Devakī herself was the best of all the beautiful ladies and with the very look of the lord she became four times more beautiful than before. At that point of time Devakī with the developed face and the eyes looked at Kaṁsa, she was illumining all the ten directions with the lustre of Yogamāyā. She looked like the mass of lustre. Looking at Devakī, Kaṁsa the king of demons was totally surprised. He thought the child born of her womb would be the cause of his death.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा कंसश्च ददौ रक्षां प्रयत्नतः।
देवकीं वसुदेवं च सप्तद्वारं ररक्ष च॥४४॥

Thus speaking Kaṁsa carefully kept a watch over Vasudeva and Devakī. He lodged them in an abode having seven gates.

पूर्णे च दशमे मासे गर्भः पूर्णो बभूव ह।
बभूव सा चलस्पन्दा जडरूपा च नारद॥४५॥

O Nārada, after completion of the tenth month, the period of conception came to an end. She then walked slowly and became inactive.

गर्भे च वायुना पूर्णे निर्लिप्तो भगवानजित्।
हृत्पद्मकोशे देवक्या अधिष्ठानं चकार ह॥४६॥

The conception was completed with the wind and the lord resided in the heart of Devakī.

मन्त्रज्ञं च नरं चैव बन्धुपत्नीर्भयाकुलः।
विद्वांसं ब्राह्मणं चैव त्रस्तो बन्धूंश्च सादरम्॥५१॥

At the time of the arrival of the lord of the universe in the womb of Devakī, she felt suffering with pain and became inactive. In a moment she used to sit and next moment she got up. In a moment she walked and in another moment she went to sleep. At the same time Vasudeva looked at Devakī and finding that the time of delivery had arrived, he started reciting the name of the lord of the universe, in that beautiful abode having the lamp of gems. He immediately brought the sword, iron, water and the fire, getting terrified. He summoned the people well-versed in mantras, the wives of his borthers, learned Brāhmaṇ as and other relatives.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तस्या रात्रेर्द्वौ प्रहरौ गतौ।

In the meantime at the dead of night, the sky was over-cast with clouds. The pleasant wind started blowing and all the guards went to sleep as if they had lost their consciousness. They lay on the floor as if they were sleeping in bed. At the sametime Brahmā, Śiva and Dharma arrived there and started offering prayers to the lord.

देवा ऊचुः

The gods said-You are the place of birth of the universe but you are yourself without the place of birth; you are beyond measures, imperishable, the form of sight, sinless, having qualities, and without qualities, besides being the great lord.

Being invisible you appear in definite form for the sake of your devotees, you are unconcerned, moving at will, the base of all without any doubt, without any trouble, without any attribute uninvolved, indifferent, death for the death, roaming in your soul, the one who fulfils the desires of all, eternal the one who moves at will, the cause of everyone the form of everyone, the abode of all the virtues, bestower of pleasures and the pain, quite deep, uninvolved, destroyer of the wicked people, fortunate and unfortunate, short spoken, difficult adore, inaccessible, the cause of the Vedas, the form of the Vedas and post-Vedic literature and well-versed in the Vedas being all pervading.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा देवाश्च प्रणेमुश्च मुहुर्मुहुः।

Thus speaking the gods bowed before the lord again and again and with their eyes filled with tears, they showered the flower.

Nārāyaṇa said- Thus praising the lord, the gods returned to their respective abodes. O sage, the entire city of Mathurā seemed to have been at a stand-still because of heavy rain. It was pitch dark during the night. O sage, the period of seven muhūrtas was spent and the eight one arrive, when at the dead of the night, the best of the auspicious time arrived it was the time inaccessible by anyone accept the Vedas. At that point of time all the planets were having the auspicious sight, the unfavourable planets were not there as a matter of chance, Jayantī-yoga was accomplished. O sage, when the crescent arose, all the planets in the sky including the sun, looking at lagna. Reached the mīna-lagna. All the planets arrived there getting delighted. At the command of the lord all the planets assembled in the eleventh house delightfully. It started raining and the cool wind started blowing, the goddess earth was quite happy together with all the ten directions, the sages, the Manuvṛnda, Yakṣas, Gandharvas, Kinnaras, the gods, the goddesses were all delighted. The apsarās started dancing while lord of the Gandharvas and the Vidyādharīs started singing and playing on musical instruments. O Nārada, all the rivers started flowing gleefully; the fire was ignited and the Dundubhis were sounded in the heaven with the other musical instrument. The rain of Pārijāta flowers started falling. The earth taking to the form of a female reached the labour room. The slogans of victory were shouted, the conches were blown and the name of Hari was recited.

At that point of time Devakī fell down on the ground and the wind fell from her womb. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa taking to the divine form appeared from the womb of Devakī. His body extremely beautiful and charming. He had two arms and was holding a flute in his hand, his ears, were adorned with makara-kuṇḍalas and he wore a serene smile over the face, bestowing his grace over the devotees. The gem-studded ornaments were adding to the beauty of his body and he was clad in yellow lower garments, having a complexion of new clouds. His body was plastered with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron. His face resembled to that of the face of full moon of winter season and his lips resembled the ripe wood apple which added to his charming beauty. He had a peacock feather adoring his head together with the gem-studded kirīṭa crown. The divine lustre of Śrīhari was illumining the place. He stood in Tribhaṅgī pose and wore long garland of forest flowers round his neck. The Śrīvatsa mark appeared over his chest which was emitting lustre. In the chest, there appeared a golden line over which the kaustubha gems was shining and looked quite beautiful. He was of tender age and quite peaceful, lord Hari was dear to Brahmā as well as Śiva.

O sage, Vasudeva and Devakī looked at the lord and were surprised with the same. Vasudeva and Devakī started offering prayer to the lord with their eyes were filled with tears and the body felt emotional. They bowed in reverence to him and started offering prayer with folded hands.

Vasudeva said-You are beyond the organ of senses, invisible, beyond description, without qualities, pervading everywhere, beyond the reach of any one, the great soul, the great lord, moving at will, the form of all, the one who takes to any from at will, the great lord uninvolved eternal Brahman and the eternal form of the seed; you are harder then the hardest, pervading everywhere, smaller then the smallest, invisible one, dweller in all the bodies as a witness, invisible one, taking to human from, the treasure of virtues, the form of Prakṛti and the lord of Prakṛti beyond Prakṛti and the form of all. What type of prayer can be offer to you?.

अनन्तः स्तवनेऽशक्तोऽशक्ता देवी सरस्वती।
यं वा स्तोतुमशक्तश्च पञ्चववक्त्रः षडाननः॥८८॥

We are unable to offer prayer to you because even goddess Sarasvatī, Śiva with five faces, Kārttikeya with six faces are unable to do so. Even four faced Brahmā and the creator of the Vedas is unable to recite your glory. Even lord Gaṇeśa is unable to do so. You are the teacher of the teachers of yogīs, Ṛṣis, the gods, sages, Manus and the human being. You do not appear evening their dreams. Therefore removing this form you appear in the form of a child.

Whosoever recites the stotra recited by Vasudeva, thrice a day, he achieves the slavehood and the devotion of the lotus-like feet of Kṛṣṇa. He achieves great merit and the devotion of lord Hari besides the son. All his miseries are over, without any difficulty and he is relieved of the terror of all his enemies.

नारायण उवाच

वसुदेववचः श्रुत्वा तमुवाच हरिः स्वयम्।
प्रसन्नवदनः श्रीमान्भक्तानुग्रहकारकः॥९४॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Vasudeva, lord Hari who bestows grace over his devotees then spoke to him.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

तपसां च फलेनैव पुत्रोऽहं तव सांप्रतम्।
वरं वृणीष्व भद्रं ते भविष्यति न संशयः॥९५॥
पुरा तपस्विनां श्रेष्ठः सुतपास्त्वं प्रजापतिः।

पुत्रो मत्सदृशस्तत्र दृष्ट्वा मां च वृतो बुधः।
मया दत्तो वरस्तुभ्यं मत्समो भविता सुतः॥९७॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- I have become your son because of the result of your tapas. You will meet with all the welfare, there is no doubt about it. In earlier times you had been a great tapas and Prajāpati named Sutapā. Pṛśni was the name of your wife, both of you adored me with your wife and having an audience with me you asked for a boon that you should get a son like me. I therefore bestowed a boon to you saying, "You will get a son like me.".

दत्त्वा तुभ्यं वरं तात मनसाऽलोच्य चिन्तितः।
मत्समो नास्ति भुवने पुत्रोऽहं तेन हेतुना॥९८॥

O respectable one after bestowing the boon to you I thought in my mind that there is no one else comparable to me in the universe, therefore I became your son.

तपसां च प्रभावेण त्वमेव कश्यपः स्वयम्।

अधुना कश्यपांशस्त्वं वसुदेवः पिता मम।
देवकी देवमातेयमदितेरंशसंभवा॥१००॥

Because as a result of the tapas you become Kaśyapa and she became Sutapā, the mother of Aditi. Now you have appeared as Vasudeva from the aṁśa of Kaśyapa becoming my father and Devakī has appeared from the aṁśa of Aditi, the goddes of the gods as my mother.

त्वत्तोऽदित्यां वामनोऽहं पुत्रस्तेऽशेन संभवः।
अधुना परिपूर्णोऽहं पुत्रस्ते तपसां फलात्॥१०१॥

From you, I was also born as Vāmana as your son and because of the result of your tapas presently I have appeared again as your son.

मां वा त्वं पुत्रभावेन ब्रह्मभावेन वा पुन:।
मां प्राप्तोऽसि महाप्राज्ञ जीवन्मुक्तो भविष्यसि।।१०२।।

O virtuous one, you will be freed from the cycle of birth and death, by getting me as a son.

यशोदाभवनं शीघ्रं मां गृहीत्वा व्रजं व्रज।
संस्थाप्य तत्र मां तात मायामादाय स्थापय।।१०३।।

O respectable one, now you carry me to the abode of Yaśodā immediately in Vraja. Keeping me there you bring Yogamāyā here.

इत्युक्त्वा श्रीहरिस्तत्र बालरूपो बभूव ह।
नग्नं भूमौ शयानं च ददर्श श्यामलं सुतम्।।१०४।।
दृष्ट्वा स बालकं तत्र मोहितो विष्णुमायया।
किं वा कूटं च तन्त्रायामपूर्वं सूतिकागृहम्।।१०५।।

Thus speaking the lord turned himself into the form of a child; finding the son of dark complexion sleeping over the floor and getting influenced with the illusion of lord Viṣṇu, Vasudeva spoke about the child who was the eternal Brahman, With his birth the labour-room was illumining.

इत्युक्त्वा वसुदेवश्च समालोच्य स्त्रिया सह।
गृहीत्वा बालकं क्रोडे जगाम नन्दगोकुलम्।।१०६।।

Thus speaking after consulting his wife, he picked up the child in his lap he proceeded towards the city of Gokula.

गत्वा नन्दव्रजं शीघ्रं विवेश सूतिकागृहम्।
ददर्श शयनाविष्टां यशोदां निद्रयाऽन्विताम्।।१०७।।

Reaching in Vraja of Nanda he immediately entered the labour-room and found Yaśodā sleeping on the bed.

निद्रान्वितं च नन्दं च सर्वं तत्र गृहे स्थितम्।
ददर्श बालिकां नग्नां तप्तकाञ्चनसंनिभाम्।।१०८।।
इषद्धास्यां प्रसन्नास्यां पश्यन्तीं गृहशेखरम्।
तां दृष्ट्वा वसुदेवश्च विस्मयं परमं ययौ।।१०९।।

Finding Nanda in sleep and all other members of the house also enjoying the sleep, he looked at the girl who was without robes and was having the lustre of molten gold. She had a smiling face and was starting of at the ceiling. Looking at her, Vasudeva was immensely surprised.

संस्थाप्य तत्र पुत्रं च कन्यामादाय सत्वरम्।
जगाम मथुरां हृष्ट: स्वकान्तासूतिकागृहम्।।११०।।

Leaving the male child there he picked up the girl and proceeded towards, Mathurā. Thereafter he reached the labour-room delightfully before his wife.

स्थापयामास तत्रैव महामायां च बालिकाम्।
रोरूयमाणां तामेव दृष्ट्वा हृष्टा च देवकी।।१११।।

He then placed the girl who was indeed Mahāmāyā on the bed and she started crying aloud. Devakī felt delighted on looking at her.

रोदनेनैव सा बाला बोधयामास रक्षकान्।
उत्थाय रक्षका: शीघ्रं च बालिकां जगृहुस्तदा।।११२।।
गृहीत्वा बालिकां ते च प्रजग्मु: कंससंनिधिम्।
जगाम देवकी पश्चाद्वसुदेवश्च शोकत:।।११३।।

The girl child woke up the guards with her cries. All the people got up at once and picked up the child. They took her to Kaṁsa and placed her before him. Thereafter, Vasudeva and Devakī followed them with painful hearts.

दृष्ट्वा च बालिकां कंसो नातिहृष्टो महामुने।
रोरूयमाणां कल्याणीं तद्दया न बभूव ह।।११४।।

O great sage, Kaiser could not be happy at the sight of the girl but at the same time he could not be compassionate on her when she was crying.

तां गृहीत्वा च पाषाणे हन्तुं यान्तं सुदारुणम्।
उवाच वसुदेवश्च देवकी परमादरम्।।११५।।
भो भो: कंस नृपश्रेष्ठ नीतिशास्त्रविशारद।
निबोध वाक्यं सत्यं च नीतियुक्तं मनोरमम्।।११६।।

He was going to strike her on the stone slabs. Both Vasudeva and Devakī spoke to the terrible king at that time, "O best of the kings, O Kaṁsa, you are well aware of the scriptures you kindly listen to my truthful and appropriate words.".

हत्वाऽवयो: पुत्रषट्कं दया ते नास्ति बान्धव।
अधुना चाष्टमे गर्भे बालिकामबलां मम।।११७।।

O brother, you never displayed compassion by killing six of our sons. Currently from the eight conception this daughter has been born.

हत्वा तव किमैश्वर्यं भविष्यति महीतले।

स्त्रीमेव हन्तुमबलां किं क्षमा रणमूर्धनि॥११८॥

What type of fortunes would you achieve on earth by killing her. Can the helpless woman be able to snatch your royal treasures?.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा तं वसुर्देवकी च सभातले।

रुरोद पुरतस्तत्र कंसस्य च दुरात्मनः॥

कंसस्तयोर्वचः श्रुत्वा तामुवाच दुरात्मना॥११९॥

Thus speaking both Vasudeva and Devakī started crying in the court of the wicked king Kaṁsa. The wicked Kaṁsa listened to the words of both of them then spoke.

शृणु वाक्यं मदीयं च निबोध बोधयामि ते।

तृणेन पर्वतं हन्तुं शक्तो धाता च दैवतः॥१२०॥

कीटेन सिंहशार्दूलं मशकेन गजं तथा।

मूषकेन च मार्जारं मण्डूकेन भुजंगमम्।

वह्निना च जलं नष्टुं वह्निं शुष्कतृणेन च।

पीताःसप्त समुद्राश्च द्विजेनैकेन जह्नुना॥१२३॥

Kaṁsa said- You listen to my words. I am going to make you understand, before you listen to me and accept them. The destiny can destroy a mountain with a small straw. Similarly it can get a powerful lion or a tiger killed through and an insect, a huge elephant could be got killed by it with a mosquito, a child could defeat a great warrior, a gigantic aquatic animal from a petty equatic animal, a cat could be killed by mouse and a frog could kill a serpent. It can get the father killed from the son, a huge devoured could be devoured by a petty devourer, fire from water, a dry straw could destroy the fire, it is surprising that a single Brāhmaṇa a Jahnu and drunk the water of the seven oceans.

धातुर्गतिर्विचित्रा तु दुर्ज्ञेया भुवनत्रये।

दैवेन बालिका नष्टुं मां समर्था भविष्यति॥१२४॥

बालिकां च वधिष्यामि नात्र कार्या विचारणा।

इत्येवमुक्त्वा कंसश्च गृहीत्वा बालिकां तदा॥१२५॥

हन्तुमारब्धवान्कंसस्तमुवाच वसुस्तदा।

वृथा हिंसितवान्राजन्देहि बालां कृपानिधे॥१२६॥

स तच्छ्रुत्वा विचारज्ञः कंसस्तुष्टो महामुने।

हे कंस हंसि कां मूढ न विज्ञाय हरेर्गतिम्।

कुत्रचित्त्वन्निहन्ताऽस्ति काले व्यक्तो भविष्यति॥१२८॥

Therefore, the moves of the destiny are quite astonishing and beyond comprehension in the three worlds. As the move of destiny this girl child could also be able to kill me. Therefore I will surely kill her. There is no need of further thought in this case. Thus speaking Kaṁsa caught hold of the girl child and as he was about to kill her, Vasudeva said, "O king up to now you have uselessly resorted to killing. O compassionate one, you give this girl child to me." O great sage on hearing this Kaṁsa was delighted. At that point of time a divine voice from the sky addressed Kaṁsa, "O foolish Kaṁsa, whom are you going to kill without coming to know about the moves of the lord. The one who is going to kill you has already be born and who would appear at the appropriate time."

श्रुत्वैव देववाणीं च तत्याज बालिकां नृपः।

वसुदेवो देवकी च तामादाय मुदान्वितौ॥१२९॥

जग्मतुः स्वगृहं तौ च कन्यां कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।

मृतामिव पुनः प्राप्य ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ धनम्॥१३०॥

Listening to the divine voice the king spared the girl child. Both Vasudeva and Devakī delightfully carried her to their abode. Vasudeva on the other hand distributed riches among the Brāhmaṇ as getting back the girl-child, who had been on the verge of death.

O Brāhmaṇa, that girl child happened to be the elder sister of K'ṣṇa who was born of the aṁśa of Pārvatī. The girl was given in due course of time the name of Ekānaṁsā. Vasudeva gave away that girl in marriage to Durvāsā who had appeared as the aṁśa of Śiva at the time of the marriage of Rukmiṇī. O sage, I have narrated to you the story relating to the birth of Kṛṣṇa which relieves one of birth, death and old age and makes one earn great merit.

Chapter-8

The fasting of Janmāṣṭmī and the merit of the same

नारद उवाच

जन्माष्टमीव्रतं ब्रूहि व्रतानां व्रतमुत्तमम्।
फलं जयन्ती योगस्य सामान्येनैव सांप्रतम्॥१॥

Nārada said-In all the vratas Janmāṣṭamī-vrata is considered to be the best of all. You kindly let me know the result of the combination of Jayantī with the same.

को वा दोषोऽप्यकरणे भोजने वा महामुने।
उपवासफलं किं वा जयन्त्यां च सुसंमतम्॥२॥

O great sage, you kindly let me know the sin earned by not performing the vrata or by eating something on that day. What is the reward for fasting at the time of Jayantī.

व्रतं पूजाविधानं च संयमस्य च सांप्रतम्।
उपवासपारणयो: सुविचार्य वद प्रभो॥३॥

O lord, your kindly enlighten me on the vrata, the method of adoration, the discipline the fasting and ending of the fast quite carefully.

नारायण उवाच

कृत्वा हविष्यं सप्तम्यां संयत: पारणे तथा।
अरुणोदयवेलायां समुत्थाय परेऽहनि॥४॥
प्रात: कृत्यं संविधाय स्नात्वा संकल्पमाचरेत्।
व्रतोपवासयोर्ब्रह्मञ्छ्रीकृष्णप्रीतिहेतुकम्॥५॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On the Seventh day of the moon one should consume the left over of the yajña and with a disciplined mind and on the next day, the eighth day of the moon, one should get up early in the morning and take a bath. Therefore he should take a vow for performing the vrata by fasting, he should take saṁkalpa, "I am performing the vrata and fasting for the pleasure of lord Kṛṣṇa".

मन्वादिदिवसे प्राप्ते यत्फलं स्नानपूजनै:।
फलं भाद्रपदेऽष्टम्यां भवेत्कोटिगुणं द्विज॥६॥

O Brāhamaṇa, by performing the vrata on the eight day of the black fortnight, one gets the merit of crores of times more than one could ordinary get for performing ordinary vratas.

तस्यां तिथौ वारिमात्रं पितृणां य: प्रयच्छति।
गयाश्राद्धं कृतं तेन शताब्दं नात्र संशय:॥७॥

On that particular day whosoever offers simple water to the a man is equated with performing of the śrāddha at Gayā for a hundred years. There is no doubt about it.

स्नात्वा नित्यक्रियां कृत्वा निर्माय सूतिकागृहम्।
लोहखण्डवह्निजालैर्युक्तं रक्षकसंघकै:॥८॥

अर्घ्यमाचमनीयं च स्नानीयं शयनं तथा।
गन्धं पुष्पं च नैवेद्यं ताम्बूलमनुलेपनम्॥१३॥

After taking the bath and getting free from the daily routine, one should build up a labour-room in which the iron, the sword, fire, the attendant and various types of materials should be kept, besides the scissors, and a mid-wife. O Neared, after performing sixteen type of pūjā one should provide eight types of beautiful fruits, seeds, beverages, nutmeg, kaṁkola, pomegranate, wood apple. Coconut, lemon, melon, best of costumes, āsana, clothes, water madhuparka, arghya, water for sipping, water for bathing, the bed, fragrance, flowers, naivedya, betel, fragrant paste, incense and ornament. These are the items meant for use in the sixteen type of adoration.

धूपदीपौ भूषणं वै चोपचारांश्च षोडश।
पादप्रक्षालनं कृत्वा धृत्वा धौते च वाससी॥१४॥
आचम्य चाऽसने स्थित्वा स्वस्तिवाचनपूर्वकम्।
घटस्याऽरोपणं कृत्वा संपूज्य पञ्च देवता:॥१५॥

Thereafter washing the feet, wearing clean costumes, one should be seated on the āsana, sipping the water at the same time. Thereafter reciting svastivācana, the pitcher should be consecrated adoring other gods at the same time.

घटे ह्यावाहनं कृत्वा श्रीकृष्णं परमेश्वरम्।
वसुदेवं देवकीं च यशोदां नन्दमेव च॥१६॥
रोहिणीं बलदेवं च षष्ठीदेवीं वसुंधराम्।

सर्वस्याऽऽवाहनं कृत्वा ध्यानं कुर्याद्धरेस्तदा।
पुष्पकं मस्तके न्यस्य पुनर्ध्यायेद्विचक्षण:॥१९॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa should be invoked in the pitcher water. Thereafter all the gods including Vasudeva, Devakī, Yaśodā, Nanda, Rohiṇī, Baladeva, goddess Ṣaṣṭhī, earth goddes, a Brāhmaṇa lady, aṣṭamī, local god, Aśvatthāmā, Bali, Hanumān, Vibhīṣaṇa, Kṛpācārya, Paraśurāma, Vedavyāsa and Mārkaṇḍeya should also be invoked. Placing the flowers on the head, the devotees should performed dhyānam.

ध्यानं च सामवेदोक्तं शृणु वक्ष्यामि नारद।
ब्रह्मणा कथितं पूर्वं कुमाराय महात्मने॥२०॥

O Nārada, I am going to enlighten you about the dhyānam which has been prescribed in the Sāmaveda. You listen to it. In the earlier time the same was told by Brahmā to the great sage Kumāra.

बालं नीलाम्बुजाभमतिशयरुचिरं स्मेरवक्त्राम्बुजं तं
ब्रह्मेशानन्तधर्मै: कतिकतिदिवसै: स्तूयमानं परं यम्।
ध्यानासाध्यमृषीन्द्रैर्मुनिगणमनुजै: सिद्धसंघैरसाध्यं
योगीन्द्राणामचिन्त्यमतिशयमतुलं साक्षिरूपं भजेऽहम्॥२१॥

I adore Bālamukunda who had the complexion of blue lotus flower and is extremely beautiful and who bears a serene smile always over his face. Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa and Dharma always adore him, he cannot be achieved by dhyānam alone. And is also beyond the reach of the best of Ṛṣis, sages, the siddhas and the human being. He is beyond the comprehension even of the great yogis. He happens to be best of all and is the witness of everyone.

ध्यात्वा पुष्पं च दत्त्वा च तत्सर्वं च निवेदयेत्।
एवं व्रती व्रतं कुर्याच्छृणु मन्त्रक्रमं मुने॥२२॥
आसनं सर्वशोभाढ्यं सद्रत्नमणिनिर्मितम्।
विचित्रं च विचित्रेण गृह्यतां शोभनं हरे॥२३॥

O lord Hari, you posses all the glory. You kindly accept the āsana which is studded with the best of gems, jewels and decorated the flowers and creepers.

Thereafter the cowherds named Sunanda, Nanda, Kumuda and the cowherdesses named Rādhikā should also be adored together with Gaṇeśa, Kārttikeya, Brahmā, Śiva, Pārvatī, Lakṣ mī, Sarasvatī, Dikpālas, nine planet and Śeṣa, Sudarśana and the attendants of the gods. One should offer reverence to them prostrating before them. Thereafter, Brāhmaṇa should be served with naivedya and dakṣiṇā.

कथां च जन्माध्यायोक्तां शृणुयाद्भक्तिभावतः।
तदा कुशासने स्थित्वा कुर्याज्जागरणं व्रती।।४७।।

Thereafter one should listen to the story narrated in the chapter of birth. On that very night, the devotee should remain seated on the seat of kuśā remaining awake for the night.

प्रभाते चाऽह्निकं कृत्वा संपूज्य श्रीहरिं मुदा।
ब्राह्मणान्भोजयित्वा च कारयेद्धरिकीर्तनम्।।४८।।

Early in the morning getting free from the daily routine, one should adore the lord with a pleasant mind and serve food to the Brāhmaṇas reciting the name of Hari.

नारद उवाच

उपवासे जागरणे व्रते किं वा फलं मुने।
किं वा पापं तत्र भुक्त्वा वद वेदविदां वर।।५०।।

Nārada said- O sage, you are the best among those well versed in the Vedas. You kindly let me know the merit one achieves after performing the vrata as prescribed in the Vedas, remaining awake and by serving food to the Brāhmaṇas. You kindly tell me the same.

नारायण उवाच

अष्टमी कर्क्षसंयुक्ता रात्र्यर्धे यदि दृश्यते।
स एव मुख्यकालश्च तत्र जातः स्वयं हरिः।।५१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- At the dead of night, the eighth day of the moon, in the Rohiṇī constellation is considered to be the time for the birth of lord Kṛṣṇa.

जयं पुण्यं च कुरुते जयन्ती तेन संस्मृता।
तत्रोपोष्य व्रतं कृत्वा कुर्याज्जागरणं बुधः।।५२।।
सर्वापवादः कालोऽयं प्रधानः सर्वसंमतः।
इति वेदविदां वाणी चेत्युक्ता वेधसा पुरा।।५३।।

The one who performs vrata at that time, becomes victorious besides achieving merit. That is why it has been termed as Jayantī also, the intellectual should perform vrata keeping himself awake. This is the time without controversy and is agreed to by all. This is prescribed by those well versed in the Vedas. In the earlier times, it was so proclaimed by Brahmā.

तत्र जागरणं कृत्वा यश्चोपोष्य व्रतं चरेत्।
कोटिजन्मार्जितात्पापान्मुच्यते नात्र संशयः।।५४।।

The one who keeps himself awake performing the vrata, he is relieved of all the sins earned by him during crores of births and achieves salvation. There is no doubt it.

वर्जनीया प्रयत्नेन सप्तमीसहिताऽष्टमी।
सा सर्क्षाऽपि न कर्तव्या सप्तमीसहिताऽष्टमी।।५५।।

When Saptamī and Aṣṭamī are combined one should not perform the vrata during that time even when the Rohiṇī constellation is there. Because lord Kṛṣṇa the son of Devakī appeared in the unimpaired Rohiṇī constellation.

अविद्धायां कर्क्षायां जातो देवकिनन्दनः।
वेदवेदाङ्गगुप्तेति विशिष्टे मङ्गलक्षणे।।५६।।
व्यतीते रोहिणीऋक्षे व्रती कुर्याच्च पारणाम्।
तिथ्यन्ते च हरिं स्मृत्वा कृत्वा देवार्चनं व्रती।।५७।।

पारणं पावनं पुंसां सर्वपापप्रणाशनम्।
उपवासाङ्गभूतं च फलदं सिद्धिकारणम्॥५८॥

This particular knowledge is not available in the Vedas and the post-Vedic literature in spite of its being quite of welfare nature and is quite secret. One should break the fast after the Rohiṇī constellation is over at the end of the Aṣṭamī-tithi. One should adore the lord with devotion and thereafter should break the fast which removes all the sins of the humans and is the part of the vrata and fasting it results in welfare and provides success.

सर्वेष्वेवोपवासेषु दिवा पारणमिष्यते।
अन्यथा फलहानिः स्यात्कृते धारणपारणे॥५९॥

In all types of fasting, one should end the fast during the day alone because if one does it otherwise, the merit of the vrata is lost.

न रात्रौ पारणं कुर्यादृते वै रोहिणीव्रतात्।
निशायां पारणं कुर्याद्वर्जयित्वा महानिशाम्॥६०॥

Except the Rohiṇī vrata, the fast should not be broken during the night, even if someone breaks the fast in the night but he should never do it on Mahāniśā (moonless night).

पूर्वाह्णे पारणं शस्तं कृत्वा विप्रसुरार्चनम्।
सर्वेषां संमतं कुयादृते वै रोहिणीव्रतम्॥६१॥

After adoring the Brāhmaṇas and the gods, one should break the fast in the forenoon. The fast should be broken after consulting all except the vrata of Rohiṇī.

बुधसोमसमायुक्ता जयन्ती यदि लभ्यते।
न कुर्याद्गर्भवासं च तत्र कृत्वा व्रतं व्रती॥६२॥

When the Jayantī falls on Monday or Wednesday and if one performs vrata on that day he was never to be born again.

उदये चाष्टमी किंचिन्नवमी सकला यदि।
भवेद्बुधेन्दुसंयुक्ता प्राजापत्यर्क्षसंयुता॥६३॥
अपि वर्षशतेनापि लभ्यते वा न लभ्यते।
व्रतं तत्र व्रती कुर्यात्पुंसां कोटिं समुद्धरेत्॥६४॥
नृणां विना व्रतेनापि भक्तानां हीनसंपदाम्।
कृतेनैवोपासेन प्रीतो भवति माधवः॥६५॥
भक्त्या नानोपचारेण रात्रौ जागरणेन च।
फलं ददाति दैत्यारिर्जयन्तीव्रतसंभवम्॥६६॥
वित्तशाठ्यमकुर्वाणः सम्यक्फलमवाप्नुयात्।
कुर्वाणो वित्तशाठ्यं च लभते सदृशं फलम्॥६७॥

When Aṣṭamī is there at the time of day break and during rest of the period, the Navamī-tithis is there and Rohiṇī Nakṣtra also is combined with Monday of Wednesday, such a type of combination is achieved after hundreds of years but the one who performs vrata during that period crores of his generations are redeemed. Such of the people who are poor can achieve all the merits by observing the fast alone and the lord get pleased with them. One should adore the lord with a mind filled with devotion remaining awake during the night and the lord bestows the reward of performing Jayantī-vrata to them. At that point of time, whosoever gives away in charity-without getting miser, he gets the best of the reward. The one who behaves miserly he achieves the reward only in fraction.

अष्टम्यामथ रोहिण्यां न कुर्यात्पारणं बुधः।
हन्यात्पुराकृतं पुण्यं चोपवासार्जितं फलम्॥६८॥

If an intellectual is unable to break the fast on the day of Aṣṭamī in Rohiṇī constellation, he loses the merit of the fasting performed by him even in earlier births.

तिथिरष्टगुणं हन्ति नक्षत्रं च चतुर्गुणम्।
तस्मात्प्रयत्नतः कुर्यात्तिथिभान्ते च पारणम्॥६९॥

The tithis destroy the merit to eight times and the constellation deprive a person of the merit four times. Therefore one should try to end the fast by the close of the tithis or the constellation.

महानिशायां प्राप्तायां तिथिभान्तं यदा भवेत्।
तृतीयेऽह्नि मुनिश्रेष्ठ पारणं कुरुते बुधः॥७०॥

O best of the sage, in the case the tithis end at Mahāniśā beside the constellation, in that case the intellectual should break the fast on the third day.

षण्मुहूर्ते व्यतीते तु रात्रावेव महानिशा।
लभते ब्रह्महत्यां च तत्र भुक्त्वा च नारद॥७१॥

O Nārada, after the passing of six muhūrtas, the time of Mahāniśā arrives in the night. The one who takes food during that period earns the sin of Brahmahatyā.

गोमांसविण्मूत्रसमं ताम्बूलं च फलं जलम्।
पुंसामभक्ष्यं शुद्धानामोदनस्य च का कथा॥७२॥

The betel, fruits and water offered by him turn into the flesh of cow, refuse and the urine. At that point of time even the best of the food for the humans becomes unfit for consumption, then what to speak of the boiled rice.

त्रियामां रजनीं प्राहुस्त्यक्त्वाऽऽद्यं च चतुष्टयम्।
नाडीनां तदुभे संध्ये दिवसाद्यन्तसंज्ञिते॥७३॥
जन्माष्टम्यां च शुद्धायां कृत्वा जागरणं व्रतम्।
शतजन्मकृतात्पापान्मुच्यते नात्र संशयः॥७४॥

Leaving aside the four daṇḍas of the beginning and the end, the period of night in between them is called Triyāmā, before and end of the night there are two sandhyās (day break and evening). Out of these, one is called the day break and the other the evening. By performing the auspicious Janmāṣṭmī-vrata and remaining awake, a person is relieved of the sin of a hundred births. There is no doubt about it.

जन्माष्टम्यां च शुद्धायामुपोष्य केवलं नरः।

यद्बाल्ये यच्च कौमारे यौवने यच्च वार्धके।
सप्तजन्मकृतात्पापान्मुच्यते नात्र संशयः॥७६॥

At the time of fasting during the auspicious Janmāṣṭamī, one achieves the merit of performing the Aśvamedha sacrifice. Without remaining awake and by performing only the vrata, one is relieved of the sins performed by him during childhood, teen-age, young age, and old age. There is no doubt about it.

Those who consume food during the birthday of Kṛṣṇa earn the sin of enjoying the company of their mothers and besides earning the sin of Brahmahatyā. Besides destroying the merits of crores of their earlier births, they are considered to be unfit for performing religious ceremony for the gods and the manes and have to remain in the kālasūtra hell, till the sun and the moon last. The insect with sharp teeth bite them daily in hell. Thereafter getting redeemed they are reborn in the land of Bhārata and serve as a cowherds for sixty thousands crores of years, a pig for hundred births, wild animal for hundred births, a jackal for seven births, a snake for seven births, a crow for seven births, and a deaf and dumb person suffering from leprosy. He always remains anxious thereafter. He is there born as an animal, a wild animal, a snake charmer, a thief, a vulture, a washerman and blacksmith and thereafter he is born as a temple priest.

उपवासासमर्थश्चेदेकं विप्रं च भोजयेत्।

If anyone is unable to perform the fasting, one should serve food to a Brāhmaṇa, besides giving him the money which should suffice for him to take food twice.

सहस्रसंमितां देवीं जपेद्वा प्राणसंयमान्।
कुर्याद्द्वादशसंख्याकान्यथार्थं तद्व्रते नरः॥८६॥

Thereafter, he should recite the Gāyatrī-mantra a thousand times performing Prāṇāyāma, in this vrata one should recite the mantra twelve thousand times.

Festivities of Nanda's son

नारद उवाच

संस्थाप्य गोकुले कृष्णं यशोदामन्दिरे वसुः।

जगाम स्वगृहं नन्दः किंचकार सुतोत्सवम्॥१॥

किं चकार हरिस्तत्र कतिवर्षस्थितिः प्रभोः।

बालक्रीडनकं तस्य वर्णय क्रमशो मुने॥२॥

Nārada said-Vasudeva placed Kṛṣṇa in the palace of Yaśodā and returned to his abode. Thereafter, how were the festivities for the birth of Kṛṣṇa performed and for how long? You kindly narrate to me the story about his childhood.

पुरा कृता या प्रतिज्ञा गोलोके राधया सह।

तत्कृतं केन विधिना प्रतिज्ञापालनं हरेः॥३॥

In the Goloka the lord had promised to Rādhā but then how could the lord fulfil that promise?.

कीदृग्वृन्दावनं नाम मण्डलं किंविधं वद।

रासक्रीडां जलक्रीडां संव्यस्य वर्णय प्रभो॥४॥

O lord, the account of Vṛndāvana and the sight of the divine dance there, you kindly describe in detail, the Rāsalīlā and the water-sports.

नन्दस्तपः किं चकार यशोदा चाथ रोहिणी।

हरेः पूर्वं च हलिनः कुत्र जन्म बभूव ह॥५॥

पीयूषखण्डमाख्यानमपूर्वं श्रीहरेः स्मृतम्।

विशेषतः कविमुखान्नव्यं नूनं पदे पदे॥६॥

स्वरासमण्डलक्रीडां वर्णय स्वयमेव च।

परोक्षवर्णनात्काव्यं प्रशस्तं नव्यवर्णनम्॥७॥

What type of tapas had Nanda, Yaśodā and Rohiṇī performed? Where was Balabhadra born earlier to his becoming the brother of the lord Kṛṣṇa. The divine story of Hari has been compared with the block of nectar. Particularly by listening to the story of lord Hari from the mouth of the poet, one is infested with devotion and it always appeals as new whenever one listens to it. Therefore, you kindly describe the divine dance performed by Kṛṣṇa from your own mouth in the poetic narrations, one listen to the performance indirectly but wherever one listens to the experience, ones witnesses with his own eyes, it is considered to be the best.

श्रीकृष्णांशो भवान्साक्षाद्योगीन्द्राणां गुरोर्गुरुः।

यो यस्यांशः स च जनस्तस्यैव सुखतः सुखी॥८॥

Because of your being the aṁśa of lord Kṛṣṇa you happen to be the teacher of the yogīs. The one who belongs to a particular aṁśa, he remains happy with the same.

त्वयैव वर्णितौ पादौ विलीनौ तु युवां हरेः।

साक्षाद्गोलोकनाथांशस्त्वमेव तत्समो महान्॥९॥

You are described about the lotus-like feet of lord in which both of you had merged. Therefore you happen to be the clean aṁśa of the lord of Goloka and yourself also as great he is.

नारायण उवाच

ब्रह्मेशशेषविघ्नेशाः कूर्मो धर्मोऽहमेव च।

नरश्च कार्तिकेयश्च श्रीकृष्णांशा वयं नव॥१०॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa, Gaṇeśa, Kūrma, Dharma, myself, the Nara and Kārttikeya happen to be the nine gods who emerged from the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa.

अहो गोलोकनाथस्य महिमा केन वर्ण्यते।

यं स्वयं नो विजानीमो न वेदाः किं विपश्चितः॥११॥

Alas, who can describe the glory of the lord of Goloka. I am myself not quite aware of him nor do the Vedas know about him then, what to say of the other intellectuals?.

सूकरो वामनः कल्किबौद्धः कपिलमीनकौ।

एते चांशाः कलाश्चान्ये सन्त्येव कतिधा मुने॥१२॥

O sage, Varāha, Vāmana, Kalki, Bauddha, Kapila and Matsya also were the aṁśa of the lord. Besides them, there are various other incarnations who happen to be the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa.

कूर्मो नृसिंहो रामश्च श्वेतद्वीपविराड्विभु:।
परिपूर्णतम: कृष्णो वैकुण्ठे गोकुले स्वयम्।।१३।।
वैकुण्ठे कमलाकान्तो रूपभेदाच्चतुर्भुज:।
गोलोके गोकुले राधाकान्तोऽयं द्विभुज: स्वयम्।।१४।।

Kūrma, Nṛsiṁha, Rāma and Virāṭ of Śveta-dvīpa are the aṁśa of lord Viṣṇu. Lord Kṛṣṇa happen to be the great soul. He himself dwells in the Vaikuṇṭha as well as the Goloka. In Vaikuṇṭ ha, he is known to be the husband of Kamalā having four arms and in Goloka he appears in the form of Kṛṣṇa having two arms only and is known as the husband of Rādhā.

अस्यैव तेजो नित्यं च चित्ते कुर्वन्ति योगिन:।
भक्ता: पादाम्बुजं तेज: कुतस्तेजस्विनं विना।।१५।।

All the yogīs always meditate upon the same tejas. There could be no tejas without a Tejasvī.

शृणु विप्र वर्णयामि यशोदानन्दयोस्तप:।
रोहिण्याश्च यतो हेतोर्ददृशुस्ते हरेर्मुखम्।।१६।।
वसूनां प्रवरो नन्दो नाम्ना द्रोणस्तपोधन:।
तस्य पत्नी धरा साध्वी यशोदा सा तपस्विनी।।१७।।

O Brāhmaṇa, now I am going to highlight about the tapas of Yaśodā, Nanda and Rohiṇī as a result of which they could see the face of the lord (in the form of a son.) you listen to me. Nanda happened to be Droṇa who was the best of the Vasus and his chaste wife known as Dharā re-appeared on earth as Yaśodā.

रोहिणी सर्पमाता च कद्रूश्च सर्पकारिणी।
एतेषां जन्मचरितं निबोध कथयामि ते।।१८।।
एकदा च धराद्रोणौ पर्वते गन्धमादने।
पुण्यदे भारते वर्षे गौतमाश्रमसंनिधौ।।१९।।
चक्रतुश्च तपस्तत्र वर्षाणामयुतं मुने।
श्रीकृष्णादर्शनार्थं च निर्जने सुप्रभातटे।।२०।।

Rohiṇī happened to be the mother of the serpents in earlier birth. Now I am going to narrate the life stories of all of them, which you please listen. O sage, once the chaste Dharā and Droṇa performed tapas over the Gandhamādana mountain in the āśrama of Gautama for ten thousand years. They continued tapas on the bank of the Suprabhā river in a secluded place for achieving lord Kṛṣṇa.

न ददर्श हरिं द्रोणो धरा चैव तपस्विनी।
कृत्वाऽग्निकुण्डं वैराग्यात्प्रवेष्टुं समुपस्थितौ।।२१।।

Thereafter both Droṇa and Dharā finding themselves unable to achieve audience, became unattached and prepared a fire alter to burn themselves in the same.

तौ मर्तुकामौ दृष्ट्वा च वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी।
द्रक्ष्यथ: श्रीहरिं पृथ्व्यां गोकुले पुत्ररूपिणम्।।२२।।
जन्मान्तरे वसुश्रेष्ठ दुर्दर्शं योगिनां विभुम्।
ध्यानासाध्यं च विदुषां ब्रह्मादीनां च वन्दितम्।।२३।।

Finding them ready to burn themselves there was a divine voice from the sky saying. "O best of Vasus, you will have an audience with lord Kṛṣṇa on earth in Gokula in the form of a son. Even the yogis are unable to have a look at him. He is beyond the comprehension of most of the intellectuals and is adored by Brahmā even.".

श्रुत्वैवं तद्धराद्रोणौ जग्मतु: स्वालयं सुखात्।
लब्ध्वा तु भारते जन्म दृष्टं ताभ्यां हरेर्मुखम्।।२४।।

On hearing this both Dharā and Droṇa retreated to their respective abodes and in the next birth they had the lord as their son.

यशोदानन्दयोरेवं कथितं चरितं तव।
सुगोप्यं त्रिदशानां च रोहिणीचरितं शृणु।।२५।।

Thus the stories of Nanda and Yaśodā have been narrated by me which are quite secret and beyond the gods. Now I am going to narrate the story of Rohiṇī which you please listen.

एकदा देवमाता च पुष्पोत्सवदिने सती।
विज्ञापनं चरद्वारा चकार कश्यपं मुने।।२६।।
सुस्नाता सुन्दरी देवी रत्नालंकारभूषिता।
चकार वेषं विविधं ददर्श दर्पणे मुखम्।।२७।।

O sage, once during the menstrual period Aditi the mother of gods sent a message to Kaśyapa, she clad herself in beautiful garments and adorned herself with best of gems-studded ornaments after taking bath. Then looking at the mirror, she decorated herself variously.

कस्तूरीबिंदुना सार्धं सिन्दूरबिन्दुसंयुतम्।
रत्नकुण्डलशोभाढ्यं पत्राभरणभूषितम्।।२८।।
गजमौक्तिकसंयुक्तं नासाग्रं सुमनोहरम्।
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं शरत्पङ्कजलोचनम्।।२९।।
वक्रभ्रूभङ्गिना युक्तं विचित्रकज्जलोज्ज्वलम्।
पक्वदाडिमबीजाभदन्तपंक्तिविराजितम्।।३०।।
पक्वबिम्बाधरौष्ठं च सस्मितं सुन्दरं सदा।
अतीव कमनीयं च मुनीन्द्रचित्तमोहनम्।।३१।।
एवंभूतं मुखं दृष्ट्वा सुन्दरी स्वगृहे स्थिता।
पश्यन्ती पतिमार्गं च कामबाणप्रपीडिता।।३२।।

Besides a spot of kastūrī, she also adorned her forehead with the vermilion, her ears with gems-studded kuṇḍalas decorated herself variously and also wore the pearl in her nose. Her face resembled the full moon of winter season and her eyes resembled the lotus flower of winter season. She had curved eye-brows and collyrium was applied to her eyes. She had beautiful teeth resembling the seeds of pomegranate. Her face was quite illumining. Her lips resembled the ripe fruit of wood apple and with her serene smile, she could attract the minds of sages. Looking at her face in the mirror she was lodged in her abode and suffering from passion started anxiously looking towards the path from which her husband was to arrive.

शुश्राव वार्तामदितिः कश्यपं कद्रुसंयुतम्।
रत्नसारसमारम्भे तस्या वक्षःस्थले स्थितम्।।३३।।

In the meantime she came to know that Kaśyapa was enjoying life with Kadrū placing his head on her breasts.

श्रुत्वा चुकोप साध्वी सा हताशा रतिकातरा।
न शशाप पतिं प्रेम्णा शशाप सर्पमातरम्।।३४।।
न देवालययोग्या सा धर्मिष्ठा धर्मनाशिनी।
दूरं गच्छतु स्वर्लोकादात्मयोनिं च मानवीम्।।३५।।
श्रुत्वैवं सा चरद्वारा शशाप देवमातरम्।
सा चैवं मानवी योनिं यातु मर्त्ये जरायुताम्।।३६।।

Thereafter she felt disgusted but in spite of her getting infested with passion, she did not pronounced a curse on her husband but she pronounced a curse of Kadrū. "This lady well-versed in the Dharma has not proved herself worthy of a temple and had indulged herself in the destruction of dharma, therefore, getting deprived of the heaven she would go to the earth and be born in the human race." On hearing these words from the mouth of messengers Kadrū also pronounced a curse on Aditi the mother of the gods thus, "she also would be born on earth and suffer from old age in the human race."

कश्यपो बोधयामास कद्रुं च सर्पमातरम्।
काले यास्यसि मर्त्यं च मया सह शुचिस्मिते।।३७।।
त्यज भीतिं लभ सुखं द्रक्ष्यसि श्रीहरेर्मुखम्।
एवमुक्त्वा कश्यपश्च जगाम चादितेर्गृहम्।।३८।।

Thereafter Kaśyapa tried to convince Kadrū, the mother of the serpents, "O lady with a serene smile, at the time you move on to the earth I shall also accompany you. Therefore shedding all the fears, you be happy." Because on earth, you will be able to witness the lord in the form of your son. Thus speaking Kaśyapa went to the abode of Aditi.

वाञ्छां पूर्णां च तस्याश्च चकार भगवान्विभुः।
ऋतौ तत्र महेन्द्रश्च बभूव च सुरर्षभः।।३९।।

Reaching there Kaśyapa fulfilled the desire of Aditi as a result of which Mahendra was born out of her womb.

अदितिर्देवकी चैव सर्पमाता च रोहिणी।
कश्यपो वसुदेवश्च श्रीकृष्णजनको महान्।।४०।।

The same Aditi appeared as Devakī on earth and Kadrū the mother of the serpents was known as Rohiṇī. Kaśyapa happened to be Vasudeva the father of Kṛṣṇa.

रहस्यं गोपनीयं च सर्वं निगदितं मुने।
अधुना बलदेवस्य जन्माख्यानं मुने शृणु।।४१।।
अनन्तस्याप्रमेयस्य सहस्रशिरसः प्रभोः।
रोहिणी वसुदेवस्य भार्यारत्नं च प्रेयसी।।४२।।

O sage, I have revealed the entire secret of you. I am now going to narrate the story of the birth of Baladeva, which you please listen. He was Ananta, imperishable having thousands of snake-hoods and the incarnation of the lord. Rohiṇī happened to the beloved of Vasudeva.

जगाम गोकुलं साध्वी वसुदेवाज्ञया मुने।
संकर्षणस्य रक्षार्थं कंसभीता पलायिता॥४३॥

O sage, with the permission of Vasudeva for the protection of Saṁkarṣaṇa from Kaṁsa, she went to Gokula.

देवक्याः सप्तमं गर्भं माया कृष्णाज्ञया तदा।
रोहिण्या जठरे तत्र स्थापयामास गोकुले॥४४॥

At that point of 'ime at the command of lord Kṛṣṇa, Yogamāyā, extracted the foetus of Nanda from the womb of Devakī and transplanted it into the womb of Rohiṇī.

संस्थाप्य च तदा गर्भं कैलासं सा जगाम ह।
दिनान्तरे कतिपये रोहिणी नन्दमन्दिरे॥४५॥
सुषाव पुत्रं कृष्णांशं तप्तरौप्याभमीश्वरम्।
ईषद्धास्यं प्रसन्नास्यं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा॥४६॥

After doing so the goddess went to Kailāsa. With the passage of time Rohiṇī gave birth to a son who happened to be the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa. He had the complexion of the molten silver and quite glorious. The lord himself had a serene smile on the face and possessed the divine lustre.

तस्यैव जन्ममात्रेण देवा मुमुदिरे तदा।
स्वर्गे दुन्दुभयो नेदुरानका मुरजादयः॥४७॥

With the birth of Baladeva, all the gods were delighted and big drums were beaten in the heaven besides other musical instrument were also played upon there.

जयशब्दं शङ्खशब्दं चक्रुर्देवा मुदाऽन्विताः।
नन्दो हृष्टो ब्राह्मणेभ्यो धनं बहुविधं ददौ॥४८॥

Getting immensely pleased the gods shouted the slogan of victory, blowing on the conches at the same time. Nanda on the other hand getting delighted distributed enormous riches to the Brāhmaṇas.

चिच्छेद नाडीं धात्री च स्नापयामास बालकम्।
जयशब्दं जगुर्गोप्यः सर्वाभरणभूषिताः॥४९॥

With the severing of the cord by the mid-wife, the child was bathed, the cowherdesses adorned with all the ornaments started shouting the slogan of victory.

परपुत्रोत्सवं नन्दश्चकार परमादरात्।
तदा यशोदा गोपीभ्यो ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ मुदा॥५०॥

जन्माख्यानं च हलिनो रोहिणीचरितं तथा।
अधुना ते वाञ्छनीयं नन्दपुत्रोत्सवं शृणु॥५२॥

Nanda gracefully celebrated the occasion of the birth of a son. Thereafter getting pleased, Yaśodā distributed riches to the cowherdesses as well as the Brāhmaṇas besides other articles like oil, vermilion etc. O son, I have thus narrated to you the story about the tapas of Nanda and Yaśodā besides the birth of Balabhadra, and the story of Rohiṇī. Now I am going to narrate to you about the festivities following the birth of Kṛṣṇa in the house of Nanda. You listen it.

सुखदं मोक्षदं सारं जन्ममृत्युजरापहम्।
मङ्गलं कृष्णचरितं वैष्णवानां च जीवनम्॥५३॥

गृहीत्वा बालिकां हृष्टो जगाम निजमन्दिरम्।
कथितं चरितं तस्याः श्रुतं सन्मुखतो मुने॥५५॥

The hearing of life-stories of Kṛṣṇa bestows pleasure, salvation, knowledge of sattvas, removes the cycle of birth and death besides old age. They happen to be the life of Vaiṣṇavas, remover of all the misfortunes and bestows the devotion of the lord. O sage, Vasudeva placing Kṛṣṇa in the abode of Nanda and carrying the girl-child in her place, he returned to his abode with pleasure. I have recited the story in detail earlier and also about the girl-child.

अधुना गोकुले कृष्णचरितं शृणु मङ्गलम्।
वसुदेवे गृहं याते यशोदा नन्द एव च॥५६॥
मङ्गले सूतिकागारे जयागारे जयान्विते।
ददर्श पुत्रं भूमिष्ठं नवीननीरदप्रभम्॥५७॥

रुदन्तं च हसन्तं च वेणुसंसक्तविग्रहम्।
हस्तद्वयं सुविन्यस्तं प्रेमवन्तं पदाम्बुजम्॥५९॥

He was quite beautiful and without robes and was looking at the kalaśa placed at the top of the house. The lustre of his face put to shame, the lustre of the moon and both his eyes were life the blue lotus flower. Some times he cried and some times he laughed, the particles of dust were found over his limbs. Both his hand were placed over the ground and both his lotus-like feet looked like the mass of love.

He could not take his food and he summoned Pūtanā, who was dearer to him than his life and spoke to her in his court which was attended to by many kings.

O Yoginī, by means of your illusion you take to human form and go there. O well established one, you can move everywhere because of the mantra you received from Durvāsā and are also competent to take to any form. O Nārada, thus speaking the king Kaṁsa, kept quiet. Bowing in reverence to Kaṁsa, Pūtanā started from the place. The glory of her limbs resembled the molten gold. She was adorned with various types of ornaments and the garland of jasmine flowers, wearing beautiful hair do over the head. She was having the beautiful spots of kastūrī on her forehead, besides the vermilion creating sound with her anklets and waist-band, she went on to her path. Reaching Vraja, she looked at the beautiful palace of Nanda which was difficult to look at by others and was surrounded by quite deep and dark revines which were difficult to cross. It was constructed by Viśvakarmā with stones.

The beautiful palace was surrounded by the beautiful damsels and was filled with diamonds and gems besides other riches. There were enormous number of golden vases, crores of cows, lakhs of cowherds, serving as attendants who were fed there. There were thousands of slave girls who were engaged in different types of works. The chaste Pūtanā entered in such a type of palace in a beautiful form, wearing the serene smile over her face.

They offered her a lion throne as a seat and washed her feet. The chaste lady also enquired of the welfare from the cowherdesses. The beautiful damsel then sat there with a smile on her face and accepted the offerings made to her by the cowherds and cowherdesses quite delightfully.

तामूचुर्गोपिकाः सर्वाः का त्वमीश्वरि सांप्रतम्।
वासस्ते कुत्र किं नाम किं वाऽत्र कर्म नो वद॥२५॥

Thereafter, the cowherdesses enquired of her, "O damsel who are you and where do you live. What is your name? What is the purpose of your arrival here? You tell us.".

I have heard from a messenger that Nanda and Yaśodā have got a son in the old age. On hearing it, I have arrived here to blessed the child. You bring here the child, I shall revert to my abode after blessing the child.".

ब्राह्मणीवचनं श्रुत्वा यशोदा हृष्टमानसा।

On hearing the words of the Brāhmaṇa lady the mind of Yaśodā was delighted who bowed before her and gave the child to the Brāhmaṇa lady who carried him in her lap.

कृत्वा क्रोडे तु तं साध्वी चुचुम्ब च पुनः पुनः।

Carrying him in her lap, she kissed him again and again; thereafter the chaste Pūtanā inserted his breast into the mouth of Kṛṣṇa.

She fell down with her face on the earth and left her worldly body and entered the ethereal body. She mounted on a gem-studded chariot which was carefully built. The chariot was surrounded with the divine courtiers having beautiful banners in lakhs. It had a large number of mirrors, garments purified by fire was the best, having painting made of different types of gems and had a hundred wheels. It was illumining with the lustre of the gems. The courtiers carried her to excellent Goloka making Pūtanā to ride over it.

Beholding the wonderful act, the cowherd and the cowherdesses felt surprised and hearing all this Kanśa too became dazed.

O sage, Yaśodā then picked up the child and took him in his lap and started feeding him with her breasts. They also performed the welfare ceremony through the Brāhmaṇas for child.

Thereafter, Nanda delightfully cremated the body of Pūtanā using sandal-wood, aguru and kastūrī besides others fragrant articles.

नारद उवाच

सा वा का राक्षसीरूपा कथं पुण्यवती सती।

Nārada said- Who was that chaste lady in the form of Pūtanā appearing as a demoness? By what merit she had an audience with the lord with and went to the abode Kṛṣṇa?.

Nārāyaṇa said- In the sacrifice of Bali his daughter named Ratnamālā felt attracted towards Vāmana and desired to have him as her son. She had thought in her mind that the son like him should be fed by her from her breasts. "Inserting the breast in to his mouth I shall make him sit over my breasts.".

Killing of Tṛṇāvarta

नारायण उवाच

एकदा गोकुले साध्वी यशोदा नन्दगेहिनी।

गृहकर्मणि संसक्ता कृत्वा बालं स्ववक्षसि॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Yāsodā, the chaste wife of Nanda was engaged in some household work carrying the child in her lap.

वात्यारूपं तृणावर्तमागच्छन्तं च गोकुलम्।

श्रीहरिर्मनसा ज्ञात्वा भारयुक्तो बभूव ह॥२॥

At that very moment a demon named Tṛṇāvarta arrived there in the form of a storm in Gokula. Lord Kṛṣṇa realising the arrival of the demon increased the weight of his body.

भाराक्रान्ता यशोदा च तत्याज बालकं तदा।

शयने कारयित्वा च जगाम यमुनां मुने॥३॥

O sage, Yaśodā finding herself unable to carry the weight of the child, placed him over the bed and herself went to the Yamunā.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वात्यारूपधरोऽसुरः।
आदाय तं भ्रामयित्वा गत्वा च शतयोजनम्॥४॥

In the meantime the demon in the form of a storm carried the child moving him round and round.

बभञ्ज वृक्षशाखाश्च ह्यन्धीभूत च गोकुलम्।

श्रीकृष्णचरणस्पर्शाद्गोलोकं स जगाम ह॥७॥

The demon uprooted the trees and broke the branches and then created the dust storm plunging the entire Gokula in darkness. The illusory demon created all this storm in a moment. He was then himself upset with the weight of lord Kṛṣṇa and fell down on the ground. With the touch of lord Hari, the demon also achieved Vaikuṇṭha; all his deeds were destroyed and mounted on the chariot, he reached in the Goloka. He was the king of the land and had turned into a demon with the curse of Durvāsā. With the touch of lord Kṛṣṇa, he reached Goloka,.

वात्यारूपे गते गोपा गोप्यश्च भयविह्वलाः।

O sage, after the departure of the demon, all the cowherds and cowherdesses were terror stricken. Finding the child missing from the bed all of them felt panicky and while crying they started beating the breasts. Some of them were fainted and some of them started crying.

अन्वेषणं प्रकुर्वन्तो ददृशुर्बालकं व्रजे।

He was found at the bank of a tank with deep water. Getting panicky, he was crying looking towards the sky.

गृहीत्वा बालकं नन्दः कृत्वा वक्षसि सत्वरम्।
दर्शं दर्शं मुखं तस्य रुरोद च शुचाऽन्वितः॥१२॥

Nanda at once picked up the child and carried him in his lap. Looking at the face of the child he, started crying aloud.

यशोदा रोहिणी शीघ्रं दृष्ट्वा बालं रुरोद च।
कृत्वा वक्षसि तद्वक्त्रं चुचुम्ब च मुहुर्मुहुः॥१३॥
मङ्गलं कारयामास स्नापयामास बालकम्।
स्तनं ददौ यशोदा च प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा॥१४॥

Thereafter, Yaśodā and Rohiṇī also started crying looking at the child. Carrying him in their lap they started kissing his face again and again. After performing the welfare ceremony the child was made to bathe. Thereafter expressing delight through face and eyes, Yaśodā inserted her breast in to his mouth.

नारद उवाच

कथं शशाप दुर्वासाः पाण्ड्यदेशोद्भवं नृपम्।
सुविचार्य वद ब्रह्मन्नितिहासं पुरातनम्॥१५॥

Nārada said- O Brahman, why did Durvāsā pronounced a curse on the king of Pāṇḍya country? You kindly think over it care fully and narrate the old story.

नारायण उवाच

पाण्ड्यदेशाधिपो राजा सहस्राक्षः प्रतापवान्।
स्त्रीसहस्रं समादाय कामबाणप्रपीडितः॥१६॥
मनोहरे निर्जने च पर्वते गन्धमादने।
विजहार नदीतीरे पुष्पोद्याने मनोरमे॥१७॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Sahasrākṣa, the king of Pāṇḍya country was quite glorious, the king infatuated with passion accompanied with a hundred damsels was roaming about in a secluded place over Gandhamādana mountain, he enjoyed conjugal pleasured over the bank of the river, in the flower or chard located over the bank of the river.

नानाप्रकारशृङ्गारं विपरीतादिकं नृपः।
नखदन्तक्षताङ्गं च कामिनीनां चकार सः॥१८॥

The king behaved pervertedly with the damsels injuring them with teeth and the nails while indulging in love-sports.

कृत्वा मूर्तिसहस्रं च योगीन्द्रो नृपतीश्वरः।
कृत्वा स्थलविहारं च जलक्रीडां चकार ह॥१९॥

The competent king taking to a thousand forms enjoyed the company of the damsel over the land as well as in water.

नार्यो विवसनाः सर्वा नग्नाश्च नृपयोषितः।
विजह्रुश्च पुष्पभद्रानदीतीरे मनोहरे॥२०॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र समायातो महामुनिः।
शिष्यलक्षैः परिवृतो गच्छन्वै शंकरं प्रति॥२१॥

Thus all the damsels were engaged in water-sport with the king in the Puṣpabhadrā river getting unrobed. In the meantime, Durvāsā accompanied by a lakh of his pupils arrived there on his way to a abode of Śiva.

दृष्ट्वा मुनिं महामत्तोनोत्तस्थौ न ननाम ह।
वाचा हस्तेन राजा च संभाषां न चकार ह॥२२॥

The intoxicated king did not show due respect to the sage on his arrival. He did not get up to welcome him nor did the express anything by indication of hand or speech.

दृष्ट्वा चुकोप नृपतिं शशाप स्फुरिताधरः।
असुरो भव पापिष्ठ योगाद् भ्रष्टो भुवं व्रज॥२३॥
भारते लक्षवर्षं च स्थातव्यं ते नराधम।
ततो हरिपदस्पर्शाद्गोलोकं यास्यसि ध्रुवम्॥२४॥

Finding the king in such a condition, the sage was enraged and his lips started fluttering. He then pronounced a curse, "O sinful one getting deprived of the yoga you become a demon and move on to the earth. O degraded human, you will wander in the land of Bhārata for lakhs of years and thereafter you will achieve Goloka. With the touch of the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

स्थाने स्थाने हे महिष्यो जनिं लभत भारते।
राजेन्द्रगेहे राजेन्द्राद्धविष्यथ मनोहरा॥२५॥

O queen, you will go to the land of Bhārata and shall be born in the houses of the people there.

इत्युक्त्वा तु मुनीन्द्रस्तु जगाम शंकरालयम्।
हाहाशब्दं विचक्रुश्च शिष्यसंघाः कृपालवः॥२६॥

Thus speaking the sage proceeded on to the abode of Śiva. All the compassionate pupils of the sage felt panicky.

गते मुनीन्द्रे राजेन्द्रो रुरोद च सरित्तटे।
रुरुदू रमणीयाश्च रमण्यो विरहातुराः॥२७॥

After the departure of the sage, the king was seated over the bank of the stream and started crying. All his beloved queens started crying due to the separation from the king.

हे नाथ रमणश्रेष्ठेत्युच्चार्य च पुनः पुनः।
त्वां विना वा क्व यास्यामो वयं त्वं वा क्व यास्यसि॥२८॥
वयं नो विहरिष्यामस्त्वया सार्धं सुनिर्जने।
न करिष्यसि राज्यं त्वं न यास्यामो गृहं वयम्॥२९॥

They said, "O lord, the best in performing of the love sport. Where shall we go without you and where shall you go leaving us." Alas, you shall not be able to enjoy the love-sport in the secluded place any further. If you do not remain the king, we shall not go to our abode.

शरच्चन्द्रप्रभामुष्टं न द्रक्ष्यामो मुखं तव।
प्रसारिताभ्यां बाहुभ्यां नाऽनयिष्याम इत्यतः॥३०॥

You shall not be able to look at your moon like face of enjoy the pleasure or your embrace.

इत्युक्त्वा रुरुदुः सर्वाः पुरस्कृत्य नराधिपम्।
मूर्छामवापुश्चरणं धृत्वा राज्ञः सरित्तटे॥३१॥

Thereafter remaining at the bank of the river, the queen caught hold of the feet of the king and fainted while crying.

राजाऽग्निकुण्डमाधाय नारीभिः सह नारद।
स्मृत्वा हरिपदाम्भोजं ज्वलदग्निं विवेश ह॥३२॥
हाहाकारं सुराः सर्वे विचक्रुर्गगने स्थिताः।
इत्यूचुर्मुनयश्चैव दैवं च बलवत्तरम्॥३३॥

O Nārada, thereafter the king, together with the queens entered into the fire alter reciting the name of the lotus-like feet of lord. All the gods in the heaven felt panicky at the sight. The destiny is always powerful. This has been proclaimed by the sages.

स च राजा तृणावर्तो जगाम हरिमन्दिरम्।
महिष्यो भारते वर्षे लेभिरे जन्म वाञ्छितम्।।३४।।

Thereafter the same king was turned to the from of Tṛṇāvarta and ultimately achieved Vaikuṇṭha. His queen were also born in the land of Bhārata.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेर्माहात्म्यमुत्तमम्।
मोक्षणं नृपतेश्चैव मुनीन्द्रशापहेतुकम्।।३५।।

Thus, I have narrate the glory of Hari and have also narrated the redemption of the king from demonhood.

Destruction of Śakaṭāsura

नारायण उवाच

एकदा मन्दिरे नन्दपत्नी सानन्दपूर्वकम्।
कृत्वा वक्षसि गोविन्दं क्षुधितं च स्तनं ददौ।।१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Yaśodā the wife of Nanda carried the child in her lap was feeding him with her breast milk.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे गोप्य आजग्मुर्नन्दमन्दिरम्।
स्थविराश्च वयस्याश्च बालिका बालकान्विता:।।२।।

तैलसिन्दूरताम्बूलं ददौ ताभ्यो मुदाऽन्विता।
मिष्टवस्तूनि वस्त्राणि भूषणानि च गोपिका।।४।।

In the meantime all the cowherds and the old ladies together with boys and girls arrived in the abode of Nanda. At that point of time Yaśodā placed the child who was still hungry over the bed and delightfully with pleasure started giving away the oil, vermilion, betel, sweets, clothes and ornaments on the occasion of the birthday of Kṛṣṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कृष्णो रुरोद क्षुधितस्तदा।
प्रेरयित्वा स चरणं मायेशो मायया विभु:।।५।।
पपात चरणं तस्य प्रवीणे शकटे मुने।

बभञ्च शकटं पेतुर्भग्नकाष्ठानि तत्र वै।
पपात दधि दुग्धं च नवनीतं घृतं मधु।।७।।

In the meantime hungry Kṛṣṇa started crying. In the meantime Kṛṣṇa the lord of illusion placed his foot with his illusion. His fort fell over the solid cart in the court-yard. With the blow of the foot of Kṛṣṇa, the cart was shuttered into pieces which were scattered everywhere. The card, milk, ghee, butter and honey placed in the cart started flowing.

दृष्ट्वाऽश्चर्यं गोपिकाश्च दुद्रुवुर्बालकं भयात्।
ददृशुर्भग्नशकटमिन्धनाभ्यन्तरे शिशुम्।।८।।
भग्नभाण्डसमूहं च पतितं बहुगोरसम्।
प्रेरयित्वा तु काष्ठानि जग्राह बालकं भिया।।९।।
मायारक्षितसर्वाङ्गं रुदितं क्षुधितं क्षुधा।
स्तनं ददौ यशोदा तं रुदोद च भृशं शुचा।।१०।।

Looking at the surprise, the cowherdesses went running to the child. They found that he had been broken the cart into wooden pieces. All the vases of cart had been broken resulting into the flow of milk. With the remaining pieces, of wood. Feeling panicky, Yaśodā removed the child from there, whose all the limbs were intact with the influence of illusion. He was crying, simply because he was hungry. The grief-stricken Yaśodā started crying and also fed the child with her breast.

पप्रच्छुर्बालकान्गोपा बभञ्ज शकटं कथम्।
किंचिद्धेतुं न पश्याम: सहसेति किमद्भुतम्।।११।।

श्रुत्वा तद्वचनं गोपा गोप्यश्च जहसुर्मुदा।
न हि जग्मु: प्रतीतिं च मिथ्येत्यूचुर्व्रजे प्रजा:।।१३।।

The cowherds enquired from the boys playing there. "How did this cart be broken"? We don't find any reason for it. All of a sudden how could this surprise happen." On hearing this boys said, "O cowherds, you listen to our talk, the cart was broken with the attack of Kṛṣṇa by his feet." On hearing this, all the cowherds and cowherdesses started laughing delightfully, who could not believe the same, the people of Vraja said that it was all false.

शिशोः स्वस्त्ययनं कार्यं चक्रुर्ब्राह्मणपुंगवाः।
हस्तं दत्त्वा शिशोर्गात्रे पपाठ कवचं द्विजः॥१४॥

Thereafter the welfare ceremony of the child was performed by the Brāhmaṇas. One of the Brāhmaṇas placing his hand over the head of the child recited a kavaca.

वदामि तत्ते विप्रेन्द्र कवचं सर्वरक्षणम्।
यद्दत्तं मायया पूर्वं ब्रह्मणे नाभिपङ्कजे॥१५॥
निद्रिते जगतीनाथे जले च जलशायिनि।

इत्येवं कथितं ब्रह्मन्कवचं परमाद्भुतम्।
कृष्णेन कृपया दत्तं स्मृतेनैव पुरा मया।।२८।।

O Brahman, this is quite and astonishing kavaca the knowledge of which was bestowed on me by lord Kṛṣṇa in earlier times.

शुम्भेन सह संग्रामे निर्लक्ष्ये घोरदारुणे।
गगने स्थितया सद्य: प्राप्तिमात्रेण स जित:।।२९।।

Engaged in the terrific fight with Śumbha, goddess Durgā on receiving this kavaca defeated the demon in no time.

कवचस्य प्रभावेण धरण्यां पतितो मृत:।
पूर्व वर्षशतं खे च कृत्वा युद्धं भयावहम्।।३०।।
मृते शुम्भे च गोविन्द: कृपालुर्गगनस्थित:।
मालां च कवचं दत्त्वा गोलोकं स जगाम ह।।३१।।

With the influence of this kavaca he fell on the ground after have been killed. In the earlier times Śumbha carried on the war for a hundred years remaining in the sky and after his death lord Govinda while remaining in the sky bestowed this kavaca together with the rosary. And he went to Goloka thereafter.

कल्पान्तरस्य वृत्तान्तं कृपया कथितं मुने।
अभ्यन्तरभयं नास्ति कवचस्य प्रभावत:।।३२।।

O sage, I have narrated to you this kavaca with which no one gets panicky at any time.

कोटिश: कोटिशो नष्टा मया दृष्टाश्च वेधस:।
अहं च हरिणा सार्धं कल्पे कल्पे स्थिरा सदा।।३३।।

In every kalpa with the company of the lord, I have seen crores of Brāhmaṇas falling.

इत्युक्त्वा कवचं दत्त्वा सान्तर्धानं चकार ह।
नि:शङ्को नाभिकमले तस्थौ स कमलोद्भव:।।३४।।

Thus speaking handing over the kavaca, the goddess disappeared. Thereafter Brahmā continued to dwell on the lotus emerging from navel of Viṣṇu.

सुवर्णगुटिकायां च कृत्वेदं कवचं परम्।
कण्ठे वा दक्षिणे बाहौ बध्नीयाद्य: सुधी: सदा।।३५
विषाग्निजलशत्रुभ्यो भय तस्य न जायते।
जले स्थले चान्तरिक्षे निद्रायां रक्षतीश्वर:।।३६।।

This kavaca should be kept in gold and the intelligent people should it over the right arm and by doing so, one is relieved of the danger of poison, fire, water and enemies. The kavaca protect one in the waters on earth in the sky while sleeping or awake.

संग्रामे वज्रपाते च विपत्तौ प्राणसंकटे।
कवचस्मरणादेव सद्यो नि:शङ्कतां व्रजेत्।।३७।।

During the time of war, fall of thunderbolt, evil times and danger of death, one becomes fearless with the reciting of this kavaca.

बद्ध्वेदं कवचं कण्ठे शंकरस्त्रिपुरं पुर:।
जघान लीलामात्रेण दुरन्तमसुरेश्वरम्।।३८।।

In the earlier times by reciting this kavaca around his neck, Śiva easily over-powered Tripurāsura and kicked him.

बद्ध्वेदं कवचं काली रक्तबीजं चखाद सा।
सहस्रशीर्षा धृत्वेदं विश्वं धत्ते तिलं यथा।।३९।।

In the meantime holding this kavaca, the goddess swallowed Raktabīja and the Śeṣa with a thousand heads bears the load of the universe like the seed of sesamum.

आवां सनत्कुमारश्च धर्मसाक्षी च कर्मणाम्।
कवचस्य प्रभावेण सर्वत्र जयिनो वयम्।।४०।।

Both of us (Nara-nārāyaṇa), Sanatkumāra, Dharma witness of the karmas are always victorious with the influence of this kavaca.

तस्य नन्दशिशो: कण्ठे चकार कवचं द्विज:।
आत्मन: कवचं कण्ठे दधार च स्वयं हरि:।।४१।।

Thereafter Nanda, tied that kavaca round the neck of Kṛṣṇa. Thus lord Hari was adored with his own kavaca around his neck for protection.

प्रभाव: कथित: सर्व: कवचस्य हरेस्तथा।
अनन्तस्याच्युतस्यैव प्रभावमतुलं मुने॥४२॥

O sage, I have narrated to you the influence of the kavaca of lord Hari and I am also narrating to the astonishing influence of lord Acyuta.

Annaprāśana and names giving ceremonies of Śrī Kṛṣṇa

नारायण उवाच

अपरं कृष्णमाहात्म्यं शृणु किंचिन्महामुने।
विघ्नविघ्नं पापहरं महापुण्यकरं परम्॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O best of the sages, you listen to the glory of lord Kṛṣṇa which removes all the abstractions and the sins, besides being highly meritorious.

एकदा नन्दपत्नी च कृत्वा कृष्णं स्ववक्षसि।
स्वर्णसिंहासनस्था च क्षुधितं तं स्तनं ददौ॥२॥

Once Yaśodā the wife of Nanda, seated on a golden lion-throne was feeding Kṛṣṇa with her breasts. At that point of time a Brāhmaṇa arrived there surrounded with his pupils and illumining with the divine lustre he was holding rosary of crystal gems and was reciting the name of eternal Brahman. He carried with him a stuff and an umbrella. Besides being clad in white garment, his lines of teeth were looking quite charming.

ज्योतिर्ग्रन्थो मूर्तिमांश्च वेदवेदाङ्गपारग:।
परिबिभ्रज्जटाजालं तप्तकाञ्चनसंनिभम्॥५॥

He was well versed in astrology as well as the Vedas and post-Vedic literature. He was wearing over his head the matted locks of hair, looking like the molten gold.

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यो गौराङ्ग: पद्मलोचन:।
योगीन्द्रो धूर्जटे: शिष्य: शुद्धभक्तो गदाभृत:॥६॥

His face resembled the full moon of the winter season. He had fair complexion and his eyes resembled the lotus flowers. The great yogī happened to be the pupil of Śiva, besides being the devotee of lord Viṣṇu.

व्याख्यामुद्राकर: श्रीमाञ्छिष्यानध्यापयन्मुदा।
वेदव्याख्यां कतिविधां प्रकुर्वन्निव लीलया॥७॥

ध्यानैकनिष्ठ: श्रीकृष्णपादाम्भोजे दिवानिशम्।
जीवन्मुक्तो हि सिद्धेश: सर्वज्ञ: सर्वदर्शन:॥९॥

The great sage delight fully educated his pupil. His one hand was held in Vyākhyānamudrā, which was clearly visible. He used to recite the commentary on the Vedas variously with pleasure. Looking at him, it appeared that all the Vedas had appeared in him in person with all their glory. The goddess of Sarasvatī was dwelling in his throat and he happened to be only expert in the interpretation of the scriptures with his mind always devoted at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa. He was free from birth, lord of the siddhas and was all-knowledgeable.

तं दृष्ट्वा सा समुत्तस्थौ यशोदा प्रणनाम च।

बालकं वन्दयामास मुनीन्द्रं सस्मितं मुदा।
मुनिश्च मनसा चक्रे प्रणामशतकं हरिम्॥११॥

Looking at him Yaśodā got up and bowed before him. Then she offered him arghya, the cows madhuparka and the gold besides offering him lion-throne for sitting. She also delightfully made her child to bow before the sage. The sage on his part bowed in reverence to lord Kṛṣṇa a hundred times.

आशिषं प्रददौ प्रीत्या वेदमन्त्रोपयोगिकम्।
प्रणनाम च शिष्यांश्च ते तां युयुजुराशिषम्॥१२॥

Reciting the hymns of the Vedas the blessed him variously. Thereafter, Yaśodā also bowed in reverence to his pupils who blesses her variously.

शिष्यान्पाद्यादिकं भक्त्या प्रददौ च पृथक्पृथक्।
सशिष्याङ्घ्री च प्रक्षाल्य समुवास सुखासने॥१३॥
समुद्यता सा प्रष्टुं च पुटाञ्जलियुता सती।
स्वक्रोडे बालकं कृत्वा भक्तिन म्रात्मकं धरा॥१४॥

Yaśodā entertained the pupils of the sage individually bowing before them offering pādya etc. Thereafter the sage together with his pupils washed their feet and occupied their respective seats. Thereafter the chaste Yaśodā carrying the child in her lap with her mind filled with devotion got ready to ask something from sage.

यो यस्य सेवानिरतः स कं पृच्छति तं विना॥२८॥

Only the male or female servants can put questions to the lord. The one who serves the lord daily, whom shall he ask for the removal of his doubt.

I am quite youthful and indebted to you. My life has met with success with the very touch of the dust of your lotus-like feet. The sins of crores of birth have disappeared. Because with the touch of the water from your feet even the earth gets purified and with your arrival here my abode has been purified and has been turned into a holy place.

ये ये श्रुता: श्रुतौ ब्रह्मञ्छ्रुतिसारा महाजना:।
तेषामेको मया दृष्ट: पूर्वपुण्यफलोदयात्।।३१।।

O Brahman, such of the people who have been described as the best in the Vedas, you happen to be one of them and I could have an audience with you because of the merit earned by me in the earlier births.

शिष्या वेदा मूर्तिमन्तो ग्रीष्ममध्याह्नभास्करा:।
गोकुलं मत्कुलं सद्य: पुनन्ति पादरेणुना।।३२।।

Your glorious pupils are emitting lustre like the mid-day sun of the summer season. You have surely purified Gokula and my abode with the dust of your feet.

आशिषं कर्तुमर्हन्ति प्रसन्नमनसा शिशुम्।
पूर्णस्वस्त्ययनं सद्यो विप्राशीर्वचनं ध्रुवम्।।३३।।

The great ascetics like you would be competent to bless my child. Indeed the blessing of a Brāhmaṇa bestows welfare completely and immediately.

Thus speaking Yaśodā the wife of Nanda stood with a devoted mind before be ascetic and she sent a messengers to call for Nanda also at the spot. On hearing the words of Yaśodā, the ascetic smiled and all the pupils also started laughing illumining all the directions.

हितं तथ्यं नीतियुक्तं महत्पुण्यकरं परम्।
तामुवाच मुदा युक्त: शुद्धबुद्धिर्महामुनि:।।३६।।

Thereafter the sage of the pure wisdom delightfully spoke words to Yaśodā, which bestowed welfare, were truthful, quite appropriate as well as meritorious.

सुधामयं ते वचनं लौकिकं च कुलोचितम्।
यस्य यत्र कुले जन्म स एव तादृशो भवेत्।।३७।।

Garga said- Your nectar like words are quite befitting to your race and the people. The race in which one is born, he gains the temperament of the same.

For the lotus-like race of the cowherds Giribhānu happened to be like the sun, his wife known as chaste Padmāvatī equated Lakṣmī you happen to be their daughter and you have been given the name of Yaśodā for the increase in their glory. You have accepted Nanda who is the best of the Vallabha race as your husband.

O noble lady, I know your true identity as well as that of Nanda and also the reason for which this child has arrived but I shall speak this out to Nanda in seclusion. I am the family priest of the people of Yadu race for a long time and am known by the name of Garga. I have been deputed by Vasudeva for an important task which cannot be established by anyone else. In the meantime on hearing the arrival of the sage, Nanda also arrived there and prostrated before the sage.

शिष्यान्ननाम मूर्ध्ना च ते तं युयुजुराशिषम्।

He also bowed in reverence to his pupils. All of them blessed Nanda variously; thereafter Nanda and Yaśodā got up from their seats and also took the sage Garga with them in the inner apartment. In that room only Garga, Nanda, Yaśodā and their sons were present. At that point of time Garga revealed to them and important secret.

गर्ग उवाच

Garga said- I shall speak to you some pleasant words. The purpose for which Vasudeva has sent me here, you kindly listen to me. Afraid of the terror of Kaṁsa, Vasudeva had brought this child here and placed him in the labour room and carrying your daughter form here, he went to Mathurā. Therefore Vasudeva happens to be the father of this child and the one who is elder to this child also is his son. He has sent me secretly to perform the Annaprāśana and names giving ceremonies of the children secretly. Therefore, you kindly make arrangements for the same.

Your child is the form of eternal Brahman and has incarnated on earth for removing her burden. Brahmā had adored him and happens to be the lord of Goloka. He is the husband of Rādhā. He also happens to be Nārāyaṇa the dweller of Vaikuṇṭha and the lord of Kamalā. Viṣṇu who happens to be the dweller of the Śveta-dvīpa is also his form alone. All the sages like Kapila, Nara-nārāyaṇa and others are not separate from him. Evidently he has arrived here possessing the lustre of all. The same Kṛṣṇa had appeared in his true from before Vasudeva and then turned himself into the form of a child.

Currently he has arrived here in labour room of your abode. This child has been born without any human contact over the earth. Before birth with his illusion, he had filled the womb of his mother with the wind. After appearing before Vasudeva, he displayed his true form and then became a child again.

O Vallabha, the boy appeared with the different names and the different forms, combining him the complexion of whiteness, yellowness and redness. He has appeared as Kṛṣ ṇa in the Satyayuga. Having been surrounded by the dazzling lustre he appeared with fair-complexion. In the Tretāyuga he appeared with red-complexion and Dvāpara he appeared with yellow-complexion in the Kaliyuga he appeared in dark-complexion in the Tretāyuga he combined in him all the lustre as a complete Brahma; that is why he has been given of Kṛṣṇa.

ब्रह्मणो वाचकः कोऽयमृकारोऽनन्तवाचकः।
शिवस्य वाचकः षश्च नकारो धर्मवाचकः॥५७॥

क in the word Kṛṣṇa appears form the form of Brahmā, ऋ stand for unlimited, श stand for Śiva and ण stands for dharma.

अकारो विष्णुवचनः श्वेतद्वीपनिवासिनः।
नरनारायणार्यस्य विसर्गो वाचकः स्मृतः॥५८॥

Even otherwise अः stands for Viṣṇu, the dweller of Śveta-dvīpa and the voiceless aspiration (visarga) stands for Nara-nārāyaṇa.

सर्वेषां तेजसां राशि: सर्वमूर्तिस्वरूपक:।
सर्वाधार: सर्वबीजस्तेन कृष्ण इति स्मृत:॥५९॥

This happens to be the lustre of all the gods, the form of all the gods, the base of all and the seed of all. That is why he is called Kṛṣṇa.

कर्मनिर्मूलवचन: कृषिर्नो दास्यवाचक:।
अकारो दातृवचनस्तेन कृष्ण इति स्मृत:॥६०॥
कृषिर्निश्चेष्टवचनो नकारो भक्तिवाचक:।
अकार: प्राप्तिवचनस्तेन कृष्ण इति स्मृत:॥६१॥

The other interpretation is that कृष् stands for the destruction of all the deeds and ण stands for the devotion for the one who bestows the devotion or his slavehood. अ is used for the one who is the bestower. Therefore he has been given the name of Kṛṣṇa. According to other interpretation कृष् stands for lifeless and ण stands for his devotion while अ stands for the getting of the same. Therefore he has been called Kṛṣṇa.

कृषिर्निर्वाणवचनो नकारो मोक्षवाचक:।
अकारो दातृवचनस्तेन कृष्ण इति स्मृत:॥६२॥

In an other interpretation कृष् stands for redemption and ण stands for mokṣa while अ stands for the giver, earning him the name of Kṛṣ ṇa.

नाम्ना भगवतो नन्द कोटीनां स्मरणेन यत्।
तत्फलं लभते नूनं कृष्णेति स्मरणे नर:॥६३॥

The merit one gets by reciting the name of the crores of the gods, one get the same merit by simply reciting the name of Kṛṣṇa.

यद्विधं स्मरणात्पुण्यं वचनाच्छ्रवणात्तथा।
कोटिजन्मांहसो नाशो भवेद्यत्स्मरणादिकात्॥६४॥

The merit one gets with the reciting of the name of Kṛṣṇa, the same merit is achieved by collective recitation and listening to the same. With the reciting of the name of Kṛṣṇa the sins of crores of births disappear.

विष्णोर्नाम्ना च सर्वेषां सारात्सारं परात्परम्।
कृष्णेति सुन्दरं नाम मङ्गलं भक्तिदायकम्॥६५॥

Of all the name of Viṣṇu, the name Kṛṣṇa happens to be more purposeful and the eternal tattva. The name Kṛṣṇa is quite beautiful, bestower of welfare and the devotion.

ककारोच्चारणाद्भक्त: कैवल्यं मृत्युजन्महम्।
ऋकाराद्दास्यमतुलं षकाराद्भक्तिमीप्सिताम्॥६६॥
नकारात्सहवासं च तत्समं कालमेव च।
तत्सारूप्यं विसर्गाच्च लभते नात्र संशय:॥६७॥

With the reciting of the letter क one achieves salvation devoid of birth and death. With ऋ one gets eternal slavehood, which ष one gets the devotion and with the recitation of न one is combined with the lord and voiceless (visarga) stands for Sārūpya salvation. There is no doubt about it.

ककारोच्चारणादेव वेपन्ते यमकिंकरा:।
ऋकारोक्तेर्न तिष्ठन्ति षकारात्पातकानि च॥६८॥
नकारोच्चारणाद्रोगा अकारान्मृत्युरेव च।
ध्रुवं सर्वे पलायन्ते नामोच्चारणभीरव:॥६९॥

With the reciting of the letter क the messengers of Yama they can never be stable and with the delighting of ऋ their condition become precarious and with the reciting of ष all the ailments disappear, with the reciting of ण all the ailment disappear and with the reciting of अ death disappear. Because with the reciting of the name of the lord, the messengers of Yama run away getting frightened.

O lord of Vraja, with the reciting of the name of Kṛṣṇa his messengers rush from Goloka mounted on the chariot; the intelligent people can perhaps count the particles of dust on earth but the glory and influence of the name of the lord us beyond counting.

In the earlier times, I had heard the glory of this name from the mouth of lord Śiva, my teacher who is aware of the influence of this name to some extent. Brahmā, Śeṣa, Dharma, gods, the sages, Manus, humans, the Vedas and noble people are not aware of even one-sixteenth of the glory of that name.

इत्येवं कथितो नन्द महिमा ते सुतस्य च।

O Nanda, I have recited the glory of your son according to my intelligence whatever was heard by me from the mouth of my teacher.

Lord Kṛṣṇa is also known with the names of Kṛṣṇa, pītāmbara, Kaṁsadhvaṁsī, Viṣṭarāśravāḥ, Devakīnandana, Śrīśa, Yaśodānandana, Hari, Sanātana, Acyuta, Ananta, Sarveśa, the one who takes to any form, the base of everyone, omnipresence, the cause of all, the cause, the beloved of Rādhā, the soul of Rādhā, the life of Rādhā, the one who enjoys company of Rādhā, the companion of Rādhā, the one who fulfils the desires of Rādhā , the treasure of Rādhā , limb of Rādhā the one whose mind is attracted towards Rādhā, the one who steals away the mind of Rādhā, one who protects the life of Rādhā, the great lord, the complete Brahman, Govinda, Garuḍa-dhvaja and Kṛṣṇa which you have listened from my mouth. You keep them in mind. O virtues Nanda, these names steal away the life and death from a person.

Thus I have narrated to you the names of your younger son; now I shall speak about the names of your elder son Haladhara from my mouth. Because of the extraction of the foetus from the womb he is known as Saṁkarṣaṇa, he is endless and that is why he is called Ananta in the Vedas. Because of his possessing great prowess, he is also know as Baladeva. Since he carries the plough, he is known as Haladhara. Because he is clad in blue garment, he is known as Nīlāmbara, Because of his holding Mūsala he is called Musalī. Because of his association with Revatī, he is known as Revatī-Ramaṇa. He is called Rauhiṇeya because of his remaining in the womb of Rohiṇī. Thus I have given the name of your elder son also according to what I had heard from my teacher. O Nanda, I shall now proceed on to my abode, you remain comfortably in your abode.

On hearing the words of the Brāhmaṇa, Nanda felt totally surprised and his wife Yaśodā also was taken aback. Nanda then humbly spoke holding his both the hands with devotion.

नन्द उवाच

Nanda said- In case you go away, who would be the great person to perform the ceremony; therefore you yourself get the ceremony performed.

You have just spoken about the life of Rādhā and other ten such names. Out of these names who happen to be Rādhā and whose daughter is she. On hearing the words of Nanda, Garga the best of the sages smiled and said, I am going to speak about a great secret.

गर्ग उवाच

शृणु नन्द प्रवक्ष्यामि इतिहासं पुरातनम्।।९१।।
पुरा गोलोकवृत्तान्तं श्रुतं शंकरवक्त्रतः।

श्रीदामशापाद्दैवेन गोपी राधा च गोकुले।
वृषभानुसुता सा च माता तस्याः कलावती।।९३।।

Garga said- O Nanda, listen I am going to speak out the ancient history in this connecting in earlier times I had heard the story of Goloka from the mouth of Śiva. There was a great quarrel between Śrīdāmā and Rādhā because of that Rādhā was born in the Gokula as a result of the curse of Śrīdāmā she happens to be the daughter of Vṛṣabhānu and Kalāvatī is the name of her mother.

कृष्णस्यार्धाङ्गसंभूता नाथस्य सदृशी सती।

आविर्बभूव मायेयं पृथ्व्यां कृष्णोपदेशतः।।९६।।

He happens the wife of lord Kṛṣṇa and is like him, with the command of lord Kṛṣṇa she has incarnated in Gokula having been born without a human contact. She is the great goddess known as Mūlaprakṛti, the chaste lady had complete the pregnancy of her mother indeed in the form of wind and with the passage of the wind, at the advise of lord Kṛṣṇa, she appeared by creating child with her illusion.

वर्धते सा व्रजे राधा शुक्ले चन्द्रकला यथा।
श्रीकृष्णतेजसोऽर्धेन सा च मूर्तिमती सती।।९७।।

The same Rādhā is growing up in Vraja. As the ray of the sun go on increasing during the bright fortnight. She has incarnated from half the tejas of lord Kṛṣṇa.

एका मूर्तिर्द्विधाभूता भेदो वेदे निरूपितः।
इयं स्त्री सा पुमान् किंवा सा वा कान्ता पुमानयम्।।९८।।

The same image has appeared in two forms and the secret is known in the Vedas. She is a female while Kṛṣṇa is a male or otherwise she is also male and female.

द्वे रूपे तेजसा तुल्ये रूपेण च गुणेन च।
पराक्रमेण बुद्ध्या वा ज्ञानेन संपदाऽपि च।।९९।।

Both the form have equal lustre and qualities. Both of them have the same prowess, same intelligence, same learnings and same type of riches.

पुरतो गमनेनैव किं तु सा वयसाऽधिका।
ध्यायते तामयं शश्वदिमं सा स्मरति प्रियम्।।१००।।

Since he arrived earlier, she is elder to Kṛṣṇa who always adores her while she adores Kṛṣṇa.

रचिता साऽस्य प्राणैश्च तत्प्राणैर्मूर्तिमानयम्।
अस्य राधानुसारेण गोकुलागमनं परम्।।१०१।।

Rādhā has been created out of the life of Kṛṣṇa and while Kṛṣṇa appears from the life of Rādhā, he has been born in Gokula in order to follow Rādhā.

स्वीकारं सार्थकं कर्तुं गोलोके यत्कृतं पुरा।
कंसभीतिच्छलेनैव गोकुलागमनं हरेः।।१०२।।

In the earlier times whatever had been promised in the Goloka had to be fulfilled and on the pretext of the fear from Kaṁsa, the lord was shifted to Gokula.

प्रतिज्ञापालनार्थाय भयेशस्य भयं कुतः।
राधाशब्दस्य व्युत्पत्तिः सामवेदे निरूपिता।।१०३।।

He has done all this so for the sake of fulfilling his promise otherwise, how could he be afraid of anyone? The formation of the word Rādhā has been described in the Sāmaveda.

नारायणस्तामुवाच ब्रह्माणं नाभिपङ्कजे।
ब्रह्मा तां कथयामास ब्रह्मलोके च शंकरम्॥१०४॥

In earlier times Brahmā is said to have appeared from the lotus emerging from the navel of Viṣṇu and Brahmā advised Śiva in the Brahmaloka accordingly.

पुरा कैलासशिखरे मामुवाच महेश्वरः।

रेफो हि कोटिजन्माघं कर्मभोगं शुभाशुभम्॥१०६॥

In the earlier times this has been told to me by lord Śiva himself. O Nanda, I am going to tell you the story about their births which is beyond the reach of the gods even. You listen to it. The formation of the word Rādhā has been variously defined by the gods. The demons and the sages which provides salvation to all, the latter र of Rādhā relieves one of the sins accumulated during crores of his births.

आकारो गर्भवासं च मृत्युं च रोगमुत्सृजेत्।
धकार आयुषो हानिमाकारो भवबन्धनम्॥१०७॥

आ relieves one of the pain of remaining in the womb the death and the ailment. ध prevents from the death and आ relieves one of the fetters of the universe.

श्रवणस्मरणोक्तिभ्यः न प्रणश्यति संशयः।
रेफो हि निश्चलां भक्तिं दास्यं कृष्णपदाम्बुजे॥१०८।

With the reciting of the name of Rādhā or listening to her name all the blemish disappear. There is no doubt about it. र of Rādhā bestows the devotion of lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa and his slavehood.

सर्वेप्सितं सदानन्दं सर्वसिद्धौघमीश्वरम्।

श्रुत्युक्तिस्मरणाद्योगान्मोहजालं च किल्विषम्।
रोगशोकमृत्युयमा वेपन्ते नात्र संशयः॥१११॥

आ fulfils all the desires and bestows bliss, success and helps in achieving the lord. धा stands for long association of lord Hair and bestows all the richest besides the knowledge of tattvas and Sārūpya salvation. अ stands for the glory of the lord besides the power of giving chariot, increase in yogi śakti and makes one to devote himself to lord Hari. With the reciting of the name of Rādhā or listening to it, by narrating and reciting it, one is relieved of the net of illusion, the ailments, grief, death and even Yama gets terrified from him. There is no doubt about it.

राधामाधवयोः किंचिद्व्याख्यानं च यतः श्रुतम्।

Whatever the glory of the reciting of the name of Rādhā-Mādhava as know to me has been narrated by me. It is not possible for me to narrate the whole of it.

आराद्वृन्दावने नन्द विवाहो भविताऽनयोः।

O Nanda, at Vṛndāvana which is located closed by, both of them will be married. Brahmā the creator of the universe would served as the family priest making the fire as the witness and perform the marriage happily.

गर्गस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा जहास भक्तवत्सलः।
उवाच तं स्वयं कृष्णो मयि ते भक्तिरस्त्विति॥२१६॥

On hearing the words of the sage Garga, the lord who is compassionate on his devotees smiled. Then lord Kṛṣṇa said, "You be devoted to me always".

इदं गर्गकृतं स्तोत्रं त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नरः।
दृढां भक्तिं हरेर्दास्यं स्मृतिं च लभते ध्रुवम्॥२१७॥

Whosoever recites this stotra thrice a day, he achieves the deep devotion of Harī besides the slavehood of the lord.

जन्ममृत्युजरारोगशोकमोहादिसंकटात्।

कृणस्य सहकालं च कृष्णसार्धं च मोदते।
कदाचिन्न भवेत्तस्य विच्छेदो हरिणा सह॥२१९॥

Even a person who serves at the devotees of lord Kṛṣṇa, he is freed from birth, death, old age, ailments, grief and illusion. He enjoys all the pleasures with lord Kṛṣṇa till the lord remains of earth. He is never separated from the lord.

नारायण उवाच

हरिं मुनिः स्तवं कृत्वा ददौ नन्दाय तं मुदा।
उवाच तं गृहं यामि कुर्वाज्ञामिति बल्लव॥२२०॥
अहो विचित्रः संसारो मोहजालेन वेष्टितः।
संमीलनं च विरहो नराणां सिन्धुफेनवत्॥२२१॥

Nārāyaṇa said- The sage Garga after adoring Kṛṣṇa handed him over to Nanda and said, "O cowherd, you permit me now to enable to proceed to my abode. Alas, how astonishing is this universe getting entangled in worldly attraction. In the universe, the meeting and separation of people is like the river and its water.".

गर्गस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा रुरोद नन्द एव च।
सद्विच्छेदो हि साधूनां मरणादतिरिच्यते॥२२२॥

On hearing the words of Garga Nanda started crying because for noble people the separation from the sages is as painful as the death itself.

सर्वशिष्यैः परिवृतं मुनीन्द्रं गन्तुमुद्यतम्।
सर्वे नन्दादयो गोपा रुदन्तो गोपिकास्तदा॥२२३॥
प्रणेमुः परमप्रीत्या चक्रुस्तं विनयं मुने।
दत्त्वाऽऽशिषं मुनिश्रेष्ठो जगाम मथुरां मुदा॥२२४॥

Finding that the sage Garga was about to return with all his pupil, the cowherd Nanda besides other cowherdesses and cowherds, bowed in reverence to him. The sage after pronouncing his blessing on them delightfully, left the place and proceeded on to Mathurā.

ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव बन्धुवर्गाश्च बल्लवाः।
सर्वे जग्मुर्धनैः पूर्णाः स्वालयं हृष्टमानसाः॥२२५॥

All other sages, ascetics, relatives and Vallabhas, retreated to their respective abodes delightfully carrying enormous riches with them.

प्रजग्मुर्बन्दिनः सर्वे परिपूर्णमनोरथाः।
मिष्टद्रव्यांशुकोत्कृष्टतुरगस्वर्णभूषणैः॥२२६॥

Getting fully satisfied with the sweets, beverages, clothes, the base of horses, ornaments of gold, all the bards went back to their respective abodes.

आकण्ठपूर्णा भुक्त्या च भिक्षुका गन्तुमक्षमाः।
स्वर्णवस्त्रभरोद्रेकपरिश्रान्ता मुदाऽन्वताः॥२२७॥

The beggars had taken food to their full and carrying gold, ornaments with them they were unable to move because of the weight carried by them.

सुमन्दगामिनः केचित्केचिद्भमौ च शेरते।
केचिद्वर्त्मनि तिष्ठन्तश्चोत्तिष्ठन्तश्च केचन॥२२८॥

Some of the beggars delightfully moved on slowly, some of them started sleeping on the ground and some of them covering the distance of their journey by sitting or were standing occasionally.

केचिदूषुः प्रमुदिता हसन्तस्तत्र केचन।
कपर्दकानां वस्तूनां शेषांश्चोर्वरितान्बहून्॥२२९॥
केचित्तानाददुः स्थित्वा दर्शयन्तश्च केचन।
केचिन्नृत्यं प्रकुर्वन्तो गायन्तस्तत्र केचन॥२३०॥

Some of them continued to stay there delightfully. Some of them were laughing, some of them were carrying the left-over of the foods. Some of them were displaying the riches carried by them, while some of them were dancing and singing.

केचिद्बहुविधा गाथाः कथयन्तः पुरातनाः।
मरुत्तश्वेतसगरमांधातॄणां च भूभृताम्॥२३१॥
उत्तानपादनहुषनलादीनां च याः कथाः।
श्रीरामस्याश्वमेधस्य रन्तिदेवस्य कर्मणाम्॥२३२॥

Some of them narrated to others, different types of ancient story relating to the king Marut, Śveta, Sagara, Māndhātā, Uttānapāda, Nahuṣa and Nala besides other kings. They also narrated the story about the Aśvamedha sacrifice of lord Rāma and also about the activities of Rantideva.

येषां येषां नृपाणां च श्रुता वृद्धमुखात्कथाः।
कथयन्तश्च ताः केचिच्छ्रुतवन्तश्च केचन॥२३३॥
स्थायं स्थायं गताः केचित्स्वापं स्वापं च केचन।
एवं सर्वे प्रमुदिताः प्रजग्मुः स्वालयं व्रजात्॥२३४॥

Some of the people were narrating the story which they had heard from the old people and some of them were listening to the same. Some of them were travelling while taking rest occasionally, while others continued the journey by sleeping at intervals. Thus all the people were filled with joy and proceeded on to their respective abode from Vraja.

हृष्टो नन्दो यशोदा च बालं कृत्वा च वक्षसि।
तस्थौ स्वमन्दिरे रम्ये कुबेरभवनोपमे॥२३५॥

Thereafter Nanda and Yaśodā delightfully carried the child in the lap and entered their abode which was as beautiful as the abode of Kubera.

एवं प्रवर्धितौ बालौ शुक्लचन्द्रकलोपमौ।
गवां पुच्छं च भित्तिं च धृत्वा चोत्तस्थतुर्मुदा॥२३६॥

Thus both the children continued to grow like the moon of the bright fort-night. They started standing up holding tails of the cows or holding the walls.

शब्दार्धं वा तदर्धं वा क्षमौ वक्तुं दिन दिने।
पित्रोर्हर्षं च वर्धन्तौ गच्छन्तौ प्राङ्गणे मुने॥२३७॥
बालो द्विपादं पादं वा गन्तुं शक्तो बभूव ह।
गन्तुं शक्तो हि जानुभ्यां प्राङ्गणे वा गृहे हरः॥२३८॥

Daily they could recite half a word or one-fourth of it, O sage, by moving in the court-yard they delighted the mind of their parents then Balarāma was able to walk on foot but Kṛṣṇa continued to move of his knees covering the entire house.

वर्षाधिको हि वयसा कृष्णात्संकर्षणः स्वयम्।
ततो मुदं वर्धयन्तौ वर्धितौ च दिने दिने॥२३९॥

Saṁkarṣaṇa was elder by one year from Kṛṣṇa and both of them started growing increasing the delight of their parents.

व्रजन्तौ गोकुले बालौ प्रहृष्टौ गमने क्षमौ।
उक्तवन्तौ स्फुटं वाक्यं मायाबालकविग्रहौ॥२४०॥

Turning as children with illusion they started roaming about in Gokula and they could now speak the words early as well.

गर्गो जगाम मथुरां वसुदेवाश्रमं मुने।
स तं ननाम पप्रच्छ पुत्रयोः कुशलं तयोः॥२४१॥

O sage, reaching Mathurā, the sage Garga went to the Vasudeva who enquired about the welfare of his sons, bowing in reverence to him.

मुनिस्तं कथयामास कुशलं सुमहोत्सवम्।
आनन्दाश्रुनिमग्नश्च श्रुतमात्राद्बभूव ह॥२४२॥
देवकी परमप्रीत्या पप्रच्छ च पुनः पुनः।
आनन्दाश्रुनिमग्ना सा रुरोद च मुहुर्मुहुः॥२४३॥

When the sage narrated the news about the two children and also of the function at Gokula, the eyes of Vasudeva were filled with the tears of joy. Infested with love Devakī started enquiring from him again and again, with her eyes filled with tears, she was weeping again and again.

गर्गस्तावाशिषं दत्त्वा जगाम स्वालयं मुदा।
स्वगृहे तस्थतुस्तौ च कुबेरभवनोपमे॥२४४॥

Thereafter, Garga blessed then delightfully and proceed on to his abode and both the children remained in the palace which looked like the palace of Kubera.

नारायण उवाच

यत्र कल्पै कथा चेयं तत्र त्वमुपबर्हण:।
पञ्चाशत्कामिनीनां च पतिर्गन्धर्वपुंगव:॥२४५॥

Nārāyaṇa said- During the kalpa to which the story relates you were known as Upabarhaṇa having fifty damsel as your spouses being the king of Gandharvas.

तासां प्राणाधिकस्त्वं च शृङ्गारनिपुणो युवा।

At that point of time these spouses loved you more then their lives and you were quite attractive, youthful and passionate. Thereafter you became the son of the maid-servant of a Brāhmaṇa as a result of curse from Brahmā. At the same time consuming the food of Vaiṣṇavas you become the son of Brahmā, always remaining devoted to the lord having the divine vision, all knowledgeable and pride of your race.

I have narrated to you the part of story of lord Kṛṣṇa relating to his Annaprāśana and giving the name to him. This story relieves one of the birth, death and old age, now I recite to you the story further.

Uprooting of Arjuna tree

एकदा नन्दपत्नी च स्नानार्थं यमुनां ययौ।
गव्यपूर्णं गृहं दृष्ट्वा जहास मधुसूदनः॥१॥
दधिदुग्धाज्यतक्रं च नवनीतं मनोरमम्।
गृहस्थितं च यत्किंचिच्चखाद मधुसूदनः॥२॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Yaśodā, the wife of Nanda went for a bath on the bank of the river Yamunā and at that point of time lord Madhusūdana (Kṛṣṇa) smiled looking at the pitchers filled with milk and curd and he consumed the curd, the milk, ghee, butter, milk, butter and everything whatever was available in the house.

मधु हैयंगवीनं यत्स्वस्तिकं शकटस्थितम्।
भुक्त्वा पीत्वांऽशुकैर्वक्त्रसंस्कारं कर्तुमुद्यतम्॥३॥
ददर्श बालकं गोपी स्नात्वाऽऽगत्य स्वमन्दिरम्।

दृष्टा पप्रच्छ बालांश्च अहो कर्मेदमद्भुतम्।

यशोदावचनं श्रुत्वा सर्वमूचुश्च बालकाः।
चखाद सत्यं बालस्ते नास्मभ्यं दत्तमेव च॥६॥

The honey, butter, the sweets, placed on the cart were also consumed by him. He was rinsing his mouth after doing so and at the same time Yaśodā returned home. Finding the vases of milk, curd missing and the broken vases, she was surprised, and enquired from the other cowherds boys, "O children tell me truthfully who has done this surprising and terrific act." On hearing the words of Yaśodā,the children said, "We are telling you the truth. All this has been done by your son who has eaten the whole of it. He did not give us anything of if".

बालानां वचनं श्रुत्वा चुकोप नन्दगेहिनी।
वेत्रं गृहीत्वा दुद्राव रक्तपङ्कजलोचना॥७॥
पलायमानं गोविन्दं ग्रहीतुं न शशाक ह।

On hearing the words of the children, Yaśodā the wife of Nanda got annoyed and her eyes became red like the red lotus flowers, she took a cane in her hand and rushed towards Kṛṣṇa, who fled away from the some. Yaśodā could not capture him. The one who is difficult to be adored by gods like Śiva and others after deep meditation, is beyond the reach of the yogīs, how could he be caught like this.

यशोदा भ्रमण कृत्वा विश्रान्ता धर्मसंयुता।
तस्थौ कोपपरीतात्मा शुष्ककण्ठौष्ठतालुका॥९॥
विश्रान्तां मातरं दृष्ट्वा कृपालुः पुरुषोत्तमः।

करे धृत्वा च तं देवी समानीय स्वमालयम्।
बद्धवा वस्त्रेण वृक्षे च तताड मधुसूदनम्॥११॥

By running here and there Yaśodā felt tired and she stood under the shade of a tree to take some rest; her throat, lips and palate had dried up, because of her anger. Finding the mother having tired, Puroṣattama, the lord of the universe, came forward and stood before her. Thereafter Yaśodā caught hold of him and brought him home. Tying a cloth round his waist she tied him with the tree and started beating him.

बद्धवा कृष्णं यशोदा सा जगाम स्वालयं प्रति।
हरिस्तस्थौ वृक्षमूले जगतां पतिरीश्वरः॥१२॥

Thereafter Yaśodā bound Kṛṣṇa with the tree and left for home. Lord Kṛṣṇa kept on standing at the root of the tree.

श्रीकृष्णस्पर्शमात्रेण सहसा तत्र नारद।
पपात वृक्षः शैलाभः शब्दं कृत्वा भयानकम्॥१३॥

O Nārada, with the very touch of lord Kṛṣṇa, the mountain like huge tree started falling creating terrific sound.

सुवेषः पुरुषो दिव्यो वृक्षादाविर्बभूव ह।
दिव्यस्यन्दनमारुह्य जगाम स्वालयं पुरः॥१४॥
प्रणम्य जगतीनाथं शातकौम्भपरिच्छदम्।
किशोरः सस्मितो गौरो रत्नालंकारभूषितः॥१५॥

A divine person appeared from that tree who was clad in beautiful garments. He was adorned with the ornaments of gems, had fair complexion and was clad in golden costumes; he bowed in reverence to lord Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter with a smiling face he mounted on a divine chariot and left or his abode.

सा वृक्षपतनं दृष्ट्वा भिया त्रस्ता व्रजेश्वरी।
क्रोडे चकार बालं तं रुदन्तं श्यामसुन्दरम्॥१६॥

Finding the tree falling the queen of Vraja was terrified and was upset. She immediately picked up Kṛṣṇa and took him in her lap who was crying.

आजग्मुर्गोकुलस्थाश्च गोपा गोप्यश्च तद्गृहम्।
यशोदां भर्त्सयामासुः शान्तिं चक्रुः शिशोर्मुदा॥१७॥

In the meantime all the cowherds and cowherdesses from Gokula also arrived there and they scolded Yaśodā and were delighted to see Kṛṣṇa unhurt.

अत्यन्तस्थविरे काले तनयोऽयं बभूव ह।
धनं धान्यं च रत्नं वा तत्सर्वं पुत्रहेतुकम्॥१८॥

Thereafter all the people said, "you have got this son in your old age and whatever riches, cereals and gems you have are meant for your son only.

सुमतिर्नास्ति ते सत्यं ज्ञातं नन्दव्रजेश्वरि।
न भक्षितं यत्पुत्रेण तत्सर्वं निष्फलं भुवि॥१९॥

O queen of Vraja and Nanda, we have come to know truthfully that you have not acted wisely. The things which cannot be enjoyed by the son are of no consequence over the land.

पुत्रं बद्धवा गव्यहेतोर्वृक्षमूले च निष्ठुरे।
गृहकर्मणि व्यग्रायां दैवाद्वृक्षः पपात ह॥२०॥

Just for the sake of curd and milk you have tied your son to a tree and then you engaged yourself in the household work. The tree felt accidentally.

वृक्षस्य पतनाद्गोपीभाग्याद्बालोऽपि जीवितः।
प्रनष्टे बालके मूढे वस्तूनां किं प्रयोजनम्॥२१॥
आशिषं युयुजुर्विप्रा बन्दिनश्च शुभावहाम्।
द्विजेन कारयामासुर्नामसंकीर्तनं हरेः॥२२॥

Just for the sake of the cowherdesses the child escaped unhurt. O foolish one, "Had the child been destroyed of what used had all these articles been"? Thereafter the Brāhmaṇas and the bards blessed the child variously. The name of lord was recited by the Brāhmaṇas.

एवं कृत्वा जना: सर्वे प्रययुर्निजमन्दिरम्।
उवाच पत्नीं नन्दश्च रक्तपङ्कजलोचन:॥२३॥

After all this, all the people left for their respective abodes. At that very moment Nanda arrived there and with his eyes burning red in rage he spoke to Yaśodā.

नन्द उवाच

यास्यामि तीर्थमद्यैव कण्ठे कृत्वा तु बालकम्।
अथवा त्वं गृहाद्गच्छ त्वया मे किं प्रयोजनम्॥२४॥
शतकूपाधिका वापी शतवापीसमं सर:।
सर:शताधिको यज्ञ: पुत्रो यज्ञशताधिक:॥२५॥

Nanda said- Tying the child round my neck I shall go on pilgrimage. Otherwise, you leave the house. I have nothing to do with you. Step-well is more important then hundred of wells and a tank is more important than hundred of step-wells. A yajña is more important than hundred of tanks and a son is more important than a hundred of yajñas.

तपोदानोद्भवं पुण्यं जन्मान्तरसुखप्रदम्।
सुखप्रदोऽपि सत्पुत्र इहैव च परत्र च॥२६॥

एवमुक्त्वा स्वभार्यां च तस्थौ नन्द: स्वमन्दिरे॥
यशोदा रोहिणी चैव नियुक्ता गृहकर्मणि॥२७॥

While performing tapas and charities for a number of births, one earns great merit and because of that merit one gets a son who becomes youthful during the personal life as well as in future life. Therefore there could be no other relative better than the son nor shall it ever be. Thus speaking to his wife Nanda went to his abode and both Yaśodā and Rohiṇī engaged themselves in the house-hold work.

नारद उवाच

सुवेष: पुरुष: को वा वृक्षरूपी च गोकुले।

Nārada said- O lord, who was the person clad in the divine clothes who appeared from the tree in Gokula. What was the reason for his becoming the tree.

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Nala-Kūbara, the son of Kubera reached the Nandana forest for enjoying the company of Rambhā there. Therefore they found a flower orchard under a banyan tree, on the bank of a tank, where the fragrant wind was blowing. There was a flower bed in the orchard, the lamps of gems were lighted and the place was sprinkled with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron besides the garland of flower and the silken cloth. He brought him there and enjoyed his company. He enjoyed all the sexual pleasures with Rambhā. He implanted a thousand kissed on her and embraced her variously. The passionate one, enjoyed the sex with her applying his nails teeth and hands.

He was well-versed in the art of making love and he enjoyed her company over the land as well as the water. At that point of time the sage Devala spotted Nalakūbara and Rambhā together, who were without robes with unshelled here, having stiff pelvic region and developed breasts. She had lips injured with nails and teeth and she was feeling and her hair stood and ends. She was looking at her beloved who was reciprocating, She had curled eye-brows, wearing a pair of kuṇḍalas and was adorned with astonishing types of garlands of gems and flowers. She had a number of a small bells studded in the waist-band and her forehead had a spot of vermilion. Such a type of Rambhā was spotted by the sage. In the company of the damsel and infatuated with passion, Nalakūbara disregarded the sage and did not get up to welcome him. He therefore pronounced a curse on him, "O sinful person you better turn yourself as a tree." Thereafter he cursed Rambhā also, "You be born in the human race and be the queen of Janamejaya." He then asked Nalakūbara to go to Gokula and stand there as a tree. He further informed him that he cowed be redeemed with the mere touch of lord Kṛṣṇa. He also informed Rambhā that she would be redeemed and to back to heaven only after coming in touch with Indra.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स मुनिर्जगाम निजमन्दिरम्।
कुबेरतनयः श्रीमान्स जगाम निजालयम्।।४३।।

Thus speaking the sage went back to his abode and Nalakūbara reached his home.

O dear one, I have spoken to you all this; now I am going to narrate the story of Rambhā to you, Rambhā was born in the land of Bhārata as daughter of Sucandara. She was quite beautiful and looked like Lakṣmī. On coming of age, the king Sucandra gave away his daughter in marriage to Janamejaya along with several riches and adoring her with the best of ornaments and costumes. She became the best and virtues queen of Janamejaya.

The king enjoyed her company at several places. Once the king started and Aśvamedha sacrifice. At that point of time Indra stole away the sacrificial horse and concealed himself in the royal palaces. Thinking that the Sacrificial horse would be quite beautiful she went to the stable alone playfully. On reaching the horse, Indra appeared on the scene and forcibly enjoyed her company. He had sex with her in spite of her objecting to it. After the performance, Indra was fainted and he lost the senses about the day or night. The beautiful ladies coming in touch with Indra ended her life and Indra getting terrified from the king went back to the heaven.

राजा श्रुत्वा मृतां दृष्ट्वा विललाप भृशं मुहुः।
यज्ञं समाप्य विप्रेभ्यो ददौपूर्णां च दक्षिणाम्।।५२।।

Hearing about the death of the queen, the king lamented variously and after completion of the yajña he gave away riches to the Brāhmaṇas.

Thus Rambhā reverted to the heaven after leaving the human body. I have narrated to you the falling of the Arjuna tree. O great sage, the story of Nalakūbara and Rambhā bestows salvation and relieves one of the birth, death and old age, providing great merit to the listener. I have thus narrated to you a part of the story of lord Kṛṣṇa now I am narrating the story to you further.

Chapter-15

Marriage of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa

नारायण उवाच

एकदा कृष्णसहितो नन्दो वृन्दावनं ययौ।
तत्रोपवनभाण्डीरे चारयामास गोधनम्।।१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Nanda, accompanied by Kṛṣṇa went to Vṛndāvana. There was a garden named Bhāṇḍīra, where the cows were made to graze.

सर:सु स्वादु तोयं च पाययामास तत्पपौ।
उवास वृक्षमूले च बालं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।।२।।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कृष्णो मायामानुषविग्रह:।
चकार माययाऽकस्मान्मेघाच्छन्नं नभो मुने।।३।।

They made the cows to drink delicious water from the tank which they also drank. Thereafter embracing the child, Nanda sat under the shade of a tree. O sage, at the same time Kṛṣṇa who had the illusory body covered the sky with clouds by means of illusion.

मेघावृतं नभो दृष्ट्वा श्यामलं काननान्तरम्।
झञ्झावातं मेघशब्दं वज्रशब्दं च दारुणम्।।४।।

The sky was over-cast with clouds. There was all darkness in the garden and it started. Raining heavily with strong mind. The cloud started thundering. Their thundering resembled the fall of vajra. Torrential rain started and the trees started trembling together with their branches, this frightened Nanda he thought that how could be leave for his abode, leaving the cows and the calves there but if he did not return to his abode, what could happen to the child.

O Nārada, there were many vases filled with nectar and honey inside the orchard. A boy of tender age having dark-complexion was sleeping there. He had the lustre of crores of gods of love. His body was plastered with sandal-paste and was wearing a smile on his face. He was clad in yellow lower garment, had a smiling face and eyes, and was wearing the anklets made of the best of gem which were creating sweet sound. He had on his person the anklets and wristlets made of the best of gems besides the gem-studded kuṇḍalas in the ears. The kaustubha gem was adorning his chest and the lustre of his face could steal the shine of the full moon of the winter season and his eyes resembled the blossomed lotus flower of the winter season. He wore a long garland of flowers and had a peacock feather on his head. His hair was adorned with flowers and he was looking at Ratnamaṇḍapa. Finding the child carried by Rādhā missing from her lap and finding another youth lying on the bed, Rādhā was extremely surprised.

Thereafter Kṛṣṇa spoke to the lotus faced Rādhā.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

Kṛṣṇa said - O dear one, O Rādhā, do you remember the incident that occurred in the assembly of gods in Goloka; whatever promise I had given you in earlier times, I am going to fulfil today.

O Rādhā, O beautiful faced one, you are dearer to me than my life, I am completely like you and there is absolutely no difference between the two of us. As whiteness is an integral part of milk, the burning sensation is an integral part of the fire and fragrance is an integral part of earth, similarly, I am completely with you always. As the potter is unable to make a vase without the clay or the gold-smith is unable to make ornaments without gold, similarly I cannot indulge in the creation of the universe without you; you are the best of the universe whereas, I happen to be the seed known as Acyuta.

Whenever I get separated from you, the people call me by the name of only Kṛṣṇa and when I am united with you then people give me the name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. You happen to be my Śrī, you are my wealth and the base of everything, you possess the form of all the prowess, are eternal and are the form of everything.

When I appear in the form of tejas, you also appear similarly. Whenever I appear without any form, you also act similarly. O beautiful one, I take to the form of the seed always in your company. You have the form of great prowess and also take to the form of all the women on earth.

In relation to my limbs you happen to be the great goddess or Mūlaprakṛti. O damsel, you possess prowess, intelligence and knowledge comparable to mine. Such of the wicked persons who consider both of us to be separate from each other, falls in the kālasūtra hell and remains there till the sun and the moon last. Such a conduct on his part makes his seven future and seven past generations to fall in the hell. His merits for crores of births surely get destroyed.

Such of the wicked person, who because of ignorance, denounces us, he also falls in the hell and remains there till the sun and the moon last.

The one who recites रा I bestow the best of devotion on him and the one who recites the word धा is followed by me because I am always desirous of hearing the word of Rādhā. Such of the people who adore me throughout their life with sixteen types of offering, I like them very much and from that liking emanates the word of Rādhā. O Rādhā, I love you as much as I love a person who recites the name of Rādhā.

Brahmā, Ananta, Śiva, Dharma, the sage Nara-nārāyaṇa, Kapila and Gaṇeśa are quite dear to me. Besides, Lakṣmī, Sarasvatī, Durgā, Sāvitrī, Prakṛti and all other gods are also dear to me; but I do not like them as much as I like a person who recites the name of Rādhā.

They are like my life and therefore, O chaste Rādhā, you are also dearer to me than my life, all of them reside in separate places but you reside in my heart. My four-armed form is enshrined in the heart of my beloved, and I in the form of Kṛṣ ṇa carry your weight. Thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa reclined on the bed of roses. Thereafter Rādhā lowering her head with devotion spoke to the lord.

राधिकोवाच

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, Śrī Kṛṣṇa the best of the persons, smiled a little and he spoke to her beneficial, truthful and appropriate words.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

The time for the fulfilling of your desire has arrived. O Rādhā, whatever has already been spoken earlier about this, cannot be contradicted; therefore how could destiny venture to do so? I am creator of the creator; therefore whatever has been told by me, cannot be contradicted even by the poor Brahmā.

In the meantime Brahmā also arrived there before the lord, holding a rosary and a kamaṇḍalu in his hands. He wore a serene smile on all the four faces. He bowed in reverence to lord Kṛṣṇa and offered prayer to him according to āgama. Brahmā, the creator of the universe, felt emotional and tears started flowing from his eyes. He bowed in reverence to him and offered his prayer with salutations. Thereafter offering his salutation again to lord Kṛṣṇa he went to Rādhikā.

He offered his salutation to her also bowing his heads at her lotus-like feet. He washed her feet with the water from his kamaṇḍalu and then rinsed them with the matted locks of hair of his heads. Thereafter he started adoring her.

He said, O mother, by the grace of lord Kṛṣṇa, I have been able to have a look at your lotus-like feet which are beyond the reach of all. I had performed tapas in the earlier times at the holy place of Puṣkara, in the sun shine, to please of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, for sixty thousand years. Thereafter, the lord himself came to pronounce a boon on me. He said, "You ask for a boon." At these words of the lord, I asked for a boon that I should be able to look at the lotus-like feet of Rādhikā which is beyond the reach of all. O virtuous one, you kindly let me have a look at her lotus-like feet. At these words of mine, the lord spoke to an ascetic like me thus: "O son, I shall make you look at the feet of Rādhikā at an appropriate time. You please excuse me at the moment.

The command of the lord never becomes infructuous therefore I have been able to look at your lotus-like feet today. O mother, you are adored in the Goloka as well as in the land of Bhārata equally well.

The other goddess forms are a part of Prakṛti and as such they appear in a natural way, but you happen to be the better half of lord Kṛṣṇa and having been born out of his body, you are like him alone.

न हि वेदेषु मे दृष्ट इति केन निरूपितम्॥१०४॥

You are lord Kṛṣṇa and he happens to be Rādhā or otherwise you are Rādhā and he happens to be Kṛṣṇa. Even the Vedas cannot decide on the point. No one has concluded on the subject.

ब्रह्माण्डाद्बहिरूर्ध्वं च गोलोकोऽस्ति यथाऽम्बिके।
वैकुण्ठश्चाप्यजन्यश्च त्वमजन्या तथाऽम्बिके॥१०५॥

O mother, as the Goloka is beyond the universe and is above all, similarly Vaikuṇṭha also is inaccessible and you are also beyond birth.

यथा समस्तब्रह्माण्डे श्रीकृष्णांशांशजीविन:।

पुरुषाश्च हरेरंशास्त्वदंशा निखिला: स्त्रिय:।

As the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa, you pervade the entire universe and the creatures living therein. Similarly, you happen to be the strength of the creatures and reside in them in the same form. All the people happen to be the aṁśa of lord Hari and all the females happen to be your aṁśa; you have a definite form and happen to be the base of all the ladies.

O mother, you live because of their lives and because of your life lord Kṛṣṇa is alive. Alas, which one of the architects had created one or the other! O mother, lord Kṛṣṇa is eternal and so are you. You happen to be his aṁśa and he happens to be you aṁśa; who can decide on the point.

अहं विधाता जातां देवानां जनक: स्वयम्।

I am the creator of the universe as well as the Vedas. By learning the Vedas from the mouth of the teacher, the people become learned but even such people of wisdom are not aware of even the hundredth part of your glory.

Who else, including the Vedas and the learned people, could be able to recite your glory because prayers emanate for knowledge and knowledge is created by intelligence. O mother, you are the creator of intelligence; therefore who else will be able to sing your glory? The things which are witnessed by all the intellectuals are unable to describe it. But the same which is beyond the vision of one and all and is unheard of, who can describe the same. Myself, Śiva and Ananta are unable to recite your glory. Your glory is beyond the reach of the Vedas and Sarasvatī. Who else can recite your glory?

यथागमं यथोक्तं च न मां निन्दितुमर्हसि।
ईश्वराणामीश्वरस्य योग्यायोग्ये समा कृपा॥११५॥

Following the āgama whatever has been spoken by me, you please don't denounce me for the same. The great soul happens to be the lord of all and he is equally graceful towards the competent and incompetent people.

जनस्य प्रतिपाल्यस्य क्षणे दोष: क्षणे गुण:।

The parents visualise the short-comings of the sons and daughters whom they bring up, at every step but they forgive them out of affection.

इत्युक्त्वा जगतां धाता तस्थौ च पुरतस्तयो:।
प्रणम्य चरणाम्भोजं सर्वेषां वन्द्यमीप्सितम्॥११७॥

Thus speaking the creator of the universe bowed at the feet of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa which are desired by and adored by all. Thereafter he stood before them.

The one who recites this stotra recited by Brahmā, thrice a day, achieves devotion at the lotus-like feet of Rādhāmādhava besides achieving their slavehood. Uprooting all his deeds he overcomes the terrific death and crossing all the lokas he reaches Goloka.

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of Brahmā, Rādhikā said to him, "O creator of the universe, you ask for a boon." On hearing the words of Rādhikā the creator of the universe said, "You kindly bestow the devotion of both your lotus-like feet on me." At these words of Brahmā, Rādhikā at once agreed to the same. Thereafter Brahmā, the lord of the universe, bowed in reverence to Rādhikā. He ignited fire in between the two and reciting the name of the lord, performed homa there. Lord Kṛṣṇa himself got up from the bed and came to the fire-altar and performed the homa as desired by Brahmā. Thereafter Brahmā made Rādhā bow in reverence to Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter, he himself performing the duty of a father gave away her hand in marriage to Kṛṣṇa after making them circle round the fire seven times. Thereafter Rādhā again took a round of the god of fire and bowing before him she was seated besides Kṛṣṇa.

Thereafter Śrī Kṛṣṇa held the hand of Rādhā in his hand and seven hymns of the Veda were recited by Hari. Thereafter Brahmā placed the hand of Rādhā in the hand of Kṛṣṇa and placed the hand of Kṛṣṇa on the shoulders of Rādhā. Thereafter Rādhā was made to recite seven hymns of the Vedas. Thereafter Brahmā made Rādhā to place the garland of Pārijāta flowers falling up to the knees, around the neck of lord Kṛṣṇa, who bowed in reverence at the same time.

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa placed a beautiful garland of flowers around the neck of Rādhā. Then Rādhā was made to sit to the left of Kṛṣṇa. Rādhā was smiling serenely reciting the name of Kṛṣṇa in her mind. Brahmā then made both of them recite five hymns from the Vedas and then bowing before them he handed Rādhā over to Kṛṣṇa in the same way a father hands over his daughter. He then stood before the lord. At that point of time the delightful gods playing on the big-drums and small-drums, poured a rain of flowers on them. The best of the Gandharvas started singing and the apsarās started dancing.

Brahmā then adored Rādha and Mādhava. Wearing a serene smile on his face, he then said to both of them, "Let me remain devoted to the lotus-like feet of both of you. This is the form of dakṣiṇā which I accept from you." On hearing the words of Brahmā, the lord himself said to him, "You will always remain immensely devoted at my lotus-like feet." Now you go back to your abode and meet with the welfare. O son, you perform your duty and whatever is entrusted by me to you.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said - O sage, on hearing the words of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Brahmā, the creator of the universe, bowed in reverence to Rādha and Kṛṣṇa and went back to his abode. After the departure of Brahmā, the goddess Rādhā looked at the lord with a side glance and covered her face which shyness.

She was feeling emotional at that point of time and was suffering from the pain of passion. Thereafter she bowed in deep reverence to the lord and went to his bed. She decorated his head beside the chest with sandal-paste, kastūrī, aguru and saffron.

सुधापूर्णं रत्नपात्रं मधुपूर्णं मनोहरम्।
प्रददौ हरये भक्त्या बुभुजे जगतीपतिः॥१४४॥

She then offered nectar and honey in the gem-cups which were consumed by the lord.

ताम्बूलं च वरं रम्यं कर्पूरादिसुवासितम्।
ददौ कृष्णाय सा राधा सादरं बुभुजे हरिः॥१४५॥

Rādhā then offered fragrant betel to the lord comprising of the camphor in it which was eaten by him.

चखाद सस्मिता राधा हरिदत्तं सुधारसम्।
ताम्बूलं तेन दत्तं च बुभुजे पुरतो हरेः॥१४६॥

Thereafter, Rādhā consumed the nectar offered by the lord to her smilingly and also chewed the betel offered by him.

कृष्णाश्चर्विवतताम्बूलं राधिकायै मुदा ददौ।
चखाद परया भक्त्या पपौ तन्मुखपंकजम्॥१४७॥

Then Kṛṣṇa offered to Rādhā the betel which had been chewed by him which was consumed by Rādhā with devotion. She then started looking at his lotus-like feet.

राधाचर्विवतताम्बूलं ययाचे मधुसूदनः।
जहास न ददौ राधा क्षमेत्युक्तं तया मुदा॥१४८॥

Then lord Madhusūdana desired to have a betel chewed by Rādhā but she declined the same saying, "You kindly excuse me" and she never gave it to him.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमद्रवमुत्तमम्।
राधिकायाश्च सर्वाङ्गे प्रददौ माधवः स्वयम्॥१४९॥

Thereafter, Mādhava himself applied on the body of Rādhā the sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron.

यः कामो ध्यायते नित्यं यस्यैकचरणाम्बुजम्।
बभूव तस्य स वशो राधासंतोषकारणात्॥१५०॥

The one at whose lotus-like feet, the god of love who always adores, the same lord was over-powered by the love of Rādhā.

यद्भृत्यभृत्यैर्मदनो जितः सर्वक्षणं मुने।
स्वेच्छामयो हि भगवाञ्जितस्तेन कुतूहलात्॥१५१॥

O sage, the one whose servant of the servants over-powers the gods of love, the same lord willingly and playfully was over-powered by Rādhā.

करे धृत्वा च तां कृष्णः स्थापयामास वक्षसि।
चकार शिथिलं वस्त्रं चुम्बनं च चतुर्विधम्॥१५२॥

Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa embraced Rādhā holding her with his hands and loosening her garments, kissing her at the same time.

बभूव रतियुद्धेन विच्छिन्ना क्षुद्रघण्टिका।
चुम्बनेनौष्ठरागश्च ह्याश्लेषेण च पत्रकम्॥१५३॥

In the battle of sexual pleasure the small bells studded in the waist-band of Rādhā were broken and her lips became red because of the kissing and the decoration of the chest was disturbed with the embraces.

शृङ्गारेणैव कबरी सिन्दूरतिलकं मुने।

O sage, at the time of conjugal pleasure, the hair dishevelled the tilakam; the vermilion and other decorations of the body were disfigured.

पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्गी बभूव नवसंगमात्।
मूर्छामवाप सा राधा बुबुधे न दिवानिशम्॥१५५॥

At the time of first love-sport the body of Rādhā became emotional and she fainted. She lost consciousness of day and night.

शृङ्गाराष्टविधं कृष्णश्चकार कामशास्त्रवित्॥१५६॥
पुनस्तां च समाश्लिष्य सस्मितां वक्रलोचनाम्।
क्षतविक्षतसर्वाङ्गीं नखदन्तैश्चकार ह॥१५७॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa who was well-versed in the love-sport united all the limbs of his body with those of Rādhā and he enjoyed eight types of sexual pleasure with her. Embracing him she was looking at Kṛṣṇa with side glance, smilingly and he injured all the limbs of her body with the biting of the teeth.

कङ्कणानां किङ्किणीनां मञ्जीराणां मनोहरः।

निर्जने कौतुकात्कृष्णः कामशास्त्रविशारदः।
चूडावेषांशुकैर्हीनं चकार तं च राधिका॥१६०॥

At the time of the sexual pleasure the armlets, anklets and wristlets of Rādhā were creating sweet sounds. Thereafter, in the secluded place Kṛṣṇa who was well-versed in the art of making love, made Rādhā to sit on the bed and dishevelled her hair unrobing her at the same time. Rādhā too behaved similarly.

न कस्य कस्माद्धानिश्च तौ द्वौ कार्यविशारदौ।

चकार कबरीं रम्यां सिन्दूरतिलकं ददौ।
विचित्रपत्रकं वेषं चकारैवंविधं हरिः॥१६५॥

Neither of them was able to cause any harm to either of them because both of them were well-versed in the art of making love. Thereafter, Mādhava snatched away the mirror of gems from the hand of Rādhā and she on her part forcibly snatched the flute from the hand of Kṛṣṇa. Mādhava then forcibly stole away the heart of Rādhā and Rādhā also acted similarly. At the end of the sexual play Rādhā looked at Kṛṣṇa lovingly and handed over the flute to him. The lord also returned the mirror to Rādhā after enjoying the love-sport. He then arranged her hair nicely and decorated her forehead with the painting of tilakam and flower leaves. The hair-decoration done by Śrī Kṛṣṇa or Rādhā was beyond even Viśvakarmā to do so, what to speak to her female friends.

विश्वकर्मा न जानाति सखीनामपि का कथा।

Thereafter Rādhā got ready to decorate the body of Kṛṣṇa but he, shedding away the form of boyhood, again became a child. Rādhā then found that Kṛṣṇa in child form was feeling hungry. He appeared in the same form in which Nanda had handed him over to her. Rādhā felt painful and she started running here and there in search of the boy Kṛṣṇa. She was filled with grief and was feeling upset because of separation from Kṛṣṇa. She then spoke to Kṛṣṇa in a disappointing manner and humble tone, "O lord of illusion, why are you indulging in illusion with your own slave girl." Thus speaking Rādhā fell down and started crying. Kṛṣṇa also was crying but in the meantime there was a divine voice from the sky saying, O Rādhā, you remember the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa; why are you crying?.

From now onwards the lord would come here daily at the time of Rāsamaṇḍala and you leaving your shadow with him, shall come here daily and enjoy the love-sport. Don't cry. Your lord has turned himself into a child with his illusion; you carry him and go home. Thus the divine voice made Rādhā understand the reality. On hearing these words, Rādhā picked up the child in her lap and looked at the flower orchard, the forest and the maṇḍapa made of the best of gems. Thereafter she at once reached the abode of Nanda in Vṛndāvana.

O Nārada, Rādhā who could move with the speed of the mind reached there in a moment, her speech was quite stable and sweet. The eyes were red. Handing over the child to Yaśodā, she said, "In Vraja your husband had carried him, but carrying this fat, hungry and crying child, I had been suffering throughout the journey. My wet cloth has stuck to the body of this child. The sky is overcast with clouds. The weather is bad and the ground is getting slippery. The mud has increased. O Yaśodā, I am unable to carry his weight any further. O chaste lady, you take back the child from me and pacify him by feeding him at your breasts. I left my home long back and therefore I may go now. O chaste lady, you be happy." Thus speaking and handing over the child to her, she left for her abode.

Yaśodā took the child in her lap, kissed him and fed him with the milk of her breasts. On the other hand though Rādhā outwardly looked busy in performing her household jobs during the night she always went to Vṛndāvana and enjoyed love-sport with Kṛṣṇa. Thus I have spoken to you about the life of Kṛṣṇa which is quite auspicious, a bestower of pleasure, mokṣa and virtues. I have told all this to you. And I now recite the other story.

Chapter - 16

The Killing of Bakāsura, Pralambāsura and Keśī

नारायण उवाच

माधवो बालकैः सार्धमेकदा हलिना सह।
भुक्त्वा पीत्वा च क्रीडार्थं जगाम श्रीवनं मुने॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Once Kṛṣṇa, together with Balabhadra and the cowherd boys, went to the forest.

तत्र नानाविधां क्रीडां चकार मधुसूदनः।
कृत्वा तां शिशुभिः सार्धं चालयामास गोधनम्॥२॥

After taking their food and while playing in the forest, Madhusūdana pushed the cows ahead of the cowherds.

ययौ मधुवनं तस्माच्छ्रीकृष्णो गोधनैः सह।
तत्र स्वादु जलं पीत्वा वने च स महाबलः॥३॥
तत्रैकदैत्यो बलवाञ्छ्वेतवर्णो भयंकरः।
विकृताकारवदनो बकाकारश्च शैलवत्॥४॥

Moving along with the cows and the cowherds Śrī Kṛṣṇa reached Madhuvana. The valorous lord consumed the delicious water in the forest and spotted a terrific demon of white complexion, having a deformed face in the form of a skylark, which was as huge as the mountain itself.

दृष्ट्वा च गोकुलं गोष्ठे शिशुभिर्बलकेशवौ।
यथा ह्यगस्त्यो वातापिं सर्वं जग्रास लीलया॥५॥

Finding the cows and the cowherds together with Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma there, he swallowed them the same way as Agastya had swallowed Vātāpi in his valley.

बकग्रस्तं हरिं दृष्ट्वा सर्वे देवा भयान्विताः।
चक्रुर्हाहेति संत्रस्ता धावन्तः शस्त्रपाणयः॥६॥

Finding the lord having been swallowed by the skylark, all the gods felt frightened and cried in panic. They rushed to the scene carrying weapons.

शक्रश्चिक्षेप वज्रं च मुनेरस्थिविनिर्मितम्।
न ममार बकस्तस्मात्पक्षमेकं ददाह च॥७॥

Indra shot his vajra at it which was built by the bones of the sage Dadhīci. With the strike of vajra the skylark could not be killed, but one of his wings was burnt out.

नीहारास्त्रं शशधरः शीतार्तस्तेन दानवः।
यमदण्डं सूर्यपुत्रस्तेन कुण्ठो बभूव ह॥८॥

The moon shot the arrow of snow on it which made the demon to suffer from cold. Yama the son of Sūrya then attacked it with the Yamadaṇḍa which made the skylark motionless.

वायव्यास्त्रं च वायुश्च तेन स्थानान्तरं ययौ।
वरुणश्च शिलावृष्टिं चकार तेन पीडितः॥९॥

The wind-god issued the wind-arrow which carried the skylark to some other place. Varuṇa, on the other hand, showered a rain of stones which injured the skylark.

हुताशनश्च वाह्नेन पक्षांश्चैव ददाह सः।
कुबेरस्यार्धचन्द्रेण च्छिन्नपादो बभूव ह॥१०॥
ईशानस्य च शूलेन बभूव मूर्च्छितोऽसुरः।
ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव कृष्णं चक्रुर्भियाऽऽशिषम्॥११॥

The fire-god issued the fire-arrow at the skylark which burnt its wings. Kubera attacked it with the crescent-arrow which severed its legs. The trident of Śiva made the demon unconscious. All the sages and ascetics feeling panic pronounced their blessing on Kṛṣṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कृष्णः प्रज्वलन्ब्रह्मतेजसा।
ददाह दैत्यसर्वाङ्गं बाह्याभ्यन्तरमीश्वरः॥१२॥
तत्सर्वं वमनं कृत्वा प्राणांस्तत्याज दानवः॥१३॥

In the meantime Kṛṣṇa illumining with his divine lustre burnt the demon from within as well as outside which made it vomit out all those who had been swallowed by it and was ultimately killed.

बकं निहत्य बलवाञ्छिशुभिर्गोधनैः सह।
ययौ केलिकदम्बानां काननं सुमनोहरम्॥१४॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वृषरूपधरोऽसुरः।
नाम्ना प्रलम्बो बलवान्महाधूर्तश्च शैलवत्॥१५॥
शृङ्गाभ्यां च हरिं धृत्वा भ्रामयामास तत्र वै।
दुद्रुवुर्बालकाः सर्वे रुरुदुश्च भयातुराः॥१६॥

Thus lord Kṛṣṇa after having killed Bakāsura accompanied with the cowherds and the cows, went to the forest of banana and kadamba trees. At that point of time a huge bull known as Pralambāsura arrived there which was extremely wicked and of the size of a mountain. Carrying Kṛṣṇa on its horns, it started moving him round and round. All the boys felt panicky and started crying but Balabhadra well realising his brother to be an incarnation of the lord, was smiling and was making the boys to understand that there were nothing to worry.

On the other hand, Madhusūdana himself caught hold of the bull by the horns and moving it round and round in the sky threw it on the ground. With the fall of the bull on the ground the demon was killed. All the boys started laughing looking at the demon. Śrī Kṛṣṇa after killing Pralambāsura rapidly went to Bhāṇḍīravana together with Balabhadra. On the way finding Kṛṣṇa so moving, the valorous demon Keśī surrounded him tearing the earth with its hoofs. It carried Kṛṣṇa on its head and flew a hundred yojanas in the sky; the demon moved Kṛṣṇa round and round and then fell down on to the ground. The wicked demon tried to chew lord Kṛṣṇa holding him tightly but its effort to chew Kṛṣṇa with its teeth, all his vajra-like teeth were broken. Thereafter getting burnt with the lustre of lord Kṛṣṇa it fell down and was killed. The big drums were beaten in heaven and flowers were showered.

In the meantime the divine attendants arrived there with the chariots. All of them were two-armed; they were clad in yellow lower garments, adorned with kirīṭa crown, kuṇḍalas and long garlands of forest flowers, each holding playfully a flute in his hands and creating sounds with their movement. They had anklets on their feet, their bodies were plastered with the sandal-paste. They appeared in beautiful form of the cowherds and wore a serene smile on their faces and could bestow their grace on the devotees of the lord.

They were mounted on the chariot studded with the best of gems and they arrived in the Bhāṇḍīra forest at the place were Kṛṣṇa was present. They were clad in divine garments and were adorned with gem-studded ornaments. All of them started offering prayers to lord Kṛṣṇa, after bowing in reverence to him. All of them had been Vaiṣṇavas in the earlier births who had achieved demon-hood as a result of the curse pronounced on them; all of them, therefore, became the attendants of lord Kṛṣṇa.

नारद उवाच

Nārada said - O virtuous one, you tell me about the Vaiṣṇavas who were turned into demons. "Who were they"? You tell me all this. I am interested in listening to the same.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said -O Brahman, in this connection I am going to narrate the story of ancient history which I heard from the mouth of lord Śiva at the time of the solar eclipse in the Puṣkara region. You please listen to it. Śiva had narrated it to me by describing the qualities of the lord, at the instance of the sage, the god of death, Brahmā and myself.

O Brahmaputra, O virtuous one, he narrated the story in detail which purifies the universe; the lord of Gandharvas known as Gandhavāha used to live there who had been a great ascetic of the lord.

पुत्रा बभूवुश्चत्वारो गन्धर्वप्रवरा मुने।
सस्मरुः कृष्णपादाब्जं स्वप्ने ज्ञाने दिवानिशम्॥३६॥

O sage, he had four Gandharva sons who were always devoted at the lotus-like feet of the lord, while sleeping, awake, during the day or the night.

ते च दुर्वाससः शिष्याः श्रीकृष्णार्चनतत्पराः।
नित्यं दत्त्वा च कमलं संपूज्य तं पपुर्जलम्॥३७॥

Becoming the pupils of Durvāsā they adored lord Kṛṣṇa and they sipped the water only after offering the lotus flower at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

They were known by the names of Vasudeva, Suhotra, Sudarśana and Supārśvaka. All the four of them started performing tapas in the Puṣkara region. After performing tapas for a long time, they achieved success in the mantras. The eldest son known as Vasudeva who happened to be the best of the yogīs achieved success, as per the advice of Durvāsā, in the yogic practices. He did not marry, burning himself with the lustre of the Brahman. He left for his heavenly abode and became an attendant of lord Kṛṣṇa.

Once all the brothers went to Citra-sarovara for collecting lotus flowers for offering to the lord, at dawn. O sage, while they were collecting the lotus flowers, the attendants of Śiva caught hold of them and bound them in fetters.

The powerful attendants of Śiva caught hold of the poor fellows and sent them all to Śiva. At the audience with Śiva they bowed in reverence to him and prostrated before him. Wearing a serene smile on the face and the one who is always compassionate to his devotees, Śiva blessed them variously.

Śiva said - "Who are you to steal the lotus flowers from the lake of Pārvatī? A lakh of Yakṣas protect that lake for the successful performance of the vrata of Pārvatī. She is performing the "three months" vrata for increase in the welfare of her husband and for that purpose she offers a thousand lotus flowers daily with devotions to lord Hari."

Gandharvas said - O virtuous one, we are the best of the Gandharvas and the sons of Gandhavāha. O lord, we consumed water only after offering lotus flowers to lord Kṛṣṇa. O lord, we were not aware of the fact that the tank was protected by Pārvatī. O Śiva, you kindly accept these lotus flowers and make the vrata a success.

Brahman happens to be one and unparalleled. Therefore he has no body or form. He takes to human form only to bestow his grace on the people and he takes to other forms under the influence of illusion. Therefore, O lord, kindly accept these lotus flowers because you happen to be our lord. O Acyuta, the form which pleases our mind, you please appear in the same form, having two arms, of tender age, charming dark complexion and beautiful. Playfully you hold the flute in your hand, clad in yellow lower garment. You should have a single face, two eyes and your body should be plastered with sandal-paste and aguru. The body should be adorned with gem-studded ornament and the kaustubha gem should adorn your bright chest. Your head should be adorned with the peacock feather and the garland of jasmine and Pārijāta flowers should decorate you. Having the beauty of crores of gods of love, wearing a serene smile on the face and you should be passionately looking at the faces of the cowherdesses. You should be quite young and should occupy the heart of Rādhā, adored by Brahmā and other gods. You should be adorable, desirable, fulfil the desires of all and always anxious to bestow your grace on all.

Thus speaking the Gandharvas stood before lord Śiva. On hearing the description of lord Kṛṣṇa, lord Śiva felt emotional and his hair stood on end. His eyes were filled with tears and he said, "I have come to realise that yǒu happen to be the best of Vaiṣṇavas and you are roaming about on the ground in order to purify it with the dust of your feet. I am always anxious to have an audience with the devotees of lord Kṛṣṇa. It is very difficult to meet the noble people in the three worlds.

You are dearer to me always than Pārvatī and the gods. Though the Vaiṣṇavas are dearer to me than my own devotees, the promise I have already made cannot be otherwise. O virtuous one, you listen to it. I had ordained that during the performing of the vrata by Pārvatī, whosoever will collect lotus flowers from the lake would be turned into demons. There is no doubt about it. But the devotees of lord Kṛṣṇa never meet with misfortune; therefore after becoming demons you would go back to the Goloka. You are desirous of having an audience with lord Kṛṣṇa, O son, in the land of Bhārata in the forest of Vṛndāvana you will meet with Kṛṣṇa being a Vaiṣṇava and meet with your end and getting mounted on a chariot you will go to the abode of the lord.

Presently if you are desirous of having a look at your desired form you can do so. Thus speaking lord Śiva made them look at the form of Kṛṣṇa and looking at the same, the eyes of all the Gandharvas were filled with tears of love. Thereafter, bowing in reverence before the all-pervading lord, the Gandharvas took to the demonic form and became the lords of the demons. Thus Vasudeva had achieved salvation earlier, his brother Suhotra became Bakāsura, Sudarśana became Pralamba and Supārśvaka became Keśī. With the boon of lord Śiva all of them had a look at the form of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and met with their end ultimately achieving the abode of Kṛṣṇa. O dear one, thus I have narrated to you an astonishing story of the lord in which Baka, Keśī and Pralamba achieved salvation. This story provides salvation to all. This has been ordained.

Nārada said - O virtuous one, I have listened by your grace to whatever had been astonishing. Presently I intend to know the vrata Pārvatī had to perform and who had been the chief god of the same, what was the reward for the vrata? And what are its regulations? O lord, what are the beautiful materials required for the said vrata? What is the time for it? You kindly also tell me about the performing of the same. O all-pervading one, you think over it carefully and tell me everything since I am getting quite anxious about it.

Nārāyaṇa said - O sage, the vrata is to be continued for three months which increases the fortunes of the husband. Lord Kṛṣṇa together with Rādhikā are the chief deities for the same. It starts in the first half of the year and is completed in the second half. At the time of the start of the vrata one has to get disciplined and consume the food of haviṣya and the next day being the first day of Vaiśākha one should take a bath in the Gaṅgā and start the vrata on the bank of the Gaṅgā, taking saṁkalpa (vow). The one performing the vrata should adore the kalaśa, the gem, a Śālagrāma, a vase of water. After adoring the five gods, one should adore the lord of Rādhā with devotion. I am telling you the method of the same as prescribed in the Sāmaveda. You listen to it.

His complexion is like the fresh clouds, is clad in a yellow lower garment, his face wears a smile and looks like the full moon of the winter season, his eyes are like the fully blossomed lotus of the winter season, in whose eyes the collyrium has been applied. He attracts the minds of the cowherdesses again and again. Rādhā is looking at him and he resides in the heart of Rādhā. The gods like Brahmā, Ananta, Śiva and Dharma adore him. I meditate upon him.

Thus the performer of the vrata should meditate upon Kṛṣṇa and should delightfully invoke him. Thereafter one should meditate upon Rādhikā. The said dhyānam is contained in the Mādhyandina-śākhā. According to this dhyānam, Rādhā is the chief of Rāsa, quite charming, always anxious to perform the Rāsalīlā, always present in Rāsamaṇḍala, the chief goddess of the divine dance, residing in the heart of lord Kṛṣṇa, quite attractive, beloved of Kṛṣṇa, the best of those performing Rāsa, beautiful one and anxious for meeting the beloved.

Her eyes resembled the lotus flowers of the winter season. She had curved eyebrows and was adorned with anklets. Her face resembled the lustre of the moon of the winter season and she wore a pleasant smile on her face; her body had the glory of campaka flowers; her body was decorated with sandal-paste, kastūrī, vermilion and other cosmetics. Her cheeks were painted with beautiful leaves. She was clad in garments purified by fire, her gem-studded kuṇḍalas illumined her cheeks. The garland of gems decorated her breasts; the anklets, armlets and wristlets besides the waist-band were decorated with gems. The anklets decorate her feet which were studded with gems and created sweet sounds. Lord Kṛṣṇa who is devoted by Brahmā and other gods served her always. All the gods adore her and she happens to be the cause of all. I adore such a type of Rādhā.

Thus meditating upon Kṛṣṇa one should adore him. Daily with the devoted mind one should make sixteen types of offering and adore him. The one who performs the vrata should make every offering separately with a delightful mind. He should make a hundred and eight offerings with the divine lotus flowers; he should make his offering in the fire with a devoted mind reciting कृष्णाय स्वाहा.

One should make the offering of the unripe or ripe mango or banana fruits a hundred and eight times with devotion. The fruits should be uninjured. O sage, a hundred and eight Brāhmaṇa should be served with food daily and the performer of vrata should make a hundred and eight offerings in the fire.

एवं मासत्रयं कृत्वा प्रतिष्ठां तदनन्तरम्।।१००।।

The musical instruments should be played upon daily, besides the recitation of the name of Hari. After doing this, for three months, the vrata is completed.

O Nārada, I am now speaking out the method for the same; you please listen to it. One should offer ninety thousand uninjured lotus flowers and should serve to nine thousand Brahmans food which should be delicious and sweet.

One should offer naivedya of nine thousand seven hundred and twenty fruits, several types of beverages besides other eatables; one should perform homa with the sanctified fire making ninety thousand offerings of ghee and sesamum seeds. Thereafter the costumes, food and fruits, yajñopavīta, ninety fragrant sweet balls and ninety pitchers filled with cool water should be given. Thus completing the vrata in this manner, one should offer dakṣiṇā to the Brāhmaṇas. The quantity of dakṣiṇā should be the same as has been prescribed in the Vedas. One should give away in charity a hundred bulls whose horns should be coated with gold. O Brahman, thus I have narrated to you the method of performing the three months' vrata which bestows on the husband competent progeny and increases his fortunes.

व्रतस्यास्य प्रभावेण सौभाग्यं शतजन्मनि।

With the influence of this vrata one achieves fortune for a hundred births. She produces the best of sons in a hundred births and is never separated from the husband or the son. The son is always obedient like the slave and the husband also listens to her and such a chaste lady always remains engrossed in the devotion of Rādhā to Kṛṣṇa. With the influence of this vrata, she always remains full of knowledge and remembers the god always.

In the earlier times this vrata which is prescribed in the Sāmaveda was performed by us. It is the best of all the vratas and I am going to spell out the names of all of them those who have performed it. You listen to it.

Śatarūpā the wife of Svāyambhuvamanu making the sage Agastya as the chief priest, performed this vrata first of all. Thereafter, both Devahūti and Ākūti performed this vrata with Pulastya as the priest. O sage, Rohiṇī also performed this vrata with Kratu as the priest. Rati also performed this vrata making Gautama as the priest, with great devotion. Tārā the wife of teacher Bṛhaspati also performed this vrata with devotion, making Vasiṣtha as the chief priest. Thereafter Tārā made elaborate arrangements for this vrata and following her Indrāṇī also performed the vrata with great pomp and show, making Bṛhaspati as the priest. Svāhā performed this astonishing vrata collecting immense materials and making sage Marīci as the priest. O Brahman, looking at the same, goddess Pārvatī stood before Śiva with folded hands and bowing in reverence spoke to him.

पार्वत्युवाच

Pārvatī said - O lord of the universe, if you permit me I intend to perform the best of the vratas, which could bestow the welfare on both of us. O lord, the adoration of the lord is the cause of the welfare. Because the performing of the yajñas, charities, reciting the Vedas, visiting the holy places and going round the earth do not weigh even one-sixteenth part of the adoration of the lord. The one who always remembers the lord outwardly and inwardly and who is free from the death, gets redeemed by having a look at such a person. With the dust of his lotus-like feet, the earth gets purified at once.

At the sight of such a person all the three worlds are purified. By meditating upon whose lotus-like feet, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Dharma and Śeṣa and you yourself besides Gaṇeśa had achieved similar glory. The one who adores daily such a person, gets a high place and ultimately he becomes like him in qualities, glory, intelligence and knowledge. By adoring at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, remembering his name, performing dhyānam, tapas and serving him at the same time, I have achieved my husband and son; I have got everything playfully. Therefore my mind is completely satisfied and at peace. O lord, I have been fortunate enough to get a husband like you, sons like Gaṇeśa and Kārttikeya and the father Himālaya who happens to be the aṁśa of Kṛṣṇa. Therefore, nothing remains to be desired by me now.

पार्वतीवचनं श्रुत्वा सुप्रीतः शंकरः स्ववम्।

On hearing the words of Pārvatī, Śiva was extremely delighted and the hair on his body stood on end. Thereafter he spoke to her smilingly.

Mahādeva said - O goddess, you are the form of Mahālakṣmī and nothing is beyond you. You are the form of all the riches and the prowess which is beyond measure. O goddess, the house in which you remain is bestowed with all the riches. The house which is devoid of Lakṣmī, death is better than life in that house.

Himālaya, myself, Kārttikeya and Gaṇeśa are all of no consequence, without you. All of us are of no consequence without you and with you we are all powerful. Therefore, O chaste lady, whatever is appropriate for a chaste lady and whatever has been heard in the ancient times have to be taken as the words of the lord. Therefore accepting the divine voice you perform this vrata. As the ladies who have performed this vrata, you also perform it in a most astonishing manner. In your vrata, Sanatkumāra would conduct himself as the chief priest while I will arrange for the lotuses, Brāhmaṇas and other materials. O beautiful one, Kubera would be the treasure, while I myself would be in charge of the charities. Lakṣmī herself would provide all the riches. The god of fire would recite the Vedas. Varuṇa would perform the function of the supply of water and the Yakṣas would be responsible for carrying the materials under the leadership of six-headed Kārttikeya. The place of yajña would be kept neat and clean by the wind god himself while Indra would serve in the kitchen. Moon would be the chief organiser while Sūrya would supervise the charities and make appropriate arrangements. O dear one, whatever materials are needed for the performing the vratas, you offer the same in greater quantities to please lord Hari. Whatever is the number of Brāhmaṇas prescribed to be fed in the vrata, you invite much more of them and serve them food.

व्रतोक्तां दक्षिणां दत्त्वा सर्वं देहि द्विजातये॥१४२॥

On the concluding day of the vrata, the Brāhmaṇas should be given in charity gold, gems, pearls, coral and other things which have been prescribed in the vrata. These should be given in dakṣiṇā and the entire riches should be distributed.

Thus speaking Śiva made Pārvatī to perform the vrata. Thus Durgā performed the vrata in an astonishing manner. O dear one, thus have I narrated to you the details of the vrata performed by Pārvatī. O Nārada, the Brāhmaṇas were unable to carry the load of the dakṣiṇā money given away to them by Pārvatī. This is what I have heard from history; now I narrate to you further in the context of the story. The childhood plays of lord Kṛṣṇa would appear to be fresh at every step.

सर्वेभ्यो वनवार्ता च प्रोक्ता च शिशुभिर्मुदा।

After killing the demons, lord Kṛṣṇa accompanied by the cowherds returned to his home in Gokula which was a huge mansion like that of Kubera. Reaching home the cowherds narrated the happenings of the forest to every one in Gokula. On listening to these stories the people were surprised while Nanda felt panic.

आनीय वृद्धान्गोपांश्च गोपिका: स्थविरास्तथा।
युक्तिं चकार तै: सार्धमालोच्य समयोचिताम्॥१४८॥

He summoned all the old cowherds and cowherdesses and consulted them. Deciding on the future course of action, Nanda the chief of the cowherds got prepared to leave the place. O sage, at that point of time, he asked all the people to leave Vṛndāvana.

कृत्वा युक्तिं च गोपेशस्तत्स्थानं त्यक्तुमुद्यत:।

Listening to the command of Nanda all the people got ready to depart from there; all the cowherds, cowherdesses, boys and girls delightfully went to Vṛndāvana together with Kṛṣṇa and Balabhadra. All of them were singing taking to many forms, some of them were playing on vīṇā, some of them were playing on horns. Some of them were playing on karatāla while others were playing on flutes; some of them played on the arrow instruments in their hands while others had the horns; some of the cowherds were wearing tender leaves in their ears.

Many of them had adorned their ears with flower buds while others had inserted the flowers into them. Some of them were carrying fresh garlands of flowers; some of the boys had worn long garlands of forest flowers, while others had decorated their tufts. O best of the Brāhmaṇas, there were nine crores of cowherd boys and the cowherdesses numbering crores having developed pelvic region and breasts. All the female friends and the old ladies were moving delightfully.

O sage, the female friend of Rādhikā like Suśīlā and others were also moving while Rādhā on the other hand adorned with all the ornaments was clad in divine garment. She was moving wearing a smile on her face. Some of the ladies were moving in palanquins, while others were mounted on the chariots.

They were all moving together on the chariots adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments and gold equipment. Both Yaśodā and Rohiṇī, adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments were travelling in the golden chariots. Nanda, Sunanda, Śrīdāmā, Giribhānu, Vibhākara, Vīrabhānu and Candrabhānu were mounted on the chariots and were moving pleasantly.

Both Śrī Kṛṣṇa and Balabhadra adorned with gem-studded ornaments and mounted on the golden chariots were moving on pleasantly. Crores of old and young cowherds mounted on horses, elephants and chariots moved on. The arrogant servants of Nanda mounted on bulls and donkeys playing on musical instruments.

Some of them were carrying cosmetics and materials for decorating the body. Some of them had the material for decorating the costumes while others carried garlands of flowers. Some of them carried the musical instruments and were moving on delightfully. Some of them were clad in the garments purified by fire, while other carried sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron in their hands. Some of them were engaged in playing music and while others were engaged in reciting astonishing types of story. Thus crores of beautiful cowherdesses moved on in palanquins. There were crores of horses, chariots, bullock-carts filled with several types of materials, crores of bulls carrying the materials, crores of elephants, driven by the elephants, driven by the elephant driver, by means of goads. All of them moved on to Vṛndāvana. On reaching Vṛndāvana, they found no dwelling places and as such they had to take shelter under the trees in an appropriate manner. At that point of time lord Kṛṣṇa pointed out to the places for the stay of the cows as well as the people and said, "You spend the night somehow today." On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa all of them said, "O Kṛṣṇa, where are the houses?" In reply to them Śrī Kṛṣṇa said.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

अत्र स्थाने गृहाः सन्ति प्रसन्ना देवनिर्मिताः।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - There are several clean houses built here by the gods but no one can look at them unless the gods are pleased.

Therefore, O cowherds, let us adore the god of forest and live here tonight. In the early morning you will surely find beautiful houses. Therefore, all of you should adore goddess Caṇḍikā here offering incense, lamp, naivedya, offerings, flowers and sandal-paste, who is lodged under the banyan tree. On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa all the cowherds adored the goddess during the day time and spent the time delightfully there itself.

Nārāyaṇa said - During the night when the people of vraja together with Nanda went to sleep. Kṛṣṇa also went to sleep in the lap of his mother. When all the young people slept with the cowherds some of whom carried the infants in their laps, some of them slept with the female friends, some of them slept in the carts, some of them in the chariots. From the moon light Vṛndāvana was looking better than heaven and the cool fragrant breeze started blowing. All the people went to sleep. After the passage of five muhūrtas, Viśvakarmā the teacher of all the architects reached there.

He was accompanied by three crores of architects who carried in their hands many gems and weapons made of iron. The Yakṣas of the forest of Kubera who happen to be his servants also arrived there. They were adorned with crystal gems and the ornaments studded with gem. The shoulders of some of them were very broad. Some of them carried heaps of rubies, emeralds, and syamantaka gems. Some of them carried axes in their hands while others carried iron implements. Some of them carried the best of the gems while others carried fly-whisks, mirrors, vases of gold, gold pitchers in heaps. With the best of material available with Viśvakarmā, he looked at the same and thought of lord Kṛṣṇa. He then started the work of constructing the city. It happened to be the best of the city of Bhārata and was spread over an area of five yojanas. It was the best of the holy places and was considered to be the most sacred place, liked best by Hari. It could lead the people desirous of salvation to achieve their goal by residing there. Four crores of four-roomed houses were built there as a result of which the entire city looked quite beautiful.

It was built in stones with a large number of doors, pillars and steps decorated with puppets, flowers and kalaśas at the top of each one of the house, which illumined the area.

There were pedestals made with blocks of stones and the courtyards added to the beauty of the houses there. The city was surrounded by boundary walls made in block of stones. Viśvakarmā built the entire city playfully.

In each and every house there were big or small doors which were appropriately fixed. Viśvakarmā had delightfully constructed the houses of the city with crystal gems. The steps were made of sandal-wood and the pillars were without nails; the doors were fixed with chains of steel, vases of silver were fixed on the boundary walls which were strong like vajra as a result of which the entire city was looking quite glorious. After constructing the appropriate types of the houses for the Gopas, Viśvakarmā constructed a beautiful house for Vṛṣabhānu. It was covered with boundary walls and moats all round, which had four gates on all the four sides.

He constructed twenty, four-roomed houses, in the entire complex in which the gems were studded, the paintings were made with gems, the steps were made with various types of pearls which looked quite beautiful, the doors were made of steel and with artificial paintings, the houses of Vṛṣabhānu looked quite beautiful. Every temple in that complex had the kalaśa of gold which kept on shining. A lonely place of that āśrama having a beautiful campaka trees, was made for enjoying the love-sports by Kalāvatī with her husband, was also made by Viśvakarmā. It was built with the special types of gems, having nine steps of emerald, the pillars were made of sandal-wood and the doors were quite high. It was indeed an astonishing type of mansion.

The earth was purified with the dust of her feet and the noble people are always desirous of her devotion.

Nārāyaṇa said - In earlier times Kalāvatī, Ratnamālā and Menakā were known as the mind-born daughters of the manes who were quite inaccessible. Out of them the passionate Ratnamālā married Janaka and Menakā accepted Himālaya the lord of the mountain as her husband, the truthful Sītā happened to be daughter of Ratnamālā who was born without human contact and happened to be the wife of lord Rāma. Pārvatī happened to be the daughter of Menakā who was also born without human contact. She was also the illusion of Hari and quite eternal. She, after performing great tapas for Nārāyaṇa achieved Śiva as her husband. Kalāvatī on the other hand accepted Sunanda who belonged to the race of Manu as her husband. The king considered himself to be quite fortunate since she was born out of the aṁśa of the Kamalā by getting the virtuous Kalāvatī as his wife. Praising Kalāvatī he used to think in his mind, "She has an astonishing type of beauty and costumes. How beautiful is she in her tender age! Her limbs are quite tender and beautiful and her face resembles the glory of the full moon of the winter season; her walking pushed to shame the moving of the elephant and the wagtail bird. With her side-glances she can attract the minds of even the great sages, her pelvic region and thighs are well developed and look like the trunk of banana trees. O sage, both her breasts, were quite stiff and well developed and her buttocks resembled the wheels of the chariot. The hands and the feet were quite red and the lips resembled the ripe wood-apples, the lines of teeth resembled the seed of pomegranate and were quite charming; her eyes resembled the fully blossomed lotus flowers of the winter season. She was adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments." Thus thinking, the king felt infatuated with passion.

Thereafter, the passionate king mounted on the divine chariot together with Kalāvatī moved on to a charming spot. He enjoyed sex with her, in the charming forest of Malayācala valley, where the trees of sandal, aguru were found in large number and their fragrance was spread everywhere carried by the wind, on the beautiful bed of campaka flowers which made the sexual pleasure quite comfortable, in the groves of jasmine flowers and on the bank of river Puṣ pabhadrā, the secluded forest of Ketakī trees, on the western ocean in Bengal, devoid of any creatures, in the valley of Nandanavana in the Mandrācala mountain, in the forest of the bank of the Kāverī river. Thus he roamed about in all the charming places, the mountains, the rivers, the rivulets, the islands and all the charming places where he enjoyed himself in her company.

नवसंगमसंयोगाद्बुबुधे न दिवानिशम्।

Thus in this first sexual encounter they lost awareness of day and night and thus a thousand years elapsed like a moment.

Having been thus indulged in the sexual behaviour for a long time, the king became fed up with the same and thereafter he went for tapas together with his wife in the hermitage of sage Pulaha located in Vindhyācala in the land of Bhārata. Reaching there the king performed severe tapas leaving all the desires, remaining without food for a divine thousand years and his body became lean and thin. O best of the sages, devoting his mind at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa he fainted.

The hole created in the body because of the tapas was removed by his chaste wife. But the chaste wife Kalāvatī finding her husband lifeless, devoid of the five elements, flesh blood and the remnants of the bones and skin, became grief-stricken and started crying aloud in that secluded forest.

Placing the fainted king in her lap she uttered, "O lord". Thereafter the grief-stricken and chaste wife started lamenting. The body of the king had dried up because he took no food and all the veins of his body were quite visible. Finding this, listening to the lamenting of Kalāvatī, the compassionate Brahmā who was born out of the lotus and happened to be the creator of the universe, compassionately reached there. Carrying the king in his lap he also started crying. Thereafter Brahmā, who was well aware of the Brahman took out water from his kamaṇḍalu and sprinkled it on the body of the king and with his divine knowledge be brought him back to life; getting his senses back the king found Brahmā before him and he bowed in reverence to him. Thereafter, Brahmā was pleased and he spoke to the king, who was as beautiful as the god of love, "You ask for a boon desired by you." On hearing the words of Brahmā, the king said, "O compassionate one, in case you intend to bestow a boon on me with a mind filled with compassion, with your face blossoming like the lotus, then you give me the boon of achieving salvation. Realising the gravity of the situation in her mind, the throat, lips and palate of the queen were dried up. Feeling panicky the chaste lady spoke to Brahmā who was about to pronounce his boon for the king.

कलावत्युवाच

सर्वधर्मात्परा ब्रह्मन्पतिसेवा सुदुर्लभा।
स्वामिसेवाविहीनाया: सर्वं तन्निष्फलं भवेत्॥७०॥

Kalāvatī said - O Brahman, born of the lotus, in case you redeem the king then you tell me what shall be the fate of the helpless woman like me? O four-faced one, without the husband, the wife has no glory. It is said in the Vedas that for the chaste ladies the husband happens to be their vratas. He is the only dharma for their tapas besides being the teacher and the supreme god. For all the ladies there is no better relative than the husband. He happens to be dearer to her compared to all other people. O Brahman, the serving of the husband with devotion is considered to be the best of all the dharmas. Such of the women who are deprived of serving their husbands, all their performances become infructuous.

व्रतं दानं तप: पूजा जपहोमादिकं च यत्।

वेदज्ञानां ब्राह्मणानां भोजनं देवसेवनम्।
एतानि स्वामिसेवाया: कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥७३॥

The performing of vrata, charities, tapas, pūjā, recitation, oṁ and other religious practices, besides bathing in the holy places, going round the earth, performing all the yajñas, the great charities, reciting all the ·Vedas, performing tapas, serving food to the Brāhmaṇas, being well-versed in the Vedas and serving the gods, do not compare even one-sixteenth part of the merit of serving the husband.

मूत्रश्लेष्मपुरीषाणां कुर्वन्ति भक्षणं मुदा।
मुखे तासां ददत्येवमुल्कां च यमकिंकरा:॥७६॥

Such a woman who, instead of serving her own husband, showers harsh words on him, falls in the kālasūtra hell and remains there till the time of the sun and the moon. There the insects as big as snakes bite them day and night and also create frightening sounds. There they have to consume urine and refuse. The messengers of Yama insert the burning rods into the mouth of such women.

भुक्त्वा भोगं च नरके कृमियोनिं प्रयान्ति ता:।
भक्षन्ति जन्मशतकं रक्तमांसपुरीषकम्॥७७॥

After facing the torture in the hell these women are born as insects and for hundreds of births they live on blood, flesh and refuse.

श्रुत्वाऽहं विदुषा वक्त्राद्वेदवाक्येषु निश्चितम्।
जानामि किंचिदबला त्वं वेदजनको विभु:॥७८॥
गुरोर्गुरुश्च विदुषां योगिनां ज्ञानिनां तथा।
सर्वज्ञमेवंभूतं त्वां बोधयामि किमुच्यते॥७९॥

I have heard this from the mouths of the people of wisdom and those possessing the Vedic knowledge. I, being the helpless woman, am aware of only a little of them. But you are the creator of the Vedas, the people with knowledge and you happen to be the teacher of all the teachers. Therefore O Acyuta, what better shall I speak to you since you possess all the knowledge already.

प्राणाधिकोऽयं कान्तोऽयं यदि मुक्तो बभूव ह।
मम को रक्षिता ब्रह्मन्धर्मस्य यौवनस्य च॥८०॥

O Brahman, in case my husband who is dearer to me than my life achieved salvation, then who will protect my youthfulness and dharma?.

कौमारे रक्षिता तातो दत्त्वा पात्राय सत्कृती।
सर्वदा रक्षिता कान्तस्तदभावे च तत्सुत:॥८१॥

For the ladies, the father protects them during childhood, in youth when the father gives her away in marriage to a man competent enough, the husband protects her and in the absence of the husband, the sons protect her.

त्रिष्ववस्थासुनारीणां त्रातारश्च त्रय: स्मृता:।
या: स्वतन्त्राश्च ता नष्टा: सर्वधर्मबहिष्कृता:॥८२॥

Thus at the three stages, three types of protector have been prescribed for a woman. Such of the women who are independent and are devoid of all the dharmas, get destroyed.

असत्कुलप्रसूतास्ता कुलटा दुष्टमानसा:।
शतजन्मकृतं पुण्यं तासां नश्यति पद्मज॥८३॥
पुत्रस्नेहो यथा बाल्ये तथा युनि च वार्धके।
पतिव्रतानां कान्ते च सर्वकाले समा स्पृहा॥८४॥

Such of the women are rather born in the low races with a polluted mind. O Brahman, they are deprived of the merits earned by them during the past hundred births together with other merits. As the attraction for the child remains during the childhood, similarly the same affection continues in the young age as well as the old age; similarly the love for the husband remains always constant with the chaste ladies.

सुते स्तनंधये स्नेहो मातॄणां चातिशोभिते।
पतिस्नेहस्य साध्वीनां कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्॥८५॥

The mothers shower greater affection on the infants while they suck the breast milk but that affection does not compare even one-sixteenth part for the love for their husband.

स्तनान्धे स्तनदानान्तं मिष्टान्ने भोजनावधि।
कान्ते चित्तं सतीनां च स्वप्ने ज्ञाने च संततम्॥८६॥
दु:खान्तो बन्धुविच्छेद: पुत्राणां च ततोऽधिक:।
सुदारुणा: स्वामिनश्च दु:खं नात: परं स्त्रिया:॥८७॥

The infant who is fed with the breast milk earns affection only up to the time he sucks the breast. One gets attracted towards sweet things, till it is consumed but the love of the chaste lady for her husband remains forever. The separation of a brother is quite painful and the separation of a son is more painful than the earlier one, but the separation of the husband is simply terrible. There is no other situation more painful than that.

अविदग्धा यथा दग्धा ज्वलदग्नौ विषादने।
तथा विदग्धा दग्धा स्याद्विदग्धविरहानले॥८८॥

As the foolish women dies after consuming poison or entering the fire flames, similarly the intelligent damsel burns in separation from her husband.

नान्ने तृष्णा जले तृष्णा साध्वीनां स्वामिनं विना।
विरहाग्नौ मनो दग्धं वह्नौ शुष्कतृणं यथा॥८९॥
नहि कान्तात्परो बन्धुर्नहि कान्तात्पर: प्रिय:।
नहि कान्तात्परो देवो नहि कान्तात्परो गुरु:॥९०॥
नहि कान्तात्परो धर्मो नहि कान्तात्परं धनम्।
नहि कान्तात्परा: प्राणा नहि कान्तात्पर: स्त्रिया:॥९१।

The chaste ladies consider food and water to be of no consequence without the husband, her mind remains burning like the straw in the fire flames. For the ladies there is no other relatives, god, teacher, dharma, riches or life better than their husband.

निमग्नं कृष्णपादाब्जे वैष्णवानां यथा मन:।
यथैकपुत्रे मातुश्च यथा स्त्रीषु च कामिनाम्॥९२॥
धनेषु कृपणानां च चिरकालार्जितेषु च।
यथा भयेषु भीतानां शास्त्रेषु विदुषां यथा॥९३॥
स्तनादाने शिशूनां च शिल्पेषु शिल्पिनां यथा।
यथा जारे पुंश्चलीनां साध्वीनां च तथा प्रिये॥९४॥
तं विना जीवितुं ब्रह्मक्षणमेकं न च क्षमम्।
मरणं जीवनं तासां जीवनं मरणाधिकम्॥९५॥

As the Vaiṣṇavas remain devoted at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, the mind of the mothers having one son, thinks only of her son; the mind of the passionate people remains engrossed in the woman, the misers always think of the money earned by them since long, the people who are afraid always think of the fear, the learned people feel attracted towards the scriptures, the infants in sucking of the breasts, the artisans always remain engaged in the works of art and the wicked woman always think of other men, similarly the mind of the chaste ladies is always engaged in their husband. O Brahman, they cannot remain alive even of a moment without them. Because with the emergence of the grief, with the separation of the husband, the death of the woman is considered to be the life. And her remaining alive is worse than death.

सद्भर्तृरहितानां च शोकेन हतचेतसाम्।
अन्यशोकनिमग्नानां कालेन पानभोजनात्॥९६॥
विपरीत:कान्तशोको वर्धते भक्षणादहो।

इतरे भोगदेहान्ते साध्वी जन्मनि जन्मनि।
करोषि चेज्जगद्धातरिमं मुक्तं मया विना॥९८॥
त्वां शप्त्वाऽहं त्वयि विभो पश्य दास्यामि स्त्रीवधम्॥९९।

The grief of others disappear after consuming food and drinking water for sometime but the grief of the separation from the husband goes on increasing. It increases in the consumption of the food and water, the conduct of the chaste ladies follows their husband like a shadow. A chaste lady is considered to be the best of all the wives. The rest of the women remain there for enjoying the pleasures of the body. On the other hand the chaste lady follows the husband during the many future births. Therefore, O Brahmā, O virtuous one, if you redeem my husband without me, then I shall pronounce a curse on you earning you the sin of the killing of a women.

श्रुत्वा कलावतीवाक्यमुवाच विस्मितो विधि:।
हितं पीयूषसदृशं भयसंविग्नमानस:॥१००॥

At these words of Kalāvatī, Brahmā felt surprised. Getting panicky, he spoke nectar-like words to her which were beneficial as well.

ब्रह्मोवाच

वत्से मुक्तिं च दास्यामि स्वामिनं च त्वया विना।
मुक्तं कर्तुं त्वया सार्धं सांप्रतं नाहमीश्वर:॥१०१॥

Brahmā said - O daughter, I shall not give salvation to your husband without you and presently I am not in a position to redeem your husband along with you.

मातर्मुक्तिर्विना भोगाद्दुर्लभा सर्वसंमता।
निर्वाणतां समाप्नोति भोगी भोगविकृन्तने॥१०२॥

O mother, without consuming the reward for the deeds performed, it is impossible to achieve salvation. This is known to all, one achieves salvation only after the destruction of the deeds.

कतिवर्षं स्वर्गभोगं कुरुष्व स्वामिना सह।
ततस्तु युवयोर्जन्म भविता भारते सति॥१०३॥

Therefore, O chaste lady, you enjoy the pleasure of the heaven for sometime together with your husband. Thereafter both of you will be born in the land of Bhārata.

यदा भविष्यति सती कन्या ते राधिका स्वयम्।
जीवन्मुक्तौ तया सार्धं गोलोकं च गमिष्यथ:॥१०४॥
कतिकालं नृपश्रेष्ठ भुङ्क्ष्व भोगं स्त्रिया सह।
साध्वी वै सत्त्वयुक्ता च मा मां शप्तुं त्वमर्हसि॥१०५।

At that point of time the chaste Rādhā would incarnate herself as your daughter. Then both of you will be relieved of your birth and would proceed to Goloka together with Rādhā. O best of the kings, you enjoy the worldly pleasures together with your wife for some more time Your chaste wife should not pronounce a curse on me.

जीवन्मुक्ता: समा: सन्त: कृष्णपादाब्जमानसा:।
वाञ्छन्ति हरिदास्यं च दुर्लभं न च निर्वृतिम्॥१०६॥

Such of the people who are devoted to the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa are always desirous of the inaccessible slavehood of the lord and not salvation.

इत्युक्त्वा तौ वरौ दत्त्वा संतस्थौ पुरतस्तयो:।
ययतुस्तौ तं प्रणम्य जगाम स्वालयं विधि:॥१०७॥

Thus speaking, blessing both the husband and the wife, Brahmā stood before them. Thereafter, bowing in reverence to Brahmā both the king and the queen went to heaven and Brahmā also went back to his abode.

आजग्मतुस्तौ कालेन भुक्त्वा भोगं च भारतम्।
परं पुण्यप्रदं दिव्यं ब्रह्मादीनां च वाञ्छितम्॥१०८॥

After enjoying the pleasure of heaven for a long time both the husband and wife were reborn in the land of Bhārata which is quite meritorious, divine and desired by the gods like Brahmā and others.

सुचन्द्रो वृषभानुश्च ललाभ जन्म गोकुले।

Sucandra was born in Gokula and he was known by the name of Vṛṣabhānu. He was born there of the semen of Surabhānu from the womb of Padmāvatī.

जातिस्मरो हरेरंशः शुक्लपक्षे यथा शशी।

He remembered the happenings of earlier births. He happened to be the aṁśa of lord Hari and he went on growing daily in Vraja as the moon goes on increasing in the bright fortnight.

सर्वज्ञश्च महायोगी हरिपादाब्जमानसः।
नन्दबन्धुर्वदान्यश्च रूपवान्गुणवान्सुधीः॥१११॥

He was all-knowledgeable, a great yogī and always devoted to the lotus-like feet of the lord. He was related to Nanda, was quite large hearted, possessed many qualities and was quite intelligent.

मालावती स्तनं दत्त्वा तां पुपोष प्रहर्षिता॥११५॥

Kalāvatī was born in the country of Kanyākubja without human contact and also remembered the happening of the earlier births; she was immensely chaste, beautiful and the aṁśa of Lakṣmī. There was a king named Bhanandana in Kanyākubja who was quite valorous; he achieved her at the end of yajña who emerged out of the yajña-kuṇḍa without robes and as an infant. The beautiful girl emerged out of the fire altar smilingly. The glory of the limbs of her body resembled that of molten gold. She was emitting lustre. The king Bhanandana carrying the girl in his lap handed her on to his queen. Kalāvatī felt delighted and started feeding her at her breasts. She then continued bringing her up.

At the time of her annaprāśana and the names-giving ceremony when the king was seated in the assembly of noble people, a divine voice was heard saying, "O king, you give this girl the name of Kalāvatī.".

On hearing this, the king gave her the same name and on that occasion, distributed riches among the Brāhmaṇas, the beggars and the bards besides serving food to them. Thus the best of the function was performed. In due course of time, the girl became youthful, she was extremely beautiful, dark-complexioned and could attract the mind of the sages, having the limbs as beautiful as the campaka flowers, a face resembling the full-blown lotus of the winter season, wearing a serene smile on the face and the eyes resembling the blossomed lotus flower. She had developed buttocks and pelvic region and well-developed breasts.

She kept on walking like the king of elephants. Such a beautiful damsel was spotted by Nanda once on the beautiful the kingsway. He was so happy to see her that in spite of his being possessed of great wisdom and well disciplined, he fainted. Thereafter feeling panicky he enquired of the people walking on the kingsway. "To whom does this girl belong"? The people said, "She is Kalāvatī the daughter of king Bhanandana.

She is born in the royal palace with the aṁśa of Lakṣmī. She is going to the abode of her female friend for playing, O best of the people of Vraja, you go to Vraja." Thus speaking the people left the place. Thereafter Nanda went to the royal palace of Bhanandana.

Descending from the chariot he entered the court of the king quickly. The king got up and after a brief conversation he offered him the lion-throne made of gold.

They talked with each other variously and thereafter Nanda spoke to the king about his marriage.

Nanda said - O best of the kings, you kindly listen, I am going to speak out something special to you. You better give away your daughter in marriage to a prominent person.

She is best suited for Vṛṣabhānu the son of Suryabhānu, the lord of Vraja and born out of the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇa. He has many qualities, is quite beautiful, well-read, youthful, a great yogī and remembers the happenings of his earlier births. Your daughter named Kalāvatī was also born without human contact out of the fire-altar and can attract all the three worlds towards herself. She is quite peaceful in nature and has appeared as an aṁśa of Lakṣmī. Vṛṣabhānu is quite suitable for your daughter and your daughter is quite suitable for him.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा नन्दस्तु विरराम च संसदि।।

O king, it is always appropriate to unite a clever girl with a clever boy. Thus speaking, Nanda kept quiet in his court. Thereafter the king spoke to him quite humbly.

भनन्दन उवाच

Bhanandana said - O lord of Vraja, the union of the boy and girl is in the hands of lord and is beyond my capacity to do so because it is Brahmā who can establish the union between the boy and the girl. I happen to be only the giver of birth, therefore no one knows who is the wife of whom or the daughter of whom and who happen to be the husband of whom because it is Brahmā only who bestows the rewards for one's own karmas. It is heard in the Vedas that the deeds one performed cannot be infructuous; otherwise with the efforts made by the unauthorised person, the entire enterprise becomes infructuous.

In case it has been ordained by Brahmā for my daughter to be the beloved of Vṛṣabhānu then it has already been established and who am I to do so now and who can stop it" O Nārada thus speaking, the great king bowed in reverence to Nanda and served him sweets and food.

Thereafter Nanda went back to Vraja and with the permission of the king, reaching the court of Surabhānu he narrated the entire story to him.

Surabhānu then established the relationship by involving Nanda and Garga.

At the time of marriage the king gave away enormous riches in dowry which included the best of elephants, the best of horses and several other gems and precious stones besides the ornaments studded with gems.

जातिस्मरो हरेरंशो वृषभानो मुदाऽन्वितः॥१४४॥

After the marriage of Kalāvatī, Vṛṣabhānu accompanied her to secluded places and enjoyed her company. At that point of time they lost the awareness of day and night, with the separation from the husband even for a moment Kalāvatī felt disturbed and Vṛṣabhānu also behaved similarly. Kalāvatī was born with the illusion of earth, remembered all the happenings of her earlier births. Similarly Vṛṣabhānu who was born of Hari felt delighted by remembering the happenings of all his earlier births.

बवर्ध च तयोः प्रेम नित्यं नित्यं नवं नवम्।
सदा सकामा सा प्रौढा स च कामसमो युवा॥१४५॥

The love of both husband and wife went on increasing day by day. She always remained a passionate girl while Vṛṣabhānu behaved like a passionate boy.

With the passage of time they got Rādhikā as their daughter. As a move of destiny with the curse of Sudāmā, the friend of Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā was born without human contact on earth. With the appearing of the girl Rādhikā both her parents looked blissful and achieved salvation.

This is a matter of history and now you listen in reference to the context. The above historical story destroys the sins like the fire-wood in the burning flames.

Viśvakarmā the best of the architects went to the abode of Vṛṣabhānu and then went to some other place with his workers.

क्रोशमात्रं स्थलं चारु मनसाऽऽलोच्य तत्त्ववित्।
आश्रमं कर्तुमारेभे नन्दस्य सुमहात्मनः॥१५०॥

Viśvakarmā who is well-versed in the tattvas mentally thought of constructing a vast building for the use of Nanda and he started the work accordingly.

कृत्वाऽनुमानं बुद्ध्या च सर्वतोऽपि विलक्षणम्।

Thinking from his mind he built the abode for Nanda in an unprecedented manner which was surrounded by the high boundary walls and deep moats. It was inaccessible to the enemies and was built of stone. On both the banks of the river there were flower gardens, as a result of which it looked like a flower orchard. On the banks of the river, the campaka flowers were blossoming. The air which blew in the area touching the fragrant flowers, carried the fragrance everywhere. The trees grown on the banks included mango, betel-nut, jack-fruits, palms, coconut, pomegranate, wood-apple, cardamom, lemon, orange, mango, silk-fruit, banana, kevaḍe, kadamba and several other trees blossoming with flowers. The place was surrounded by the moats on all the sides. Since it was always covered with the trees it was best suited for water-sport and therefore desired by all.

For entry into these moats a beautiful pathway was constructed which was always inaccessible to the enemies, but was easily accessible to the known people.

The boundary of the road was indicated by signs of pillars studded with gems, having enough water. These pillars were indicative of the boundary, which were neither too big nor too small.

On the upper portion of the complex, there was a beautiful boundary wall which was as high as a hundred bows and each boulder studded in the wall was as high as twenty five feet each and was built with red precious stone, looking quite beautiful.

There were two gates outside the same and inside there were seven of them with doors which were studded with the best of gems.

The top of the palace of Nanda was built with pitchers of gold which were always shining. By constructing this palace Viśvakarmā started roaming about in the city.

He constructed several types of beautiful kingsway, besides the pedestal made of red precious stones and the roads decorated with beautiful sign boards.

पारावारे च परितो निबद्धांश्च मनोहरान्।
वाणिज्यार्हैश्च वणिजां परितो मणिमण्डपैः॥१६५॥

They were built quite strong which added to their beauty. The kingsway was provided with maṇḍapas of gems which could be used by the business community.

Getting illumined themselves the maṇḍapas also illuminated the kingsway. Thereafter Viśvakarmā constructed a circular Rāsamaṇḍala in Vṛndāvana surrounded by a high boundary wall which was spread by a yojana from all sides. A number of pedestals were constructed and decorated with gems at several places.

मणिसारविकारैश्च मण्डपैर्नवकोटिभिः।

Nine crores of maṇḍapas were added to the beauty of Rāsamaṇḍala which were studded with the best of precious stones; it had enough of cosmetics, beautiful paintings and beds for enjoying the love-sports.

The cool breeze which carried the fragrance of numerous flowers of different types filled the maṇḍapas with the fragrance, the lamps made of diamonds were lighted in the same. The golden pitchers enhanced its lustre.

Viśvakarmā after constructing the Rāsamaṇḍala duly filled with the flowers, gardens and lakes, went to some other place.

Finding the charming Vṛndāvana so beautiful, he was immensely delighted and he set up beautiful gardens of astonishing type in Vṛndāvana which were scattered at several places and were created thoughtfully.

They were all set up for the love-sport of Rādhā and Mādhava. There were thirty beautiful gardens. Thereafter there was an attractive beautiful spot quite secluded under the shade of the banyan tree, with a lake and an orchard of campaka flowers on the bank beside the forest of jasmine flowers. Beside that, for the love-sports a gem-studded maṇḍapa was also erected which had four pedestals at four ends. It was exceedingly beautiful.

It was decorated with the best of gems and painted with hundreds of brushes. There were nine pairs of door leaves which were studded with gems and contained different types of paintings. Its walls and ceilings were also studded with gems and precious gems. Every door had a Ratnamaṇḍapa attached to it. Three crores of artificial kalaśas were adding to its grandeur. It had seven steps studded in precious stones, the top of the maṇḍapa having kalaśas made of gems which were illumining the entire area. It was decorated with banners, toraṇas and wide fly-whisks. Innumerable mirrors of precious stones were available there as a result of which the maṇḍapa looked illumining from the front side. It was a hundred bows in height and was shining like the burning flames. It was circular in shape and was spread over an area of a hundred feet. There were beds of diamonds in the inner portion of the same.

The beds were covered with the best of bed-sheets purified by fire. Getting decorated with the garlands, they looked quite fine; they had pillows made of the garlands of Pārijāta flowers.

The building was scented with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron. The garlands of jasmine and campaka flowers were placed there. For increase in fresh love, the betels with camphor were placed in the boxes of gems.

वज्रसारेण खचितैर्मुक्ताजालविलम्बिभिः।

It was decorated with the paintings drawn in gems over the gem-studded lion-thrones. It was decorated with jasmine flowers and the fragrant water besides other cosmetics were available here in abundance. Thus Viśvakarmā after constructing the pleasure house went back to the city.

नारद उवाच

O sage, at that point of time, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the lord of sleep bowed in reverence to the lord when he was fast asleep and left the place. Thus all the pleasures were presented to the noble people in this manner. This is all due to the great lord and it is not surprising because this astonishing type of the city was built with the will of the lord. Thus I have narrated the life story of the lord which provides welfare and destroys the sins providing all the pleasures. What else do you want to listen to from me?.

सूत उवाच

नारदस्य वचः श्रुत्वा ऋषिर्नारायणो मुदा।

Sūta said - On hearing the word of Nārada, the sage Nārāyaṇa laughed gracefully and he started narrating an ancient story to Nārada.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said - O Brahman, in the earlier times there was a king named Kedāra in Satyayuga who happened to be the king of all the seven continents and always followed the path of dharma. He was leading the comfortable life of a house-holder together with his wives, sons and grandsons. The religious king looked after the people as good as his own sons.

कृत्वा क्रतुशतं राजा लेभे नेन्द्रत्वमीप्सितम्।

The king completed a hundred yajña but did not accept the title of Indra. Though he earned merits by performing various good deeds he never aspired for the reward.

He always performed many religious functions in order to please Kṛṣṇa. Indeed there had been no king like him in the past nor shall be any in future also.

पुत्रेषु राज्यं संन्यस्य प्रियां त्रैलोक्यमोहिनीम्।
जैगीषव्योपदेशेन जगाम तपसे वनम्।।१९७।।

At the advice of the sage Jaigīṣavya, the king disowning his kingdom, the wife who could attract the three worlds, entrusting their care to his sons, went to the forest for performing tapas.

हरेरैकान्तिको भक्तो ध्यायते संततं हरिम्।

The king who was immensely devoted to Kṛṣṇa always meditated upon him. O sage, the Sudarśana-cakra of Kṛṣṇa always attended on him for the sake of his protection. The king after performing tapas for a long time ultimately went to Goloka. A sacred place known by the name of Kedāra emerged thereafter. It happens to be the place where even the dead person always achieves salvation. He had a daughter named Vṛndā who was born out of the aṁśa of Lakṣmī and happened to be a great ascetic. She was well-versed in the yogic practices and therefore did not accept anyone as her husband. Thereafter Durvāsā initiated her with the inaccessible mantra of the lord which made her detached. After returning home, she again went back to the forest for performing tapas. She performed severe austerities for sixty thousand years.

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa himself appeared before her. The lord spoke to him delightfully saying, "You ask for a boon." But at the sight of the peaceful lord of Rādhikā, she was infatuated with passion and fainted.

On regaining consciousness she quickly uttered, "You be my husband". Lord Kṛṣṇa accepted it and enjoyed her company in seclusion for a long time. Thereafter Vṛndā went back to lord Kṛṣṇa to Goloka and became the fortunate cowherdess like Rādhikā.

The place where Vṛndā performed the tapas, later on came to be known as Vṛndāvana. O sage, the place were Vṛndā enjoyed the love-sports, known as Vṛndāvana.

अथान्यं चेतिहासं च शृणुष्व वत्स पुण्यदम्।
येन वृन्दावनं नाम निबोध कथयामि ते।।२०८।।

O son, there is another auspicious story about the origin of the name of Vṛndāvana which I am going to tell you and you please listen to it.

कुशध्वजस्य कन्ये द्वे धर्मशास्त्रविशारदे।
तुलसीवेदवत्यौ च विरक्तं भवकर्मणि।।२०९।।

Kuśadhvaja had two daughters named Tulasī and Vedavatī who were well-versed in the scriptures but were quite detached from the worldly affairs. Out of these two Vedavatī accepted Nārāyaṇa as her husband. She is known as Sītā, the daughter of Janaka everywhere.

तपस्तप्त्वा वेदवती प्राप नारायणं परम्।
सीता जनककन्या सा सर्वत्र परिकीर्तिता।।२१०।।
तुलसी च तपस्तप्त्वा वाञ्छां कृत्वा हरिं प्रति।
दैवाद्दुर्वाससः शापात्प्राप्य शङ्खासुरं पतिम्।।२११।।

Tulasī on the other hand becoming desirous of the lord, performed great tapas but because of the curse from Durvāsā, she had to accept Śaṁkhāsura as her husband.

पश्चात्संप्राप्य कमलाकान्तं कान्तं मनोहरम्।
सा चैव हरिशापेन वृक्षरूपा सुरेश्वरी॥२१२॥
तस्या: शापेन च हरि: शालग्रामो बभूव ह।
तथा तस्थौ च सततं शिलावक्षसि सुन्दरी॥२१३॥

Thereafter, she achieved the pleasant lord of Lakṣmī as her husband. The same goddess was turned into a tree with the curse of the lord and with her curse the lord took to the form of Śālagrāma. But the beautiful damsel started living in the heart of the lord as a Tulasī.

विस्तीर्णं कथितं सर्वं तुलसीचरितं च ते।
तथाऽपि च प्रसङ्गेन किं चिदुक्तं मुने पुन:॥२१४॥
तस्याश्च तपस: स्थानं तदिदं च तपोधन।
तेन वृन्दावनं नाम प्रवदन्ति मनीषिण:॥२१५॥

O sage, I had already spoken about the story of Tulasī and I have discussed here as a passing reference. O great sage, she also performed the tapas in Vṛndāvana which earned the same name for the place.

अथवा ते प्रवक्ष्यामि परं हेत्वन्तरं शृणु।
येन वृन्दावनं नाम पुण्यक्षेत्रस्य भारते॥२१६॥

Besides the above, I am going to speak out another reason for the place getting the name of Vṛndāvana.

राधाषोडशनाम्नां च वृन्दानाम श्रुतौ श्रुतम्।
तस्या: क्रीडावनं रम्यं तेन वृन्दावनं स्मृतम्॥२१७॥

In all the sixteen names of Rādhikā, she has a name also known as Vṛndā which has been described in the Vedas. This is the same place for her sports. That is why the place is named as Vṛndāvana.

गोलोके प्रीतये तस्या: कृष्णेन निर्मितं पुरा।
क्रीडार्थं भुवि तन्नाम्ना वनं वृन्दावनं स्मृतम्॥२१८॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa himself has grown the Vṛndāvana for the pleasure of Rādhā. It was a place for performing the human plays of the lord; that is why the place is called Vṛndāvana.

नारद उवाच

कानि षोडश नमानि राधिकाया जगद्गुरो।
तानि मे वद शिष्याय श्रोतुं कौतुहलं मम॥२१९॥

Nārada said - O teacher of the universe, which are the sixteen names of Rādhā. You kindly tell me about them, since I feel anxious to know about them.

श्रुतं नाम्नां सहस्रं च सामवेदे निरूपितम्।
तथाऽपि श्रोतुमिच्छामि त्वत्तो नामानि षोडश॥२२०॥

Though her thousand names have been described in the Sāmaveda I would like to know the sixteen names of Rādhā from your mouth.

अभ्यन्तराणि तेषां वा तदन्यान्येव मे विभो।
अहो पुण्यस्वरूपाणि भक्तानां वाञ्छितानि च॥२२१॥

O virtuous one, have these sixteen names been included in the thousand names or are they different from them. You kindly tell me because these names are quite meritorious and quite auspicious for the devotees.

नामानि तेषां व्युत्पत्तिं सर्वेषां दुर्लभानि च।
पावनानि जगन्मातुर्जगतामपि कारणम्॥२२२॥

You also kindly tell me about the genesis of the names of each one of them because these names happen to be the cause of the universe.

नारायण उवाच

राधा रासेश्वरी रासवासिनी रसिकेश्वरी।
कृष्णप्राणाधिका कृष्णप्रिया च कृष्णरूपिणी॥२२३॥
कृष्णवामाङ्गसंभूता परमानन्दरूपिणी।
कृष्णा वृन्दावनी वृन्दा वृन्दावनविनोदिनी॥२२४॥
चन्द्रावती चन्द्रकान्ता शतचन्द्रनिभानना।
नामान्येतानि साराणि तेषामभ्यन्तराणि च॥२२५॥

Nārāyaṇa said - The sixteen names of Rādhā are Rādhā, Rāseśvarī, Rāsavāsinī, Rasikeśvarī, Kṛṣṇaprāṇādhikā, Kṛṣṇapriyā, Kṛṣṇasvarūpiṇī, Kṛṣṇavāmāṅgasaṁbhūtā, Paramānandarūpiṇī, Kṛṣṇā, Vṛndāvanī, Vṛndā, Vṛndāvanavinodinī, Candrāvatī, Candrakāntā and Śatacandranibhānanā. These sixteen names form part of the thousand names of Rādhā.

राधेत्येवं च संसिद्धा राकारो दानवाचक:।
स्वयं निर्वाणदात्री या सा राधा परिकीर्तिता॥२२६॥

In the word Rādhā, the letter धा stands for salvation and रा stands for the giving away in charity. Thus the one who gives away mokṣa in charity is known as Rādhā.

रा च रासे च भवनाद्धा एव धारणादहो।
हरेरालिङ्गनादारात्तेन राधा प्रकीर्तिता॥२२७॥

Besides रा stands for the dance and धा stands for the one who holds it. Therefore she is known as Rādhā because she embraced Hari.

रासेश्वरस्य पत्नीयं तेन रासेश्वरी स्मृता।
रासे च वासो यस्याश्च तेन सा रासवासिनी॥२२८॥

Because she happens to be the wife of the lord of dance, therefore she is called Rāseśvarī. Since she is completely engrossed in the divine dance, therefore she is known as Rāsavāsinī.

सर्वासां रसिकानां च देवीनामीश्वरी परा।
प्रवदन्ति पुरा सन्तस्तेन तां रसिकेश्वरीम्॥२२९॥

The saints say her as Rasikeśavarī because she is foremost of all the goddess of taste.

प्राणाधिका प्रेयसी सा कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः।
कृष्णप्राणाधिका सा च कृष्णेन परिकीर्तिता॥२३०॥

Since she is dearer to lord Kṛṣṇa than even his life, therefore she is given the name of Kṛṣṇaprāṇādhikā bt lord himself.

कृष्णस्यातिप्रिया कान्ता कृष्णो वाऽस्याः प्रियः सदा।
सर्वैर्देवगणैरुक्ता तेन कृष्णप्रिया स्मृता॥२३१॥

She was beloved wife of lord Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa was always beloved to her, therefore, all the deities called her Kṛṣṇapriyā.

कृष्णरूपं संविधातुं या शक्ता चावलीलया।
सर्वांशैः कृष्णसदृशी तेन कृष्णस्वरूपिणी॥२३२॥
वामाङ्गार्धेन कृष्णस्य या संभूता परा सती।
कृष्णवामाङ्गसंभूता तेन कृष्णेन कीर्तिता॥२३३॥

Since she, at times, takes to the form of Kṛṣṇa playfully therefore she is known as Kṛṣṇasvarūpiṇī. She is the chaste, beloved of Kṛṣṇa and emerged out of the left side of the lord, therefore she is called Kṛṣṇavāmāṅga-saṁbhūtā.

परमानन्दराशिश्च स्वयं मूर्तिमती सती।
श्रुतिभिः कीर्तिता तेन परमानन्दरूपिणी॥२३४॥

The chaste Rādhā happens to be the heap of bliss, therefore, she is given the name in the Vedas Paramānandarūpiṇī.

कृषिर्मोक्षार्थवचनो न एवोत्कृष्टवाचकः।
आकारो दातृवचनस्तेन कृष्णा प्रकीर्तिता॥२३५॥

The word कृष् stands for the mokṣa and ण stands for the excellent and आ giver the meaning as giver of mokṣa, therefore she is known as Kṛṣṇā.

अस्ति वृन्दावनं यस्यास्तेन वृन्दावनी स्मृता।
वृन्दावनस्याधिदेवी तेन वाऽथ प्रकीर्तिता॥२३६॥

Since she belongs to Vṛndāvana therefore she is known as Vṛndāvanī. Or otherwise she is known by that name since she is the goddess of Vṛndāvana.

संघः सखीनां वृन्दः स्यादकारोऽप्यतिवाचकः।
सखिवृन्दोऽस्ति यस्याश्च सा वृन्दा परिकीर्तिता॥२३७॥

The group of the female friends is also known as Vṛndā and अ stands for strength and prowess. Since she has the group of female friends, therefore she is called Vṛndā.

वृन्दावने विनोदश्च सोऽस्या ह्यस्ति च तत्र वै।
वेदा वदन्ति तां तेन वृन्दावनविनोदिनीम्॥२३८॥

Since she enjoys enough of pleasure in Vṛndāvana, therefore the Vedas know her by the name of Vṛndāvanavinodinī.

नखचन्द्रावलीवक्त्रचन्द्रोऽस्ति यत्र संततम्।
तेन चन्द्रावली सा च कृष्णेन परिकीर्तिता॥२३९॥
कान्तिरस्ति चन्द्रतुल्या सदा यस्या दिवानिशम्।
सा चन्द्रकान्ता हर्षेण हरिणा परिकीर्तिता॥२४०॥

Since she has the face which emits the rays of the moon always therefore she has been given the name of Candrāvatī; since her face always emits the glory of the moon therefore, she is known by the name of Candrakāntā.

शरच्चन्द्रप्रभा यस्याश्चाऽऽननेऽस्ति दिवानिशम्।
मुनिना कीर्तिता तेन शरच्चन्द्रप्रभानना॥२४१॥

Since the glory of the full moon of the winter season always emerged from her face, therefore, she is known as Śatacandranibhānanā.

इदं षोडशनामोक्तमर्थव्याख्यानसंयुतम्।
नारायणेन यद्दत्तं ब्रह्मणे नाभिपङ्कजे॥२४२॥
ब्रह्मणा च पुरा दत्तं धर्माय जनकाय मे।
धर्मेण कृपया दत्तं मह्यमादित्यपर्वणि॥२४३॥
पुष्करे च महातीर्थे पुण्याहे देवसंसदि।
राधाप्रभावप्रस्तावे सुप्रसन्नेन चेतसा॥२४४॥

Thus I have spoken out the details about her and all the sixteen names which were narrated by lord Nārāyaṇa himself to Brahmā who was seated on the lotus and Brahmā in return narrated the same to my father. The same details were narrated by dharma in Puṣkara region at the time of a solar eclipse during an auspicious time, in the assembly of gods about the glory of Rādhā. Thereafter getting delighted the same knowledge was imparted to me.

इदं स्तोत्रं महापुण्यं तुभ्यं दत्तं मया मुने।
निन्दकायावैष्णवाय च दातव्यं महामुने॥२४५॥
यावज्जीवमिदं स्तोत्रं त्रिसंध्यं य: पठेन्नर:।

अन्ते लभेत्तयोर्दास्यं शश्वत्सहचरो भवेत्।
अणिमादिकसिद्धिं च संप्राप्य नित्यविग्रहम्॥२४७॥

Now I have recited this immensely auspicious stotra to you, the knowledge of which should never be imparted to a non-believer, the one who denounces dharma or an non-Vaiṣṇava. O sage, the one who recites this stotra thrice a day, achieves the lotus-like feet of Rādhāmādhava with devotion during this birth itself. Ultimately he achieves the slavehood of the feet of the lord and becomes his companion for all times to come. He achieves the eternal body together with the siddhis like aṇimā and others.

व्रतदानोपवासैश्च सर्वैर्नियमपूर्वकै:।
चतुर्णां चैव वेदानां पाठै: सर्वार्थसंयुतै:॥२४८॥
सर्वेषां यज्ञतीर्थानां करणैर्विधिबोधितै:।

शरणागतरक्षायामज्ञानां ज्ञानदानत:।
देवानां वैष्णवानां च दर्शनेनापि यत्फलम्॥२५०॥
तदेव स्तोत्रपाठस्य कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्।
स्तोत्रस्यास्य प्रभावेण जीवन्मुक्तो भवेन्नर:॥२५१॥

The merits one earns by performing all the vratas, giving away in charities, performing vratas, reciting the Vedas with their meanings, performing all the yajñas in a proper manner, taking a round of the entire earth, protection of the people who come to take refuge, imparting knowledge to those who are without it and getting an audience with the gods or the Vaiṣṇava, the same merit cannot be compared with the one-sixteenth part of the merit one earns by reciting this stotra. With the recitation of this stotra a person is relieved of his birth and death.

नारद उवाच

संप्राप्तं परमाश्चर्यं स्तोत्रं सर्वसुदुर्लभम्।

अधुना श्रोतुमिच्छामि यद्रहस्यं च तद्वद।

Nārada said - O lord, you have bestowed the knowledge of the extremely inaccessible stotra to me and I have also received the kavaca of Rādhā which bestows victory in the universe. I have also attained the knowledge of the inaccessible stotra composed by the yajña. By the grace of your lotus-like feet, I have listened to the astonishing type of story of lord Kṛṣṇa; now you kindly enlighten me about the secret and the reaction of the cowherds after looking at the city.

नारायण उवाच

गतायां तत्र यामिन्यां गते च विश्वकर्मणि।
अरुणोदयवेलायां जना: सर्वे जजागरु:॥२५५॥

Nārāyaṇa said - When the night was over, Viśvakarmā left the place at day-break and all the people woke up.

उत्थाय दृष्ट्वा नगरं सर्वेभ्योऽपि विलक्षणम्।
किमाश्चर्यं किमाश्चर्यमित्यूचुर्व्रजवासिन:॥२५६॥

Soon after waking up, they were surprised to find the astonishing construction of the city and all the people said, "This is simply astonishing."

कांश्चिद्गोपान्केचिदूचु: कुत एतदभूदिदम्।

न जाने केन रूपेण को भूमौ प्रभवेदिति॥२५७॥

Some of the people said to the cowherds, "How could it happen, who knows, who appeared on the ground and in what form.".

बुबुधे मनसा नन्दो गर्गवाक्यमनुस्मरन्।
श्रीहरिच्छया सर्वं जगदेतच्चराचरम्॥२५८॥
ब्रह्मादितृणपर्यन्तं यस्य भ्रूभङ्गलीलया।
आविर्भूतं तिरोभूतं तस्यासाध्यं च किं कुतः॥२५९॥

Recollecting the words of Garga, Nārada understood everything that it had all happened by the will of the lord. Because this moveable and immovable universe is created with his will and with his simple frowning everything from Brahmā to a straw is made and unmade. What could be beyond his competence?.

विवरेष्वेव यल्लोम्नां ब्रह्माण्डान्यखिलानि च।
ईशस्य तन्महाविष्णोः किमसाध्यं हरे रहो॥२६०॥

The lord, in the hair-pits of whose body, the eternal globes are lodged what could be beyond the competence of such a Mahāviṣṇu.

ब्रह्मानन्तेशधर्माश्च ध्यायन्ते यत्पदाम्बुजम्।
किमसाध्यं तदीशस्य मायामानुषरूपिणः॥२६१॥

The gods like Brahmā, Ananta, Śiva and Dharma always adore at his lotus-like feet. What is beyond the competence of such an illusory lord.

भ्रामं भ्रामं तन्नगरं दर्शं दर्शं गृहं गृहम्।
पाठं पाठं च नामानि सर्वेभ्यो निलयं ददौ॥२६२॥
कृत्वा शुभक्षणं नन्दो वृषभानश्च कौतुकी।
चकार स गणैः सार्धं मुदाऽऽश्रमनिवेशनम्॥२६३॥

Nanda went round each and every place in the city and distributed the houses to all looking at the name plates fixed on each one of them. Both Nanda and Vṛṣabhānu delightfully entered their respective houses at an auspicious time together with their families and servants.

सर्वे वृन्दावनस्थाश्च प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणाः।

सर्वे मुमुदिरे गोपाः स्वे स्वे स्थाने मनोहरे।
बालका बालिकाश्चैव चिक्रीडुश्च प्रहर्षिताः॥२६५॥

Their faces and eyes were delighted while staying in Vṛndāvana. Thereafter, all the gopas entered their respective abodes gleefully. All the people felt happy in the beautiful houses given to them. The boys and girls started rejoicing, playing at the same time.

श्रीकृष्णो बलदेवश्च शिशुभिः सह कौतुकात्।
क्रीडां चकार तत्रैव स्थाने स्थाने मनोहरे॥२६६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa and Baladeva also playfully engaged themselves in sport together with other boys there at charming places.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं निर्माणं नगरस्य च।
अबलानां वने रासमण्डलस्य च नारद:॥२६७॥

Thus, O Nārada, I have narrated to you the details about the construction of the city and the Rāsamaṇḍala for the cowherdesses in the forest.

Chapter - 18

Desire for redemption of a Brāhmaṇa Woman

शौनक उवाच

अहो किमद्भुतं सूत रहस्यं सुमनोहरम्।
श्रुतं कृष्णस्य चरितं सुखदं मोक्षदं परम्।।१।।

Śaunaka said - O Sūta, this is an astonishing type of story of lord Kṛṣṇa which is quite secret and provides welfare besides salvation.

सूत उवाच

श्रुत्वा नगरनिर्माणं नारदो मुनिसत्तमः।
पप्रच्छ कृष्णचरितमपरं सुमनोहरम्।।२।।

Sūta said - Hearing about the construction of the city, Nārada the best of the sages, enquired about the other story about lord Kṛṣṇa.

नारद उवाच

श्रीकृष्णाख्यानचरितं पीयूषमृषित्तम्।
ज्ञानसिन्धो निगद मां शिष्यं च शरणागतम्।।३।।

Nārada said - O best of the sages, O ocean of knowledge, I have arrived to take refuge under your feet and as your pupil also, therefore, you kindly continue to narrate the nectar-like story of lord Kṛṣṇa.

नारदस्य वच: श्रुत्वा मुदा नारायण: स्वयम्।
उवाच परमीशस्य चरितं परमाद्भुतम्।।४।।

On hearing the words of Nārada, Nārāyaṇa himself started narrating the astonishing annal of lord Kṛṣṇa.

नारायण उवाच

एकदा बालकै: सार्धं बलेन सह माधव:।
जगाम श्रीमधुवनं यमुनातीरनीरजम्।।५।।

Nārāyaṇa said - Once Mādhava accompanied by Baladeva and other boys went to Madhuvana on the bank of Yamunā which was created as an island on its bank.

विचेरुर्गोसहस्रैश्च चिक्रीडुर्बालकास्तदा।
विश्रान्तास्तृट्परीताश्च क्षुधाऽतिपरिपीडिता:।।६।।
तमूचुर्गोपशिशव: श्रीकृष्णं परमेश्वरम्।
क्षुदस्मान्बाधते कृष्ण किं कुर्मो ब्रूहि किंकरान्।।७।।

All the boys started roaming about in that place together with thousands of cows. After getting tired they felt hungry and thirsty and all of them spoke to Kṛṣṇa, "O Kṛṣṇa we are feeling extremely hungry; we are your attendants, tell us what should be done?".

शिशूनां वचनं श्रुत्वा तानुवाच दयानिधि:।
हितं तथ्यं च वचनं प्रसन्नवदनेक्षण:।।८।।

On hearing the words of the boys, Kṛṣṇa with a delightful face being the ocean of mercy, spoke to them the truthful words.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

बाला गच्छत विप्राणां यज्ञस्थानं सुखावहम्।
अन्नं याचत ताञ्छीघ्रं ब्राह्मणांश्च क्रतून्मुखान्।।९।।
विप्रा आङ्गिरसा: सर्वे स्वाश्रमे श्रीवनान्तिके।
यज्ञं कुर्वन्ति विप्राश्च श्रुतिस्मृतिविशारदा:।।१०।।
नि:स्पृहा वैष्णवा: सर्वे मां यजन्ति मुमुक्षव:।
मायया मां न जानन्ति मायामानुषरूपिणम्।।११।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O boys, you go to the place of yajña of the Brāhmaṇas and ask them for food from them when they might be engaged in performing the yajña. The sages like Aṅgirā and other Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the scriptures are engaged in the performing of the yajña. They are all Vaiṣṇava and are performing the yajña for achieving salvation, but they are unable to realise about me, because of the illusion.

न चेद्ददति युष्मभ्यमन्नं विप्रा: क्रतून्मुखा:।
तत्कान्ता याचत क्षिप्रं दयायुक्ता: शिशून्प्रति।।१२।।

In case the Brāhmaṇas do not give away food to you being engaged in the performing of the yajña, then you can go to their wives, who are always compassionate on children.

श्रीकृष्णवचनं श्रुत्वा ययुर्बालकपुंगवा:।
पुरतो ब्राह्मणानां च तस्थुरानम्रकंधरा:।।१३।।

On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa, all the boys reached there and bowing in reverence to the Brāhmaṇas stood there.

इत्यूचुर्बालका: शीघ्रमन्नं दत्त द्विजोत्तमा:।
न शुश्रुवुर्द्विजा: केचित्केचिच्छ्रुत्वा स्थिरा: स्थिता:।।१४।।

The boys said - O best of the Brāhmaṇas, you give us food at once. But many of them did not hear those words while others stood there attentively in spite of listening to them.

ते ययू रन्धनागारं ब्राह्मण्यो यत्र पाचिका:।
नत्वा बाला विप्रभार्या: प्रणेमुर्नतकंधरा:।।१५।

Thereafter the boys went to the kitchen where the Brāhmaṇa women were cooking the food and bowed in reverence to them.

नत्वोचुर्बालका: सर्वे विप्रभार्या: पतिव्रता:।
अन्नं दत्तं मातरोऽस्मान्क्षुधार्तान्बालकानपि।।१६।।

Offering their salutations to the chaste Brāhmaṇa women, the boys said, "O mothers, we are suffering from hunger and therefore give us food.".

बालानां वचनं श्रुत्वा दृष्ट्वा तांश्च मनोहरान्।
पप्रच्छु: सादरं साध्व्य: स्मेराननसरोरुहा:।।१७।।

On hearing the words of the boys, they looked at them who were quite charming, smiling with lotus-like faces. The chaste ladies then asked them respectfully.

विप्रपत्न्य ऊचुः

के यूयं प्रेषिताः केन कानि नामानि कोविदाः।
दास्यामोऽन्नं बहुविधं व्यञ्जनैः सहितं वरम्॥१८॥
ब्राह्मणीनां वचः श्रुत्वा ता ऊचुस्ते मुदाऽन्विताः।
स्निग्धा हसन्तः स्फीताश्च सर्वे गोपालबालकाः॥१९॥

The Brāhmaṇa women said - "O intelligent boys, who are you? Who has sent you? What are your names? We shall serve you food with several other delicious dishes." On hearing the words of the ladies, all the boys laughed with delight and said.

बाला ऊचुः

प्रेषिता रामकृष्णाभ्यां वयं क्षुत्पीडिता भृशम्।
दत्तान्नं मातरोऽस्मभ्यं क्षिप्रं यामस्तदन्तिकम्॥२०॥
इतो विदूरे भाण्डीरे वनाभ्यन्तरमेव च।
वटमूले मधुवने वसन्तौ रामकेशवौ॥२१॥
विश्रान्तौ क्षुधितौ तौ च याचेतेऽन्नं च मातरः।
किमु देयमदेयं वा शीघ्रं वदत नोऽधुना॥२२॥

The boys said - "O mothers, we have been sent here by Rāma and Kṛṣṇa, we are extremely hungry. You give us food. We have to return to them immediately. Both Baladeva and Kṛṣṇa are seated under the shade of a banyan tree in Madhuvana located in Bhāṇḍīra forest, a little distance away from this place. O mothers, they are quite peaceful, besides being hungry and thirsty and are demanding food. Do you want to give us or not; you tell us frankly.".

गोपानां वचनं श्रुत्वा हृष्टानन्दाश्रुलोचनाः।
पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्गास्तत्पादाब्जमनोरथाः॥२३॥

On hearing the words of the cowherds, the eyes of the ladies were filled with joy and their hair on the body stood on end because they were desirous of having a look at the lotus-like feet of the lord.

नानाव्यञ्जनसंयुक्तं शाल्यन्नं सुमनोहरम्।
पायसं पिष्टकं स्वादु दधि क्षीरं घृतं मधु॥२४॥
रौप्ये कांस्ये राजते च पात्रे कृत्वा मुदाऽन्विताः।
ताः सर्वा विप्रपत्न्यश्च प्रययुः कृष्णसंनिधिम्॥२५॥

They arranged food in plates of gold and silver besides the flowers and delightfully carried the same to them. The food contained boiled rice, milk mixed with rice, tasteful curd, milk, ghee and honey which they carried to lord Kṛṣṇa.

नानामनोरथं कृत्वा मनसा गमनोत्सुकाः।
पतिव्रतास्ता धन्याश्च श्रीकृष्णदर्शनोत्सुकाः॥२६॥

Such of the chaste ladies are quite graceful who go for an audience with Kṛṣṇa preserving many desires in their mind.

श्रीकृष्णं ददृशुर्गत्वा रामं च सहबालकम्।
वटमूले वसन्तं तमुडुमध्ये यथोडुपम्॥२७॥
श्यामं किशोरवयसं पीतकौशेयवाससम्।
सुन्दरं सस्मितं शान्तं राधाकान्तं मनोहरम्॥२८॥

Reaching there, they found Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma seated there with other boys under the shade of the banyan tree. They looked as if the moon was surrounded by the stars, he had a dark-complexion, was of tender age, wore a yellow silken garment, had a smiling face; was peaceful and shining being the lord of Rādhā.

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं रत्नालंकारभूषितम्।
रत्नकुण्डलयुग्माभ्यां गण्डस्थलविराजितम्॥२९॥

He had the face resembling the full moon of the winter season and was adorned with the gem-studded ornaments, a pair of kuṇḍalas was adorning his ears.

रत्नकेयूरवलयरत्ननूपुरभूषितम्।
आजानुलम्बितां शुभ्रां बिभ्रतं रत्नमालिकाम्॥३०॥
मालतीमालया कण्ठवक्षःस्थलविराजितम्।
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमाञ्चितविग्रहम्॥३१॥
सुनसं सुकपोलं च पक्वबिम्बाधरं वरम्।
पक्वदाडिमबीजाभं बिभ्रतं दन्तमुत्तमम्॥३२॥

He had on his person the gem-studded armlets, wristlets and anklets and he wore a long garland of forest flowers falling up to the knees. He was wearing the garland of jasmine flowers on his neck and the chest. His body was plastered with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron; his nose and cheeks were quite beautiful. The lips resembled the ripe wood-apples and the line of teeth resembled the ripe seeds of the pomegranate.

शिखिपिच्छसमायुक्तं बद्धचूडं परात्परम्।
कदम्बपुष्पयुग्माभ्यां कर्णमूले विराजितम्॥३३॥
ध्यानासाध्यं योगिनां च भक्तानुग्रहकारकम्।
ब्रह्मेशधर्मशेषेन्द्रैः स्तूयमानं मुनीश्वरैः॥३४॥
दृष्ट्वैवमीश्वरं भक्त्या प्रणेमुर्द्विजयोषितः।
स्वानां ज्ञानानुरूपं च तुष्टुवुर्मधुसूदनम्॥३५॥

He had a peacock feather placed on his head and the flowers of kadamba adorned his ears. Lord Kṛṣṇa who happens to be beyond the reach of the yogīs but he always remains anxious to shower his grace on his devotees. Brahmā, Śiva, Dharma, Śeṣa, Indra and the sages always offer prayers to him. Looking at such a type of lord, the wives of the Brāhmaṇas bowed to him in reverence.

विप्रपत्न्य ऊचुः

त्वं ब्रह्म परमं धाम निरीहो निरहंकृतिः।
निर्गुणश्च निराकारः साकारः सगुणः स्वयम्॥३६॥
साक्षिरूपश्च निर्लिप्तः परमात्मा निराकृतिः।
प्रकृतिः पुरुषस्त्वं च कारणं च तयोः परम्॥३७॥

The Brāhmaṇa women said - O lord, you are Brahman, the eternal abode, without desires, pride, qualities, formless and with form, without qualities, witness of all, uninvolved, the great soul, formless besides being Prakṛti and Puruṣa. You happen to be the cause of both of them.

सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तविषये ये च देवास्त्रयः स्मृताः।
ते त्वदंशाः सर्वबीजा ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥३८॥

Though Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva are known to create, preserve and destroy the universe, they also happen to be your own aṁśa.

यस्य लोम्नां च विवरे चाखिलं विश्वमीश्वर।
महाविराणमहाविष्णुस्त्वं तस्य जनको विभो॥३९॥

O lord, you are the Virāṭ form of Mahāviṣṇu in whose hair-pits of the body all the globes are lodged.

तेजस्त्वं चापि तेजस्वी ज्ञानं ज्ञानी च तत्परः।
वेदेऽनिर्वचनीयस्त्वं कस्त्वां स्तोतुमिहेश्वरः॥४०॥

You possess lustre, knowledge and are the form of knowledge. It has been described in the Vedas that you are the one, who is beyond description, who can be competent enough to recite your glory?.

महदादिसृष्टिसूत्रं पञ्चतन्मात्रमेव च।
बीजं त्वं सर्वशक्तिनां सर्वशक्तिस्वरूपकः॥४१॥
सर्वशक्तीश्वरः सर्वः सर्वशक्त्याश्रयः सदा।
त्वमनीहः स्वयंज्योतिः सर्वानन्दः सनातनः॥४२॥

You are mahat and the form of the globe, pañcatanmātrās, the seed of all the tejas, a form of all the tejas, the lord of all the tejas and the abode of all the tejas. You are beyond desires, self-illumining, blissful and eternal. Being formless, you also possess several forms. You are beyond the organ of senses though you are well aware of the subject of each one of them.

अहोऽप्याकारहीनस्त्वं सर्वविग्रहवानपि।

पार्वती कमला राधा सावित्री वेदसूरपि।
वेदश्च जडतां याति के वा शक्ता विपश्चितः॥४५॥

The one, by describing whose glory and highlighting whose tattvas even Sarasvatī becomes dumb-folded, besides Śiva, Śeṣa, Dharma and even Brahmā, besides Pārvatī, Lakṣmī, Rādhā, Sāvitrī, the creation of the Vedas; therefore who can offer prayers to you.

वयं किं स्तवनं कुर्मः स्त्रियः प्राणेश्वरेश्वरः।
प्रसन्नो भव नो देव दीनबन्धो कृपां कुरु॥४६॥

O lord of our lives, we are only women; what can we offer you as a prayer? O lord of the drown-trodden, O lord, be happy and graceful to us.

इति पेतुश्च ता विप्रपत्न्यस्तच्चरणाम्बुजे।
अभयं प्रददौ ताभ्यः प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः॥४७॥

Thus speaking all the ladies fell at the feet of the lord. Thereafter the delightful lord assured them all protection.

विप्रपत्नीकृतं स्तोत्रं पूजाकाले च यः पठेत्।
स गतिं विप्रपत्नीनां लभते नात्र संशयः॥४८॥

The one who recites this stotra of the wives of the Brāhmaṇas at the time of performing pūjā, achieves high place. There is no doubt about it.

नारायण उवाच

ताः पदाम्भोजपतिता दृष्ट्वा श्रीमधुसूदनः।
वरं वृणुत कल्याणं भविता चेत्युवाच ह॥४९॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Finding the ladies falling at his feet Madhusūdana said - "You ask for a boon." You will meet with all the welfare.

श्रीकृष्णस्य वचः श्रुत्वा विप्रपत्न्यो मुदाऽन्विताः।
तमूचुर्वचनं भक्त्या भक्तिप्रात्मकंधराः॥५०॥

On hearing the words of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the wives of the Brāhmaṇas delightfully stood there with their mind filled with devotion and said to Kṛṣṇa.

द्विजपत्न्य ऊचुः

वरं कृष्ण न गृह्णीमो नः स्पृहा त्वत्पदाम्बुजे।
देहि स्वं दास्यमस्मभ्यं दृढां भक्तिं सुदुर्लभाम्॥५१॥

The wives of the Brāhmaṇas said - Kṛṣṇa, we are not interested in a boon, we are the followers of your lotus-like feet; therefore you kindly grant us the inaccessible slavehood of your feet.

पश्यामोऽनुक्षणं वक्त्रसरोजं तव केशव।
अनुग्रहं कुरु विभो न यास्यामो गृहं पुनः॥५२॥

O Keśava, we should always look at your lotus-like face. O virtuous one, be compassionate on us, we do not intend to go back to our abodes.

द्विजपत्नीवचः श्रुत्वा श्रीकृष्णः करुणानिधिः।
ओमित्युक्त्वा त्रिलोकेशस्तस्थौ बालकसंसदि॥५३॥

The compassionate Kṛṣṇa, the lord of the three worlds, listened to the words of the Brāhmaṇa wives and said, "All right". He then sat there in the company of the boys.

प्रदत्तं विप्रपत्नीभिर्मिष्टमन्नं सुधोपमम्।
बालकान्भोजयित्वा तु स्वयं च बुभुजे विभुः॥५४॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र शातकुम्भं रथं परम्।
ददृशुर्विप्रपत्न्यश्च पतन्तं गगनादहो॥५५॥
रत्नदर्पणसंयुक्तं रत्नसारपरिच्छदम्।
रत्नस्तम्भैर्निबद्धं च सद्रत्नकलशोज्ज्वलम्॥५६॥
श्वेतचामरसंयुक्तं वह्निशुद्धांशुकान्वितम्।
पारिजातप्रसूनानां मालाजालैर्विराजितम्॥५७॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa then made the boys to consume the sweet and delicious food and himself also did so. In the meantime the wives of the Brāhmaṇa found that an astonishing type of chariot was descending from the sky. It had the mirrors of gems and diamonds. It had the gem-studded pillars, shining with beautiful kalaśas, the white fly-whisks, the best of the silken costumes and it was decorated with the garlands of Pārijāta flowers.

शतचक्रसमायुक्तं मनोयायि मनोहरम्।
वेष्टितं पार्षदैर्दिव्यैर्वनमालाविभूषितैः॥५८॥
पीतवस्त्रपरीधानै रत्नालंकारभूषितैः।
नवयौवनसंपन्नैः श्यामलैः सुमनोहरैः॥५९॥
द्विभुजैर्मुरलीहस्तैर्गोपवेषधरैर्वरैः।
शिखिपिच्छगुञ्जमालाबद्धवक्रिमचूडकैः॥६०॥

It had a hundred wheels and could move with the speed of the mind. The beautiful chariot was surrounded by the attendants wearing a long garland of lotus flowers, clad in a yellow lower garment and adorned with gem-studded ornaments. They were all young having a dark-complexion, quite pleasant to look at, having two arms, holding a flute in the hand and appearing in the best of the costumes of cowherds. Their hair was well-arranged on the head with a peacock feather appearing at the top.

अवरुह्य रथात्तूर्णं ते प्रणम्य हरेः पदम्।
रथमारोहणं कर्तुमूचुर्ब्राह्मणकामिनीः॥६१॥

The attendants descended from the chariot and bowed at the feet of the lord and asked the Brāhmaṇa women to mount on the chariot.

विप्रभार्या हरिं नत्वा जग्मुर्गोलोकमभीप्सितम्।
बभूवुर्गोपिकाः सद्यस्त्यक्त्वा मानुषविग्रहान्॥६२॥

The Brāhmaṇa women bowing at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa went to the Goloka and shedding their human bodies, they were turned into the forms of cowherds in the Goloka.

हरिच्छायां विनिर्माय तासां च विष्णुमायया।
प्रस्थापयामास गृहान्ब्राह्मणानां स्वयं विभुः॥६३॥

Thereafter the lord created the shadow Brāhmaṇa women and sent them back to their abodes in place of the original ones.

विप्राश्च भार्या उद्दिश्य परमोद्विग्नमानसाः।
अन्वेषणं प्रकुर्वन्तो ददृशुः पथि कामिनीः॥६४॥

The Brāhmaṇas getting annoyed were searching for them in their abodes. In the meantime, they came across the shadow Brāhmaṇa women on the path.

दृष्ट्वोचुर्ब्राह्मणाः सर्वे तास्ते च विनयान्विताः।
पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्गाः प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणाः॥६५॥

All the Brāhmaṇas felt emotional by looking at them and their faces blossomed like the lotus flowers. They spoke to the Brāhmaṇa women quite meekly.

ब्राह्मणा ऊचुः

अहोऽतिधन्या यूयं च दृष्टो युष्माभिरीश्वरः।
अस्माकं जीवनं व्यर्थं वेदपाठोऽप्यनर्थकः॥६६॥
वेदे पुराणे सर्वत्र विद्वद्भिः परिकीर्तिताः।
हरेर्विभूतयः सर्वाः सर्वेषां जनको हरिः॥६७॥

The Brāhmaṇa said - "All of you are quite graceful because you have had an audience with the lord. The lives of us people are of no consequence, besides the reciting of the Vedas. It has been ordained in the Vedas and the Purāṇas by the intellectuals that the entire universe is the tejas of the lord.

तपो जपो व्रतं ज्ञानं वेदाध्ययनमर्चनम्।
तीर्थस्नानमनशनं सर्वेषां फलदो हरिः॥६८॥

It is the lord alone, who bestows the reward of the tapas, recitation, performing of vrata, knowledge, recitation of the Vedas, performing of pūjā, visiting of the sacred places and the performing of vratas besides fasting.

श्रीकृष्णः सेवितो येन किं तस्य तपसां फलैः।
प्राप्तः कल्पतरुर्येन किं तस्यान्येन शाखिना॥६९॥

Whosoever has adored lord Kṛṣṇa, would not be in need of the reward for performing his tapas. When one gets the kalpavṛkṣa, then he no more requires the ordinary trees.

श्रीकृष्णो हृदये यस्य तस्य किं कर्मभि कृतैः।
किं पीतसागरस्यैव पौरुषं कूपलङ्घने॥७०॥
इत्येवमुक्त्वा विप्राश्च गृहीत्वा कामिनीर्वराः।
आजग्मुः स्वगृहं हृष्टास्ताभिः सार्धं च रेमिरे॥७१॥

The one, in whose heart lord Kṛṣṇa dwells, does not need to perform any deeds. The one, who has drunk the ocean, the digging of a well is of no consequence for him." Thus speaking, the Brāhmaṇas returned to their respective abodes together with all the damsels and enjoyed their company.

तासां ततोऽधिकं प्रेम क्रीडासु सर्वकर्मसु।
दाक्षिण्यं मायया शक्त्या ब्राह्मणानामतर्कितम्॥७२॥
अथ नारायणः सोऽयं बलेन शिशुभिः सह।
जगाम स्वालयं तूर्णं पूर्णब्रह्म सनातनः॥७३॥

By enjoying their company, the Brāhmaṇas were much more delighted as compared to their earlier enjoyment. But the truth about the excess of the same, the Brāhmaṇas could not realise. Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa, accompanied by Balabhadra and other cowherds returned to their respective abodes.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेर्माहात्म्यमुत्तमम्।
पुरा श्रुतं धर्मवक्त्रात्किं भूयः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥७४॥

Thus I have narrated to you the best of the glory of the lord which I had heard in earlier times from the mouth of Dharma. What else do you want to listen to?.

नारद उवाच

ऋषीन्द्र केन पुण्येन बभूव विप्रयोषिताम्।
मुनीन्द्रयोगसिद्धानां दुर्लभा गतिरीश्वरी॥७५॥

Nārada said - O best of the sages, with the influence of whose merit, the Brāhmaṇa women achieved that stage which is inaccessible to the sages, yogīs and siddhas.

इमाः का वा पुण्यवत्यः पुरा तस्थुर्महीतलम्।
आजग्मुः केन दोषेण वद संदेहभञ्जनम्॥७६॥

What were the virtuous women in their earlier births and for what crime did they reach the earth? You kindly remove this doubt of mine.

नारायण उवाच

सप्तर्षीणां रमण्यश्च रूपेणाप्रतिमाः पराः।
गुणवत्यः सुशीलाश्च धर्मिष्ठाश्च पतिव्रताः॥७७॥

Nārāyaṇa said - These women happened to be the spouses of Saptarṣis and were quite beautiful, virtuous, meek, religious-minded and chaste.

नवीनयौवनाः सर्वाः पीनश्रोणिपयोधराः।
दिव्यवस्त्रपरीधाना रत्नालंकारभूषिताः॥७८॥
तप्तकाञ्चनवर्णाभाः स्मेराननसरोरुहाः।
मुनीनां मोहितुं शक्ता मानसं वक्रचक्षुषा॥७९॥

All of them were youthful with stiff breasts and developed pelvic region, clad in divine garments and adorned with gem-studded ornaments, having the complexion of molten gold, their faces resembled the full-blown lotus flowers and looked with side-glances, attracting the minds of even the great sages.

दृष्ट्वा तासां स्तनश्रोणिमुखानि सुन्दराणि च।
अनलश्चकमे ताश्च मदनानलपीडितः॥८०॥

Looking at their beautiful breasts, the pelvic region and the face, the god of fire was infatuated with passion and desired for them.

अग्निस्थानस्थितानां च शिखया सुरतोन्मुखः।
स्पृष्ट्वा चाङ्गानि तासां च बभूव हतचेतनः॥८१॥

Then the god of fire touched limb of beautiful women who were at the place of fire with the flames and fainted as a result thereof.

पतिव्रता न जानन्ति पतिपादाब्जमानसाः।
अग्निरङ्गानि तासां च दर्शं दर्शं मुमोह च॥८२॥

The damsels who were devoted, to their husbands could not know the trick. On the other hand the god of fire was infatuated with passion at the sight of their bodies.

बह्नेश्च मानसः ज्ञात्वा भगवानङ्गिरा मुनिः।
शशाप तं चेत्युवाच सर्वभक्षो भवेति ह॥८३॥

Realising the mind of the god of fire, the sage Aṅgirā pronounced a curse on him saying, "You should consume everything thereafter.".

वह्निः सचेतनो भूत्वा तुष्टाव मुनिपुंगवम्।
व्रीडया नम्रवदनश्चकम्पे ब्रह्मतेजसा॥८४॥

Regaining consciousness the god of fire prayed to the sage variously with his head cast down with shame and started trembling for fear of his eternal lustre.

क्रुद्धो मुनिवरः स्पृष्टाः कामिन्यश्च शशाप ह।
यात यूयं पापयुक्ता मानुषीं योनिमेव च॥८५॥
भारते ब्राह्मणानां च गृहे लभत जन्म वै।
करिष्यन्ति विवाहं च युष्माकं कुलजा द्विजाः॥८६॥

The angry sage pronounced a curse on the damsels who were touched by Agni, that they should be born as humans in the house of Brāhmaṇas. They were to be married to Brāhmaṇas of a high race.

श्रुत्वा वाक्यं मुनेस्ताश्च रुरुदुः प्रेमविह्वलाः।
पुटाञ्जलियुताः सर्वा ऊचुस्तं विदुषां वरम्॥८७॥

On hearing the words of the sage the damsels started crying and with folded hands they spoke to the foremost of the learned persons.

मुनिपत्न्य ऊचुः

न त्यजास्मान्मुनिश्रेष्ठ निष्पापाश्च पतिव्रताः।
अजानन्त्यः परस्पृष्टा न च नस्त्यक्तुमर्हसि॥८८॥

The wives of the sages said - "O best of the sages, you have disowned us though we are sinless and chaste. We have been touched without our knowledge and as such you need not disown us.

भक्तानां किंकरीणां च न दण्डं कर्तुमर्हसि।
युष्माकं चरणाम्भोजं कदा द्रक्ष्यामहे वयम्॥८९॥

It is not proper for you to punish your devotees like this. When shall we again look at your lotus-like feet?.

खड्गच्छेदाद्वज्रपातात्सर्वप्रहरणान्मुने।
दारुणः कान्तविच्छेदः साध्वीनां दुःसहः सदा॥९०॥

O sage, the disowning of a chaste lady by her husband is like cutting her into pieces with a sword or the falling of vajra or attacking with various weapons.

ब्रह्मिष्ठानां गुणवतां परान्कान्तान्महामुनीन्।
एवंभूतान्कथं त्यक्त्वा यास्यामः पृथिवीतलम्॥९१॥

O virtuous sage, engrossed in Brahman, separating us from such a chaste husband like you, how shall we roam about on earth?.

यास्यामो यदि विप्रेश कदाऽत्राऽऽगमनं वद।
अज्ञानस्पर्शदोषश्च न स्यान्नो विधिबोधत:।।९२।।

O best of Brāhmaṇas, in case we move on to the earth then when shall it be possible for us to return here. It is almost established that we shall not earn the sin of an act done by us unknowingly.

अहल्यया पुन: प्राप्त: स्वामीन्द्रस्य प्रधर्षणात्।
सा संभोगात्पुन: शुद्धा स्पर्शनाद्वर्जिता वयम्।।९३।।

Ahalyā, after getting involved with Indra, was owned again by Gautama. She was purified even after enjoying sex with Indra but we on the other hand shall be disowned simply for the reason of being touched.

विचारं कुरु धर्मिष्ठ वेदवेदाङ्गपारग।
विश्वकर्तुश्च पुत्रस्त्वं सर्ववेदविदां वर।।९४।।

O religious one, being well-versed in the Vedas and post-Vedic literature, you just think over it. O best of the those well-versed in the Vedas, you happen to be the son of the creator of the universe.

अन्येषां च भयात्कान्ता व्रजन्ति शरणं पतिम्।
स्वकान्तभयसंविग्ना: शरणं कं व्रजन्ति ता:।।९५।।

Getting afraid of others a woman goes to her husband; where shall she take refuge?.

अभयं देहि धर्मिष्ठ भययुक्ताभ्य एव च।
पुत्रे शिष्ये कलत्रे च को दण्डं रक्षितुं क्षमा:।।९६।।

O religious one, you provide protection to us who are getting fearful. Everyone is competent enough to punish his son, pupils and the wife.

दुर्बल: सबलो वाऽपि स्ववस्तूनामपीश्वर:।
स्वद्रव्यविक्रयं कर्तुं न चान्यो रक्षितुं क्षम:।।९७।।

The owner of a commodity whether he is weak or strong, can sell it and no one else can protect it.".

कामिनीनां वच: श्रुत्वा दयालुर्मुनिपुंगव:।
प्रेम्णा रुरोद तासां च निरीक्ष्य मुखपङ्कजम्।।९८।।

On hearing the words of the damsels, the sage looked at their lotus-like faces and with his mind infatuated with love, he started crying.

वेदवेदाङ्गपारज्ञो ज्ञानिनां योगिनां वर:।
पत्नीविच्छेदविषये मूर्छां प्राप तथाऽपि स:।।९९।।

Though he was well-versed in Vedic and post-Vedic literature, the best of the intellectuals and the yogīs, he lost his senses, getting separated from his wives.

सर्वे बभूवु: शोकार्ता विरहोद्विग्नमानसा:।
निरीक्ष्य तासां वक्त्राणि तस्थु: पुत्तलिका यथा।।१००।

All the people were disturbed and felt gloomy, because of the separation; all of them were dumb found like puppets, looking at them.

कृत्वा विलापं सुचिरं सर्ववेदविदां वर:।
भ्रातृभिश्च सहाऽऽलोच्य ता उवाच शुचाऽऽतुर:।।१०१

Aṅgirā, the sage, who was well-versed in the Vedic and post-Vedic literature, started lamenting. Thereafter he consulted his brothers and feeling grief-stricken, he spoke to the damsels.

अङ्गिरा उवाच

यूयं शृणुत वक्ष्यामि वचनं सत्यमेव च।
स्वकर्मभोगिनां भोगमाकर्माच्च श्रुतौ श्रुतम्।।१०२।।

Aṅgirā said - I am going to tell you the truth which you please listen to. I have heard from the Vedas that one has to face the result of the deeds performed by him.

गतो भोगश्च युष्माकमस्माभि: सह निश्चितम्।
गते भोगे पुनर्भोगो न हि वेदे निरूपित:।।१०३।।

Actually the time for your association with me has come to an end. This is certain. After the end of the pleasure one does not have to enjoy the same. This has been ordained in the Vedas.

शुभाशुभं च यत्कर्म भारते कृतिभि: सह।
नाभुक्तं क्षीयते कर्म जन्मकोटिशतैरपि।।१०४।।

In the land of Bhārata all the good or bad deeds are performed by the people and unless their rewards are faced, they do not get destroyed even after the lapse of hundreds of births.

परभुक्तां च कान्तां च यो भुङ्क्ते स नराधमः।
स पच्यते कालसूत्रे यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥१०५॥

The one who enjoys the wife of others, is considered to be a degraded one. He falls into the kālasūtra hell till the age of the sun and the moon.

न सा दैवे न सा पैत्र्ये पाकार्हा पापसंयुता।
तस्या आलिङ्गने भर्ता भ्रष्टश्रीस्तेजसा हतः॥१०६॥

Such a woman is prevented from cooking food for the gods or the manes. Her husband even achieves a degraded position embracing her.

देवताः पितरस्तस्य हव्यदाने च तर्पणे।
सुखिनो न भवन्त्येवमित्याह कमलोद्भवः॥१०७॥

The gods and manes do not feel happy by the offerings made by her. This has been ordained by Brahmā.

तस्माद्यत्नेन भार्याया रक्षणं कुरुते सुधीः।
अन्यथा पापभाग्भर्ता निश्चितं नरकं व्रजेत्॥१०८॥

Therefore the intellectuals protect their wives with great efforts, otherwise the husband would become degraded and fall into the hell.

पदे पदे सावधानः कान्तां रक्षति पण्डितः।
न व्रती न स्थली योषा दोषाणां च करण्डिका॥१०९।

An intelligent person getting alert protects his wife at every step because a damsel attracts many blames unmindful of vratas or places.

कलत्रं पाकपात्रं च सदा रक्षितमर्हति।
परस्पर्शादशुद्धां च शुद्धां स्वस्पर्शने सदा॥११०॥

Therefore, one should always protect the women and the cooking vases, because they get polluted with the touch of others and by the touch of her husband she always remains pure.

स्वकान्तंच परित्यज्य परं गच्छति याऽधमा।
कुम्भीपाकं सा प्रयाति यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥१११॥

In case a degraded woman who disregarding her own husband, visits some other men, she falls into the kumbhīpāka hell up to the life of the sun and the moon.

तामेव यमदूताश्च संस्थाप्य नरकान्तरे।
उत्तिष्ठति विदूराच्चेत्कुर्वन्ति दण्डताडनाम्॥११२॥

The messengers of Yama then throw her in another hell and if she wants to come out of it, she is punished with the strikes of rods.

सर्पप्रमाणाः कीटाश्च तीक्ष्णदंष्ट्राः सुदारुणाः।
दशन्ति पुंश्चलीं तत्र सततं च दिवानिशम्॥११३॥

The terrific insects of the size of snakes and having terrific fangs bite the degraded women continuously day and night.

विकृताकारशब्दं च करोति शाश्वतं भिया।
न ममार प्रहारेण सूक्ष्मदेहविधारिणी॥११४॥

Such a woman cries in pain but she does not die by the stroke because of her having an astral body.

मुहूर्तार्धं सुखं भुक्त्वा लोकेऽत्र यशसा हता।
पतिता परलोके च गतिमेतादृशीं लभेत्॥११५॥
परस्पृष्टा च वै नारी या स्पृहां कुरुते परम्।
साऽपि दुष्टा परित्याज्या चेत्याह कमलोद्भवः॥११६॥

For a moment's pleasure on earth, she destroys her grace and also receives hostile treatment after death. The women who have been touched by some other person or desires for someone else, are also to be disowned; this had been ordained by Brahmā.

तस्मान्नारी परैर्यत्नाददृष्टा कृतिभिः कृता।
असूर्यंपश्या या दाराः शुद्धास्ताश्च पतिव्रताः॥११७॥

Therefore the intellectuals have ordained that the women should be protected from the evil eye of others. Such of the women are considered to be quite chaste, who look at the sun through a curtain.

स्वच्छन्दगामिनी या च स्वतन्त्रा सूकरीसमा।
अन्तर्दुष्टा सदा सैव निश्चितं परगामिनी॥११८॥

The one, who roams about at will independently, is born as a female pig. The wicked women who enjoy the company of others are indeed degraded in all respects.

स्वामिसाध्या च या नारी कुलधर्मभिया स्थिता।
कान्तेन सार्धं सा कान्ता वैकुण्ठं याति निश्चितम्॥११९॥

The one who remains under the control of her husband because of the fear of the family tradition, indeed goes to Vaikuṇṭha with her husband.

यात यूयं च पृथिवीं मानुषीं योनिमीप्सिताम्।
कृष्णदर्शनमात्रेण गोलोकं यास्यथ ध्रुवम्॥१२०॥

All of you should go to the earth and be born in human race. Getting an audience with Śrī Kṛṣṇa, you would get purified and achieve Goloka.

हरिणा निर्मिताश्छाया युष्माकं योगमायया।
ता विप्रमन्दिरे स्थित्वा चाऽऽगमिष्यन्ति नो ध्रुवम्॥१२१॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa would create your shadow body with the illusion of Yogamāyā and would send them to your respective homes. Thereafter, you would all reach my place.

पुनरंशेन नः पत्न्यो भविष्यथ न संशयः।
युष्माकं मम शापश्च बभूव च वराधिकः॥१२२॥

Then again you would become my spouses; there is no doubt about it. This curse of mine would indeed be the more beneficial to you than a boon.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स मुनिर्विरराम शुचाऽन्वितः।
ता आगत्य महीं शापाद्बभूवुर्विप्रयोषितः॥१२३॥

Thus speaking, the sage got infatuated with grief and the damsels reached the earth, where they became the wives of the Brāhmaṇas.

दत्त्वाऽन्नं हरये भक्त्या प्रजग्मुर्हरिमन्दिरम्।
बभूव निश्चितं तासां शापश्च संपदोऽधिकः॥१२४॥

After serving the food to the lord, all of them reached Goloka and they were relieved of the curse. Thus they were benefited by the curse pronounced by the sage.

निन्द्या नीचाच्च संपत्तिर्विपत्तिमर्हतो वरा।
अहो सद्यः सतां कोपश्चोपकाराय कल्पते॥१२५॥

It is a curse to own the riches of a degraded person and it is a boon to have the curse of a noble person. The anger of the wise people bestows welfare in one way or the other.

विना विपत्तेर्महिमा कुतः कस्य भवेद्भुवि।
भूताः कान्तपरित्यागान्मुक्ता ब्राह्मणयोषितः॥१२६॥

Without coming face to face with the danger on earth who can achieve greatness? After having been disowned by the husband, the wives of the Brāhmaṇas achieved salvation.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेश्चरितमुत्तमम्।

I have narrated to you the best of the stories of lord Kṛṣṇa which includes the achieving of salvation by the virtuous women.

श्रीकृष्णाख्यानं विप्रेन्द्र नूतं नूतं पदे पदे।
नहि तृप्तिः श्रुतवतां केन श्रेयसि तृप्यते॥१२८॥

O best of the Brāhmaṇas, the story of Kṛṣṇa appears to be new at every step which does not fully satisfy the listeners. Who could be satisfied with the welfare?.

यावद्रम्यं तत्कथितं यच्छ्रुतं गुरुवक्त्रतः।

Whatever had been heard by me from the mouth of my teacher, the same has been related by me. Now what else do you want to listen to from me? You tell me what is desired by you.

नारद उवाच

Nārada said - O compassionate one, O teacher of the universe, you kindly narrate to me the story of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, whatever had been heard by you from your teacher.

सूत उवाच

Sūta said - On listening to the words of Nārada, the great sage, the sage Nārāyaṇa started narrating the story of lord Kṛṣṇa which bestows great merit.

Chapter - 19

Killing of Kāliya and consuming of the forest fire

नारायण उवाच

एकदा बालकै: सार्धं बलदेवं विना हरि:।
जगाम यमुनातीरं यत्र कालियमन्दिरम्॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Once Kṛṣṇa, without Baladeva, went to the bank of Yamunā together with other cowherd boys where the serpent Kāliya used to live.

परिपक्वफलं भुक्त्वा यमुनातीरजे वने।
स्वेच्छामयस्तृट्परीत: पपौ च निर्मलं जलम्॥२॥
गोकुलं चारयामास शिशुभि: सह कानने।
विजहार च तै: सार्धं स्थापयामास गोकुलम्॥३॥
क्रीडानिमग्नचित्तोऽयं बालकाश्च मुदाऽन्विता:।
भुक्त्वा नवतृणं गावो विषतोयं पपुर्मुने॥४॥

Consuming the ripe fruits from the bank of Yamunā, lord Kṛṣṇa drank the clean water of the river. Kṛṣṇa together with the cowherds grazed the cows there and after collecting them at one place he started playing. With their minds fully devoted to the sports, all the cowherds kept on playing delightfully. O sage, the cows grazing the forest grass on the bank of the river Yamunā also drank the water of the Yamunā which had been mixed with the snake poison.

विषाक्तं च जलं पीत्वा दारुणान्तकचेष्टया।
ज्वालाभि: कालकूटानां सद्य: प्राणांश्च तत्यजु:॥५॥
दृष्ट्वा मृतं गोसमूहं गोपाश्चिन्ताकुला भिया।
विषण्णवदना: सर्वे तमूचुर्मधुसूदनम्॥६॥
ज्ञात्वा सर्वं जगन्नाथो जीवयामास गोकुलम्।
उत्तस्थुस्तत्क्षणं गावो ददृशु: श्रीहरेर्मुखम्॥७॥

The cows drank the poisonous water as a move of destiny, as a result of which all of them lost their lives. All the cowherd boys felt disturbed finding their cows dead and all of them started looking at the face of Hari.

कृष्ण: कदम्बमारुह्य यमुनातीरनीरजम्।
पपात सर्पभवने नागमध्ये नराकृति:॥८॥

In the meantime, Kṛṣṇa climbed a tree in human form on the bank of the Yamunā and jumped into the abode of the sages.

शतहस्तप्रमाणं च जलोत्थानं बभूव ह।
बाला हर्षं विषादं च मेनिरे तत्र नारद॥९॥

O Nārada, at that point of time, the water of Yamunā was raised to a hundred feet. Looking at this, the boys felt delighted and at the same time also felt gloomy.

सर्पो नराकृतिं दृष्ट्वा कालीय: क्रोधविह्वल:।
जग्राह श्रीहरिं तूर्णं तप्तलोहं यथा नर:॥१०॥

Finding a human there, the Kāliya serpent was extremely annoyed. He at once swallowed Kṛṣṇa, who was like a burning rod of iron.

दग्धकण्ठोदरो नागश्चोद्विग्नो ब्रह्मतेजसा।
प्राणा यान्त्येवमुक्त्वा च चकारोद्वमनं पुन:॥११॥
भग्नदन्तो रक्तमुख: कृष्णवज्राङ्गचर्वणात्।
रक्तवक्त्रस्य भगवानुत्तस्थौ मस्तकोपरि॥१२॥

But with the divine tejas of the lord Kṛṣṇa, the throat and the belly of the serpent started burning. In panic he uttered that his life was going to depart from his body. Thus speaking, he vomited out Kṛṣṇa and all the teeth of the serpent were broken and blood started oozing out of the mouth. Lord Kṛṣṇa stood on the hood of the serpent who vomited blood.

नागो विश्वंभराक्रान्त: स प्राणांस्त्यक्तुमुद्यत:।
चकार रक्तोद्वमनं पपात मूर्च्छितो मुने॥१३॥

The weight of lord Kṛṣṇa was unbearable for the serpent and his life was about to depart from his body. Vomiting blood, he fainted and fell down.

दृष्ट्वा तं मूर्च्छितं नागा रुरुदु: प्रेमविह्वला:।
केचित्पलायिता भीता: केचित्प्रविविशुर्बिलम्॥१४॥
मरणाभिमुखं कान्तं दृष्ट्वा सा सुरसा सती।
नागिनीभि: सह प्रेम्णा रुरोद पुरतो हरे:॥१५॥
पुटाञ्जलियुता तूर्णं प्रणम्य श्रीहरिं भिया।

धृत्वा पादारविन्दे च तमुवाच भियाऽऽकुला॥१६॥

Finding him fainted all the serpents started crying infatuated with the love for Kāliya serpent. Some of them fled in panic while others entered the holes. The chaste Surasā finding her husband to be facing death, came forward with all the female servants and started crying before the lord. She bowed before him with folded hands and holding his feet she said.

सुरसोवाच

हे जगत्कान्त कान्तं मे देहि मानं च मानद।
पति: प्राणाधिक: स्त्रीणां नास्ति बन्धुश्च तत्पर:॥१७।

Surasā said - O lord of the universe, you are graceful and therefore bestow your grace on me, returning my husband to me. For the women, the husband is dearer to them than their lives; therefore there is nothing before them, except their husbands.

सकलभुवननाथ प्राणनाथं मदीयं.
न कुरु वधमनन्त प्रेमसिन्धो सुबन्धो।
अखिलभुवनबन्धो राधिकाप्रेमसिन्धो.
पतिमिह कुरु दानं मे विधातुर्विधात:॥१८॥

O lord you are beyond measure, the ocean of love and are the lord of the universe; therefore you return my husband to me. You are the friend of the entire universe, you are the ocean of love for Rādhikā and happen to be Brahmā for Brahmā. Therefore you return my husband to me.

त्रिनयनविधिशेषा: षण्मुखश्चाऽऽस्यसंघै:

न खलु निखिलवेदा: स्तोतुमन्येऽपि देवा:.
स्तवनविषयशक्ता: सन्ति सन्तस्तवैव॥१९॥

Śiva, Brahmā, Śeṣa and Kārttikeya always become dumb-found in an attempt to adore you. Even Sarasvatī is unable to recite your glory. All the Vedas and the gods are unable to recite your glory. Only your devotees are competent enough to offer prayers to you.

क्व भुवनगतिरीशश्चक्षुषो गोचरो मे।
विधिहरिहरशेषै: स्तूयमानश्च यस्त्व

I am a foolish woman and that too a female serpent and you happen to be the lord of the universe and are invisible Parameśvara. Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and Śeṣa always praise you. Such a formless person appearing in human form is quite surprising.

स्तवनविषयभीता पार्वती यस्य पद्मा.

रत्नभूषणभूषाङ्गी राधावक्षसि संस्थित:॥२२॥

Pārvatī, Lakṣmī, Sarasvatī, the creator of the Vedas are hesitant to offer prayers to you, then how can I be able to do so? A foolish woman like me is trying to adore the same lord having no knowledge of the Vedic scriptures. This is beyond understanding; you sleep at the bed of gems, adorned with all the gem-studded ornament. Rādhā adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments always resides in your heart.

चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्ग: स्मेराननसरोरुह:।
प्रोद्यप्रेत्मरसाम्भोधौ निमग्न: सततं सुखात्॥२३॥

All your limbs are plastered with sandal-paste. You wear a smile on your face and you always remain engrossed in the ocean of love.

The garlands of jasmine flowers decorate your head; your mind feels pleasant with the fragrance of the Pārijāta flowers. The sweet voice of cuckoo and hissing sound of the black-wasps infatuate love in your body which remains filled with emotions. You always delightfully consume the betel offered to you by your beloved. You are the one who is beyond the praise of the Vedas and many intellectuals become dumb-found by reciting your glory. How can I, an ordinary female serpent, offer prayer to you. In fact I am only trying to at your lotus-like feet which are served by Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa, Lakṣmī, Durgā, Gaṅgā, Sarasvatī, the siddhas, sages and Manu.

निष्कारणायाखिलकारणाय सर्वेश्वरायापि परात्पराय।
स्वयंप्रकाशाय परावराय परावराणामधिपाय ते नमः।।२९

You happen to be devoid of cause, the cause of all, the lord of all, beyond everyone, self-illumining, the best and the lord of the best. I bow in reverence at your feet.

हे कृष्ण हे कृष्ण सुरासुरेश.
ब्रह्मेश शेषेश प्रजापतीश।
मुनीश मन्वीश चराचरेश.
सिद्धीश सिद्धेश गणेश पाहि।।३०।।

O Kṛṣṇa, you happen to be the lord of the demons and the gods; you are the lord of Brahmā, lord of Śeṣa, lord of Prajāpati and sages besides Manu, moveable and immovable, siddhis, siddhas and lord of the gaṇas. You kindly bestow your protection on us.

धर्मेश धर्मीश शुभाशुभेश.
वेदेश वेदेष्वनिरूपितश्च।
सर्वेश सर्वात्मक सर्वबन्धो.
जीवीश जीवेश्वर पाहि मत्प्रभुम्।।३१।।

You are the lord of dharma, the religious minded people, good and bad and the Vedas. Even the Vedas are unable to project you properly. O lord of all, you happen to be the soul of all, the friend of all, the lord of all the creatures, therefore you protect my husband.

इत्येवं स्तवनं कृत्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरा।
विधृत्य चरणाम्भोजं तस्थौ नागेशवल्लभा।।३२।।

Thus offering prayers to the lord she bowed in reverence to him. She then fell at the lotus-like feet of the lord.

नागपत्नीकृतं स्तोत्रं त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नरः।
सर्वशापात्प्रमुक्तस्तु यात्यन्ते श्रीहरेः पदम्।।३३।।

Whosoever recites the stotra composed by the spouse of Nāga thrice a day, is relieved of all the sins and achieves the abode of the lord ultimately.

इह लोके हरेर्भक्तिमन्ते दास्यं लभेद्ध्रुवम्।
लभते पार्षदो भूत्वा सालोक्यादिचतुष्टयम्।।३४।।

He achieves the devotion of the lord on earth and ultimately achieves the inaccessible slavehood of the lord, besides the four types of salvation like Sālokya, etc.

नारद उवाच

प्रहृष्टोत्फुल्लनयनः किमुवाच हरिः स्वयम् कथयस्व महाभाग रहस्यं परमाद्भुतम्।।३५।।

Nārada said - On listening to the words of the wife of the serpent, lord Kṛṣṇa felt delighted and what did he speak to her, you kindly reveal this secret to me.

सूत उवाच

नारदस्य वचः श्रुत्वा भगवान्सर्वदर्शनः।
उवाच परमात्मानं मधुवृन्दं पदे पदे।।३६।।

Sūta said - On hearing the words of Nārada, Nārāyaṇa the creator of the universe, spoke in sweet words.

नारायण उवाच

नागपत्नीवचः श्रुत्वा श्रीकृष्णस्तामुवाच ह।
पुटाञ्जलियुतां पादे पतितां भयविह्वलाम्।।३७।।

Nārāyaṇa said - On hearing the words of the spouse of Nāga, lord Kṛṣṇa said to her, who was standing there with folded hands feeling panicky at the same time and had fallen on his feet.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ नागेशे वरं वृणु भयं त्यज।
गृहाण कान्तं हे मातर्मद्वरादजरामरम्।।३८।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - O goddess of the serpents, you get up. Don't be afraid and ask for a boon. O mother, with my boon you will remain ever young and eternal.

कालिन्दीह्रदमुत्सृज्य स्वकीयं भवनं व्रज।
भर्त्रा स्वगोष्ठ्या सार्धं च गच्छ वत्से सुखी भव॥३९॥

Leaving the kuṇḍa of Yamunā you go to your abode. O daughter, you move from this place with pleasure together with your husband and the family.

अद्यप्रभृति नागेशि भूता कन्या च त्वं मम।
त्वत्प्राणाधिक एवायं जामाता च न संशयः॥४०॥

O Nāga damsel, from today onwards, you will be my daughter and this male serpent who is dearer to you than your life, would become my son-in-law. There is no doubt about it.

मत्पादपद्मचिह्नेन गरुडस्त्वत्पतिं शुभे।

त्यज त्वं गरुडाद्भीतिं शीघ्रं रमणकं व्रज।

श्रीकृष्णस्य वचः श्रुत्वा प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा।
उवाच साश्रुनेत्रा सा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरा॥४३॥

O pleasant one, because of the imprints of my foot on the head of the Nāga, Garuḍa shall be no more inimical to him. But shall adore my feet offering prayers; therefore don't be afraid of Garuḍa and move on to the island of Ramaṇaka. O daughter, getting out of this kuṇḍa you ask for a desired boon. On hearing the words of lord Kṛṣ ṇa, her face and eyes felt delighted and with tears in her eyes and the mind filled with devotion, she said.

सुरसोवाच

वरं दास्यसि चेदानीं वरदेश्वर मेऽपि च।
त्वत्पादाब्जे दृढां भक्तिं निश्चलां दातुमर्हसि॥४४॥

Surasā said - O lord, in case you intend to bestow a boon on me than you extend the infallible and deep devotion of your lotus-like feet to me.

मन्मनस्त्वत्पदाम्भोजे भ्रमतु भ्रमरो यथा।
तव स्मृतेर्विस्मृतिर्मे कदाऽपि न भविष्यति॥४५॥

My mind should always roam around your lotus-like feet like black-wasps and I should always remain devoted to you and should never forget you.

स्वकान्ते मम सौभाग्यं कान्तोऽयं ज्ञानिनां वरः।
इत्येवं प्रार्थनीयं च परिपूर्णं कुरु प्रभो॥४६॥

I should become fortunate with my husband who should become an intellectual. O lord, this is my wish and prayer which may kindly be fulfilled by you.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा सर्पस्त्री प्रतस्थौ पुरतो हरेः।
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं ददर्श श्रीहरेर्मुखम्॥४७॥

Thus speaking, the spouse of the Nāga stood before the lord. Then she looked at the face of the lord Kṛṣṇa which was shining like the full moon.

लोचनाभ्यां पपौ वक्त्रं निमेषरहितं सती।
सर्वाङ्गपुलकोद्भिन्ना सानन्दाश्रुपरिप्लुता॥४८॥
सुन्दरं बालकं दृष्ट्वा पुत्रस्नेहं प्रकुर्वती।
उवाच पुनरेवेदं भक्त्युद्रेकपरिप्लुता॥४९॥

The chaste lady continued to stare at the beauty of the face of Kṛṣṇa without winking even for a moment. She felt emotional and the tears started flowing from her eyes. Finding the lord in the form of a beautiful boy, she developed a maternal affection in her mind and overwhelmed with devotion she again spoke.

न यास्यामि रमणकं तत्र नास्ति प्रयोजनम्।
सर्पः करोतु संसारं कुरु मां निजकिंकरीम्॥५०॥

"I shall not go to Ramaṇaka; the place will be of no use for me. Let my husband be the lord of the serpents but you kindly allow me to be your slave-girl.

न वाञ्छा मम हे कृष्ण सालोक्यादिचतुष्टये।
त्वत्पदाम्भोजसेवायाः कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्॥५१॥

O Kṛṣṇa, I am not interested in the four types of salvation like Sālokya and others because they do not weigh one-sixteenth part of the devotion at your feet.

विना त्वत्पादसेवां च यो वाञ्छति वरान्तरम्।
भारते दुर्लभं जन्म लब्ध्वाऽसौ वञ्चितः स्वयम्॥५२॥

Having been born in the sacred land of Bhārata, the one who instead of being desirous of getting devotion of your feet desires for something else, he remains deprived."

नागपत्न्या वचः श्रुत्वा स्मेराननसरोरुहः।
प्रसन्नमानसः श्रीमानोमित्येवमुवाच ह॥५३॥

On hearing the words of the wife of Nāga, the face of lord Kṛṣṇa blossomed with a smile. He felt delighted and said, "Be it so". Thus speaking he agreed to her words.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे दिव्यः सद्रत्नसारनिर्मितः।
आजगाम रथस्तूर्णमुद्दीप्तस्तेजसा मुने॥५४॥
पार्षदप्रवरैर्युक्तो वस्त्रमालापरिच्छदः।
शतचक्रो वायुवेगी मनोयायी मनोहरः॥५५॥

O sage, in the meantime a divine chariot reached there which was decorated with the best of the gems and was illumining with lustre. It had several attendants and was decorated with banners of fine clothes and garlands of flowers, having a hundred wheels; it moved with the speed of the wind or that of the minds. It looked quite pleasant.

अवरुह्य रथात्तूर्णं श्यामलाः श्यामकिंकराः।
प्रणम्य कृष्णं तां नीत्वा जग्मुर्गोलोकमुत्तमम्॥५६॥

Several of the dark-complexioned attendants descended from the chariot and bowing at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa took away the wife of the Nāga with them and they went to Goloka.

हरिश्छायां विनिर्माय ददौ सर्पाय तेजसा।
स च किंचिन्न बुबुधे मोहितो विष्णुमायया॥५७॥

The gods created a shadow Nāga woman in her place and substituted her as the wife of the serpent Kāliya. Having been infatuated with the illusion of the lord, the serpent could understand nothing.

अवरुह्य सर्पमूर्ध्नः श्रीकृष्णः करुणानिधिः।
ददौ हस्तं च कृपया शीघ्रं कालियमस्तके॥५८॥

Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa the ocean of mercy, compassionately placed his hand on the hood of the serpent.

संप्राप्य चेतनां सद्यो ददर्श पुरतो हरिम्।
पुटाञ्जलियुतां साश्रुपूर्णां च सुरसां सतीम्॥५९॥

With the placing of the hand by Kṛṣṇa on the head of the serpent, he regained consciousness, he looked with folded hands and tears filled his eyes who looked towards the lord and also looked at the chaste Surasā.

प्रणनाम हरिं सद्यो रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः।
भक्त्युद्रेकात्साश्रुनेत्रां पुलकाङ्कितविग्रहाम्॥६०॥
तूष्णीभूतां च तां दृष्ट्वा समुवाच कृपानिधिः।
यदीश्वरस्य सततं योग्यायोग्ये समा कृपा॥६१॥

He at once bowed before the lord and started crying infatuated with the devotion for Kṛṣṇa. With his mind filled with devotion, the eyes filled with tears, the body getting emotional, he looked at Surasā. Finding him keeping quiet Kṛṣṇa said. The grace of the lord is showered equally on the competent and incompetent people.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

वरं वृणु त्वं कालिय यस्ते मनसि वर्तते।
त्वं मे प्राणाधिको वत्स सुखं तिष्ठ भयं त्यज॥६२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - O Kāliya, you ask for a boon. O son, you are dearer to me than my life and therefore shed fear for life and be comfortable.

तस्याहमनुगृह्णामि योऽतिभक्तो ममांशजः।
किंचित्तद्दमनं कृत्वा तत्प्रसादं करोम्यहम्॥६३॥

Because the one who is born out of my aṁśa and is immensely devoted to me, I am especially kind to him. After suppressing him I bestow my grace on him.

त्वद्वंशजातान्सर्पांश्च हन्ति यो मानवाधमः।

The inferior person who would kill the snakes of that line, he earns the sin equal to Brahmahatyā.

मत्पादपद्मचिह्ने यः करोति दण्डताडनम्।
द्विगुणं ब्रह्महत्याया भविता तस्य किल्बिषम्॥६५॥

Whosoever will strike the imprint of my foot on your hood, he would earn double the sin of Brahmahatyā.

लक्ष्मीर्यास्यति तद्गेहाच्छापं दत्त्वा सुदारुणम्।
वंशायुर्यशसां हानिर्भविता तस्य निश्चितम्॥६६॥

The goddess of riches shall disappear from his house pronouncing a curse on him; besides his race, age and glory will be on the decline.

ध्रुवं वर्षशतं कालसूत्रे यास्यति मद्गिरा।

त्वत्प्रमाणा कीटसंघा दंशिष्यन्ति च संततम्।।६७।।

According to my words he will have to face the sufferings in the kālasūtra hell for a hundred years, the insect of your size would bite him always.

भोगान्ते जन्म लब्ध्वा च तन्मृत्युस्तस्य दंशनात्।

तस्य वंशोद्भवानां च त्वद्वंशाद्भविता भयम्।।६८।।

After remaining in the hell, he would be born on earth and would die of a snake bite. All his generations would always be afraid of the snakes.

ये च त्वद्वंशजान्दृष्ट्वा सुपदाङ्कं मदीयकम्।

प्रणमिष्यन्ति भक्त्या मे मुच्यन्ते सर्वपातकात्।।६९।।

श्रीकृष्णवचनं श्रुत्वा कालियः कम्पितो भिया।

पुटाञ्जलियुतोभूत्वा तमुवाच भुजंगमः।।७३।।

Looking at your progeny with my foot imprinted on the hood, whosoever would bow with devotion, he would be relieved of all the sins. Therefore, you immediately move to Ramaṇaka and don't be afraid of Garuḍa, the king of the birds. He would adore you with devotion finding the imprint of my foot on your hood; therefore you yourself and your progeny would never be afraid of Garuḍa. With the bestowing of the boon by me today, you consider yourself to be the best of all the snakes. O son, you tell me what more boon is needed by you? You consider myself to be the reliever of your miseries and speak out to me without fear. On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa, the serpent Kāliya trembling with fear spoke with folded hands.

Kāliya said - O lord, besotwer of boons, I am not desirous of any other boon for me but in spite of that if you want to bestow any boon on me, you bestow the devotion of your lotus-like feet; this is my desire. Because one is born in the race of a Brāhmaṇa or as a bird, an animal or all of the them. Only that person is successful who always remains at your lotus-like feet. In case one is averse to the devotion of your feet, then even the stay in the heaven is of no consequence. The place one achieves by adoring at your feet is the real place and the best of all, whether it is for a moment or for crores of kalpas. When life is spent in adoration at your feet it becomes successful; otherwise it is of no consequence or is useless. Those who serve at your lotus-like feet, their age is never spent and they are relieved of the birth, death, ailment, grief, pain and fear.

Without serving at your feet, your devotees never aspire for the place of Indra, eternalship and the inaccessible place of Brahmā. What to speak of anything else, your devotees look at the four types of salvation like Sālokya and others like the torn garments.

तावत्त्वद्भावनेनैव त्वद्वर्णोऽहमनुग्रहात्।।८१।।

मां च भक्तमपक्वं वा विज्ञाय गरुडः स्वयम्।

देशाद्दूरं च न्यक्कारं चकार दृढभक्तिमान्।।८२।।

भवता च दृढां भक्तिं दत्त्वा मे वरदेश्वर।

त्वत्पादपद्मचिह्नाक्तं दृष्ट्वा श्रीमस्तकं मम।
सदोषं गुणयुक्तं मां सोऽधुना त्यक्तुमक्षम:॥८४॥

O Brahman, after receiving your mantra from Ananta, I always remained devoted to you. This is the reason why I have earned your grace today. At that point of time Garuḍa thinking of me to be an immature devotee had denounced me and drove me out but, O bestower of the boon, you have bestowed your deep devotion on me and proved that I am as good a devotee of yours as a Garuḍa has been. Therefore, it would not be proper for you to disown me. Because of the imprint of your foot on my head and looking at its grace, Garuḍa would treat me as virtuous in spite of the fact that I have no virtues with me at all. Therefore you need not disown me.

ममाऽऽराध्याश्च नागेन्द्रा न तद्बाध्योऽहमीश्वर।
भयं न केभ्य: सर्वत्र तमनन्तं गुरुं विना॥८५॥

Now Garuḍa will not trouble me taking me to be your devotee. O lord, they will not kill me any further. I am not afraid of anyone else except Ananta my teacher.

य देवेन्द्राश्च देवाश्च मुनयो मनवो नरा:।
स्वप्ने ध्यानं न पश्यन्ति चक्षुषोर्गोचर: समे॥८६॥

Indra, the gods, the sages, Manu, the humans are not in a position to visualise you even in a dream, but the same lord is standing before me personified.

भक्तानुरोधात्साकार: कुतस्ते विग्रहो विभो।
सगुणस्त्वं च साकारो निराकारश्च निर्गुण:॥८७॥
स्वेच्छामय: सर्वधाम सर्वबीजं सनातनम्।
सर्वेषामीश्वर: साक्षी सर्वात्मा सर्वरूपधृक्॥८८॥

O virtuous one, you have no body, but you appear in a definite form at the request of the devotee. You are full of qualities, having the definite form and at the same time you are without qualities and formless, you move at will, the abode of all, the seed of all, eternal, the lord of all, the witness of all, the soul of all and you take to all the forms.

ब्रह्मेशशेषधर्मेन्द्रवेदवेदाङ्गपारगा:।
स्तोतुं यमीशं ते जाड्या: सर्प: स्तोष्यति तं विभुम्॥८९॥

हे नाथ करुणासिन्धो दीनबन्धो क्षमाधमम्।
खलस्वभावादज्ञानात्कृष्ण त्वं चर्वितो मया॥९०॥
नास्त्रलक्ष्यो यथाऽऽकाशो न दृश्यान्तो न लङ्घ्यक:।
न स्पृश्यो हि न चाऽऽवर्यस्तथा तेजस्त्वमेव च॥९१॥

Even Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa, Dharma, Indra and the intellectuals well-versed in the Vedic and post-Vedic literature stand dumb-found while offering prayers, then now an insignificant serpent like me could adore you. O ocean of mercy, you forgive a down-graded person like me. O Kṛṣṇa, because of my wicked nature and ignorance, I chewed you earlier. But as a weapon cannot be aimed at the sky, the end of which is not visible, nor can it be crossed, touched or covered, similar is the case with your lustre.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा नागेन्द्र: पपात चरणाम्बुजे।
ओमित्युक्त्वा हरिस्तुष्ट: सर्वं तस्मै वरं ददौ॥९२॥

Thus speaking the king of the serpents fell at the lotus-like feet of the lord. The lord was pleased with him and spoke, "Be it so". Thus he bestowed all the boons on him.

नागराजकृतं स्तोत्रं प्रातरुत्थाय य: पठेत्।
तद्वंश्यानां च तस्यैव नागेभ्यो न भयं भवेत्॥९३॥
स नागशय्यां कृत्वैव स्वप्तुं शक्त: सदा भुवि।
विषपीयूषयोर्भेदो नास्त्येव तस्य भक्षणे॥९४॥
नागग्रस्ते नागघाते प्राणान्ते विषभोजनात्।
स्तोत्रस्मरणमात्रेण सुस्थो भवति मानव:॥९५॥

The one who recites the stotra composed by the serpents getting up early in the morning, there is no end to his progeny and is never afraid of the serpents. He can sleep on a bed of snakes. The consuming of poison or nectar will be of no consequence for him. One is relieved of all ailments including the bite of snakes, having been attacked by snakes and consuming the poisonous food leading to death, with the reciting of this stotra.

भूर्जे कृत्वा स्तोत्रमिदं कण्ठे वा दक्षिणे करे।
बिभर्ति यो भक्तियुक्तो नागेभ्योऽपि न तद्भयम्॥९६॥
यत्र गेहे स्तोत्रमिदं नागस्तत्र न तिष्ठति।
विषाग्निवज्रभीतिश्च न भवेत्तत्र निश्चितम्॥९७॥

इह लोके हरेर्भक्ति स्मृतिं च सततं लभेत्।
अन्ते च स्वकुलं पूत्वा दास्यं च लभते ध्रुवम्।।९८।।

Writing this stotra on the bark leaves, whosoever ties it around the neck or the right arm with devotion, is freed from the danger of the serpent and the one in whose house this stotra is kept, the serpents cannot remain there. Besides the place is relieved of the dangers of poison, fire and vajra. Such a person always remains devoted to the lord on earth and ultimately in due course of time, purifying his race, he achieves the slavehood of the lord.

नारायण उवाच

नागेन्द्राय वरं दत्त्वा पुनस्तं जगदीश्वरः।
उवाच मधुरं वाक्यं परिणामसुखावहम्।।९९।।

Nārāyaṇa said - O lord of the universe, lord Kṛṣṇa after bestowing the boon on the serpent, spoke to him some sweet words which were beneficial to him for the future.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

गच्छ त्वं च रमणकं यथेन्द्रनगरं परम्।
सार्धं स्वगोष्ठ्या नागेन्द्र यमुनाजलवर्त्मना।।१००।।
श्रुत्वा नागो हरेराज्ञां रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः।
कदा द्रक्ष्यामि त्वत्पादपद्मं नाथेत्युवाच ह।।१०१।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - O lord of the Nāgas, by moving in the waters of the Yamunā, you together with your wife and the entire family proceed towards the Ramaṇaka island which is more beautiful than the place of Indra. At this command of the lord the serpent started crying filled with affection and said, "O lord when shall I be able to have a look at your lotus-like feet?".

प्रणम्य शतकृत्वश्च स्त्रिया गोष्ठ्या सहेश्वरम्।
ग्राम जलमार्गेण नागेन्द्रो विरहातुरः।।१०२।।

Getting disturbed due to the impending separation from the lord he bowed in reverence to him a hundred times and moved together with his wife and family through the waters of the Yamunā.

यमुनाह्रदतोयं च बभूवामृतकल्पकम्।
प्रसन्ना जन्तवः सर्वे बभूवुस्तेन नारद।'१०३।।

Thereafter, the water of the kuṇḍa in the Yamunā was turned like nectar which delighted all the birds and animals.

गत्वा ददर्श भवनं यथेन्द्रनगरं परम्।
आज्ञया च कृपासिन्धोर्निर्मितं विश्वकर्मणा।।१०४।।

Reaching Ramaṇaka, he found a palace as huge as the palace of Indra which was constructed by Viśvakarmā at the command of the lord.

तत्र तस्थौ च नागेन्द्रः स्त्रिया पुत्रगणैः सह।
निःशङ्को हर्षयुक्तश्च हरिभावनतत्परः।।१०५।।

In the company of his wife and other family members, he fearlessly and gleefully continued to stay there.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेश्चरितमद्भुतम्।
सुखदं मोक्षदं सारं परं किं श्रोतुमिच्छसि।।१०६।।

Thus I have narrated to you the astonishing story of the lord which provides pleasure, salvation and is quite purposeful. What else do you want to listen to from me?.

सूत उवाच

महर्षेर्वचनं श्रुत्वा नारदो हर्षविह्वलः।
ऋषिं पप्रच्छ संदेहं सर्वसंदेहभञ्जनम्।।१०७।।

Sūta said - On hearing the words of the sage, the mind of Nārada was filled with emotion. Thereafter, he again asked the sage who could remove the doubts of all, for the removal of his doubt.

नारद उवाच

कथं विहाय कालीयः स्वपूर्वभवनं परम्।
जगाम यमुनातीरं तन्मे ब्रूहि जगद्गुरो।।१०८।।

Nārada said - O teacher of the universe, why had the serpent Kāliya moved to the kuṇḍa in Yamunā leaving his earlier abode. You kindly tell me.

नारायण उवाच

शृणु नारद वक्ष्येऽहमितिहासं पुरातनम्।
यच्छ्रुतं धर्मवक्त्रान्मे मलये सूर्यपर्वणि।।१०९।।
कृष्णाख्यानप्रसङ्गेन सुप्रभापश्चिमे तटे।

इदमाख्यानमाश्चर्यमुवाच तं कृपानिधि:।
तत्र श्रुतं मया विप्र निबोध कथयामि ते।।१११।।

Nārāyaṇa said - I am narrating to you an ancient historical story, which was narrated at Malaya mountain on the left bank of Suprabhā river by Dharma which leads to lord Kṛṣṇa. You listen to it. In the assembly of the sages, the sage Pulaha enquired from Dharma and Dharma, the compassionate one, told him the astonishing story. I heard the same from him which I am going to repeat to you.

शेषाज्ञया नागगणा: प्रतिसंवत्सरं भिया।
कार्तिकीपूर्णिमायां तु कुर्वन्ति गरुडार्चनम्।।११२।।
पुष्पैर्धूपैश्च दीपैश्च नैवेद्यैर्बलिभिर्मुदा।

तस्य पूजां च कालीयो न चकारात्यहंकृत:।
नागपूजोपकरणं बलाद्भक्षितुमुद्यत:।।११४।।

At the command of the serpent Śeṣa all the Nāgas getting terrified used to adore Garuḍa on the full moon day of Kārtika, every year. Once Kāliya after having his bath with devotion at the great sacred place of Puṣkara, getting arrogant, did not adore Garuḍa and was about to consume the material meant for the adoration of Garuḍa.

चक्रुर्निवारणं नागा नीतिमूचुर्मदोद्धतम्।
न शक्ता वारणे ते चेत्याविर्भूत: खगेश्वर:।।११५।।

The Nāgas prevented him from doing so and spoke to the arrogant one, "We people are unable to prevent you". At that very moment Garuḍa, the king of the birds, arrived there.

दृष्ट्वा खगेश्वरं नागा कालीयप्राणरक्षया।
प्राणशक्त्या च युयुधुर्यावत्सूर्योदयं मुने।।११६।।
पक्षीन्द्रतेजसा सर्वे समुद्विग्ना: पलायिता:।
अनन्तं शरणं जग्मु: सर्वेषामभयप्रदम्।।११७।।

Finding him there all the Nāgas fought with Garuḍa in order to protect the life of Kāliya, which continued till day-break. At last, all of them felt dispirited and upset with the prowess of Garuḍa fled from the place. All of them reached to take refuge under Ananta who provides protection to all.

पलायनपरान्दृष्ट्वा नागांश्च करुणानिधि:।
तत्र तस्थौ च नि:शङ्क: कालीयस्तं ददर्श ह।।११८।।

After the disappearing of all the Nāgas from the place, Kāliya, the compassionate one stood there fearlessly and started staring at Garuḍa.

स्मृत्वा हरिपदाम्भोजं कालीयो युयुधे मुने।
मुहूर्तं च तयोर्युद्धं बभूवातीव दारुणम्।।११९।।

O sage, then he started fighting with Garuḍa reciting the name of Kṛṣṇa in his mind. The fierce battle continued for a muhūrta.

पराजितश्च नागेन्द्रस्तेजसा गरुडस्य च।
भिया पलायनं कृत्वा जगाम यमुनाह्रदम्।।१२०।।
न तं सौभरिशापेन खगेन्द्रो गन्तुमीश्वर:।
तत्र तस्थौ भिया नागो जग्मु: पश्चाच्च तद्गणा:।।१२१।।

Thereafter the serpent Kāliya was defeated by the prowess of Garuḍa and in panic, he rushed to the kuṇḍa in Yamunā, where Garuḍa could not reach because of the curse of the sage Saubhari. Nāga then continued to stay there feeling panicky and subsequently all his servants also reached there.

नारद उवाच

कथं तु सौभरे: शापो बभूव गरुडाय वै।
कथं न शक्तो गन्तुं तं ह्रदमीश्वरवाहन:।।१२२।।

Nārada said - How did the sage Saubhari pronounce a curse on Garuḍa and why had Garuḍa, the vehicle of lord Viṣṇu, no access to that place.

नारायण उवाच

दिव्यं वर्षसहस्रं च वर्षाणां तत्र सौभरि:।
तपस्तप्त्वा महासिद्धो दध्यौ कृष्णपदाम्बुजम्।।१२३।।
समीपे ध्यायमानस्य कूले च यमुनाजले।

पुच्छमुत्फाल्य बहुधा प्रेरित: परमेच्छया।

सुकुलं सुमहात्मानं दर्शं दर्शं खगाधिप:।
जग्राह चञ्चुना मीनं मुनीन्द्रस्य समीपत:।।१२६।।

Nārāyaṇa said - The sage Saubhari performed tapas for a divine thousand years and became Mahāsiddha and was always devoted to the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa close to the place of the meditating sage. Garuḍa the lord of the birds also used to come and play there fearlessly. With great devotion in his mind Garuḍa used to take rounds of the sage delightfully daily.

गच्छन्तं तं मीनमुखं ददर्श कोपचक्षुषा।
प्रकम्पितो मुनेर्दृष्ट्या मीनस्तोये पपात ह।।१२७।।

The sage belonged to the pure race and looking at him Garuḍa the king of the birds caught hold of a fish in his presence. Pressing the fish with the feet by Garuḍa, the sage looked at him with contempt. Garuḍa felt trembling at the sight of the sage and the fish was dropped into the water.

तमुवाच मुनीन्द्रश्च पुनरादातुमुद्यतम्।
मीनश्च गरुडत्रासात्तस्थौ मुनिसमीपतः।।१२८।।

Garuḍa intended to catch it again but the fish getting terrified again went close the sage. Looking at this the sage spoke.

सौभरिरुवाच

गच्छ दूरं गच्छ दूरं खगेन्द्र मत्समीपतः।
का योग्यता मत्पुरस्ते ग्रहीतुं जीवमुल्बणम्।।१२९।।

Saubhari said - "O king of the birds, you get away from here and move to another place. How could you be competent to catch the aquatic animal in my presence.

श्रीकृष्णवाहनं ज्ञात्वा चाऽऽत्मानं बहु मन्यसे।
त्वद्विधान्कोटिशः कृष्णः स्रष्टुं शक्तश्च वाहकान्।।१३०।।

Do you think too much about yourself being the vehicle of Viṣṇu. Lord Kṛṣṇa is competent enough to create crores of birds like you.

करोमि भस्मसात्तूर्णं त्वां च भ्रूभङ्गलीलया।
वाहनं च त्वमीशस्य न वयं तव किंकराः।।१३१।।

I can reduce you to ashes only with a side-glance. You are no doubt the vehicle of Viṣṇu but we are not your slaves.

अद्यप्रभृति पक्षीन्द्र यद्यागच्छसि मे ह्रदम्।
मदीयशापात्तूर्णं च भस्मसाद्भविता ध्रुवम्।।१३२।।

O king of the birds, in case you come to my kuṇḍa here again, you will surely be reduced to ashes.".

मुनीन्द्रस्य वचः श्रुत्वा प्रचचाल खगेश्वरः।
स्मारं स्मारं कृष्णपादं तं प्रणम्य जगाम ह।।१३३।।

Hearing the words of the sage, Garuḍa was upset. Resembling the name of Kṛṣṇa in his heart, he bowed before the sage in reverence and left the place.

अद्यप्रभृति विप्रेन्द्र पतगेन्द्रस्य संततम्।
ह्रदस्य श्रुतिमात्रेण कम्पो भवति निश्चितम्।।१३४।।

O best of the Brāhmaṇas, even today with the mere mention of the name of that kuṇḍa, the body of Garuḍa shivers in panic.

इतिहासश्च कथितो यः श्रुतो धर्मवक्त्रतः।
सरहस्यं श्रुतिसुखं प्रकृतं शृणु मङ्गलम्।।१३५।।

I have narrated to you the event of history which I had heard from the mouth of Dharma; now you listen to the secret about the story of the lord which is pleasant to hear and bestows welfare.

The boys standing at the bank of river Yamunā thought that "much time has elapsed but lord Kṛṣṇa has not come out of the waters." Therefore they felt disturbed and started crying. Some of the boys overcome with grief started beating their breast; some of them fainted with the separation from the lord and fell down on the ground. Some of them got ready to jump into the same kuṇḍa in separation from Kṛṣṇa but some of the boys forcibly prevented them from doing so. Some of them started lamenting and some of them got ready to end their lives who were prevented from doing so, by the intelligent persons.

केचिदूचुश्च हाहेति कृष्ण कृष्णेति केचन।
केचिद्वक्तुं प्रवृत्तिं च प्रययुर्नन्दसंनिधिम्॥१४०॥

Some of them cried in terror reciting the name of Kṛṣṇa. Some of them rushed to Nanda who conveyed the news to him.

केचित्संमीलितास्तत्र शोकमोहभयातुराः।
इत्यूचुः किं करिष्यामः कुतोऽस्माकं गतो हरिः॥१४१॥

Some of them were influenced with grief, love and fear and said, "What should we do now"? Hari has disappeared.

हे नन्दसूनो हे कृष्ण प्राणेभ्योऽप्यधिकप्रिय।
हे बन्धो दर्शनं देहीत्यूचुः प्राणाः प्रयान्ति हि॥१४२॥

O Nanda, listen, O Kṛṣṇa, you are dearer to us than our lives, O brother, you appear before us without delay, otherwise life is departing out of our body.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे केचिद्बालका नन्दसंनिधिम्।
संप्रापुरतिलोलाश्च रुदन्तः शोकविह्वलाः॥१४३॥

In the meantime some of the boys reached Nanda who were crying and getting unstable.

श्रुत्वा वार्तां च ते सर्वे शीघ्रं जग्मुः शुचाऽन्विताः।
कलिन्दनन्दिनीतीरं रुरुदुर्बालकैर्युताः॥१४५॥

They narrated the entire event to Yaśodā and Balabhadra who was seated beside her and also to other cowherds and cowherdesses having red eyes. On hearing this, all were upset with grief and arrived at the bank of Yamunā. They all started crying.

गत्वा संमीलिताः सर्वे रुरुदुः शोकमूर्च्छिताः।

गोपा गोपालिकाश्चैव जघ्नुरङ्गानि शोकतः।
केचिद्विललपुस्तत्र मुर्च्छां पापुश्च केचन॥१४७॥

All the people collecting there started crying and fainted. The mother Yaśodā was about to jump into the kuṇḍa who was prevented from doing so by the people present there. Some of the cowherdesses overcome with grief started beating their limbs, while others started lamenting and some of them fainted.

ह्रदं विशन्तीं तां राधां वारयामास काचन।
मूर्च्छां च प्राप सा शोकान्मृतेव च सरित्तटे॥१४८॥

Some of the cowherdesses prevented Rādhā from entering in that kuṇḍa but at the bank of the river, Rādhā got fainted and fell like a log.

विलप्यातिभृशं नन्दो मूर्च्छां प्राप पुनः पुनः।
भूयोऽपि रोदनं कृत्वा भूयो मूर्छामवाप ह॥१४९॥

On the other hand, Nanda while lamenting fainted again and again. He regained consciousness and fainted again.

विलपन्तं भृशं नन्दं यशोदां शोककर्शिताम्।

रुदतो बालकान्सर्वान्बालिकाश्च शुचाऽन्विताः।
सर्वांश्च बोधयामास बलश्च ज्ञानिनां वरः॥१५१॥

Thus lamenting Nanda and Yaśodā besides the grief-stricken cowherds and cowherdesses and the unconscious Rādhikā, started crying. Thereafter brilliant Balarāma tried to console all the grief-stricken cowherdesses.

बलदेव उवाच

गोपा गोपालिका बालाः सर्वे शृणुत मद्वचः।

परमाणुः परो व्यूहः स्थुलात्स्थूलः परात्परः।

Baladeva said - O cowherds, cowherdesses and the boys, all of you should listen to my words. O best of the intellectuals, O Nanda, the best of the intellectuals, you kindly remember the words of the sage Garga. The one who happens to be the support of the serpent Śeṣa, is the killer of the one who happens to be the destroyer of the universe and Vidhātā for Brahmā, who can defeat him on earth. He happens to be smaller than the smallest and bigger than the biggest. He is more solid than the best of the solid things and is beyond everyone, he remains invisible as well as visible and is adored by the yogīs.

दिशां नास्ति समाहारः स्पृश्यो नाऽऽकाश एव च।
अपि सर्वेश्वरो बाध्य इत्यूचुः श्रुतयः स्फुटम्॥१५५॥

नाऽऽत्मा दृश्या नास्त्रलक्ष्यो न वध्यो न हि दृश्यकः।
नाग्निग्रस्तो न हिंस्यश्चापीदमाध्यात्मिका विदुः॥१५६॥

As the directions cannot be collected, the sky cannot be touched, similarly the great lord cannot be controlled by anyone. This has been clearly ordained by the śrutis. The soul is not visible and is beyond the aim of weapons. He cannot be killed nor can he be seen. The fire is unable to burn him and he cannot be killed. This is what has been ordained by those engaged in spiritual thinking.

विग्रहोऽस्यैव कृष्णस्य भक्तध्यानार्थमेव च।
ज्योतिः स्वरूपस्य विभोर्नाऽऽद्यन्तमध्यमात्मनः॥१५७॥

The body of Kṛṣṇa which is visible is meant for his devotees. The all-pervading lord having lustre has no beginning, end or middle.

जलप्लुते च ब्रह्माण्डे जलशायी जनार्दनः।
यन्नाभिपद्मजो ब्रह्मा तस्येशस्य ह्रदे विपत्॥१५८॥

At the time when the entire globe is submerged in water, at that point of time, lord Janārdana reclines in the waters and Brahmā seated on a lotus emerge out of his navel. How can such a great lord face any difficulty inside a small kuṇḍa?.

मशकश्चेत्क्षमो ग्रस्तुं ब्रह्माण्डमखिलं पितः।
न तथाऽपि तदीशं तं ग्रस्तुं सर्पः क्षमो भवेत्॥१५९॥

O father, not only this, in case a mosquito could swallow the entire globe in spite of that a serpent would not be able to swallow Kṛṣṇa.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वमाध्यात्मिकमनुत्तमम्।
निगूढं योगिना सारं संशयच्छेदकारणम्॥१६०॥

Whatever has been stated by me, is the best of spiritualistic talk which is beyond the reach of the yogīs, it is quite deep and idealistic and removes the doubts.".

बलदेववचः श्रुत्वा गर्गवाक्यमनुस्मरन्।
तत्याज शोकं नन्दश्च व्रजश्च व्रजयोषितः॥१६१॥

On hearing the words of Baladeva and recalling the words of the sage of Gargācārya. Nanda and all the ladies of the Vraja were freed from grief.

प्रबोधं मेनिरे सर्वे न यशोदा न राधिका।
बन्धुविच्छेदविषये प्रबोधे न स्थितं मनः॥१६२॥

All of them agreed with him but Rādhā and Yaśodā could not be satisfied because the mind does not rest in piece in separation from the near and dear ones.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कृष्णमुत्पतन्तं जलान्मुने।
ददृशुस्तं सुप्रसन्ना व्रजाश्च व्रजयोषितः॥१६३॥

O sage, in the meantime the humans of Vraja delightfully found Kṛṣṇa emerging out of the water.

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं सस्मितं सुमनोहरम्।
अस्निग्धवस्त्रमस्निग्धमलुप्तचन्दनाञ्जनम्॥१६४॥

His face resembling the full moon of the winter season, wore a smile on his face, his clothes were dry and so was his body. The sandal-paste of the forehead and the collyrium of the eyes were undisturbed.

सर्वाभरणसंयुक्तं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा।
मयूरपिच्छचूडं च वंशीवदनमच्युतम्॥१६५॥
यशोदा बालकं दृष्ट्वा कृत्वा वक्षसि सस्मिता।
चुचुम्ब वदनाम्भोजं प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा॥१६६॥

He was adorned with all the ornaments, had a divine lustre, a peacock feather was adorning his head and the fruit was touching his lips. Finding the boy quite hail and hearty, Yaśodā smiled and embraced him and her face and eyes were beaming with delight. She then started kissing the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

क्रोडे चकार नन्दश्च बलश्च रोहिणी मुदा।
निमेषरहिताः सर्वे ददृशुः श्रीमुखं हरेः॥१६७॥

Thereafter Nanda, Balarāma and Rohiṇī too took him in their lap and all of them started staring at Hari without winking even for a moment.

प्रेमान्धा बालकाः सर्वे चक्रुरालिङ्गनं हरेः।
पपुश्चक्षुश्चकोरैश्च मुखचन्द्रं च गोपिकाः॥१६८॥

Thereafter all the boys embraced Kṛṣṇa with devotion and the cowherdesses started staring at the facial beauty of Kṛṣṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र सहसा काननान्तरम्।
दावाग्निर्वेष्टयामास तैः सर्वैः सह गोकुलम्॥१६९॥
दृष्ट्वा शैलप्रमाणाग्निं परितः काननान्तरे।

प्रणाशं मेनिरे सर्वे भयमापुश्च संकटे।।१७०।।

At that point of time suddenly the forest was surrounded by a terrific fire, the flame of which were raised like a mountain. The danger terrified everyone who thought their end to be nearing.

श्रीकृष्णं तुष्टुवुः सर्वे संपुटाञ्जलयो व्रजाः।
बाला गोप्यश्च संत्रस्ता भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधराः।।१७१।।

Then all the people of Vraja, the cowherdesses and cowherds folded their hands with devotion and started offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa.

बाला ऊचुः

The boys said - O Brahman, O Madhusūdana, the way you have always protected us from dangers together with our kiths and kins, similarly you protect us from the forest fire.

त्वमिष्टदेवताऽस्माकं त्वमेव कुलदेवता।
स्रष्टा पाता च संहर्ता जगतां च जगत्पते।।१७३।।

वयं त्वां शरणं यामो रक्ष नः शरणागतान्।।१७७।।

You happen to be our supreme god and the family god. O lord of the universe, you are the creator of the universe, its protector and the destroyer. The fire, Varuṇa, the Moon, the Sun, Yama, Kubera, wind-god, Īśāna and other gods besides Brahmā, Viṇṣu, Śiva, Dharma, sages, Manu, humans, demons, Yakṣas, Rākṣasas and Kinnaras besides all the movable and immovable creatures are only your aṁśas. They all appear and disappear according to your command. O Govinda, you protect us and save us from this fire. All of us have come to take refuge with you. You protect us since we have taken refuge under you.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा ते सर्वे तस्थुर्ध्यात्वा पदाम्बुजम्।
दूरीभूतस्तु दावाग्निः श्रीकृष्णामृतदृष्टितः।।१७८।।

Thus speaking the people started meditating upon the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa. At the very nectar-like sight of Kṛṣṇa the forest fire disappeared.

दूरीभूते च दावाग्नौ ननृतुस्ते मुदाऽन्विताः।

इदं स्तोत्रं महापुण्यं प्रातरुत्थाय यः पठेत्।
वह्नितो न भवेत्तस्य भयं जन्मनि जन्मनि।।१८०।।

After the forest fire was extinguished, all of them started rejoicing and dancing. All the dangers disappeared after the reciting of the name of the lord. Whosoever recites this auspicious stotra in the early morning, never meets with any danger from the fire in his life.

शत्रुग्रस्ते च दावाग्नौ विपत्तौ प्राणसंकटे।
स्तोत्रमेतत्पठित्वा तु मुच्यते नात्र संशयः।।१८१।।

He is never surrounded by the enemies or the forest fire or any dangers which all disappear with the reciting of the stotra.

शत्रुसैन्यं क्षयं याति सर्वत्र विजयी भवेत्।
इह लोके हरेर्भक्तिमन्ते दास्यं लभेद्ध्रुवम्।।१८२।।

With the reciting of this stotra, the enemy army is destroyed and one becomes victorious. He achieves the devotion of lord Kṛṣṇa during this birth and ultimately achieves the slavehood of lord Kṛṣṇa.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said - O Nārada saving them from the forest fire, Śrī Kṛṣṇa went back to his abode which was like the palace of Kubera.

ब्राह्मणेभ्यो धनं नन्दः परिपूर्णं ददौ मुदा।

The delightful Nanda distributed enough of charity to the Brāhmaṇas and also served food to his relatives.

नानाविधं मङ्गलं च हरेर्नामानुकीर्तनम्।
वेदांश्च पाठयामास विप्रद्वारा मुदाऽन्वित:।।१८५।।

He performed various welfare ceremonies and other religious functions including the reciting of the Vedas by the Brāhmaṇas for the welfare of Kṛṣṇa.

एवं मुमुदिरे सर्वे वृन्दारण्ये गृहे गृहे।
श्रीकृष्णचरणाम्भोजध्यानैकतानमानसा:।।१८६।।

Thus all the people of Vṛndāvana started meditating upon the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa with a devoted mind.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेश्चरितमङ्गलम्।
कलिकिल्बिषकाष्ठानां दाहने दहनोपमम्।।१८७।।

I have thus narrated to you the pleasant story of the lord which burns the sins like the fire burning the wood.

Chapter - 20

The abduction of cows and calves and cowherds

नारायण उवाच

एकदा बालकै: सार्धं बलेन सह माधव:।
भुक्त्वा पीत्वाऽनुलिप्तश्च वृन्दारण्यं जगाम ह॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said - Once Mādhava accompanied by Balabhadra and the boys while finishing their meals and decorating their heads with sandal-paste, went to Vṛndāvana.

क्रीडां चकार भगवान्कौतुकेन च तै: सह।
क्रीडानिमग्नचित्तानां दूरं तद्गोकुलं ययौ॥२॥

The lord played with them for long. When all of them were engrossed in the sports, the cows and calves strayed away.

तस्य प्रभावं विज्ञातुं विधाता जगतां पति:।
चकार निह्नुतिं गाश्च वत्सांश्च बालकानपि॥३॥

At that point of time Brahmā, the lord of creation thought of testing the competence of lord Kṛṣṇa. He therefore stole away the cows, the calves and the cowherds and hid them somewhere.

विज्ञाय तदभिप्रायं सर्वज्ञ: सर्वकारक:।
पुनश्चकार तत्सर्वं योगीन्द्रो योगमायया॥४॥

Understanding his move, Hari who is all knowledgeable and is the creator of the universe, created the cows, calves and the cowherds with the influence of Yogamāyā.

जगाम श्रीहरिर्गेहं कालयित्वा च गोकुलम्।
बलेन बालकै: सार्धं क्रीडाकौतुकमानस:॥५॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa who is well-versed in the divine play returned to his abode with the cows, Balabhadra and the cowherds.

एवं चकार भगवान्वर्षमेकं च प्रत्यहम्।
यमुनागमनं गोभिर्बलेन सह बालकै:॥६॥

Thus this process continued for one year. Daily he used to go to the bank of Yamunā with Balabhadra and cows and daily returned in the evening.

ब्रह्मा प्रभावं विज्ञाय लज्जनम्रात्मकंधर:।
आजगाम हरे: स्थानं भाण्डीरवटमूलके॥७॥

Understanding this influence of the lord, Brahmā felt ashamed and went to the lord in the Bhāṇḍīra forest, who was resting under the shade of a tree.

ददर्श कृष्णं तत्रैव गोपालगणवेष्टितम्।
यथा पार्वणचन्द्रं च विभान्तं स्वगणै: सह॥८॥

He found Kṛṣṇa there surrounded by the cowherds like the moon surrounded by the constellation, which illumine.

रत्नसिंहासनस्थं च हसन्तं सस्मितं मुदा।
पीतवस्त्रपरीधानं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा॥९॥
रत्नकेयूरवलयरत्नमञ्जीररञ्जितम्।

कोटिकन्दर्पलावण्यं लीलाधाममनोहरम्।
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमार्चितविग्रहम्॥११॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa was seated on a gem-studded lion-throne comfortably and wore a serene smile on his face; he was clad in a yellow lower garment and his body was emitting divine lustre; he was wearing armlets, wristlets and anklets made of gems. His ears were adorned with a pair of kuṇḍalas. He was playful and could steal the mind of others. His limbs were plastered with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron.

पारिजातप्रसूनानां मालाजालैर्विभूषितम्।
नवीननीरदश्यामं प्रोद्भिन्नवयौवनम्॥१२॥

The garlands of forest flowers adorned his body and his body had the complexion of new clouds with the youthfulness emerging out of the same.

मालतीमाल्यसंयुक्तं मयूरपिच्छचूडकम्।
स्वाङ्गसौदर्यदीप्त्या च कृतभूषणभूषितम्॥१३॥

He had a crown of peacock feathers and the garlands of jasmine flowers were decorated in it. With the lustre of his limbs, the ornaments were shining.

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रस्य प्रभामुष्टास्यसुन्दरम्।
पक्वबिम्बाधरौष्ठं च खगेन्द्रचञ्चुनासिकम्॥१४॥

His face resembled the beauty of the full moon of the winter season. His lips resembled the ripe wood-apple and the nose resembled the beak of Garuḍa.

शरन्मध्याह्नपद्मानां प्रभामोचनलोचनम्।
मुक्तापङ्क्तविनिन्द्यैकदन्तपङ्क्तिमनोहरम्॥१५॥
कौस्तुभेन मणीन्द्रेण वक्ष:स्थलसमुज्ज्वलम्।
शान्तं च राधिकाकान्तं परिपूर्णतमं परम्॥१६॥
एवंभूतं प्रभुं दृष्ट्वा प्रणनामातिविस्मित:।

यद्दृष्टं हृदयाम्भोजे तद्रूपं बहिरेव च।
या मूर्ति: पुरतो दृष्टा सा पश्चात्परितस्तत:॥१८॥

His eyes resembled the beauty of the mid-day lotus flower of the summer season and his teeth resembled the beautiful jewels. The kaustubha gem adorned his chest. Having a look at the peaceful Kṛṣṇa the lord of Rādhā, Brahmā was extremely surprised and he bowed in reverence to him. He started looking at him and bowed in reverence again and again. The form in which Brahmā had visualised the lord in his heart, the same figure was found by him before him. The figure which was present in the front, the same was at the back and on both sides.

तत्र वृन्दावने सर्वं दृष्ट्वा कृष्णसमं मुने।
ध्यायं ध्यायं च तद्रूपं तत्र तस्थौ जगद्गुरु:॥१९॥

Oh sage! in Vṛndāvana he found everything like Kṛṣṇa and meditating upon his form, Brahmā sat out there.

गावो वत्साश्च बालाश्च लता गुल्माश्च वीरुध:।
सर्वं वृन्दावनं ब्रह्मा श्यामरूपं ददर्श ह॥२०॥
दृष्ट्वैवं परमाश्चर्यं पुनर्ध्यानं चकार ह।
ददर्श त्रिजगद्ब्रह्मा नान्यत्कृष्णं विना मुने॥२१॥
क्व च वृक्ष:क्व वा शैल: क्व मही क्व च सागर:।
क्व देवा: क्व च गन्धर्वा मुनीन्द्रा: क्व च मानवा:॥२२।
क्व चाऽऽत्मा क्व जगद्बीजं क्व स्वर्ग:क्वायमेव च।
सर्वं च स्वदृशा ब्रह्मा ददर्शं मायया हरे:॥२३॥

He visualised Kṛṣṇa to be present in all the cows, the calves, the boys, the creepers, the trees and in the entire Vṛndāvana. Witnessing such a scene surprised Brahmā who again meditated upon him. O sage, at that point of time Brahmā could see nothing in the three worlds except lord Kṛṣṇa; there were no trees, no mountains, no earth, no oceans, no gods, Gandharvas, sages, humans, soul, seeds of the universe, heaven and he himself. He was non-plussed. With the illusion of the lord, he found everything like himself.

क्व कृष्णो जगतां नाथ: क्व वा मायाविभूतय:।
सर्वं कृष्णमयं दृष्ट्वा किंचिन्निर्वक्तुमक्षम:॥२४॥

Not only this he could not find lord Kṛṣṇa himself nor his creation; now everything was alike. There was no creation and everything was like Kṛṣṇa himself. Finding this Brahmā was taken aback and was unable to speak.

कं स्तौमि किं करोमीति मनसैवं प्रगृह्य च।
तत्र स्थित्वा जगद्धाता जपं कर्तुं समुद्यत:॥२५॥

He then started thinking within himself, "Whom should I adore now? What should I do?" Thereafter the creator of the universe staying there got ready to perform japam.

सुखं योगासनं कृत्वा बभूव संपुटाञ्जलि:।
पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्ग: साश्रुनेत्रोऽतिदीनवत्॥२६॥

He sat comfortably in yogāsana, folded his hands, getting emotional, his eyes were filled with tears and became quite meek and humble.

इडां सुषुम्नां मध्यां च पिङ्गलां नलिनीं धुराम्।
नाडीषट्कं च योगेन निबध्य च प्रयत्नतः॥२७॥

He controlled by meditation the three veins, named iḍā, suṣumnā, madhyā, piṅgalā, nalinī and dhurā.

मूलाधारं स्वाधिष्ठानं मणिपूरं मनोहरम्।
विशुद्धं परमाज्ञाख्यं षट्चक्रं च निबध्य च॥२८॥
लङ्घनं कारयित्वा च तत्षट्चक्रं क्रमाद्विधिः।
ब्रह्मरन्ध्रं समानीय वायुबन्धं चकार ह॥२९॥
निबध्य वायुं मध्यां तामानीय हृदयाम्बुजम्।
तं वायुं भ्रामयित्वा च योजयामास मध्यया॥३०॥
एवं कृत्वा तु निष्पन्दो यो दत्तो हरिणा पुरा।
जजाप परमं मन्त्रं तस्यैव च दशाक्षरम्॥३१॥

He than controlled the cakras in mūlādhāra, svādhiṣṭhāna, maṇipura, manohara, viśuddha and paramājñā. He then crossed the ṣaṭ-cakra and established the air in Brahmarandhra. Establishing the air, he then again arrived close to madhyā vein turning that wind, the Vidhātā linked the madhyā vein and while doing this, he became stable and started reciting the ten-letter mantra given to him by Hari in earlier times.

मुहूर्तं च जपं कृत्वा ध्यायं ध्यायं पदाम्बुजम्।
ददर्श हृदयाम्भोजे सर्वतेजोमयं मुने॥३२॥
तत्तेजसोऽन्तरे रूपमतीव सुमनोहरम्।
द्विभुजं मुरलीहस्तं भूषितं पीतवाससा॥३३॥
श्रुतिमूलस्थलन्यस्तज्वलन्मकरकुण्डलम्।
ईषद्धास्यप्रसन्नास्यं भक्तानुग्रहकारकम्॥३४॥

O sage, after meditating upon the lotus-like feet of Kṛṣṇa for a muhūrta, he visualised the glorious form of the lord in his heart in the lustre. He had a beautiful form having two arms holding a flute in his hand, wearing pītāmbara, adorned with all the ornaments and the kuṇḍalas in the ears. Hari was having a smile on his face and looked anxious to bestow his grace on his devotees.

यद्दृष्टं ब्रह्मरन्ध्रे च हृदि तद्बहिरेव च।
दृष्ट्वा च परमाश्चर्यं तुष्टाव परमेश्वरम्॥३५॥
यत्स्तोत्रं च पुरा दत्तं हरिणैकार्णवे मुने।
तमीशं तेन विधिना भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः॥३६॥

The form he could visualise in Brahmarandhra, the same form could be seen by him in his heart. Witnessing such a surprise, he started praying to the lord. O sage, the knowledge of the stotra that was imparted to Brahmā in earlier times, the same was recited by him with devotion quite humbly.

ब्रह्मोवाच

सर्वस्वरूपं सर्वेशं सर्वकारणकारणम्।

सर्वमन्त्रस्वरूपं च सर्वसंपत्करं वरम्।
शक्तियुक्तमयुक्तं च स्तौमि स्वेच्छामयं विभुम्॥४१॥

Brahmā said - I bow in reverence to the form of everything, the lord of everyone, cause of all the causes, beyond description and form of welfare. The one who is like the fresh cloud, dark-complexioned, who remains uninvolved in spite of his remaining in all the creatures, who is witness of all, the one who roams in the soul, is all successful, pervades the whole world, remains aloof from the world, the form of all, the seed of all, eternal, the best of all, the base of all, all powerful, adored by all, teacher of all, the cause of all the welfares, the form of all the mantras, bestower of all the riches and prowess. He is endowed with all the riches and is also without them. I adore the lord who is all pervading and moves at will.

सर्वेन्द्रियस्वरूपं च विराट्रूपं नमाम्यहम्।
वेदं च वेदजनकं सर्ववेदाङ्गरूपिणम्॥४५॥

He is extremely powerful, the seed of prowess, the form of prowess, is like the boat of strength in the ocean of the universe, is quite merciful, beloved of the devotees and the great sailor. I adore him offering prayers, the one who is the form of self, secluded, uninvolved, as well as involved, is Brahman having all the qualities and even without them, the one who moves at will, I adore him. The one, who is the supreme god of all the organs of senses, the abode of all the organs of senses, the form of all the organs of senses and the one who happens to possess Virāṭ form, I adore him. The one, who is the form of the Vedas, the creator of the Vedas, the form of post-Vedic literature and the mantras, I adore such a Parameśvara.

सर्वमन्त्रस्वरूपं च नमामि परमेश्वरम्।

गोपिभिः सेव्यमानं च तं धरेशं नमाम्यहम्।
सतां सदैव सन्तं तमसन्तमसतामपि॥४९॥

He is the gist of all the essence, incomplete, inexplicable, independent and dependent, son of Yaśodā, is adored by me. The one who resides in all the bodies, is invisible, beyond controversy, inaccessible even by deep meditation, the teacher of the intellectuals and the yogīs. I adore him. He is the one who resides in the Rāsamaṇḍala, is bliss of the divine dance and is always anxious for the same. He is the one who is served by the cowherdesses and is the lord of the earth, I adore him. The one who is the truth for the noble people and falsehood for the wicked people, the lord of the yogīs, achievable by yogic practices and the one who is adored by Śiva, I adore him.

योगीशं योगसाध्यं च नमामि शिवसेवितम्।
मन्त्रबीजं मन्त्रराजं मन्त्रदं फलदं फलम्॥५०॥
मन्त्रसिद्धस्वरूपं तं नमामि च परात्परम्।

निपत्य दण्डवद्भूमौ रुरोद प्रणनाम च।
ददर्श चक्षुरुन्मील्य विधाता जगतां मुने॥५३॥

The one who is the seed of mantras, the lord of the mantras, the bestower of the mantras and their reward besides being the form of the reward; the one who grants success in the mantras and is beyond everyone, I adore him. The one who is the form of pleasure and pain, bestower of suspiciousness and the one who is the seed of welfare and bestows welfare, I bow before him. Thus the creator of the universe adored lord Kṛṣṇa and returned the cowherd boys to him. He then prostrated before him on the ground and started crying. Thereafter, O sage, he then opened his eyes and found Kṛṣṇa there.

ब्रह्मणा च कृतं स्तोत्रं नित्यं भक्त्या च यः पठेत्।
इह लोके सुखं भुक्त्वा यात्यन्ते श्रीहरेः पदम्॥५४॥
लभते दास्यमतुलं स्थानमीश्वरसंनिधौ।
लब्ध्वा च कृष्णसांनिध्यं पार्षदप्रवरो भवेत्॥५५॥

The one who recites the stotra composed by Brahmā with devotion every day, enjoying all the pleasures of the world ultimately proceeds to the abode of Hari, where he achieves the inaccessible slavehood of the lord. He than attains closeness of the lord and becomes his attendant.

नारायण उवाच

गते जगत्कारणे च ब्रह्मलोके च ब्रह्मणि।
श्रीकृष्णो बालकैः सार्धं जगाम स्वालयं विभुः॥५६॥

Nārāyaṇa said -After the departure of Brahmā, the creator of the universe, Śrī Kṛṣṇa returned to his place together with the cowherd boys.

गावो वत्साश्च जग्मुर्वर्षान्तरे गृहम्।
श्रीकृष्णमायया सर्वे मेनिरे ते दिनान्तरम्॥५७॥

Though the cows, the calves and the boys returned to their home after one year, with the illusion of the lord they thought it to be a single day.

गोपा गोपालिकाः किंचित्तत्कर्तुं नक्षमास्तदा।

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं श्रीकृष्णाचरितं शुभम्।
सुखदं मोक्षदं पुण्यं सर्वकालसुखावहम्॥५९॥

At that point of time the cowherds and cowherdesses could not guess anything. For a yogī everything is artificial and there is nothing old or new for him. Thus I have narrated to you the story of lord Kṛṣṇa which bestows welfare, pleasure, salvation, is auspicious and is always blissful.

Preparation of an Indrayāga by Nanda

नारायण उवाच

एकदाऽऽनन्दयुक्तश्च नन्दो गोपव्रजे मुने।
दुन्दुभिं वादयामास शक्रयागकृतोद्यमः॥१॥
दधि क्षीरं घृतं तक्रं नवनीतं गुडं मधु।

ये ये सन्त्यत्र नगरे गोपा गोप्यश्च बालकाः।
बालिकाश्च द्विजा भूयो वैश्याः शूद्राश्च भक्तितः॥३।

Nārāyaṇa said - O sage, once Nanda delightfully made an announcement in the city at the time of performing of Indrayāga, that all the cowherds, cowherdesses, boys, girls, Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and Śūdras living in Vraja, should bring with devotion, curd, milk, ghee, butter milk, butter, guḍa and honey besides other materials for the adoration of Indra.

इत्येवं श्रावयामास स्वयमेव मुदाऽन्वितः।

ददौ तत्र क्षौमवस्त्रं मालाजालं मनोहरम्।
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमद्रवमेव च॥५॥

Thus making an announcement, he installed a flag-post delightfully in a vast area and it was decorated with silken garments and beautiful garlands of flowers. The face was decorated with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron.

स्नातः कृताह्निको भक्त्या धृत्वा धौते च वाससी।

नानाप्रकारपात्रैश्च ब्राह्मणैश्च पुरोहितैः।
गोपालैर्गोपिकाभिश्च बालाभिः सहबालकैः॥७॥

After taking a bath and completing other daily routines Nanda clad himself in two new garments, washing his lotus-like feet, got himself seated on the golden seat. At that point of time many Brāhmaṇas holding different types of vases, the priests, cowherds, cowherdesses, the boys and the girls also arrived there.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्राऽऽजग्मुर्नगरवासिनः।
महासंभृतसंभारा नानोपायनसंयुताः॥८॥

In the meantime all the people of the city arrived there carrying the materials with them together with various types of presents.

आजग्मुर्मुनयः सर्वे ज्वलन्तो ब्रह्मतेजसा।
सान्ताः शिष्यगणैः सार्धं वेदवेदाङ्गपारगाः॥९॥

The sages well-versed in the Vedic and post-Vedic literature, shining with their divine lustre, having a divine vision also arrived there with their pupils.

गर्गश्च गालवश्चैव शाकल्यः शाकटायनः।
गौतमः करुषः कण्वो वात्स्यः कात्यायनस्तथा॥१०॥
सौभरिर्वामदेवश्च याज्ञवल्क्यश्च पाणिनिः।

ब्राह्मणाश्च कतिविधा भिक्षुका बन्दिनस्तथा।
भूपा वैश्याश्च शूद्राश्च समाजग्मुर्महोत्सवे॥१३॥

He sages like Garga, Gālava, Śākalya, Śakaṭ āyana, Gautama, Karuṣa, Kaṇva, Vātsya, Kātyāyana, Saubhari, Vāmadeva, Yājñavalkya, Pāṇini, Ṛsyaśṛṅga, Gauramukha, Bharadvāja, Vāmana, Kṛṣṇa-dvaipāyana, Śṛṅgī, Sumantu, Jaimini, Kaca, Parāśara, Maitreya, Vaiśampāyana, together with many Brāhmaṇas, beggars, bards, kings, Vaiśyas and Śūdras also arrive to attend the function.

दृष्ट्वा मुनीन्द्रान्नन्दश्च ब्राह्मणान्भूमिपांस्तथा।
स्वर्णपीठात्समुत्तस्थौ व्रजाश्चोत्तस्थुरेव च॥१४॥

Looking at the sages, the Brāhmaṇas and the kings, Nanda got up from the golden pedestal and with him all the people of Vraja also stood up.

प्रणम्य वासयामास मुनीन्द्रान्विप्रभूमिपान्।
तेषामनुमतिं प्राप्य तत्रोवास पुनर्मुदा॥१५॥

Bowing in reverence to the sages, Brāhmaṇas and the kings, he made them seated appropriately and with their permission he also took his seat.

पाकं च यष्टिनिकटे कर्तुमाज्ञां चकार ह।
पाकप्राज्ञं ब्राह्मणानां शतमानीय सादरम्॥१६॥
तत्र रतनप्रदीपाश्च जज्वलुः परितस्तथा।
अन्धीभूतं च धूपेन स्थानं तत्सुरभीकृतम्॥१७॥

He then commanded a hundred Brāhmaṇas, the Brāhmaṇas well-versed in cooking, "You start cooking besides the flag-post." The place was illuminated with burning lamps of diamonds. With the burning of incense, the place was plunged into darkness with its smoke and also filled with fragrance.

नानाविधानि पुष्पाणि माल्यानि विविधानि च।
नैवेद्यं च बहुविधमपूर्वं सुमनोहरम्॥१८॥

O Nārada, the place was filled with various types of flowers, several types of divine eatables, sesamum balls and many other sweets.

तिललड्डुकपूर्णं च मण्डकानां सहस्रकम्।
स्वस्तिकैः परिपूर्णं च यष्टिस्थानं च नारद॥१९॥

O sage, there were thousands of pitchers filled with sugar. The sweet balls were made of the flour of wheat and barley, which were fried by the Brāhmaṇas in ghee. There were several pitchers filled with them. O Nārada, the beautiful bananas which were ripened in the trees themselves and a large quantity of fruits of the season, a lakh of pitchers filled with milk and an equal number of pitchers filled with curd were also lying there.

मधूनां कुम्भशतकं सर्पिः कुम्भसहस्रकम्।
कलशानां त्रिलक्षाणि तक्रपूर्णानि निश्चितम्॥२३॥

There were a hundred pitchers of honey, a thousand pitchers of ghee and three lakh pitchers of butter-milk placed there.

घटानां पञ्चलक्षाणि गुडपूर्णानि निश्चितम्।
तिलतैलेन पूर्णं च कलशानां सहस्रकम्॥२४॥

There were five lakhs of vases filled with guḍa and a thousand vases filled with sesamum oil were available there.

वृषेन्द्राश्च बहुविधा भोगार्हद्रव्यवाहकाः।
नानाविधानि पात्राणि सौवर्णराजतानि च॥२५॥

The consumable articles were transported by bulls and various types of vases of gold and silver were also placed there.

स्वर्णपीठानि च ब्रह्मन्नाजग्मुर्यष्टिसंनिधिम्।
वस्त्राणि वरणार्हाणि चारूणि भूषणानि च॥२६॥

O Brahman, by the side of that flag-post, there were pedestals of gold, beautiful costumes for wearing besides beautiful ornaments.

नानाविधानि वाद्यानि चारूणि मधुराणि च।
वादकाः स्वरयन्त्राणि वादयामासुरुत्सवे॥२७॥

During the festivities, those who played on musical instruments were doing so in a sweet tone issuing various types of tunes.

छागलानां सहस्राणि महिषाणां शतानि च।
मेषकाणां च लक्षाणि ह्यानयामास तत्र वै॥२८॥

Thousands of he-goats, a hundred he-buffaloes and a lakh of sheep were also brought there.

शतान्येव गण्डकानामाजग्मुर्यष्टिसंनिधिम्।
प्रेक्षितानि च सर्वाणि रक्षितानि च रक्षकैः॥२९॥

Hundreds of rhinoceros arrived near the flag-post and several articles were put on show there, well-guarded.

बालकानां बालिकानां वृक्षाणां वृक्षयोषिताम्।
यूनां च युवतीनां च संख्यां कर्तुं च कः क्षमः॥३०॥

Who could count the number of boys, girls, trees, creepers and young boys and young girls?.

गायकानां च संगीतं नर्तकानां च नर्तनम्।
श्रुत्वा दृष्ट्वा जनाः सर्वे मुमुहुः सुमहोत्सवे॥३१॥

In the beautiful function all the people were engrossed in the music and dance festivities.

रम्भोर्वशी मेनका च घृताची मोहिनी रतिः।
प्रभावती भानुमती विप्रचित्तिस्तिलोत्तमा॥३२॥
चन्द्रप्रभा सुप्रभा च रत्नमाला मदालसा।

तासां नृत्येन गीतेन स्तनास्यश्रोणिदर्शनात्।
रूपेण वक्रदृष्ट्या च मूर्च्छां प्रापुश्च मानवाः॥३४॥

O Brahman, in that function Rādhā, Urvaśī, Menakā, Ghṛtācī, Mohinī, Rati, Prabhāvatī, Bhānumatī, Vipracitti, Tilottamā, Candraprabhā, Suprabhā, Ratnamālā, Madālasā and beautiful Reṇukā also arrived. By looking at the dance and music, the breasts, faces and the pelvic region of the damsels and their overall beauty, besides the side-glances, the people got fainted.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे शीघ्रमाजगाम हरिः स्वयम्।
गोपालबालकैः सार्धं बलेन बलशालिना॥३५॥
दृष्ट्वा तं च जनाः सर्वे संभ्रान्ता हर्षविह्वलाः।
उत्तस्थुराराद्भीताश्च पुलकाङ्कितविग्रहाः॥३६॥

In the meantime Gopāla accompanied by valorous Balabhadra arrived there himself. On their arrival and looking at them all the people felt delighted and suddenly got up. Their hair-stood on end and they felt panicky from a distance.

क्रीडास्थानात्समायान्तं शान्तं सुन्दरविग्रहम्।
विनोदमुरलीवेणु शृङ्गशब्दसमन्वितम्॥३७॥
सद्रत्नसारभूषाभिर्भूषितं कौस्तुभेन च।
चन्दनागुरुपङ्केन चर्चितं श्यामविग्रहम्॥३८॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa was returning from the playground, his peaceful appearance was quite charming. The sweet sound of the flute was accompanied by the sound of vīṇā, horn and other musical instruments played at the same time. He was adored with the best of ornaments studded with gems together with the kaustubha gem. His dark-complexioned body was plastered with sandal-paste and aguru.

शरन्मध्याह्नपद्मास्यं पश्यन्तं रत्नदर्पणे।
चारुचन्दनचन्द्रेण कस्तूरीबिन्दुना सह॥३९॥

He was looking at the mirror of diamonds, his face which resembled the glory of the mid-day lotus of the winter season. A spot of kastūrī decorated his forehead on which the sandal-paste was also applied and it looked like the moon.

शशाङ्केन यथाऽऽकाशं भालमध्यविराजितम्।
मालतीमालया श्यामकण्ठवक्षःस्थलोज्ज्वलम्॥४०॥
बकपङ्क्त्या यथाऽऽकाशं शारदीयं सुनिर्मलम्।
चारुणा पीतवस्त्रेण शोभितं श्यामविग्रहम्॥४१॥
विभान्तं विद्युता शश्वन्नवीनं नीरदं यथा।
कुन्दप्रसूनैर्गुञ्जाभिर्बद्धवक्रिमचूडकम्॥४२॥
यथेन्द्रधनुषा भाति विभातं भगणैर्नभः।
रत्नकुण्डलदीप्त्या च स्मितवक्त्रसुशोभितम्॥४३॥

With this on his forehead he seemed as if he was decorated with the moon shining in the sky. He had a dark-complexioned throat, the chest was decorated with the garland of jasmine flowers and was shinning like a line of sky-larks flying in the sky in the winter season. He was clad in pītāmbara which added to the beauty of the dark-complexioned body. It appeared as if lightning appeared from the clouds. He wore a crown on his head which was tilted towards one side, with the peacock feather and the garland of fragrant flowers were decorating it. It appeared as if the rainbow was decorated with the constellation in the sky. His smiling face had the gem-studded kuṇḍalas decorating the ears which emitted lustre like the blossomed lotus flower of the summer season.

शरत्प्रफुल्लपद्मं च द्युमणेः किरणेर्यथा।
विप्रक्षत्रियवैश्याश्च मुनयो बल्लवा मुने॥४४॥
प्रणम्य वासयामासू रत्नसिंहासने शुभे।
उवास रत्नपीठे स तेषां मध्ये जगत्पतिः॥४५॥

यथा बभौ शरच्चन्द्रो ज्योतिषामन्तरे च खे।
श्रुत्वा तमूचुस्ते सर्वे जगतामीश्वरं परम्॥४६॥
स्वेच्छामयं गुणातीतं ज्योतीरूपं सनातनम्।
दृष्ट्वा महोत्सवं शीघ्रमुवाच पितरं हरिः॥
सर्वेषां दुर्लभां नीतिं नीतिशास्त्रविशारदः॥४७॥

O sage, thus looking at him, all the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and cowherds bowed in reverence to him and made him sit on the gem-studded lion-throne. While thus seated on the gem-studded lion-throne, the lord of the universe, looked as if the full moon of the winter season was surrounded by stars. Thus visualising the entire situation all the people said, "O lord of the universe you are beyond qualities, illustrious and eternal." Looking at the festivities Śrī Kṛṣṇa well-versed in the scriptures, at once spoke to his father the words which were inaccessible to all.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

भो भो बल्लवराजेन्द्र किं करोषीह सुव्रत।
आराध्यः कश्च का पूजा किंफलं पूजने भवेत्॥४८॥
फलेन साधनं किं वा कः साध्यः साधनेन च।
देवे रुष्टे भवेत्किं वा पूजायाः प्रतिबन्धके॥४९॥
तुष्टो देवः किं ददाति फलमत्र परत्रकम्।
काचिद्ददात्यत्र फलं परत्रेह न काचन॥५०॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - O lord of the Vallabas and best of the devotees, what is all this you are doing? "Who is your family god?" What is the form of this pūjā? After performing this pūjā what reward shall accrue the reform? And with that reward which one of the tasks would be established? By performing it which one of the desires would be fulfilled? In case this pūjā is not performed what shall be the reaction of the gods and what harm can come to us? And in case he is pleased what type of reward of the world or heaven could be bestowed by the gods on us.

काचिच्च नोभयत्रापि चोभयत्रापि काचन।
अवेदविहिता पूजा सर्वहानिकरण्डिका॥५१॥

Some of the adoration provide us reward for this world only and not beyond the life. Some of the adorations provide no benefit to the performer either in this world or the next, while some of the adorations provide benefit for the present world as well as the future one.

पूजेयमधुना वा ते किमु वा पुरुषक्रमात्।
दृष्टो देवस्त्वया कस्मिन्पूजेयं चानुसारिणी॥५२॥

Such of the adoration which is not prescribed in the Vedas, is bound to cause harm. Is this adoration of modern or ancient origin?.

साक्षात्खादति देवस्ते साक्षात्किं वा न खादति।
साक्षाद्भुङ्क्ते च यो देवः सुप्रशस्तं तदर्चनम्॥५३॥

Where have you visualised the god who is being adored? Does your god consume food in visible and invisible form? Such of the god who appears in visible form, his adoration is blissful.

पृथिव्यां ब्राह्मणा देवा इति वेदे निरूपितम्।
सर्वेषां पूजानात्तात सुप्रशस्तं द्विजार्चनम्॥५४॥

It has been prescribed in the Vedas that the Brāhmaṇas are like the gods for us. O father, the adoration of the Brāhmaṇa is more purposeful than adoring any other gods.

साक्षात्खादति नैवेद्यं विप्ररूपी जनार्दनः।
ब्राह्मणे परितुष्टे च संतुष्टाः सर्वदेवताः॥५५॥

The Brāhmaṇas in the form of Janārdana consumes the offerings. When the Brāhmaṇa is satisfied all the gods get satisfied.

किं तस्य देवपूजायां यो नियुक्तो द्विजार्चने।
पूजिता ब्राह्मणा येन पूजिताः सर्वदेवताः॥५६॥

The one, who engages himself in the adoration of the Brāhmaṇa, for him the adoration of the gods is of no consequence. The one who has adored the Brāhmaṇas had adored all the gods.

देवाय दत्त्वा नैवेद्यं द्विजाय न प्रयच्छति।
भस्मीभूतं च नेवेद्यं पूजनं निष्फलं भवेत्॥५७॥

After offering the food to the gods if the Brāhmaṇa shall not be served with the same, in that case the entire offering is reduced to ashes and the entire adoration becomes of no consequence.

विप्राय देवनैवेद्यदानाद्ध्रुवमनन्तकम्।
तुष्टो देवो वरं दत्त्वा प्रयाति च स्वमन्दिरम्॥५८॥

By offering food to the Brāhmaṇas, one achieves merit without measure and the gods getting pleased dwell in his home.

दत्त्वा देवाय नैवेद्यं मूढो भुङ्क्ते स्वयं यदि।
दत्तापहारी देवस्वं भुक्त्वा च नरकं व्रजेत्॥
देवदत्तं न भोक्तव्यं नैवेद्यं च विना हरेः।
प्रशस्तं सर्वदेवेषु विष्णुनैवेद्यभोजनम्॥५९॥

In case a foolish one offers food to the gods without offering the same to the Brāhmaṇas or consumes himself, then he is termed as one who had stolen the riches of the gods and thereafter he has to fall into hell. Therefore except the food offered to the lord one should not accept the same offered food to the gods. The same would not be eaten by anyone else which is offered to the gods. The food offered to Viṣṇu can be consumed by everyone.

अन्नं विष्ठा जलं मूत्रं यद्विष्णोरनिवेदितम्।
सर्वेषां च क्रममिदं ब्राह्मणानां विशेषतः॥६०॥
न दत्त्वा वस्तु देवाय दत्तं विप्राय चेत्सुधीः।
भुक्त्वा विप्रमुखे देवास्तुष्टाः स्वर्गं प्रयान्ति च॥६१॥

The one, who does not offer food to Viṣṇu, the food and the water so consumed are like refuse and urine. This system has to be followed by everyone but more particularly by the Brāhmaṇas. If an intelligent person without offering the food to the gods offers it to the Brāhmaṇas, then with the food so consumed by the Brāhmaṇas, the gods are pleased and retire to heaven.

तस्मात्सर्वप्रयत्नेन विप्राणामर्चनं कुरु।
प्रशस्तफलदातॄणामिह लोके परत्र च॥६२॥

Therefore, making all the efforts one should adore the Brāhmaṇas because by serving them, one would be benefited in this as well as in the future life.

जपस्तपश्च पूजा वा यज्ञो दानं महोत्सवः।
सर्वेषां कर्मणां सारा विप्रतुष्टिश्च दक्षिणा॥६३॥

The performing of japam, tapas, pūjā, yajña, charities, festivities would end at the serving of Brāhmaṇas to their satisfaction.

ब्राह्मणानां शरीरेषु तिष्ठन्ति सर्वदेवताः।
पादेषु सर्वतीर्थानि पुण्यानि पादधूलिषु॥६४॥

All the gods reside in the body of a Brāhmaṇa and all the holy places dwell in his feet. With the dust of his feet all the merits are achieved.

पादोदके च विप्राणां तीर्थतोयानि सन्ति च।
तत्स्पर्शात्सर्वतीर्थेषु स्नानजन्यफलं लभेत्॥६५॥

The water with which the feet of the Brāhmaṇas are washed, all the holy places reside there. With the very touch of it, one achieves the merits of taking baths in all the holy places.

नश्यन्ति भक्षणाद्रोगा भक्तिभावेन बल्लव।
सप्तजन्मकृतात्पापान्मुच्यन्ते नात्र संशयः॥६६॥

O Ballava, if one consumes with devotion the water of the Brāhmaṇas, all his ailments disappear and he is relieved of all the sins committed by him during the past seven births. There is no doubt about it.

पापं पञ्चविधं कृत्वा यो विप्रं प्रणमेद्बुधः।
स स्नातः सर्वतीर्थेषु सर्वपापात्प्रमुच्यते॥६७॥

The one who bows before the Brāhmaṇa after committing five types of sins, is relieved of all of them like his taking baths in the holy places.

ब्राह्मणस्पर्शमात्रेण मुक्तो भवति पातकी।
दर्शनान्मुच्यते पापादिति वेदे निरूपितम्॥६८॥

With the very touch of the Brāhmaṇa a sinner is relieved of all the sins and by looking at him, all the sins disappear. This has been ordained in the Vedas.

अप्राज्ञो वाऽथ प्राज्ञो वा ब्राह्मणो विष्णुविग्रहः।
प्रियाः प्राणाधिका विष्णोर्ये विप्रा हरिः सेविनः॥६९॥
द्विजानां हरिभक्तानां प्रभावो दुर्लभः श्रुतौ।
येषां पादाब्जरजसा सद्यः पूता वसुंधरा॥७०॥
तेषां च पादचिह्नं यत्तीर्थं तत्परिकीर्तितम्।
तेषां च स्पर्शमात्रेण तीर्थपापं प्रणश्यति॥७१॥
आलिङ्गनात्सदालापात्तेषामुच्छिष्टभोजनात्।
दर्शनात्स्पर्शनाच्चैव सर्वपापात्प्रमुच्यते॥७२॥

All the well-read as well as the foolish Brāhmaṇas represent the body of lord Viṣṇu. Such of the Brāhmaṇas who adore lord Viṣṇu are dearer to the lord than his own life. The influence of the Brāhmaṇas who are devoted to the lord, has been commanded in the Vedas. With the fall of dust from the feet of the Brāhmaṇas, even the sin committed in the holy places vanish. Their embrace, sweet conversation, audience with them and their touch, relieves the people of all the sins.

भ्रमणे सर्वतीर्थानां यत्पुण्यं स्नानतो भवेत्।
हरिदासस्य विप्रस्य तत्पुण्यं दर्शनाल्लभेत्॥७३॥

The merit one gets by visiting all the holy places and taking baths in them, the same merit is achieved with the mere look of the Brāhmaṇa who is devoted to lord Viṣṇu.

ये विप्रा हरये दत्त्वा नित्यमन्नं च भुञ्जते।
उच्छिष्टभोजनात्तेषां हरेर्दास्यं लभेन्नरः॥७४॥

Such of the Brāhmaṇas who always consume food first offering to the lord and by consuming such food a person achieves the slavehood of the lord.

न दत्त्वा हरये भक्त्या भुञ्जते चेद्भ्रमादपि।
पुरीषसदृशं वस्तु जलं मूत्रसमं भवेत्॥७५॥

If anyone consumes the food by mistake without offering first to the lord, it becomes like refuse and the water becomes like wine.

शूद्रश्चेद्धरिभक्तश्च नैवेद्यभोजनोत्सुकः।
आमान्नं हरये दत्त्वा पाकं कृत्वा च खादति॥७६॥

A true devotee of Hari always remains anxious to consume the food after offering the same to the lord. He offers uncooked food to the lord and then consumes the food cooked by him.

विप्रक्षत्रियवैश्यानां शालग्रामशिलार्चने।
अधिकारो न शूद्राणां हरेरप्यर्चने तथा॥७७॥

As the Brāhmaṇas, Kṣatriyas, Vaiśyas and Śūdras have no right to adore Śālagrāma, similarly the Śūdras have no right for adoring Hari.

द्रव्याण्येतानि गोपेन्द्र विप्रेभ्यश्चेन्न दास्यति।
भस्मीभूतानि सर्वाणि भविष्यन्ति न संशयः॥७८॥

O lord of the cowherds, in case all these articles are not given to the Brāhmaṇa, then they will be reduced to ashes. There is no doubt about it.

अन्नं च सर्वजीवेभ्यः पुण्यार्थं दातुमर्हति।
दत्त्वा विशिष्ट जीवेभ्यो विशिष्टं फलमाप्नुयात्॥७९॥

The food can be given to all the people for earning merits but by offering the same to specific personalities, one achieves special merit.

अतो दत्त्वा मानुषेभ्यो लभतेऽष्टगुणं फलम्।
ततो विशिष्टशूद्रेभ्यो दत्त्वा तद्द्विगुणं फलम्॥८०॥

Therefore by offering food to the humans one gets eight times the merits and by offering the same to a special type of Śūdras, one gets double the merit.

दत्त्वाऽन्नं वैश्यजातिभ्यस्ततश्चाष्टगुणं फलम्।
शूद्राणां द्विगुणं पुण्यं वैश्येभ्योऽन्नं प्रदाय च॥८१॥

By offering food to the Vaiśyas, one gets eight time more merits. One gets double the merit by giving food to the Śūdras as compared to the Vaiśyas.

दत्त्वाऽन्नं क्षत्रियेभ्योऽपि वैश्यानां द्विगुणं भवेत्।
क्षत्रियाणां शतगुणं विप्रेभ्योऽन्नं प्रदाय च॥८२॥
विप्राणां च शतगुणं शास्त्रज्ञे ब्राह्मणे फलम्।
शास्त्रज्ञानां शतगुणं भक्ते विप्रे लभेद्ध्रुवम्॥
स चान्नं हरये दत्त्वा भुङ्क्ते भक्त्या च सादरम्॥८३
विष्णवे विप्रभक्ताय दत्त्वा दातुश्च यत्फलम्।
तत्फलं लभते नूनं भक्तब्राह्मणभोजने॥८४॥

One earns double the merit, if in case the food is served to the Kṣatriyas in place of the Vaiśyas. One gets a hundred times more merit by offering food to the Brāhmaṇas as compared to the food given to the Kṣatriyas. In case the food is given to a Brāhmaṇa, well-versed in the scriptures, one achieves a hundred times more merit than serving food to an ordinary Brāhmaṇa. By serving food to a Brāhmaṇa who is devoted to the lord, one achieves a hundred times more merits than giving food to the Brāhmaṇas well-versed in the scriptures. Offering food to Hari one should consume it gracefully. By giving away riches in charity to a Brāhmaṇa devoted to Viṣṇu and the merit one earns by that, the same is achieved by offering food to a Brāhmaṇa devoted to the lord.

भक्ते तुष्टे हरिस्तुष्टो हरौ तुष्टे च देवताः।
भवन्ति सिक्ताः शाखाश्च यथा मूलनिषेचनात्॥८५॥

When the devotee of the lord is pleased, lord Hari himself is pleased, as with the watering of the trees at the roots, the new branches are sprouted.

द्रव्याण्येतानि देवाय यद्येकस्मै प्रयच्छति।
सर्वे देवाश्च रुष्टाश्चेद्देवैः कः किं करिष्यति॥८६॥

In case the eatables are offered to one single god only then the others get annoyed and what shall the lone god do in the presence of all other gods.

अथवाऽर्धं च वस्तूनां देहि गोवर्धनाय च।
गा वर्धयति नित्यं यस्तेन गोवर्धनः स्मृतः॥८७॥

Therefore, you offer half of the eatable material collected now to mountain Govardhana. The mountain is called Govardhana because it increases the flock of cows.

गोवर्धनसमस्तात पुण्यवान्न महीतले।
नित्यं ददाति गोभ्यो यो नवीनानि तृणानि च॥८८॥

O father, there is no one more meritorious than Govardhana on earth, because the same provides fresh grass to the cows daily.

तीर्थस्थानेषु यत्पुण्यं यत्पुण्यं विप्रभोजने।
सर्वव्रतोपवासेषु सर्वेष्वेव तपःसु च॥८९॥
यत्पुण्यं च महादाने यत्पुण्यं हरिसेवने।
भुवः पर्यटने यत्तु सत्यवाक्येषु यद्भवेत्॥९०॥
यत्पुण्यं सर्वयज्ञेषु दीक्षायां च लभेन्नरः।
तत्पुण्यं लभते प्राज्ञो गोभ्यो दत्त्वा तृणानि च॥९१॥

Visit to the holy places, feeding the Brāhmaṇas, performing all the vratas and fasting, service to the lord, going round the earth, being truthful and performing all the yajñas, the person gets great merit but the same merit is achieved by offering green grass to the cows.

भुक्तवन्तीं तृणं यश्च गां वारयति कामतः।
ब्रह्महत्या भवेत्तस्य प्रायश्चित्ताद्विशुध्यति॥९२॥

The one who deliberately prevents a cow from grazing, earns the sin of Brahmahatyā and can be purified after repentance.

सर्वे देवा गवामङ्गे तीर्थानि तत्पदेषु च।
तद्गुह्येषु स्वयं लक्ष्मीस्तिष्ठत्येव सदा पितः॥९३॥

O father, all the gods dwell in all the limbs of the cow, while all the sacred places dwell in her hoofs. Lakṣmī herself dwells in her body.

गोष्पदाक्तमृदा यो ही तिलकं कुरुते नरः।
तीर्थस्नातो भवेत्सद्यो जयस्तस्य पदे पदे॥९४॥
गावस्तिष्ठन्ति यत्रैव तत्तीर्थं परिकीर्तितम्।
प्राणांस्त्यक्त्वा नरस्तत्र सद्यो मुक्तो भवेद्ध्रुवम्॥९५॥
ब्राह्मणानां गवामङ्गं यो हन्ति मानवाधमः।
ब्रह्महत्यासमं पापं भवेत्तस्य न संशयः॥९६॥

The one who applied tilakam on his head from the dust of the hoofs of the cow, earns the merit of having a bath in all the sacred places and faces victory at every step. The place where the cows are kept, becomes like the sacred place and in case one meets his end at that place, he gets redeemed at once. The one who strikes a blow on the limbs of the Brāhmaṇas and the cows, such a wicked person earns the sin of Brahmahatyā. There is no doubt about it.

नारायणांशान्विप्रांश्च गाश्च ये घ्नन्ति मानवाः।
कालसूत्रं च ते यान्ति यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥९७॥

Such of the degraded people who kill the Brāhmaṇas and the cows who are the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇa, have to fall in kālasūtra hell and remain there up to the life of the sun and the moon.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीकृष्णो विरराम च नारद।
आनन्दयुक्तो नन्दश्च तमुवाच स्मिताननः॥९८॥

O Nārada, thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa kept quiet. Thereafter Nanda with a delightful mind said to him, wearing a serene smile on his face.

नन्द उवाच

पौर्वापरीयं पूजेति महेन्द्रस्य महात्मनः।
सुवृष्टिसाधनी साध्यं सर्वसस्यं मनोहरम्॥९९॥

Nārada said - We are performing this traditional pūjā for lord Indra. It is for the cause of good rain and abundance of harvest.

सस्यानि प्राणिनां प्राणाः सस्याज्जीवन्ति जीविनः।
पूजयन्ति व्रजस्थाश्च महेन्द्रं पुरुषक्रमात्॥
महोत्सवं वत्सरान्ते निर्विघ्नाय शिवाय च॥१००॥

The cereals are the life of the people which keep the people alive. The people of Vraja have been performing this pūjā traditionally for Indra. This function is performed at the end of the year for the removal of obstruction and the welfare of all.

इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा बलेन सह माधवः।
उच्चैर्जहास स पुनरुवाच पितरं मुदा॥१०१॥

On hearing these words, Kṛṣṇa together with Balabhadra laughed aloud and joyfully spoke to their father.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

अहो श्रुतं विचित्रं ते वचनं परमाद्भुतम्।
उपहास्यं लोकशास्त्रवेदेष्वेव विगर्हितम्॥१०२॥
निरूपणं नास्ति कुत्र शक्राद्वृष्टिः प्रजायते।
अपूर्वं नीतिवचनं श्रुतमद्य मुखात्तव॥१०३॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - We have listened to your most astonishing and surprising talk, which could be denounced by the people, the scriptures and the Vedas and are nothing short of a joke. It is nowhere prescribed that it rains because of Indra. We have only come to know from your mouth today these unprecedented words.

शृणु नीतिं श्रुतिमतां हे ता नानयं वदेः।
वचनं सामवेदोक्तं सन्तो जानन्ति सर्वतः॥१०४॥

O father, don't indulge in such improper things. You listen to the same council of the intellectuals, the people who are well aware of the words of the Sāmaveda.

प्रश्नं कुरुष्व मन्त्रांश्च बिबुधानपि संसदि।
ब्रुवन्तु परमार्थं च किमिन्द्राद्वृष्टिरेव च॥१०५॥

You kindly consult your courtiers in the assembly and other intellectuals, whether it is Indra alone who causes the rain.

सूर्याद्धि जायते तोयं तोयात्सस्यानि शाखिनः।
तेभ्योऽन्नानि फलान्येवतेभ्यो जीवन्ति जीविनः॥१०६॥

The water is collected by the rays of the sun and from the water, the cereals, the creepers and the trees grow. The cereals and the fruits grow from the same source which provides life to the people.

सूर्यग्रस्तं च नीरं च काले तस्मात्समुद्भवः।
सूर्यो मेघादयः सर्वे विधात्रा ते निरूपिताः॥१०७॥
यत्राब्दे यो जलधरो गजश्च सागरो मतः।
सस्याधिपो नृपो मन्त्री विधात्रा ते निरूपिताः॥१०८॥

The water which is dried up by the sun with its rays, the same causes the rain during the rainy season. The sun and the clouds are the creations of the lord. Such of the clouds which are considered as the elephants the ocean, those who have been declared as the lords of the cereals and the minister; they are all created by the lord.

जलादिकानां सस्यानां तृणानां च निरूपितम्।
अब्देऽब्देऽस्त्येव तत्सर्वं कल्पे कल्पे युगे युगे॥१०९॥

The quantity of greenery, the grass is decided every year besides the water. According to the same decision the process is repeated every year since time immemorial.

हस्ती समुद्रादादाय करेण जलमीप्सितम्।
दद्याद्धनाय तद्द्याद्वातेन प्रेरितो धनः॥११०॥

The sun extracting the water from the ocean hands it over to the clouds and the clouds with the help of the wind drops the rains appropriately on the earth at different times. The water is created with the will of the lord and no obstruction can be created in the process.

भूतं भव्यं भविष्यच्च महत्क्षुद्रं च मध्ययम्।
धात्रा निरूपितं कर्म केन तात निवार्यते॥११२॥

O father, the present, past and future, degraded, mediocre and the high ranking people are created by Brahmā, who can negate it.

जगच्चराचरं सर्वं कृतं तेनेश्वराज्ञया।

He has created this movable and immovable universe at the command of the lord. First of all the arrangement for the food is made and then the jīva appears. With the repetition of the process, the arrangement is called nature. One performs everything by nature and by performing the deeds, people have to face pleasure and pain.

The pain, birth and death, ailment, grief, fear, riches, danger, learnings, poetry, glory, denouncement, merit, living in heaven, sin, living in hell, devotion, deliberation, rage and the slavehood of the lord are achieved by the people according to their karmas.

सर्वेषां जनको हीशश्चाभ्यास: शीलकर्मणाम्।
धातुश्च फलदाता च सर्वं तस्येच्छया भवेत्॥११७॥

The lord is the creator of all. The humble nature and the reward for the deeds performed are given by the lord. Whatever happens, happens due to the will of the lord.

विनिर्मितो विराड्येन तत्त्वानि प्रकृतिर्जगत्।
कूर्मश्च शेषधरणी चाऽऽब्रह्मस्तम्ब एव च॥११८॥

He created Virāṭ, all the tattvas, Prakṛti, globe, tortoise, Śeṣa, Pṛthivī and the creatures right from Brahmā to the straw.

यस्याऽऽज्ञया मरुत्कूर्मं धत्ते शेषं बिभर्ति स:।
शेषो वसुंधरां मूर्ध्ना सा च सर्वं चराचरम्॥११९॥

At the command of the lord the wind supports the tortoise, the tortoise supports Śeṣa and Śeṣa carries the earth on his head and the earth carries all the moveable and immovable creatures.

यस्याऽऽज्ञया सदा याति जगत्प्राणो जगत्त्रये।
तपति भ्रमणं कृत्वा भूगोलं सुप्रभाकर:॥१२०॥

At his command, the wind which is the life of the universe, blows in all the three worlds, the sun with sharp rays burns while moving around.

दहत्यग्नि: संचरते मृत्युश्च सर्वजन्तुषु।
उत्पत्ति: शाखिनां काले पुष्पाणि च फलानि च॥१२१॥

The fire burns, the death overpowers all the creatures; the trees are grown and blossom timely.

स्वे स्वे स्थाने समुद्राश्च तूर्णं मज्जन्त्यधोऽधुना।
तमीशं भज भक्त्या च शक्र: किं कर्तुमीश्वर:॥१२२।

By his command the ocean remains lodged at the proper place and goes down quickly, therefore, the same lord should be adored with devotion. What can Indra do?.

ब्रह्माण्डं च कतिविधमाविर्भूतं तिरोहितम्।
विधयश्च कतिविधा यस्य भ्रूभङ्गलीलया॥१२३॥

With whose frowning, several of the globes playfully come into being and disappear and several of the Brahmā emerge and then disappeared.

मृत्योर्मृत्यु: कालकालो विधातुर्विधिरेव स:।
भज तं शरणं तात स ते रक्षां करिष्यति॥१२४॥

He happens to be the death for the death and death for the god of death and happens to be Brahmā for Brahmā. O father, let us take refuge with him, he will surely protect you.

अहोऽष्टाविंशदिन्द्राणां पतने यदहर्निशम्।

निमेषाद्यस्य पतनं निर्गुणस्याऽऽत्मन: प्रभो:।

Alas, with the fall of twenty eight Indras whose one day is counted and the fall of a hundred and eight Brahmās the creator of the universe, equate with the winking of his eyes and as such the adoration of Indra in preference to such a lord would just be a fallacy.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीकृष्णो विरराम च नारद।
प्रशशंसुश्च मुनयो भगवन्तं सभासद:॥१२७॥

O Nārada, thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa kept quiet, the sages and all other courtiers highly appreciated the words of lord Kṛṣṇa and praised him.

नन्द: सपुलको हृष्ट: सभायां साश्रुलोचन:।
आनन्दयुक्ता मनुजा यदि पुत्रै: पराजिता:॥१२८॥
श्रीकृष्णाज्ञां समाज्ञाय चकार स्वस्तिवाचनम्।
क्रमेण वरणं तत्र सर्वेषां च चकार ह॥१२९॥

Nārada also felt delighted and the hair on his body stood on end, while the tears started flowing from his eyes. When the father gets defeated at the hands of his own son, one achieves a peculiar delight. Nanda accepting the command of lord Kṛṣṇa recited svastivācana invoking all the gods.

पर्वतस्य मुनीन्द्राणां चकार पूजनं मुदा।
बुधानां ब्राह्मणानां च गवां वह्नेश्च सादरम्॥१३०॥

He then adored the mountains and the sages and distributed to the learned Brāhmaṇas the cows and also consecrated fire.

तत्र पूजासमाप्तौ च क्रतौ च सुमुहोत्सवे।
नानाप्रकारवाद्यानां बभूव शब्द उल्वणः।।१३१।।

In the festivities of the yajña when the pūjā came to an end, thundering sounds were heard from all sides.

जयशब्दः शङ्खशब्दो हरिशब्दो बभूव ह।
वेदमङ्गलकाण्डं च पपाठ मुनिपुंगवः।।१३२।।

The sounds of victory echoed in the sky besides the blowing of conches and reciting of the name of Hari. Garga the best of the sages recited the Vedas.

बन्दिनां प्रवरो डिण्डी कंसस्य सचिवः प्रियः।
उच्चैः पपाठ पुरतो मङ्गलं मङ्गलाष्टकम्।।१३३।।

Diṇḍī who was the best of the bards and was very close to Kaṁsa started reciting the verses of welfare in loud voice.

कृष्णः शैलान्तिकं गत्वा भिन्नां मूर्तिं विधाय च।
वस्तु खादामि शैलोऽस्मि वरं वृणिवत्युवाच ह।।१३४।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa went to the Govardhana mountain and taking to another form, he said, "I am the mount Govardhana and am consuming the stuff offered to me. You ask from me.".

उवाच नन्दं श्रीकृष्णः पश्य शैलं पितः पुरः।
वरं प्रार्थय भद्रं ते भविता चेत्युवाच ह।।१३५।।

At that point of time, Śrī Kṛṣṇa said to Nanda, "O father, you look at the mountain in the front and ask for a boon from him which could bestow welfare on you.

हरेर्दास्यं हरेर्भक्तिं वरं वव्रे स बल्लवः।
द्रव्यं भुक्त्वा वरं दत्त्वा सोऽन्तर्धानं चकार ह।।१३६।।

Then Nanda, the chief of the Ballava, prayed to him, "You bestow on me the slavehood of the lord and his devotion." Consuming the eatables and pronouncing a boon that form disappears.

मुनीन्द्रान्ब्राह्मणांश्चैव भोजयित्वा च गोपपाः।
बन्दिभ्यो ब्राह्मणेभ्यश्च मुनिभ्यश्च धनं ददौ।।१३७।।

Nanda, the protector of the cows, served the Brāhmaṇas and the bards with food. He also offered riches to the sages and the Brāhmaṇas.

मुनिभ्यो ब्राह्मणेभ्योऽपि दत्त्वा नन्दो मुदाऽन्वितः।
रामकृष्णौ पुरस्कृत्य सगणः स्वालयं ययौ।।१३८।।

After distributing the riches among the Brāhmaṇas and the sages, Nanda felt delighted and placing Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa ahead of the cowherds, they moved on to their abodes.

रौप्यं वस्त्रं सुवर्णं च वरमश्वं मणिं तथा।
भक्ष्यं द्रव्यं बहुविधं बन्दिने डिण्डिने ददौ।।१३९।।

They also provided the bards with gold, silver, garments, beautiful horses and several other eatables.

स्तुत्वा नत्वा रामकृष्णौ मुनयो ब्राह्मणा ययुः।
ययुरप्सरसः सर्वा गन्धर्वाः किंनरास्तथा।।१४०।।
राजानो बल्लवः सर्वे चाऽऽगता ये महोत्सवे।
सर्वे प्रणम्य श्रीकृष्णं ययुः सादरपूर्वकम्।।१४१।।

All the sages and the Brāhmaṇas retired to their respective abodes after bowing in reverence to Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa. All the apsarās, Gandharvas, Kinnaras, Ballavas who had arrived to participate in the function, returned to their respective abodes bowing before lord Kṛṣṇa.

In the meantime Indra finding the yajña having been disturbed and hearing about his denouncement, was immensely enraged. His lips started fluttering. He, accompanied by the winds and the clouds mounted on the chariot arrived in the city of Nanda located in Vṛndāvana.

सर्वे देवा ययुः पश्चाद्युद्धशास्त्रविशारदाः।
शस्त्रास्त्रपाणयः कोपाद्रथमारुह्य नारद।।१४४।।

O Nārada, thereafter the gods who were well-versed in the warfare also held the weapons in their hands getting enraged and mounting on the chariot, they also went away.

वायुशब्दैर्मेघशब्दैः सैन्यशब्दैर्भयानकैः।
चकम्पे नगरं सर्वं नन्दो भयमवाप ह।।१४५।।

The thundering of the clouds, the blowing of the winds and the sound was created by the terrific movement of the soldiers. The entire populace of the city was frightened together with Nanda.

भार्यां संबोध्य स्वगणमुवाच शोककातरः।
रहःस्थलं समानीय नीतिशास्त्रविशारदः।।१४६।।

Nanda who was well-versed in polity, summoned his wife and attendants in seclusion and spoke to them getting dejected.

नन्द उवाच

रामकृष्णौ समादाय व्रज दूरं व्रजात्प्रिये।।१४७।।

Nanda said - "O Yaśodā, O Rohiṇī, come here and listen to my words. O dear one, you move from here to a distant place from Vraja.

बालका बालिका नार्यो यान्तु दूरं भयाकुलाः।
बलवन्तश्च गोपालास्तिष्ठन्तु मत्समीपतः।।१४८।।

Let the boys and girls besides the ladies also move at some distant place and only the strong people should remain here.

पश्चाच्च निर्गमिष्यामो वयं च प्राणसंकटात्।
इत्युक्त्वा बल्लवश्रेष्ठः सस्मार श्रीहरिं भिया।।१४९।।

We shall leave this place only when we are faced with death." Thus speaking Nanda the best of the Ballavas started reciting the name of Hari in panic.

पुटाञ्जलियुतो भूत्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः।
काण्वशाखोक्तस्तोत्रेण तुष्टाव ह शचीपतिम्।।१५०।।

With folded hands bowing his head he started praising Indra with stotra prescribed in the Kāṇva-śākhā.

Nanda said - O Indra, Surapati, Śakra, Ditija, Pavanāgraja, Sahasrākṣa, Bhagāṅga, Kaśyapāṅgaja, Viḍoujā, Sunāsīra, Marutvān, Pākaśāsana, Jayanta-janaka, Śrīmān, Sacīśa, Daityasūdana, Vajrahasta, Kāmasakhā, destroyer of the vrata of Gautamī, killer of Vṛtrahā, Vāsava, desirous of the body of Dadhīci, Jiṣṇu, brother of Vāmana, Puruhūta, Purandara, Divaspati, Śatamakha, Sutrāmā, Gotrabhid, Vibhu, Lekharṣabha, Balārāti, Jambhabhedī, Surāśraya, Saṁkrandana, Duścyavana, Turāṣāṭ, Meghavāhana, Ākhaṇḍala, Harihaya, killer of Namuci, Vaddhaśravā, Vṛṣa and the destroyer of the pride of the demons. These forty-six names of Indra surely remove the sins.

स्तोत्रमेतत्कौथुमोक्तं नित्यं यदि पठेन्नरः।

Whosoever recites this stotra contained in the Kauthumi-śākhā, Indra protects him holding a vajra during all the dangers.

अतिवृष्टिशिलावृष्टिवज्रपाताच्च दारुणात्।
कदाचिन्न भयं तस्य रक्षिता वासवः स्वयम्।।१५९।।

Since Indra himself becomes the protector, one is not afraid of the excess of rains, hail-storm and the falling of vajra.

यत्र गेहे स्तोत्रमिदं यश्च जानाति पुण्यवान्।
न तत्र वज्रपतनं शिलावृष्टिश्च नारद।।१६०।।

O Nārada, the house in which this auspicious stotra of Indra is recited the same is protected from the falling of vajra as well as the hail-storm.

नारायण उवाच

स्तोत्रं नन्दमुखाच्छ्रुत्वा चुकोप मधुसूदनः।

On hearing the stotra from the mouth of Nanda, Madhusūdana felt enraged. Illumining with the divine lustre, he spoke to his father the most appropriate words, "O coward, to whom are you offering this prayer. Who is Indra? You shed away all the fears in my presence. I can reduce him to dust in a moment.

गाश्च वत्सांश्च बालांश्च योषितो हि भयातुरा:।
गोवर्धनस्य कुहरे संस्थाप्य तिष्ठ निर्भयम्।।१६३।।

Placing the cows, the calves, the boys and the women in the caves of Govardhana, you become free from fear.

बालस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा तच्चकार मुदाऽन्वित:।
हरिर्दधार शैलं तं वामहस्तेन दण्डवत्।।१६४।।

On hearing the words of the boy, Nanda did so with pleasure and lord Kṛṣṇa then lifted up that mountain like a rod upwards.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र दीप्तोऽपि रत्नतेजसा।

O sage, in the meantime the entire place in spite of having been illuminated with the gems, was covered with darkness due to the dust. The clouds accompanied by the wind covered the entire sky and torrential rains started falling in Vṛndāvana.

शिलावृष्टिर्वज्रवृष्टिरुल्कापात: सुदारुण:।

There were hail-storms, rain of vajras and the falling of comets were also seen but strangely enough all these, while touching Govardhana were thrown apart at a distance.

विफलस्तत्समारम्भो यथाऽनीशोद्यमो मुने।
दृष्ट्वा मोघं च तत्सर्वं सद्य: शक्रश्चुकोप ह।।१६८।।

O sage, thus the entire exercise of Indra became infructuous like the effort of an ordinary person. Finding his efforts becoming unsuccessful, Indra was enraged.

जग्राहामोघकुलिशं दधीच्यस्थिविनिर्मितम्।
दृष्ट्वा तं वज्रहस्तं च जहास मधुसूदन:।।१६९।।

He picked up the infallible vajra made of the bones of Dadhīci in his hands. Finding vajra in the hands of Indra Madhusūdana started laughing.

हरिणा जृम्भित: शक्र: सद्यस्तन्द्रामवाप ह।।१७१।।

He made the hands of Indra together with the vajra motionless. He made the hand of Indra holding the vajra motionless. Not only this, the lord also made the clouds to be static together with the gods which made them look like puppets studded in a wall. They at once became motionless. With the rendering of the gods immensely motionless Indra was over-powered by swoon.

ददर्श सर्वं तन्द्रायां तत्र कृष्णमयं जगत्।

चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गमेतत्सर्वं चराचरम्।
दृष्ट्वाऽद्भततमं तत्र सद्यो मूर्छामवाप ह।।१७४।।

In his swoon, Indra witnessed the entire universe in the form of Kṛṣṇa alone. He held flutes in all the hands and was adorned with all the ornaments, clad in pītāmbara, seated on a gem-studded lion-throne, wearing a serene smile on his face, anxious to bestow grace on his devotees and all whose limbs of the body were plastered with sandal-paste. With the sight of this astonishing scene, Indra got fainted.

जजाप मन्त्रं तत्रैव प्रदत्तं गुरुणा पुरा।
सहस्रदलपद्मस्थं ददर्श ज्योतिरुल्बणम्।।१७५।।

He then started reciting the mantra given to him by his teacher. At that point of time, he found a block of lustre on the thousand pettalled lotus.

तत्रान्तरे दिव्यरूपमतीव सुमनोहरम्।

In the meantime he found the great lord having the charming and divine body, the complexion of the new clouds, having the beautiful form, wearing the gem-studded kuṇḍalas, a mukuṭa adorning his head, with the kaustubha gem decorating his chest and the neck, wearing the armlets, anklets and wristlets who projected the same form inside as well as outside. He then started adorning the lord.

Indra said - You are indestructible, the eternal Brahman, form of lustre, eternal, devoid of qualities, formless, having your own will, beyond measure, taking to many forms for the sake of your devotees and appear in different complexions like white, red and yellow and dark according to the exigencies of the lord.

In Satyayuga, your lustre appears in white complexion and stands for truth; in the Tretāyuga, the divine lustre illumines in the saffron complexion; in Dvāpara you have a yellow complexion and are adorned with pītāmbara while in Kaliyuga you have the dark complexion having the name of Kṛṣṇa. In all these forms you happen to be the only great soul.

You are the one who steals away the hearts of the cowherdesses and are dearer to Rādhā than her life. Playfully you hold the flute in your hands, the sound of which echoes everywhere. Your beauty is beyond description, you are clad in the gem-studded ornaments, you are more beautiful then the crores of gods of love, are peaceful, the great lord and indulge in divine plays in Vṛndāvana. You rest you your head on the breasts of Rādhā in a secluded place in Vṛndāvana, while sometimes you indulge in water-sports with her. Sometimes you comb the hair of Rādhā and sometimes you apply paint on the feet of Rādhā, while sometimes you chew the betel already used by Rādhā, delightfully.

Sometimes, you roam about in Vṛndāvana with the cowherdesses and sometimes you move about with Rādhā while at times you move alone.

At places you consume the food provided by the wives of the Brāhmaṇas and sometimes you consume the tāla fruits supplied to you by the boys.

वस्त्रं गोपालिकानां च हरन्तं कुत्रचिन्मुदा।

At times you place your feet on the hood of serpent Kāliya and sometimes you play on the flute with pleasure. Sometimes you sing beautiful song in the company of the cowherd boys. Thus offering prayer to Kṛṣṇa, Indra bowed in reverence to him.

पुरा दत्तेन गुरुणा रणे वृत्रासुरेण च।

दत्तमेतत्कुमाराय पुष्करे ब्रह्मणा पुरा॥१९७॥
कुमारोऽङ्गिरसे दत्तं गुरवेऽङ्गिरसा मुने॥१९८॥

In earlier times Bṛhaspati had given this stotra to Indra at the time of war with Vṛtrāsura. First of all lord Kṛṣṇa compassionately gave it to Brahmā who had performed this eleven-letter mantra together with the kavaca and the stotra. Thereafter, Brahmā gave it to Kumāra in Puṣkara region and Kumāra in turn gave it to Aṅgirā, while Aṅgirā gave it to Bṛhaspati.

Therefore whosoever regularly recites this stotra composed by Indra, achieves the deep devotion and slavehood of the lord undoubtedly. Such a person is freed from the birth, death, old age, disease and grief. He does not have to witness the messengers of Yama or the hell even in dream.

पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गो भक्तिपूर्णाश्रुलोचनः॥२०४॥

All of them took Kṛṣṇa to be the complete Brahman, the lord also returned to his abode together with all the people of Vraja. Nanda felt overwhelmed with delight and his mind was filled with devotion. The tears started emerging out of his eyes. With his heart filled with delight, he adored his son who was eternal Brahman.

नारद उवाच

नमो ब्रह्मण्यदेवाय गोब्राह्मणहिताय च।
जगद्धिताय कृष्णाय गोविन्दाय नमो नमः॥२०५॥

Nanda said - O bestower of welfare, the well-wisher of the cows and Brāhmaṇas and the one who wished well of the entire universe, I bow in reverence to such a Kṛṣṇa also known as Govinda.

नमो ब्रह्मण्यदेवाय ब्रह्मणे परमात्मने।
अनन्तकोटिब्रह्माण्डधामधाम्ने नमोऽस्तु ते॥२०६॥

You are the one who always delights the Brāhmaṇas, the form of Brahman, the eternal great soul, the abode of crores of Brāhmaṇas. I bow in reverence to you.

नमो वत्सादिरूपाणां जीवरूपाया साक्षिणे।

O son, you are the life of the Ādityas, are without any qualities, formless, I bow in reverence to you.

अतिसूक्ष्मस्वरूपाय स्थूलात्स्थूलतमाय च।
सर्वेश्वराय सर्वाय तेजोरूप नमोऽस्तु ते।।२०८।।

You are smaller than the smallest and harder than the hardest, the lord of all, the form of all, lustre of all, I bow in reverence to you.

You are invisible, the one who is difficult to be achieved by the yogīs even after great tapas; you are adorned by Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva, are eternal, adored by people of all the varṇas in all the four yugas, spotless, red, yellow and dark-complexioned, possess qualities; you are the form of yogīs, the form of the form of the yoga, the teacher of the yogīs, lord of the siddhas, form of the siddhas, besides being the teacher of the siddhas, I bow in reverence to you. You are the one who is beyond the prayers of Brahmā and Viṣṇu and even Śiva, Śeṣa, Dharma, Sūrya, Gaṇeśa, Kārttikeya and Sanaka; besides other sages are unable to offer prayer to him. You are the one and even Nara-nārāyaṇa cannot offer their prayers to you. The one who is beyond everyone, then how can a person having no wisdom offer prayer to you.

वेदा न शक्ता नो वाणी न च लक्ष्मीः सरस्वती।
न राधा स्तवने शक्ता किं स्तुवन्ति विपश्चितः।।२१६।

The one who even the Vedas, speech, Lakṣmī, Sarasvatī and Rādhā are unable to offer prayers, then who else can venture to offer prayers to you.

क्षमस्व निखिलं ब्रह्मन्नपराधं क्षणे क्षणे।

ब्रह्मत्वममरत्वं वा सालोक्यादिकमेव वा।
त्वत्पदाम्भोजदास्यस्य कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्।।२१९।।

O Brahman, I am feeling sinful at every moment; therefore you kindly forgive me. O ocean of mercy, well-wisher of the down-trodden, you kindly protect me in the ocean of the universe. In the earlier time, I had performed great tapas and after visiting holy places, I achieved you as a son. You kindly bestow the devotion of your lotus-like feet and your slavehood.

इन्द्रत्वं वा सुरत्वं वा संप्राप्ति सिद्धिस्वर्गयोः।
राजत्वं चिरजीवित्वं सुधियो गणयन्ति किम्।।२२०।।

The Brahmanhood, eternalship and the salvations like Sālokya do not weigh even one-sixteenth part of the pleasure of achieving your slavehood. Then the place of Indra, the god-hood, the siddhis, heaven, the kingship and long life shall be of no consequence.

एतद्यत्कथितं सर्वं ब्रह्मत्वादिकमीश्वर।
भक्तसङ्गक्षणार्धस्य नोपमा ते किमर्हति।।२२१।।

Whatever has been spoken by me about Brahman does not compare to the pleasure one achieves by keeping the company of your devotees even for a moment.

त्वद्भक्तो यस्त्वत्सदृशः कस्त्वां तर्कितुमीश्वरः।
क्षणार्धालापमात्रेण पारं कर्तुं स चेश्वरः।।२२२।।

Because your devotees are always like you. Then who can measure your glory? By talking to your devotees even for half of a moment, it makes one to cross over the ocean of the universe.

भक्तसङ्गाद्भवत्येव भक्तिं कर्तुमनेकधा।
त्वद्भक्तजलदालापजलसेकेन वर्धते।।२२३।।

Keeping the company of your devotees, the devotion always sprouts, in the form of the clouds like your devotees and the conversation with them seems like the pouring of rain and with the supply of that water, the devotion in one's mind sprouts.

अभक्तालापतापात्तु शुष्कतां याति तत्क्षणम्।
त्वद्गुणस्मृतिसेकाच्च वर्धते तत्क्षणे स्फुटम्।।२२४।।

Such of the people who are not devoted to the lord, sprouting dries away while talking to them and with the watering of the same reciting the glory of the lord and his devotees, they go on increasing.

त्वद्भक्त्यङ्कुरमुद्भूतं स्फीतं मानसजं परम्।
न नश्यं वर्धनीयं च नित्यं नित्यं क्षणे क्षणे।।२२५।।

When the devotion in one's mind appears and grows up, then it never vanishes, it always continues to increase every moment and every day.

ततः संप्राप्य ब्रह्मतवं भक्तस्य जीवनाय च।
ददात्येव फलं तस्मै हरिदास्यमनुत्तमम्।।२२६।।

Thereafter such a devotee achieves the highest stage of Brahman and for his welfare, the eternal slavehood is bestowed on him.

संप्राप्य दुर्लभं दास्य यदि दासो बभूव ह।
सुनिश्चयेन तेनैव जितं सर्वं भयादिकम्।।२२७।।

When some one becomes the slave of the lord, achieving the inaccessible slavehood, he is freed from all the fetters.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा भक्त्या च नन्दस्तस्थौ हरेः पुरः।
प्रसन्नवदनः कृष्णो ददौ तस्मै तदीप्सितम्।।२२८।।

With his mind filled with devotion Nanda spoke all this and thereafter he stood before the lord. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa wearing a smile on his face bestows the desired boon to him.

एवं नन्दकृतं स्तोत्रं नित्यं भक्त्याच यः पठेत्।
सुदृढां भक्तिमाप्नोति सद्यो दास्यं लभेद्धरेः।।२२९।।

Thus whosoever recites with devotion the stotra recited by Nanda, with deep devotion achieves the slavehood of the lord.

तपस्तप्त्वा यदा द्रोणस्तीर्थे च धरया सह।
स्तोत्रं तस्मै पुरा दत्तं ब्रह्मणा तत्सुदुर्लभम्।।२३०।।
हरेः षडक्षरो मन्त्रः कवचं सर्वरक्षणम्।
इह सौभरिणा दत्तं तस्मै तुष्टेन पुष्करे।।२३१।।
तदेव कवचं स्तोत्रं स च मन्त्रः सुदुर्लभः।
ब्रह्मर्णोऽशेन मुनिना नन्दाय च तपस्यते।।२३२।।
मन्त्रः स्तोत्रं च कवचमिष्टदेवो गुरुस्तथा।
या यस्य विद्या प्राचीना न तां त्यजति निश्चितम्।।२३३।।
इत्येवं कथितं स्तोत्रं श्रीकृष्णाख्यानमद्भुतम्।
सुखदं मोक्षदं सारं भवबन्धविमोचनम्।।२३४।।

In the earlier times Droṇa was performing tapas with Dharā in Puṣkara region and this inaccessible stotra was bestowed by Brahmā to them. In this world, the sage Saubhari with an extremely delightful mind gave to Brahmā the six letter mantra of Hari together with the base of kavaca. The same kavaca, the same stotra and the same inaccessible mantra was given by Garga to Nanda who was engaged in tapas. In earlier times the one who achieved whichever mantra, stotra, kavaca, the family god, teacher and the learnings, the same person never parted. Thus the story of Kṛṣṇa as well as his stotra has been spelt out which bestow pleasure, salvation, essence of all and relieves one of the worldly bondages.

Chapter - 22

Killing of Dhenukāsura

नारायण उवाच

एकदा राधिकानाथो बलेन सह बालकै:।
जगाम तत्तालवनं परिपक्वफलान्वितम्।।१।।
वृक्षाणां रक्षिता दैत्य: खररूपी च धेनुक:।
कोटिसिंहसमबलो देवानां दर्पनाशन:।।२।।

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Kṛṣṇa, the lord of Rādhikā accompanied by Balabhadra and other boys went to the tāla forest which was filled with ripe fruits. Dhenukāsura in the form of a donkey used to guard the forest trees. It possessed the strength of crores of lions and could reduce the pride of the gods to ashes.

शरीरं पर्वतसमं कूपतुल्ये च लोचने।
ईषापङ्क्तिसमा दन्तास्तुण्डं पर्वतगह्वरम्।।३।।
शतहस्तपरिमिता जिह्वा लोला भयानका।
कासारसदृशी नाभि: शब्दस्तस्य भयानक:।।४।।

It had a mountain like body and both the eyes resembled well. His teeth resembled the plough-shaft and the mouth looked like a mountain cave, his wavering and terrific tongue was a hundred feet in length and his navel looked like a pond. He uttered a terrific sound.

दृष्ट्वा तालवनं बाला हर्षमापुरनिन्दिता:।
कौतुकात्कृष्णमूचुस्ते स्मेराननसरोरुहा:।।५।।

The boys were delighted at the sight of the tāla forest and a smile appeared on their faces, playfully they spoke to Kṛṣṇa.

बाला ऊचु:

हे कृष्ण करुणासिन्धो दीनबन्धो जगत्पते।
महाबल बलभ्रात: समस्तबलिनां वर।।६।।
अवधानं कुरु विभो क्षणार्धं नो निवेदने।
क्षुधितानां शिशूनां च भक्तानां भक्तवत्सल।।७।।

The boys said- O Kṛṣṇa, the ocean of mercy and brother of the down-trodden, the lord of the universe, possessor of great strength, brother of Balabhadra and the best of the boys. O virtuous one, you kindly pay attention to our request for a moment. You love your devotees, all the children are suffering from hunger. .

स्वादूनि सुन्दराण्येव पश्य तालफलानि च।
भङ्क्तुं चालयितुं वृक्षान्पातितुं च फलानि च।।८।।
नानावर्णानि पुष्पाणि पक्वानि दुर्लभानि च।
आज्ञां करोषि चेत्कृष्ण चेष्टां कर्तुं वयं क्षमा:।।९।।

You look at the delicious tāla fruits in the forest. We intend to pluck the fruit and make the flowers of various colours to fall on to the earth by shaking the trees together with the ripe fruits. O Kṛṣṇa, if you permit us we can make an attempt.

किं त्वत्र दैत्यो बलवान्खररूपी च धेनुक:।
अजितस्त्रिदशै: सर्वैर्महाबलपराक्रम:।।१०।।
दुर्निवार्यश्च सर्वेषां कंसस्य सचिवो महान्।
हिंसक: सर्वजन्तूनां वनानामस्ति रक्षिता।।११।।

But the valorous demon Dhenuka in the form of a donkey is guarding the forest. He is invincible from the gods, is immensely valorous and beyond control. He happens to be the chief minister of (Kaṁsa and kiils all the creatures.

सुविचार्य जगत्कान्त वद नो वदतां वर।
युक्तं कार्यमयुक्तं वा कर्तव्यमथवा न वा।।१२।।
बालकानां वच: श्रुत्वा भगवान्मधुसूदन:।
उवाच मधुरं बालान्वचनं तत्सुखावहम्।।१३।।

O lord of the universe, O best of the speakers, you only think over or request carefully and tell us whether our effort would be proper or improper. Whether we should make an attempt or not. On hearing the words of the boys, lord Madhusūdana spoke to them in quite sweet and pleasant words.

किं वो दैत्याद्भयं बाला यूयं मत्सहचारिण:।
वृक्षान्भङ्क्त्वा चालयित्वा फलानि खादताभयम्।।१४।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O boys, when you always live with me then why should you be afraid of a demon; you go shake the tress and breaking them eat the fruit.

श्रीकृष्णाज्ञां समादाय बालका बलशालिन:।
उत्पेतुर्वृक्षशिखरं क्षुधितांश्च फलार्थिन:॥१५॥

Getting the permission from Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the valorous boys because of being hungry climbed the trees for plucking the fruits.

नानाप्रकारवर्णानि स्वादूनि सुन्दराणि च।
फलानि पातयामासु: परिपक्वानि नारद॥१६॥

O Nārada, they started dropping many of the delicious, beautiful and ripe fruits and dropping them on the ground.

केचिद्बभञ्जुर्वृक्षांश्च चालयामासुरेव च।
केचित्कोलाहलं चक्रुर्ननृतुस्तत्र केचन॥१७॥
अवरुह्य तरुभ्यश्च बालका बलशालिन:।
फलान्यादाय गच्छन्तो ददृशुर्दैत्यपुंगवम्॥१८॥
महाबलं महाकायं घोरं गर्दभरूपिणम्।
आगच्छन्तं महावेगात्कुर्वन्तं शब्दमुल्बणम्॥१९॥

The boys broke the trees and shook them badly. Some of them started making a noise while others started dancing. When the valorous boys got down from the trees and were about to move with the fruit they found the valorous demon in the form of a donkey with a gigantic and terrific body creating a terrific sound rushing towards the boys.

तं दृष्ट्वा रुरुदु: सर्वे फलानि तत्यजुर्भिया।
कृष्ण कृष्णेति शब्दं च प्रचक्रुर्बहुधा भृशम्॥२०॥

At the sight of the demon, all the boys started crying being terror-stricken uttering the name of Kṛṣṇa again and again.

अस्मान्रक्ष समागच्छ हे कृष्ण करुणानिधे।
हे संकर्षण नो रक्ष प्राणा नो यान्ति दानवात्॥२१॥

They said, O Kṛṣṇa, O ocean of mercy, you arrive here and save us. O Saṁkarṣaṇa you protect us other- wise this demon will kill us.

हे कृष्ण हे कृष्ण हरे मुरारे गोविन्द दामोदर दीनबन्धो।
गोपीश गोपेश भवार्णवेऽस्माननन्त नारायण रक्ष रक्ष॥२२

O Kṛṣṇa, O Hari, O Murāri, O Govinda, O Dāmodara, brother of the down-trodden, lord of all the cowherdesses, the lord of the cowherds, beyond measure, Nārāyaṇa, you protect us in the ocean of universe.

भयेऽभये वाऽथ शुभेऽशुभे वा.
सुखेषु दु:खेषु च दीननाथ।
त्वया विनाऽन्यं शरणं भवार्णवे.
न नोऽस्ति हे माधव रक्ष रक्ष॥२३॥

O lord of the down-trodden, O Mādhava, there is no one else to take care of us a the time of fear and without fear, at the good and bad times or in pleasure and pain. There is no one else who could provide protection to us. Therefore you protect us from the ocean of the universe.

जय जय गुणसिन्धो कृष्ण भक्तेकबन्धो.
बहुतरभययुक्तान्बालकान्रक्ष रक्ष।
जहि दनुजकुलानामीशमस्माकमन्तं.
सुरकुलबलदर्पं वर्धयेमं निहत्य॥२४॥

O ocean of the virtues, O Kṛṣṇa, you are the only well-wisher of the devotees. We all the boys are getting terrified and therefore you protect us. He happens to be the lord of the race of demons by killing him you can increase the prestige of the gods.

बालानां विक्लवं दृष्ट्वा बलेन सह माधव:।
आजगाम शिशुस्थानं भयहा भक्तवत्सल:॥२५॥

Finding the boys upset, the lord Kṛṣṇa who is the remover of the danger, the one who showers grace on his devotees, accompanied by Balabhadra, reached near the boys.

भयं नास्ति भयं नास्तीत्युक्त्वा दुद्राम सत्वरम्।
ईषद्धास्यप्रसन्नास्यो निर्भयं दत्त्वाञ्छिशून्॥२६॥

Wearing a smile on their faces both of them rushed to the boys and delightfully reassured them.

दृष्ट्वा कृष्णं बलं बाला ननृतुर्विजहुर्भयम्।
हरिस्मृतिश्चाभयदा सर्वमङ्गलदायिका॥२७॥

Finding Kṛṣṇa and Balabhadra there all the boys became fearless and they started dancing because the reciting of the name of the lord provides protection and complete welfare.

श्रीकृष्णो दानवं दृष्ट्वा ग्रसन्तं पुर: शिशून्।
बलं संबोध्य बलिनमुवाच मधुसूदन:॥२८॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa finding the demon denouncing the boys, Madhusūdana spoke to mighty Balabhadra.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

दानवो बलिपुत्रोऽयं नाम्ना साहसिको बली।
गर्दभो ब्रह्मशापेन शप्तो दुर्वाससा पुरा॥२९॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- He happens to be the son of immensely valorous demon Bali who was cursed in earlier times by Durvāsā. With that curse he was turned into a donkey.

पापिष्ठो मम वध्योऽयं महाबलपराक्रमः।
अहमेनं वधिष्यामि त्वं रक्ष बालकान्बल॥३०॥

O Balabhadra, he is extremely sinful and possesses great strength also. Therefore he has to be killed by me. I shall kill him. You better protect these boys.

आदाय बालकान्सर्वान्दूरं गच्छेत्युवाच ह।
तान्गृहीत्वा बलः शीघ्रं जगाम त्वरयाऽऽज्ञया॥३१॥

Accompanied with the boys you move to a distant place. Thereafter Balabhadra at the command of Kṛṣṇa moved with the boys to a distant place.

दृष्ट्वा कृष्णं दानवेन्द्रो महाबलपराक्रमः।
जग्रास लीलया कोपाज्ज्वलदग्निशिखोपमम्॥३२॥
बभूवातिदाहयुक्तो मर्तुकामोऽतितेजसा।
उज्जग्रास पुनर्दैत्यो विभुं तेजस्विनं भिया॥३३॥

But after swallowing Kṛṣṇa, the inside of the body of the demon started burning because of the immense lustre of the lord; getting terrified the demon vomited out the illustrious lord.

उज्झितं सन्तमीशं च दृष्ट्वा दैत्यो मुमोच ह।
अतीव सुन्दरं शान्तं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा॥३४॥
कृष्णादर्शनमात्रेण बभूवास्य पुरास्मृतिः।
आत्मानं बुबुधे कृष्णं जगतां कारणं परम्॥३५॥
तेजःस्वरूपमीशं तं दृष्ट्वा तुष्टाव दानवः।
यथागमं यथाजन्म गुणातीतं श्रुतेः परम्॥३६॥

He looked at the lord when he was emerging out of his body being extremely beautiful, peaceful and having divine lustre. At the sight of Kṛṣṇa, he was reminded of the events of his earlier birth. He then recognised himself as well as the one who happens to be the cause of the universe. Looking at the illustrious lord he started offering prayer to him .

दानव उवाच

वामनोऽसि त्वमंशेन मत्पितुर्यज्ञभिक्षुकः।
राज्यहर्ता च श्रीहर्ता सुतलस्थलदायकः॥३७॥

The demon said- With your aṁśa you appeared in the form of Vāmana who became a beggar in the yajña of my fathers; you happen to be the usurper of his kingdom and glory and had bestowed the kingship of the under world to my father.

बलिभक्तिवशो वीरः सर्वेशो भक्तवत्सलः।
शीघ्रं त्वं हिन्धि मां पापं शापाद्गर्दभरूपिणम्॥३८॥

You are devoted to Bali, are quite valorous, the lord of everyone, while your devotees are loved by you; therefore you kindly relieve a sinful person like me from this form of a donkey.

मुनेर्दुर्वाससः शापादीदृशं जन्म कुत्सितम्।
मृत्युरुक्तश्च मुनिना त्वत्तो मम जगत्पते॥३९॥

O lord of the universe, I had achieved this form because of the curse of Durvāsā who had also foretold my about death at your hands.

षोडशारेण चक्रेण सुतीक्ष्णेनातितेजसा।
जहि मां जगतां नाथ सद्भक्तिं कुरु मोक्षद॥४०॥

O lord of the universe, O giver of the salvation, you shoot the extremely sharp cakra or sixteen arrows for killing me and provide me the salvation.

त्वमंशेन वराहश्च समुद्धर्तुं वसुंधराम्।
वेदानं रक्षिता नाथ हिरण्याक्षनिषूदनः॥४१॥

O lord, you had also appeared from your aṁśa as an incarnation of Varāha and redeemed this earth, saved the Vedas and killed Hiraṇyākṣa.

त्वं नृसिंहः स्वयं पूर्णो हिरण्यकशिपोर्वधे।
प्रह्लादानुग्रहार्थाय देवानां रक्षणाय च॥४२॥

You are complete Paramātmā and killing Hiraṇyakśipu bestowed your grace on Prahlāda and took to the form of Nṛsiṁha for the protection of the gods.

त्वं च वेदोद्धारकर्ता मीनांशेन दयानिधे।
नृपस्य ज्ञानदानाय रक्षायै सुरविप्रयो:॥४३॥

O ocean of mercy, you appeared from your aṁśa in the from of a fish and protected the Vedas and providing knowledge to the king saved the Brāhmaṇas.

शेषाधारश्च कूर्मस्त्वमंशेन सृष्टिहेतवे।
विश्वाधारश्च विश्वस्त्वमंशेनापि सहस्रधृत्॥४४॥

You also appeared in the form of a tortoise from your aṁśa and also appeared in the from of Seṣa and carried the load of the entire universe over your head.

रामो वाशरथिस्त्वं च जानक्यूद्धारहेतवे।
दशकंधरहन्ता च सिन्धौ सेतुविधायक:॥४५॥

For the redemption of Jānakī you were born as Rāma, the son of Daśaratha. Constructing a bridge on the ocean, you killed Rāvaṇa having ten faces.

कलया परशुरामश्च जमदग्निसुतो महान्।
त्रि:सप्तकृत्वो भूपानां निहन्ता जगतीपते॥४६॥

O lord of the universe, with your rays you appeared as Paraśurāma the son of Jamadagni, relieved the earth of the Kṣatriya kings.

अंशेन कपिलस्त्वं च सिद्धानां च गुरोर्गुरु:।
मातृज्ञानप्रदाता च योगशास्त्रविधायक:॥४७॥

Kapila was born from your aṁśa who happened to be the teacher of siddhas and was the propounder of Yogaśāstra bestowing the divine knowledge to his mother.

अंशेन ज्ञानिनां श्रेष्ठौ नरनारायणावृषी।
त्वं च धर्मसुतो भूत्वा लोकविस्तारकारक:॥४८॥

Nara-nārāyaṇa the best of the sages was also born of your aṁśa. In the form of Dharamputra you expanded the universe.

अधुना कृष्णरूपस्त्वं परिपूर्णतम: स्वयम्।
सर्वेषामवताराणां बीजरूप: सनातन:॥४९॥

Presently you have yourself appeared in the from of Kṛṣṇa and you happen to be the seed of all the eternal incarnations.

यशोदाजीवनो नित्यो नन्दैकानन्दवर्धन:।
प्राणाधिदेवो गोपीनां राधाप्राणाधिकप्रिय:॥५०॥

वसुदेवसुत: शान्तो देवकीदु:खभञ्जन:।
अयोनिसंभव: श्रीमान्पृथिवीभारहारक:॥५१॥
पूतनायै मातृगतिं प्रदाता च कृपानिधि:।
बककेशिप्रलम्बानां ममापि मोक्षकारक:॥५२॥

You are the life of Yaśodā, eternal increase the delight of Nanda the lord of the lives of the cowherdesses and are dearer to Rādhā than her life you are the son of Vasudeva, peaceful, remover of the pain of Devakī, born without human contact, possessor of all the riches, remover of the burden of the earth, providing the graceful place to Pūtanā like a mother. You are merciful and are the one who provided salvation to skylark, Keśī, Pralamba and myself.

स्वेच्छामय गुणातीत भक्तानां भयभञ्जन।
प्रसीद राधिकानाथ प्रसीद कुरु मोक्षणम्॥५३॥

You move at will, are beyond qualities, remover or the fear or the devotees, O lord of Rādhikā, be pleased with me and grant me redemption.

हे नाथ गार्दभीयोने: समुद्धर भवार्णवात्।
मूर्खस्त्वद्भक्तपुत्रोऽहं मामुद्धर्तुं त्वमर्हसि॥५४॥

O lord, you kindly provide salvation to me from the ocean of the universe and the form of a donkey. I happen to be the foolish son of your devotee. You provide redemption to me.

वेदा ब्रह्मादयो यं च मुनीन्द्रा: स्तोतुमक्षमा:।
किं स्तौमि तं गुणातीतं पुरा दैत्योऽधुना खर:॥५५॥

The one whose glory cannot be recited by the Vedas, Brahmā and other gods and the sages how can a person like me offer prayer to such a lord, who was earlier a demon and now a donkey.

एवं कुरु कृपासिन्धो येन मे न भवेज्जनु:।
दृष्ट्वा पादारविन्दं ते क: पुनर्भवनं व्रजेत्॥५६॥

O ocean of mercy, now move in such a way by which I shall not have to be born on earth, who would desire to return to his come after looking at your feet?.

ब्रह्मा स्तोता खर: स्तोता नोपहासितुमर्हसि।
सदीश्वरस्य विज्ञस्य योग्यायोग्ये समा कृपा॥५७॥

The one who is adored by Brahmā, the same lord is being adored by a mere donkey, which is quite laughable because the lord bestows this grace equally on all.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा दैत्येन्द्रस्तस्थौ च पुरतो हरेः।
प्रसन्नवदनः श्रीमानतितुष्टो बभूव ह॥५८॥
इदं दैत्यकृतं स्तोत्रं नित्यं भक्त्या च यः पठेत्।
सालोक्यसार्ष्टिसामीप्यं लीलया लभते हरेः॥५९॥
इह लोके हरेर्भक्तिमन्ते दास्यं सुदुर्लभम्।
विद्यां श्रियं सुकवितां पुत्रपौत्रान्यशो लभेत्॥६०॥

नारायण उवाच

श्रुत्वाऽनुमेने दैत्येन्द्रस्तवनं करुणानिधिः।
कथं करोमि संहारमीदृशं भक्तमित्यहो॥६१॥

Thus speaking the demon stood before the lord, his face was looking quite graceful and satisfied. The one who recites this stotra composed by the demon he achieves the place of Hari the fortunes and his closeness without much effort. He achieves the devotion of lord during this world and ultimately he attains the inaccessible place of Hari besides learnings, riches, the best of poetry, sons and grandsons beside the glory. Nārāyaṇa said- the merciful lord on hearing the prayer of the Daitya Kṛṣṇa started thinking in his mind as to how to kill such devotee of mine.

अनुमन्य स्मृतिं तस्य संजहार हरिः स्वयम्।
न हि युक्तो वधः स्तोतुर्दुर्वक्तुर्विधिरीश्वरात्॥६२॥

Thus thinking the lord himself made his memory to vanish because the one who offers prayer cannot be killed and only the one, who uttered harsh words, is killed by the lord, This has been provided in the scriptures.

दानयो मायया विष्णोर्विसस्मार पुनः स्वकम्।
दुरुक्तिस्तत्कण्ठदेशे ह्यधिष्ठानं चकार ह॥६३॥

Influenced by the illusion of lord Viṣṇu the demon forgot about himself and harsh words dwelt in his throat.

उवाच श्रीहरिं दैत्यः कोपात्प्रस्फुरिताधरः।
मुने सद्यो मर्तुकामो दैवग्रस्तो विचेतनः॥६४॥

Thereafter the demon desirous of his immediate death, having lost his wisdom, was filled with anger and his lips started fluttering in rage. Me then spoke to lord Hari.

दैत्य उवाच

ध्रुवं त्वं मर्तुकामोऽसि दुर्बुद्धे मानवार्भक।
अद्य प्रस्थापयिष्यामि त्वामहं यममन्दिरम्॥६५॥

Deity a said- O son of a human, devoid of wisdom you indeed intend to die at my hands. I can dispatched you to the place of Yama today.

आयासि जीवनाकाङ्क्षी मम तालवनं शिशो।
न यास्यसि पुनर्गेहं बान्धवं न हि द्रक्ष्यसि॥६६॥
न कंसो न जरासंधो नरको न समो मम।
देवाः कम्पन्ति मे नित्यं के चान्ये मत्समा भुवि॥६७॥

O boy, having reached in my tāla forest, you want to escape alive. You will not be able to return home nor would you be able to meet your relatives. Kaṁsa, Jarāsandha and Naraka could not be equated with me. Even the gods tremble in fear with the hearing of my name who is there like me on the earth.

न हि संहारकर्त्ता च मां संहर्तुं क्षमः शिवः।
न च ब्रह्मा न विष्णुश्च न मृत्युः काल एव च॥६८॥

Śiva the destroyer of the universe cannot destroy me. Even Brahmā, Viṣṇu and the god of death are not in a position to cause any harm to me.

मम तालतरून्भङ्क्त्वा पातयित्वा फलानि च।
अहंकरोषि सहसा किमहो कस्य तेजसा॥६९॥
कस्त्वं वद बटो सत्यं कमनीयोऽतिसुन्दरः।
दुर्लभं जीवनं दातुं मह्यं कथमिहागतः॥७०॥
इत्युक्त्वा मस्तके कृत्वा प्रेरयित्वा तु तं बली।
दूरतः पातयामास श्रीकृष्णं मरणोन्मुखः॥७१॥
पातयित्वा च तं भूमौ विषाणाभ्यां जघान सः।
कृष्णाङ्गस्पर्शमात्रेण तद्विषाणे बभञ्जतुः॥७२॥

Breaking my tāla trees and dropping the fruits, on what basis are you feeling so proud. O son, tell me truthfully who are you? You are quite charming and beautiful. Why have you arrived here to offer your life to me? Thus speaking the valorous demon who was standing at the death's door, lifted Kṛṣṇa on his head and threw him at a distance, by making him fall on the ground. He them struck him with his horns. But with the touch of the body of Kṛṣṇa his horns were broken.

दैत्यो भग्नविषाणश्च तमीशं कोपयन्मुने।

जग्रास चर्वणं कर्तुं भग्नदन्तो बभूव ह॥७३॥

O sage, after the breaking of the horns, the demon was annoyed and he caught hold of Kṛṣṇa in order to chew him. But while doing so all his teeth were broken.

तेजसा दग्धवक्त्रश्च तमुज्जग्राह तत्क्षणे।

जज्वाल व्यथितः कोपाद्ददार खुरतो महीम्॥७४॥

With the lustre of Kṛṣṇa his mouth was burnt out and he swallowed him at once. He than started burning with anger and went on digging earth with his hoofs.

घूर्णयित्वा तु लाङ्गूलं शब्दं कृत्वा भयानकम्।

स जगाम शिशुस्थानं दुद्रुवुर्बालका भिया॥७५॥

Moving his tail, creating deafening sound he rushed towards the boys who started running away.

बलं च प्रेरयामास मस्तकेन महाबली।

बलो मुष्टिं ददौ तस्मै मूर्छामाप ततोऽसुरः॥७६॥

Thereafter Balabhadra pushed the powerful demon aside and struck him with a fist result of which the demon was fainted.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य जगाम हरिसंनिधिम्।

बलमुष्ट्या च व्यथितः पुनर्मूर्च्छामवाप सः॥७७॥

पुनश्च चेतनां प्राप्य समुत्तस्थौ व्यथाकुलः।

उत्ससर्ज बृहल्लेण्डं मूत्रं च भयमाप ह॥७८॥

Regaining consciousness in a moment, he went towards the lord and was again fainted with the blow of the fist by Balabhadra. On regaining consciousness he felt painful, but still he got up and in fear he started dropping urine and refuse.

क्षणात्संधिक्षणं प्राप्य महाबलपराक्रमः।

कृत्वा शिरसि गोविन्दं घूर्णयामास दानवः॥७९॥

After resting for a while, the valorous and highly strong demon lifted Govinda on his head and started roaming about.

पातयामास भूमौ तं घूर्णयित्वा पुनः पुनः।

उत्पाट्य तालवृक्षं तं ताडयामास माधवः॥८०॥

Moving him in a circular manner again and again, he then dropped him on the ground. Thereafter Mādhava uprooted a tāla tree and threw it at him.

यथा केशप्रहारेण दानवस्य भवेद्व्यथा।

तथा बभूव दैत्यस्य तालवृक्षस्य ताडनात्॥८१॥

The pain he had suffered after having been struck at the head, the same amount of pain was felt by him with the striking of the tāla tree at him.

गोवर्धनं समुत्पाट्य घातयामास तं विभुः।

पपात वेगाच्छैलेन्द्रस्तस्योपरि महामुने॥८२॥

The lord than lifted up the Govardhana mountain and threw it at him. O great sage, the king of the mountain fell on the demon with great force.

पर्वतस्य प्रहारेण मूर्छामाप महाबलः।

बभूव जर्जराङ्गश्च रुधिरं च समुद्वमन्॥८३॥

With the striking of the mountain, the valorous demon was fainted and all. his limbs were wounded. He vomited blood.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य समुत्तस्थौ रुषासुरः।

गृहीत्वा पर्वतश्रेष्ठं प्रेरयामास माधवम्॥८४॥

After regaining consciousness in a moment, the demon got up at once and lifting up the mountain he threw it at Mādhava.

दृष्ट्वा शैलमुत्पतन्तं वेगेन मधुसूदनः।

जग्राह दक्षिणकरे यथेक्षुदण्डवत्प्रभुः॥८५॥

Madhusūdana on the other hand finding the mountain approaching him with great force hold it with right hand like the sugar-cane.

पूर्वस्थाने पर्वतं तं स्थापयामास कौतुकात्।

गृहीत्वा दैत्यकर्णाग्रं पातयामास दूरतः॥८६॥

Thereafter he placed the mountain at its original place moulding the ear of the demon in his hand, the lord threw him away at a distance.

उत्पत्य च महावेगाच्चकार वेष्टनं हरेः।

पृथिवीं धर्षयामास तीक्ष्णाग्रेण खुरेण च॥८७॥

The demon took a high jump and than surrounded the lord and thereafter he started digging the earth with the hoofs.

प्रगृह्य श्रीहरिं वेगात्कृत्वा मूर्ध्नि महासुरः।
उत्पपात मनोयायी लीलया लक्षयोजनम्॥८८॥

The great asura held the lord with great force, raised him on his head and he went up in the sky up to a lakh of yojanas with the speed of a mind.

प्रहरं च तयोर्युद्धं निर्लक्षे च बभूव ह।
ततो गृहीत्वा श्रीकृष्णं पपात धरणीतले॥८९॥

They fought in first space for a prahara. Thereafter Kṛṣṇa was held by him tightly and he descended on earth.

पुनर्मुहूर्तं युद्धं च बभूव भूतलेतयोः।
मुदा हरिः प्रशशंस प्रहस्य दानवेश्वरम्॥९०।

Thereafter both of them fought for a muhūrta on the ground. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa smilingly praised the demon delightfully.

मद्भक्तस्य बलेः पुत्रं धन्यं तज्जीवनं परम्।
स्वस्त्यस्तु ते दानवेन्द्र वत्स निर्वाणतां व्रज॥९१॥

He said, O best of the demons, you happen to be the son of Bali, who has been a great devotee of mine. Your life is graceful. Therefore we should meet with welfare and redemption.

मद्दर्शनं स्वस्तिबीजं परं निर्वाणकारणम्।
सर्वाधिकं सर्वपरं लभ स्थानं मनोहरम्॥९२॥

And audience with me results in the seed of welfare and the salvation. You achieved the best of the places; with good deeds beyond all of them.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीकृष्णः सस्मार चक्रमुत्तमम्।
सूर्यकोटिसमं दीप्त्या जग्राह तत्सुदर्शनम्॥९३॥
चिक्षेप भ्रामयित्वा च षोडशारमनुत्तमम्।
चिच्छेद लीलयाऽवध्यं ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वरैः॥९४॥

The lord while thus speaking remembered the Sudarśana-cakra which was like the crores of suns and illumining. He held that cakra having sixteenth spokes which was illumining like crores of suns. Holding the cakra in his hand he moved it in a circular manner and shot it at the demons. With the striking of cakra, the head of demon was severed who couldn't be killed by Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva.

पपात मस्तकं भूमौ दानवस्य महात्मनः।
तेजःसमूह उत्तस्थौ शतसूर्यसमप्रभः॥९५॥

The head of the demon fell down on the ground and looked like the lustre of hundreds of suns.

विलोक्य हरिलोकं संश्लिष्टं कृष्णपदाम्बुजे।
संप्राप्य(प) परमं मोक्षमहो दानवपुंगवः॥९६॥

The lustre merging from the demons head, finding the lustre in the feet of the lord rushed towards it and merged in the same. Thus the great Dānava achieved salvation.

गगनस्थाः सुराः सर्वे मुनयश्च भृशं मुदा।
पारिजातप्रसूनानां चक्रुस्ते तत्र वर्षणम्॥९७॥

At that point of time the gods remaining in the sky beside the sages felt delighted and showered Pārijāta flowers.

नेदुर्दुन्दुभयः स्वर्गे ननृतुश्चाप्सरोगणाः।
जगुर्गन्धर्वनिकरास्तुष्टुवुर्मुनयो मुदा॥९८॥
स्तुत्वा जग्मुः सुराः सर्वे मुनयो हर्षविह्वलाः।
धेनुकस्य वधं दृष्ट्वा तत्राऽऽजग्मुश्च बालकः॥९९॥

The dundhubhis were sounded in the heaven and the apsarās started dancing, the Gandharvas started singing and the sages offered prayer.

बलश्च बलिनां श्रेष्ठस्तुष्टाव पुरुषोत्तमम्।
तुष्टुवुर्बालकाः सर्वे ननृतुश्च मुदाऽन्विताः॥१००॥

Balarāma the best of the valorous people, also started praising the lord and all the boys started dancing in delight.

दत्त्वा कृष्णबलाभ्यां च प्रपक्वानि फलानि च।
सर्वाणि भक्षयामासुर्बालाः प्रहृष्टमानसाः॥१०१॥

The happy boys offered to Balarāma and Kṛṣ ṇa, the sweet and delicious fruits and consumed them also.

भुक्त्वा पीत्वा हरिः शीघ्रं बलेन बालकैः सह।
जगाम स्वालयं ब्रह्मन्निहत्य दानवेश्वरम्॥१०२॥

O Brahmā, killing the Dānava and consuming the fruits Śrī Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma together with the boys went back to their abodes.

Curse to Tilottamā and the sons of Bali by Brahma

नारद उवाच

केन पापेन बलिजो गर्दभत्वमवाप ह।
दुर्वासा: केन दोषेण शशाप दानवेश्वरम्॥१॥

Nārada said- For what sin the son of Bali was turned into a donkey and for what reason Durvāsā pronounced a curse on the king of the demons.

केन पुण्येन वा नाथ बलिज: श्रीहरे: पदम्।
सहसैकत्वमुक्तिं च संप्राप दानवाधिप:॥२॥

O lord, the son of Bali who happened to be the best of those in the giver of charities, by what merit achieved the place of lord Kṛṣṇa, known as Aikyamokṣa.

मुने सर्वं सुविस्तार्य वद संदेहभञ्जन।
अहो कविमुखे काव्यं नूत्नं नूत्नं पदे पदे॥३॥

O sage, O remover of the doubts, you kindly speak out to me everything in detail. The poetry in the mouth of a poet looks like new at every step.

नारायण उवाच

शृणु वत्स प्रवक्ष्येऽहमितिहासं पुरातनम्।
पुरा श्रुतं धर्मवक्त्रात्पर्वते गन्धमादने॥४॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O son in this connection I will narrated to you and ancient and historical story which was told to me at Gandhamādana mountain by Brahmā himself.

पाद्मकल्पं च वृत्तान्तं विचित्रं सुमनोहरम्।
नारायणकथोपेतं कर्णपीयूषमुत्तमम्॥५॥

This auspicious and charming story relates to the Pādma-kalpa. The one should listens to the story of Nārāyaṇa with his own ears which like the nectar.

यत्र कल्पे कथा चेयं तत्र त्वमुपबर्हण:।
आकल्पजीवी सश्रीक: सुन्दर: स्थिरयौवन:॥६॥

The kalpa to which the story relates, during that time you happened to be a Gandharva named Upabarhaṇa. You had the age of a kalpa. You were endowed with all the riches, quite beautiful and youthful.

पञ्चाशत्कामिनीनां च पति: शृङ्गारतत्पर:।
वरेण ब्रह्मणस्त्वं च सुकण्ठो स्थिरयौवन:॥७॥
अनुक्षणं पपुस्तास्ते सुन्दरं मुखपङ्कजम्।
निमेषरहिता: सर्वा: कामबाणप्रपीडिता:॥८॥
तासां प्राणैश्च घटितो विधिना त्वमिव श्रुतम्।
दिवानिशं सहचरा न जीवन्ति त्वया विना॥९॥

Being the husband of fifty damsels, you were always engaged in love-sports. With the boon of Brahmā you had achieved a beautiful throat and you happened to be the king. All the passionate damsels stared at you with position. The destiny had endowed you with many virtues and no one could equation earth. They always accompanied you and could never separate from you even for a mount.

पुष्पोद्याने च रहसि स्थाने स्थाने मनोरमे।
गह्वरेषु च शैलानां कन्दरेषु नदीषु च॥१०॥
काननेषु च रम्येषु श्मशाने जन्तुवर्जिते।
यथामनोरथं ताश्च क्रीडां चक्रुस्त्वया सह॥११॥

They enjoyed your love-sports in secluded orchards, charming places, mountain caves, ravines, the rivers, beautiful wild cremation grounds having no creatures.

तदा दैवाद्विधे: शापाद्भूत्वा दासीसुतो भवान्।
अधुना ब्रह्मण: पुत्रो वैष्णवोच्छिष्टभोजनात्॥१२॥

At that point of time with the curse of Brahmā, you had to be born as the son of a maid-servant and with influence of your serving the best of the food to the Brāhmaṇas. Currently you happen to be the son of Brahmā.

असंख्यकल्पजीवी च वैष्णवप्रवरो महान्।
ज्ञानदृष्ट्या सर्वदर्शी प्रियशिष्यश्च धूर्जटे:॥१३॥

Presently you happen to be the loving pupil of lord Śiva and will live for innumerable kalpas, becoming great, the best of Vaiṣṇavas, you can have the universal vision, because of your eternal knowledge.

तस्य कल्पश्च वृत्तान्तं मुने मत्तो निशामय।
विस्तार्य दैत्यवृत्तान्तं कथयामि सुधोपमम्।।१४।।

O sage, you listen to the story which relates to that kalpa from me, I am telling you should story of the demon in detail which is like nectar.

एकदैव बले: पुत्रो नाम्ना साहसिको बली।
स्वतेजसा सराञ्जित्वा प्रतस्थे गन्धमादनम्।।१५।।
चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गो रत्नभूषणभूषित:।
रत्नसिंहासनस्थश्च बहुसैन्यसमन्वित:।।१६।।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तेन यथा याति तिलोत्तमा।
रूपेणाप्सरसां श्रेष्ठा नानावेषविधायिनी।।१७।।
चारुचम्पकवर्णाभा रत्नाभरणभूषिता।
नवयौवनसंपन्ना कामबाणप्रपीडिता।।१८।।

Once a Sāhasika, the son of valorous Bali conquered the gods with his prowess and visited the Gandhamādana mountain. All his limbs were painted with sandal-paste. He was adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments and was seated on the gem-studded lion-throne. A vast army accompanied him. In the meantime Tilottamā was passing on that route. She was quite beautiful and the best of the apsarās. Clad in various types of costumes. She was having the charming complexion of campaka flowers, adorned with all the ornaments and was fully youthful and passionate.

ईषद्धास्यप्रसन्नास्या दिव्यवस्त्रं सुबिभ्रती।
वक्रभ्रूभङ्गयुक्ता सा गजेन्द्रमन्दगामिनी।।१९।।

She wore a serene smile on her face and was clad in divine garments. She had curved eye-brows and walked like the king of elephants gracefully.

स्तनमूरुं मुखेन्दुं च दृष्ट्वा साहसिको युवा।
वायुना मुक्तवस्त्रायास्तस्या मूर्छामवाप ह।।२०।।

Suddenly she was disrobed with the blowing of the wind, keeping bare for breasts and thighs. Looking at her face, the son of Bali was fainted.

सा ददर्श बले: पुत्रमतीव सुमनोहरम्।
प्रफुल्लमालतीमालां बिभ्रतं नवयौवनम्।।२१।।
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं सुस्मितं सुमनोहरम्।
दृष्ट्वा तं विस्मिता कामात्कटाक्षं च चकार सा।।२२।।

The beautiful apsarā, looked at the young son of Bali who was quite beautiful, wearing the blossomed garland of Mālatī flowers, quite youthful, having the face like the full moon of the winter season, wearing a serene smile on his face and was quite charming. At the look of the son of Bali she was surprised and looking with side-glances she was filled with passion.

क्रीडार्थे चन्द्रलोकं च गच्छन्ती चन्द्रकामुकी।
तस्थौ केन च्छलेनैव मत्ता शृङ्गारलालसा।।२३।।
दर्शं दर्शं च तस्यास्यं प्रहस्य वक्रचक्षुषा।
मुखस्याऽऽच्छादनं चक्रे वाससा सा पुन: पुन:।।२४।।

Becoming the beloved of the moon, Tilottamā was moving towards his abode for the conjugal pleasure. But getting desirous of an active love-sports she looked at him again and again with side-glances and smiled keeping the piece of cloth on her mouth.

पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्गं धर्मकर्मसमन्वितम्।
बभूव काममत्ताया योनौ कण्डूयनं जलम्।।२५।।

The son of Bali who was well-versed in the Dharma and the duties felt overwhelmed and on the other hand getting immensely desirous of the king, the apsarā's vagina started fluttering and the waters oozed out of it.

विसस्मार शशधरं बलिपुत्रमनोरथा।
अहो को वेद भुवने दुर्ज्ञेयं पुंश्चलीमन:।।२६।।

Getting desirous of the son of Bali she forgot about the moon. Alas, who could read the conduct of the wicked women.

पुंश्चल्यां यो हि विश्वस्तो विधिना स विडम्बित:।
बहिष्कृतश्च यशसा धर्मेण स्वकुलेन च।।२७।।

A person who believes the wicked women, is deceived by his fortune and is deprived of his glory, righteousness and his own race.

वाञ्छितं नूतनं प्राप्य विनश्यति पुरातनम्।
तदा स्वकर्मसाध्या सा को वा तस्या: प्रियोऽप्रिय:।।२८।।

Finding a desired person she forgets the old lover. Then she can the controlled by the appropriate action. No one is dear or enemy to her.

दैवे कर्मणि पैत्र्ये च पुत्रे बन्धौ न भर्तरि।
दारुणं पुंश्चलीचित्तं सदा शृङ्गारकर्मणि॥२९॥
प्राणाधिकं रतिज्ञं साऽमृतदृष्ट्या च पुंश्चली।
रत्नप्रदं रत्नविज्ञं विषदृष्ट्या हि पश्यति॥३०॥

The mind of the wicked women is never devoted in the adoration of gods or the manes, the sin, the brothers or even the husband. Such a wicked women like the person who are well-versed in the act of love sports and looks at them with desirous eyes but the person who offer her the gems they are treated by hare like the poison.

सर्वेषां स्थलमस्त्येव पुंश्चलीनां न कुत्रचित्।
दारुणा पुंश्चली जातिर्नरघातिभ्य एव च॥३१॥

Everyone has same piece in the universe but the wicked women does not have any place anywhere. The wicked women are more danger than the human killers.

निष्कृतिः सर्वभोगान्ते सर्वेषामस्ति निश्चितम्।
न पुंश्चलीनां विप्रेन्द्र यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ:॥३२॥
अन्यासां कामिनीनां च कीटं हन्तुं च या दया।
सा नास्ति पुंश्चलीनां तु कान्तं हन्तुं पुरातनम्॥३३॥

O best of Brāhmaṇas, after enjoying all the pleasures everyone achieves salvation but the wicked women can never achieve salvation till the sun and. the moon last. The wicked women does not have the compassion for killing her old lower as the one has at the time of killing as insect.

कान्तं दृष्ट्वा हिनस्त्येव सोपायेनावलीलया।
रतिज्ञं नूतनं प्राप्य विषतुल्यं पुरातनम्॥३४॥

He prefer a new lover everytime and the old one is considered by him like a poison and destroys him making great efforts.

पृथिव्यां यानि पापानि पुंश्चलीष्वेव भारते।
तिष्ठन्ति ताभ्यो न पराः पापिष्ठाः सन्ति केचन॥३५॥

All the sins on the earth reside in the body of a wicked women there is no sinner greater than her.

पुंश्चलीपरिपक्वान्नं सर्वपातकमिश्रितम्।
दैवे कर्मणि पैत्र्ये च न देयं च तथा जलम्॥३६॥

अन्नं विष्ठा जलं मूत्रं पुंश्चलीनां च निश्चितम्।
दत्त्वा पितृभ्यो देवेभ्यो भुक्त्वा च नरकं व्रजेत्॥३७॥

The food cooked by a wicked women is mixed with all the sins and as such it is unfit to be offer to the gods or the manes. The water offered by her is also not acceptable by them. The food of the wicked women is treated like the refuge and the water like the urine. By offering the same to the gods and the manes and the one who himself consumed it has to fall in the hell.

शतवर्षं कालसूत्रे पचत्येव सुदारुणे।
घोरान्धकारे कृमयस्तं दशन्ति दिवानिशम्॥३८॥

He falls in the kālasūtra hell up to a hundred years where he has to suffer for long. In the darkness his body is bitten by the insects.

पुंश्चल्यन्नं च यो भुङ्क्ते दैवाद्यदि नराधमः।
सप्तजन्मकृतं पुण्यं तस्य नश्यति निश्चितम्॥३९॥

Therefore, the one who consumed the food of the wicked women even unknowingly, all his merits of the seven births disappear.

आयुः श्रीयशसां हानिरिह लोके परत्र च।
तस्माद्यत्नाद्रक्षणीयं पाकपात्रं कलत्रकम्॥४०॥

Besides his life and glory are jeopardising in the present and the future births therefore the cooking vases as well as the house wife should be properly saved.

पुश्चलीदर्शने पुण्यं यात्रासिद्धिर्भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
स्पर्शने च महापापं तीर्थस्नानाद्विशुध्यति॥४१॥
स्नानं दानं व्रतं चैव जपश्च देवपूजनम्।
निष्फलं पुंश्चलीनां च भारते जीवनं वृथा॥४२॥

If one comes across a wicked women at the time of starting the journey he becomes successful, but with the very touch of her body, one earns a great sin, which can be purified only by having a dip at the holy places. The life, bath, charity, vrata, japam and the adoration of gods of a wicked women is of no consequence.

कथितं कुलाटाख्यानं दुर्ज्ञेयं च यथागमम्।
संवादं च तयोस्तत्र प्रकृतं शृणु नारद॥४३॥

O Nārada, thus I have narrated to you the position of a degraded women according to the scriptures. Now you listen to the conversation of both of them.

स पुनश्चेतनां प्राप्य तां दृष्ट्वैव बलेः सुतः।
कामातुरः प्रमत्तश्च जगाम कुलटान्तिकम्॥४४॥

On regaining consciousness the son of Bali became passionate at the sight of Tilottamā and getting so infested he went to the apsarā.

उवाच कुटिलापाङ्गीपीनश्रोणिपयोधराम्।
व्रीडया वाससा वक्त्रमाच्छन्नं कुर्वतीं मुदा॥४५॥

She looked with side-glances, had stiff pelvic region and the breasts and was covering her face with a cloth delightfully displaying shyness. At that point of time he spoke to the apsarā.

साहसिक उवाच

काऽसि त्वं कस्य कन्याऽसि कस्य कान्ताऽसि कामिनी।
स्वयं क्व यासि कं सुभ्रूः पुण्यवन्तं मनोहरम्॥४६॥

Sāhasika said- "O damsel, who are you, who is your father and whose beloved are you? Having beautiful eye-brows, who is the virtuous person to whom you are going to visit.

कल्पान्ते तपसा पूतं भोक्तुं त्वामेव सुन्दरि।
यं तं यासि याहि सा त्वं भृत्यं मां कर्तुमर्हसि॥४७॥

The person, whose company you are going to enjoy he most home performed tapas up to the end of the kalpa purifying you can go but-can also take me as your slave.

क्रीणीहि रतिपुण्येन मां भृत्यं रतिलोलुपम्।
शृङ्गारलोलुपा त्वं च शृङ्गारं देहि कामुकि॥४८॥

You can purchase a passionate lover like me by offering the flowers, you are greedy for the love-sports and as such you offer your company to me.

त्वया सह ममाऽऽश्लेषो विधिना च विनिर्मितः।
निरूपितं यत्तेनैव वार्यते केन तत्प्रिये॥४९॥

O dear one, Brahmā had already ordained my union with you, therefore who else can stop it now.

वाक्यं पीयूषसदृशं सस्मितं वद सुन्दरि।
शीघ्रं भुजलतापाशैर्बन्धनं कुरु निर्जने॥५०॥

O beautiful one, now you speak out your nectar-like words wearing a smile on your face. You entangle me with your creeper like arms in this lonely forest.

आसनं देहिकल्याणि स्वोरुं कनकसंनिभम्।
स्तनमण्डलकुम्भं च पात्रयोग्यं प्रदर्शय॥५१॥

O virtuous one, you offer your gold like thighs to me as a seat and display your breasts resembling the pitchers.

तीक्ष्णास्त्रेण कटाक्षेण जर्जरं कुरु भामिनि।
कामसर्पक्षतं पादस्पर्शनेनारुजं कुरु॥५२॥

O damsel, with the sharp side-glances you injure my heart and with the touch of your body you heal of the wounds created by the passion of serpent.

अधरोष्ठामृतं स्वादु देहि मे क्षुधिताय च।
पक्वदाडिमबीजाभं दन्तं दर्शय सुन्दरम्॥५३॥

You let we taste the nectar of your lips since I am quite hungry and show me your teeth which happen to be like the beautiful seeds of pomegranate.

गम्भीरनाभिं त्रिवलीं द्रष्टुमिच्छामि सुन्दरि।
नीवीप्रमोक्षणं कर्तुमिच्छा मे वर्तते सदा॥५४॥

O beautiful one, I intend to have a look at your deep navel and three lines ever your belly. I am always desirous of untying your undergarment.

श्रोणीं पश्यामि ललितं मुनिमानसमोहिनीम्।
शरन्मध्याह्नपद्मानां प्रभामोचनलोचनाम्॥५५॥

I am looking at your beautiful pelvic region which attracts even the sages and also your eyes which resemble the fully blossomed lotus flower of the winter season.

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं प्रसन्नं च प्रदर्शय।

दृष्ट्वाऽऽर्तं कामबाणेन मानसंक्षयकामिनी॥५६॥

You show me your delightful face resembling the full moon of the winter season. At these words of the demon the damsel who was filled with passion finding him so passionate, spoke to him.

तिलोत्तमोवाच

पतिस्त्वत्सदृशो नाथ कामिनीनां मनीषितः।

शृङ्गारनिपुण: कान्त: कामशास्त्रविशारद:।
सदा मनोज्ञ: स्त्रीणां त्वं सुवेषश्च स्वभावत:।।५८।।

Tilottamā said- O lord, the damsels live a husband like you, you are son of Bali, quite religious, beautiful, virtuous, young and well-versed in the love-sports, you are clad in beautiful garments and are charming by nature attracting all the damsels.

सुवेशं सुन्दरं शान्तं कान्तं दान्तमरोगिणम्।

O beloved one, you have all the qualities of a good husband. Such of the damsels who are not desirous of you are unwise and deprived.

I shall satisfy you after returning from the house of the moon and I am now proceeding towards his abode.

In case I enjoy company of others today I are sure to call from dharma because such of the women who do not fellow dharma their lives are of no consequence.

चन्द्राश्लेषं न जानन्ति यास्ता मूढा: प्रकीर्तिता:।

The one who does not relish the embrace of the moon, she indeed is a foolish lady. She looks as if, she is still in the womb of her mother and is unaware of the manhood.

स्वर्वैद्यौ मदनश्चन्द्रो मरुत्वान्नलकूबर:।

Such of the damsels who have not embraced Aśvinīkumāra, Kāmadeva, moon the wind god and Nalakubara, they should be considered as having been deprived of the performing of love-sport.

दिवानिशं मानसं मे तेषां क्रीडां च चिन्तयेत्।
विशेषत: कामदेवो निपुणो रतिकर्मणि।।६६।।

My mind always goes for the moments, I had spent in their company. The god of love is specialised in love-sports. The embrace of the moon and a sweet word, are sweeter than the nectar. Therefore I have to spend this day in his company. I am, therefore, thinking about him.

On hearing the words of Tilottamā the demon was overwhelmed is passion. He took away the apsarā in a secluded place and said.

साहसिक उवाच

ब्रह्मणा निर्मिता त्वं च कौतुकेन तिलोत्तमे।
अतो वरा चाप्सरसां विदग्धरसिकेश्वरी।।६८।।

Sāhasika said- O Tilottamā, Brahmā has created you playfully, That is why you are the base of the apsarās, quite clever and well-versed in the love-sports.

सुन्दोपसुन्दयोर्नाशनिमित्तेन प्रयत्नत:।
सर्वरूपगुणाधारा विधिना च कृता पुरा।।६९।।

In the earlier times Brahmā had created you with much efforts for the destruction of Sunda and Upsunda.

O all knowledgeable one, you know everything and you are quite clever in the love-sports. you speak to me about your mind. I want to listen to you.

अतिप्रियश्च को वा च कः स्वभावो वरानने।
अकथ्यं गोपनीयं च श्रोतुमिच्छामि सुन्दरि॥७१॥

O beautiful one, who is the best of your lovers and is liked by you? O beautiful one, I want to listen from you the secret words which cannot bespoken to anyone.

गन्धर्वाणां सुराणां च राज्ञां पुण्यवतामपि।
सर्वेषां प्राणतुल्या त्वमेषु ते कः परः प्रियः॥७२॥

All the Gandharvas, the gods and the virtuous kings treat you to be their lives, who is the dearest of all among them.

Listening to the words of the demon, Tilottamā smiled and looking at him she covered her face with the cloth. Thereafter, she started speaking her mind to him in the words which were truthful, deep-rooted, enshrined in her mind, invisible and secret and were unknown to the intellectuals even.

तिलोत्तमोवाच

कथनीयं साहसिक पुंश्चलीनां मनोवचः।
स्त्रीजातीनां च सर्वासामुपहासकरं परम्॥७५॥

Tilottamā said- O Sāhasika, it will be difficult to spell out the mind of the loose women and if one does so it would amount to a great joke.

सर्वेषामपि दुर्ज्ञेयं चरितं योषितामपि।
विशेषतोऽपि दुर्ज्ञेयं पुंश्चलीनां मनोवचः॥७६॥

Because the life style of all the people is difficult to be observed and more so of the women. However the life-style of the loose-women is beyond observation.

वेदवेदाङ्गशास्त्रान्तं सर्वं जानाति पण्डितः।
कान्त नान्तं विजानाति दिशामाकाशयोषितम्॥७७॥
विषादप्यप्रियो वृद्धो रत्नदोऽपि च योषिताम्।
युवा सर्वस्वहर्ता चेत्प्राणेभ्योऽपि परः प्रियः॥७८॥

O my beloved one, becoming learned the intellectuals can attained mastery in the study of the Vedas and post-Vedic literature beside other scriptures but they are unable to peep into the directions, the sky and the behaviour of the women. Even though an old person might distribute gems to the ladies but still he is considered to be verse than the poison. On the other hand if a young person snatches away everything from her, he still is considered to be dearer to than the life.

युवानं सुन्दरं दृष्ट्वा ह्यार्ता भवति पुंश्चली।
विशेषतः सुवेषं च दृष्ट्वैव हतचेतना॥७९॥

Finding a young and a beautiful person the loose women gets attracted towards him and with the spotting of a beautiful person clad in beautiful garments she looses her consciousness even.

निमेषरहिता तस्य लोचनाभ्यां पिबेन्मुखम्।
योनौ जलं क्षरेत्तस्याः सद्यः कण्डूयनं भवेत्॥८०॥

She stares at his eyes at her face and her pelvic regions starts emitting the fluid. Thereafter, atonce irritation is started.

मनोऽतिलोलमस्थैर्यं सर्वाङ्गानि चकम्पिरे।
जडीभूतं शरीरं च प्रदग्धं मदनानलात्॥८१॥

Her mind is always unstable and never becomes stable. All his limbs start fluttering her body becomes static and is filled with passion.

संप्राप्य तं चेद्रहसि साऽऽलापं कुरुते स्फुटम्।
सकटाक्षं स्मेरवक्त्रं दर्शयित्वा पुनः पुनः॥८२॥
तथा यदि वशं कर्तुं न शशाक जितेन्द्रियम्।
स्वमङ्गं दर्शयित्वा तमन्तर्वाक्यं स्फुटं वदेत्॥८३॥

She stares at him with side-glances and displays her smiling face to him and then entered into frank discussion with him. In spite of this if she is unable to attract him than displaying her limbs declare frankly her intentions.

दुःसाध्ये नायके दुःखं भवेदाजन्मजन्मनि।
तत्तुल्यं तत्परं प्राप्य तं विस्मरति पुंश्चली॥८४॥

In case she is unable to attract the young person towards herself she feels immensely grieved. When she comes across another such person as previous one, she forgets the earlier one.

पुंश्वलीनामप्रिय: क: क: प्रियो वा महीतले।
योऽतिशृङ्गाररनिपुण: स च प्राणाधि: प्रिय:॥८५॥

It is difficult to judge as to who happens to be the beloved of the loose women and who is disliked her. This is quite difficult. But the one who is well-versed in the love-sport is liked her more than her life.

पूर्वजारं पतिं पुत्रं भ्रातरं पितरं प्रसूम्।
विशिष्टं नूतनं प्राप्य सर्वं त्यजति लीलया॥८६॥

On coming across a new friend the forgets their old friend, the ..usband, the son, the brother, father and mother and leaves them in no time.

न दानेन न मानेन सत्येन स्तवनेन वा।
नोपकारेण प्रीत्या वा सा साध्या सुरतिं विना॥८७॥

Without enjoying the love-sport they cannot be controlled by any type of prayers, extending of grace and the making of love.

शयने भोजने चापि स्वप्ने ज्ञाने दिवानिशम्।
नित्यं सत्पुरुषाश्लेषं स्मरन्ति कुलटा: स्त्रिया:॥८८॥

The degraded women whether they are sleeping, eating food, while in dream or awake, during day or night always aspire for the embrace of nice people.

शृङ्गारनिपुणानां च ध्यानसाध्या चिरं परम्।
दारुणा पुंश्चलीजाति: प्रार्थयन्ती नवं नवम्॥८९॥

They are over-powered by the person well-versed in the art of making love and that to quite easily. The loose women always remain desirous of new persons and as such their class is quite horrible.

सर्वासां कुलटानां च चरितं कथितं मया।
अकथ्यं गोपनीयं च मम हृद्वचनं शृणु॥९०॥

I have narrated to you the conduct of the degraded women now you listen to the feeling of my mind which are quite secret.

मम सन्ति प्रियतरा गन्धर्वेषु सुरेषु च।
युवानो रतिशूराश्च कामशास्त्रविशारदा:॥९१॥

Only he is liked by me the post of all the Gandharvas and the gods who is quite young and is best in love-sport.

विशेषत: शशधरे स्नेहो मे विद्यते पर:।
ततोऽतिरिक्त: सर्वस्मादपि काम: प्रियो मम॥९२॥

But I feel specially attracted towards the moon because I love him specifically and thereafter the god of love is quite dear to me.

प्रियो मे कामसदृशो न भूतो न भविष्यति।

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वमात्मनो योषितामपि।
आज्ञां कुरु महाराज यास्यामि चन्द्रसंनिधिम्॥९४॥

He one else would be as dear to me as the god of love. At the very mention of the name of the god of love, may mind feels overwhelmed. Thus I have spoken to you the secret of any mind as well as that of the women in general. O king, now you kindly permit me. I shall go to the moon.

चन्द्रस्थानात्त्व स्थानं समागत्य सुनिश्चितम्।
संतोषं तव दैत्येन्द्र करिष्यामि न संशय:॥९५॥

O demon, after returning from the abode of the moon, I will come to you and please you. There is no doubt about it.

श्रुत्वैवं बलिपुत्रश्च जहासोच्चै: पुन: पुन:।
सा वक्रचक्षुषाऽऽलोक्य तं जहास स्मरातुरा॥९६॥

On hearing this the son of Bali started laughing aloud. The passionate damsel also getting infatuated with passion started looking at him with side-glances, smiling at the same time.

छलेन दर्शयामास कठिनं स्तनयोर्युगम्।
चारुचम्पकवर्णाभं वर्तुलं पीनमुच्छ्रितम्॥९७॥
श्रोणी सुकठिनां रम्यां रम्भास्तम्भविनिन्दिनीम्।
सकटाक्षं स्मेरमुखं कपोलं पुलकाञ्चितम्॥९८॥

Thereafter she displayed her breasts, which had the lustre of the beautiful campaka flower and were quite round, stiff and well-developed. They were quite bare, pleasant and she also displayed her pelvic region which resembled the trunk of the banana tree. Thereafter she displayed her beautiful smiling face with charming cheeks.

रह:स्थानं समासाद्य कामेन हतचेतना।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गी लोचनाभ्यां पपौ मुखम्॥९९॥

Thereafter in the secluded place, the passionate woman who was overwhelmed with love started staring at the beauty of the demon.

तस्य रूपं च वेषं च दर्शं दर्शं पुन: पुन:।
मुखस्याऽऽच्छादनं भावात्कुर्वती सूक्ष्मवाससा॥१००॥

While looking at the beauty of the demon prince getting filled with passion, she covered her face with a piece of cloth.

अतिकामातुरां दृष्ट्वा सुप्राज्ञो बलिनन्दन:।
पप्रच्छ कामिनां कामी भावं विज्ञातुमुत्सुक:॥१०१॥

Finding her getting so passionate, the son of Bali spoke to her since he was anxious to know about the mind of the damsel.

साहसिक उवाच

किं करिष्यसि मां सत्यं वद पङ्कजलोचने।
कार्यान्तरं करिष्यामि सुचिरं स्थातुमक्षम:॥१०२॥

Sāhasika said- O lotus-eyed one, what will you do? You tell me truthfully. I shall than attend to some other work. I am unable to weight for long.

कामिनीषु बलात्कारो न धर्मो धर्मिणां प्रिये।
विशेषतोऽतिविदुषां नास्माकं स्वकुलोचित:॥१०३॥

O dear, it is not proper for noble people to use force with the damsels. It is specially unbecoming of the learned people like us.

शृङ्गारं देहि वा गच्छ रतिं कर्तुं सुरान्तिके।
क: क्षमो वा वशीकर्तुं पुंश्चलीं बहुगामिनीम्॥१०४॥

You either enjoy my company or proceed to the abode of the moon because who can control a loose women who visits many peopled.

दानवस्य वच: श्रुत्वा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका।
आत्मानमधमंमन्या भिद्यमाना स्मरास्त्रत:॥१०५॥

On hearing the words of the demon, her palate, throat and tongue tried up, getting infatuated with the passion she felt injured and thought herself to be quite a degraded one.

तिलोत्तमोवाच

कथमेवं ब्रूहि(षि)त्वं मे कान्त: प्राणाधिक: प्रिय:।
कथं वा कोपयुक्तोऽसि कुरु कार्यं मनीषितम्॥१०६॥

Tilottamā said- Why are you talking like this? You are dearer to me than my life. Why are you getting angry? You do whatever you like.

त्वामेव विमुखं कृत्वा यामि चन्द्रान्तिकं यदि।
तवाभिशापात्तत्रैव सद्यो विघ्नो भविष्यति॥१०७॥

In case I visits the moon disregarding you, than I shall have to face obstruction because of your curse.

विहारं कुरु भद्रं ते करिष्यति हरि: स्वयम्।
पदे पदे शुभं तस्य य: स्त्रीमानं च रक्षति॥१०८॥

You can therefore enjoy my company and the lord will surely bless you. He happens to be the one who protects the honour of all. His every step gets auspicious.

अवमन्य स्त्रियं मूढो यो याति पुरुषाधम:।
पदे पदे तदशुभं करोति पार्वती सती॥१०९॥

Such a degraded person who moves disregarding the women, the chaste goddess Pārvatī creates difficulties for him at every step.

तिलोत्तमावच: श्रुत्वा जहास बलिनन्दन:।
कामशास्त्रेषु निष्णातस्तद्भावं बुबुधे सुधी:॥११०॥

On hearing the words of Tilottamā, the demon who was well-versed in the art of making love started laughing. He could understand her desires.

भावं विज्ञाय भावज्ञ: कामशास्त्रविशारद:।
करे धृत्वा समाश्लिष्य चुचुम्ब मुखपङ्कजम्॥१११॥
जगाम च तया सार्धं गन्धमादनगह्वरम्।

संस्थाप्य रत्नदीपांश्च धूपं च सुमनोहरम्।
शय्यां रतिकरीं कृत्वा सुष्वाप च तया सह॥११३॥

The demon who was well-versed in knowing the feelings of others beside being well-versed in the art of making love, held the hand of Tilottamā and embraced her implanting kisses on her face. He than took her in a deserted cave on the Gandhamādana mountain and enjoyed her company at that place where the lamps were burning together with incense and the place was best for the purpose.

नानाप्रकार शृङ्गारं चकार काममोहितः।
तिलोत्तमां तं बुबुधे सुरादपि विचक्षणम्॥११४॥

Getting infested with passion he enjoyed her company variously and Tilottamā started considering him more intelligent than the gods.

विपरीतरतौ तुष्टा बभूव रसिकेश्वरी।
दिवानिशं न बुबुधे नवसंगममूर्च्छिता॥११५॥

The passionate women was satisfied with the perverted sex enjoyed by her in the company of the demon. Getting absorbed in the new found love-sport she last the knowledge of the position of the day and night.

तिलोत्तमा कामभावाद्बलिपुत्रमुवाच ह।
कृत्वा वक्षसि प्राणेशं स्तनयोरन्तरे मुदा॥११६॥

Thereafter the passionate Tilottamā holding his hand against her breast said.

तिलोत्तमोवाच

कदा द्रक्ष्याम्यहं कान्त मुखचन्द्रं मनोहरम्।
एवंभूतं शुभदिनं कदा मे भविता पुनः॥११७॥

Tilottamā said- O my beloved, when shall it be possible for me to see your face again, when shall that auspicious day arrive.

अयि किं रूपमाश्चर्यं गुणो वा तव दानव।
ध्रुवं शृङ्गारनिपुणस्त्वत्परो नास्ति कश्चन॥११८॥

O demon, you possess the surprising type of beauty and qualities. You are well-versed in the art of making love and there is no one better than you on the earth.

मां विस्मरसि कालेन पुरुषः षट्पदो यथा।
स्त्रीणां सत्पुरुषाश्लेष आजीवं मनसि स्थितः॥११९॥

You will forgot me as the black-wasps forget (after extracting the nectar of the flower). But the company of the nice people always remains in the mind of the noble women.

सत्संगमः शुभदिने पुण्यात्पुण्यवतां भवेत्।
सद्विच्छेदो दुःखहेतुर्मरणादतिरिच्यते॥१२०॥

पीयूषभोजनात्स्वर्गवासादपि च दुर्लभः।
सत्संगमः सुखमयोऽप्यसत्संगो विषाधिकः॥१२१॥

The company of noble people and the nectar-like food are better than residing in the heaven beside being pleasant and inaccessible. And the company of the wicked people serves as a poison.

क्षणं तिष्ठ महाराज पुनरालिङ्गनं कुरु।
त्वया सार्धं मम प्राणा यास्यन्ति चेतसा सह॥१२२॥

O great king, you wait for sometime and hold me in embrace. Evidently my life will also depart with your departure.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा कुलटा कृत्वा वक्षसि सादरम्।
पुमङ्गसङ्गोत्पुलका मूर्छामाप सुखेन च॥१२३॥

Thus speaking that wicked women again held him against her breasts. Getting pleased with the company of the demon, she was fainted.

कुलटालिङ्गनालापात्सोऽतिकामी बभूव ह।
यथा दीप्तः कृष्णवर्त्मा वर्धते हविषाऽधिकम्॥१२४॥
पुनश्चकार शृङ्गारमसुरोऽष्टविधं मुने।
चुम्बनं च नवविधं यथास्थाने यथोचितम्॥१२५॥

With the embrace of the wicked women and in conversation with her, he became more passionate and he became more wild like pouring of the ghee increases the flames. Thereafter the demon enjoyed her company in difficult ways and appropriately implanted the kisses in nine different ways.

नखदन्तकरैः क्रीडां चकार विविधां पुनः।
किङ्किणीनां कङ्कणानां बभूव शब्द उल्बणः॥१२६॥

He played with his nails, teeth and hands variously. At that point of time the small bells of the waist-band and the armlets created sweet sound.

मुनेर्दुर्वाससस्तेन ध्यानभङ्गो बभूव ह।
अदृष्टस्य तयोस्तत्र वल्मीकाच्छादितस्य च॥१२७॥

With all these activities, the meditation of the sage Durvāsā was disturbed, who was covered with the mud on his entire body.

योगासनं कुर्वतश्च गन्धमादनगह्वरे।
ध्यायतश्चरणाम्भोजं कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः॥१२८॥

He was meditating in a cave of Gandhamādana mountain upon the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

न पपात तयोर्दृष्टिः समीपस्थे महामुनौ।
कामात्मनोर्न हि ज्ञानं कामेन हतचेतसोः॥१२९॥

Both the passionate one's could not spot the sage though they were quite close to him and had almost lost all the senses.

सहसा चेतना प्राप्य प्रज्वलन्ब्रह्मतेजसा।
ददर्श पुरतस्तौ तु मुनिरुन्मील्य लोचने॥१३०॥

When his meditation was disturbed the sage who possesses the divine lustre opened his eyes and found them both there.

दिवानिशं न जानन्तौ संयुक्तौ काममोहितौ।
दृष्ट्वा चुकोप तेजस्वी रुद्रांशो भगवान्विभुः॥१३१॥
उवाच तौ विहारान्ते रक्तपङ्कजलोचनः।
ध्यानप्राप्तपदाम्भोजविच्छेदोद्विग्निमानसः॥१३२॥

Since he was engrossed in the devotion at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa was disturbed and his eyes became red like the red lotus flowers. Thereafter, the sage spoke to them.

दुर्वासा उवाच

उत्तिष्ठ गर्दभाकार निर्लज्ज पुरुषाधम।
भक्तप्रधानस्य बलेः पुत्रः पशुसमप्रभः॥१३३॥
देवो वा मानवो वाऽपि दैत्यगन्धर्वराक्षमाः।
लज्जां कुर्वन्ति सततं स्वजातौ च पशून्विना॥१३४॥

तस्मात्त्वं दानश्रेष्ठ खरयोनिं व्रजाधुना॥१३५॥

The donkeys of course are unmindful of the shame; therefore O best of the demons, let you be born as a donkey at once.

तिलोत्तमे त्वमुत्तिष्ठलज्जाहीना च पुंश्चली।
एतादृशी स्पृहा दैत्ये व्रज योनिं च दानवीम्॥१३६॥
इत्येवमुक्त्वा स मुनिस्तस्थौ तत्र रुषा ज्वलन्।

हुताशनस्त्वं सूर्यश्च सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तकारकः॥१३८॥

विना विपत्तौ केषांचिज्ज्ञानं भवति भूतले॥
तयोर्दृष्ट्वा च वैकल्यं बभूव करुणा मुनेः॥१४३॥

Thus speaking, she also started crying and took refuge with the sage, who had achieved the eternal knowledge without facing miseries on earthy. Finding both of them so disturbed, the mind of the sage was filled with compassion.

You go to the tāla-forest which isolated in the vicinity of Vṛndāvana. You will meet with your end with the cakra of Kṛṣṇa and shall achieve salvation.

तिलोत्तमे भारते त्वं बाणपुत्री भविष्यसि।
श्रीकृष्णपौत्राश्लेषेण पुनः पूता भविष्यसि॥१४९॥

O Tilottamā, you will be born in the land of Bhārata as the daughter of Bāṇāsura and you will be united with the grandson of Kṛṣṇa as a result of which you will be purified.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स मुनिर्विरराम महामुने।

इत्युक्तं सर्ववृत्तान्तं दैत्यस्य खरजन्मनः।
तिलोत्तमा बाणपुत्री ह्युषाऽनिरुद्धकामिनी।१५१॥

O great sage, after speaking this the sage kept quiet and both of them returned to their respective abodes after bowing in reverence to the sage. Thus I have narrated to you the reason for the demons birth as a donkey on earth. Thereafter Tilottamā was born as the daughter of Bāṇa named Ūṣā and was united with Aniruddha.

Chapter - 24

The salvation of the son of Bali in the context of consuming the tāla fruits

नारायण उवाच

निगूढं शृणु वृत्तान्तं मुनेर्दुर्वाससो मुने।
अहोऽस्य दारसंयोग: कथं तदूर्ध्वरेतस:।।१।।
दृष्ट्वा तयोश्च शृङ्गारं मुनि: कामी बभव ह।
जितेन्द्रियोऽसत्संसर्गाद्विष: सांसर्गिको भवेत्।।२।।

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage you, listen to the deep rooted story of the life of Durvāsā. It is surprising. It projects as to how such an ascetic who had controlled all his senses fell to the company of a female. Witnessing the love-sport of both of them the self-controlled sage was infatuated with love, because by keeping the company of a sinful person, some of his deficiencies are transported to another person.

सहसा तस्य हृदये बभूव सुरते स्पृहा।
तपस्तप्त्वा तत्र दध्यौ कामिनी मदनातुरः॥३॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे येन पथा याति मुनीश्वरः।
प्रार्थयन्त्या पतिं सन्तमौर्वश्च सुतया सह॥४॥

Suddenly the desire of enjoying the conjugal pleasures and the company of a damsel arose in his mind. After finishing his tapas, the passionate sage thought of a damsel. In the meantime, the sage Aurva was passing by that side, accompanied with his daughter who was desirous of getting a husband for herself.

ऊरूद्भवो ब्रह्मणश्च पुरा कल्पे तपस्यतः।
ऊर्ध्वरेताश्च योगीन्द्र और्वस्तेन इति स्मृतः॥५॥

In the earlier times since the sage was born in the region of Ūru he was given the name of Aurva who was perfectly self-controlled and a great yogī.

तस्य जानूद्भवा कन्या कन्दली नाम विश्रुता।
दुर्वाससं प्रार्थयन्ती नान्यं मनसि रोचते॥६॥

Since she was born out of his thigh, she was given the name of Kandalī who was attracted towards Durvāsā and desired no one else.

ससुतो हि मुनिश्रेष्ठो मुनेदुर्वाससः पुरः।
तस्थौ महाप्रसन्नश्च ज्वलदग्निशिखोपमः॥७॥
मुनीन्द्रोऽपि मुनीन्द्रं तं पुरो दृष्ट्वा ससंभ्रमः।
प्रजवेन समुत्तस्थौ ननाम च मुदाऽन्वितः॥८॥
और्वो दुर्वाससं तत्र समाश्लिष्य मुदाऽन्वितः।
उवाच मुनये सर्वं कन्यकाया मनोरथम्॥९॥

Aurva the best of the sages who was extremely delightful and possessed the lustre of the fire flame came to Durvāsā with his daughter and stood before the sage. The sage Durvāsā finding the best of the sages before him was upset in his mind. But he delightfully got up and bowed in reverence to him. Aurva embraced Durvāsā and delightfully conveyed to him the desire of his daughter.

और्व उवाच

विख्याता कन्दली नाम मम कन्या मनोहरा।
प्रौढा त्वामेव ध्यायन्ती श्रुत्वा वाचिकवक्त्रतः॥१०॥

Aurva said - My daughter named Kandalī listening to your glory from your messengers always adored you and she is adult at the moment.

अयोनिसंभवा कन्या त्रैलोक्यं मोहितुं क्षमा।
सर्वरूपगुणाधारा दोषेणैकेन संयुता॥११॥

The girl is born without any human touch and can attract all the three worlds. She possesses all the qualities but has one shorting coming also.

अतीव कलहाविष्टा कोपेन कटुभाषिणी।
नानागुणयुतं द्रव्यं न त्यजेदेकदोषतः॥१२॥

She is quite quarrelsome and speaks foul word in anger but if someone has all the virtues the same person cannot be discarded just for a single short coming.

और्वस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा हर्षशोकान्वितो मुनिः।
ददर्श कन्यां पुरतो गुणरूपसमन्विताम्॥१३॥
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यां शरत्पङ्कजलोचनाम्।
ईषद्धासप्रसन्नास्यां पीनश्रोणिपयोधराम्॥१४॥
नवयौवनसंयुक्तां पश्यन्तीं वक्रचक्षुषा।
रत्नालंकारशोभाढ्यां वह्निशुद्धांशुकान्विताम्॥१५॥

On listening to the words of sage Aurva, Durvāsā felt delighted and was also greedy. He found the most beautiful girl full of all the virtues before him. Her face resembled the full moon of the winter season, the eyes resembled the fully blown lotus flowers of the winter season. She wore a smile on her face and her pelvic region and breasts were quite solid. She was quite youthful and was looking at the sage with side-glance. She was adorned with the gem-studded ornaments and was clad in the costumes purified by fire.

मुनिर्मुमोह तां दृष्ट्वा कामबाणप्रपीडितः।
उवाच तं मुनिश्रेष्ठं हृदयेन विदूयता॥१६॥

The sage Durvāsā was infatuated with passion with the looked at the girl. He spoke to the sage Aurva.

दुर्वासा उवाच

नारीरूपं त्रिभुवने मुक्तिमार्गनिरोधकम्।
व्यवधानं तपस्यायाः संततं मोहकारणम्॥१७॥
कारागारे च संसारे दुर्वहं निगडं परम्।
अच्छेद्यं ज्ञानखड्गैश्च महद्भिःशंकरादिभिः॥१८॥

Durvāsā said- In three worlds the beauty of a female is an obstruction towards the achieving of the salvation; it creates obstruction in the tapas and is the cause of illusion always. She happens to fee a grave fetter in the prison of the universe which cannot be transported easily. Even the gods like Śiva and many sages could not it cut-off with the sword of their knowledge.

सङ्गिच्छायातिरिक्तं च कर्मभोगात्परात्परम्।
इन्द्रियादिन्द्रियाधाराद्विद्यायाश्च मतेरपि॥१९॥

The women happen to be good companion, who always follows like a shadow, she is karmabhoga, the base of the organ of senses and can be controlled with learning and intelligence.

आदेहं सङ्गिनी छाया भोगान्तं भोग एव च।
देहेन्द्रियाणि जीवान्तं विद्या चैवावशीलिनम्॥२०॥

The shadow remains with a person till the life, the pleasures are enjoy by the person till they are not finished but the body and the organs of senses have to continue till life. The learnings keeps the company of a person till they are used.

मतिश्चैवावलीशान्ता सुस्त्री जन्मनि जन्मनि।
यावज्जीवी च सुस्त्रीको न तावज्जन्मखण्डनम्॥२१॥
यावच्च जीविकाजन्म तावदभोगः सुखावहः।
परं मुनीन्द्र सर्वस्माद्धपरिपादाब्जसेवनम्॥२२॥

The same position is held with the intelligence but the best of the women keep company of their husbands for many lives, A person having a virtuous wife, enjoys the life through out. Till such time a person is born, the pleasures are treated to be pleasant by him. The devotion at the lotus-like feet of the lord always provides pleasure.

ध्यायतः कृष्णपादाब्जं मम विघ्नो बभूव ह।
न जाने कर्मदोषेण केन वा पूर्वजन्मनः॥२३॥
पुंश्चल्या सह शृङ्गारं दृष्ट्वा दैत्यस्य मन्मनः।
बभूव कामसंयुक्तं दत्तं धात्रा व तत्फलम्॥२४॥

I was meditating upon the lotus-like feet of the lord when this obstruction was created. I know not by which part of my actions, I had to face this situation. Witnessing the conjugal pleasures of the demon with the loose woman, my mind was infatuated with passion and Brahmā has rewarded me accordingly.

किं त्वहं तव कन्यायाः कटूक्तिशतकं मुने।
ध्रुवं क्षमां करिष्यामि दास्यामि च ततः फलम्॥२५॥
सर्वतोऽपि परा निन्दा स्त्रीकूटक्तिसहिष्णुता।
अतीव निन्दितः सत्सु स्त्रीजितो भुवनत्रये॥२६॥

O sage, I shall surely forgive your daughter for her harsh words for sometime and thereafter I shall punish her for the same. At is really disgraceful for a man to bear the harsh words of the wife. This is denounced by all in the three worlds.

तवाऽऽज्ञां मस्तके कृत्वा ग्रहीष्यामि सुतां तव।
उपेतां कामिनी त्यक्त्वा कालसूत्रं व्रजेन्नरः॥२७॥

I except your command and also your daughter because refuse the company of a damsel, who is offered to a person drives him the kālasūtra hell.

रहस्युपस्थितां कामात्पुंश्चली चेज्जितेन्द्रियः।
परित्यजेद्धर्मभयादधर्मान्नरकं व्रजेत्॥२८॥

Even if a passionate loose women approaches a person who has controlled his senses and in case he disregards her only keeping in view his dharma but by thus conducting himself he has to go to the hell.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा दुर्वासा विरराम मुनेः पुरः।
मुनिर्वेदोक्तविधिना ददौ तस्मै सुतां मुने॥२९॥

Thus speaking before the sage, Durvāsā kept quiet. O sage, Aurva than gave away his girl in marriage to Durvāsā.

स्वस्तीत्युवाच दुर्वासा मुनिश्च यौतुकं ददौ।
कन्यासमर्पणं कृत्वा मोहाच्चैव रुरोद ह॥३०॥
मूर्च्छामवाप स मुनिः स्वकन्याविरहातुरः।

अपत्यभेदशोकौघः स्वात्मारामं न मुञ्चति॥३१॥

Durvāsā on his part accepted the, girl speaking the words svasti. The sage also gave the dowry. After marrying the girl to Durvāsā, the sage started weeping and was fainted with the separation of his daughter because the separation from ones own daughter is always painful to all.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य बोधयोमास कन्यकाम्।
मूर्छितां तातविच्छेदाद्रुदन्तीं शोकसंयुताम्॥३२॥

Regaining consciousness in a moment he started advising the girl who was also crying getting separated from her father.

और्व उवाच

शृणु वत्से प्रवक्ष्यामि नीतिसारं सुदुलभम्।
हितं सत्यं च वेदोक्तं परिणामसुखावहम्॥३३॥

Aurva said- O daughter, I am explaining to you the inaccessible tattva of politics which would be beneficial, truthful and is provided by the Vedas and would result in pleasure.

स्वकान्तश्च परो बन्धुरिह लोके परत्र च।
न हि कान्तात्परः प्रेयान् कुलस्त्रीणां परो गुरुः॥३४॥

In this universe, as well as in future life the husband happens to be the best of relatives. For the ladies of high families there could be none else dearer to them than the husband. The husband is the best of teacher for them.

देवपूजा व्रतं दानं तपश्चानशनं जपः।
स्नानं च सर्वतीर्थेषु दीक्षा सर्वमखेषु च॥३५॥
प्रादक्षिण्यं पृथिव्याश्च ब्राह्मणातिथिसेवनम्।
सर्वाणि पतिसेवायाः कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥३६॥

The adoration, performing of vrata, charities, fasting, japam, bathing at the holy places, performing of all the yajñas, going round the universe, serving the Brāhmaṇas and the guests do not compare even one sixteenth part of serving the husband.

किमेतैः पतिभक्ताया अभक्तायाश्च भारते।
यदा दुःखी सुखारम्भे साकाङ्क्षः प्रथमो भवेत्॥
पतिसेवापरोः धर्मः सर्वशास्त्रेषु पठ्यते।
स्वप्रज्ञानेन सततं कान्तं नारायणाधिकम्॥३७॥

In the land of Bhārata, the one, who is devoted to the husband and the one who is otherwise, all are of no consequence, when at the beginning of the pleasure, the husband feels painful. All the śāstras spell out that serving the husband is extremely religious. One should treat according to ones wisdom, her husband even greater than lord Nārāyaṇa.

दृष्ट्वा तच्चरणाम्भोजसेवां नित्यं करिष्यति।
परिहासेन कोपेन भ्रमेणावज्ञया सुते॥३८॥
कटूक्तिं स्वामिनः साक्षात्परोक्षान्न करिष्यति।
स्त्रिया वाग्योनिदुष्टायाः कामतो भारते भुवि॥३९॥
प्रायश्चित्तं श्रुतौ नास्ति नरकं ब्रह्मणः शतम्।
सर्वधर्मपरीता या कटूक्तिं कुरुते पतिम्॥४०॥
शतजन्मकृतं पुण्यं तस्या नश्यति निश्चितम्।
दत्त्वा कन्यां बोधयित्वा जगाम मुनिपुंगवः॥४१॥
स्वात्मारामः स्वाश्रमे च तस्थौ स्त्रीसहितो मुदा।
संभोगेच्छावृते चित्ते कामी संप्राप कामिनीम्॥४२॥

One should always serve at his lotus-like feet, O sage, one should not speak harsh words to the husband even in joke as by mistake. In the land of Bhārata, a lady who utters harsh words to her husband or follows an evil path, no remedy has been provided in the Vedas for her purification. She has to remain in the hell up to the life of Brahmā. A women getting all the religious ceremonies performed, but speaks harsh words to her husband, all the good deeds performed in her hundred births are destroyed, Thus Aurva best of the sages after tendering good advise to his daughter left the place. The sage Durvāsā thereafter started living his āśrama delightfully. At the developing of the desire for conjugal pleasures, the sage got a damsel.

अहो सुकृतिनां कामो वाञ्छामात्रेण सिध्यति।
शय्यां रतिकरीं कृत्वा मुनिश्रेष्ठो महामुने॥४३॥
शुभे क्षणे गृहीत्वा तां सष्वाप निर्जने प्रियाम्।
नारीरसानभिज्ञः स्यादाजन्म मुनिपुंगवः॥४४॥
तथाऽपि सुरतौ विज्ञः कामशास्त्रविशारदः।
नानाप्रकारं शृङ्गारं चकार विधिपूर्वकम्॥४५॥

It is surprising that the task of the noble people gets established with the mere wish. O great sage, thereafter Durvāsā, the best of the sages prepared the bed for conjugal pleasures in the secluded place and enjoyed the company of his wife there. The sage Durvāsā had never tasted the company of the women through out his life still being well-versed in the art of making love, he was surprising by competent in the same. He enjoyed the company of his wife variously.

नवसंगममात्रेण मूर्च्छां संप्राप कन्दली।
मूर्च्छां प्राप मुनिश्रेष्ठो बुबुधे न दिवानिशम्।।४६।।

With the first experience of the conjugal pleasure Kandalī fainted. Since the sage himself was engrossed in the conjugal pleasure he also lost the sense about the day and night for eight days.

एवं प्रतिदिनं तत्र चकार सुरतिं मुने।
विदग्धाया विदग्धेन बभूव संगमः समः।।४७।।

Thus he daily enjoyed the company of his wife. Thus a clever person was united with the clever women.

संबभूव गृहासक्तस्तपस्त्यक्त्वा मुनीश्वरः।
करोति कलहं नित्यं कन्दली स्वामिना सह।।४८।।
मुनीन्द्रो बोधयामास नीतिवाक्येन कामिनीम्।
सा तत्र बुबुधे किंचित्करोति कलहे स्पृहाम्।।४९।।
तातप्रदत्तज्ञानेन सा न शान्ता बभूव ह।
न हीयते प्रबोधेन स्वभावो दुरतिक्रमः।।५०।।

Now the sage Durvāsā discarded performing of tapas and was attracted towards his household affairs. Kandalī on the other hand started quarrelling with her husband daily, but the sage used to speak to tell her the appropriate words, she however never cared for his words and always quarrelled with him. Even the knowledge imparted by her on father was of no use to her. Because one cannot ever-come the nature which cannot be changed with any amount of advise.

नित्यं कटूक्तिं कान्तं सा करोति हेतुना विना।
जगत्प्रकम्पितं येन तया कोपात्स कम्पितः।।५१।।
त[illegible] कृतां कूटक्तिं च क्षमासंस्थां चकार ह।
बोधयामास तां नित्यं सद्यो मोहाद्दयानिधिः।।५२।।
कटूक्तिशतकं पूर्णं तत्कालेन बभूव ह।
क्षमां चकार कृपया कटूक्तिं च शताधिकाम्।।५३।।

She used to speak bitter words to her husband without any rhyme or reason shaking the entire universe. Thus he started trembling with the anger of his wife. The merciful sage used to bear all the harsh words of his wife and always started tried to convince her by with sweet words. Thus all her harsh words were ended but the sage tolerated more than hundred harsh words of his wife.

पत्नीकटूक्त्या नियतं प्रदग्धं मानसं मुने।
तस्याः कटूक्तिकारिण्याः कर्म पूर्णं बभूव ह।।५४।।

Thus the sage always tolerated her harsh words and all his sins for uttering harsh words were completed.

स्वात्मारामो दयालुश्च कोपं त्यक्तुं च स क्षमः।
शशाप कामिनीं मोहाद्भस्मराशिर्भवेति च।।५५।।
मुनेरिङ्गितमात्रेण भस्मसात्सा बभूव ह।
एवमत्युच्छ्रितानां च न कल्याणं जगत्त्रये।।५६।।

Durvāsā in spite of his being compassionate could not control his anger. He therefore, pronounced a curse on his wife, let you be reduced to a heap of dust. With the slightest indication of the sage, she was reduce to ashes. Such undisciplined women cannot meet with welfare in the three worlds.

शरीरे भस्मसाद्भूते प्रतिबिम्बः स चाऽऽत्मनः।
जीवस्तत्रान्तरिक्षस्थो ह्युवाच विनयात्प्रभुम्।।५७।।

After the burning of the body, the reflection of the soul stood in the sky and spoke to the lord.

जीव उवाच

हे नाथ सर्वदर्शी त्वं सततं ज्ञानचक्षुषा।
सर्वं जानासि सर्वज्ञः किमहं बोधयामि ते।।५८।।
सदुक्तिर्वा कटूक्तिर्वा कोपः संताप एव च।
लोभो मोहश्च कामश्च क्षुत्पिपासादिकं च यत्।।५९।।
स्थौल्यं कार्श्यं च नाशश्च दृश्यादृश्यं समुद्भवम्।
सर्वं शरीरधर्मं च न जीवस्य न चाऽऽत्मनः।।६०।।

The soul said- O lord, everything is visible to you with your divine sight. Being all-knowledgeable, you know everything. Listening to the best of the words. The harsh words, anger, repentance, greed, illusion, passion, hunger, thirst, hardness, weakness, destruction, visible, invisible and taking birth are related to the human body. They are neither related with the guṇas nor with the soul.

सत्त्वं रजस्तम इति शरीरं त्रिगुणात्मकम्।
तच्च नानाप्रकारं च निबोध कथयामि ते॥६१॥
किंचित्सत्त्वातिरिक्तं च किंचिदेव रजोधिकम्।
तमोऽतिरिक्तं किंचिच्च न समं कुत्रचिन्मुने॥६२॥

Having been composed of the three tattvas namely, sattva, rajas, tamas, this body is known as Triguṇātmaka. This is also of various types. Listen I am access in others the rajoguṇa is an access while in others, the tamoguṇa is found in access. Nowhere the body has all the guṇas alike.

सत्त्वोदयाच्च मुक्तीच्छा कर्मेच्छा च रजोगुणात्।
तमोगुणाज्जीवहिंसा कोपोऽहंकार एव च॥६३॥

Because of the presence of the sattva in the body, the jīva aspires for salvation; with the increase of rajoguṇa, one aspires for performing actions and with the increase tamoguṇa, one resorts to killing with anger and pride.

कोपात्कटूक्तिर्नियतं कटूक्त्या शत्रुता भवेत्।
तया चाप्रियता सद्यः शत्रुः कः कस्य भूतले॥६४॥
को चा प्रियोऽप्रियः को वा किं मित्रं को रिपुर्भवेत्।
इन्द्रियाणि च बीजानि सर्वत्र शत्रुमित्रयोः॥६५॥

The harsh words emanate from the anger and the enmity emerges from harsh words and because of enmity one becomes an enemy in no time. Otherwise who is the enemy of whom on earth? Who is liked and disliked? Who is the friend and who is the foe? All the organ of senses are responsible for friendship and enmities.

प्राणाधिकः प्रियः स्त्रीणां भर्तुः प्राणाधिका प्रिया।
बभूव शत्रुता सद्यो दुरुक्त्या च क्षणाद्द्वयोः॥६६॥

The husband is dearer to a wife more than her life and so is the case with the husband. In spite of that because of my foul words an enmity was created between us in no time.

यद्गतं तद्गतं सर्वं कामदोषेण वै प्रभो।
क्षमापराधं निखिलं किं कर्तव्यं बदाधुना॥६७॥

O lord, whatever has happened because of passion, better forgive it no you kindly forgive me and tell me what is to be done by me now.

किं करोमि क्व यामीति भविता कुत्र जन्म मे।
तव नान्दस्य जायाऽहं भविष्यामि जगत्त्रये॥६८॥

"Where should I go and where shall I be born?" I shall not accept anyone else as a husband in the three worlds.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा जीवश्च मौनीभूतो बभूव ह।
मूर्छामवाप स मुनिः शोकेन हतचेतनः॥६९॥

Thus speaking, the soul kept quiet and the sage fell on earth loosing his consciousness.

स्वात्मारामो महाज्ञानी जहार चेतनामहो।
स्त्रीविच्छेदो विदग्धानां सर्वशोकात्परात्परः॥७०॥

It is really surprising that the sage who had been the great intellect so lost his senses. Indeed, for the virtuous people the separation of the wife happens to be the greatest of all the grief's.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य प्राणांस्त्यक्तुं समुद्यतः।
तत्र योगासनं कृत्वा चकार वायुधारणम्॥७१॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र जगाम ब्राह्मणोऽर्भकः।
दण्डी छत्री रक्तवासा बिभ्रत्तिलकमुत्तमम्॥७२॥
सस्मितः श्यामवर्णश्च प्रज्वलन्ब्रह्मतेजसा॥
वयसाऽतिशिशुः शान्तो ज्ञानी वेदविदां वरः॥७३॥

In a moment after regaining consciousness he got ready to end his life. He than sat in yogāsana and obstructed his breathing. In the meantime a Brāhmaṇa boy arrived there holding a daṇḍa and an umbrella, clad in red garments with the tilaka adorning his forehead, wearing a smile on his face, possessing dark complexion and illumining with divine lustre. The child was peaceful, quite learned and best of those well-versed in the Veda.

दृष्ट्वा तं संभ्रमेणैव दुर्वासाः प्रणनाम ह।
वासयामास तत्रैव पूजयामास भक्तितः॥७४॥

Durvāsā bowed in reverence to him and made him sit over a seat and than adored him with devotion.

उवाच ब्राह्मणवटुर्दत्त्वा तस्मै सदाशिषम्।
तद्दर्शनादाशिषा च सर्वं दु:खं गतं मुने:॥७५॥

That Brāhmaṇa ascetic started conversation with the sage. With the audience of the child and receiving his blessing, the grief of the sage disappeared.

शिशुरूपं क्षणं स्थित्वा तमुवाच विचक्षण:।
पीयूषतुल्यं नीत्योथं नीतिशास्त्रविशारद:॥७६॥

Remaining in the form of a child in a moment, he who was well-versed in the scriptures and polity, spoke to the sage nectar-like words which were quite appropriate for the occasion.

शिशुरुवाच

सर्वं जानासि सर्वज्ञ गुरोर्मन्त्रप्रसादत:।
किं तत्त्वं त्वामहं विप्र पृच्छामि शोककातरम्॥७७॥
ब्राह्मणानां तपो धर्मस्तप: साध्यं जगत्त्रयम्।
स्वधर्मं वै परित्यज्य किमिदानी करोषि भो:॥७८॥

The child said- O all knowledgeable Brāhmaṇa, you are well-aware of everything because of the grace of your teacher, in spite of that you feel disheartened because of the grief. Therefore, I asked you what is the inner secret of it. The Brāhmaṇas are meant for performing tapas and by performing tapas one can exercise control over all the three worlds. Presently what are you doing discarding your dharma?

का कस्य पत्नी क: कान्त: कस्या वा भुवनत्रये।
मूर्खाणां वञ्चनां कर्तुं करोति मायया हरि:॥७९॥
मिथ्या पत्नी तवेयं च क्षणात्तेन गताऽधुना।
न हि सत्यमदृश्यं च मिथ्या यत्राचिरस्थिति:॥८०॥

In the three worlds who is the wife of whom and who is the husband of whom. All the people moved with the illusion of lord Hari, Kandalī happened to be your false wife, that is why she left you in a moment. The truth never disappear and the falsehood never remains for long.

एकाऽनंशा च भगिनी वसुदेवसुता हरे:।
पार्वत्यंशसमुद्भूता सुशीला चिरजीविनी॥८१॥

Ekānaṁśā the daughter of Vasudeva and sister of Kṛṣṇa has been born out of the aṁśa of Pārvatī. She is quite docile and has long life.

कल्पे कल्पे सुन्दरी सा तव पत्नी भविष्यति।
मनो देहि तपस्यायां मुदा कतिपयं दिनम्॥८२॥

The same beautiful girl shall always remain your wife in all the kalpas. Therefore you engage yourself in tapas for sometime delightfully.

कन्दली कदलीजातिर्भविष्यति महीतले।
शुभदा फलदा कान्ता सकृत्सूता सुदुर्लभा॥८३॥
कल्पान्तरे शान्तरूपा तव पत्नी भविष्यति।
अत्युच्छ्रितस्य दमनमुचितं च श्रुतौ श्रुतम्॥८४॥

Kandalī would be born on earth in the race of Kadalī. In due course of time, she would become auspicious, bestower of noble results, pleasant and bestower of the progeny. She would be inaccessible and a peaceful lady and shall become your wife. The one who gets his organs of senses beyond control, he has to be subjugated; this has been ordained in the Vedas.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा शीघ्रं च विप्ररूपी जनार्दन:।
दत्त्वा ज्ञानं च विप्राय सोऽन्तर्धानं चकार ह॥८५॥

This speaking and bestowing knowledge to the Brāhmaṇa, Hari in the form of the Brāhmaṇa boy disappeared from the scene.

मुनि: सर्वं भ्रमं त्यक्त्वा तपस्यायां मनो दधे।
कन्दली कदलीजातिर्बभूव धरणीतले॥८६॥

The sage getting relieved of all the doubts devoted himself to the performing of tapas and Kandalī was born on earth in the race of Kadalī.

दैत्यस्तालवनं गत्वा बभूव गर्दभाकृति:।
तिलोत्तमा बाणपुत्री बभूव समये मुने॥८७॥

O sage, the demon arrived in the tāla forest and was turned into a donkey and Tilottamā in due course of time was born as Ūṣā the daughter of Bāṇāsura.

दैत्येन्द्रो विष्णुचक्रेण प्राणांस्त्यक्त्वा सुवाञ्छितम्।
संप्राप्य चरणाम्भोजं मुनेरपि सुदुर्लभम्॥८८॥
काले तिलोत्तमा भूत्वा जगाम स्वालयं पुन:।
कृष्णपौत्रालिङ्गनेन परिपूर्णमनोरथा॥८९॥

The demon was killed with the cakra of Viṣṇu and achieved the eternal abode of lord Kṛṣṇa which is beyond the reach of ever the sages. In due course of time she was born and was embraced by Aniruddha, the grandson of Kṛṣṇa and ultimately she achieved her eternal abode as Tilottamā.

इत्येवं कथितं श्रुत्वा श्रीकृष्णाख्यानमुत्तमम्।

Chapter - 25

Durvāsā relieved of Sudarśana-cakra

नारद उवाच

श्रुतं किमद्भूतं ब्रह्मन् हरेश्चरितमङ्गलम्।
विशेषतस्तव मुखे ह्यतीव सुमनोहरम्।।१।।

Nārada said- O Brahman, I have listened to the extremely astonishing story of the lord which provides prosperity, the narration of the story from your mouth appeared quite impressive.

मृतायां मुनिकन्यायां शापाद्दुर्वाससो मुने:।
किं चकार समागत्य तनमे ब्रूहि तपोधन।।२।।

O best of the sages, after the death of the daughter of the sage how did the sage Aurva react. What did he do after that you kindly tell me.

सरस्वतीनदीतीरे तपस्यां कुर्वतो मुने:।
पपात धौतमूर्ध्वाच्च धार्यमाणं च वायुना।।३।।

Nārāyaṇa said- At that point of time Aurva was performing tapas at the bank of river Sarasvatī. The upper garment of the girl was carried by the wind and was dropped on the sage Aurva.

पृथिव्यां पतिते वस्त्रे तपस्त्यक्त्वा मुनीश्वर:।
ध्यानेन बुबुधे सर्वं कन्यासंबन्धिसंकटम्।।४।।

With the falling of the costume of his daughter the sage using his divine sight come to knew everything about the demise of his daughter.

जगाम शोकाविष्टोऽपि तूर्णं जामातुराश्रमम्।
सिषेच पृथिवीरेणूञ्छश्वन्नयनबिन्दुना।।५।।

He was than filled with grief and in that condition he rushed to the abode of Durvāsā and the tears from his eyes started dropping on the ground.

गत्वाऽऽलयसमीपं च विप्र: कातरमानस:।
हे वत्से कन्दलीत्येवमुवाच च पुन: पुन:।।६।।

Feeling disgusted, he reached the hermitage of the sage and uttered, "O daughter Kandalī." Thus he uttered her name again and again.

श्वशुरस्य स्वरं ज्ञात्वा दुर्वासा भयविह्वल:।
बहिर्बभूव शीघ्रं च पपात चरणाम्बुजे।।७।।

Recognising the voice of his father-in-law Durvāsā was upset with terror and coming out of his hermitage he fell at the feet of Aurva.

प्रणम्य श्वशुरं शोकाद्विललाप भृशं पुन:।
प्रवृत्तिं कथयामास मूलतो मुनिसत्तमम्।।८।।
श्रुत्वा वार्तां शुचाऽविष्ट: पपात धरणीतले।
मूर्छामाप महाज्ञानी निश्चेष्टो हि यथा मृत:।।९।।

Bowing at the feet of his father-in-law, started wailing with grief. Me than narrated the entire episode to the sage from beginning to end. On hearing it, the sage Aurva fell on the ground unconscious. In spite of his being so learned a sage, he lay there fainted like a dead person.

मृतं दृष्ट्वा स दुर्वासा मेने मनसि संकटम्।
चेतनां कारयामास प्रयत्नेन महामुने:।।१०।।

Finding him looking dead Durvāsā apprehended danger and by making strenuous efforts he made the sage to regain consciousness.

संप्राप्य चेतनां शीघ्रमुवाच तं पुर:स्थितम्।
जामातरं शोकयुतं भीतं प्रणतकंधरम्।।११।।
महाशोकादश्रुपूर्णं रक्तपङ्कलोचनम्।
कोपात्कम्पितवाञ्छश्वत्संत्रस्त: स्फुरिताधर:।।१२।।

On regaining consciousness found the grief and terror-stricken son-in-law who was standing bowing before him and crying with his eyes filled with tears which had turned red like the red lotus flower. At that point of time the sage Aurva was trembling in anger and his lips we were fluttering.

और्व उवाच

अये ब्रह्मन्नत्रिवंश पौत्रस्त्वं जगतीपते:।
स्वल्पदोषे बहुतर: कृतो दण्डस्त्वया कथम्।।१३।।

Aurva said- O Brahman, you are born of the race of Atri and are the grandson of Brahmā; you have for a petty fault pronounced such a great punishment of my daughter.

त्वज्जन्म शंकरांशेन शिष्यस्तस्य जगद्गुरो:।
वेदवेदाङ्गविज्ञश्च सर्वज्ञो गुणवान्स्वयम्।।१४।।

You were born of the aṁśa of Śiva and you happen to be his pupil as well as who is the teacher of the universe. You are yourself well-versed is Vedic and post-Vedic literature possessing all the qualities.

अनसूया महासाध्वी कमलांशा तव प्रसू:।
न जाने केन दोषेण तव चैतादृशी मति:।।१५।।

Anasūyā who was born out of the aṁśa of Lakṣmī happens to be your mother. I do not know for what reason you have this type of wisdom.

गुणवाञ्जनको यस्य माता गुणवती सती।
तयो: पुत्रो दयाहीनो गति: सूक्ष्मा श्रुतेरहो।।१६।।
मम प्राणाधिका कन्या मुदा त्वयि समर्पिता।
महागुणान्विता स्वल्पदोषेण परिमिश्रिता।।१७।।

The one whose father is virtuous and the mother is an immensely chaste lady full of all the virtues, their sons can be so heartless it has been provided in the Vedas. I had wedded my daughter who was dearer to me than my life and had all the virtues except one blemish.

वाग्दुष्टायाश्च दण्डो हि परित्याग: श्रुतौ श्रुत:।
त्वया क्रोधाद्यदि त्यक्ता पिता यत्नेन पालिता।।१८।।
मदपत्यं स्वल्पदोषे यतो भस्मीकृतं त्वया।
पराभवस्तव महान्भविष्यति न संशय:।।१९।

Even in the Vedas it has been provided to disown a wife who is foul spoken. In case you had disowned man and she could have been brought up the father but in spite of that your reduced my daughter to ashes. Therefore you have to meet with great humiliation. There is no doubt about it.

महतां क्षुद्रजन्तूनां सर्वेषां जीविनां सदा।
स्रष्टा पाता च शास्ता च भगवान्करुणानिधि:।।२०।।

All the creatures of the world are created, maintain and destroyer while the lord who is all merciful.

इत्युक्त्वा च मुनिश्रेष्ठो विलप्य च पुन: पुन:।
हेऽम्ब वत्से ह्ययीत्युक्त्वा जगाम स्वालयं रुषा।।२१।।

Thus speaking the sage started wailing again and again uttering the name of his daughter he went back to his abode.

गते मुनीन्द्रे दुर्वास विललाप भृशं पुन:।
ज्ञानेन विस्मृत: शोको बभूव द्विगुण: पुन:।।२२।।

After the departure of the sage Aurva, Durvāsā lamented again and again. Getting deprived of the divine knowledge, his grief went on increasing.

शोकानलो हि कालेन विच्छिन्नोज्ञानभस्मना।
बन्धुदर्शनशुष्केन्धदानेन वर्धते पुन:।।२३।।

The grief like the fire in due course of time, gets extinguished with the application of the divine knowledge but by meeting with the close relatives it goes on increasing like putting the dry-wood in the fire.

स्मारं स्मारं प्रियां तत्र विलप्य च पुन: पुन:।
बोधयित्वा स्वमात्मानं तपस्यायां मनो दधौ।।२४।।

Recollecting his wife again and again, he lamented continuously. He somehow got himself composed again and devoted himself towards tapas.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं मुने: शापस्य कारणम्।
बभूव तस्य कालेन दु:सहश्च पराभव:।।२५।।

Thus I have narrated to you the cause of the curse of the sage quite elaborate by. In due course of time Durvāsā had to face unbearable humiliation.

नारद उवाच

दुर्वासा: शंकरस्यांश: शिवतुल्यश्च तेजसा।
तेजस्वी को महानेव चकार तत्पराभवम्॥२६॥

Nārada said- Durvāsā was born out of the amśa of Śiva, was illustrious like him by how could such a great ascetic be put to disgrace.

नारायण उवाच

अम्बरीषो हि राजेन्द्र: सूर्यवंशसमुद्भव:।
श्रीकृष्णचरणाम्भोजे तन्मना: संततं मुने॥२७॥
न राज्येषु न भार्यासु न पुत्रेषु प्रजासु च।
न संपत्सु क्षणं चित्तं पुण्यकर्मार्जितासु च॥२८॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, the king Ambarīṣa was born in solar race. He devoted his mind always at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa. He never cared much about his merit earned by performing the good deeds.

ध्यायतेऽहर्निशं धर्मी स्वप्ने ज्ञाने हरिं मुदा।
महाजितेन्द्रिय: शान्तो दिष्णुव्रतपरायण:॥२९॥

Throughout the day and night while sleeping or awake, he always recited the name of the lord quite happily. He was self-control led, pleasant and performed all the vratas for lord Viṣṇu.

एकादशीव्रतरत: कृष्णपूजासु तत्पर:।
सर्वकर्मस्वलिप्तश्च कर्ता कृष्णार्पितेषु च॥३०॥

He has been performing Ekādaśī-vrata, adoring lord Kṛṣṇa and performing all the connected rites.

सुतीक्ष्णं षोडशारं च हरेश्चक्रं सुदर्शनम्।
तेजसा हरितुल्यं च सूर्यकोटिसमप्रभम्॥३१॥
ब्रह्मादिभि: स्तूयमानं पूजितं च सुरासुरै:।
प्रभुणा रक्षितं शश्वद्रक्षायै नृपसंनिधौ॥३२॥

The Sudarśana-cakra of Kṛṣṇa having sixteen spokes was as illustrious as lord Hari himself, having the lustre of crores of sons and was adored by Brahmā and otter gods. The lord entrusted the protection of king Ambarīṣa to Sudarśana-cakra which always hovered round him.

एकादशीव्रतं कृत्वा द्वादशीदिवसे सति।
स्नात्वा विधाय पूजां च कालेन विधिपूर्वकम्॥३३॥
दत्त्वा दानं ब्राह्मणेभ्य: सुवर्णरजतादिकम्।
ब्राह्मणान्भोजयित्वा च भोजनार्थमुवास ह॥३४॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे विप्रस्तपस्वी क्षुधितो मुने।
दण्डी छत्री शुक्लवासा बिभ्रत्तिलकमुत्तमम्॥३५॥
जटिलोऽतिकृशस्त्रस्त: शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुक:।
तत्राऽऽजगाम भगवान्दुर्वासा नृपते: पुर:॥३६॥

Once the king after performing the Ekādaśī-vrata performed the usual pūjā on the next day and distributed gold and silver to the Brāhmaṇas as serving them with food. While all the Brāhmaṇas were taking food in the meantime the sage Durvāsā also arrived there who was quite hungry holding a daṇḍa and an umbrella, clad in white garments, with his forehead fainted with tilakam and wearing the matted locks of hair on the head. He was quite lean and thin but terror stricken. His throat, lips and palate had dried up.

स च दृष्ट्वा मुनीन्द्रं तमुत्थाय च प्रणम्य च।
दत्त्वा पाद्यं च संप्रीत्या स्वर्णसिंहासने ददौ॥३७॥
तस्मै दत्त्वाऽऽशिषं विप्र: समुवास सुखासने।
प्रपच्छ राजा तं प्रीत: काऽऽज्ञा ते वद कामितम्॥३८॥

O sage, the king finding the sage having arrived in his abode got up and welcomed him and after washing his feet with the water contained in the golden pitcher, he seated him on the golden lion-throne. The sage Durvāsā also blessed him variously and took his seat. The king than asked lovingly to the sage, "What is your command for me? You Spell out your desire.".

नृपेन्द्रवचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच महामुनि:।
बुभुक्षितस्य मे राजन्देह्यन्नं विधिपूर्वकम्॥३९॥

On hearing this, the sage said, O king I am suffering from hunger and you serve me with proper food.

किं त्वघमर्षणमन्त्रं जप्त्वाऽऽयाम्यचिरेण वै।
क्षणं प्रतीक्षतां राजन्नित्युक्त्वा च गतो मुनि:॥४०॥
गते विप्रे तु राजर्षिश्चिन्तां प्राप दुरत्ययाम्।
विलोक्य विगतप्रायां द्वादशीं भयसंयुत:॥४१॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र समायान्तं गुरुं मुदा।
नत्वा निवेद्य सर्वं तु नृपति: समुवाच ह॥४२॥

नाऽऽयाति मुनिशार्दूलः प्रयाति द्वादशी तिथिः।
संकटेऽस्मिन्विधेयं च विविच्य विधिपूर्वकम्
शीघ्रं वद मुनिश्रेष्ठ भद्राभद्रं च मामिति॥४३॥

I am just coming reciting the Aghamarṣaṇa mantra. Therefore you should wait for me for a moment. Thus speaking the sage left the place. After the departure of the Brāhmaṇa, the king felt extremely worried, the Dvādaśī-tithi was coming to an end and as such he was afraid. In the meantime his teacher arrived there. The king bowed in reverence to him and told him everything and asked, O sage, the sage Durvāsā has not returned so far and the Dvādaśī-tithi is coming to end. What could be done in such a difficult time. You kindly think over it and let me know about the future course of action.

श्रुत्वा नृपोक्तिं त्वरितमुवाच मुनिपुंगवः।
हितं तथ्यं च वेदोक्तं परिणामसुखावहम्॥४४॥

Listening to the words of the king, the best of the sages spoke to the king, the beneficial and truthful words which were according to the provision of the Vedas and were beneficial in results.

वसिष्ठ उवाच

द्वादश्यां समतीतायां त्रयोदश्यां तु पारणम्।
उपवासफलं हत्वा व्रतिनं हन्ति निश्चितम्॥४५॥

Vasiṣṭha said- In case the fast is broken on the thirteenth day of the moon, after the lapse of the twelfth days, the merit of the fasting is lost and the one who performs the vrata also has to face destruction.

ब्रह्महत्यासमं पापं भवेत्तस्य श्रुतौ श्रुतम्।
भक्ष्यद्रव्यं सुरातुल्यमित्याह कमलोद्भवः॥४६॥
न भोजयित्वा मूढश्चेदतिथिं समुपस्थितम्।
स त्रस्तः क्षुधितो भुङ्क्ते कुम्भीपाके व्रजेद्ध्रुवम्॥४७
शतवर्षं तत्र तिष्ठन्नरश्चाण्डालतां व्रजेत्।
व्याधियुक्तो दरिद्रश्च भवेज्जन्मनि जन्मनि॥४८॥
अतोऽतिसूक्ष्मं किं ब्रूमोऽधुना परमसंकटे।
रक्षां कुरु द्वयोर्धर्मं समालोक्य वदामि ते॥४९॥

Besides he earns the sin of Brahmahatyā. This has been ordained in the Vedas, the eatables become like wine. In case he consumes food without offering the same to the guest, who had already arrived and he has to fall in the kumbhīpāka hell. Where he has to dwell for a hundred years and than has to be born as a cāṇḍāla, suffering from all ailment and poverty. Therefore at this time of danger what type of secret talk can I reveal to you. You are to protect the dharma of both. Keeping this in view I tell you.

उपवासफलं रक्ष कृष्णस्य चरणोदकम्।
भुक्त्वा शीघ्रमपो राजंस्तद्भक्षणमभक्षणम्॥५०॥
इत्युक्त्वा ब्रह्मणः पुत्रो विरराम महामुने।
बुभुजे तज्जलं किंचित्कृष्णपादाम्बुजं स्मरन्॥५१॥

By sipping the water of the lord Kṛṣṇa's feet you save the merit of fasting. O king, you therefore consume the water, the sipping of the water of the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa cannot be treated as the good. O great sage, thus speaking Vasiṣṭ ha, the son of Brahmā kept quiet and the king with his mind, at the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, sipped the water of the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे ब्रह्मन्नाजगाम मुनीश्वरः।
चिच्छेद कोपात्सर्वज्ञः स्वजटां नृपतेः पुरः॥५२॥
ततः समुत्थितः शीघ्रं पुरुषोऽग्निशिखोपमः।
खड्गहस्तो महाभीमो राजेन्द्रं हन्तुमुद्यतः॥५३॥

O Brahman, in the meantime the sage Durvāsā arrived there. The all knowing sage got enraged and he plucked a lock of hair, out of which an illustrious person having the lustre of the fire flame appeared. he was terrible to look at and was holding a sword in his hand. He got ready to kill the king Ambarīṣa.

हरेश्चक्रं च तं दृष्ट्वा सूर्यकोटिसमप्रभम्।
चिच्छेद कृत्यापुरुषं ब्राह्मणं छेत्तुमुद्यतम्॥५४॥

At the sight of the terrific person, the Sudarśana-cakra of lord Kṛṣṇa got activated and it cut-off the head of the terrific person created by Durvāsā and got ready to kill Durvāsā also.

दृष्ट्वा सुदर्शनं विप्रो दुद्राव भयविह्वलः।
द्विजः पश्चात्तं ददर्श ज्वलदग्निशिखोमम्॥५५॥

At the sight of Sudarśana-cakra, the sage Durvāsā felt terrified and fled from the place followed by the Sudarśana-cakra illumining like the burning flames.

ब्रह्माण्डक्रमणं कृत्वा निर्विण्णोऽतिभयाकुलः।
तं च मत्वा जगन्नाथं ब्रह्माणं शरणं ययौ॥५६॥
त्राहि त्राहीत्येवमुक्त्वा विवेश ब्रह्मणः सभाम्।
उत्थाय ब्रह्मा विप्रेन्द्रं पप्रच्छ कुशलं मुने॥५७॥

He was completely upset and went round the globe. Feeling tired he went to the abode of Brahmā and took refuge with him. He uttered, "O sage, save me." Thus speaking he entered the court of Brahmā. Brahmā got up from a seat and enquired about his welfare.

सर्वं स कथयामास वृत्तान्तं मूलतो विधिम्।
श्रुत्वा ब्रह्मा निशश्वास तमुवाच भयाकुलः॥५८॥

Durvāsā narrated to him the entire episode from beginning to end. On hearing this Brahmā took a deep sigh and getting upset with fear, spoke to him.

ब्रह्मोवाच

हरिदासं वत्स शप्तुं गतोऽसि कस्य तेजसा।
रक्षिता यस्य भगवांस्तं को हन्ता जगत्त्रये॥५९॥

Brahmā said- O son, on what base did you venture to pronounce a curse on a devotee of lord Viṣṇu? One who is protected by the lord, no one can cause harm to him in the three worlds.

क्षुद्राणां महतां चैव भक्तानां रक्षणाय च।
ररक्ष सततं चक्रं श्रीहरिर्भक्तवत्सलः॥६०॥

The devotees are the beloved of lord Hari and for the protection of his devotees, the cakra (disc) has been deputed.

यो मूढो वैष्णवं द्वेष्टि विष्णुप्राणसमं द्विज।
तस्य संहारकर्तारं संहर्तुमीश्वरो हरिः॥६१॥

O Brāhmaṇa, the one who feels envious of the devotees of lord Viṣṇu who are dearer to him like his own life are the one who tries to harm them is destroyed by lord Hari.

शीघ्रं स्थानान्तरं गच्छ वत्स त्राणं न वाऽधुना।
अन्यथा त्वां मया सार्धं हनिष्यति सुदर्शनम्॥६२॥

O son, therefore you leave this place and go to some distant place because you cannot be saved here. Otherwise this Sudarśana-cakra will kill me also along with you.

किं ब्रह्मलोकं ब्रह्माण्डं दग्धुं शक्तं क्षणेन यत्।
तेजसा विष्णुतुल्यं यत्केनान्येन निर्वार्यते॥६३॥

The Sudarśana-cakra which can destroy the Brahmaloka and the globe in a moment and the one which is as illumining as Viṣṇu himself, who can prevent it.

ब्रह्मणो वचनं श्रुत्वा ततो दुद्राव ब्राह्मणः।
त्रस्तो जगाम कैलासं शंकरं शरणं भिया॥६४॥
कृपानिधान मां रक्षेत्युवाच शंकरं भिया।
न हि पप्रच्छ कुशलं सर्वज्ञो ब्राह्मणं शिवः॥६५॥

On hearing the words of Brahmā sage Durvāsā getting terrified, left the place and arrived at Kailāsa and said to Śiva, "O merciful one, you protect me." The all-knowledgeable Śiva did not enquire from Durvāsā about his welfare.

उवाच दीनदीनेशः संहर्ता जगतां क्षणात्।
स्थिरो भव द्विजश्रेष्ठ मदीयं वचनं शृणु॥६६॥

Lord Śiva who happens to be the protector of the down-trodden and the people in misery and can destroy all the lokas in a moment, said to Durvāsā, "O best of Brāhmaṇa, be stable and listen to my words."

शंकर उवाच

पौत्रस्त्वं जगतां धातुरत्रेश्च तनयो मुने।
वेदज्ञाताऽसि सर्वज्ञ मूर्खतुल्ये तु कर्म ते॥६७॥

Śiva said- You happen to be the grandson of Brahmā and the son of sage Atri. You are all-knowledgeable, well-versed in the Vedas but your actions are like fools.

वेदेषु च पुराणेषु सेतिहासेषु सर्वतः।
निरूपितो यः सर्वेशस्तं न जानासि मूढवत्॥६८॥

The one who has been described as the lord of all in the Vedas, Purāṇas and historical Annals you are not aware of him like a fool.

अहं ब्रह्मा च इन्द्रश्च आदित्या वसवस्तथा।
धर्मेन्द्रौ च सुराः सर्वे मुनीन्द्रा मनवस्तथा॥६९॥
आविर्भूतास्तिरोभूता यस्य भ्रूभङ्गलीलया।
तस्य प्राणाधिकं भक्तं हेसि त्वं कस्य तेजसाः॥७०॥

With the playfully frowning of whom, myself Brahmā, Indra, Ādityas, Vasus, Dharmendra all the gods, the sages, the Manus are born and destroyed; his devotees are dearer to him than all the creatures on earth. By whose lustre you were going to kill the king?.

अहं ब्रह्मा च कमला दुर्गा वाणो च राधिका।
न हि भक्तात्परा: प्रेम्णा भक्ताश्च सर्वत: प्रिया:।।७१

Even myself Brahmā, Lakṣmī, Durgā, Sarasvatī and Rādhikā are not equated by word with his devotees. He likes his devotees the best of all.

क्षुद्रांश्च महतो भक्ताञ्छश्वद्रक्षति यत्नत:।
सर्वान्तरात्मा भगवांश्चक्रेण दु:सहेन च।।७२।।
नियुज्य चक्रं दुर्वार्यं स्वात्मतुल्यं च तेजसा।
तथाऽपि न प्रतीतिश्च स्वयं गच्छति रक्षितुम्।।७३।।

Therefore, the lord who happens to be the soul of all protects his devotees with the cakra making much efforts. He does not depend even the terrible cakra which has been deputed for the protection of his devotees and on the other hand, he himself goes for their protection.

स्वकीयगुणनाम्नां च श्रवणादतिसंभ्रम:।
भक्तसङ्गे भ्रमत्येव च्छायेव संततं हरि:।।७४।।

Listening to his qualities and the name, the lord at once follows his devotee like the shadow and moves after him.

कान्ता प्राणाधिका शश्वन्नहि कोऽपि ततोऽधिक:।
भक्तान्द्वेष्टि स्वयं सा चेत्तूर्णं त्यजति तां प्रभु:।।७५।।

Their spouses are dearer to him than their lives. No one is beyond him but they also feel envious of the devotees. In that case the lord disowns him as well.

सर्वेषां च प्रिया विप्रा: स्वशरीरादपि द्विज।
ब्राह्मणेभ्य: प्रिया भक्ता प्राणेभ्यश्च हरेरपि।।७६।।

O sage, the Brāhmaṇas are dear or to the lord than his own body but the devotees are dearer to him than the Brāhmaṇas; they are dearer to him than his life.

ईश्वरस्य प्रिय: को वाऽप्रिय: को वा जगत्त्रये।
य: शिष्टस्तं भजेच्छश्वद्ध्यायते सततं सदा।।७७।।

Who is dear to the lord in the three worlds and who is otherwise but the noble people are always adored by him.

महति प्रलये ब्रह्मन्ब्रह्माण्डौघे जलप्लुते।
न तत्र नाशो भक्तानां सर्वेषां च भविष्यति।।७८।।

O Brāhmaṇa, at the time of great dissolution when everything submerges in the water even than his devotees are never destroyed.

भज ब्राह्मण गोविन्दं स्मर तस्य पदाम्बुजम्।
सर्वापदो विनश्यन्ति श्रीहरे: स्मरणादपि।।७९।।

O Brahman, you recite the prayer of Govinda and devote your mind at his lotus-like feet. All the dangers disappear with the reciting of the name of the lord.

व्रज शीघ्रं च वैकुण्ठे वैकुण्ठ: शरणं तव।
दास्यत्येवाभयं तुभ्यं करुणासागरो विभु:।।८०।।

You at once proceed to Vaikuṇṭha and you can take refuge there the all merciful lord will surely provide you protection.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे व्याप्तं कैलासं चक्रतेजसा।
यथा च सूर्यकिरणै: सुप्रदीप्तं महीतलम्।।८१।।

In the meantime the entire mount Kailāsa was filled with the tejas of Sudarśana-cakra like the rays of the sun.

दग्धा ज्वालाकरालैश्च सर्वे कैलासवासिन:।
त्राहि त्राहीत्येवमुक्त्वा शंकरं शरणं ययु:।।८२।।
दृष्ट्वा चक्रं दुर्विषहं शंकर: करुणानिधि:।
पार्वत्या सह संप्रीत्या ब्राह्मणायाऽऽशिषं ददौ।।८३।।
तेज: सत्यं तप: सत्यं यदि चेच्चिरसंचितम्।
कृतापराधो भीतश्च द्विजो भवतु विज्वर:।।८४।।

All the people of Kailāsa felt the burning heat of Sudarśana-cakra and praising for protection arrived to take refuge with Śiva. Finding that unbearable cakra, the compassionate Śiva together with Pārvatī blessed Brāhmaṇa variously and pronounced a boon on him. "In case her tejas is true and the tapas earned by her since long is also true then the Brāhmaṇa, in spite of his performing a sin should be freed from the suffering from the same.".

यत्प्रभोर्मम पुण्येषु ब्राह्मण: शरणागत:।
ममाऽऽशिषा महाभीत्या शीघ्रं भवतु विज्वर:॥८५॥
इत्येवमुक्त्वा कृपया विरराम शिवा शिव:।
मुनि: प्रणम्य देवेशं वैकुण्ठं शरणं ययौ॥८६॥

Pārvatī said- "This Brāhmaṇa has arrived to take refuge at the feet of my lord. Let him be relieved of all the danger with my blessing." Pārvatī after speaking these words kept quiet with Śiva and the sage bowing in reverence to Śiva, the lord of the gods, proceeded towards Vaikuṇṭha for taking refuge.

गत्वा वैकुण्ठभवनं मनोयायी मुनीश्वर:।
दृष्ट्वा सुदर्शनं पश्चाद्विवेशान्त: पुरं हरे:॥८७॥

The sage Durvāsā who could move with the speed of mind, reached Vaikuṇṭha and finding the Sudarśana-cakra following him, he entered the inner apartment.

एवंभूतं प्रभुं दृष्ट्वा दण्डवत्प्रणमाम च।
तुष्टाव सामवेदोक्तस्तोत्रेण परमेश्वरम्॥९३॥

Finding such a lord there Durvāsā bowed in reverence to him and catered prayer to the lord with the stotra, contained in the Sāmaveda.

दुर्वासा उवाच

त्राहि मां कमलाकान्त त्राहि मां करुणानिधे।
दीनबन्धोऽतिदीनेश करुणासागर प्रभो॥९४॥
वेदवेदाङ्गसंस्रष्टुर्विधातुश्च स्वयं विधि:।
मृत्योर्मृत्यु: कालकाल त्राहि मां संकटार्णवे॥९५॥

Durvāsā said- O lord of Lakṣmī, you save me, O ocean of mercy, you protect me; you are lord of the down-trodden and those who are in great misery. You are ocean of compassion and the lord, you are the creator of the Vedas and post-Vedic literature, beside your day being the universe and the preserver of the universe as well. You are death for the death and Kāla for the Kāla, you protect me from the ocean of miseries.

संहारकर्तु: संहार: सर्वेश: सर्वकारण:।

शरणागतशोकार्तभयत्राणपरायण।
भगवन्नव मां भीतं नारायण नमोऽस्तु ते॥९७॥

वेदेष्वाद्यं च यद्वस्तु वेदा: स्तोतुं न च क्षमा:।
सरस्वती जडीभूता किं स्तुवन्ति विपश्चित:॥९८॥
शेष: सहस्रवक्त्रेण यं स्तोतुं जडतां व्रजेत्।

श्रुतय: स्मृतिकर्तारो वाणी चेत्स्तोतुमक्षमा।
कोऽहं विप्रश्च वेदज्ञ: शिष्य: किं स्तौमि मानद।।१००।।

The one who has been declared to be all sovereign in the Vedas and the glory of whom is beyond the recitation of the Vedas and Sarasvatī also stands there like a dumb person, than how can ether intellectuals, praise him. Śeṣa with all the thousand hoods finds himself non-pulsed while offering prayer to you. Even the five-faced Śiva becomes motionless and the four-faced Brahmā has to keep quiet, the śrutis and smṛtis and Sarasvatī are not competent enough to praise you. How can an ordinary person like me offered prayer to your O lord, I am well-versed in the Vedas and also the pupil of those who are well-versed in the Vedas, still I don't have the competence to offer prayer to you.

मनूनां च महेन्द्राणामष्टाविंशतिमे गते।
दिवानिशं यस्य विधेरष्टोत्तरशतायुष:।।१०१।।
तस्य पातो भवेद्यस्य चक्षुरुन्मीलनेन च।
तमनिर्वचनीयं च किं स्तौमि पाहि मां प्रभो।।१०२।।

The one whose one day is counted with the age of twenty-eight Manus and Mahendra, the same creator remain alive for hundred and eight years. But even when they also fall only than you wink for a while. Thus the lord who is beyond description, how can I praise him. O lord, you protect me.

इत्येवं स्तवनं कृत्वा पपात चरणाम्बुजे।
नयनाम्बुजनीरेण सिषेच भयविह्वल:।।१०३।।

Thus praising the lord, Durvāsā fell on his lotus-like feet and overwhelmed with fear, he started wetting his feet with his tears.

दुर्वाससा कृतं स्तोत्रं हरेश्च परमात्मन:।
पुण्यदं सामवेदोक्तं जगन्मङ्गलनामकम्।।१०४।।

The stotra composed by Durvāsā as prescribed in Sāmaveda is quite auspicious and create prosperity even in deserted places.

य: पठेत्संकटग्रस्तो भक्तियुक्तश्च संयत:।
नारायणस्तं कृपया शीघ्रमागत्य रक्षति।।१०५।।

The one who recites the same at the time of danger and practices it the lord Nārāyaṇa arrived to protect him gracefully.

राजद्वारे श्मशाने च कारागारे भयाकुले।
शत्रुग्रस्ते दस्युभीतौ हिंस्रजन्तुसमन्विते।।१०६।।
वेष्टिते राजसैन्येन मग्ने पोते महार्णवे।
स्तोत्रस्मरणमात्रेण मुच्यते नात्र संशय:।।१०७।।

In the royal court cremation ground, the prison in danger, getting surrounded by the enemies, while facing the wild animals, getting surrounded by the royal array and while at the time of the sinking of the ship in the great ocean whosoever recited this stotra he gets relieved of the danger. There is no doubt about it.

नारायण उवाच

मुनेश्च स्तवनं श्रुत्वा भगवान्भक्तवत्सल:।
प्रहस्योवाच मधुरं पीयूषवृष्टिन्मुदा।।१०८।।

Nārāyaṇa said- Listening to the prayer of the sage, the lord who bestowed his grace on the devotees smiled for a moment and spoke nectar-like words in sweet voice.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ भद्रं ते भविष्यति वरेण मे।
किं तु मे वचनं नित्यं शृणु सत्यं सुखावहम्।।१०९।।

The lord said- Get up O sage, you will meet with welfare with my boon. But you listen to my truthful and pleasant words.

अन्येषां च भवेज्ज्ञानं श्रुत्वा शास्त्रं सतां मुखात्।
स्वमूर्तिमन्ति शास्त्राणि भवे सन्तश्चरन्ति हि।।११०।।

By listening to the scriptures from the mouth of the noble people even the lay-men achieve knowledge. The scripture travel in the form of the noble people everywhere.

कर्म वेदविरुद्धं च सर्वेषामतिगर्हितम्।
करोति विद्वांश्चेज्ज्ञात्वा स च जीवन्मृताधिक:।।१११।

When an intellectual having all the wisdom acts against the Vedas, he can be termed as dead even when he be still alive.

पुराणेषु च वेदेषु चेतिहासेषु ब्राह्मण।
वैष्णवानां च महिमा श्रुत: सर्वैश्च सर्वत:।।११२।।

O Brāhmaṇa, in the Purāṇas, Vedas and the historical treatises, the glory of Vaiṣṇavas has been highlighted which has been heard by one and all variously.

अहं प्राणा वैष्णवानां मम प्राणाश्च वैष्णवा:।
तानेव द्वेष्टि यो मूढो ममासूनां च हिंसक:॥११३॥

I am the life of Vaiṣṇavas and Vaiṣṇavas happen to be my life. Therefore whosoever is envious of them, the foot indulges in her time me with the same.

पुत्रान्पौत्रान्कलत्रांश्च राज्यं लक्ष्मीं विहाय च।
ध्यायन्ते सततं ये मां को मे तेभ्य: पर: प्रिय:॥११४॥
परा भक्तान्न मे प्राणा न च लक्ष्मप्रीर्न शंकर:।
न भारती न च ब्रह्मा न दुर्गा न गणेश्वर:॥११५॥
न ब्राह्मणा न वेदाश्च न वेदजननी परा।
न गोपी न च गोपाला न राधा प्राणत: प्रिया॥११६॥

The one who devotes his mind towards me disregarding his sons, grandsons, spouses, kingdom and riches no one is dearer to me than such a person. There is no one greater on earth for me than my devotees and in comparison to them Lakṣmī, Śiva, Sarasvatī, Brahmā, Durgā, Gaṇeśa, Brāhmaṇas, Vedas, Sāvitrī, Cowherd Cowherdesses and all others of no consequence.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं सत्यं सारं च वास्तवम्।
न प्रशंसापरं तेषां ते च प्राणाधिका: प्रिया:॥११७॥

Thus I have spoken to you truthfully, which is the gist in reality. I have not exaggerated anything for praising my devotees, who are dearer to me than my life.

मां द्विषन्ति च ये मूढा ज्ञानहीनाश्च वञ्चिता:।
आत्मानं ये न जानन्ति ते यान्ति निरयं चिरम्॥११८॥
ये द्विषन्ति च मद्भक्तान्प्राणानामधिकं प्रियान्।
तेषां शास्ता त्वहं तूर्णं परत्र निरयं चिरम्॥११९॥

Such of the foolish and unwise people who are envious of me and are not aware of themselves, they have to fall in the hell for a long-time and those who are envious of my devotees, who are dearer to me than my life, I at once punish them and beyond life they have to suffer in the hell for long.

प्रभावोऽहं च सर्वेषामीश्वर: परिपालक:।
तथाऽपि न स्वतन्त्रोऽहं भक्ताधीनो दिवानिशम्॥१२०।

I am the cause of everyone and the lord besides being the preserver of all but still I am not independent. I am always influenced by my devotees.

गोलोके वाऽथ वैकुण्ठे द्विभुजं च चतुर्भुजम्।
रूपमात्रमिदं शश्वत्प्राणा मे भक्तसंनिधौ॥१२१॥

In the Goloka, I appear in two-armed and in Vaikuṇṭha, I appear as four-armed one. I have only symbolical appearance in Goloka and Vaikuṇṭha but actually I always remain with ray devotees.

यदुक्तं भक्तदत्तं च भक्षणीयं च तन्मम।
अभक्ष्यं द्रव्यमन्येन दत्तं चेदमृतोपमम्॥१२२॥

I consume everything whatever is offered to me by my devotees but even if the nectar is offered by a non-believer to me, it is not acceptable to me.

अम्बरीषं नृपश्रेष्ठं निरीहं तमहिंसकम्।
कथं हंसि दयाशीलं सर्वप्राणिहिते रतम्॥१२३॥
दयां कुर्वन्ति ये सन्त: सततं सर्वजन्तुषु।
तान्द्विषन्ति च ये मूढास्तेषां हन्ताऽहमेव च॥१२४॥

The king Ambarīṣa happens to be the best of the kings who is unattached, believes in Ahiṁsā, quite compassionate one and loves all the creatures. Why do you intend to kill such a noble person? The noble people who are compassionate to the creatures and such of the people who are envious of them, I destroy them.

भक्तानां हिंसकं शत्रुमहं रक्षितुमक्षम:।
अम्बरीषालयं गच्छ स त्वां रक्षितुमीश्वर:॥१२५॥

I am completely helpless in protecting those who are inimical to my devotees. Therefore, you approach Ambarīṣa who will surely protect you.

नाथ विप्रे पराभूते सर्वे जीवन्मृता वयम्।
दण्डं विधातुमेकस्य भवेल्लज्जा स्वजातिषु॥१३७॥

But this Brāhmaṇa should go from Vaikuṇṭha to the house of Ambarīṣa and he should pray to the king for his pleasure.

पथि तत्रास्य हिंसां च मच्चक्रं न करिष्यति॥१४९॥

Thus speaking lord Hari went back to his abode and all the people bowing at the feet of the lord went back to their respective homes.

ब्राह्मणश्च मनोयायी जगाम नृपमन्दिरम्।
सुदर्शनं च तच्चक्रं सूर्यकोटिसमप्रभम्।।१५४।।

The Brāhmaṇa who could move with the speed of the mind, at once reached the house of the king followed by the cakra illumining like crores of suns.

उपोष्य वत्सरं राजा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकः।
सिंहासनस्थो ददर्श पुरतो मुनिपुंगवम्।।१५५।।
उत्थाय संभ्रमात्सद्यः प्रणम्य सादरं मुदा।
भोजयित्वा तु मिष्टान्नं ब्राह्मणं बुभुजे स्वयम्।।१५६।।

Because of his fasting for one year, the throat, lips and palate of the king had dried up, seated on his throne he found the sage approaching him. The king suddenly got up and delightfully bowed before the Brāhmaṇa, served him food and thereafter he himself took food.

भुक्त्वा तुष्टो द्विजश्रेष्ठो युयुजे परमाशिषम्।
जगाम स्वालयं तूर्णं प्रशशंस पुनः पुनः।।१५७।।
उवाच पथि विप्रेन्द्रो मनसा विस्मयाकुलः।
माहात्म्यं दुर्लभमहो वैष्णवानामिति द्विजः।।१५८।।

Getting satisfied with the food, he blessed him immensely praising the king. Thereafter, he than left for his abode; the Brāhmaṇa was surprised in his mind saying the glory of the Vaiṣṇavas is beyond our reach.

यतीनां वैष्णवानां च ब्राह्मणानां विशेषतः॥२२॥

This vrata should be performed by all the four varṇas alike. It should particular be performed by the Brāhmaṇas.

सत्यं सर्वाणि पापानि ब्रह्महत्यादिकानि च।
सन्त्येवौदनमाश्रित्य श्रीकृष्णव्रतवासरे॥२३॥

All the sire like Brahmahatyā and others reside in the cooked rice during the Ekādaśī-vrata.

भुक्त्वैतानि च पापानि यो भुङ्क्ते तत्र मन्दधीः।
इहातिपातकी सोऽपि यात्यन्ते नरकं ध्रुवम्॥२४॥

Therefore, the one who consumes the cooked rice on that day, he contributes to all the sins. Becoming a great sinner on the earth, he ultimately falls the hell.

एकादशीप्रमाणानि युगसंख्याकृतानि च।
कुम्भीपाके महाघोरे स्थित्वा चाण्डालतां व्रजेत्॥२५॥

For eleven yugas he has to remain in the kumbhīpāka hell and thereafter he is born as a cāṇḍāla.

गलितव्याधियुक्तश्च ततः सप्तसु जन्मसु।
पश्चान्मुक्तो भवेत्पापादित्याह कमलोद्भवः॥२६॥

He suffers with leprosy for seven births and thereafter he is relieved of the sins. This has been ordained by Brahmā.

इत्येवं कथितं ब्रह्मन्यो दोषस्तत्र भोजने।
द्वादशीलङ्घने दोषो मयोक्तश्च श्रुतः पुरा॥२७।

O Brahman, I have narrated to you about the sin one earns by consuming food on Ekādaśī day and the sin one earns by crossing the Dvādaśī day and has already been explained by me which you have already listened.

दशमीलङ्घने दोषं निबोध कथयामि ते।
पुरा श्रुतो धर्मवक्त्राद्वेवसारोद्धृतोऽपि च॥२८॥

Now I am going to tell you the sin one earns by crossing the tenth day (Daśamī-tithi). I had been enlightened on this by Dharma in earlier times which had been the essence of the Vedas.

दशमीं यः कलामात्रां मूढोऽज्ञानेन लङ्घयेत्।
याति श्रीस्तद्‌गृहात्तूर्णं शापं दत्त्वा तु दारुणम्॥२९॥

The foolish person who crosses the tenth day even by fraction, the goddess Lakṣmī deserts his house leaving him.

इह तद्वंशहानिश्च यशोहानिर्भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
अन्ते मन्वन्तरशतमन्धकूपे वसेद् द्विज॥३०॥

His progeny is put to harm in this birth together with his glory. Ultimately falls into the andhakūpa hell for a hundred manvantaras.

दशम्येकादशी वाऽपि द्वादशी यत्र वासरे।
तत्र भुक्त्वा परदिने उपोष्य व्रतमाचरेत्॥३१॥

The day on which the Daśamī, Ekādaśī and Dvādaśī fall, one should take his food on that day and fast during the next day.

द्वादश्यां च व्रतं कृत्वा त्रयोदश्यां च पारणम्।
द्वादशीलङ्घने दोषो व्रतिनां तत्र विद्यते॥३२॥
संपूर्णैकादशी यत्र प्रभाते किंचिदेव सा।
तत्रोपोष्या द्वितीया च परा चेद्यदि वर्धते॥३३॥
षष्टिदण्डात्मिका यत्र प्रभाते च तिथित्रयम्।
कुर्वन्ति गृहिणः पूर्वं नैव यस्यादयस्तथा॥३४॥

While performing vrata of Dvādaśī one should break it on Trayodaśī day. In that case, one does not earn the sin of crossing the Dvādaśī-tithi. In spite of there being Ekādaśī on one day and on the next day if there is little of Dvādaśī in the early morning, than the second day the fast should be continued. In case the tithi is extended to sixty daṇḍas and in the early morning there is the on conglomeration of three tithis, in that case, a house-holder should perform vrata on the earlier day and not the yatis.

परत्रानशनं कृत्वा नित्यकृत्यं समाचरेत्।
व्रते जागरणं सर्वं पूर्वत्रैवाऽऽचरेद्बुधः॥३५॥
तत्पूर्वदिवसे नित्यं व्रतं कृत्वा परेऽहनि।
एकादश्यां ब्यतीतायां पारणं तु समाचरेत्॥३६॥

The fast should be observed on the next day carrying on other daily routine. In case the Ekādaśī, falls on two consecutive days, one should perform the vrata and the night awakening on the first night itself after performing vrata on the first day one should break his fast on the neat day after the elapse of Ekādaśī-tithi.

वैष्णावानां यतीनां च विधवानां तथैव च।
सर्वाः समा उपोष्यास्ता भिक्षूणां ब्रह्मचारिणाम्॥३७॥

The Vaiṣṇavas, the yatis, the widows, the beggars and Brahmacāris should all performed the Ekādaśī-vrata.

शुक्लामेव तु कुर्वन्ति गृहिणो वैश्णवेतराः।
न कृष्णलङ्घने दोषस्तेषां वेदेषु नारद॥३८॥

The people other than the Vaiṣṇavas should performed Ekādaśī-rata of the bright fortnight and while doing so they do not earn the sin of crossing the Ekādaśī-tithi according to the Vedas.

शयनीबोधिनीमध्ये वा कृष्णैकादशी भवेत्।
सैवोपोष्या गृहस्थेन नान्या कृष्णा कदाचन॥३९॥

The Kṛṣṇa-Janma Ekādaśī falling between Hariśayanī and Haribodhinī Ekādaśī should be observed by the householder who should keep the fast on that day and not on other Ekādaśī days falling in the black fortnight.

इत्येवं कथितो ब्रह्मन्निर्णयोऽयं श्रुतौ श्रुतः।
व्रतस्यास्य विधानं च निबोध कथयामि ते॥४०॥

O Brahman, thus I have spoken to you everything about the Ekādaśī-vrata which has been prescribed in the Vedas, now I narrate to you the details of its performance.

कृत्वा हविष्यं पूर्वाह्णे न च भुङ्क्ते पुनर्जलम्।
एकाकी कुशशय्यानां नक्तं शयनमाचरेत्॥४१॥

On the tenth day in the early morning, after coming haviṣya food, one should not take even water the second time. One should sleep on the mat of kuśa during the night alone.

ब्राह्मे मुहूर्ते चोत्थाय प्रातः कृत्यं विधाय च।
नित्यकृत्यं विधायाथ ततः स्नानं समाचरेत्॥४२॥
व्रतोपवासं संकल्प्य श्रीकृष्णप्रीतिपूर्वकम्।
कृत्वा संध्यां तर्पणं च विधायाऽऽह्निकमाचरेत्॥४३॥
नित्यपूजां दिने कृत्वा व्रतद्रव्यं समाहरेत्।
कृत्वा षोडशोपचारं प्रदृष्टं विधिबोधितम्॥४४॥

Thereafter getting up in the early morning in the Brahmamuhūrta, he should purify himself from all the daily routines like taking of bath, etc. Thereafter one should take a vow before lord Kṛṣṇa for the observing of the fast. Then performing sandhyā, one should complete all the daily routines and the adorations. Performing the pūjā he should collect the material required for performing the vrata including the sixteen types of material prescribed in the scriptures.

आसनं वसनं पाद्यमर्घ्यं पुष्पानुलेपनम्।
धूपं दीपं च नैवेद्यं यज्ञसूत्रं च भूषणम्॥४५॥
गन्धं स्नानीयताम्बूले मधुपर्कं पुनर्जलम्।
एतान्याहृत्य दिवसे व्रतं नक्तं समाचरेत्॥४६॥

The sixteen types of materials include āsana, the clothes, pādya, arghya, flowers, sandal-paste, incense, lamp, naivedya, yajñopavīta, ornaments, fragrance, water for bathing, betel, madhuparka and the water for sipping. Collecting all these materials during the day one should perform the vrata during the night.

उपविश्याऽऽसने पूतो धृत्वा धौते च वाससी।
आचम्य श्रीहरिं नत्वा स्वस्तिवाचनमाचरेत्॥४७॥

Getting seated over a pure seat he should clad himself into new garments. After sipping he should bow in reverence to lord Hari and then utter svastivācana.

आरोप्य मङ्गलघटं धान्याधारे शुभे क्षणे।
फलशाखाचन्दनाक्तं वेदोक्तं मुनिभिर्मुदा॥४८॥

He should concentrate the welfare pitcher on the fried paddy and the neck of the pitcher should be adorned with mango leaves and some fruits. The kalaśas should then be painted with sandal-paste and one should perform the adoration as prescribed in the Vedas by the seers.

देवषट्कं समावाह्य पृथग्ध्यानैः समाचरेत्।
पूजां पञ्चोपचारैश्च प्रकृष्टैश्च विचक्षणः॥४९॥
गणेश्वरं दिनकरं वह्निं विष्णुं शिवं शिवाम्।
संपूज्यैतान्प्रणम्याथ व्रतं कुर्याद्धरिं स्मरन्॥५०॥

Thereafter he should invoke six gods on the six bundles of the paddy and then should adore them with best of the five-fold material. The six gods are Gaṇeśa, Sūrya, Agni, Viṣṇu, Śiva and Pārvatī. One should recite the name of Hari after adoring them all and then start the vrata.

नाऽऽराध्य देवषट्कं च यदि कर्म समाचरेत्।
नित्यं नैमित्तिकं चापि तत्सर्वं निष्फलं भवेत्॥५१॥
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं व्रताङ्गभूतमेव च।
कण्वशाखोक्तमिष्टं च व्रतं शृणु महामुने॥५२॥

In case anyone observes the vrata without performing the daily pūjā and other connected details, his entire effort becomes infructuous. Thus O great sage, I have explained to you the details about the performing of the vrata which have been prescribed in the Kaṇvaśākhā. Now you listen about the desired vrata.

सामवेदोक्तध्यानेन ध्यात्वा कृष्णं परात्परम्।
पुष्पं च शिरसि न्यस्य पुनर्ध्यानं समाचरेत्॥५३॥

ध्यानं शृणु निगूढं च सर्वेषामपि वाञ्छितम्।
न प्रकाश्यमभक्ताय भक्तप्राणाधिकं परम्॥५४॥

One should meditate upon lord Kṛṣṇa according to the hymns prescribed in Samāveda, placing flowers on his head and than concentrate his mind. You listen to me about the extremely deep dhyānam which is desired by all. It should not be revealed to non-believers, but it is dearer to the devotees than their lives.

नवीननीरदो यद्वच्छ्यामसुन्दरविग्रहम्।
शरत्पार्वणचन्द्राभाविनिन्द्यास्यमनुत्तमम्॥५५॥

The body of Śrī Kṛṣṇa has the complexion of the new clouds and is quite beautiful. His face is like the full-moon of the winter season and the best of all.

The eyes of the delightful cowherdesses always looked at him with side-glances continuously, as if the body of the lord was created out of the lives of the cowherdesses.

रासमण्डलमध्यस्थं रासोल्लाससमुत्सुकम्।
राधावक्त्रशरच्चन्द्रसुधापानचकोरकम्॥५८॥

He is enshrined in the middle of the Rāsamaṇḍala and is quite anxious to perform the divine dance and he is looking at the lotus-like face of Rādhā which resembles the full moon of the winter season, like the partridge bird.

कौस्तुभेन मणीन्द्रेण वक्षःस्थलसमुज्ज्वलम्।

सद्रत्नसारनिर्माणं किरीटोज्ज्वलशेखरम्।
विनोदमुरलीन्यस्तहस्तं पूज्यं सुरासुरैः॥६०।
ध्यानासाध्यं दुराराध्यं ब्रह्मादीनां च वन्दितम्।
कारणं कारणानां यस्तमीश्वरमहं भजे॥६१॥

His chest is adorned with kaustubha-gem and the garland of Pārijāta flowers; his forehead is adorned with the kirīṭa-mukuṭa studded with the best of gems. He playfully holds the flute in his hand and is adored by the gods and demons alike. He is difficult to achieve even with deep meditation. The gods like Brahmā and others adore him. He happens to be the cause of all the causes. I adore the lord.

ध्यात्वाऽनेन तमावाह्य चोपचाराणि षोडश।
दत्त्वा संपूज्येद्भक्त्या मन्त्रैरेभिश्च नारद॥६२॥

O Nārada, thus meditating upon the lord, he should invoke him and should adore him reciting mantras with devotion.

Thus a wise devotee should offer the flowers filled in the hand-cups and adore the lord offering prayers.

भक्त उवाच

हे कृष्ण राधिकानाथ करुणासागर प्रभो।
संसारसागरे घोरे मामुद्धर भयानके॥८२॥

The devotee said- O Kṛṣṇa, O lord of Rādhikā, O lord, you are the ocean of mercy and protect me from the terrible ocean or the universe, helping me to cross it.

वस्तुमन्त्रविहीनं यत्तत्संपूर्णं कुरु प्रभो॥८५॥

O lord, I am devoid of devotion, am actionless, devoid of the Vedic knowledge, the riches and the mantras; therefore, you kindly make me complete.

वेदोक्तविहिताज्ञानात्स्वाङ्गहीने च कर्मणि।
त्वन्नामोच्चारणेनैव सर्वं पूर्णं भवेद्धरे॥८६॥

O lord Hari, unaware of the provisions of the Vedas I have performed the adoration which may be having some short-comings in performance or the reciting of names, which should be overlooked by you.

इति स्तुत्वा तं प्रणम्य दत्त्वा विप्राय दक्षिणाम्।
महोत्सवं विधायाऽथ कुर्याज्जागरणं व्रती॥८७॥

Thus reciting the prayers to the lord and bowing before him one should offer dakṣiṇā to the Brāhmaṇas and the performer should remain awake during the night with rejoicing.

कृत्वा व्रतोपवासं च यदि निद्रां निषेवते।
पुनरेव जलं भुङ्क्ते व्रतार्धफलभाग्भवेत्॥८८॥

In case anyone goes to sleep while performing the vrata or drinks water then half of its merit is lost.

यत्नेन च हविष्यान्नं सकृदेव समाचरेत्।
मन्त्रेणानेन विप्रेन्द्र श्रीकृष्णचरणं स्मरन्॥८९॥

O best of the Brāhmaṇa, reciting the name of the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, one should take the food left over from the yajña.

हे अन्न प्राणिनां प्राणा ब्रह्मणा निर्मितं पुरा।
देहि मे विष्णुरूप त्वं व्रतोपवासयोः फलम्॥९०॥

O food, you are the form of Viṣṇu and were created by Brahmā in the form of life; therefore you bestow on me the reward for my performing the vrata and fasting.

एवं यः कुरुते भक्त्या भारते व्रतमुत्तमम्।
पूर्वान्सप्त परान्सप्त स्वात्मानमुद्धरेद्ध्रुवम्॥९१॥

Thus one should perform the vrata with devotion on the land of Bhārata and one who does so, redeems seven earlier and seven coming generations.

मातरं भ्रातरं चैव श्वश्रूं च श्वशुरं सुताम्।
जामातरं तथा भृत्यमुद्धरेन्निश्चितं नरः॥९२॥

The person who performs the vrata redeems his mother, brother, mother-in-law, father-in-law, daughter and even the servants.

इत्येव कथितं विप्र श्रीकृष्णचरितव्रतम्।
सुखदं मोक्षदं सारमपरं कथयामि ते॥९३॥

O Brāhmaṇa, I have narrated to you the story of lord Kṛṣṇa which is quite pleasant, provides welfare and salvation; now you listen to another story.

Stealing the costumes of Cowherdesses

नारायण उवाच

शृणु नारद वक्ष्यामि श्रीकृष्णचरितं पुन:।
गोपीनां वस्त्रहरणं वरदानं मनीषितम्।।१।।
हेमन्ते प्रथमे मासि गोपिका: काममोहिता:।
कृत्वा हविष्यं भक्त्या च यावन्मासं सुसंयुता:।।२।।
स्नात्वा सूर्यसुतातीरे पार्वतीं वालुकामयीम्।
कृत्वाऽऽवाह्य च मन्त्रेण पूजां कुर्वन्ति नित्यश:।।३।।

Nārāyaṇa Said- O Nārada, you listen, I am again narrating the life story of Kṛṣṇa in which he stole away the costumes of the cowherdesses and also bestowed the desired boon to them.

During the first month of the spring season, the cowherdesses infatuated with passion took the haviṣya food only once and controlling themselves they performed the vrata with devotion for a month. They went to the river Yamunā, taking a bath in it and making an image of Pārvatī in sand, invoked her with the mantras and performed her pūjā.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमैश्च मनोहरैः।
नानाप्रकारपुष्पैश्च माल्यैर्बहुविधैरपि॥४॥
धूपैर्दीपैश्च नैवेद्यैर्वस्त्रैर्नानाफलैर्मुने।
मणिमुक्ताप्रवालैश्च वाद्यैर्नानाविधैरपि॥५॥
हे देवि जगतां मातः सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तकारिणि।
नन्दगोपसुतं कान्तमस्मभ्यं देहि सुव्रते॥६॥
मन्त्रेणानेन देवेशीं परिहारं विधाय च।
ततः कृत्वा तु संकल्पमपूजन्मूलमन्त्रतः॥७॥
मन्त्रस्तु सामवेदोक्तोऽयातयामः सबीजकः।
ॐ श्रीदुर्गायै सर्वविघ्नविनाशिन्यै नम इति॥८॥
पुष्पं माल्यं च नैवेद्यं धूपं दीपं तथा शुभम्।
मन्त्रेणानेन तद्भक्त्या ददुः सर्वा मुदाऽन्विताः॥९॥

O sage, they offered the sandal-paste, a gum, kastūrī, saffron, various types of flowers and flower garlands, incense, lamp, eatables, several types of fruits, gems and jewels and with the sound of musical instrument they used to recite. "O goddess, we are performing the best of the vrata; you are the mother of the universe besides being its creator, preserver and the destroyer, therefore you bestow on us Kṛṣṇa the son of Nanda as our husband. Reciting this mantra making the image of goddess Pārvatī in sand, taking a vow and recited the basic mantra. The mantra that has been prescribed in the Samāveda is like this ॐ श्री दुर्गायै सर्व विघ्न विनाशिन्यै: नमः। Reciting this mantra the cowherdesses offered to the goddess flower garlands, eatables, incense, lamps and all other materials with devotion.

प्रवालमालया भक्त्या चेमं मन्त्रं सहस्रधा।
जपं कृत्वा च स्तुत्वा च प्रणेमुः शिरसा भुवि॥१०॥
सर्वमङ्गलमाङ्गल्ये सर्वकामप्रदे शिवे।
देहि मे वाञ्छितं देवि नमस्ते शंकरप्रिये॥११॥

Thereafter holding the coral rosary in their hands they recited this mantra a hundred times and bowing their heads on the ground, they prayed in reverence to her thus, "O beloved of Śiva, O Śiva, you bestow all the welfare on the people and fulfil all the wishes. O goddess, I bow in reverence to you, let our wish be fulfilled.".

इत्युक्त्वा च नमस्कारं कृत्वा दत्त्वा च दक्षिणाम्।
नैवेद्यानि च सर्वाणि ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ययुर्गृहम्॥१२॥

Thus speaking and bowing in reverence they offered eatables to the Brāhmaṇas besides giving away dakṣiṇā to them.

नारायण उवाच

स्तवराजं शृणु तुष्टुवुर्येन पार्वतीम्।
भक्त्या गोपाङ्गनाः सर्वाः सर्वाभीष्टफलप्रदाम्॥१३॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, now you listen to the great stotra reciting which the cowherdesses adored Pārvatī for the fulfilment of their desires.

जगत्येकार्णवे घोरे चन्द्रसूर्यविवर्जिते।
अञ्जनाकारतोयेन संप्लुते च चराचरे॥१४॥
दत्तं पुरा ब्रह्मणे च हरिणा जलशायिना।
तस्मै दत्त्वा सर्वमिदं निद्रां भेजे जगत्पतिः॥१५॥

When the entire universe was submerged in water in the earlier times leaving no trace of the sun, the moon and the water had completely submerged all the moveable and immovable of the earth. Thereafter Viṣṇu reclining in the water imparted knowledge of the stotra to Brahmā. After bestowing the knowledge of this stotra, Viṣṇu the lord of the universe was over-powered by yoganidrā.

नाभिपद्मे जगत्स्रष्टा मधुना कैटभेन च।
पीडितः परितुष्टाव मूलप्रकृतिमीश्वरीम्॥१६॥

Thereafter, Brahmā who had emerged, seated on the lotus flowers, the stalk of which emerged from the navel of Viṣṇu, was paralysed by Madhu and Kaiṭabha. At that point of time Brahmā adored the goddess Mūla-prakṛti.

ब्रह्मोवाच

दुर्गे शिवेऽभये माये नारायणि सनातनि।

जये मे मङ्गलं देहि नमस्ते सर्वमङ्गले।।१७।।
दैत्यनाशार्थवचनो दकार: परिकीर्तित:।
उकारो विघ्ननाशार्थवाचको वेदसंमत:।।१८।।
रेफो रोगघ्नवचनो गश्च पापघ्नवाचक:।
भयशत्रुघ्नवचनश्चाऽऽकार: परिकीर्तित:।।१९।।

Brahmā said- O Durgā, O Śiva, you are fearless, Māyā, Nārāyaṇī and eternal Jaya, you provide welfare to me. You bestow welfare on all. I bow in reverence to you, the word द of Durgā for the destruction of the demons; उ stands for the removal of the obstruction, this is the meaning derived according to the Vedas. र in the word Durgā stands for removal of the diseases and ग stands for destruction of the sins and आ stands for destruction of the enemies.

स्मृत्युक्तिस्मरणाद्यस्या एते नश्यन्ति निश्चितम्।
अतो दुर्गा हरे: शक्तिर्हरिणा परिकीर्तिता।।२०।।

With the reciting of the name of Durgā the daityas and all other obstructions disappear. This is the reason why Durgā has been termed as the true śakti of the lord by Hari himself.

विपत्तिवाचको दुर्गश्चाऽऽकारो नाशवाचक:।
दुर्गं नश्यति या नित्यं सा दुर्गा परिकीर्तिता।।२१।।

Otherwise the word दुर्ग stands for misfortune and आ stands for the destruction of the same. Therefore the one who always destroys misfortune is called Durgā.

दुर्गो दैत्येन्द्रवचनोऽप्याकारो नाशवाचक:।
तं ननाश पुरा तेन बुधैर्दुर्गा प्रकीर्तिता।।२२।।
शश्च कल्याणवचन इकारोत्कृष्टवाचक:।
समूहवाचकश्चैव वाकारो दातुवाचक:।।२३।।
श्रेय:संघोत्कृष्टदात्री शिवा तेन प्रकीर्तिता।
शिवराशिर्मूर्तिमती शिवा तेन प्रकीर्तिता।।२४।।

In another interpretation of Daityendra, stands for the demons and आ stands for their destroyer. Since the goddess had destroyed demons in earlier times that is why the intellectual called her as Durgā. In the word Śiva, श stands for the best and इ stands for the combination and र stands for the giver. Therefore the one who provides welfare to all, she is called Śivā, she happens to be the treasure of the welfare, that is why she is called Śivā.

शिवो हि मोक्षवचनश्चाऽऽकारो दातृवाचक:।
स्वयं निर्वाणदात्री या सा शिवा परिकीर्तिता।।२५।।

In another interpretation, the word शिव has been used for mokṣa or redemption and आ stands for the one who provides the same, therefore the word Śivā also means the one who provides salvation.

अभयो भयनाशोक्तश्चाऽऽकारो दातृवाचक:।
प्रददात्यभयं सद्य: साऽभया परिकीर्तिता।।२६।।

The word Abhaya stands for removing of danger and आ stands for the one who provides the same. Since she provides protection from all the dangers she is known as Abhayā.

राज्यश्रीवचनो माश्च याश्च प्रापणवाचक:।
तां प्रापयति या नित्यं सा माया परिकीर्तिता।।२७।।

In the interpretation of Rājalakṣmī, मा stands for riches and या stands for the one who bestows the same; therefore the one who bestows all the riches is called Māyā.

माश्च मोक्षार्थवचनो याश्च प्रापणवाचक:।
तं प्रापयति या सद्य: सा माया परिकीर्तिता।।२८।।

Otherwise in the meaning of mokṣa मा stands for mokṣa and या stands for the giver. Therefore she is known as Māyā because she bestows redemption from the ocean of the universe.

नारायणार्धाङ्गभूता तेन तुल्या च तेजसा।
सदा तस्य शरीरस्था तेन नारायणी स्मृता।।२९।।
निर्गुणस्य च नित्यस्य वाचकश्च सनातन:।
सदा नित्या निर्गुणा या कीर्तिता सा सनातनी।।३०।।

Since she is born out of half the body of Nārāyaṇa and because of her remaining in the body of Nārāyaṇa she is also called Nārāyaṇī. The word Sanātana is used for the eternal principle or the one who is without qualities. Therefore since she always remains without qualities she is also called Sanātanī.

जय: कल्याणवचनो याकारो दातृवाचक:।

जयं ददाति या नित्यं सा जया परिकीर्तिता॥३१॥
सर्वमङ्गलशब्दश्च संपूर्णैश्वर्यवाचकः।
आकारो दातृवचनस्तद्दात्री सर्वमङ्गला॥३२॥

The word Jaya stands for welfare and आ stands for the giver. Since she provides victory to everyone, she is given the name of Jaya. The word Sarvamaṅgala stands for all the fortunes and आ stands for the giver. Therefore the one who bestows all the fortunes is called Sarvamaṅgala.

नामाष्टकमिदं सारं नामार्थसहसंयुतम्।
नारायणेन यद्दत्तं ब्रह्मणे नाभिपङ्कजे॥३३॥
तस्मै दत्त्वा निद्रितश्च बभूव जगतां पतिः।
मधुकैटभौ दुर्दान्तौ ब्रह्माणं हन्तुमुद्यतौ॥३४॥

These eight names of the goddess represent the essence of this stotra which provides the meaning of her name as well. Nārāyaṇa had bestowed the knowledge of this stotra to Brahmā who was seated on the lotus emerging from the navel of Viṣṇu. After bestowing the knowledge to Brahmā, lord Viṣṇu was over-powered by sleep. Thereafter two demons named Madhu and Kaiṭabha intended to kill Brahmā.

स्तोत्रेणानेन स ब्रह्मा स्तुतिं नत्वा चकार ह।
साक्षात्स्तुता तदा दुर्गा ब्रह्मणे कवचं ददौ॥३५॥

Thereafter, Brahmā adored Durgā reciting this stotra and bowed in reverence to her. After the offering of prayer to Durgā, she herself appeared on the scene and provided a kavaca to Brahmā.

श्रीकृष्णकवचं दिव्यं सर्वरक्षणनामकम्।
दत्त्वा तस्मै महामाया साऽन्तर्धानं चकार ह॥३६॥

Bestowing the knowledge of Sarvamaṅgala, (all protector), kavaca to Brahmā, Mahāmāyā disappeared.

स्तोत्रं कुर्वन्ति निद्रां च संरक्ष्य कवचेन वै।
निद्रानुग्रहतः सद्यः स्तोत्रस्यैव प्रभावतः॥३७॥
तत्राऽऽजगाम भगवान्वृषरूपी जनार्दनः।
शक्त्या च दुर्गया सार्धं शंकरस्य जयाय च॥३८॥
सरथं शंकरं मूर्ध्नि कृत्वा च निर्भयं ददौ।
अत्यूर्ध्वं प्रापयामास जया तस्मै जयं ददौ॥३९॥

By protecting himself with kavaca, Brahmā started reciting the prayer. With the influence of the stotra, the goddess of sleep taking to the form of a bull accompanied by Durgā and lord Janārdana arrived there for the victory of Śiva. The lord carried Śiva together with his chariot on his head and relieving him of all the dangers, raised him up. The goddess Jaya bestowed victory to him.

स्तोत्रस्यैव प्रभावेण संप्राप्य कवचं विधिः।
वरं च कवचं प्राप्य निर्भयं प्राप निश्चितम्॥४०॥

With the influence of this stotra Brahmā received kavaca and by receiving kavaca and the boon, he became fearless.

ब्रह्मा ददौ महेशाय स्तोत्रं च कवचं वरम्।
त्रिपुरस्य च संग्रामे सरथे पतिते हरौ॥४१॥

During the battle with Tripurāsura, when Śiva fell down with his chariot, Brahmā bestowed this kavaca to Śiva.

ब्रह्मास्त्रं च गृहीत्वा स सनिद्रं श्रीहरिं स्मरन्।
स्तोत्रं च कवचं प्राप्य जघान त्रिपुरं हरः॥४२॥

After receiving this kavaca, stotra from Brahmā, Śiva recited the name of Hari who was engrossed in sleep. Śiva then killed the demon Tripurāsura.

स्तोत्रेणानेन तां दुर्गां कृत्वा गोपालिकाः स्तुतिम्।
लेभिरे श्रीहरिं कान्तं स्तोत्रस्यास्य प्रभावतः॥४३॥

The cowherdesses adored Durgā, reciting this stotra and with the influence of the goddess they achieved the lord as their husband.

गोपकन्याकृतं स्तोत्रं सर्वमङ्गलनामकम्।
वाञ्छितार्थप्रदं सद्यः सर्वविघ्नविनाशनम्॥४४॥
त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नित्यं भक्तियुक्तश्च मानवः।
शैवो वा वैष्णवो वाऽपि शाक्तो दुर्गात्प्रमुच्यते॥४५॥

Thus this stotra is called Sarvamaṅgala composed by the cowherdesses fulfils the desires, removes all the obstructions and by reciting it thrice a day with devotion by all including all the Vaiṣṇavas, Śaivas and Śāktas, one is relieved of all the dangers.

राजद्वारे श्मशाने च दावाग्नौ प्राणसंकटे।
हिंस्रजन्तुभयग्रस्तो मग्न: पोते महार्णवे॥४६॥
शत्रुग्रस्ते च संग्रामे कारागारे विपद्गते।
गुरुशापे ब्रह्मशापे बन्दुभेदे च दुस्तरे॥४७॥
स्थानभ्रष्टे धनभ्रष्टे जातिभ्रष्टे शुचाऽन्विते।
पतिभेदे पुत्रभेदे खलसर्पविषान्विते॥४८॥
स्तोत्रस्मरणमात्रेण सद्यो मुच्येत निर्भय:।
वाञ्छितं लभते सद्य: सर्वैश्वर्यमनुत्तमम्॥४९॥
इह लोके हरेर्भक्तिं दृढां च सततं स्मृतिम्।
अन्ते दास्यं च लभते पार्वत्याश्च प्रसादत:॥५०॥

By reciting this stotra one achieves success and freedom in the royal court, cremation ground, forest fire, in danger from the wild animals, getting terrified from the terrific creatures, at the time of sinking of a ship in the great ocean, getting surrounded by the enemies in the battle-field, in the prison, at the time of misfortune, during the curse of the teacher, curse of the Brāhmaṇas, separation from the close relatives, falling from the position, becoming pauper, falling from the caste, having been plunged in grief, during separation from husband or the son, when in pain, having been bitten by the wicked serpent, whosoever recites this stotra he is relieved of all the dangers and is also freed from the same. One achieves the riches according to the best of his desires.

अनेन स्तवराजेन तुष्टुवुर्नित्यमीश्वरीम्।
प्रणेमु: परया भक्त्या यावन्मासं व्रजाङ्गना:॥५१॥

With the grace of Pārvatī, he achieves the infallible devotion of the lord in this world. If he recites his name regularly he ultimately achieves his slavehood. The cowherdesses of Vraja reciting this stotra adored Durgā with utmost devotion bowing in reverence to her for one month regularly.

एवं पूर्णे च मासे च समाप्तिदिवसे तथा।
स्नातुं प्रजग्मुर्योष्यश्च वस्त्राण्याधाय तत्तटे॥५२॥

After the completion of the month on the last day, the cowherdesses went to the bank of Yamunā and keeping their costumes on the banks they entered the river water.

नानाविधानि द्रव्याणि रत्नमूल्यानि नारद।
पीतलोहितशुक्लानि चारूणि मिश्रितानि च॥५३॥
तीरावृतान्यसंख्यानि तैश्च तीरं सुशोभनम्।
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीवायुना सुरभीकृतम्॥५४॥
नैवेद्यैश्च बहुविधै: कालदेशोद्भवै: फलै:।
धूपै: प्रदीपै: सिन्दूरै: कुङ्कुमैश्च विराजितम्॥५५॥
जले क्रीडोन्मुखा गोप्यो बभुवु: कौतुकेन च।
नग्ना: क्रीडाभिरासक्ता: श्रीकृष्णार्पितमानसा:॥५६॥
दृष्ट्वा कृष्णश्च वस्त्राणि द्रव्याणि विविधानि च।
वासांस्यादाय वस्तूनि चखाद शिशुभि: सह॥५७॥

O Nārada, all the costumes which were as costly as the gems with red, blue, white and mixed colours were lying on the bank of the Yamunā. They were numberless. The bank of the Yamunā looked quite charming with the presence of those costumes. The entire bank was filled with the fragrance of sandal, aguru, kastūrī and a fragrant wind was blowing. Various types of eatables, fruits, available during the season, the incense, vermilion and saffron were adding to the beauty of the river Yamunā. After their entry into the water, the cowherdesses were about to start the water-sports. In the meantime Kṛṣṇa arrived there and saw the various types of costumes lying on the bank of the Yamunā. He therefore reached over the river bank with all the cowherds. They took charge of all the costumes and started consuming all the eatables lying there.

गत्वा दूरं च गोपालास्तस्थु: सर्वे मुदाऽन्विता:।
वस्त्राणि पूंजीकृत्याऽऽदावूचु: स्कन्धेऽतिलोलुपा:॥५८॥

All the cowherds delightfully went to a distant place. All the naughty boys made a bundle of the clothes and placing it over the shoulders, they started talking.

श्रीदामा च सुदामा च वसुदामा तथैव च।
सुबलश्च सुपार्श्वश्च शुभाङ्ग: सुन्दरस्तथा॥५९॥
चन्द्रभानो वीरभानु: सूर्यभास्तथैव च।
वसुभानो रत्नभानो गोपाला द्वादश स्मृता:॥६०॥

The cowherds like Śrīdāmā, Sudāmā, Vasudāmā, Subala, Supārśva, Śubhāṅga, Sundara, Candrabhāna, Vīrabhāna, Sūryabhāna

and Vasubhāna besides Ratnabhāna happened to be the twelve main cowherds.

श्रीकृष्णो बलदेवश्च प्रधानाश्च चतुर्दश।
गोपाहरेर्वयस्याश्च कोटिशः कोटिशो मुने॥६१॥

Adding Kṛṣṇa and Balabhadra to the number they are counted as fourteen. O sage, otherwise there were crores of cowherds who were friendly with Kṛṣṇa.

वस्त्राण्यादाय ते सर्वे तस्थुरेकत्र दूरतः।
शतशः पुञ्जिकास्तत्र स्थापयामासुरुन्मुखाः॥६२॥
किंचिद्वस्त्रं समादाय कृत्वा च पुञ्जिकां मुदा।
समारुह्य कदम्बागमुवाच गोपिका हरिः॥६३॥

Carrying the costumes of the cowherdesses they moved at a distance and they made hundreds of bundles of those costumes. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa carried some of the bundles with him and climbed over a kadamba tree and said to the cowherdesses.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

भो भो गोपालिकाः सर्वा विनष्टा व्रतकर्मणि।
कृत्वा विधानं मद्वाक्यं श्रुत्वा क्रीडत मन्मथात्॥६४॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said - "O cowherdesses, you have been unsuccessful in the performing of this vrata." You first listen to my words and then observe all the prescribed rites. Only after that you can play with the god of love.

संकल्पिते व्रतार्हे च मासे मङ्गलकर्मणि।
यूयं नग्नाः कथं तोये व्रताङ्गहानिकारिकाः॥६५॥

The month in which the vrata has been performed, the welfare ceremonies have been performed, in the same month all of you after getting unrobed have entered the water. Why did you do so? By doing this you are desecrating your vrata and creating harm for yourself.

परिधेयानि वासांसि पुष्पमाल्यानि यानि च।
व्रतार्हाणि च वस्तूनि केन नीतानि वोऽधुना॥६६॥
व्रते तु नग्ना या स्नाति तां रुष्टो वरुणः स्वयम्।
वरुणानुचराश्चक्रुर्वासोवस्तूपनिर्हृतिम्॥६७॥

Who has carried away your costumes, the flower garlands and the things required in the vrata? If a woman takes her bath after unrobing herself during the vrata, lord Varuṇa gets annoyed with her. The attendants of Varuṇa have carried away your costumes.

कथं यास्यथ नग्नाश्च व्रतस्य किं भविष्यति।
व्रताराध्या कथं सा वो वस्तूनि किं न रक्षति॥६८॥
चिन्तां कुरुत तां पूज्यां तुष्टां बलिभिरीश्वरीम्।
युष्माकमीदृशी देवी न शक्ता वस्तुरक्षणे॥६९॥
कथं व्रतफलं सा वो दातुं शक्ता सुरेश्वरी।
फलं प्रदातुं या शक्ता सा शक्ता सर्वकर्मणि॥७०॥

Now how will you return without robes on and what shall happen to your vrata? Could the goddess who is adored by you not protect your costumes and other things? You now remember your great goddess who is quite adorable. You please her with your prayer. Is your goddess unable to protect your belongings? If it is not like that then how could she bestow the reward of vrata on you? The one who is competent to bestow the reward of vrata, can also be competent enough to perform all the deeds.

श्रीकृष्णस्य वचः श्रुत्वा चिन्तामापुर्व्रजस्त्रियः।
ददृशुर्यमुनातीरं वस्त्रवस्तुविहीनकम्॥७१॥
चक्रुर्विषादं तोये च नग्नास्ता रुरुदुर्भृशम्।
क्व गतानि च वस्त्राणि वस्तूनीत्यूचुरत्र नः॥७२॥

On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa all this cowherdesses felt deeply concerned; they found that their costumes which they had placed on the bank of the Yamunā were missing together with other things which they had placed there. Standing in the water without robes on they were filled with grief and started crying and said, "How could our costumes and other things have disappeared from the river bank?"

कृत्वा विषादं तत्रैव तमूचुर्गोपकन्यकाः।
पुटाञ्जलियुताः सर्वा भक्त्या विनयपूर्वकम्॥७३॥

Getting upset all the cowherdesses prayed to Kṛṣṇa with devotion folding their hands.

गोपालिका ऊचुः

परिधेयानि वस्त्राणि किंकरीणां सदीश्वर।
निबोधयाऽऽत्मानमेव स्पर्शं कर्तुं त्वमर्हसि॥७४॥
व्रतार्हाणि च वस्तूनि देवस्वानि च सांप्रतम्।
अदत्तानि नोचितानि ग्रहीतुं वेदविद्वर॥७५॥

देहि धौतानि धृत्वा च करिष्यामोव्रतं वयम्।
वस्तुनाऽन्येन गोविन्द वस्तूनां भक्षणं कुरु॥७६॥

The cowherdesses said- O supreme lord, you happen to be the lord of the slaves like us therefore you consider our costume which are to be worn by us as your own. You have every right to touch them but the things which we have got to be offered during the vrata are dedicated to the adorable goddess and without offering the same to her, it would not be proper to carry them back. O best of those well-versed in the Vedas, you return our costumes wearing which we shall perform our vrata. O Govinda, you consume all other things for yourself.".

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र श्रीदामा वस्त्रपुञ्जिकाम्।
दर्शयित्वा च ताः सर्वा दूरं दुद्राव तत्पुरः॥७७॥

In the meantime Śrīdāmā arrived there with the bundle of clothes and showing the same to them, he fled away from the place.

दृष्ट्वा सवस्त्रं गोपालं सर्वासामीश्वरी परा।
सर्वा वयस्याश्चोवाच कोपयुक्ता जलप्लुता॥७८॥

Finding that the cowherd was carrying their costumes Rādhikā, the adorable of all the cowherdesses, while remaining in the water felt annoyed and addressing the cowherdesses she said.

राधिकोवाच

हे सुशीले शशिकले हे चन्द्रमुखि माधवि।
कदम्बपाले हे कुन्ति यमुने सर्वमङ्गले॥७९॥
हे पद्ममुखि सावित्रि पारिजाते च जाह्नवि।
सुधामुखि शुभे पद्मे हे गौरि हे स्त्रयंप्रभे॥८०॥
कालिके कमले दुर्गे हे सरस्वति भारति।
अपूर्णे रति हे गङ्गे चाम्बिके सति सुन्दरि॥८१॥
कृष्णप्रिये मधुमति चम्पे चन्दननन्दिनी।
यूयं सर्वाः समुत्थाय बध्वाऽऽनयत बल्लवम्॥८२॥
सर्वा राधाज्ञया तूर्णं समुत्थाय जलात्क्रुधा।
प्रजग्मुर्गोपिका नग्ना योनिमाच्छाद्य पाणिना॥८३॥

Rādhikā said - O Suśīlā, Śaśikalā, Candramukhī, Mādhavī, Kadambamālī, Kuntī, Yamunā, Sarvamaṅgala, Padmamukhī, Sāvitrī, Pārijāta, Jāhnvī, Sudhāmukhī, Śubhā, Padmā, Gaurī, Svyaṁprabhā, Kālikā, Kamalā, Durgā, Sarasvatī, Bhārtī, Apūrvā, Rati, Gaṅgā, Ambikā, Sundarī, Kṛṣṇapriyā, Madhumati, Campā, Candananandinī, all of you should get up and capture the cowherds. At the command of Rādhikā, all the cowherdesses emerged from the water and covering their pelvic region with hands they rushed towards the cowherds.

एतासां सहचारिण्यो गोप्यस्तूर्णं सहस्रशः।
प्रजग्मुस्तेन रूपेण कोपादारक्तलोचनाः॥८४॥

Thousands of their attendant cowherdesses also came out of the water and started running after them in the same way.

वेगेन दुद्रुवुः सर्वाः श्रीदामानं च बालिकाः।
वेगेन च प्रधावन्तं बिभ्रतं वस्त्रपुञ्जिकाम्॥८५॥

All the damsels started running after Śrīdāmā who was running carrying the bundle of clothes with him.

जगाम शीघ्रं श्रीदामा यत्र गोपाः सहांशुकाः।
जवेन दुद्रुवुर्गोप्यस्तत्पश्चाद्बलसंयुताः॥८६॥
वस्त्रचोरांश्च गोपांश्च वेष्टयामासुराशु ताः।
भिया प्रदुद्रुवुर्बाला यत्र कृष्णः सहांशुकः॥८७॥

In the meantime Śrīdāmā arrived at the place were all the cowherds were seated together with the costumes. All the cowherdesses rushed to the place forcibly and surrounded the cowherds who had stolen the costumes, but all the cowherds getting terrified rushed to the place of Kṛṣṇa, where he was carrying all the saris with him.

श्रीकृष्णसहितान्बालान्वरयामासुराशु च।
गोपिकानां भिया गोपा ददुर्वस्त्राणि माधवम्॥८८॥
माधवः स्थापयामास स्कन्धे स्कन्धे तरोस्तथा।
कदम्बवृक्षः शुशुभे वस्त्रैर्नानाविधैरपि॥८९॥

The cowherdesses reaching there surrounded the boys as well as Kṛṣṇa. Terrified of the cowherdesses, the boys gave away all the clothes to Mādhava and Mādhava placed all the clothes on the trunk of the tree. With the placing of various types of costumes on the kadamba tree, it looked quite fine.

वस्त्राणां पुञ्जिकाः सर्वाः स्कन्धेषु विनिधाय च।
उवाच गोपिकाः कृष्णः परिहासपरं वचः॥९०॥

Thus placing all the bundles of clothes, on the trunk of the trees, Śrī Kṛṣṇa started rejoicing and spoke the following words.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

भो भो गोपालिका नग्ना इदानीं किं करिष्यथ।
वस्त्रयाञ्जां प्रकर्तुं च कुरुताऽऽशु पुटाञ्जलिम्।।९१।।
गत्वा वदत युष्माकमीश्वरीमथ राधिकाम्।
करोतु शीघ्रं वस्त्राणां याञ्चां कृत्वा पुटाञ्जलिम्।।९२।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O cowherdesses, now you tell me what you will do without robes, you beg for the costumes immediately with folded hands and tell Rādhikā your chief also to do so.

अन्यथाऽहं न दास्यामि युष्मभ्यमंशुकानि च।
युष्माकमीश्वरी राधा किं करिष्यति मेऽधुना।।९३।।
व्रताराध्या च या देवी सा वा मे किं करिष्यति।
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं ब्रूत यूयं च राधिकाम्।।९४।।

Otherwise I shall not give you any clothes; what harm can Rādhikā, your goddess, do to me? Even otherwise what shall the goddess who is adored by you during the vrata, bring to me? All of you should go and tell this to Rādhikā.

श्रीकृष्णवचनं श्रुत्वा ताः सर्वा गोपकन्यकाः।
वीक्ष्य लोचनकोणेन प्रजग्मू राधिकान्तिकम्।।९५।।

On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa, all the cowherdesses casting their side-glances at Kṛṣṇa went to Rādhikā their goddess.

चक्रुर्निवेदनं गत्वा यदुवाच हरिः स्वयम्।
श्रुत्वा जहास सा राधा बभूव कामपीडिता।।९६।।

Reaching there they narrated to her whatever had been spoken by Kṛṣṇa, hearing which Rādhikā started smiling and abounded with desire.

श्रुत्वा तासां च वचनं पुलकाञ्चितविग्रहा।
न जगाम हरेः स्थानं व्रीडया सस्मिता सती।।९७।।

On hearing the words of the cowherdesses, her hair stood on end and she continued smiling but because of shyness, she could not go to the lord.

जले योगासनं कृत्वा दध्यौ कृष्णपदाम्बुजम्।
ब्रह्मेशानन्तधर्मणां वन्द्यमीप्सितदं परम्।।९८।।

Thereafter, remaining in the water, she recited the name of the lord Kṛṣṇa seated in yogāsana and meditated upon the lotus-like feet of Kṛṣṇa which are also adored by Brahmā, Śiva, Ananta, Garga and others.

स्मारं स्मारं पदाम्भोजं साश्रुसंपूर्णलोचना।
भावातिरेकात्प्राणेशं तुष्टाव निर्गुणं परम्।।९९।।

With her eyes filled with tears, she devoted her mind to the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa again and again. Thereafter getting emotional and overwhelmed, she offered prayer to the lord.

राधिकोवाच

गोलोकनाथ गोपीश मदीश प्राणवल्लभ।
हे दीनबन्धो दीनेश सर्वेश्वर नमोऽस्तु ते।।१००।।

Rādhikā said- O lord of the Goloka, lord of the cowherdesses, my lord and lord of my life, O merciful to the down-trodden, lord of the down-trodden, the lord of all, I bow in reverence to you.

You are the one, who made the anger of Indra to be infructuous. Subjugator of Kāliya, O lord of my life, O Kṛṣṇa I bow in reverence to you.

You are beyond description, the form of inexplicable one, the seed of both, the seed of all, I bow in reverence to you. I myself, Sarasvatī, Lakṣmī, Durgā, have become eternal by adoring at your feet always, I bow in reverence to you. By adoring whose devotees and by touching them even the sacred places are purified, I bow in reverence to such a lord.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा सा देवी जले संन्यस्य विग्रहम्।

Thus speaking and remaining in the water she completely devoted her mind and remained there motionless.

राधाकृतं हरेः स्तोत्रं त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नरः।
हरिभक्तिं च दास्यं च लभेद्राधागतिं ध्रुवम्॥११०॥

Whosoever recites the stotra composed by Rādhā thrice a day he achieves the devotion of the lord besides his slavehood and also achieves the place of Rādhā.

विपत्तौ यः पठेद्भक्त्या सद्यः संपत्तिमाप्नुयात्।

Pārvatī said- O mother of the universe, I have known everything about you. You are the chaste Lakṣmī incarnate on earth and have arrived here to purify the land of Bhārata with the dust of your feet. O recluse one, the earth will get immediately purified with the touch of your lotus-like feet, O great goddess, all the sacred places have also been purified. Your this vrata is meant for educating the universe. O ascetic, you perform tapas. In every birth you will always be the beloved of Nārāyaṇa and his wife as well.

Lord Viṣṇu will incarnate on earth in order to reduce her burden, in order to subjugate the demons, the Pūrṇa-Brahma would incarnate as Rāma, the son of Daśaratha. His two attendants named as Jaya and Vijaya have fallen from Vaikuṇṭha with the curse of the Brāhmaṇas. In order to redeem them the lord would be born in Tretāyuga in Ayodhyā.

"In each and every kalpa you would always be the beloved wife of the lord." Thus speaking Pārvatī left for her abode embracing Lakṣmī. The ascetic Vedavatī turned herself in to the form of an infant and went to the earth and comfortably hid herself in the ploughed field. The king, Janaka, saw that an infant devoid of robes was lying on earth closing her eyes, The lustre of her limbs resembled that of the molten gold and the illustrious girl was found crying. Finding her so crying Janaka picked her up and carried her in his lap. When he was about to move from that place, there was a divine voice from the sky, "This infant girl is the form of Lakṣmī and born without human contact. You accept her. In due course of time Nārāyaṇa would himself be your son-in-law." This is what has to be spoken by me.

The king Janaka then carried the child delightfully and handed her over to his wife for bringing her up. In due course of time when she was grown up the chaste Sītā with the influence of this vrata, achieved Rāma the son of Daśaratha as her husband.

The sage Vasiṣṭha popularised this vrata on earth with great devotion. Rādhikā after performing this vrata achieved lord Kṛṣṇa and her beloved and the cowherdesses also achieved Kṛṣṇa after performing this vrata. O Brāhmaṇa, I have thus narrated to you the details about Gaurī vrata.

भारते च व्रतमिदं या करोति कुमारिका।

If any maid in the land of Bhārata performed this vrata she achieved the husband equivalent to the glory of lord Kṛṣṇa. There is no doubt about it.

नारायण उवाच

At the completion of the vrata, the cowherdesses performed the vrata according to the method prescribed in the kaṇva-śākhā and offered prayers to her, as a result of which the truthful Sītā achieved the lotus eyed Rāma as her husband.

Paraśurāma rid the earth of the Kṣatriyas twenty-one times with the influence of your mantra and kavaca; therefore how could you be a human being? He, receiving your mantra from Śiva, meditated upon it in the Puṣkara region and killed Kārtavīrya. Then how could you be a human being?.

With the boon pronounced by me, the lord who is beyond everyone, beyond the qualities, the one adored by Brahmā and other gods, the same lord Kṛṣṇa would always be at your command.

Therefore, O Rādhā, no one else is more fortunate than you in all the universe. At last you will achieve Goloka together with Kṛṣṇa.

O sage, thus speaking Pārvatī disappeared from the scene at once. Thereafter Rādhikā also got ready to return to her abode with the cowherdesses.

In the meantime lord Kṛṣṇa appeared before Rādhikā. Rādhikā looked at Kṛṣṇa who was of tender age having beautiful dark complexion, clad in pītāmbara, adorned with all the ornaments, wearing the garland of jasmine flowers, falling up to the knees, together with the long garland of forest flowers. His eyes resembled the lotus flower of winter season and he was having the face which resembled the full moon of the winter season. He had a gem-studded crown on his head. His teeth resembled the seeds of pomegranate. He was quite charming and held a flute in his hand playfully, together with a blue lotus flower. He was beautiful like crores of the gods of love besides being charming and beyond qualities. Brahmā, Ananta, Śiva and other gods adored him. He is the form of Brahman, well-wishers of the Brāhmaṇas, well-versed in the śrutis, unmanifest, indestructible, manifest, form of lustre, eternal, bestower of grace, the base of welfare, the form of welfare and the bestower of welfare.

Finding Kṛṣṇa in such an astonishing form, Rādhā felt nervous and she bowed before him. At the sight of Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā was filled with passion and fainted.

Looking at the charming face of her beloved, he started smiling and in shyness she started covering her face with cloth again and again.

दृष्ट्वा हरिस्तामुवाच प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः।

Lord Hari wearing a smile on his face and with charming eyes, then stood before Rādhā and the group of cowherdesses and spoke to her.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

प्राणाधिके राधिकेत्वं वरं वृणु मनीषितम्।
भो भो गोपालिकाः सर्वा वरं वृणुत वाञ्छितम्॥२२८

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O lady of my life, O Rādhā, you asked for a desired boon. O cowherdesses, you also spell out your desire.

कृष्णस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा वरं वव्रे च राधिका।
गोपालिकाः प्रहृष्टाश्च सर्वसंकल्पपादपात्॥२२९॥

On hearing the words of lord Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā and all the cowherdesses felt delighted and all of them begged for their boon from Kṛṣṇa who was like kalpavṛkṣa.

राधिकोवाच

त्वत्पादाब्जे मन्मनोलिः सततं भ्रमतु प्रभो।
पातुं भक्तिरसं पद्मे मधुपश्च यथा मधु॥२३०॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, my mind like a black-wasp always hovers around your lotus-like feet, in order to extract the juice of devotion.

मदीयप्राणनाथस्त्वं भव जन्मनि जन्मनि।
त्वदीयचरणाम्भोजे देहि भक्तिं सुदुर्लभाम्॥२३१॥

In every birth you should be my lord and you provide us the infallible devotion of your lotus-like feet.

तव स्मृतौ गुणे चित्तं स्वप्ने ज्ञाने दिवानिशम्।
भवेन्निमग्नं सततमेतन्मम मनीषितम्॥२३२॥

My mind, while sleeping or awake, during day and night should always recite the glory of your virtues, this is what is desired by me.

गोपालिका ऊचुः

यथा राधा तथा नश्च प्राणबन्धो दिवानिशम्।
भविष्यसि प्राणनाथः पास्यसि प्रतिजन्मनि॥२३३॥

The cowherdesses said- O lord of our lives, as you are the lord of Rādhā in all the births and her protector, similarly you should be the same to us also.

आसां च वचनं श्रुत्वा तथास्त्वेवमुवाच ह।
प्रसन्नवदनः श्रीमान्यशोदानन्दवर्धनः॥२३४॥

On hearing their words, the lord the son of Yaśodā, with the smiling face said, "Be it so." Saying this he accepted their prayer.

क्रीडापद्मं राधिकायै सहस्रदलसंयुतम्।
ललितां मालतीमालां ददौ प्रीत्या जगत्पतिः॥२३५॥
मालासमूहं पुष्पाणि गोपीभ्यो गोपिकापतिः।
प्रहस्य परमप्रीत्या प्रददावित्युवाच ह॥२३६॥

Thereafter, the lord of the universe lovingly handed over a thousand petaled lotus flower to Rādhikā and a garland of jasmine flowers to Lalitā. Thereafter Kṛṣṇa, the lord of the cowherdesses, smilingly gave away to other cowherdesses flowers and garlands of flowers with utmost devotion.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

त्रिषु मासेष्वतीतेषु यूयं क्रीडा मया सह।
रासमण्डलरम्ये च वृन्दारण्ये करिष्यथ॥२३७॥

Kṛṣṇa said- After the expiry of three months, you will enjoy my company in the charming Rāsamaṇḍala of Vṛndāvana.

यथाऽहं च तथा यूयं नाहं(यं)भेदः श्रुतौ श्रुतः।
प्राणोऽहं चैव युष्माकं यूयं प्राणा मम प्रभोः॥२३८॥
व्रतं वो लोकरक्षार्थं न हि स्वार्थमिदं प्रियाः।
सहाऽऽगताश्च गोलोकाद्गमनं च मया सह॥२३९॥

Whatever I am, you are also like me. There is no difference between us. I happen to be your life and you happen to be my life, O dear ones, this vrata had not been performed by you with a selfish motif but is meant for the welfare of the universe. You have arrived here from the Goloka and you have to return to that place with me.

गच्छत स्वालयं शीघ्रं वोऽहं जन्मनि जन्मनि।
प्राणेभ्योऽपि गरीयस्यो यूयं मे नात्र संशयः॥२४०॥

Now you rapidly go back to your abodes. I shall belong to you in every birth. You will be dearer to me than my life. There is no doubt about it.

इत्युक्त्वा श्रीहरिस्तत्र तस्थौ सूर्यसुतातटे।
तस्थुर्गोपालिकाः सर्वा वीक्ष्य कृष्णं पुनः पुनः॥२४१॥

Thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa sat on the bank of the river Yamunā and the cowherdesses also got themselves seated around him.

सर्वाः प्रहृष्टवदनाः सस्मिता वक्रलोचनाः।
प्रीत्या चक्षुश्चकोराभ्यां मुखचन्द्रं पपुर्हरेः॥२४२॥

All the cowberdesses were smiling delightfully and started extracting nectar from the lotus-like face of the lord, with the eyes, looking at him with side glances again and again like the partridge bird.

ताः शीघ्रं प्रययुर्गेहं जयं दत्त्वा पुनः पुनः।
हरिश्च शिशुभिः सार्धं प्रसन्नः स्वालयं ययौ॥२४३॥

Thereafter, shouting the slogan of the victory of the lord, the cowherdesses returned to their abodes and the lord, also getting pleased with the cowherds, returned to his abode.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं हरेश्चरितमङ्गलम्।
गोपीनां वस्त्रहरणं सर्वलोकसुखावहम्॥२४४॥

Thus I have narrated to you the charming life story of the lord in the context of the stealing of the costumes of the cowherdesses.

Proposal of Rāsalīlā

नारद उवाच

त्रिषु मासेष्वतीतेषु तासधं च हरिणा सह।
वद केन प्रकारेण बभूव तनुसंगम:॥१॥

Nārada said- You kindly tell me how the cowherdesses could have a union with Kṛṣṇa after three months.

वृन्दावनं किंप्रकारं किंविधं रासमण्डलम्।
हरिरेकस्ताश्च बह्व्य: केन क्रीडा बभूव ह॥२॥

What is the type of Vṛndāvana and what is the form of Rāsamaṇḍala? Kṛṣṇa was one and the cowherdesses were many; then how could the divine dance be possible?.

कुतूहलं भवति म इदं श्रोतुं नवं नवम्।
कथयस्व महाभाग पुण्यश्रवणकीर्तन॥३॥

O virtuous one, it is quite auspicious to recite or listen to your name. I am getting anxious to listen to the subject. You tell me.

कथा पुराणसाराणां रासयात्रा हरेरहो।
हरिलीला: पृथिव्यां तु सर्वा: श्रुतिमनोहरा:॥४॥

The divine dance of lord is the tattvas of the Purāṇas and all the divine places of Hari on earth are quite interesting.

सूत उवाच

नारदस्य वच: श्रुत्वा ऋषिर्नारायण: स्वयम्।
प्रहस्य सुप्रसन्नास्य: प्रवक्तुमुपचक्रमे॥५॥

Sūta said- On hearing the words of Nārada, the sage Nārāyaṇa delightfully spoke with a smile on his face.

नारायण उवाच

एकदा श्रीहरिर्नक्तं वनं वृन्दावनं ययौ।
शुभे शुक्लत्रयोदश्यां पूर्णे चन्द्रोदये मुने॥६॥
यूथिकामालतीकुन्दमाधवीपुष्पवायुना।

नवपल्लवसंयुक्तं पुंस्कोकिलरुतश्रुतम्।
नवलक्षरासवाससंयुक्तं सुमनोहरम्॥८॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, once lord Kṛṣṇa went to Vṛndāvana on the thirteenth day of the bright fort-night of the month of Caitra. At that point of time Vṛndāvana was filled with the fragrance of jasmine, kunda and flowers of several creepers. The black-wasps were issuing a hissing sound which was quite charming. The trees had fresh leaves, the sweet voice of cuckoos was echoing in the forest. Since Vṛndāvana had a lakh of dancing halls, it looked very charming.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमेन सुवासितम्।
कर्पूरान्विततताम्बूलभोगद्रव्यसमन्वितम्॥९॥

There were enough stocks of sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī, saffron, betels with camphor and other cosmetics for pleasure.

प्रसूनैश्चम्पकानां च कस्तूरीचन्दनान्वितैः।
रतियोग्यैर्विरचितैर्नानातल्पैः सुशोभितम्॥१०॥

There were enough of beautiful beds scented with kastūrī, sandal-paste, campaka flowers, which could be used for making love-sport.

दीप्तं रत्नप्रदीपैश्च धूपेन सुरभीकृतम्।
नानापुष्पैश्च रचितं मालाजालैर्विराजितम्॥११॥
परितो वर्तुलाकारं तत्रैव रासमण्डलम्।
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमेन सुसंस्कृतम्॥१२॥

The place was illumined with the burning lamps of gems and there were heaps of garlands of different flowers. The Rāsamaṇḍala was made in a circular manner and the sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron were applied there suitably.

पुष्पोद्यानैः पुष्पितैश्च युक्तं क्रीडासरोवरैः।

क्रीडनीयैः सुन्दरैश्च सुरतश्रमहारिभिः।
शुद्धस्फटिकसंकाशतोयपूर्णैः सुनिर्मलैः॥१४॥

There were enough of flower orchards and lakes for water-sports, which were infested with the birds like geese, ducks, water-fouls which were issuing sweet notes; the water was spotless like the crystal gems, having enough of waves. The place was best for the sports, was quite beautiful and could remove the fatigue after the love- sports.

दधिपूर्णशुक्लधान्यलाजैर्निर्मञ्छनीकृतम्।
रम्भास्तम्भसमूहेन सुन्दरेण सुशोभितम्॥१५॥

Curd rice and the fried rice were scattered every where. The place was decorated with the trunks of banana trees.

आम्रपल्लवयुक्तेन सूत्रबन्धेन चारुणा।

मालतीमाल्यसंयुक्तैर्नारिकेलफलान्वितैः।
स रासमण्डलं दृष्ट्वा जहास मधुसूदनः॥१७॥

The leaves of the mango trees were tied in with cotton strings, which were used for decoration. Besides, the pitchers for welfares were decorated with vermilion and sandal-paste and were suitably placed there. These welfares pitchers were further adorned with coconuts and the garlands of jasmine flowers. Lord Madhusūdana smiled at the sight of Rāsamaṇḍala.

चकार तत्र कुतुकाद्विनोदमुरलीरवम्।
गोपीनां कामुकीनां च कामवर्धनकारणम्॥१८॥

He playfully played on the flute there, which increased the passion of the cowherdesses.

तच्छ्रुत्वा राधिका सद्यो मुमोह मदनातुरा।
बभूव स्थाणुवद्देहा ध्यानैकतानमानसा॥१९॥

On hearing it the passion of Rādhikā was increased and she lost all her senses. Her body became lifeless and her mind was totally devoted to the lord.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य पुनः शुश्राव सा ध्वनिम्।
उवास सा समुत्तस्थौ समुद्विग्ना पुनः पुनः॥२०॥
त्यक्त्वा चाऽऽवश्यकं कर्म निःससार द्रुतं गृहात्।
ययौ तदनुसारेण प्रसमीक्ष्य चतुर्दिशम्॥२१॥

After regaining consciousness in a moment, she heard the same tune of the flute. She got up at once. Now she felt hysterical again and again. Leaving aside all her jobs, she moved out of her house. Looking on all sides she started following the direction of the tune of the flute and proceeded on.

ध्यायन्ती चरणाम्भोजं श्रीकृष्णस्य महात्मनः।
तेजसा च द्योतयन्ती सद्रत्नसारभूषणैः॥२२॥

Devoting her mind to the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, she was moving on. She was illumining all the directions with the lustre of her gem-studded ornaments.

बहिर्बभूवुस्तास्त्रस्ता रवेण हतचेतनाः।
कुलधर्मं परित्यज्य निःशङ्काः काममोहिताः॥२३॥

Her friends also lost their senses on hearing the tune of the flute. Getting infested with passion all the cowherdesses discarding all the family traditions moved on.

त्रयस्त्रिंशद्वयस्याश्च ताः सुशीलादयः स्मृताः।
राधिकायाः प्रियतमा गोपीनां प्रवरा ययुः॥२४॥

Out of all the cowherdesses, friendly to Rādhā, the thirty three names are well known. Out of them Suśīlā was quite prominent who was following her.

On the way they recited the name of lord Hari and while doing so they reached Vṛndāvana and saw the charming Rāsamaṇḍala which was looking more beautiful than heaven itself, having been filled with the rays of the moon.

सुनिर्जनं कुसुमितं वासितं पुष्पवायुना।

शुश्रुवुस्तत्र ताः सर्वाः पुंस्कोकिलकलध्वनिम्।

It was a completely secluded place, filled with flowers, where the fragrant cool breeze was blowing which could increase the passion of the ladies and could infatuate even the sages with passion. All of them heard the sweet tune of cuckoos besides the fine hissing sound of the black-wasps. It looked quite pleasant.

प्रसूनमधुमत्तानां भ्रमरीसङ्गसङ्गिनाम्।
शुभे क्षणे प्रविवेश राधिका रासमण्डलम्॥५१॥
सर्वाभिरालिभिः सार्धं ध्यात्वा कृष्णपदाम्बुजम्।
राधामाराात्तु संवीक्ष्य स्वकृष्णस्तत्र मुदाऽन्वितः॥५२॥

All the black-wasps had become intoxicated with the extracting of the nectar from the flowers with their females. Thereafter Rādhā in the auspicious time devoted her mind to the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa together with all the cowherdesses and then entered the Rāsamaṇḍala. The lord was extremely delighted at finding Rādhā with him.

जगामानुव्रजन्प्रीत्या सस्मितो मदनातुरः।
मध्यस्थां सखिसंघानां रत्नालंकारभूषिताम्॥५३॥
दिव्यवस्त्रपरीधानां सस्मितां वक्रलोचनाम्।
गजेन्द्रगामिनीं रम्यां मुनिमानसमोहिनीम्॥५४॥

Getting infatuated with passion, smilingly he followed them. Rādhā was walking surrounded by the cowherdesses and her body was adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments and she was clad in the divine garments. Smilingly she looked at her beloved and moved on slowly like the lord of the elephant. The beautiful Rādhā could attract even the minds of the sages.

नवीनवेषवयसा रूपेणातिमनोहराम्।
तल(स्तन)श्रोणिनितम्बानां भारशेषान्वितां पराम्॥
चारुचम्पकवर्णाभां शरच्चन्द्रनिभाननाम्।

कन्दर्पकोटिलावण्यलीलाधाम मनोहरम्।
प्राणाधिकां तां पश्यन्तं पश्यन्तीं वक्रचक्षुषा॥५७॥

In her new costumes and new decoration she looked extremely charming. Her breasts and pelvic region filled her with fatigue. She had the complexion of beautiful campaka flowers and had the face resembling the full moon of the winter season. Her hair was decorated with the garland of jasmine flowers. She looked at lord Kṛṣṇa who was of tender age and had the dark complexion; he was quite youthful and adorned with gem-studded ornaments and looked more beautiful than crores of the gods of love. Rādhā looked at Kṛṣṇa with passionate eyes, while Kṛṣṇa looked at Rādhā, his beloved in the same way.

परमाद्भुतरूपं च सर्वत्रानुपमं परम्।
विचित्रवेषं चूडां च बिभ्रतं सस्मितं मुदा॥५८॥

The beauty of her body could not be defined. He was delightfully smiling, clad in astonishing costumes and wearing a crown.

वक्रलोचनकोणे दर्शं दर्शं पुनः पुनः।
मुखमाच्छादयाञ्चके व्रीडया सस्मिता सती॥५९॥
मूर्छामवाप सा सद्यः कामबाणप्रपीडिता।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गी बभूव हतचेतना॥६०॥

Looking at Kṛṣṇa with side-glances again and again, Rādhā covered her face with the cloth. She was then immensely infatuated with love and fainted. All the limbs of her body felt emotional and she lost her senses.

कटाक्षकामबाणैश्च विद्धः क्रीडारसोन्मुखः।
मूर्च्छां प्राप्य न पपात तस्थौ स्थाणुसमो हरिः॥६१॥

Lord Hari on the other hand getting ready for the love-sport and feeling injured with the side-glances of Rādhā did not get fainted but on the other hand he stood erect like the log of wood.

पपात मुरली तस्य क्रीडाकमलमुज्ज्वलम्।
द्वितीयं पीतवस्त्रं च शिखिपिच्छं शरीरतः॥६२॥
क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य ययौ राधान्तिकं मुदा।
कृतवा वक्षसि तां प्रीत्या समाश्लिष्य चुचम्ब सः॥६३

The flute held in his hand, together with the lotus of the play, pītāmbara and the peacock feathers started shaking. In a moment, infatuated with love, he moved towards Rādhikā and embraced, her implanting a kiss on her face.

श्रीकृष्णस्पर्शमात्रेण संप्राप्य चेतनां सती।
प्राणाधिकं प्राणनाथं समाश्लिष्य चुचम्ब सः॥६४॥

With the touch of lord Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā regained consciousness and also embraced him tightly behaving similarly.

मनो जहार राधायाः कृष्णास्तस्य च सा मुने।
जगाम राधया सार्धं रसिको रतिमन्दिरम्॥६५॥

Kṛṣṇa stole away the mind of Rādhā and Rādhā did so with Kṛṣṇa's heart. Thereafter, the passionate lord Hari went to the pleasure-house together with Rādhā.

रत्नप्रदीपसंयुक्तं रत्नदर्पणसंयुतम्।
चारुचम्पकशय्याभिश्चन्दनात्काभी राजितम्॥६६॥

The place was illuminated with lamps of gems and several mirrors were found there. The pleasure house had a large number of beds made of campaka flowers and sprinkled with the sandal-paste.

कर्पूरान्विततताम्बूलैर्भोगद्रव्यैः समन्वितम्।
उवास राधया सार्धं खृष्णस्तत्र मुदाऽन्वितः॥६७॥

It had enough of betels with camphor and other materials required for use for the purpose. Kṛṣṇa resided with Rādhā there cheerfully.

राधया दत्तताम्बूलं चखाद मधुसूदनः।
रासेश्वरी खृष्णदत्तं ताम्बूलं बुभुजे मुदा॥६८॥

Madhusūdana chewed the betel offered to him by Rādhā and similarly Rādhā chewed the betel offered by Kṛṣṇa.

दत्तं चर्विततताम्बूलं राधायै प्रभुणा मुदा।
चखाद भक्त्या सा तूर्णं प्रहस्य मदनातुरा॥६९॥

Delightfully Kṛṣṇa gave to Rādhā his used betel offered to her which was received devotedly by Rādhā smiling and then put it in her mouth.

राधाचविततताम्बूलं ययाचे माधवो मुदा।
न ददौ राधिका भीता पपात चरणाम्बुजे॥७०॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa demanded the used betel from Rādhā which she never gave to Kṛṣṇa but getting afraid, she fell on the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र सकामः सुरतोन्मुखः।
सुष्वाप राधया सार्धं रतितल्पे मनोहरे॥७१॥

In the meantime, Kṛṣṇa, infatuated with passion, lied down with Rādhā on the beautiful love-bed.

शृङ्गाराष्टप्रकारं च विपरीतादिकं विभुः।
नखदन्तकराणां च प्रहारं च यथोचितम्॥७२॥

The lord enjoyed the love-sports with Rādhā in eight types of opposite directions, using has nails, teeth and hands.

कामशास्त्रेषु यद्गोप्यं चुम्बनाष्टविधं परम्।
कामिनीनां मनोहारि चकार रसिकेश्वरः॥७३॥
अङ्गैरङ्गानि प्रत्यङ्गैः प्रत्यङ्गानि स्मरातुरः।
चकाराऽऽश्लेषणं तत्र कामुकीनां सुखावहम्॥७४॥

He also implanted on her eight types of kisses as prescribed in the treatise of love (Kémaśāstra). The passionate Kṛṣṇa united all the limbs of Rādhā with those of his own and also embraced her which is always desired by the passionate women.

शृङ्गारकुशलौ तौ तु कामशास्त्रसुपण्डितौ।
रतियुद्धविरामश्च न बभूव द्वयोरपि॥७५॥

Both of them were well-versed in the love-sport and the art of making love and as such their love-sport was not coming to an end.

एवं गृहे गृहे रम्ये नानामूर्तिं विधाय च।
रेमे गोपाङ्गनाभिश्च सुरम्ये रासमण्डले॥७६॥

Similarly lord Kṛṣṇa appearing in various chambers in human form enjoyed the company of all the cowherdesses in the charming Rāsamaṇḍala.

अभ्यन्तरे रतिं कृत्वा बहिः क्रीडां चकार ह।
गोपीगोपसमाश्लिष्टः सर्वत्र रासमण्डले॥७७॥

While enjoying love-sports with Rādhā inside the chamber, he also did so outside it. He embraced the cowherdesses in the Rāsamaṇḍala everywhere.

गोपीनां नव लक्षाणि गोपानां च तथैव च।
लक्षाण्यष्टादश मुने युक्तानि रासमण्डले॥७८॥

O sage there were nine lakhs of cowherds and nine lakhs of cowherdesses in the Rāsamaṇḍala making a total of eighteen lakhs.

मुक्तकेशानि नग्नानि विच्छिन्नभूषणानि च।
वेषोच्छिन्नानि मत्तानि मूर्च्छितानि स्मरेण च॥७९॥

They had dishevelled hair bare bodies, broken ornaments, disarranged costumes and getting intoxicated, they fainted with passion.

कङ्कणानां किङ्किणीनां वलयानां च नारद।
सद्रत्ननूपुराणां च शब्दयुक्तानि संततम्॥८०॥

O Nārada, the sound from their armlets, small bells from the waist bands, bangles and the anklets made of gems were creating a melodious sound.

एवं कृत्वा स्थलक्रीडां युयुस्तानि जलं मुदा।
कृत्वा तत्र चिरं क्रीडां परिश्रान्तानि सांप्रतम्॥८१॥

Thus enjoying the love-sport on the grounds they went into the water. They enjoyed water-sport for a long time.

तूर्णं जलात्समुत्थाय वासांसि परिधाय च।
ददृशुर्मुखपद्मानि सद्रत्नदर्पणेषु च॥८२॥

Then all of them came out from the water and putting on the robes, they started looking at the mirrors of gems.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीद्रव्याणि पुष्पमालिका:।
मुदा परिदधुस्तानि संप्रापुश्चेतनानि च॥८३॥

Thereafter they regained consciousness. Applying sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and other cosmetics they were adorned with the garland of flowers.

सकर्पूरं च ताम्बूलं भुक्त्वा सर्वाणि कौतुकात्।
ददृशुमुखपद्मानि सद्रत्ने दर्पणेऽमले॥८४॥

Thereafter all the cowherdesses chewing the betels with camphor started looking at the mirrors made of gems.

काचित्कामातुरा कृष्णं बलादाकृष्य कौतुकात्।
हस्ताद्वंशीं निजग्राह वसनं च चकर्ष ह॥८५॥

Some of the cowherdesses curiously dragged Kṛṣṇa by force and started snatching away his flute and costumes.

काचित्कामप्रमत्ता च नग्नं कृत्वा तु माधवम्।
निजग्राह पीतवस्त्रं परिहस्य पुनर्ददौ॥८६॥

Some of the passionate cowherdesses unrobed lord Kṛṣṇa and snatched away his lower garment and after cutting jokes with him they returned the same to him.

युक्तिं शृणिवत्येवमुक्त्वा काचित्संगृह्यस्वामिनम्।
चुचुम्ब गण्डे बिम्बोष्ठे समाश्लिष्य पुन: पुन:॥८७॥

One of them said, Listen to a way out. Thus speaking the cowherdess caught hold of the lord and implanted a kiss on his face with her lips resembling the wood apple, embracing him again and again.

सस्मितं सकटाक्षं च मुखचन्द्रं स्तनोन्नतम्।
काचिच्छ्रेणीं सुललितां दर्शयामास कामत:॥८८॥

Some of them smilingly cast side-glances displaying their developed breasts and the pelvic region.

काचित्कान्तं हरे कृत्वा संप्राप्य श्रोणिदेशत:।
चकार चूडानिर्माणं मालतीमाल्यसंयुतम्॥८९॥

Some of them caught hold of the lord and seated him on their bodies and offered him the garland of jasmine flowers.

काचिच्चूडां समाकृष्य मयूरपिच्छकं ददौ।
गुञ्जामाल्यं च चूडायां वेष्टयामास काचन॥९०॥

Some of them snatched away his tuft and placed a peacock feather in it. Some of them encircled his tuft with the garland of flowers.

प्रददौ स्वामिने कामात्प्रेमवर्धनहेतवे।
काचित्कांचित्समाकृष्य नग्नां कृत्वा तु कामत:॥९१॥
प्रषयामास कृष्णस्य क्रोडे चन्दनचर्चिते।
ननृतुश्च जगु: काश्चित्कान्तं कृत्वा तु कामत:॥९२

Some of them handed over the lord to another cowherdess to increase her passion; some of them dragged the lord and with a passionate mind, unrobing him took him in the lap applying the sandal-paste on his body. Someone started dancing and singing before the lord.

नर्तनं कारयामास तं च काचिद्बलेन च।
कृष्णश्च वस्त्रं कस्याश्च विचकर्ष कुतूहलात्॥९३॥
कांचित्कृत्वा तु नग्नां च कस्यै चिदंशुकं ददौ।
कृष्णो राधां समाकृष्य वासयामास वक्षसि॥९४॥

Someone made the lord to dance forcibly. Kṛṣṇa on the other hand snatched away the robes of someone and unrobing her gave away the costumes to some one else. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa pulled Rādhā towards himself and embraced her.

तस्याश्च कबरीं रम्यां सुनिर्माणं चकार ह।
सिन्दूरं च ददौ भाले कस्तूरीं बिन्दुभि: सह॥९५॥

Thereafter he decorated the body of someone with the spots of vermilion and kastūrī.

अतिसूक्ष्मं चन्दनेन्दुं कौतुकात्तदधो ददौ।
पत्रावलीं सुललितां सुकपोले चकार ह॥९६॥

He made her hair and arranged it like a moon. Her cheeks were painted like the beautiful tree leaves.

वह्निशुद्धांशुकं चारु परिधार्य प्रयत्नत:।
पदो: सद्रत्नमञ्जीरे गृहीत्वा चरणाम्बुजे॥९७॥

He then clad her in beautiful garments purified by fire and adored her lotus-like feet with the best of anklets studded with gems.

नखनिर्माजनं कृत्वा सुन्दरं यावकं ददौ।
भूषणैर्भूषितां कृत्वा संप्रलिप्यानुलेपनै:॥९८॥

दत्त्वा च मालतीमालां चुचुम्ब च पुनः पुनः।
चारुलोचनपद्मे च चकाराञ्जनसंयुते॥९९॥

Cleaning the nails, the paint was applied on the feet. She was then adored with all the ornaments and the sandal-paste was applied on her body. Then holding the garland of jasmine flowers, it was placed round her neck, implanting a kiss on her cheek. The collyrium was applied to her lotus-like eyes.

प्रददौ नासिकामध्ये दुर्लभं गजमौक्तिकम्।
श्रोणिदेशे च स्तनयोर्नखच्छिद्रं चकार ह॥१००॥

The nose was decorated with the jewel. The breasts were decorated with the marks of the nails.

चकार दन्तदलनं पक्वबिम्बाधरे वरे।
सरसश्च तटे रम्ये पुष्पोद्याने सुनिर्जने॥१०१॥
कृत्वा क्रीडां पुनरपि जगाम रासमण्डलम्।
रासेश्वरः पूर्णरासं चकार रासमण्डले॥१०२॥

Then a bite was implanted with teeth on the lips which resembled the ripe wood apple. They enjoyed the love-sport in a secluded place in an orchard on the bank of the lake. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa went back to Rāsamaṇḍala and performed the divine dance there.

बहिश्चन्द्रोदये रम्ये पुष्पचन्दनचर्चिते।
अगुरुचन्दनाक्तेन वायुना सुरभीकृते॥१०३॥
भ्रमरध्वनिसंयुक्ते पुंस्कोकिलरुतश्रुते।
बहुमूर्तीः संविधाय योगिनां परमो गुरुः॥१०४॥
पुनश्चकार शृङ्गारं गोपीनां चित्तहारकः।
किङ्किणां कङ्कणानां नूपुराणां च नारद॥१०५॥
शृङ्गारोद्रेकतस्तत्र बभूव सुन्दरो रवः।
मूर्छामवापुस्ताः सर्वा नवसंगममात्रतः॥१०६॥

The moon rays filled the outside of the Rāsamaṇḍala. The fragrant flowers, the sandal-paste, aguru and sandal added fragrance to the cool breeze and the group of black wasps created a hissing sound. The cuckoos issued sweet notes. Lord Kṛṣṇa the teacher of the yogīs, who stole away the hearts of the cowherdesses took to many human bodies and again decorated all the cowherdesses. O Nārada the sound of small bells, anklets started emerging and all the cowherdesses fainted as a result of the first encounter of the love-sport.

बभूवुरचलास्पन्दाः पुलकाञ्चितविग्रहाः।
शृङ्गारविरते भूते संप्रापुश्चेतनां पुनः॥१०७॥

They were lying still and inert and their bodies were feeling emotional. Getting free from the love-sport they regained consciousness.

नखदन्तप्रहारं च प्रचकार परस्परम्।
कृष्णः कररुहाघातं ददौ तासां कुचोपरि॥१०८॥

Their breasts were scratched and injured by lord Kṛṣṇa with his nails and teeth.

श्रोणिदेशे सुकठिने नखचिह्नं चकार ह।
नीवी विस्रंसिता तासां कबरी क्षुद्रघण्टिकाः॥१०९॥

Their stiff pelvic regions were carved with the nails and all the small bells of the waist-bands and the hair were loosened.

दूरीभूतं सुवसनं सुवेषं समनोहरम्।
आलिङ्गनं नदविधं चुम्बनाष्टविधं मुदा॥११०॥
शृङ्गारं षोडशविधं चकार रसिकेश्वरः।
अङ्गैरङ्गानि प्रत्यङ्गैः प्रत्यङ्गानि च योषिताम्॥१११॥
चकाराऽऽलिङ्गनं प्रीत्या कामुकीनां च कामुकः।
नारीणां षोडश कलाः शृङ्गारस्तत्प्रमाणकः॥११२॥

The beautiful costumes and the pleasant appearance were disturbed. Kṛṣṇa the lord of the love-sport delightfully embraced them in nine different ways and implanted on other bodies kisses in eight different ways and decorated them in sixteen ways. He embraced the damsels tightly uniting all their limbs with his own. There are sixteen types of the rays of the ladies and they were decorated accordingly.

कलाभेदेन तद्भेदं कामशास्त्रविदो दिदुः।
प्राकृतं द्वादशविधं चकार रसिकेश्वरः॥११३॥

The people well-versed in the scriptures of love were unaware of different kinds of them. The passionate Kṛṣṇa applied twelve types of cosmetics to them.

निरूपितं कामशास्त्रे चकारेशस्ततोऽधिकम्।
क्रीडारम्भे च मध्ये च विरतौ कर्म योषिताम्॥११४॥
प्रीत्यर्थमपि कर्तव्यं चकारेशस्ततोऽधिकम्।
गोपीकंकरणरेखाभिः पादालक्तकचित्रितः॥११५॥

शुशुभे कृष्णदेहश्च यथाऽद्रिर्गैरिकेण च।
एवंभूते पूर्णरासे संभूते रासमण्डले॥११६॥
समाजग्मुः सुराः सर्वे सकलत्राश्च सानुगाः।
सुवर्णस्यन्दनस्थाश्च कौतुकात्स्वगणावृताः॥११७॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa enjoyed love-sports as is prescribed in the Kāmaśāstra. Whatever types of make-up was requited in the beginning, in the middle or the end of the love-sport by the cowherdesses, the lord used much more than that. With the scratches of the armlets of the cowherdesses and the paint of the feet, the body of lord Kṛṣṇa looked quite beautiful like the charm of the mountain of red orchard. Thus with the completion of the divine dance all the gods together with their attendants end families reached the Rāsamaṇḍala with curiosity. They were mounted over the chariots of gold and were surrounded by their attendants.

पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गाः कामबाणप्रपीडिताः।
ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव सिद्धाश्च पितरस्तथा॥११८॥
विद्याधराश्च गन्धर्वा यक्षराक्षसकिन्नराः।
सस्त्रीकाश्च समाजग्मुर्ददृशुश्च मुदाऽन्विताः॥११९॥

They were filled with passion and their hairs stood at ends. All the ascetics the sages, the siddha, the manes, Vidyādhara, Gandharvas, Yakṣas, Rākṣasas and Kinnaras also arrived there delightfully.

दिव्यस्यन्दनमारुह्य शातकौम्भविनिर्मितम्।
सुशोभितं च मणिना रत्नसारपरिच्छदम्॥१२०॥
वह्निशुद्धांशुकेनैव वेष्टितं सुमनोहरम्।
श्वेतचामरसंयुक्तं सद्रत्नचरणाम्बुजम्॥१२१॥
शतचक्रं चित्रयुक्तं मनोयायि मनोहरम्।
सद्ररत्नसारनिर्माणकलशोज्ज्वलशेखरम्॥१२२॥
समाजगाम भगवान्पार्वत्या सह शंकरः।
वामपार्श्वे महाकालो दक्षिणे नन्दिकेश्वरः॥१२३॥

Lord Śiva accompanied by Pārvatī also arrived there mounted over the chariot of gold. The chariot was inlaid with diamonds and the gems, it was covered with beautiful cloth and had white fly- whisks and had the stops of gems. It had a hundred wheels which were beautifully painted. It moved with the speed of the mind, the top of the chariot was decorated with the pitcher made of gems which were illumining. Mahākāla was lodged to the left of Śiva while Nandikeśvara appeared to his right.

पुरतः कार्तिकेयश्च स्वयं देवो गणेश्वरः।
पिङ्गलाक्षादयः सर्वे पार्षदाः परितस्तयोः॥१२४॥

Kārttikeya and Gaṇeśa were lodged in the front, Piṅgalākṣa and other attendant were lodged towards the feet.

क्षेत्रपालादयः सर्वे तथाऽष्टौ भैरवेश्वराः।
वक्षःस्थलस्थिता दुर्गा सस्मिता वक्रलोचना॥१२५॥

All the kṣetrapālas and eight bhairavas were also there, Durgā with a smiling face, casting a side-glance was lodged at the chest of Śiva.

भारत्या सह ब्रह्मा च शातकौम्भरथस्थितः।
वामे सप्तर्षयस्यस्य दक्षिणे सनकादयः॥१२६॥

Brahmā the creator of the universe also arrived there with a Bhāratī mounted over a golden chariot, the Saptarṣis were lodged to his left while Sanaka and other sages were lodged to the right.

सुवर्णस्यन्दनस्थश्च धर्मः साक्षी च कर्मणाम्।
वक्षःस्थलस्थिता तस्य मूर्तिः स्मेरानना सती॥१२७॥

Dharma the witness of all the deeds, was also mounted over a golden chariot. A smiling image of Satī was implanted on his chest.

पश्यन्ती पूर्णरासं च सकामा वक्रलोचना।
परितः पार्षदाः सर्वे ज्वलन्तो ब्रह्मतेजसा॥१२८॥
शच्या सह महेन्द्रश्च रोहिण्या च कलानिधिः।
स्वाहासार्धं स्वयं वह्नि नः सूर्यश्च संज्ञया सह॥१२९॥

She was casting a side-glance on her lord, getting infested with passion. Dharma was surrounded by the attendants who emitted divine lustre. Similarly Indra accompanied by his spouse, the moon accompanied by Rohiṇī. Agni accompanied by Svāhā and Sūrya accompanied by Sañjñā were also present there.

समाजगाम कामश्च रतिं कृत्वा च वक्षसि।
सर्वे ग्रहाश्च दिक्पाला आजग्मुः सकलत्रकाः॥१३०॥

Kāmadeva with Rati and Dikpālas and all the stars together with their spouses also arrived there.

आकाशस्थाश्च ददृशुः सरासं रासमण्डलम्।
केचिच्च मुमुहुस्तत्र मूर्छामापुश्च केचन॥१३१॥

All of them were witnessing the divine dance of Rāsamaṇḍala remaining in the sky. Some of them were Infested with passion while others were fainted.

मुहूर्तं च सुराः सर्वे सस्मिताश्च मुदाऽन्विताः।
चन्दनद्रववृष्टिं च पुष्पवृष्टिं च चिक्षिपुः॥१३२॥

For a period of two ghaḍīs, all the gods kept on smiling delightfully and started raining, flowers and sandal-paste.

कस्तूरीयुक्तमाल्यानां वृष्टिं चक्रुर्मुनीश्वराः।
रासं दृष्ट्वा देवपत्न्यः कामबाणप्रपीडिताः॥१३३॥

The sages, dropped the rain of the garland of flowers, scented with kastūrī. Looking at the divine dance in Rāsamaṇḍal all the spouses of the gods were infested with passion.

स्थले रतिरसं कृत्वा जगाम यमुनाजलम्।
राधया सह कृष्णश्च पूर्णब्रह्म सनातनः॥१३४॥

Thereafter Pūrṇa-Brahman and eternal Kṛṣṇa after enjoying the love-sport with Rādhā on the ground entered the water of the Yamunā.

गोपिभिः सह जग्मुश्च मायाः श्रीकृष्णरूपिकाः।
प्रपीडिताः कामबाणैः क्रीडां चक्रुर्जले मुदा॥१३५॥

The illusion of lord Kṛṣṇa accompanied the cowherdesses. All of them getting infested with passion started enjoying the water-sport with Kṛṣṇa.

जलं ददौ राधिकायै सकामो माधवः स्वयम्।
ददौ सा च माधवाय कामार्तायाञ्जलित्रयम्॥१३६॥

The passionate Mādhava himself offered water to Rādhikā who in turn offered water thrice to Mādhava in her hand-cups.

वस्त्रं जग्राह तस्याश्च सा च नग्ना बभूव ह।
मालां चिच्छेद कबरीं चकार शिथिलां हरिः॥१३७॥

Thereafter the lord unrobed Rādhikā broke her garland and unmade the locks of her hair.

सिन्दूरपत्रकं लुप्तं वेषं च जलताडनैः।
भ्रूविचित्रमोष्ठरागं लुप्तं कज्जललोचनम्॥१३८॥

He splashed so much of water over Rādhikā that her entire make-up was washed out. The eye-brows looked surprising, the paintings of the lips and the collyrium of the eyes were also washed out.

तां च नग्नां समाश्लिष्य निममज्ज जले हरिः।
प्रकृत्याभ्यन्तरे क्रीडां सुतस्थौ च तया सह॥१३९॥

The lord embraced the unrobed Rādhikā and went beneath the water and enjoying the water sport again emerged over-the water.

तां च नग्नां दर्शयित्वा गोपिकां क्रीडया नताम्।
सस्मितां प्रेरयामास दूरतो यमुनाजले॥१४०॥
सा वेगेन समुत्थाय बलाज्जग्राह माधवम्।
गृहीत्वा मुरलीं कोपात्प्रेरयामास दूरतः॥१४१॥

Rādhikā who was bending because of love-sport and was smiling getting unrobed, was dragged by Kṛṣṇa an the water and displaying her reflection in the water of Yamunā, he took her out of it. The Rādhikā also caught hold of Kṛṣṇa forcefully with a jump and snatching away his flute, she dragged him in anger for a long distance.

गृहीत्वा पीतवसनं चकार तं दिगम्बरम्।
वनमालां च चिच्छेद ददौ तोयं पुनः पुनः॥१४२॥
हरिं पुनः समाकृष्य प्रेरयामास पाथसि।
गभीरे स्रोतसि मुने निममज्ज जगत्पतिः॥१४३॥

She also unrobed him taking away his pītāmbara and also broke away the vanamālā. She then started splashing water over him again and again. Thereafter Rādhikā dragged Hari in the deep water who was drowned there.

उत्थाय माधवः शीघ्रं तां गृहीत्वा प्रहस्य च।
कृत्वा वक्षसि नग्नां च चुचुम्ब च पुनः पुनः॥१४४॥

Thereafter Mādhava got up at once and caught hold of Rādhikā and smilingly embraced her implanting kisses on her again and again.

एवं ता मूर्तयः सर्वा गोपीभिः सह कौतुकात्।
क्रीडां विचक्रुर्यमुनातीरनीरे मनोहरे॥१४५॥

Similarly, all the images of lord Kṛṣṇa behaved similarly with all other cowherdesses in the waters of Yamunā.

तीरं गत्वा तया सार्धं हरिर्नग्नश्च नग्नया।
सा तं ययाचे वसनं स च तां सस्मितां सतीम्॥१४६॥

Thereafter, the unrobed Kṛṣṇa and Rādhā reached the bank of the Yamunā. Rādhā then begged for her costumes from Kṛṣṇa smilingly.

राधिकायै ददौ वस्त्रं रम्यां मालां च माधवः।
प्रददौ हरये वस्त्रं वंशीं रासेश्वरी मुदा॥१४७॥

Thereafter Mādhava returned to Rādhikā all her costumes and the beautiful garments, who inturn returned the robes of Kṛṣṇa together with the flute.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरी सर्वाङ्गे कुङ्कुमान्विताम्।
कृष्णस्य परया भक्त्या ददौ श्रोणिस्थितस्य च॥१४८।
निर्माय चूडां ललितां कामिनीं चित्तमोहिनीम्।

Finding the beautiful flowers there Rādhikā deputed some of the cowherdesses for collecting the flowers.

Some of them were asked to make the garments and some of them were asked to make the betels while others were asked to make the sandal-paste.

Rādhikā looked with side-glances and wearing smile on her face, she offered the sandal-paste and betels to Kṛṣṇa lovingly which were handed over to her by the cowherdesses.

काश्चिन्नियोजनं चक्रे कृष्णसंगीतकर्मणि।

Some of the cowherdesses started playing on musical instruments together with Kṛṣṇa and some were engaged in musical drum.

Thus Rādhikā enjoying the company of Kṛṣṇa in the Rāsamaṇḍala and the love-sports roamed about in the beautiful secluded places with Kṛṣṇa.

The mind of the passionate damsels is never satisfied with the love-sports but they become more and more desirous for the same as the ghee in flames the fire.

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, getting intoxicated with passion all the cowherdesses who were quite adult and arrogant never considered Kṛṣṇa as the husband and kissed as the lord.

Some one said to the lord, You apply vermilion over my forehead. Some one went rapidly to her beloved and said, "You arrange ray hair after combing it." Covering the unrobed body some one of them sent sandal-paste for adoring the ears of the lord. A cowherdess smilingly filled with passion, approached Kṛṣṇa, desirous of union with him looked at his lotus-like face and spoke sweet words. One of the damsels dragged Mādhava forcibly and snatched away his flute. Some one stole away his pītāmbara unrobing him. One of the arrogant damsel said to Madhusūdana, "You paint the nails of my feet." Some one spoke to him, "You paint my breasts and cheeks with different figures." Both of them visited different mountains, charming deserted is land, the pleasant banks of the river sacred mountains, mountains of gems, the banks of Gaṅgā and Yamunā the temples, Gandhamādana mountain, the pleasant kunda forest, the lotus forest on the bank of the Kāverī river and the flower orchards located over the Puṣpabhadrā river. He than decorated the body of Rādhā and reached the valley of Malayācala where the wind bearing the fragrant of sandal-wood was blowing. He made the flower bed and was united with Rādhā.

She had the developed pelvic region as well as the breasts and was without robes, infatuated with passion. Fatigued, Rādhā was observed by Kṛṣṇa who helped her regain consciousness. Holding her in his hands he made her wear all the costumes.

कबरीं रचयामास किंचिद्वामेव वक्रताम्।

He than arranged a tuft over her head which was silting towards the left and decorated it with the jasmine and kunda flowers.

He applied vermilion on her head and painted her cheeks and the breasts.

The nails of her feet were also painted together with the soles of her feet. He made scratched over her breasts and cheeks with his nails drawing an artificial lotus.

Thereafter accompanied with her he entered the lake which was beautified by various lines of lotus flowers.

The lake was filled with crystal clean water and was infested by the beautiful geese, the ducks and the water fouls.

The black-wasps getting greedy of the honey were surrounding the lotus flowers creating hissing sound continuously.

Taking bath in that, lake they also enjoyed the water-sport. Mādhava splashed water on Rādhā while Rādhā did so on Mādhava.

Thereafter Mādhava plucked two lotus flowers with a thousand petals gave one of them to Rādhā while the other one was kept by him for himself. Thereafter, the lord of Rādhā applied the sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron on the body of Rādhā.

Thereafter he moved on accompanied by Rādhā and while so moving they came across a banyan tree which was quite a gigantic one and fairly tall. Its leaf provided shade in an area of a yojana. Thereafter Govinda, sat down near the jasmine forest. The fragrant breeze was blowing there. Śrī Kṛṣṇa spent a let of time with Rādhā at that place narrating to her some ancient story and repealing other secrets. At that point of time the sage Aṣṭāvakra appeared before them.

आगच्छन्तं च तं दृष्ट्वा प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणम्।

मुखतोऽग्निमुद्गिरन्तंतपोराशिमिवोत्थितम्॥३६॥

The sage was coming towards them. His face and the eyes were filled with pleasure. Instead of devoting his mind to the lord, he was disturbed in his meditation. Now he was witnessing the beauty before him. He had a black body, all the limbs of his body were deformed. He was dwarfish and without robes and had the name of Aṣṭāvakra. He was illumining with divine lustre wearing locks of hair over the head, vomiting fire from his mouth as if his tapas, was emerging out of his mouth.

अहो किं वा ब्रह्मतेजो मूर्तिमन्तमिह स्वयम्।

It looked as if the divine lustre as itself had incarnated on earth. He had grown beard and moustaches on his face and the hair of the body and the nails had also grown. He was quite illustrious and peaceful. Getting panicky, bowing in devotion he stood before them with folded hands. Rādhā started laughing looking at the sage but Hari stopped her and enlightened her about the influence of the sage. The sage than bowed in reverence to Govinda and offered prayers to him. He recited they stotra for lord Kṛṣṇa which was given to him by lord Śiva in earlier times.

अष्टावक्र उवाच

गुणातीत गुणाधार गुणबीज गुणात्मक।
गुणीश गुणिनां बीज गुणायन नमोऽस्तु ते॥४०॥

Aṣṭāvakra said- O lord, you are beyond qualities, the base of qualities, the cause of qualities, the form of qualities, the lord of qualities, the seed of the virtuous People and the abode of qualities. Therefore, I offer my salutation to you.

सिद्धिस्वरूप सिद्ध्यंश सिद्धबीज परात्पर।
सिद्धिसिद्ध गुणाधीश सिद्धानां गुरवे नमः॥४१॥

You are the form of success, the aṁśa of success, the cause of success, beyond everything, the great siddha of the siddhis the lord of the virtues and the teacher of the siddhas. I offer my salutation to you.

हे वेदबीज वेदज्ञ वेदिन्वेदविदां वर।
वेदज्ञाताऽऽद्यरूपेश वेदज्ञेश न०॥४२॥

O seed of the Vedas, you are well-versed in the Vedas, the possessor of the Vedas, the best among those well-versed in the Vedas, unknown in the Vedas, you have an eternal form, the lord of those well-versed in the Vedas. I offer my salutation to you.

ब्रह्मानन्तेश शेषेन्द्रधर्मादीनामधीश्वर।
सर्व सर्वेश शर्वेश बीजरूप न०॥४३॥

You are the lord of Brahmā, Ananta, Śeṣa, Indra and Dharma, the form of everyone, the lord of everyone and the lord of all. I offer my salutation to you.

प्रकृते प्राकृत प्रज्ञ प्रकृतीश परात्पर।
संसारवृक्ष तद्बीज फलरूप न०॥४४॥

You are the form of Prakṛti, the eminent intellectual, lord of Prakṛti, beyond everything, seed of the tree of the universe besides being its fruit. I offer my salutation to you.

सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तबीजेश सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तकारण।
महाविराट्तरोर्बीज राधिकेश न०॥४५॥

you are the seed of creation, preservation and destruction, you represent the creation of the universe, its preservation and cause of its destruction. You are the seed for the tree of Mahāvirāṭ and lord of Rādhikā. I offer my salutation to you.

अहो यस्य त्रयःस्कन्धा ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
शाखाप्रशाखा वेदाद्यास्तपांसि कुसुमानि च॥४६॥
संसारा विफला एव प्रकृत्यङ्कुरमेत्य च।
तदाधार निराधार सर्वाधार न०॥४७॥

Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva happen to be the three branches of the tree of Mahāvirāṭ. The Vedas and others Vedic literature are the tender branches, the tapas represent the flowers. Therefore, the universe happens to be the form of special fruit in which Prakṛti is the sprouting leaves and you happen to be the root of the same. You are without base but still you happen to be the base of all. I offer my salutation to you.

तेजोरूप निराकार प्रत्यक्षानूहमेव च।
सर्वाकारातिप्रत्यक्ष स्वेच्छामय न०॥४८॥

You are the form of the lustre, the invisible one, beyond the evidence of existence, the form of Virāṭ, quite visible and you move at will. I offer my salutation to you.

इत्युक्त्वा स मुनिश्रेष्ठो निपत्य चरणाम्बुजे।
प्राणांस्तत्याज योगेन तयोः प्रत्यक्ष एव च॥४९॥

Thus speaking the best of the sages, fell at the feet of the lord and then departed for his heavenly abode in presence of both of them.

पपात तत्र तद्देह: पादपद्मसमीपत:।
तत्तेजश्च समुत्तस्थौ ज्वलदग्निशिखोपम्॥५०॥
सप्ततालप्रमाणं तु चोत्थाय च पपात ह।
भ्रामं भ्रामं च परितो लीनं चाभूत्पदाम्बुजे॥५१॥

His body fell close to the feet of the lord and a divine illuminating lustre emerged out of his body which was as. high as the seven tāla trees and it again fell down. The same lustre circumambulated around lord Kṛṣṇa and thereafter it merged into his feet.

अष्टावक्रकृतं स्तोत्रं प्रातरुत्थाय य: पठेत्।

प्राणाधिको मुमुक्षूणां स्तोत्रराजश्च नारद।
हरिणाऽहो पुरा दत्तो वैकुण्ठे शंकराय च॥५३॥

Whosoever will recite the stotra composed by Aṣṭāvakra he will achieve redemption. There is no doubt about it. This is the best of the stotras and is dearer to the devotees than their lives. Its knowledge was imparted in earlier times in Vaikuṇṭha by lord Hari to Śiva.

Rambhā's curse on Aṣṭāvakra

नारद उवाच

महामुने रहस्यं च श्रुतं ब्रह्मन्किमद्भुतम्।
मृते मुनौ किं चकार श्रीकृष्णो भक्तवत्सल:।।१।।

Nārada said- what type of astonishing secret relates to the sage? After the death of the sage, what did Kṛṣṇa do, who always showers his grace on his devotees?

नारायण उवाच

दृष्ट्वा मृतं मुनिं कृष्ण: संस्कारं कर्तुमुद्यत:।

Nārāyaṇa said- Finding the sage dead before him Śrī Kṛṣṇa got ready to cremate his body. Carrying his body on his chest, Kṛṣṇa started crying aloud like and ordinary person. He held that body in his arms tightly, as a result of which the ashes emerged from the body.

The body of the sage was devoid of the blood flesh and bones. O great sage, sage Aṣṭāvakra performed tapas for sixty thousand years while fasting, as a result of which all his blood, flesh and bones were burnt out by the fire of the stomach. He neglecting the out-world knowledge always devoted his mind at the lotus-like feet of the lord.

Thereafter lord Madhusūdana made a pier of sandal-wood and cremated his body. Expressing his grief Madhusūdana placed the body of the sage on the pier and after that the wood was also placed over the body. Thereafter the pier was lit. When the pair went in flames, the lord fainted for a while. When the body of the sage was burnt out, the musical instruments and the big drums were sounded in the heaven. At the same time the flowers were rained from the sky. At that point of time a beautiful chariot arrived from Goloka which was inlaid with-the best of gems and could move with the speed of mind and was decorated with the garlands of flowers and other costumes. It had a number of attendant who resembled the form of lord Kṛṣṇa. The attendant of the lord, immediately descended from the chariot who resembled the form of Kṛṣṇa. All of them bowed in reverence to Kṛṣṇa and Rādhikā and also the sage who was in ethereal form. Thereafter the sage was made to board the chariot and was than carried to Goloka.

गते मुनीन्द्रे गोलोकं वृन्दावनविनोदिनी।
बभूव विस्मिता साध्वी पप्रच्छ जगदीश्वरम्॥१३॥

After the departure of Aṣṭāvakra, the great sage to Goloka, Rādhikā the goddess of Vṛndāvana felt surprised and asked the lord of the universe.

राधिकोवाच

कोऽयं नाथ मुनिश्रेष्ठः सर्वावयवविक्रमः।

Rādhikā said- She one who was the beat of the sages why were his limb deformed? He was quite dwarfish and had a black complexion of the body. He looked quite horrible but still he was quite illustrious.

How could they astonishing ashes emerge from his body any could the divine lustre possessed by the sage in his body merger in your lotus-like feet. Thereafter the auspicious soul was mounted over the chariot and went to Goloka and with the influence of that you could not help crying. O lord you had welcomed him with your eyes filled with tears; therefore, you tell me the entire story in detail.

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य मधुसूदनः।
कथां कथितुमारेभे युगान्तरगतामपि॥१८॥

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, Madhusūdana smiled or a moment and started narrating the story which related to many previous yugas.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

रहस्यमष्टावक्रीयं विख्यातं सर्वतः प्रिये।
पश्चाच्छ्रोष्यसि कालेन प्रसङ्गे विदुषां मुखात्॥१९॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa said- The secret of Aṣṭāvakra is quite well- known in some subsequent contexts. You will listen the same from the mouth of the learned people.

अष्टावक्रो मुनीन्द्रोऽपि विख्यातो भुवनत्रये।
परिपूर्णं यद्यशसा जगन्मातर्जगत्त्रयम्॥२०॥

The sage Aṣṭāvakra was well-known in the three worlds. O mother of the universe, his (glory was spread over the three worlds.

कृष्णस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा विमनस्का हरिप्रिया।
उवाच मधुरं यत्नाच्छुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका॥२१॥

On hearing the words of Kṛṣṇa, the face of Rādhikā faded away and her throat, lips and palate dried up. Thereafter with great efforts she spoke sweet words.

राधिकोवाच

यत्तृषालोर्मनः पूर्णं न बभूव सुधाम्बुधौ।
स वितृप्तो भवति किं गोष्पदोदकपानतः॥२२॥
वेदानां वेदवक्तॄणां विधातुर्जनकस्य च।
महाविष्णोरीश्वरस्त्वं कोऽन्यो वक्ताऽस्ति त्वत्परः॥२३।

Rādhikā said- "The thirsty person who could not quench his thirst with the ocean of nectar could he be satisfied with the water stored in the place measuring the hoof of a cow. You happen to be the creator of the Vedas and post-Vedic literature and you happen to be the lord of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva. Therefore who else could be superior to you.".

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा तुष्टः कृष्णो बभूव ह।
उवाच गोपनीयं च रहस्यं परमाद्भुतम्॥२४॥

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, Kṛṣṇa felt delighted and therefore revealing the astonishing and inaccessible secret to her he spoke.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

शृणु कान्ते प्रवक्ष्येऽहमितिहासं पुरातनम्।
श्रवणात्कथनाद्यस्य सर्वं पापं प्रणश्यति॥२५॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O any beloved, you listen to me I will narrate to you an ancient story, with the hearing or reciting or which all the sins vanish.

महाविष्णोर्नाभिपद्माद्बभूव जगतां विधिः।
यमांशश्च मत्कलया जलाकीर्णे जगत्त्रये॥२६॥

After the submerging of the three worlds in the water Brahmā who happens to be my own aṁśa emerged from the navel of Mahāviṣṇu from my rays.

पुत्रा बभूवश्चत्वारो ब्रह्मणो मानसात्पुरा।
नारायणपराः सर्वे ज्वलतो ब्रह्मतेजसा॥२७॥

In the earlier times he had four mind born sons who were devoted to Nārāyaṇa and illumined with the divine lustre.

शिशवः पञ्चवर्षीया नग्ना अज्ञानिनो यथा।
बाह्यज्ञानविहीनाश्च ब्रह्मतत्त्वविशारदाः॥२८॥

They were intellectuals and always remained like the five-year-old children roaming about naked devoid of the knowledge of Brahman but were well-versed in Brahmatattva. They were known as Sanaka, Sananda, Sanātana and Sanatkumara.

सनकश्च सनन्दश्च तृतीयश्च सनातनः।
सनत्कुमारो भगवानेते चत्वार एव च॥२९॥
तानुवाच जगद्धाता सृष्टिं कुरुत पुत्रकाः।
ते न तस्थुः पितुर्वाक्ये प्रययुस्तपसे मम॥३०॥
विधाता विमनस्कश्च तनयेषु गतेषु च।
पितुर्दुःखाय प्रभवेत्पुत्रश्चेदवचस्करः॥३१॥

Brahmā said to them, "O sons you engage yourself in the creation of the universe." But all of them disregarding the words of their father went for performing tapas. After the departure of his sons, Brahma felt sad because if the sons do not listen to his father, it becomes quite painful to the father,.

ज्ञानेन निर्ममे पुत्रान्स्वाङ्गेषु च तपोधनान्।
वेदवेदाङ्गविज्ञांश्च ज्वलतो ब्रह्मतेजसा॥३२॥

Thereafter, with his divine knowledge he created several sons out of his limbs, who were well-versed in tapas. and well-versed in the Vedic and post-Vedic literature, illumining with the divine lustre.

अत्रिः पुलस्त्यः पुलहो मरीचिर्भृगुरङ्गिराः।
क्रतुर्वसिष्ठो वोढुश्च कपिलाश्चासुरिः कविः॥३३॥
शङ्कुः शङ्कुः पञ्चशिखः प्रचेतास्ते तपोधनाः।
बहुकालं तपस्तप्त्वा चक्रुः सृष्टिं तदाज्ञया॥३४॥
कलत्रवन्तस्ते सर्वे संसारं कर्तुमुन्मुखाः।
बभुवुः पुत्रपौत्राश्च सर्वेषां च तपस्विनाम्॥३५॥
तदस्तु च तथा बह्वी मुनिर्वंशानुकीर्तनी।
चार्वी पुण्यस्वरूपा च प्रकृतं शृणु सुन्दरि॥३६॥

These included Atri, Pulastya, Pulaha, Marīci, Bhṛgu, Aṅgirā, Kratu, Vasiṣṭha, Voḍhu, Kapila, Āsuri, Kavi, Śaṅku, Pañcaśikha and Pracetā. All of them got ready to increase the universe. remaining with their wives, all the sages produced many children and grand children. The story relating to the tradition of the race of sages is quite lengthy and bestows merit. Therefore, it should be left out; now we shall talk on the subject relating to the present context.

प्रचेतसः सुतः श्रीमानसितो मुनिपुंगवः।
सकलत्रस्तपस्तेपे दिव्यं वर्षसहस्रकम्॥३७॥

Pracetā had two sons named Śrīmān and Asita who happened to be the best of the sages. as it performed tapas for a divine thousand years with his wife.

न बभूव सुतस्तस्य प्राणांस्त्यक्तुं समुद्यतः।
तं संबोद्धुं बभूवाथ सत्या वागशरीरिणी॥३८॥
कथं त्यजसि प्राणांस्त्वं गच्छ शंकरसंनिधिम्।
सिद्धं कुरु गृहीत्वा च मन्त्रं शंकरवक्त्रतः॥३९॥

But could not get a son. Then they were getting ready to end their lives. At that point of time a divine voice was heard saying, O sage why are you ending your life? You go to Śiva and receive a mantra from him, which should be recited by you.

मन्त्राधिष्ठातृदेवी ते सद्य: साक्षाद्भविष्यति।
वरेणाभीष्टदेव्याश्च पुत्रस्ते भविता ध्रुवम्॥४०॥

The great goddess of the mantra would surely appear before you and with the boon of the same goddess, you would surely beget a son.

श्रुत्वैतच्चरितं विप्रो जगाम शिवसंनिधिम्।
योगिनामप्यगम्यं च शिवलोकं निरामयम्॥४१॥
सकलत्रो यथा योगी तुष्टाव योगिनां गुरुम्।
पुटाञ्जलियुतो भूत्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधर:॥४२॥

Hearing this the sage went to Śiva who is beyond the reach of the yogīs. The sage arrived at Śivaloka with his wife and with his mind filled with devotion, bowing in reverence to him, offered prayer to Śiva who happens to be the lord of the yogīs.

असित उवाच

जगद्गुरो नमस्तुभ्यं शिवाय शिवदाय च।
योगीन्द्राणां च योगीन्द्र गुरूणां गुरवे नम:॥४३॥

Asita said- O teacher of the universe, I offer my salutation to you. You are the form of welfare and bestow welfare, you are best among the yogīs and happen to be the teacher of the teachers. I offer my salutation to you.

मृत्योर्मृत्युस्वरूपेण मृत्युसंसारखण्डन।
मृत्योरीश मृत्युबीज मृत्युंजय नमोऽस्तु ते॥४४॥

Taking to the form of death, you even destroy the death. You are the lord of death, the cause of death and are the one who has over-powered death. I bow in reverence to you.

कालरूपं कलयतां कालकालेश कारण।
कालादतीत कालस्थ कालकाल न०॥४५॥

O great lord, you are the form of Kāla and the aim of those who count the time. You happen to be the death for the Kāla, the lord and the cause of the death. You are the death for the Kāla, I offer my salutation to you.

गुणातीत गुणाधार गुणबीज गुणात्मक।
गुणीश गुणिनां बीज गुणिनां गुरवे नम:॥४६॥

You are beyond the qualities, the base of qualities, the cause of qualities, the lord of qualities, the seed of the virtuous people, you are the teacher of virtuous people. I offer my salutation to you.

ब्रह्मस्वरूप ब्रह्मज्ञ ब्रह्मभावे च तत्पर।
ब्रह्मबीजस्वरूपेण ब्रह्मबीज न०॥४७॥

You are the form of Brahman, well-versed in the Brahman, thinker of Brahman and the form of Brahman as well as the seed of the Vedas, I offer my salutation to you.

इति स्तुत्वा शिवं नत्वा पुरस्तस्थौ मुनीश्वर:।
दीनवत्साश्रुनेत्रश्च पुलकाञ्चितविग्रह:॥४८॥

After offering the prayer to Śiva, he stood before him like a helpless person and started dropping tears from his eyes. His entire body was filled with sensation.

असितेन कृतं स्तोत्रं भक्तियुक्तश्च य: पठेत्।
वर्षमेकं हविष्याशी शंकरस्य महात्मन:॥४९॥

The one who recites the stotra of Śiva composed by Asita regularly for a year and also consumer haviṣya food with devotion, he achieves a Vaiṣṇava and intelligent son having long life.

स लभेद्वैष्णवं पुत्रं ज्ञानिनं चिरजीविनम्।
भवेद्धनाढ्यो दु:खी च मूको भवति पण्डित:॥५०॥
अभार्यो लभते भार्यां सुशीलां च पतिव्रताम्।
इह लोके सुखं भुक्त्वा यात्यन्ते शिवसंनिधिम्॥५१॥

The pauper achieves riches the dumb person becomes intelligent and the person without a wife achieves a chaste wife. He after enjoying all the riches in the universe ultimately reaches the abode of Śiva.

इदं स्तोत्रं पुरा दत्तं ब्रह्मणा च प्रचेतसा।
प्रचेतसा स्वपुत्रायासिताय दत्तमुत्तमम्॥५२॥

In the earlier times this stotra was handed down by Brahmā to Pracetā who inturn handed it down to his son Asita.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

समाकर्ण्य मुने: स्तोत्रं भगवाञ्छंकर: स्वयम्।
उवाच ब्रह्मण: पुत्रं स्वभक्तं भक्तवत्सल:॥५३॥

Kṛṣṇa said- On hearing the stotra from the sage, lord Śiva who is always graceful to his devotees, said to the son of Brahmā.

स्थिरो भव मुनिश्रेष्ठ जानामि तव वाञ्छितम्।
पुत्रस्ते भविता सत्यं मदंशेन च मत्सम:॥५४॥

Śiva said- O best of the sages, be patient. I am well-aware of your desire. You will achieve a son from my aṁśa, who will equate me. This is true.

दास्यामि मन्त्रमतुलं सर्वेषां च सुदुर्लभम्।
इत्युक्त्वा च ददौ मन्त्रं तवैव षोडशाक्षरम्॥५५॥
स्तोत्रं पूजाविधानं च कवचं परमाद्भुतम्।
संसारविजयं नाम पुरश्चरणपूर्वकम्॥५६॥
वरं दातुमिष्टदेवी प्रत्यक्षा भवितेति च।
इत्युक्त्वा विरतो रुद्र: स तं नत्वा जगाम ह॥५७॥
जजाप परमं मन्त्रं सोऽसित: शतवत्सरम्।
साक्षाद्भूत्वा वरस्तस्मै त्वया दत्त: पुरा सति॥५८॥
पुत्रस्ते भविता सत्यं महाज्ञानी सुतेति च।
वरं दत्त्वा त्वमगमो गोलोकं मम संनिधिम्॥५९॥
कालेन च सुतस्तस्य शिवांशेन बभूव ह।
ब्रह्मिष्ठो देवलो नाम्ना कन्दर्पसमसुन्दर:॥६०॥

I will bestow a beautiful mantra to you which is beyond the reach of all the people. Thus speaking Śiva bestowed on the sage your sixteen letter mantra, stotra method of adoration and the method of its completion. He also bestowed on him, the kavaca which made the devotees victorious on the universe and said to the Brāhmaṇas. The goddess will appear before you for bestowing the boons on you. Thus speaking Rudra kept quiet and the Brahman bowing in reverence to him left the place. Thereafter the sage Asita recited the mantra. for a hundred years. Thereafter you appeared before hire in earlier times and granted him a boon saying, "You will beget a most illustrious son. This is the truth." Thus pronouncing the boon on the Brāhmaṇa, you returned, to Goloka and joined me.

सुयज्ञनृपते: कन्यां रत्नमालावतीं मुदा।
तां सुन्दरीं विवाहेन जगृहे सर्वमोहिनीम्॥६१॥

In due course of time Asita had a son named Devala from the aṁśa of Śiva who was denoted to Brahman and was as beautiful as the god of love. He was married to the daughter of Suyajña named Ratnamālāvatī who was quite charming and beautiful.

स्थाने स्थाने च रहसि शतवर्षं तया सह।
स रेमे निपुण: श्रेष्ठ: स्त्रीणां रमणकर्मणि॥६२॥

The sage Devala who was well-versed in the art of making love, enjoyed the company with Ratnamālāvatī for a hundred years roaming about in several secluded places.

कालान्तरे स विरतो बभूव मुनिपुंगव:।
सुखं सर्वं परित्यज्य धर्मिष्ठ: श्रीहरिं स्मरन्॥६३॥
उत्थाय रात्रौ शयनाद्विरक्तश्च तपोधन:।
स ययौ तपसे कान्ते गन्धमादनगह्वरम्॥६४॥

In due course of time a sense of detachment developed in the mind of Devala, after which he is discarded everything and devoted his mind to lord Hari once during the night he got up from the bad and went to a cave in the Gandhamādana mountain for performing tapas.

निद्रां त्यक्त्वा च तत्कान्ता न दृष्ट्वा स्वामिनं सती।
विललाप भृशं शोकात्प्रदग्धा विरहाग्निना॥६५॥

When his wife woke up he found her husband missing and burning with the pangs of separation, she started lamenting filled with grief.

उत्तिष्ठन्ती निर्विशन्ती रुरोदोच्चैर्मुहुर्मुहु:।
तप्तपात्रे यथा धान्यं बभूव तन्मनस्तदा॥६६॥
आहारं च परित्यज्य प्राणांस्तत्याज सुन्दरी।
चकार तत्सुतस्तस्या: कर्म निर्हरणादिकम्॥६७॥

Sometimes she got up and sometimes she fell down. Thus Ratnamālāvatī started crying aloud again and again, her mind was facing the same condition as the paddy faces while it is poured in the burning vase. The beautiful damsel stopped taking food and ultimately she met with her end. After her death her son cremated her, performing all the last rites.

तपश्चकार स मुनिर्गन्धमादनगह्वरे।
दिव्यं वर्षसहस्रं च मम भक्तो जितेन्द्रिय:॥६८॥
तं ददर्श ह दैवेन रम्भा शृङ्गारलोलुपा।

अतीव सुन्दरं शान्तं कन्दर्पमिव सुन्दरम्।।६९।।

The sage who was self-controlled and was my devotee performed tapas in the cave at Gandhamādana mountain for a thousand divine years. As a move of destiny in the meantime, the extremely passionate Rambhā looked at the sage who was quite beautiful, peaceful and was as charming as the god of love.

सा च तं कथयामास निर्जने समुपस्थिता।
विधाय वेषं यत्नेन त्रैलोक्यचित्तमोहिनी।।७०।।

Rambhā who could attract, three worlds to herself appeared in the secluded place before the sage and said.

रम्भोवाच

निबोध साधो मद्वाक्यं कामिनीनां मनोहरम्।
त्यक्त्वा कठोरं रहसि भज मां सुखदायिकाम्।।७१।।

Rambhā said- O ascetic, you listen to the charming words of damsel like me. Discarding this hard tapas. you enjoy my company with pleasure in the secluded place.

त्वं वरेषु वर: पृथ्व्यां वरारोहा स्वयंवरा।
विदग्धाया विदग्धस्य दुर्लभो नवसंगम:।।७२।।

Because you are the best among the best and I happen to be the best of the apsarās and quite beautiful. It is really difficult for a competent person to have a union with a competent damsel.

यज्ञं कुर्वन्ति भूपाला भारते स्वर्गहेतुकम्।
स्वर्गभोगनिमित्तं च भोगसारा वयं मुने।।७३।।

O sage, the kings of the land of Bhārata performed yajñas for achieving the heaven, the pleasures of the heaven are available on earth.

स्तनयोर्युग्ममूर्वोर्मे सुन्दरं मुखपङ्कजम्।
हास्यभ्रूभङ्गसहितं दृष्ट्वा को न लभेत्सुखम्।।७४।।

Who will not achieve pleasure by enjoying my breasts, the thighs, the beautiful face like the lotus flower and the smile on my face.

स्त्रीरस: सुखसारश्च मुनीनामभिवाञ्छित:।
रसिकासुखसंभोगो निर्जने चातिदुर्लभ:।।७५।।

Because out of all the pleasures, the pleasure of the company of a damsel is desired even by the great sages. It is very difficult to get the pleasure of enjoying the company of a beautiful damsel in a lonely place.

देवो वा मानवो वाऽपि गन्धर्वो वाऽथ राक्षस:।
स्त्रीसुखेष्वप्यविज्ञेयो रम्भाया रतिवञ्चित:।।७६।।

The gods, the humans, Gandharvas and the demons getting deprived of the love sports of Rambhā should be treated like those who are unaware of the pleasure of the company of the ladies.

रहस्युपस्थितां कान्तां न भजेद्यो जितेन्द्रिय:।
गात्रलोमप्रमाणाब्दं कुम्भीपाके वसेद्ध्रुवम्।।७७।।

Such of the self-controlled person who does not enjoy the company of the damsel who appears before him in a secluded place, he falls into the kumbhīpāka hell and has to remain their till the number of years equivalent to the number hair oil ones body.

सत्यं तस्याश्च वधभाक्तच्छापेन प्रणश्यति।
विधाता मोहिनीशापादपूज्यो भुवनत्रये।।७८।।

He earns the sin of killing the damsel and is also destroyed with the same sin. Brahmā became unadorable because of the curse of Mohinī.

येन त्यक्तोपस्थितां तं यथा पश्यति पुंश्चली।
स्वामिपुत्रस्वबन्धूनां न तथा घातकं रुषा।।७९।।

The one who disowns a loose women, she looks at him with such a great anger with which she never looks at her husband, son father and the her other relatives.

परं प्रियं च सर्वेषां जारं जानाति पुंश्चली।
यदि तेन परित्यक्ता तं हन्तुं सा तु दक्षिणा।।८०।।

The loose women is considered by men to be more loveable. Therefore, if anyone disowns a loose woman he appears like killing himself.

पुंश्चली हिंस्रजन्तुभ्यो नवघातिभ्य एव च।
दुष्टा शश्वद्दयाहीना दुरन्ता प्रतिजन्मनि।।८१।।

The loose women becomes more dangerous than the wild animal who attacks in rage and she always become heartless and at is the cause of the miseries.

त्यज ध्यानं मुनिश्रेष्ठ भुङ्क्ष्वेदं तपसः फलम्।
रहस्युपस्थितां मां च गृहीत्वा सुचिरं सुखम्॥८२॥

O best of the sages you disown your tapas and enjoy my company for long in the secluded places, earning the reward of your tapas.

स रम्भावचनं श्रुत्वा तामुवाच भयाकुलः।
हितं तथ्यं नीतिसारं परिणामसुखावहम्॥८३॥

On hearing the words of Rambhā, the sage felt panicky and he spoke the words which were beneficial, truthful, appropriate and could result in achieving pleasure.

देवल उवाच

शृणु रम्भे प्रवक्ष्यामि वेदसारं परं वचः।
कुलधर्मोचितं सत्यं ब्राह्मणानां तपस्विनाम्॥८४॥

Devala said- O Rambhā listen to me, I am going to tell you the essence of the Vedas which is truthful and is appropriate to the one who is born in the race of Brāhmaṇas.

धर्मोऽयं युक्तकाले च स्वयोषिति रतो द्विजः।
सर्वत्र पूजितः शश्वदिह लोके परत्र च॥८५॥

It has been prescribed that a Brāhmaṇas should enjoy the company of his wife at the appropriate time. Such a Brāhmaṇa is adored in this as well as in this future birth.

ब्राह्मणः क्षत्रियो वैश्यो यो रतः परयोषिति।
याति तस्यापूजितस्य रुष्टा लक्ष्मीर्गृहादपि॥८६॥

Such of the Brāhmaṇa or Kṣatriya or Vaiśya who always indulges in the worldly pleasure with his wife, he becomes unadorable and the goddess of riches getting annoyed, leaves this place.

इहातिनिन्द्यः सर्वत्र नाधिकारी स्वकर्मसु।
परत्रैवान्धकूपे च यावद्वर्षशतं वसेत्॥८७॥

He is denounced in this world getting discarded from his race and is not considered suitable for performing any good deeds. After his death, he falls into the andhakūpa hell where he has to stay for a hundred years.

ग्राह्या चोपस्थिता स्त्री च गृहिणा न तपस्विना।
त्यागे दोषः कामिनीनां शापभाक्पाप भाग्गृही॥८८॥

Therefore it could be proper for a house holder to except a women who approaches him but no for an ascetic. Only a house-holder earns a sin by disregarding the damsels. It is he, who gets entitled for a curse or a sin.

ब्रह्मा जगद्विधाताऽपि न विरक्तः कलत्रवान्।
त्यागे दोषस्तत्कदाचिन्नास्माकं त्यक्तयो षिताम्॥८९॥

Lord Brahmā the creator of the universe also has a wife and has not become an ascetic. Therefore the ascetic who has already disowned the damsel can earn no sin by discarding a loose women.

स्वभार्यां च परित्यज्य यो गृह्णाति परस्त्रियम्।
यशोधनायुषां हानिर्भवेज्जीवन्मृतस्य च॥९०॥

The one who accepts another damsel by disowning his own wife, he is treated as dead while still being alive. All his glory, fortune and age are destroyed.

भुवि नास्ति यशो यस्य जीवनं तस्य निष्फलम्।
सुसंपदा किं राज्येन सुखेन च तपस्विनः॥९१॥

The one who does not achieve glory on earth, his life is of no consequence. The ascetic remain unconcerned with the riches, the kingdom and other worldly pleasure.

निष्कामेन च वृद्धेन मया किं ते प्रयोजनम्।
सुवेशं सुन्दरं मातर्युवानं पश्य सुन्दरि॥९२॥

O mother, what purpose would be served by your accepting an ascetic person like me. O beautiful one, you search for some others youthful person who should be beautiful.

इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा चुकोपाप्सरसां वरा।
उवाच भूयो वाक्यं तं त्रस्ता प्रस्फुरिताधरा॥९३॥

On hearing the words of the sage, the apsarā was enraged. Her lips started fluttering and getting panicky, she spoke to Devala.

रम्भोवाच

चारुचम्पकवर्णाभः कन्दर्पसमसुन्दरः।
तपः प्रभावात्सश्रीकः सुवेषः संमतः स्त्रियाः॥९४॥

Rambhā said- You have a complexion like beautiful moon and the flowers, you are beautiful like the god of love, as a result of tapas you have attained great glory and your physique has attracted a damsel.

त्वया विनाऽन्यं कं यामि को वाऽस्ति त्वत्पर: पुमान्।
पुंश्चली त्वां परित्यज्य का जीवति स्मरातुरा॥९५॥

Whom shall I approach after leaving you, who else is a better person like you? which one of the loose women getting infested with passion can remain alive disowning you.

शीघ्रं मां भज विप्रेन्द्र दग्धां कामाग्निना सदा।
कामो नश्यति मां त्वत्तो यथा रम्भां मतंगज:॥९६॥

Therefore, O best of the Brāhmaṇas, I am burning with passion and you enjoy my company. I am getting destroyed by your neglect as the trunk of the banana tree gets destroyed when trampled upon by the intoxicated elephant.

न चेच्छापं प्रदायामि वद वेदविदां वर।
मां वा दारुणशापं वा सत्वरं ग्रहणं कुरु॥९७॥

O best of those well-versed in the Vedas in case you do not agreed to my words I am sure to pronounce a curse on you. Now you accept a terrific curse which is going to pronounced by me.

दग्धा: प्राणा मनो दग्धं स्वात्मा वा इति संततम्।
नवशृङ्गारपीयूषपाननिर्वाणतां व्रजेत्॥९८॥

My mind, my life and my soul are burning at the moment. They are desirous of enjoying the nectar of new found love, which can only pacify me.

स्वान्तर्दु:खेन दु:खार्तो यो यं शपति निश्चितम्।
तं शापं खण्डितुं शक्तो न विधाता जगत्पति:॥९९॥

The one who pronounces a curse whose soul is hurt, the curse of such a person cannot be negativated even by Brahmā the lord of the universe.

द्विजो रम्भावच: श्रुत्वा बभूव ध्यानतत्पर:।
नोवाच किंचिन्मौनस्थ: सा तं कोपाच्छशाप ह॥१००।
हे वक्रचित्त ते विप्र सर्वावयववक्रिमम्।
शरीरमञ्जनाकारं रूपयौवनवर्जितम्॥१०१॥
अतीव विकृताकारं त्रिषु लोकेषु गर्हितम्।
पुरातनं तपो नष्टं सद्यो भवतु निश्चितम्॥१०२॥

On hearing the words of Rambhā, the Brāhmaṇa started performing tapas and uttered no words. At this, Rambhā was en raged a and she pronounced a curse on the sage saying, "O Brāhmaṇa, having a wicked mind your body will get deformed and all your limbs will have to face deformity. Your body will become black like collyrium and you will be deprived of youthfulness. Your form should become completely deformed which, should be denounced by everyone. And the tapas performed by you till now should become fruitless."

इत्युक्त्वा पुंश्चली कामात्कामलोकं जगाम ह।
अचिरेण मुनीन्द्रश्च न ददर्श हरे: पदम्॥१०३॥

Thus speaking the loose women getting infested with passion left for the abode of the god of love. Thereafter the sage could not achieve an audience with the lord.

पादारविन्दविरहात्समुद्विग्नो बभूव ह।
स्वाङ्गं च दृष्ट्वा विकृतं पूर्वपुण्यविवर्जितम्॥१०४॥
कृत्वाऽग्निकुण्डं शोकेन प्राणांस्त्यक्तुं समुद्यत:।
मया दृष्टो वरो दत्तो दिव्यज्ञानेन बोधित:॥१०५॥

With the separation of his mind from the lotus-like feet of the lord, the sage was upset. With the loss of all tapas and the merits, he was filled with grief and finding all his limbs deformed, he tried to enter into the fire altar, with the intention putting an end to his life-In the meantime, I saw the sage, blessed him and bestowed the divine knowledge on him.

आश्वासश्च कृत: प्रीत्या तत: शान्तो बभूव ह।
अङ्गान्यष्टौ च वक्राणि दृष्ट्वा तूर्णं महामुने:॥१०६॥
अष्टावक्रेति तन्नाम कौतुकेन मया कृतम्।
मद्वाक्यान्मलयद्रोणीमयमागम्य सत्वर:॥१०७॥
षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि चकार परमं तप:।
तपोऽवसाने मद्भक्तो मया मुक्त: कृत: प्रिये॥१०८॥

I assured him lovingly as a result of which, the sage became peaceful. Finding that all the eight limbs of his body had been deformed. I playfully gave him the name of Aṣṭāvakra. Thereafter at my advice, he went to Malayācala and he performed tapas for sixty thousand years. O dear one, at the end of the tapas I release my devotees.

सर्वस्मिन्प्रलये नष्टे न मद्भक्त: प्रणश्यति।

सुचिरेणैव तपसा ज्वलता जठराग्निना॥१०९॥
त्यक्ताहारस्यान्तरं च भस्मपूर्णं ततो मुने।
आगतं मलयद्रोणीं मुनिहेतोर्मया प्रिये॥११०॥
अष्टावक्राच्चमद्भक्तो न भूतो न भविष्यति।
एवंभूतस्तपानिष्ठः प्रपौत्रो ब्रह्मणो मुनिः॥१११॥
निष्कलः पुंश्चलीशापाद्ब्रह्माऽपूज्यो यथा पुरा।
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं रहस्यं च महात्मनः॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O my beloved, in the Raivata Manvantara, Sucandra, the best of the kings was a great Vaiṣṇava and was devoted to the gods. He was quite knowledgeable and extremely religious, He while performing tapas arrived in Bhārata and reached the pleasant valley of Malayācala. He perforated tapas here for a thousand years. Because of the hard tapas his body was shattered. When his body was covered with white-ants, the compassionate lord Brahmā arrived there in the secluded place, where he was performing tapas in order to bestow a boon on him.

कमण्डलुजलेनैव मम देहोद्भवेन च।
सिषेच तं च मन्त्रेण मया दत्तेन योगवित्।।७।।

Brahmā who is well-versed in the yogic-practices, took out water from his kamaṇḍalu which had emerged from my body and he sprinkled the same on the ascetic reciting the mantra which was given by me to him.

With the touch of the water of kamaṇḍalu the king at once stood before Brahmā, the creator of the universe and started adoring him with devotion. Brahmā on the other hand who had been born out of the lotus, bowed in reverence to the king and said, 'O best of the kings you asked for the desired boon.

तस्य तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा वरं वव्रे परात्परम्।

Hearing the words of Brahmā, the king asked for the best of the boons saying, "Let my mind remain always devoted at the feet of the lord and I should also achieve his slavehood."

कृपया च वरं ब्रह्मा दत्तवानभिवाञ्छितम्।
स च तत्पुरतस्तस्थौ कामदेवसमप्रभ:॥११॥

Brahmā than compassionately granted him the boon desired by the king. Thereafter, the king illumining like the god of love, stood before Brahmā.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे राजा ददर्श रथमुत्तमम्।
आकाशान्निपतन्तं वै शतसूर्यसमप्रभम्॥१२॥

In the meantime the king saw that a beautiful chariot was ascending from the sky which was illumining like the lustre of crores of suns.

तेजसाऽऽच्छादितं सर्वं सुप्रदीप्तं दिशो दश।
रत्नेन्द्रसारनिर्माणं शतचक्रसमन्वितम्॥१३॥
अमूल्यरत्नरचितं विचित्रकलशोज्ज्वलम्।

It was surrounded by the attendants adored with gem-studded ornaments. Each one of whom had for armed, dark complexion, having lustre, youthful, clad in pītāmbara and was painted with aguru and sandal-paste. Finding the gods mounted on the chariot, the king offered his salutation to them.

सहसा तस्य शिरसि पुष्पवृष्टिर्बभूव ह।
नेदुर्दुन्दुभय: स्वर्गे चाऽऽनकाश्च मनोहरा:॥१९॥

Suddenly there was a rain of flowers on his head and the big drums were beaten in the heaven.

ऋषयो मुनय: सिद्धा: प्रकुर्वन्तो मुदाऽऽशिषम्।
प्रशशंसु: सुरा: सर्वे राजानं हर्षनिर्भरा:॥२०॥

All the ascetics, the sages and the siddhas delightfully blessed the king. The gods getting filled with joy praised the king.

राजा च पार्षदान्ध्यात्वा तद्रूपश्च बभूव ह।

Devoting his mind towards the attendants, the king also took to their form. The attendants carried the king on the chariot an took him to Goloka.

अतीव कामिनी शश्वद्गजेन्द्रमन्दगामिनी॥२७॥

She was competent enough to entire all the three worlds with ease with her side-glance. She was always filled with passion and walked slowly like the king of elephants,.

पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गी मूर्च्छां संप्राप वर्त्मनि।
संनिरीक्ष्य च तां ब्रह्मा जगाम श्रीहरिं स्मरन्॥२८॥

Her hair stood at ends and she was fainted while walking on the road. Lord Brahmā left the place looking at her.

स विकारं न हि प्राप ह्यात्मारामो जितेन्द्रियः।
ब्रह्मलोकं च संप्राप ब्रह्मा च जगतां पतिः॥२९॥
सकामा सा च कुलटा बभूव हतचेतना।
दिवानिशं चिन्तयन्ती स्वप्ने ज्ञाने चतुर्मुखम्॥३०॥

Brahmā who was always self centred, having controlled all the organs of senses, remain, unmoved with the moves of Mohinī. Thus Brahmā, the lord of the universe reached Brahmaloka. That wicked women getting infested with passion was fainted. Thereafter while sleeping or awake, during day and night, She always thought of Brahma.

सर्वं जारं विसस्मार तत्याज हरिमीश्वरी।
उत्तिष्ठन्ती निवसती शयनं कुर्वती क्षणम्॥३१॥

She forgot her all other friends including Indra. And her mind felt attracted to wards Brahmā alone.

तप्तपात्रे यथा सस्यं भ्रमत्येव तथा पथि।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे रम्भा विदग्धाऽप्सरसां वरा॥३२॥
गच्छन्ती कामलोकं सा सकामा तेन वर्त्मना।

अभिप्रायेण बुबुधे पप्रच्छ सस्मिता तदा॥३४॥

She started roaming about like the paddy placed in a frying pan. In the meantime Rambhā the best of the apsarās arrived there who was moving towards the abode of the god of love getting infatuated with passion and she found Mohinī, her friend, in the forest whose throat, lips and palate had dried up. She could read her mind and smilingly asked her.

रम्भोवाच

कथमेवंविधा त्वं हि त्रैलोक्यचित्तमोहिनि॥
वद शीघ्रं महाभागे रम्भाऽहं चेतनां कुरु।
कमुद्दिश्य सकामा त्वं गच्छ त्वं कान्तमीप्सितम्॥३५॥

Rambhā said- O damsel, who could attract the mind of the three worlds, "Why are you placed in such a condition"? O virtuous one, you tell me immediately. I am Rambhā. Regain your senses, you have been attracted towards whom? You go to your desired beloved.

कुलटा सर्वसौभाग्या न वयं कुलपालिकाः।
सर्वे व्यग्रा इन्द्रियाणां सुखाय भुवनत्रये॥३६॥

A wicked women extracts pleasure from everyone and could be enjoyed by everyone. There are no limitations for we people. All the people are engaged in satisfying the lust for the organs of senses.

यान्ति प्राणा यतः काले का लज्जा तत्र जीविनाम्।
न चाऽऽत्मनः परः कश्चित्प्रियोऽस्ति भुवनत्रये॥३७॥

When the life is in danger than why should one feel shy? In the three worlds no one is dearer to anybody than his own soul.

कान्तेऽपत्ये स्वबन्धौ च स्नेहो यः स्वात्महेतुकः।
संबन्धः स्वात्मनो यावत्तावत्स्नेहोऽस्ति तत्र वै॥३८॥

The one who is always attracted towards whom is entangled in him. O dear one, you look at me I am moving to Kāmaloka infatuated with passion. You also consulting with your friend move on to your beloved. You tighten your waist-band and arrange your hair and you decorate yourself displaying the beauty which could attract even the great sages. O Mohinī, you attract him towards yourself. O virtuous one, you speak out the words which may pen et rate his heart.

मुनिमोहनबीजं च तं मोहं कुरु मोहिनि।
कथयस्व महाभागे वचनं हृयंगमम्॥४१॥

तस्याश्च वचनं श्रुत्वा सस्मित सा सुलज्जिता।
हृद्यं च कथयामास यद्धेतोस्ता दृशी गतिः॥४४॥

Protecting yourself do not allow the grace of the women to be shattered in the three worlds. In passion, one should not reveal the secret of her heart, till such time one gets a desirable husband or a spotless friend with her. O dear, one should reveals her heart to the same one, after ensuring that the same person is really loved by her, otherwise there-is always possibility of your being laughed at, which results into death. On hearing the words of Rambhā, Mohinī felt ashamed while walking with the smile on her face and spoke to her, the secret of her mind which had placed her in that condition.

मोहिन्युवाच

यावद्दृष्टो मया रम्भे निर्जने चतुराननः॥४५॥
तावन्मनो मेऽतिदग्धं शश्वन्मनसिजानलैः।
न दत्तमात्मने भक्ष्यमन्तरे न हि रोचसे॥४६॥

Mohinī said- O Rambhā since the time I bad have seen Brahmā in a secluded place. I am burning with passion since than. I have not taken food since than because I don't have any inclination for the same.

जानामि नाहमुदयं यामिनीशदिनेशयोः।
अधुना न हि भेदो मे सततं स्वप्नज्ञानयोः॥४७॥

I don t want the sun or the moon to rise. Presently I don't fell any difference between the sleep and the awakening.

मम प्राणाः प्रतीक्षन्ते तस्याऽऽलिङ्गनमेव च।
क्षणं विज्ञाय न चिरं यास्यन्ति नान्यथा प्रिये॥४८॥

O dear one, my life is waiting for an embrace with him. If I do not get him immediately, my life will depart from the body. It cannot be otherwise.

अनाहारेण चेदानीं बभूव दग्धशैलवत्॥४९॥

This body having the lustre of the molten gold, is burning with passion and is now like the burnt mountain because of taking no food.

गन्तुं स्थातुं न शक्ताऽहं शयनं कर्तुमुद्यता।

कमुपायं करिष्यामि वद रम्भेऽत्र सांप्रतम्।
लज्जां वाऽपि शरीरं वा विसृजामि च किं द्वयोः॥

O Rambhā, what should I do now? You tell me what should I disown, the shame or the body?.

मोहिनीवचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्याप्सरसां वरा।
तामुवाच हितं नीतमुपायं शुभकारणम्॥५२॥

Listening to the words of Mohinī, Rambhā the best of the apsarās laughed and spoke to her the words which were beneficial, appropriate and could bestow welfare.

रम्भोवाच

एवमेतदहो भद्रे भद्रस्य कारणं तव।

कृत्वा वेषमपूर्वं च पूर्वमाराध्य मन्मथम्।
तेन सार्धं स्वयं गत्वा त्वं मोहं कुरु भामिनि॥५४॥

O beautiful one, first of all you clad yourself in beautiful garments and then adore the god of love. You should than go to Brahmā and entice him with the help of the god of love.

जितेन्द्रियाणां प्रवरं साक्षान्नारायणात्मकम्।
विना कामसहायेन का शक्ता जेतुमीश्वरम्॥५५॥

Brahmā happens to be the best of those who have controlled the organ of his senses and is indeed the form of Nārāyaṇa. Who can win him over without the help of the god of love?.

भज कामं तपः कृत्वा पुष्करे व्रज मोहिनि।
सद्यः साक्षात्स भविता दयालुर्योषितां प्रभुः॥५६॥
इत्युक्त्वा तामप्सरसां प्रवरा काममन्तिकम्।
जगामेन्द्रियशान्त्यर्थं सा जगाम च पुष्करम्॥५७॥

O Mohinī, you go to the Puṣkara region and serve the god of love. He is quite compassionate and the lord of the women and would surely appear before you without delay. पुष्करे च तपः कृत्वा कामं संप्राप्य मोहिनी।
जगाम तेन सार्धं च ब्रह्मलोकमनामयम्॥५८॥

Reaching there Mohinī performed tapas and achieved the god of love. Accompanied with him, she went to Brahmaloka which is free from all the ailments.

ददर्श निर्जनस्थं च मोहिनी कमलोद्भवम्।
तमेव मोहनं कर्तुं समारेभे पुरःस्थिता॥५९॥
क्षणं ननर्त सुचिरं सुगानेन क्षणं जगौ।
संगीतं मम संबन्धि भक्तानां चित्तमोहनम्॥६०॥
विधाता जगतां तस्याः श्रुत्वा संगीतमीप्सितम्।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गो मुमोह साश्रुलोचनः॥६१॥
दृष्ट्वा मुग्धं चतुर्वक्त्रं मोहिनी हृष्टमानसा।

स्वाङ्गं संदर्शयामास स्मेरभ्रूभङ्गपूर्वकम्।
का लज्जा तस्य संसारे यः कामहतचेतनः॥६३॥

Finding Brahmā in a secluded place Mohinī tried to entice Brahmā. She would at time dance and at times she started singing. Than she started reciting the songs which could attract the minds of my devotees. Brahmā the creator of the universe was influenced with the singing of Mohinī and his entire body felt emotional. His eyes were filled with tears. Finding Brahmā to have been filled with passion, Mohinī was delighted. She than displayed her intentions quite play fully. She displayed her side-glances, smiles and her limbs. The one having lest his senses would never care for the shame in the world.

What more degrading could it be for the me who is well-versed in the Vedas. passionate woman who presents herself with the evil intent ion has to be disowned by even a passionate person and the ascetics should always get rid of her. This had been ordained in the Vedas. Particularly the loose-women have to be disowned by everyone. The proximity of the loose women results in the destruction of wife, riches, life, age and glory. She happens to be worse than the killers and is the seed for misfortune. The love of the wicked women, the lustre of the lightening, the line drawn on the water, friendship, with the intention of greed and the riches achieved by betraying others, are all short lived, the wicked women result in greater misery as compared to the wild animals.

यो विश्वसेत्तां समूढो विपत्तस्य पदे पदे।

त्वं च रूपवती धन्या वञ्चिता कामुकैः सदा॥१५॥

The one who believes them has to face the misfortune at every step. you are quite beautiful and graceful also and you always keep your self aloof from the passionate people.

यूनां संपत्स्वरूपा च विषतुल्या तपस्विनाम्।

त्वमेवाप्सरसां श्रेष्ठा सर्वदा स्थिरयौवना॥१६॥

You happen to be the form of the treasure for the young and the poison for the ascetics. You are the best of the apsarās who remains always youthful.

तवैव कर्म योग्यं च युवानं पश्य सुन्दरि।

त्वं विदग्धा च योषित्सु विदग्धान्वेषणं कुरु॥१७॥

O beautiful one, therefore you search for another youthful person for your purpose. You are quite intelligent among the women and therefore search for an intelligent men.

विदग्धाया विदग्धेन संगमो गुणवान्भवेत्।

जरातुरोऽहं वृद्धश्च तपस्वी वैष्णवो द्विजः॥१८॥

अस्वतन्त्रः पराधीनः का रतिः पुंश्चलीषु मे।

अये वत्से गच्छ शीघ्रं विहाय पितरं च माम्॥१९।

The union of a passionate lady with a passionate man is always useful. I have already reached the old age and am pretty old and ascetic, a Vaiṣṇava Brāhmaṇa and am not independent. How could my mind get attracted towards a loose women? Therefore, O daughter, leaving a father like me, you leave this place.

नाम्नाऽहं च जगत्स्रष्टा तस्मात्तव पिता सदा।

मन्मथं चन्द्रमित्रं च जयन्तं नलकूबरम्॥२०॥

स्वर्वैद्यो चन्द्रतनयं दितिपुत्रांश्च सुन्दरान्।

कामशास्त्रेषु निष्णातान्रतिकर्मविशारदान्॥२१॥

I am the creator of the universe by name and from that point view I am your father as well. You can go to Candramitra, Kāmadeva, Jayanta, Nalakubara, Aśvinīkumāra, Budha and the beautiful sons of Diti. They are well-versed in the art of making love.

या मां यासि हि तांस्त्यक्त्वा सा विदग्धा च कामुकी।

स्वयं प्रार्थयते स्वामी न तु स्वामिनमेव च।

योषिज्जातिषु धिक् ताश्च स्वयं याः समुपस्थिताः॥२४

when you have come to me disregarding such people, how could you be termed as an intelligent passionate women. It is the man who always desired a union with a woman. In case a women goes to a man, it is just like moving in apposite direction. Of all the gems, the gem-like women is considered to be the best. The husband himself requests the wife and not the other way. Such of the ladies who themselves approach the men are denounced.

भवेद्दूरं स्वल्पमूल्यं रत्नं स्वयमुपस्थितम्।

नित्यं पुमान्स्त्रियं याति स्त्री वा याति च न प्रियम्॥२५

If a gem appears itself then its value decreases. The men always approach the women and the women never approaches. the men.

लोकाचारेषु वेदेषु न स्त्री याति परप्रियम्।

स्ववस्तु भुङ्क्ते यः काले शास्त्रोक्तविधिपूर्वकम्॥२

स पूज्यो न भवेत्पूज्यो यद्रतिः परवस्तुषु।

कः कस्य शत्रुरबले निशामय जगत्त्रये॥२७॥

Neither has it been provided in the Vedas nor in the prevalent traditions in which the women approaches the men. The one who holds in high esteem his own wife is always adorable but the one who is infatuated with passion towards others wives, is not adorable. O helpless lady, who is the enemy of whom in the three worlds.

स्वेन्द्रियाः शत्रवः सर्वे शत्रुता यन्निमित्ततः।

वेदोक्ताचरणे सर्वं मित्रं च जगतां जगत्॥२८॥

कृते वेदविरुद्धे च मित्रं शत्रुर्भवेद्ध्रुवम्।

वेदोक्तं कृतवन्तं च हरिस्तुष्टो दिवानिशम्॥२९॥

Your own organ of senses are your enemies because of which the enmity develops. In case, one behaves as per the provisions of the Vedas, he finds the entire universe friendly to him. In case one, acts against the Vedas even the friend turn inimical to him and the one who moves according to the Vedas, the lord is always pleased with him.

हरौ तुष्टे जगत्तुष्टं तस्मिन्रुष्टे भवो रिपुः।
कुत्रास्ति कुलटाजातिः साध्वीजातिश्च कुत्र वा।।३०।।

By pleasing the lord. the entire universe gets pleased and in case he becomes annoyed the entire universe becomes inimical. Where are the wicked women and where are the chaste ones?.

स्वकीयाचरणात्सर्वं भवे भवति कर्मणः।
स्त्रीजातिः प्रकृतेरंशा नारायणविनिर्मिता।।३१।।

The one becomes wicked or chaste in the universe because of ones own deeds. The women have been born out of the aṁśa of Prakṛti who was created by Nārāyaṇa himself.

दुःशीला पुंश्चली निन्द्या सुशीला च पतिव्रता।
पतिव्रतास्तु त्रिविधाः पुंश्चलीषु च योषितः।।३२।।
तासामेवंविधा नास्ति स्वयं याति परप्रियम्।
स्त्रीजातीनां च मध्ये च काऽस्त्येवं कुलकज्जला।।३३।

The wicked woman always has a loose character and is denounced by all and the noble lady is always treated to be chaste. Even the chaste women are of three types. There is no differentiation among the loose women. Such of the women who herself goes to another person, she happens to be the black spot among the women.

भवे रत्यै स्वयं दृष्ट्वा वेषं कृत्वा प्रयाति तम्।
क्षोभिता यदि पश्यन्ती भक्ष्यद्रव्यमसाध्यकम्।।३४।।
वैकुन्यान्नहि तत्साध्यं सामान्यमेव केवलम्।
इत्येवमुक्त्वा जगतां विधाता विरराम च वक्तुं समुद्यता सा च कोपप्रस्फुरिताधरा।।३५।।

Such a women goes to another person decorating herself, then in spite of her being of high caste, she cannot be held in high esteem. She can be considered as an ordinary woman. Thus speaking Brahmā the creator of the universe kept quiet and the apsarā whose lips were fluttering in rage spoke in anger.

Mohinī said- O creator of the universe, I have come to know your entire life story presently. Whatever regulations have been spelt out by you can not provide solace to my mind. Ever since I cast a glance on you, my mind felt attracted towards you. With the sight of your face all my earlier friends have been forgotten. This body of mine has started burning with passion. When I was going to end my life Rambhā prevented me from doing so and she advised me accordingly. Thereafter, I came to you with the help of the god of love.

The noble people are never filled with pride. The creatures move according to their deeds, That is why one enjoyed the side of a vehicle while other carry him.

Some of the people because of certain misdeeds are born as insects of the refuge. Some of the kings because of the deeds move of to the heaven.

And some of them go to the hell and are thrown in refuge and urine. Some of the people because of their own deeds become the lord of Indra.

Some people become the gods, humans and petty creatures because of the influence of their deeds-some of the people become the best of the Brāhmaṇas on earth. Some of them become the kings, Vaiśyas, Śūdras and Mlecchas. Some of the people becomes intellectuals by their deeds and some of them become all knowledgeable because of their deeds.

Some of them study and received all the knowledge from the mouth of the teacher. You have become Brahmā because of your deeds. Some women becomes chaste because of their deeds and is adored in the universe.

Some of the ladies becomes the whores and earn their living by selling away their body. I am an apsarā of the heaven and am used by the gods in the heaven and am quite respectable.

फलं ददाति नियतं कर्मद्वारा विभुः स्वयम्॥५७॥

With the embrace of these gods by us, the good deeds vanish, the nature is the seed of the mind and the deeds happen to be the seed of the nature. Lord Hari happens to be the seed of the deeds and the reward accruing from the deeds. The supreme lord himself bestows the reward of the deeds.

सर्वेभ्यो बलवान्नित्यं कर्मरूपी जनार्दन:।
कुतो हेतोर्निन्दिताऽहं त्वयैव भर्त्सिता कथम्॥५८॥

Janārdana in the form of actions, is extremely powerful. For what reason am I denounced? And what reason have you denounced me?.

जगत्स्रष्टुरीश्वरस्य पादाब्जं द्रष्टुमागता।
स्वप्ने यस्य पदद्वन्द्वं न हि पश्यन्ति योगिन:॥५९॥

I have arrived here to have a glance at the feet of the creator of universe and whose lotus-like feet are beyond the reach of even the yogīs in dreams.

I have arrived here to achieve the same lord as my husband. By going to some other place I would become untouchable in this world as well as the other worlds because the ladies are graceful only by receiving the dust of the feet of one person only. Thus speaking Mohinī went closer to Brahmā and sat before him.

स्वयं विधाता जगतां चकम्पे कुलटाभयात्।
सस्मिता वक्रनयना कामभावं चकार ह॥६२॥

The creator of the universe then started trembling with tears, feeling panicky of the wicked women. The wicked Mohinī smilingly, with her mind filled with passion, looked at Brahmā with a side-glance.

स्वाङ्गं च दर्शयामास कामबाणप्रपीडिता।

Because she was immensely infested with passion she displayed, the limbs of her body. At that point of time, the all knowledgeable and the one who was well-versed in passionate advances the god of love, appeared there and shot his five a crows at Brahmā, which are known as Sammohana, Samudvega, Bījastambhitakārṇa, Jvalada Unmattabīja and Cetanāhāraka. By shooting the arrow the god of love stood in the sky.

किंकरान्प्रेषयामास संमोहाय पितुर्मुदा।
वसन्तं कोकिलालीश्च गन्धवातं मनोहरम्॥६६॥

Then he deputed his attendants delightfully who influenced his own father and these attendants included the spring season, cuckoo, the black-wasps and the pleasant fragrant breeze.

नियुज्याभ्यन्तरं गत्वा तद्विकारं चकार ह।

सततं मुदितस्तत्र बभ्राम च मधु: स्वयम्।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गो बभूव जगतां विधि:॥६९॥

The god of love himself entered the body of Brahmā and started creating disturbance. The male cuckoo started issuing sweet notes close to that place and the black-wasps started issuing hissing sound. Thereafter the cool and fragrant breeze started slowing slowly. O dear one the spring season started roaming about delightfully at that place. Thereafter all the limbs of Brahmā were overwhelmed.

ददर्श मोहिनीभावं प्रहस्य च पुन: पुन:।
अतीव वक्रनयना कामास्त्रहतचेतना॥७०॥

अतीव कमनीयं च किशोरं स्थिरयौवनम्।
रत्नालंकारभूषाढ्यं सस्मितं श्यामसुन्दरम्॥७३॥

Smiling again and again he looked at Mohinī. The beauty with the side-glance at that point of time getting infatuated with passion lost her senses. In the meantime Brahmā realised the involvement of all but he could not control his mind. Thereafter he started reciting the name of Hari, he then with a peaceful mind meditated upon the two armed Kṛṣṇa holding a flute in his hand, wearing the yellow lower garment, the best of all extremely beautiful and young, adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments and having a serene smile on his face. Brahmā started offering prayer to him.

ब्रह्मोवाच

रक्ष रक्ष हरे मां च निमग्नं कामसागरे।
दुष्कीर्तिजलपूर्णे च दुष्पारे बहुसंकटे।।७४।।

Brahmā said- O Hari, you protect myself I am drowning in the ocean of passion which is full of the water, resembling the disgrace and is difficult to be crossed and is full of danger.

भक्तिविस्मृतिबीजे च विपत्सोपानदुस्तरे।

जन्मोर्मिसंघसहिते योषिन्नक्रौघसंकुले।

It is the cause of forgetting the devotion, the stop towards the miseries and is quite difficult. It blurs the sight of intelligence, is full of the waves of birth, filled with the crocodiles in the form of women, filled with the rivers likes the passions and is quite dangerous.

प्रथमामृतरूपे च परिणामविषालये।

स्वयं च त्वं कर्णधार: प्रसीद मधुसूदन।।७८।।

It is sweet like nectar in the beginning but results in poison. It is the vast gate for entry into the abode of Yama. Therefore, O Madhusūdana, with the use of the boat of your intelligence, you help me to cross it. You are yourself the sailor and therefore be pleased.

मद्विधा: कतिचिन्नाथ नियोज्या भवकर्मणि।

न कर्मक्षेत्रमेवेदं ब्रह्मलोकोऽयमीप्सित:।
तथाऽपि न स्पृहा कामे त्वद्भक्तिव्यवधायके।।८०।।

O lord, O lord of the universe, O Mādhava, in the task of the creation of the universe, several Brāhmaṇas have been deputed. Though this happens to be my desired Brahmaloka and is not the filled of action, but in spite of your devotion I am not desirous of something which obstructs in the performing of my duty.

हे नाथ करुणासिन्धो दीनबन्धो कृपां कुरु।
त्वं महेश महाज्ञाता दु:स्वप्नं मां न दर्शय।।८१।।

O lord, O ocean of mercy, grace of the down-trodden, be compassionate on me. O great lord you are all knowledgeable and prevent me from witnessing the bad dreams.

इत्युक्त्वा जगतां धाता विरराम सनातन:।
ध्यायं ध्यायं मत्पदाब्जं शश्वत्सस्मार मामिति।।८२।।

Thus speaking, the eternal Brahmā, the creator of the universe kept quiet and fixing his mind on my lotus-like feel, he started reciting my name again and again.

ब्रह्मणा च कृतं स्तोत्रं भक्तियुक्तश्च य: पठेत्।
स चैवाऽऽकर्ण्य विषये न निमग्नो भवेद्ध्रुवम्।।८३।।

Thus, whosoever, reciting this stotra composed by Brahmā with devotion or listens to it, would never be over- powered with passion. This is certain.

मम मायां विनिर्जित्य संज्ञानं लभते ध्रुवम्।
इह लोके भक्तियुक्तो मद्भक्तप्रवरो भवेत्।।८४।।

Over coming my illusion he will surely achieve the great knowledge and shall become my devotee.

The curse of Mohinī and shattering of the Brahmā's Pride

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

कृत्वा ब्रह्मा हरेः स्तोत्रं तस्थौ तस्याः समीपतः।
मनो मत्तगजेन्द्रं च कामासक्तं निवारयन्॥१॥
दिव्यज्ञानाङ्कुशेनैव मया दत्तेन राधिके।
उवाच मोहिनी तं च परिहासपरं वचः॥२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O Rādhā, with the goad of divine knowledge provided by me to Brahmā he controlled himself as an intoxicated elephant is controlled with the goad. The passionate Brahmā then reciting the name of Hari remained before Mohinī. Thereafter Mohinī started jeering at Brahmā.

मोहिन्युवाच

इङ्गितेनैव नारीणां सद्यो मत्तं भवेन्मनः।
करोत्याकृष्य संभोगं यः स एवोत्तमो विभो॥३॥
ज्ञात्वा स्फुटमभिप्रायं नार्या संप्रेषितो हि यः।
पश्चात्करोति शृङ्गारं पुरुषः स च मध्यमः॥४॥

Mohinī said.- O virtuous one, the one whose mind is influence ˋ with simply the move of a damsel and who enjoys her company dragging her towards him, is known as the best of persons. The one who enjoys the company of a damsel after she expressed plainly her desire, he is called to he a mediocre person.

पुनः पुनः प्रेषितश्च स्त्रिया कामार्तया च यः।

गृही तपस्वी कामी वा त्यजेत्स्त्रियमुपस्थिताम्।
व्रजेत्परत्र नरकमपूज्यश्च भवेदिह॥६॥

The one who rejects a passionate damsel in a secluded place after having been approached by her again and again he falls into the hell after death and becomes unadorable in the universe.

नष्टश्रीर्भ्रष्टरूपश्च भ्रष्टबुद्धिर्भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
स सद्यः क्लीबतां याति ब्रह्मञ्छापेन योषितः॥७॥
उत्तिष्ठ जगतीनाथ पारं कुरु स्मरार्णवे।

He is deprived of the glory, his beauty fades away and the intelligence also leaves him he becomes impotent. Therefore O lord of the universe I am drowning in the ocean of passion which is terrible and difficult to cross, you serve as the sailor and protect me to cross it. Therefore you get up immediately.

अतीव निर्जनस्थाने सर्वजन्तुविवर्जिते।
सुगन्धिवायुना रम्ये पुंस्कोकिलरुतश्रुते॥९॥
सततं त्वन्मनस्कां मां दासीं जन्मनि जन्मनि।
क्रीणीहि रतिपण्येनामूल्यरत्नेन सत्वरम्॥१०॥

You bestow me the invaluable gem of your love-sport because I am always devoted to you. The place is free from any creature. The fragrant breeze is blowing, the cuckoo is issuing sweet notes. This is the secluded place and I happen to be your slave girl for many births who has devoted her mind to you.

इत्युक्त्वा मोहिनी सद्यो जगत्स्रष्टुश्च ब्रह्मणः।

विज्ञाय समयं धाता तामुवाच भयातुरः।
पीयूषतुल्यं वचनं वरं विनयपूर्वकम्॥१२॥

Thus speaking the smiling and passionate Mohinī started dragging the costumes of Brahmā. Realising the difficult time and getting upset, Brahmā spoke to her meekly the nectar-like words.

ब्रह्मोवाच

शृणु मोहिनि मद्वाक्यं सत्यसारं हितं स्फुटम्।
न कुरु त्वं च त्रैलोक्ये स्त्रीजातीनामपत्रपाम्॥१३॥

Brahmā said- "O Mohinī, you listen to my words which are the essence of truth, are quite clear and beneficial. Don't put to shame the race of a women in the three worlds.

त्यज मामम्बिके पुत्रं वृद्धं निष्काममेव च।

O mother you forgive an old person like me as a son. O the one having a smile on your face, you search for a youthful person for the fulfilment of your desire.

निषेकाल्लभते पत्नी गुरुभर्तुः शुभाशुभम्।
मन्त्रशिल्पमपत्यं च सर्वमेतन्न यत्नतः॥१५॥

The wife conceives from her husband and gets the auspicious mantra and the progeny automatically. Such things cannot be achieved even by making efforts.

त्वया सह मम रतेर्निर्बन्धो नास्ति सुव्रते।
क्षुद्रं महद्वा यत्कर्म सर्वं दैवनिबन्धकम्॥१६॥

O noble lady, there is no condition for my union with you. The destiny is all the important in any insignificant actions performed by a person.".

इत्युक्तवन्तं ब्रह्माणं स्मरन्तं मत्पदाम्बुजम्।
विचकर्ष पुनर्वेश्या कामेन हतचेतना॥१७॥

Thus speaking Brahmā recited my name and the apsarā getting infatuated with passion again started pulling his costumes.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे शीघ्रं स्थानं तत्सुमनोहरम्।
आजग्मुर्मुनयः सर्वे ज्वलन्तो ब्रह्मतेजसा॥१८॥

At that very moment all the sages possessing divine lustre reached that pleasant place.

दुर्वासाश्च जरत्कारुरास्तीकश्च विभाण्डकः।
ऋष्य शृङ्गो भरद्वाजो वामदेवश्च कौशिकः॥२३॥

They included Atri, Pulastya, Pulaha, Vasiṣṭ ha, Kratu, Aṅgirā, Bhṛgu, Marīci, Kapila, Voḍhu, Pañcaśikha, Ruci, Āsuri, Pracetā, Śukra, Bṛhaspati, Utathya, Karaka, Kaṇva, Kaśyapa, Gautama, Sanaka, Sananda, Kardama, Sanātana and Sanatkumāra who was the great teacher of the yogīs besides Śātātapa, Pippala, Śaṅku, Śukra, Parāśara, Mārkaṇḍeya, Lomaśa, Mṛkaṇḍu, Cyavana, Durvāsā, Jaratkāru, Āstīka, Vibhāṇḍaka, Ṛṣyaśṛṅga, Bharadvāja, Vāmadeva and Kauśika.

दृष्ट्वैतांश्च तपोनिष्ठानागतांश्च मुनीश्वरान्।
तत्याज मोहिनी शीघ्रं व्रीडया कमलोद्भवम्॥२४॥

Finding the arrival of all the great sages, who were crowned with penance, Mohinī felt ashamed and she left Brahmā.

तत्रोवास जगद्धाता तद्वामपार्श्वतश्च सा।
प्रणेमुर्मुनयस्तं च भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधराः॥२५॥
आशिषं युयुजे ब्रह्मा वासयामास तान्विभुः।
तेषु मध्ये प्रजज्वाल यथा तारासु चन्द्रमाः॥२६॥

Brahmā the creator of the universe took his seat there and Mohinī seated herself to his left. Bowing their heads with devotion all the sages offered their salutations to Brahmā who blessed them and made them to take their respective seats. Surrounded by the sages, Brahmā looked glorious as the moon is found among the starts.

पप्रच्छुर्मुनयो देवं कथमेषा तवान्तिके।
स्वर्वेश्यानां च प्रवरा मोहिनीत्येवमेव च॥२७॥

Thereafter, they questioned him, "How is Mohinī the apsarā, of the heaven seated beside you?".

श्रुत्वा मुनीनां वचनमुवाच तान्प्रजापतिः।
स्त्रीजातीनां च वचनं लज्जाच्छादनमेव च॥२८॥

On hearing the words of the sages, Brahmā said, "The words of the women are covered with shyness.".

ब्रह्मोवाच

अपूर्वं नृत्यगीतं च चिरं कृत्वा शुभावहा।
उवासेयं परिश्रान्ता यथा कन्या पितुः पुरः॥२९॥

Brahmā said - "This divine figure is feeling fatigued because of assertive dancing and singing; therefore she is seated like a daughter sitting before the father.".

इत्युक्त्वा जगतां धाता जहास मुनिसंसदि।
जहसुर्मुनयः सर्वे सर्वज्ञास्तत्र राधिके॥३०॥

Thus speaking, Brahmā laughed in the assembly of the sages. O Rādhā the all knowledgeable sages also laughed at that time.

सर्वं रहस्यं विज्ञाय जगत्स्रष्टुश्च मानसम्।
सद्यश्चुकोप कुलटा हास्यव्याजेन संसदि॥३१॥
सर्वाङ्गकम्पमाना सा कुलटा कुटिलानना।
रक्तपङ्कजनेत्रा च कोपप्रस्फुरिताधरा॥३१॥

Realising the secret and the mental condition of the creator of the universe, that wicked women pretending as laughing was immensely enraged. All her limbs started trembling. The face was deformed and the eyes became red like the red lotus flowers. Her lips started fluttering in anger.

उत्थाय च सभामध्ये तेषां च पुरतः स्थिता।
संबोध्योवाच ब्रह्माणं मृत्युकन्या यथा रुषा॥३२॥

She abruptly got up and stood in the assembly. Then in utter rage, addressing Brahmā she spoke like the girl of death.

मोहिन्युवाच

अये ब्रह्मञ्जगन्नाथ वेदकर्ता त्वमेव च॥३३॥

Mohinī said- O Brahman, you are the lord of the universe and the creator of the Vedas.

किंवा वेदप्रणिहितं कर्म किं तद्विपर्ययम्।
विचारं मनसा स्वेन कुरु वेदविदां गुरो॥३४॥
स्वकन्यायां यत्स्पृहा स कथं हससि नर्तकीम्।
निर्मिताऽहमीश्वरेण स्ववेंश्या सर्वगामिनी॥३५॥

You are the teacher of those well-versed in the Vedas. You think over in your mind as to which one of the actions is against the Vedas and which one is according to them. The one who could cast an evil eye on his own daughter how could he laugh at a dancer? The lcrd has made me the apsarā of the heaven who can move at will.

सतां कर्म विरुद्धं यत्तदत्यन्तविडम्बनम्।
दासीतुल्यां विनीतां च दैवेन शरणागताम्॥३६॥
यतो हससि गर्वेण ततोऽपूज्यो भवाचिरम्।
अचिराद्दर्पभङ्गं ते करिष्यति हरिः स्वयम्॥३७॥

Such of the actions of the noble people which are against the scriptures is just a fallacy. By the move of destiny I had arrived to take refuge with you like a humble slave-girl. For whom you are laughing at? As such you would soon become unadorable and shortly lord Hari would himself shatter your pride.

निबोध वचनं ब्रह्मन्वेश्यायाश्च तु सांप्रतम्।
तवैव वचनं स्तोत्रं गृह्णाति यो नरः सदा॥३८॥
भविता तस्य विघ्नश्च स यास्यत्युपहास्यताम्।
भविता वार्षिकी पूजा देवतानां युगे युगे॥३९॥
तव माध्यां च संक्रान्त्यां न भविष्यति सा पुनः।
कल्पान्तरेऽत्र कल्पे वा देहे देहान्तरेऽत्र वा॥४०॥
पुनः पूजा न भविता या गता सा गतैव च।
इत्युक्त्वा मोहिनी शीघ्रं जगाम मदनालयम्॥४१॥

O Brahman, now you listen to the words of an apsarā whosoever would recite your words or stotra he would surely meet with obstruction and would be laughed at in the world. In every yuga, the gods will be adored annually but you will not be adored on the first day of the month of Māgha. During this kalpa or in the next kalpa you will not be adored in your present form, for whatever has been done by you. Thus speaking Mohinī at once left the place and moved on to the abode of the god of love.

तेन सार्धं रतिं कृत्वा बभूव विज्वरा पुनः।
पश्चात्सा चेतनां प्राप्य विललाप भृशं पुनः॥४२॥

Enjoying his union she was relieved of all the sufferings. Thereafter, coming to her senses she started lamenting.

अयं कथं मया शप्तो जगद्विधिरतिप्रियः।
स्ववेंश्यायां गतायां च मुनयो दुःखिता भृशम्॥४३॥
स्वयं विधाता जगतां चकम्पे नतकंधरः।
उपायं मुनयस्तस्मै ददुः कल्याणकारिणः॥४४॥
शरणं व्रज वैकुण्ठमित्युक्त्वा ते गृहान्ययुः।
ब्रह्मा जगाम शरणं मम मूर्त्यन्तरं परम्॥४५॥
शान्तं तं कमलाकान्तं श्यामं नारायणाभिधम्।
गत्वा विषण्णवदनः प्रणम्य च चतुर्भुजम्॥४६॥
तत्रोवास जगत्कर्ता नातिदूरे समीपतः।
रहस्यं कथयामास शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकः॥४७॥
दीनबन्धुं दयासिन्धुं विपत्तारणकारणम्।
श्रुत्वा रहस्यं तत्सर्वं प्रहस्योवाच तं विभुः॥
सत्यं सारं हितं वाक्यं जगतां च सुखावहम्॥४८॥

She said, "How could I pronounce a curse on the loveable Brahmā who happens to be the creator of the universe?" Aflter the departure of Mohinī the apsarā of the heaven, the sages felt immediately grieved and the creator of the universe started trembling. His head was lowered thereafter the sages who always bestows welfare, spoke of the remedy to him, you take refuge with the lord of the Vaikuṇṭha. Thus speaking, all of them left for their respective abodes. Thereafter Brahmā went to take refuge with my second figure which is peaceful is the lord of Lakṣmī, having dark complexion and known as Nārāyaṇa. Brahmā reached there with faded faces and bowed in reverence to the four armed Viṣṇu who took his seat besides him. At that point of time his throat. lips and palate had dried up. He than revealed the cause of his arrival to lord Viṣṇu who is blissful on the down-trodden, the ocean of mercy, the one who redeems all from the miseries. On hearing the words of Brahmā, Nārāyaṇa smiled for a moment and spoke to him the truthful, beneficial words which were the essence of all and provided welfare.

नारायण उवाच

स्वयं त्वं वेदविदसि विदुषां च गुरोर्गुरुः॥४९॥
त्वया कृतं च यत्कर्म इह केन न तत्कृतम्।
स्त्रीजातिः प्रकृतेरंशा जगतां बीजरूपिणी॥५०॥
स्त्रीणां विडम्बनेनैव प्रकृतेश्च विडम्बनम्।
न तद्भारतवर्षं च पुण्यक्षेत्रमनुत्तमम्॥५१॥
क्रीडाक्षेत्रे ब्रह्मलोके कस्तवेन्द्रियनिग्रहः।
यदि तद्भारते दैवात्कामिनी समुपस्थिता॥५२॥
स्वयं रहसि कामार्ता न सा त्याज्या जितेन्द्रियैः।
त्यक्त्वा परत्र नरकं व्रजेदितिविडम्बितः॥५३॥

Nārāyaṇa said- You yourself are well-versed in the Vedas and happen to be the teacher of all the intelligent teacher but whatever you have done is unheard of in the universe. The woman are the aṁśa of Prakṛti and are the form of seed of the universe. With the insult of a woman Prakṛti is insulted. This is not Bhāratavarṣa alone but happens to be the absolutely sacred place. In this playground of Brahmaloka what was the need of your controlling the senses. In case, in the land of Bhārata, accidentally if a damsel reaches a person with the intention of physical unity, infatuated with love even the self controlled persons are not required to disowned her because by doing so he falls into the hell ultimately.

भवेदेव हि दुःखार्ता शापं दद्याच्च तं ध्रुवम्।
विहाय स्वकलत्रं च यो गृह्णाति परस्त्रियम्॥५४॥
लोभात्कामसुखाद्वाऽपि सोऽधमो नात्र संशयः।
पातयित्वा स च पतेद्दशपूर्वान्दशापरान्॥५५॥
त्यक्त्वा स्वस्वमिनं या च परं गच्छति कामतः।
न पुमान्न च वेश्या च कुलस्त्री तत्र दुष्यति॥५६॥
उपायेन च या साध्यं करोति परपूरुषम्।
तिष्ठत्येवान्धकूपे सा यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥५७॥

Getting infested with pain such a woman would surely pronounce a curse on the man. The one who disowning his own wife passionately owns some other damsel he is considered to be a degraded person. There is no doubt bout it. He dragged his ten past and ten future generations into the hell. Similarly the women who leaving her own husband passionately goes to another person, she also throws her ten past and ten future generations in the hell but a person who enjoys the company of a whore earns no blemish. Only a damsel of high family earns a blemish. In case a damsel of high family by making efforts attracts someone to her. She surely falls into the hell named andhakūpa and remains there till the life of the sun and the moon.

स्वर्वेश्या च दिवं याति सततं कुलधर्मतः।
ध्रुवं भवेत्सोऽपराधी तस्या अप्यवमानतः॥५८॥
तमुपायं करिष्यामि शप्तो यत्र विशुद्ध्यति।
क्षणं तिष्ठ जगन्नाथ पापिनश्च भवार्णवे॥५९॥

But the apsarā of the heaven goes to heaven according to her family traditions and the one who insults her earns a sin. Now I shall move in such a direction which may purify the person. O lord of the universe, you remain in the ocean of the sin for sometime.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कश्चिदाजगाम हरेः पुरः।
द्वारपालः शीघ्रगामीत्युवाच नतकंधरः॥६०॥

In the meantime a gate-keeper arrived before the lord in a haste and lowering his head, he said.

द्वारपाल उवाच

अन्यब्रह्माण्डाधिपतिर्ब्रह्मा दशमुखः स्वयम्।
द्वारे तिष्ठन्महाभक्तस्त्वां द्रष्टुं स्वयमागतः॥६१॥

The gate-keeper said- "O lord of the universe Brahmā, with ten heads has arrived at the gate. He happens to be the great devotee of yours and has arrived here to gain and audience with you.".

द्वारपालवचः श्रुत्वा स चैवानुमतिं ददौ।
द्वारपालाज्ञया ब्रह्मा तुष्टावाऽऽगत्य भक्तितः॥६२॥

On hearing the words of the gate-keeper the lord gave him the permission. Thereafter the gate-keeper with the permission of the lord brought Brahmā there who started offering his prayer to the lord.

स्तोत्रैरतिविचित्रैश्च चतुर्वक्त्राश्रुतैरहो।
स्तुत्वोवासाऽऽज्ञया विष्णोः कृत्वा पश्चाच्चतुर्मुखम्।।६

He recited the glory of lord Viṣṇu with astonishing type of stotras which could not be heard by Brahmā. After offering prayer the ten headed Brahmā at the command of lord Viṣṇu took to four-headed form and was seated behind Brahma.

नारायणो द्वारपालानित्युवाच चतुर्भुजान्।
आगन्तुकं जनमपि प्रवेशयत सादरम्।।६४।।

Thereafter Viṣṇu spoke to the four-armed gate-keeper, "You bring here the new comer who has just arrived at the gate, quite gracefully.".

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वृन्दावनविनोदिनि।
आजगामातिप्रणतो ब्रह्मा शतमुखः स्वयम्।।६५।।

In the meantime Brahmā with hundred faces who enjoyed the divine spots in Vṛndāvana also arrived there and also bowed in reverence to lord Viṣṇu.

दिव्यैः स्तोत्रैश्च तुष्टाव निगूढमतिसुन्दरैः।
स्तुत्वोवास वरैः स्तोत्रैः सर्वेषामश्रुतैरहो।।६६।।

He also adored lord Viṣṇu offering several stotras to him and adored him with a deep devotion. Thereafter he offered prayer with stotras which were unheard Of and after doing so he also took his seat.

तदनन्तरं तयोरग्रे भक्त्या शतमुखः स्वयम्।
जगद्विधौ सभायां च तत्र तिष्ठति तत्क्षणे।।६७।।
आजगामान्यब्रह्माण्डाधिपो ब्रह्मा हरेः पुरः।

अन्यान्यान् दर्शयामास ब्रह्माण्डस्थान्विधीन्हरिः।।७१।।

Thereafter the hundred faced Brahmā was also mode to take his seat beside the two Brahmās who had already arrived. At that very moment another lord of the universe having a thousand faces known as Brahmā also arrived before Viṣṇu. He also adored lord Viṣṇu bowing his head. He also offered prayer to him reciting the stotras which were unheard of earlier. And all of them were seated, lord Hari enquired about the welfare of the gods and the Brahmās of different globes, finding other Brahmās there, the pride of the four faced Brahmā who considered himself to be like other Brahmās was shattered. The lord projected the Brahmās of the other globes.

दृष्ट्वा च कृपया तत्र मृततुल्यं चतुर्मुखम्।
यावन्ति गात्रलोमानि सन्ति नारायणस्य मे।।७२।।
तत्प्रमाणाश्च ब्रह्माण्डा ब्रह्माणः सन्ति संततम्।
नारायणं प्रणम्याऽऽशु जग्मुस्ते स्वालयं प्रति।।७३।।

Meeting them the four faced Brahmā felt like dead. Then the lord gracefully made him realise that the number of globes equates with the number of the hair on his body and there are the same number of Brahmās, who remain present there always. Thereafter, all the Brahmās bowing before lord Nārāyaṇa left for their abodes.

स मेने विधिरात्मानमत्यल्पविषयाधिपम्।
पप्रच्छ प्रणतं विष्णुर्लज्जानम्रचतुर्मुखम्।।७४।।

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स विधिस्तस्थौ संसदि।
लज्जया सर्वान्तर्यामी भगवांस्तस्योपायं विनिर्ममे।।७६।।

Thereafter, the four faced Brahmā considered himself to be the lord of a tiny kingdom, his face was lowered in shame thereafter lord Viṣṇu asked Brahmā, "Tell me, what is all this you have seen like a dream?" Listening to the words of Nārāyaṇa, Brahmā said, "With the grace of your illusion I have witness the past, present and future." Thus speaking Brahmā felt ashamed in the assembly and thereafter realising the agony of his mind, the lord spoke to him about the method for the release from the curse.

The birth of Jāhnavī

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र शंकरः समुपस्थितः।
सस्मितो वृषभेन्द्रस्थो विभूतिभूषणः स्वयम्॥१॥
व्याघ्रचर्माम्बरधरो नागयज्ञोपवीतकः।
स्वर्णाकारजटाभारमर्धचन्द्रं च संदधत्॥२॥
त्रिशूलपट्टिशकरो बिभ्रत्खट्वाङ्गमुत्तमम्।
सद्रत्नसाररचितस्वरयन्त्रकरो मुदा॥३॥
वाहनादवरुह्याऽऽशु भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः।
प्रणम्य कमलाकान्तं वामे चोवास भक्तितः॥४॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- In the meantime Śiva arrived there had a smiling face and was riding on the bull. He had applied ashes on his body and was clad in the tiger skin. He has the serpents for yajñopavīta and had matted locks of hair in golden shade on the head, which was adorned with the crescent. He held a trident, the paṭṭiśa and the best of Khaṭvāṅga in his hand. He carried a musical instrument made of the best of gems. He delight-fully descended from the vehicle and bowing his head with devotion, he offered his salutation to Kṛṣṇa the lord of Kamalā and took his seat to his left-.

आजग्मुर्मुनयः सर्वे सुराः शक्रादयस्तथा।
आदित्या वसवो रुद्रा मनवः सिद्धचारणाः॥५॥
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गास्तुष्टुवुः पुरुषोत्तमम्।
प्रणम्य तं शिवं सर्वे सुराश्चाऽऽनम्रकंधराः॥६॥

Thereafter, all the gods including Indra, the sages, the Ādityas, Vasus, Rudras, Manus, Siddhas and Cāraṇas also arrived there. All of them felt emotional and offered prayer to Puruśottama. Thereafter all the gods bowed in reverence to the lord Śiva.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र संगीतं शंकरो जगौ।
कृत्वाऽतीव सुतालं च स्वरयन्त्रसमन्वितः॥७॥

Thereafter, Śiva started music in sweet tone playing on musical instrument.

आवयोश्च गुणाख्यानं राससंबन्धि सुन्दरम्।
समयोचितरागेण मनोमोहनकारिणा॥८॥
यन्त्रकण्ठैकतानेन चैकमानेन चारुणा।
पदभेदविरामेण गुरुणा लघुना क्रमात्॥९॥
गमकेनातिदीर्घेण भदे(न्द्रे) न मधुरेण च।
भवेति दुर्लभं सृष्टं प्रीत्या स्वेन विनिर्मितम्॥१०॥

Thereafter the virtues of both of us including the praise of the divine dance of Kṛṣṇa were sung. The music which influenced the mind at that point of time and the song sung with apt attention of the throat, in a pleasant sweet tone, keeping in mind, the high and low pitch, the praise of both of us was sung in one and the same tune and pleasant rhyme scheme. The singing continued which provided bliss which was beyond the comprehension of the people of the universe.

पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गः साश्रुनेत्र पुनः पुनः।
तदेव श्रुतिमात्रेण मूर्च्छां प्रापुर्विचेतनाः॥११॥

All present there were overwhelmed and the tears of joy started issuing from their eyes. With the hearing of the blissful song and music, all of them felt fainted.

बभूवू रुद्ररूपाश्च मुनयः पुरतः प्रिये।
रुद्ररूपाः सुराःसर्वे विधातृहरिपार्षदाः॥१२॥
नारायणश्च लक्ष्मीश्च गायकश्च शिवः स्वयम्।
जलपूर्णं च वैकुण्ठं दृष्ट्वा त्रस्तोऽहमीश्वरि॥१३॥

O dear one, all the sages including Brahmā, Viṣṇu, the courtier, Lakṣmī and the singers attained the form of Śiva at that point of time. The entire Vaikuṇṭha was flooded with water. O goddess, I felt panicky at the sight.

गत्वा मूर्तीर्विनिर्माय सर्वाश्च तादृशीरिति।
तत्स्वरूपास्तदस्त्राश्च तत्स्ववाहनभूषणाः॥१४॥

Thereafter reaching there, I restored all the images (body) to their original position including their form, the weapons, the vehicles and the ornaments.

तत्स्वभावास्तन्मनस्कास्तत्तद्विषयमानसाः।
स्थानं निर्माय परितो वैकुण्ठस्य चतुर्दिशि॥१५॥

Their nature, the mind and the worldly pleasure were also restore as originals; the water of deluge was spread around the Vaikuṇṭha.

तदधिष्ठातृदेवी च आजगाम स्वमालयम्।
शरीरजा सुराणां सा बभूव सुरनिम्नगा॥१६॥

Thereafter the goddess Gaṅgā herself arrived there which happened to be her abode. Since she was created out of the bodies of the gods she came to be known as the divine river Gaṅgā.

मुक्तिदा च मुमुक्षूणां भक्तानां हरिभक्तिदा।
कोटिजन्मार्जितं पापं विविधं पापिनामहो॥१७॥
यस्याश्च स्पर्शवायोश्च संपर्केण विनश्यति।
किंवा न जाने प्राणेशि स्पर्शदर्शनयो:फलम्॥१८॥

She bestowed salvation to those who sought for salvation and the devotion too the devotee of the lord. with the touch of the breeze flowing on the water of Gaṅgā, the sins of all the sinners accumulated during the past crores of births, disappear. O lady of my life I do not know the reward one gets by touching it or looking at it.

किमुत स्नानजन्यं च कथयामि निरूपणम्।
सर्वतीर्थात्परं पृथ्व्यां पुष्करं परिकीर्तितम्॥१९॥
वेदोक्तं च तदेवास्या: कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्।
भगीरथेन चाऽऽनीता तेन भागीरथी स्मृता॥२०॥

But I shall tell you the merit one achieved by having a dip in the sacred waters of the Gaṅgā? Puṣkara region is considered to be the best of the sacred pieces of the world and the same sacred place does not compare even to the sixteenth part of the Gaṅgā. She was brought on earth by Bhagīratha earning her the name of Bhāgīrathī.

गामागता स्रोतसोंऽशाद्गङ्गा तेन प्रकीर्तिता।
जानुद्वारा पुरा दत्ता जह्नुनाऽऽपीय कोपत:॥२१॥
तस्य कन्यास्वरूपा सा जाह्नवी तेन कीर्तिता।
भीष्म: स्वयं वसुर्जातस्तस्यांशात्तेन भीष्मसू:॥२२॥

She arrived here on earth only in one part and that is why she was known as Gaṅgā. In earlier times the sage Jahnu drank the water of Gaṅgā in rage and thereafter he released it by cutting his knee. Because of this, she came to be known as Jāhnavī. Bhīṣma the aṁśa of Vasu was himself born out of her womb and as such she was came to be known as Bhīṣmajananī.

धाराभिस्तिसृभि: स्वर्गं पृथिवीमतलं तथा।
ममाऽऽज्ञया च गच्छन्ती तेन त्रिपथगामिनी॥२३॥

At my command the Gaṅgā started flowing in three streams in the heaven, the earth and the neither world which earned her the came of Tripathagāminī.

प्रधानधारया स्वर्गे सा च मन्दाकिनी स्मृता।
योजनायुतविस्तीर्णा प्रस्थे च योजना स्मृता॥२४॥

Its main stream in the heaven earned her the came of Mandākinī which is the thousand yojanas in length and ten yojanas in width.

क्षीरतुल्यजला शश्वदत्युत्तुङ्गतरङ्गिणी।
वैकुण्ठाद्ब्रह्मलोकं च तत: स्वर्गं समागता॥२५॥

Her water is like the milk and has high waves in water. Flowing from Vaikuṇṭha to Brahmaloka it reached the heaven.

स्वर्गाद्धिमाद्रिमाग्रेण पृथिवीमागता मुदा।
सा धाराऽलकनन्दाख्या लवणोदेन मिश्रिता॥२६॥
शुद्धस्फटिकसंकाशा बहुवेगवती सती।
पापिनां पापशुष्केन्धं दग्धुं पावकरूपिणी॥२७॥

The stream of the Gaṅgā which arrived over Himālaya from the heaven and than descended on earth ultimately falling into the saline water of the ocean, came to be known by the name of Alaknandā. It had the spotless clean water which moves with great speed and serves as a dry wood for burning the sins of the sinners in fire.

अहो सागरवंशेभ्यो निर्वाणमुक्तिदायिनी।
वैकुण्ठगामिनी सा च सोपानरूपिणी वरा॥२८॥

It was she who provided salvation to the sons of Sagara. It serves as a beautiful step for achieving the heaven.

अतोऽपि मृत्युसमये सतां पुण्यस्वरूपिणाम्।
आदौ पादौ च संन्यस्य मुखे तोयं प्रदीयते॥२९॥

This is the reason that at the time of death the water of Gaṅgā is poured into the mouth of the noble people.

गङ्गासोपानमारुह्य सन्तो यान्ति निरामयम्।
आब्रह्मलोकं संलङ्घ्य रथस्थाश्च निरापद:॥३०॥

दैवात्पुरा प्राक्तनेन मग्नं चेत्कृतपातकैः।
लोमप्रमाणवर्षं च मोदन्ते हरिमन्दिरे॥३१॥

Climbing the step in the form of Gaṅgā, the noble people achieve Vaikuṇṭha. They reach straight at Vaikuṇṭha crossing Brahmaloka. In case, some one is drowned in the waters of Gaṅgā, because of his earlier good deeds then he achieves the highest abode of the lord and resides there up to the number of ears equivalent to the number of hair on his body, where he remain with pleasure.

ततो भोगो भवेत्तेषां निश्चितं पापपुण्ययोः।
अतिस्वल्पेन कालेन कालव्यूहं च बिभ्रताम्॥३२॥

Thereafter he has to face the result of his good or bad deeds and the time for them was passing quickly.

ततः पुण्यवतां गेहे लब्ध्वा जन्म च भारते।
सम्प्राप्य निश्चलां भक्तिं भवन्ति हरिरूपिणः॥३३॥

Thereafter they are born in good family on the land of Bhārata and achieving the deep devotion of the lord take to his form ultimately.

मृतद्विजानां देहांश्च दैवाच्छूद्रा वहन्ति चेत्।
पदप्रमाणवर्षं च तेषां च नरके स्थितिः॥३४॥
ततस्तेषां च साहाय्यं करोति हरिरूपिणी।
ददाति मुक्तिं तेभ्योऽपि क्रमेण च कृपामयी॥३५॥
जन्म पुण्यवतां गेहे कारयित्वा च भारते।
स्थलं ददाति वैकुण्ठे निश्चितं जन्मभिस्त्रिभिः॥३६॥

In case per chance the bodies of the noble Brāhmaṇas are carried by the Śūdras, then they have to remain in the hell for the number of the feet they walk on earth carrying the body but this sacred Gaṅgā with the deform of Nārāyaṇa, Kaṁsa rescue to those people and provide salvation to them, she makes such people to be born in the high families in Bhārata for three births and thereafter she makes them achieves the heaven.

यात्रां कृत्वा तु यः शुद्धौ स्नातुं याति सुरेश्वरीम्।
पदप्रमाणवर्षं च वैकुण्ठे मोदते ध्रुवम्॥३७॥

The one who travels to have a dip in the Gaṅgā for purification, he achieves the bliss of the heaven for the number of feet with which he walks on the ground.

गङ्गां प्राप्यानुषङ्गेण स्नाति चेत्समलो नरः।
मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यः पुनर्यदि न लिप्यते॥३८॥
कलौ पञ्चसहस्राब्दं स्थितिस्तस्याश्च भारते।
तस्यां च विद्यमानायां कः प्रभावः कलेरहो॥३९॥

In case a sinner reaching the Gaṅgā partially takes a bath, such a person is relieved of all the sins, unless he does not himself resort again to the sinful ways. In the age of Kaliyuga, the Gaṅgā shall remain on earth for five thousand years and till such time she remain on earth the age of Kali will have little influence.

कलौ दशसहस्राणि वर्षाणि प्रतिमा मम।
तिष्ठन्ति च पुराणानि प्रभावस्तत्र कः कलेः॥४०॥

In the age of Kali my images shall remain on earth for ten thousand years and for that duration the Purāṇas will also remains on earth. As such there will be little influence of the age of Kali.

अतलं याति या धारा सा च भोगवती स्मृता।

The flow of Gaṅgā reaches the nether world which earns her the name of Bhogavatī. Her water remains spotless like the milk and always flows with great speed. she always serves as an abode for the diamonds and gems as well as the sages and the female serpent girls always play over her bank. The Gaṅgā herself has surrounded Vaikuṇṭha from all sides which is a lakhs of yojanas in length and a thousand yojanas in width.

अस्या विनाशः प्रलये नास्त्येव दुहितुर्मम।
नानारत्नाकरं दिव्यं तत्तीरं सुमनोहरम्॥४४॥

This daughter of mine never gets destroyed even at the time of dissolution of the world. Her banks are always charming, divine and the store-houses for the gems.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं जाह्नवीजन्म पुण्यदम्।
ब्रह्मणश्च प्रतीकारो मोहिनीशापतः शृणु॥४५॥

Thus I have narrated to you the story of the birth of the Gaṅgā. Now you listen to me the method by which Brahmā was relieved of the curse of Mohinī.

Chapter - 35

The episode of Brahmā

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

नारायणश्च ब्रह्माणमुवाच कृपया पुन:।
दृष्ट्वा गङ्गां च सर्वे तां मम मायां च मेनिरे।।१।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Nārāyaṇa compassionately again started speaking to Brahmā and all those present there looking at the Gaṅgā took to be for my illusion.

नारायण उवाच

उत्तिष्ठ गच्छ भद्रं ते भविष्यति चतुर्मुख।
अत्र स्नात्वाऽभिशप्तस्त्वं पूतो भव ममाऽऽज्ञया।।२।।

Nārāyaṇa said- O four-faced Brahmā get up and go to your abode You will surely meet with welfare. Taking a bath in the river Gaṅgā you will be relieved of the curse with my command.

त्वं चेत्सत्यं स्वयं पूत: स्पर्शं वाञ्छन्ति तानि ते।
वैष्णवेशस्य तीर्थानि सर्वाणि सततं मुने।।३।।
तथाऽपि शापमुक्तस्त्वमत्र प्रकृतिहेलनात्।
अहंकारश्च सर्वेषां पापबीजममङ्गलम्।४।।

Sage in case you feet truthful and are puce at heart, All these sacred places including yourself are desirous of the touch of Viṣṇu but since you have defied the nature you have earned a sin. You will therefore be relieved of a sin. The arrogance is the seed of all the sins and misfortunes.

शोघ्रं त्वं गच्छ गोलोकं ममाऽऽलयं परात्परम्।
प्रकृत्यंशां मङ्गलदां तत्र प्राप्स्यसि भारतीम्।।५।।

You immediately move on to my infallible place of Goloka. Reaching there you will achieve Sarasvatī who is the form of Prakṛti and always bestows welfare.

प्रकृतिं भज कल्याण सृष्टिबीजस्वरूपिणीम्।
अहो कल्पान्तपर्यन्तं तपस्तप्तं त्वयाऽधुना।।६।।

O virtuous one, you own Prakṛti, who happens to be the seed of the universe. You have performed tapas, for a kalpa.

तव मन्त्रं न गृह्णन्ति केऽपि वेश्याभिशापत:।
यदन्यदेवपूजायां तव पूजा भविष्यति।।७।।

Because of the curse of the wicked women no body would recite your mantra but you will be adored together with the other gods.

त्वमेव जगतां धाता स्वात्मारामश्च योषित:।
सर्वरूपी च पूजा च सर्वदेहेषु सर्वत:।।८।।

Since you are the creator of the universe and always remain engrossed in your own soul, you are the form of all and are adorable by all.

तदा ममाऽऽज्ञया ब्रह्मा स्नात्वा च जाह्नवीजले।
शीघ्रं जगाम गोलोकं मां प्रणम्य जगद्गुरु:।।९।।

Thereafter Brahmā the teacher of the universe took bath in the Gaṅgā at my command and left for Goloka.

ते देवा मुनय: सर्वे प्रजग्मु: स्वालयं मुदा।
सुनिर्मलं मम यशो गायन्तश्च पुन: पुन:।।१०।।

Thereafter all the gods, the sages reciting my spotless glory again and again left for their respective abodes.

विधिरागत्य गोलोकं संप्राप्य भारती सतीम्।
सर्वविद्याधिदेवीं तां माद्वक्त्राच्च विनिर्गताम्।।११।।

On reaching Goloka Brahmā achieved Sarasvatī who happens to be the goddess of all the matter and had. emerged out of my lotus-like face.

वागीश्वरीं च संप्राप्य ब्रह्मा प्रमुदित: स्वयम्।
कामास्त्राणां च व्यापारमनुमेने स्वयं विभु:।।१२।।

Achieving Sarasvatī Brahmā felt delighted, Brahmā then himself permitted the god of love to short the arrows on him.

तत आगत्य मां नत्वा प्राप्य त्रैलोक्यमोहिनीम्।
क्रीडां चकार भगवान्स्थाने स्थानेऽतिनिर्जने॥१३॥

Soon thereafter Brahmā returned to my place and bowed before me. Owning Sarasvatī who could attract the three worlds, Brahmā took her to the secluded places and enjoyed her company.

रतिं चिरतर कृत्वा विरराम स्वयं विधिः।
वागीश्वरीमुवाचेदं त्वं वै ब्रह्मा च कर्मणा॥१४॥
काचित्स्वकर्मणा साध्वी पूज्या च स्थिरयौवना।
तवैव कर्मयोगं च युवानं पश्य सुन्दरि॥१५॥

After enjoying the love-sport with her for long, 'the mind of Brahmā felt detached and he spoke to Sarasvatī, "You represent the Brahman by your action." A women becomes chaste by her deeds, beside being adorable and possessing the everlasting youth. O beautiful one, you better select some one else who should be quite young for your purpose.

विदग्धाया विदग्धेन संगमो गुणवान्भवेत्।
जरातुरोऽहं वृद्धश्च तपस्वी वैष्णवो द्विजः॥१६॥
अस्वतन्त्रः पराधीनः का रतिः पुंश्चलीषु मे।
आजगाम ब्रह्मलोकं पुनरेव निजालयम्॥१७॥

Because a competent women can feel happy with a competent man. Because of my old age I am unstable, old, ascetic, Vaiṣṇava, Brāhmaṇa and am governed by others. How could I be attached to a loose women? I have returned again to my own abode which is Brahmaloka.

ददृशुर्ब्रह्मलोकस्थास्तां देवीं कौतुकान्विताः।
अतीव सुन्दरीं रम्यां शुभ्रवर्णां च सस्मिताम्॥१८॥

The people of Brahmaloka looked at the goddess with great interest who was quite beautiful, charming having fair complexion and wore a serene smile on her face.

शरच्छीतांशुवदनां शरत्पङ्कजलोचनाम्।
पक्वबिम्बप्रभामुष्टदीप्तौष्ठाधरपल्लवाम्॥१९॥
मुक्तापङ्क्तिविनिन्द्यैकदन्तपङ्क्तिमनोहराम्।
रत्नकेयूरवलयरत्ननूपुरशोभिताम्॥२०॥

Her face resembled the moon of the winter season, the eyes resembled the lotus flowers of the winter season; the shining lips resembled the ripe wood apples, the lines of teeth resembled the jewels. The goddess was adorned with armlets, wristlets and the anklets made of gems.

रत्नकुण्डलयुग्मेन कर्णमूलविराजिताम्।
रत्नेन्द्रसारहारेण वक्षःस्थलसमुज्ज्वलाम्॥२१॥

The gem-studded ear-ornaments adorned her ears and the garland of gems was shining on her breasts.

वह्निशुद्धांशुकं सूक्ष्मं बिभ्रतीं नवयौवनाम्।
अतीव कमनीयां च पीनश्रोणिपयोधराम्॥२२॥

She was clad in fine clothes sanctified by fire and was quite youthful and attractive. She had solid breasts.

वीणापुस्तकहस्तां च व्याख्यामुद्राकरां वराम्।
ते च निर्मञ्छनं कृत्वा चक्रुः परममङ्गलम्॥२३॥
पुरीं प्रवेशयामासुर्ब्रह्माणं भारतीं मुदा।
ब्रह्मा तया सह क्रीडां चकार स दिवानिशम्॥२४॥
अतीव सुखसंभोगे निमग्नः सततं मुदा।
गूढं सर्वपुराणेषु किं पुनः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥२५॥

She held vīṇā in both the hands, while the other hands were in vyākhyāna-mudrā. The people of Brahmaloka welcomed the goddess sacrificing various valuable on her. Thereafter both Brahmā and Bhāratī entered Goloka. Thereafter both Brahmā and Bhāratī were engaged in love-sports. they then delightfully engaged themselves in the love-sport This is the secret of various Purāṇas; what else do you want to listen from me.?.

नारायण उवाच

प्राणेशवचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य परमेश्वरी।
भूयोऽपि परिपप्रच्छ कौतुकान्मानसं पुरा॥२६॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of her beloved, Rādhā curiously again asked the lord.

राधिकोवाच

ब्रह्मा कथं न जग्राह वेश्यां स्वयमुपस्थिताम्।
न कर्मक्षेत्रे रहसि फलदाता च कर्मणाम्॥२७॥
उपस्थितायास्त्यागे च महान्दोषो हि योषितः।

ज्ञातवा देवो विधाता स कथं तत्याज मोहिनीम्।।२८।।

Rādhikā said- "O lord, you tell me why did Brahmā not accept the apsarā of the heaven who herself arrived before him in a secluded place. The reason was not known in the land of Bhārata. It is really sinful not to accept a damsel who herself arrives to seek ones company. Brahmā being well aware of this how could he disappoint Mohinī?"

नारायण उवाच

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य मधुसूदनः।
पाद्मकल्पस्य वृत्तान्तमुवाच परमेश्वरीम्।।२९।।

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Rādhikā Madhusūdana smiled and he narrated to her the story of Pādma-kalpa.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

शृणु कान्ते प्रवक्ष्यामि पुरावृत्तान्तमीप्सितम्।
अकथ्यं गोपनीयं च महतामभिनिन्दितम्।।३०।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O my beloved listen to me, I am going to tell you an extremely secret and untold story which delights the noble people.

एकदा च प्रजाः स्रष्टुं विधाता प्रेरितो मया।
ससर्ज मनसा पुत्राञ्ज्वलतो ब्रह्मतेजसा।।३१।।

Once I inspired Brahmā for the creation of the universe. Thereafter the illumining mind born sons were created by him.

सनकं च सनन्दं च सनातनमनुत्तमम्।
सनत्कुमारं वोढुं च कविं पञ्चशिखं विभुम्।।३२।।
असितं कपिलं सिद्धं सिद्धान्मम कलोद्भवान्।
तान्नग्नान्पञ्चवर्षीयान्पिता स्रष्टुं जगाद ह।।३३।।
प्रजाः स्रष्टुं प्रेरकं च जनकं तेऽवमन्य च।
प्रजग्मुस्तपसे तूर्णं ममार्चनपरायणाः।।३४।।

They were known as Sanaka, Sananda, the best Sanātana, Sanatkumāra, Voḍhu Kavi, Pañcaśikha, Asita, Kapila and siddha, the five siddhas who always remain or the ago of five years and were born out of my aṁśa were asked by Brahmā to engage themselves in the creation of the universe. Those sons of Brahmā always engaged themselves in my devotion. Disregarding the command of their father, the proceeed on for performing tapas.

तदा रुष्टो जगद्धाता पुनः पुत्रान्विनिर्ममे।
रुद्रानेकादश वरान्रुदतो भीमविग्रहान्।।३५।।

Therefore, getting disgusted Brahmā created another set of sons. They happened to be the possessing terrific bodies and were eleven in number. Since they were always crying, they came to be known as Rudras.

तस्मिन्प्रयुज्य तरसा पुनः पुत्रान्विनिर्ममे।
योगी योगेन मां ध्यात्वा स्वात्मारामः स्वविग्रहे।।३६।।
वसिष्ठं पुलहं चैव क्रतुमङ्गिरसं तथा।
भृगुमत्रिं पुलस्त्यं च दक्षं कर्दममेव च।।३७।।
मरीचिं च विनिर्माय प्रजाः स्रष्टुं नियुज्य च।
प्रहृष्टमानसः पुत्रं कन्यैकां च ससर्ज ह।।३८।।

Entrusting the creation of the universe to the Rudras, Brahmā started meditating upon me. With this yogic powers and with his mind devoted in me, Brahmā created more sons who have been known as Vasiṣṭha, Pulaha, Kratu, Aṅgirā, Bhṛgu, Atri, Pulastya, Dakṣa, Kardama and Marīci and entrusted them with the task of creation of the universe. Thereafter Brahmā delightfully created another son and a daughter.

कृष्णस्य कामिनः पुत्रः कामदेवो बभूव ह।
कन्या षोडशवर्षीया रत्नभूषणभूषिता।।३९।।

Kāmadeva happen to be the son of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was filled with love, the girl who was created was of sixteen years' age and was adorned with all the ornaments.

उवाच पुत्रं स विधिः सुदीप्तं पुरतः स्थितम्।
दुर्निवार्यं मत्कलांशं स्वात्मारामं मनोहरम्।।४०।।

The son who was standing before him and was born out of my aṁśa was quite pleasant to look at beside being illustrious.

ब्रह्मोवाच

स्त्रीपुंसोः क्रीडनार्थाय मुदा त्वं च विनिर्मितः।
हृदि योगेन सर्वेषामधिष्ठानं करिष्यसि।।४१।।

Brahmā said- I have created both of you and you incite the men and a women to indulge in the love sport between. By means of yogic practices you reside in the hearts of all.

संमोहनं समुद्वेगं बीजस्तम्भितकारणम्।
उन्मत्तबीजं ज्वलदं शश्वच्चेतनहारकम्।।४२।।
प्रगृह्यैतान्मया दत्तान्सर्वान्संमोहनं कुरु।
दुर्निवार्यो मम वराद्भव वत्स भवेषु च।।४३।।

You accept my arrows by which you can influence others besides charming them with force, disturbing the seed, making them hysterical, creating burning sensation, removing of senses and disturbing them because of my been you can move everywhere in the universe without any obstruction.

बाणान्दत्त्वैवमुक्त्वा च प्रहृष्टश्च जगद्विधिः।
दृष्ट्वोवाच दुहितरं वरं दातुं समुद्यतः।।४४।।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कामो मनसाऽऽलोच्य मन्त्रणाम्।
कर्तुं शस्त्रपरीक्षां च बाणांश्चिक्षेप ब्रह्मणि।।४५।।

The lord of the universe handing over the arrows to kāma, felt extremely delighted and looking at the daughter he thought of bestowing a boon on her. In the meantime kāma in order to test the weapons provided to him by his own father, shot an arrow at Brahmā.

मन्त्रपूतैश्च बाणैश्च दुर्वार्यैः स्मरणेन च।
अतिविद्धो महायोगी मूर्च्छितो हतचेतनः।।४६।।

With the shooting of the arrow at Brahmā, the creator of the universe who happens to be the lord of mantras was wounded and he lost his senses.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य ददर्शाग्रे च कन्यकाम्।
तां संभोक्तुं मनश्चक्रे सा दुद्राव भिया सती।।४७।।
दृष्ट्वा पश्चाच्च पितरं धावन्तं हतचेतनम्।
जगाम शरणं शीघ्रं भ्रातॄणां च तपस्विनाम्।।४८।।

On regaining his consciousness he found the girl there and became desirous of enjoying her company. The chaste girl fled from the scene in terror. Finding her father following her she felt terrified and ran for shelter towards his ascetic brothers.

त तां समीपे संस्थाप्य तमूचे पितरं क्रुधा।
हितं तथ्यं च वेदोक्तं नीतिसारं परं वचः।।४९।।

Keeping the giri with them, the ascetics looked at; Brahmā, their own father with great anger and they spoke to him the words which were according to the Vedas, quite appropriate and the best.

ऋषयु ऊचुः
अहो किमेतज्जनक कर्म तेऽतिविगर्हितम्।
नीचानां चरितं यत्तत्करोषि त्वं जगद्विधे।।५०।।

The sages said- It pain us a lot that you have indulged in such an action which is to be denounced by all. O creator of universe, you have indulged in the actions which are practiced by the degraded people.

पश्यन्ति सततं सन्तः प्रसूमिव परस्त्रियम्।
ये ते सर्वत्र पूज्याश्च परत्रेह जितेन्द्रियाः।।५१।।

The noble people always look at the other women like their own mother and always control their senses. Such people are adored every where in the universe.

त्वं स्वयं वेदकर्ता च कन्यां संभोक्तुमिच्छसि।
कन्या च मातृवर्गेषु प्रविष्टा च श्रुतौ श्रुता।।५२।।

You are yourself the creator of the universe and you intend to enjoy the company of your own daughter. The daughter comes in the category of mothers which has been defined in the Vedas.

गुरोः पत्नी राजपत्नी विप्रपत्नी च या सती।
पत्नी च भ्रातृसुतयोर्मित्रपत्नी च तत्प्रसूः।।५३।।
प्रसूः पित्रोस्तथा भ्रातुः पत्नी श्वश्रूः स्वकन्यकाः।
जननी तत्सपत्नी च भगिनी सुरभी तथा।।५४।।
स्वाभीष्टसुरपत्नी च धात्रिकाऽन्नप्रदायिका।
गर्भधात्री स्वनाम्ना च भयात्त्रातुश्च कामिनी।।५५।।
एता वेदप्रणीताश्च सर्वेषां मातरः स्मृताः।
एतास्वपि च सर्वासु न्यूनता नास्ति कासु च।।५६।।

The wife of the teacher, the wife of the king, wife of the Brāhmaṇa, the wives of the brothers and the sons, the wife of the friends and their mothers, the wives of the parents, the mother in-law, one's own daughter, the mother, co-wife, the sisters the cow, the wife of the family gods, mid-wife, the one who provides food, the one who keeps in the womb, the one who removes the danger, are all considered to be like mothers. This has been ordained in the Vedas, they are all equal in respect and no one is of lesser in importance.

कन्यादाताऽन्नदाता च ज्ञानदाताऽभयप्रदः।
जन्मदो मन्त्रदो ज्येष्ठ भ्राता च पितरः स्मृताः॥५७॥

Similarly the one who gives away the daughter, the one who gives away food, the one who gives away knowledge, the one who gives away protection, the one who gives birth, the one who gives mantra and the elder brother are considered to be like father.

एता वहन्ति ये मूढा य एताञ्जनकानपि।
पच्यन्ते नरके ते च यावद्वै ब्रह्मणो वयः॥५८॥

Such of the foolish people who misbehave with the mother and the father as defined above they fall into the hell and remain there till the age of Brahma..

तानन्धकूपे संस्थाप्य दूरतो यमकिंकराः।
कुर्वन्ति ताडनं शश्वत्पुरीषं पाययन्ति च॥५९॥

The messengers of Yama carry them and through them in the andhakūpa hell and always torture them were they have to consume refuge.

त्वमेव विश्वकर्ता च शास्ता वै शमनस्य च।
स्वयं विधाता जगतां तेन गृह्णासि कन्यकाम्॥६०॥

You are the creator of the universe and also administer even the god of death and you create the three worlds. Are you going to catch hold of this girl because of the position you will going.

अस्माकं पुरतो दूरं गच्छ कामार्तमानस।
न कुर्मो भस्मसात्कर्तुं शक्ताश्च जनकं वयम्॥६१॥

O father, your mind is infested with passion and you therefore disappear from the sight of sight of we people at a long distance. Though we are competent enough to reduce you to ashes but we still do not so taking you to be our father.

गुरोर्दोषसहस्राणि क्षन्तुमर्हन्ति पण्डिताः।
सर्वघ्नं तं विनिघ्नन्ति नीतिज्ञाः स्वगुरुं विना॥६२॥

Because the noble people forgive a thousand sins of the teacher. The people who are well-versed in polity destroyed the person who kill every-one, accept the teacher.

गृह्णन्तं यदि सर्वस्वं शपन्तं निष्ठुरं गुरुम्।
साधवस्तं न निन्दन्ति प्रणमन्ति स्वभक्तितः॥६३॥

In case a teacher takes away every-thing and than pronouncing a curse, even such a heartless teacher is not denounced by the noble people and adore him with great devotion.

ये द्विषन्ति च निन्दन्ति गुरुमिष्टं सुरात्परम्।
पच्यन्ते तेऽन्धकूपे च यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ॥६४॥

The one becomes the jealous of the teacher, who indeed in the better than the gods and denounce him they fall in the andhakūpa hell and stay there till the life of the sun and the moon.

पुरीषं भुञ्जते नित्यं क्षुभिता यमताडनैः।
सर्पप्रमाणकीटैश्च दंशिताश्च दिवानिशम्॥६५॥

After having been tortured by the messengers of Yama they consumed the refuge and are bitten by the snakes through out the day and night.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा मुनयः प्रणेमुस्तत्पदाम्बुजम्।
सर्वं भवति दैवेन प्रशान्तमनसा ध्रुवम्॥६६॥

Thus speaking the sages offered their salutation at the feet of Brahmā, everything is possible according to the moves of destiny.

उन्मुखा मुनयः सर्वे बभूवुश्च स्वकर्मणि।
ब्रह्मा शरीरं संत्यक्तुं व्रीडया च समुद्यतः॥६७॥

All the sages than engaged themselves in their respective assignment and Brahmā feeling ashamed thought of ending his life.

योगेन भित्त्वा षट्चक्रं सर्वान्प्राणान्निरुध्य च।
ब्रह्मरन्ध्रं समानीय तत्याज स्वेन वर्त्मना॥६८॥

He stopped his Prāṇavāyu (wind of life) and broke the Ṣaṭcakra with the yogic practices and pushing it through the Brahmarandhra, his soul was about to leave his body.

मनसा श्रीहरिं स्मृत्वा नमस्कारं चकार ह।
न मे मनः परद्रव्ये भविता लोलमीश्वर॥६९॥
प्राणत्यागात्परं दुःखमयशश्च यशस्विनाम्।
बभूव हृदि कृत्वैकं ब्रह्मा लीनश्च ब्रह्मणि॥७०॥

At that point of time he remembers the name of lord Hari and offered his salutation to him saying, O lord my mind should not get attracted even slightly towards the riches of others. For the graceful people, the denouncement is verse than death. Completely devoting his mind towards the lord he merged into the Brahman.

कन्या तातं मृतं दृष्ट्वा विलप्य च भृशं मुहुः।
योगेन देहं तत्याज सा प्रलीना च ब्रह्मणि॥७१॥

Finding her father dead, the daughter felt extremely grieved and lamented for long. Thereafter she ending her life by yogic practices merged into the body of Brahman.

मृतं तातं च भगिनीं दृष्ट्वा च मुनिपुंगवाः।
सस्मरुः श्रीहरिं कोपात्स्वात्मारामं विलप्य च॥७२॥

The best of sages also thinking of their father and the sister who had met with their end, lamented for long in anger and started reciting the name of Hari.

नारायणो मदंशश्च कृपयाऽऽगत्य सत्वरम्।
ब्रह्माणं जीवयामास ब्रह्मज्ञानात्सुतां च ताम्॥७३॥

Thereafter, Nārāyaṇa who happens to be my aṁśa arrived there at once and with the application of his divine knowledge he brought back to life Brahmā and his daughter.

ब्रह्मा पुरो हरिं दृष्ट्वा वरं वव्रे स्म वाञ्छितम्।
भक्तिं त्वच्चरणे शश्वन्निश्चलामनपायिनीम्॥७४॥

Brahmā on finding Hari standing before him asked for a desired boon, "My mind should remain devoted at your feet always. And I should have and everlasting and deep devotion at your feet.".

ब्रह्माणं विरसं दृष्ट्वा तमुवाच कृपानिधिः।
प्रबोधवचनं सत्यं नीतिसारं मनोहरम्॥७५॥

Finding Brahmā disturbed in his brain, the compassionate lord spoke to him to enlighten him with the words which were truthful, appropriate and pleasant.

नारायण उवाच

शृणु ब्रह्मन्प्रवक्ष्येऽहं मुखमुत्तोल्य सांप्रतम्।
त्यज लज्जां जगन्नाथ हृदयज्वररूपिणीम्॥७६॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O Brahman, O lord of the universe, you shed away the shame and the burning of their heart. Raise up your head and listen to me whatever I am speaking to you.

सत्कीर्तिरपकीर्तिर्वा सुप्रतिष्ठाऽप्युपद्रवा।
क्षुद्राणां चैव महतां भवत्येव स्वकर्मणा॥७७॥

Credit or discredit, reputation or denouncement, one gets according to his own deeds either he is a great or insignificant.

सर्वेषामपि सर्वेभ्यः स्वकर्म बलवत्तरम्।
तस्मात्सन्तः प्रकुर्वन्ति नित्यं सत्कर्म संततम्॥७८॥

One's own deeds are always powerful for a person. By availing of the reward of the one's deeds, one consumes them.

केचित्कुर्वन्ति निर्मूलं सर्वेषामपि कर्मणाम्।
कृतं कर्म परं भुक्त्वा हरिपादाब्जचेतसः॥७९॥

Some one has to face the result of his own deed by devoting his mind at the lotus-like feet of the lord.

कुकर्मणश्चापकीर्तिस्ततो लज्जा भवेद्ध्रुवम्।
सुकर्मणः सुप्रतिष्ठा सर्वत्र निर्मलं यशः॥८०॥

One gets denouncement by indulging in misdeeds which results in shame. With the noble deeds, one attains glory and nobility.

कालेन जरसा देहो बलं रूपं शुभाशुभम्।
कीर्तिर्या त्रिगुणा चैव मोहश्चापयशो विधे॥८१॥
ऋणव्रणापवादाश्च जन्तूनां यान्ति कालतः।
महतां तौ च पूर्वोक्तौ नेतरश्च कदाचन॥८२॥

O Brahman, the body attains old age because of the time. Besides the strength, beauty, good and bad deeds, the three types of glory, illusion and denouncement, indebtedness, wounds and black spot are earned by people according to their deeds but the noble people are free from all these.

सदाऽपकीर्तिर्वसति परस्त्रीषु च वस्तुषु।
तस्मात्ते नैव गृह्णन्ति सन्तः स्वक्लेशकारणे॥८३॥

The blemish resides in the riches of others as well as the wives of others. Therefore the noble people do not aspire for the same because they are always troublesome.

स्मर मामन्तरे ब्राह्मे मदीयं विषयं कुरु।
अतस्ते न मनो लोलं भविता परवस्तुषु॥८४॥
योषिद्रूपा च मे माया सर्वेषां मोहकारिणी।
लीलया कुरुते मोहं स्वात्मारामस्य संततम्॥८५॥

Therefore reciting my name in your mind you devote yourself to me. In that case the mind is not attracted towards other things, my illusion in the form of damsels influenced everyone, my illusion also attracts playfully the noble people.

ननामुद्राश्रये देशे रागिणां संततं रतिः।
स्तनाभिधे मांसपिण्डेऽधरे लालालयेऽशुचौ॥८६॥
श्रोणिवक्त्रस्तनं तासां कामदेवालयं सदा।
तस्मात्ते न हि पश्यन्ति सन्तो हि धर्मभीरवः॥८७॥

The passionate people depending upon the beauty of their limbs always feel attracted towards them. As for example their breasts, the developed part of the body and those which are impure, lips and other parts of the body are always the source of attraction for them. Therefore the such of the people who are devoted to religion never look at the buttocks, the face, the breasts and the pelvic region of the woman.

को धर्मः किं यशस्तेषा का प्रतिष्ठा च किं तपः।
किं बुद्धिर्विद्या दानं च परस्त्रीषु च यन्मनः॥८८॥

The one whose mind is engrossed in the ladies, his dharma, glory, tapas, intelligance, knowledge and charities become infructuous.

इहाप्यपयशो दुःखं नरकेषु परत्र च।
वासः प्रहारस्तेषां च ताडनैः कृमिभक्षणैः॥८९॥

He has to face miseries in this world and have fall into the hell after death where many types of insects bite him.

दुःखबीजं सुखं मत्वा मूढाश्च दैवदोषतः।
परस्त्रीसेवनं प्रीत्या कुर्वन्ति संततं मुदा॥९०॥

The foolish people as a move of destiny get attracted towards the wives of others delightfully taking it to be a real pleasure.

उत्तमा मत्पदाम्भोजं सत्कर्म मध्यमा सदा।
स्मरन्ति शश्वदधमाः परस्त्रीसेवनं मुदा॥९१॥

But the best of the people always devote their mind at my feet performing good deeds and the degraded people delightfully enjoy the company of the wives of others.

विपत्तिः संततं तस्य परवस्तुषु यन्मनः।
विशेषतः परस्त्रीषु सुवर्णेषु च भूमिषु॥९२॥

The one who feels attracted towards the wives of others, the gold of other and the land of others, he has always to face the miseries.

दैवात्परस्त्रियं दृष्ट्वा विरमेद्यो हरिं स्मरन्।
दृष्ट्वा परसुवर्णं च हस्तप्रक्षालनाच्छुचिः॥९३॥
सततं नैव संसक्ताः सन्तः स्वस्त्रीषु कामतः।
यक्ष्मव्याधिज्ञानहानिलोकनिन्दाभयेन च॥९४॥

The one who on coming across anthers wife recites the name of Hari in his mind and by coming across the riches of others he neglects them such a person is sanctified, the people suffering from ailments, people without knowledge and some of the people afraid of public denouncement never indulge themselves in approaching the wives of others.

तपस्विनस्तपस्यायां शास्त्रचिन्तासु पण्डिताः।

साऽव्यश्च पतिसेवासु गृहस्था गृहकर्मसु।
विषयेषु विषयिणो मद्भक्ता मम सेवने॥९६॥

The ascetics engage themselves in performing tapas, the learned people engage themselves in the study of scriptures, the yogīs engage themselves in yogic practices, the Vedic people spend their time in the study of the Vedas, the auspicious serving the husbands attend to the household affairs, the passionate people engage themselves in the evil deeds and the devotees always remain devoted to me.

एते नियुक्ता एतेषु सभासु च प्रशंसिताः।
वेदोक्ताचरणेनैव तद्विरुद्धेन निन्दिताः॥९७॥

Those, who are engaged in such type of works follow the path of the Vedas and are praised in the assembly of intellectuals, such of the people who act against the Vedas are always denounced.

सर्वे नित्यं प्रशंसन्ति शश्वत्सन्मार्गगामिनम्।

भविता न परस्त्रीषु परवस्तुषु ते मनः।
अद्यप्रभृति जीवान्तं निविष्टं मद्वरेण च॥९९॥

O Brahman, the one who follows the right path is praised by everyone and those who follow the wrong path are denounced even by those ploughing the fields.

मदीयविषये बाह्ये मया दत्तं कुरु प्रियम्।
अन्तरा मत्पदाम्भोजचिन्तां विघ्नविनाशिनीम्॥१००॥

Because of the boon pronounced by me your mind will never feel attracted at the wives of others besides others riches. You follow the discourse given by me out-worldly and in-worldly you devote your mind towards my lotus-like feet.

कन्या भवतु ते ब्रह्मन्कामदेवस्य कामिनी।
रतिर्नाम परित्याज्या रत्यधिष्ठातृदेवता॥१०१॥

O Brahman, your daughter would become the wife of Kāmadeva and will be known by the name of Rati. She would be known as the goddess of love. You disown her.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा ब्रह्माणमाश्वास्य कमलापतिः।

Thus speaking assuring Brahmā and Rādhā Kṛṣṇa moved on to Vaikuṇṭha.

Chapter - 36

Praise of Śiva by lord Kṛṣṇa

राधिकोवाच

एतेन नियमेनैव ब्रह्मा तत्याज मोहिनीम्।
कथं स कुलटाशापादपूज्यः संबभूव ह॥१॥

Rādhikā said- Because of this, Brahmā disowned Mohinī. It is true but how could Brahmā become unadorable because of the curse of the wicked women.

कथं तस्य दर्पभङ्गं चकार कमलापतिः।
कथयस्व सर्वबीजं सर्वेषामीश्वरः स्वयम्॥२॥

Bow could lord Viṣṇu who happens to be the cause of everything and the lord himself shatter the pride of Brahmā?.

नारायण उवाच

रासेश्वरीवचः श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य रसिकेश्वरः।
निगूढमितिहासं च तां वक्तुमुपचक्रमे॥३॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Rādhikā, Kṛṣṇa smiled and started narrating the ancient history.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

ब्रह्मा चिरं तपस्तप्त्वा मत्तो लब्ध्वा वरं वरम्।
सृष्टिं नानाविधां कृत्वा विधाता स बभूव ह॥४॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Having been blessed by me Brahmā performed tapas for a long time and engaged himself in creation of the universe.

तपसां फलदाता च सर्वेषां शास्तिकृत्प्रभुः।
आत्मानमीश्वरं ज्ञात्वा महागर्वो बभूव ह॥५॥

Brahmā on the other hand, who happens to be the bestower of the reward for all the tapas and who regulates the universe thinking himself to be the great lord was filled with pride.

ब्रह्माण्डेषु च सर्वेषु गर्वपर्यन्तमुन्नतिः।
इति मत्वा ब्रह्मणश्च दर्पभङ्गः कृतो मया॥६॥
येषां येषां भवेद्दर्पो ब्रह्माण्डेषु परात्परः।
विज्ञाय सर्वं सर्वात्मा तेषां शास्ताऽहमेव च॥७॥

The progress is seen in all the globes till one is not infested with pride. Realising this, I shattered the pride of all those who are filled with immense pride in the globes.

प्रथमे ब्रह्मणो गर्वो मया चूर्णीकृतः श्रुतः।
शंकरस्य च पार्वत्याश्चन्द्रस्य च रवेस्तथा॥८॥
वह्नेर्दुर्वाससश्चैव तथा धन्वन्तरेः प्रिये।
क्रमेण दर्पभङ्गं च कथयामि निशामय॥९॥

O dear one, first of all I shattered the pride of Brahmā, which I have already narrated to you. Now I am going to tell you about the story of the shattering of pride of Śiva, Pārvatī, the sun, the moon, the god of fire, Durvāsā and Dhanvantari.

क्षुद्राणां महतां चैव येषां गर्वो भवेत्प्रिये।
एवंविधमहं तेषां चूर्णीभूतं करोमि च॥१०॥

O dear one, whenever all the people irrespective of being big or small are filled with pride, I surely shatter their pride.

नारायण उवाच

श्रीकृष्णस्य वचः श्रुत्वा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका।
प्रपच्छ राधा यत्नेन संत्रस्ता भयविह्वला।।११।।

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the lips, throat and palate of Rādhikā were dried up, she was upset with fear and she asked him in panic.

राधिकोवाच

कस्य केन प्रभावेण महादर्पो बभूव ह।
त्वया केन प्रभावेण तस्य भङ्गः कृतः पुरा।।१२।।

Rādhikā said- Who was influenced with pride because of whom? How did you shatter their pride?.

कथयस्व प्राणनाथ सर्वेषां दर्पभञ्जन।
दर्पदाभयद प्राणदानैककारणेश्वर।।१३।।

O lord of my life, you are the one who shatter the pride of all. You fill the people with pride, you provide fearlessness to the people besides while restoring life and are their sole lord. You tell me the truth.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

येन भूतं गर्वचूर्णं श्रुतं त्रिजगतां विधेः।
अन्येषां श्रूयतां राधे व्यासेन कथयामि ते।।१४।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O Rādhā, you are already listen, to the story by means of which the pride of Brahmā was shattered. How I am going to tell you the story about the shattering of the pride of others.

स्वयं शिवो मदंशश्च संहर्ता जगतां च यः।
तेजसा मत्समः पूर्णो ज्ञानेन च गुणेन च।।१५।।
ध्यायन्ति योगिनो यं स योगीन्द्राणां गुरोर्गुरुः।
ज्ञानानन्दस्वरूपोऽयं तस्याख्यानं शृणु प्रिये।।१६।।

Lord Śiva happens to be my own aṁśa and is the destroyer of the three worlds, he is equal to me in lustre, qualities and intelligence, the ascetics meditate upon him. He is the teacher of all the yogīs and is blissful besides being the store of knowledge. O dear one, you listen to the story about him.

युगषष्टिसहस्राणि तपस्तप्त्वा दिवानिशम्।
भूत्वा च मत्कलापूर्णो बभूव मत्समो विभुः।।१७।।
तपसा तेजसा शश्वत्तेजोराशिर्बभूव ह।
सूर्यकोटिप्रभावश्च भक्तानां कल्पपादपः।।१८।।

After performing tapas for sixty thousand yugas through out the day and nights he achieved all my rays and becoming complete in all respects, he pervaded the universe. As a result of the performing of the continuously tapas and gaining the lustre, he became the store of lustre. His influence, exceeded, the three crores of suns. He is kalpavṛkṣa for his devotees.

ध्यायं ध्यायं च योगीन्द्रास्तत्तेजो बहुकालतः।
तदन्तरे च पश्यन्ति स्वरूपमतिसुन्दरम्।।१९।।

The ascetics after performing great tapas and meditating upon him for a long time, visualise his beautiful form.

शुद्धस्फटिकसंकाशं पञ्चवक्त्रं त्रिलोचनम्।
त्रिशूलपट्टिशकरं व्याघ्रचर्माम्बरं वरम्।।२०।।
जपन्तं स्वात्मनाऽऽत्मानं श्वेताब्जबीजमालया।
ईषद्धास्यप्रसन्नास्यं चन्द्रचूडं परात्परम्।।२१।।
स्वर्णाकारं जटाभारं दधतं शिरसा मुदा।
शान्तं कान्तं त्रिजगतां भक्तानुग्रहकारकम्।।२२।।

He has a complexion of crystal, five faces and three eyes. He holds a trident and a paṭṭiśa in his hands and is clad in tiger skin. He is adorned with the garland of white lotus flowers and recites his own mantras. He always wears a serene smile on his face, the eternal Śiva has a crescent on his head serving as a crown on the matted locks of hair. He is peaceful in appearance and is always compassionate on his devotees.

अथ स्वमीश्वरं मत्वा प्रदाता सर्वसंपदाम्।
ददाति सर्वं सर्वेभ्यो वाञ्छितं कल्पपादपः।।२३।।

Considering himself to be supreme lord and the bestower of all the riches he fulfils the desires of all like a kalpa tree.

यो यं वाञ्छति तं तस्मै वरं दत्त्वा वरेश्वरः।
बभूव गर्वसंयुक्तः स्वात्मारामः स्वलीलया॥२४॥

Whenever things are desired by anyone he bestows the same on him. Thus Śiva who always roamed about in his own soul was once filled with pride.

एकदा च वृको दैत्यस्तपस्तेपे शिवस्य च।
केदारे च कठोरेण वर्षमेकं दिवानिशम्॥२५॥
नित्यं याति तत्समीपं कृपया च कृपानिधिः।
वरं दातुं यथाभीष्टं न जग्राहासुरो वरम्॥२६॥

Once a demon named Vṛka went to the Kedāra region of Śiva and performed severed tapas there. The compassionate lord Śiva always visited that demon in order to bestow a boon on him but the demon did not accept any boon.

वर्षान्ते शंकरः शश्वत्तस्थौ तत्पुरतः स्वयम्।
वरदो भक्तिपाशेन क्षणं गन्तुं न स क्षमः॥२७॥

At the end of the year Śiva started remaining present before him always. Lord Śiva having bound with the fetters of devotion of the demon, could not leave that place even for a moment.

सर्वैश्वर्यं सर्वसिद्धिं भुक्तिं मुक्तिं हरेः पदम्।
दैत्यः किंचिन्न गृह्णाति प्रेरितः शुलपाणिना॥२८॥

Śiva offered him all the fortunes, the siddhis, the devotion, salvation and the highest stage of the lord, but the demon did not accept them.

ध्यायमानं तत्पदाब्जं दृष्ट्वा त्रस्तो महेश्वरः।
अयाचितारं निश्चेष्टं रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः॥२९॥

He only continued devoting his mind at his lotus-like feet. Then suddenly finding that the body of the demon become motionless, Śiva felt panicky and overwhelmed with love started crying.

अतीव रोदनात्तस्य ध्यानभङ्गो बभूव ह।
ददर्श पुरतः साक्षाद्दातारं सर्वसंपदाम्॥३०॥

With the crying of Śiva, the meditation of the demon was disturbed. He then found lord Śiva, the bestower of toll the riches standing before him.

यन्मायया वरं वव्रे दैत्येन्द्रो भक्तिपूर्वकम्।
हस्तं दधे च यन्मूर्ध्नि स भस्म भवितेति च॥३१॥

With this illusion, the demon with his mind filled with devotion asked for a boon, "The person on whose head I place my hand, he should be reduce to ashes.".

ओमित्युक्त्वा प्रयान्तं तं दुद्राव दैत्यपुंगवः।
मृत्युंजयो मृत्युभयाद्दुद्राव त्रासविह्वलः॥३२॥

When Śiva moved from that place after pronouncing the boon on the demon, he followed Śiva. Lord Śiva who has already over-come the death felt panicky of the death and started running about.

पपात डमरुस्तस्य व्याघ्रचर्म मनोहरम्।
दिगम्बरो दश दिशो भेजे दानवभीतये॥३३॥

His ḍamarū and the pleasant tiger-skin fell down, getting terrified from the demon. He roamed about from the fear of the demon unrobed and in terror rushed in all the directions.

न हन्ति तं च कृपया भक्तं च भक्तवत्सलः।
दुष्टानुसारं साधुश्च न करोति कदाचन॥३४॥

In spite of that the compassionate Śiva did not want to kill him because the noble people do not get cruel even to the wicked people.

साधवो घ्नन्ति घ्नन्तं च भृत्यं पुत्रं प्रियां विना।
प्रबोधितुं न शक्तश्च स्वात्मानं कृपया समम्॥३५॥
शिवः स्वमृत्युं मत्वा च भीतश्च निरहंकृतः।
स्मारं स्मारं च मां भद्रे मामेव शरणं ययौ॥३६॥

The noble people kill only the people who intend to kill them but the servants, son and the beloved are never killed by them. Śiva could not understand well the demon because he treated the demon to be his own son. Finding his death nearing him, Śiva was extremely terrified and devoid of all the pride. O dear one, reciting my name again and again, he arrived to take refuge with me.

दृष्ट्वा स्वाश्रममायान्तं शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकम्।
हे हरे रक्ष रक्षेति जपन्तं भयविह्वलम्॥३७॥

I found him arriving in my abode. His throat, lips and palate had dried up. He was crying, "O lord Hari save me." Thus uttering these words again and again, he felt upset.

संस्थाप्य तत्समीपे च स दैत्यो बोधितो मया।
पुष्टश्च सर्ववृत्तान्तमुवाच मां क्रमेण च॥३८॥
तदा ममाऽऽज्ञया तूर्णं वञ्चितो मायायाऽसुरः।
दत्त्वा स्वमूर्ध्नि हस्तं च सद्यो भस्म बभूव ह॥३९॥

Making the demon to remain by the side of Śiva I addressed him and he narrated to me, the entire story. Thereafter, with the influence of my illusion the demon placed his hand on his own head and was reduced to ashes.

तदा सिद्धाः सुरेन्द्राश्च मुनीन्द्रा मनवो मुदा।
तुष्टुवुर्मां सुभक्त्या च लज्जया लज्जितः शिवः॥४०॥

At that point of time all the siddhas, Indra, the sages, Manus and even Śiva feeling ashamed, started eulogising me.

बभूव चूर्णस्तद्गर्वो जगाम बोधितो मया।
वरं ददाति वरदस्ततो बोध्यो ह्यहं शिव॥४१॥

His pride was shattered thereafter I enlightened him and he left the place. I myself fulfil the effects of pronouncing a boon.

अथ गर्वान्वितो रुद्रो हन्तुं त्रिपुरमुल्बणम्।
मत्वा मनसि संहर्ता सर्वेषां जगतामिति॥४२॥
कोऽयं पतङ्गवद्दैत्य इति मत्वा ययौ रणम्।
विहाय शूलं मद्दत्तं मदीयकवचं परम्॥४३॥

Thereafter, Śiva with his mind filled with pride went to kill Tripurāsura. He believed in his mind that he was the only one who could destroy all the three worlds then how could the great demon who was like a fire fly before him, face lord Śiva? He than went to the battle-field while going to the battle-field, he left the trident and the kavaca given by me at his place.

चिरं बभूव समरं वर्षमेकं दिवानिशम्।
न कोऽपि जेतुं कं शक्तो द्वौ समौ समरे तदा॥४४॥

He continued fighting with Tripurāsura for one year through out the day and night but no one could be victorious. In the battle-field, both of them appeared to be equals.

पृथिव्यां च रणं कृत्वा दैत्येन्द्रो मायया प्रिये।
अत्यूर्ध्वं च समुत्तस्थौ पञ्चाशतकोटियोजनम्॥४५॥

O dear, the demon while fighting on earth by his illusion rose higher in the space around fifty crores of yojanas.

उत्तस्थौ शंकरस्तूर्णं हन्तुं दैत्यं जगत्प्रभुः।
बभूव तत्र युद्धं च मासमेकं निराश्रये॥४६॥

Śiva the lord of the universe also raised himself to fight with the demon. In the space they went on fighting for a month.

अस्त्राणि चापं चिच्छेद शंकरस्यासुरो बली।
रथं बभञ्ज दैत्येन्द्रश्चापमस्त्राणि शंकरात्॥४७॥

The valorous demon shattered the weapon and the bow of Śiva broke his chariot and destroyed his all other weapons.

जघान मुष्टिना रुद्रो दानवेन्द्रं प्रकोपतः।
वज्रमुष्टिप्रहारेण सद्यो मूर्छामवाप सः॥४८॥

The enraged Śiva administered a powerful fist on the chest of the demon. With the blow of the fist by Śiva, the demon at once fainted.

क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य कोपाद्दानवपुंगवः।
शिवं शयानमुत्तोल्य पातयामास भूतले॥४९॥

Regaining consciousness in a moment, the demon picked up Śiva, while he was asleep and threw him on the ground.

सरथे पातिते रुद्रे देवा देवर्षयो भिया।
तुष्टुवर्मां परित्राहि कृष्णेत्युक्त्वा पुनः पुनः॥५०॥

When Śiva together with his chariot was so badly defeated all the gods felt panicky. Thus Śiva started offering prayers to me again and again.

हरः सस्मार मामेव निर्भयो भयकारणम्।
तुष्टाव भक्त्या स्तोत्रेण मया दत्तेन संकटे॥५१॥
तदाऽहं कलया शीघ्रं वृषरूपं विधाय च।
शयानं शंकरं धृत्वा विषाणाभ्यामुरुक्रमम्॥५२॥
ददौ तस्मै स्वकवचं स्वशूलमरिमर्दनम्।
प्राप्य तद्दानवस्थानमत्यूर्ध्वं च निराश्रयम्॥५३॥
मया दत्तेन शूलेन जघान त्रिपुरं हरः।
मामेव दर्पहन्तारं तुष्टाव व्रीडितः पुनः॥५४॥

Finding the danger ahead Śiva meekly uttered my name again and again. At the time of danger he recited the stotra given by me to him with devotion. Than I, taking to the form of a bull lifted up Śiva over my horn. I then gave him my kavaca and the trident which always destroyed the enemies. With the use of that trident he attracted Tripura who had been present in the sky without any base and destroyed him with the attack of my trident. Thereafter lord Śiva having his pride shattered praised me again and again.

सद्यः पपात दैत्येन्द्रश्चूर्णीभूतश्च भूतले।
देवता मुनयः सर्वे तुष्टुवुः शंकरं मुदा॥५५॥
तत्याज शंकरो दर्पं विघ्नबीजं ततो विभुः।
ज्ञानानन्दस्वरूपश्च निर्लिप्तः सर्वकर्मसु॥५६॥

The demon was than reduced to ashes and fell down on the ground. At the sight of the killing of the demon. the gods, the sages and Śiva started prising me. Thereafter Śiva realising that the pride had been the cause of all the trouble got rid of it. He devoted his mind to the blissful knowledge and indulged in all the deeds in an unattached manner.

ततोऽहं वृषरूपेण वहामि तेन तं प्रियम्।
मम प्रियतमो नास्ति त्रैलोक्येषु शिवात्परः॥५७॥

Since than I started carrying Śiva over my back as his vehicle because no one else in the three worlds is dearer to me than Śiva.

मनःस्वरूपो ब्रह्मा मे ज्ञानरूपो महेश्वरः।
बुद्धिर्भगवती दुर्गा मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी॥५८॥
निद्रादयः शक्तयो यास्ताः सर्वाः प्रकृते कलाः।
वागधिष्ठातृदेवी या सा स्वयं च सरस्वती॥५९॥
मन कल्याणाधिदेवो हर्षरूपो गणेश्वरः।
परमार्थः स्वयं धर्मो मम भक्तो हुताशनः॥६०॥
सर्वैश्वर्याधिदेवी मे सर्वगोलोकवासिनः।
प्राणाधिष्ठातृदेवी त्वं सदा प्राणाधिका मम॥६१॥

Brahmā represents my mind Śiva intelligence and Mūla-Prakṛti also known as Durgā represents wisdom. All other śaktis including sleep they represent the form of Prakṛti and Sarasvatī happens to be the goddess of my speech. Gaṇeśa who bestows all the welfares is the form of my pleasure. Dharma stands for the welfare of all and Agni is fully devoted to me. All these residing in Goloka are the gods of my fortune. You happen to be the great goddess of my life and are dearer to me than my life.

गोपाङ्गनास्तव कला अत एव मम प्रियाः।
मल्लोमकूपजा गोपाः सर्वे गोलोकवासिनः॥६२॥

All the cowherdesses happen to be your rays and are therefore quite dear to me. All the cowherds residing in Goloka have emerged from my hair-pits.

तेजः स्वरूपः सूर्यश्च प्राणा मे वायवः स्मृताः।
जलाधिदेवो वरुणः पृथिवी मे मलोद्भवा॥६३॥

Thus the sun is the form of my lustre. the wind-god represent breathing Varuṇa stands for the lord of waters and the earth had emerged out of my refuse.

मम शून्यो महाकाशो मदनो मानसोद्भवः।
इन्द्रादयः सुराः सर्वे मत्कलांशांशसंभवाः॥६४॥

The space void for me. The god of love was created out of my mind and all the gods including Indra emerged out of my rays.

एतानि सृष्टिबीजानि महदादीनि चैव हि।
सर्वेषां बीजरूपोऽहं स्वमात्मा निराश्रयः॥६५॥

All the tattvas which form the part of the seed in the universe, I happen to be the base of all of them and the soul of all.

जीवो मे प्रतिबिम्बश्च कर्मभोगाधिकारकः।
अहं साक्षी निरीहश्च न भोगी सर्वकर्मसु॥६६॥
भक्तध्यानार्थदेहोऽयं मम स्वेच्छामयस्य च।
प्रकृतिः पुरुषोऽहं च एक एव परात्परः॥६७॥

The Jīva happens to be my reflection, who has to face the result of his deeds, I am unattached and the witness of all but I never have to face the reward of any action. This body which has been self-created by me is meant for the adoration of my devotees. I happen to be Prakṛti Puruṣa and the only great lord.

इत्येवं कथितं राधे शिवदर्पविमोचनम्।
सृष्टिबीजं च शृणु मे पार्वतीदर्पमोचनम्॥६८॥

O Rādhā, thus I have narrated to you the story of out the shattering of the pride of Śiva. Now you listen to the story relating to the shattering of the pride of Pārvatī who happens to be the seed of all the creation.

नारायण उवाच

इत्युक्तवन्तं श्रीकृष्णं परमात्मनमीश्वरम्।

पप्रच्छ राधिका देवी निगूढमभिवाञ्छितम्॥६९॥

Nārāyaṇa said- After listening from Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Rādhikā asked him a secret question.

राधिकोवाच

भगवन्सर्वतत्त्वज्ञ सर्वबीज सनातन।

वद मे वाञ्छितं प्रश्नं सर्वसंदेहभञ्जनम्॥७०॥

Rādhikā said- O virtuous one, you are well-aware of all the tattvas and the seed of all, you are the eternal one and are competent enough to remove all the doubts. You give me an appropriate reply to my question.

सर्वज्ञानाधिदेवश्च शंकरः सर्वतत्त्ववित्।

मृत्युंजयः कालकालो भगवांस्त्वत्समो महान्॥७१॥

Śiva happens to be the lord of all the knowledge, well-versed in all the tattvas conqueror of the death, the death for all the times and is as great as you are.

कथं विभूतिगात्रश्च पञ्चवक्त्रस्त्रिलोचनः।

दिगम्बरो जटाधारी नागसंघातभूषणः॥७२॥

वृषेणाटति देवेन्द्रो विहाय वरवाहनम्।

न बिभर्ति कथं रत्नं सारनिर्माणभूषणम्॥७३॥

But why does he apply ashes on his body why does he have five faces, three eyes remains without robes, wearing matted locks of hair on the head, using the serpents as his ornament why does he move on the bull leaving all other vehicles, why does he not adorn himself with gem-studded ornament.

वह्निशुद्धांशुकं त्यक्त्वा धत्ते शार्दूलचर्मकम्।

धत्ते धत्तूरकुसुमं पारिजातं विहाय च॥७४॥

Leaving aside the costumes sanctified by fire, why does he clad himself in tiger skin. Leaving aside the Pārijāta flowers, why does he use the thorn apple flowers.

नास्ति रत्नकिरीटेच्छा जटायां प्रीतिरुत्तमा।

दिव्यलोकं परित्यज्य स्मशानेषु स्पृहा विभोः॥७५॥

Instead of the gem-studded kirīṭa-crown why does he adorn his head with matted locks of hair. Why does Śiva intend to dwell in the cremation grounds, instead of living in the divine places.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीसुगन्धिकुसुमानि च।

त्यक्त्वा स्पृहा बिल्वपत्रे बिल्वकाष्ठानुलेपने॥७६॥

Leaving aside the sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and fragrant flowers, why does he prefer the leaves of wood-apple and also its fruit.

एतद्वेतितुमिच्छामि व्यासेन कथय प्रभो।

श्रोतुं कौतूहलं नाथ वर्धते मे मनःस्पृहा॥७७॥

I would like to have a clarification on all these points. You kindly let me know. O lord, I am getting a ıxious to know about them.

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य मधुसूदनः।

कथां कथितुमारेभे कृत्वा राधां स्ववक्षसि॥७८॥

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, lord Madhusūdana smiled for a moment and taking her in his embrace he said.

युगषष्टिसहस्राणि तपः कृत्वा महेश्वरः।

विरराम पूर्णतमो ध्यात्वा मां मनसा मुदा॥७९॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- In the ancient times lord Maheśvara after performing tapas for sixty thousand yugas, felt blissful and devoting his mind in me became disinterested in the universe.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे मां च ददर्श पुरतः स्थितम्।

अतीव कमनीयाङ्गं किशोरं श्यामसुन्दरम्॥८०॥

अहोऽनिर्वचनीयं च दृष्ट्वा रूपमनुत्तमम्।

न बभूव वितृष्णश्च लोचनाभ्यां त्रिलोचनः॥८१॥

In the meantime, he found me standing before him having beautiful limits, tender age and dark complexion. Everything was beyond description. At the sight of my form, the eyes of three-eyed Śiva were never satisfied.

पश्यन्निमेषरहित इति मत्वा स्वमानसे।

भक्त्युद्रकान्महाभक्तो रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः॥८२॥

He, the great devotee continued staring at me and overwhelmed with my devotion, he started lamentation.

सहस्रवदनोऽनन्तो भाग्यवांश्च चतुर्मुखः।

बहुभिर्लोचनैर्दृष्ट्वा तुष्टाव बहुभिर्मुखैः॥८३॥

He thought that serpent Ananta with thousand hoods and Brahmā having four faces were more fortunate than myself, who could look at the lord with many eyes and offered prayers with many mouthy.

पश्यामि किंवा किं स्तौमि संप्राप्य नाथमीदृशम्।
आस्यैकेन लोचनाभ्यां चतुर्धा स पुनः पुनः॥८४॥

On finding such a lord of mine, how should I look at him and how should I adore him because I have a single mouth and only two eves. He repeated this sentence four times.

स्वमानसे कुर्वतीदं शंकरे च तपस्विनि।
तद्बभूव चतुर्वक्त्रं पूर्वेण सह पञ्चमम्॥८५॥
एकैकवक्त्रं शुशुभे लोचनैश्च त्रिभिस्त्रिभिः।
बभूव तेन तन्नाम पञ्चवक्त्रस्त्रिलोचनः॥८६॥

Having thus thought in his mind by Śiva, four more faces were added to his body making total of five of them. Each and every face than bad three eyes as a result of which he was known as five-faced and three eyed.

स्तवनादधिकप्रीतिः शिवस्य दर्शने मम।
तेनाधिकानि तस्यैवं बभूवुर्लोचनानि च॥८७॥

In preference to the prayer of Śiva he was more interested in staring at me with more eyes as a result of which more ryes appeared on his faces.

चक्षूंषि गुणरूपाणि तस्य ब्रह्मस्वरूपिणः।
सत्त्वं रजस्तम इति तस्य हेतुं निशामय॥८८॥

The eyes of Śiva having the form of Brahman, present sattva, rajas and tamas. I am going to speak out the reason for the same. You please listen to me.

सत्त्वांशेन दृशा शंभुः पश्यन्पाति च सात्त्विकान्।
राजसेन राजसिकांस्तामसेन च तामसान्॥८९॥

Lord Śiva looks at the sāttvika people with his sāttvika eyes, thc rājasī people with his rājas eyes and tāmasī people with tāmas eyes. He protects them all.

चक्षुषस्तामसात्पश्चाल्ललाटस्थाद्धरस्य च।
संहारकाले संहर्तुरग्निराविर्भवेत्क्रुधा॥९०॥

At the time of dissolution, the destructive fire emerges from the wrathful third eye of the forehead of destroyer Śiva.

कोटितालप्रमाणश्च सूर्यकोटिसमप्रभः।
लेलिहानो दीर्घशिखस्त्रैलोक्यं दग्धुमीश्वरः॥९१॥

The flames of that fire rise as high as the height of crores of tāla trees placed one on the other, has the lustre of crores of suns and have innumerable flames which reduce to ashes everything in the universe.

विभूतिगात्रः स विभुः सतीसंस्कारभस्मना।
धत्ते तस्या अस्थिमालां प्रेमभावेन भस्म च॥९२॥

Śiva applied the dust produced by the burning of the body of Satī. That is why, he is known by the name of the one who applied ashes on his body. Because of his love for Satī, he adorned himself with the garland of her bones had also applied the ashes on his body.

स्वात्मारामो यद्यपीशस्तथाऽपि पूर्णमब्दकम्।
सतीशवं गृहीत्वा च भ्रामं भ्रामं रुरोद ह॥९३॥
प्रत्यङ्गं चापि तस्याश्च पपात यत्र यत्र ह।
सिद्धपीठस्तत्र तत्र बभूव मन्त्रसिद्धकृत्॥९४॥

Though Śiva is all knowledgeable, still he carried the dead body of Satī on his shoulder for full one year and roamed about everywhere in all the four comers, while crying. Wherever the limb of Satī fell, a siddha-pīṭha was created there where the success in mantras is achieved.

तदा शवावशेषं च कृत्वा वक्षसि शंकरः।
पपात मूर्च्छितो भूत्वा सिद्धिक्षेत्रे च राधिके॥९५॥

O Rādhike, thereafter, embracing the bones of the body of Satī, Śiva fell down at the place of accomplishment and was fainted.

तदा गत्वा महेशं तं कृत्वा क्रोडे प्रबोध्य च।
अददां दिव्यतत्त्वं च तस्मै शोकहरं परम्॥९६॥

At that point of time I went to that place and carrying Śiva in my lap and bestowed him the divine knowledge which relieved him of the grief.

तदा शिवश्च संतुष्टः स्वं लोकं च जगाम ह।
मूर्त्यन्तरेण कालेन तां संप्राप प्रियां सतीम्॥९७॥

Thereafter, getting satisfied, Śiva left for his abode and afier sometime Śiva regained Satī in another form.

दिव्यस्त्रग्धारियोगेन नेच्छा नित्ये परे विभो।
जटां तपस्याकालीनां धत्तेऽद्यापि विवेकत:॥९८॥

Śiva remains without robes because he always remain engrossed in yogic practices, the eternal lord is devoid of all the desires The matted locks of hair on his head relate to the period when he performed tapas which he maintains even to this day because of his eternal awareness.

न चेच्छा केसशंकारे स्वाङ्गे वेषे च योगिन:।
समता चन्दने पङ्के लोष्टे रत्ने मणीश्वरे॥९९॥

The ascetics have no desire to clad themselves in beautiful garments or to arrange the heed-dress. An ascetic finds no difference between the sandal-paste and mud or a ball of earth; even the gems are treated by him like the dust.

गरुडद्वेषिणो नागा: शंकरं शरणं ययु:।
बिभर्ति कृपया स्वाङ्गे तानेव शरणागतान्॥१००॥

The Nāgas getting terrified from Garuḍa took refuge with lord Śiva and with his mind filled with Compassion, he adorned all his limbs with the snakes.

वाहनं वृषरूपोऽहमन्यस्तं वोढुमक्षम:।
त्रिपुरस्य वधे पूर्वं मत्कलांशसमुद्भव:॥१०१॥

I myself carry him in the form of a bull because no one else is competent enough to transport him. In the earlier times during the killing of Tripurāsura, a bull was created with my aṁśa.

पारिजातादिकं पुष्पं सुगन्धिचन्दनादिकम्।
मयि संन्यस्य तेष्वेवं प्रीतिर्नास्ति कदाचन॥१०२॥

He has already offered Pārijāta and other flowers besides the sandal-paste and fragrant articles to me, therefore he never feels attracted towards them.

धत्तूरे तत्सदा प्रीतिर्बिल्वपत्रानुलेपने।
गन्धहीने सुगन्धे च योगीष्टे व्याघ्रचर्मणि॥१०३॥

The flowers of thorn-apple, the leaves of wood apple tree and its fruits and the paste of the wood-apple besides the flowers having no fragrance, the skin of tiger is always like by the yogis. Therefore, he always remains attracted towards them.

दिव्यलोके दिव्यतल्पे जनतायां न तन्मन:।
रहसि ध्यायते मामहर्निशम्॥१०४॥

He does not feel happy in the divine places, divine beds and the places filled with crowds. Therefore he prefer to reside in lonely places including the cremation grounds and is always engaged in reciting my name.

श्मशानेद्रतीव

आब्रह्मस्तम्बपर्यन्तं समं च मन्यते शिव:।
ममानिर्वचनीयेऽत्र रूपे तन्मग्नमानसम्॥१०५॥

He considered everyone right for Brahmā to the blade of grass as equal. He only devotes his mind towards me.

ब्रह्मण: पतनेनापि शूलपाणे: क्षणो भवेत्।
तस्याऽऽयुष: प्रमाणं च नाहं जानामि का श्रुति:॥१०६

After the fall of Brahmā only a moment of Śiva passes. I am not aware of his age in the measure then how can the śrutis know about it.

ज्ञानं मृत्युंजय: शूलं धत्ते मत्तेजसा समम्।
विना मया न कश्चित्तं शंकरं जेतुमीश्वर:॥१०७॥
शंकर: परमात्मा मे प्राणेभ्योऽपि पर: शिव:।
त्र्यम्बके मन्मन: शश्वन्न प्रियो मे भवात्पर:॥१०८॥
ब्रह्माण्डनिकरं छन्नं मया मन्मायया सदा।
सा कम्पति हरं शश्वन्न च तं मोहितुं क्षमा॥१०९॥

Śiva who has ever-powered death carry the trident that emerged from my lustre and also the intelligence. No one else except me would be in a position to conquer Śiva. Śiva is the lord supreme and is dearer to me than my own life. I always devote my mind to Śiva in the form of Tryambaka. No one else is dearer to me than Śiva, my illusion pervades the entire universe, but she get panicky at the sight of Śiva. She is unable to over-power him.

न संवसामि गोलोके वैकुण्ठे तव वक्षसि।
सदा शिवस्य हृदये निबद्ध: प्रेमपाशत:॥११०॥

I never reside in Goloka, Vaikuṇṭha or your heart. On the other hand I am over-powered by the fetters of love of Śiva and I always reside in his heart.

स्वरसिद्धं सुतानेन पञ्चवक्त्रेण शंकरः।
शश्वद्गायति मद्गाथां तेनाहं तत्समीपतः॥१११॥
स्रष्टुं शक्तो हि नष्टुं च भ्रूभङ्गलीलयाऽपि यः।
ब्रह्माण्डनिकरं योगान्न योगी शंकरात्परः॥११२॥
दिव्यज्ञानेन यः स्रष्टुं नष्टुं भ्रूभङ्गलीलया।
मृत्युं कालादिकं शक्तो न ज्ञानी शं०॥११३॥
मम भक्तिं च दास्यं च मुक्तिं च सर्वसंपदः।
सर्वसिद्धिं दातुमीशो न दाता शं०॥११४॥

Śiva always sings my praise in divine tunes from his five mouths therefore I always remain close to him. The one is in a position to reduce the entire universe to ashes with mere frowning and as such no ascetic could ever be compared with Śiva. The one who is in a position to playfully destroy and recreate the universe with the application of his divine knowledge. There is no one else more knowledgeable than Śiva. Śiva is competent enough to bestow my devotion, my slavehood, salvation, all the fortunes and the siddhis and as such there is no one greater than him in the performing of the charities.

पञ्चवक्त्रेण मन्नाम यो हि गायत्यहर्निशम्।
मद्रूपं ध्यायते शश्वन्न भक्तः शं०॥११५॥

He engages himself always reciting my glory with all his five faces; therefore there is no other devotee in the world better than him.

अहं सुदर्शनं शंभुस्तेजसा च वयं समाः।
ब्रह्मा स्रष्टा च योगेन नास्माभिस्तेजसा समः॥११६॥

Myself, Sudarśana-cakra and Śiva are equal in glory. Even Brahmā the creator of the universe cannot equate us in yogic practices as well as the glory.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं शंकरस्य यशोऽमलम्।
तथाऽप्यस्य दर्पभङ्गं किं भूयः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥११७॥

Thus I have narrated to you the spotless glory of Śiva and the story about the shattering of his pride. What else do you want to listen from me.

Curse to the "left over" of Śiva

राधिकोवाच

एवंभूतस्य विभो: सर्वेशस्य महात्मन:।
न शस्तं कथमुच्छिष्टं ब्रूहि संदेहभञ्जन॥ १॥

Rādhikā said- O remover of the doubts, why is the 'left over' of Śiva not considered to be praiseworthy; you kindly tell me.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

शृणु देवि प्रवक्ष्येऽहमितिहासं पुरातनम।
पापेन्धनानां दहने ज्वलदग्निशिखोपमम्॥२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O goddess, you listen to me I narrate to you an ancient story which serves as a fire wood for burning the sins of the past births.

सनत्कुमारो वैकुण्ठमेकदा च जगाम ह।
ददर्श मुक्तवन्तं च नाथं नारायणं द्विज:॥३॥

Once Sanatkumāra arrived in Vaikuṇṭha. Nārāyaṇa found the arrival of the Brāhmaṇa after he had finished his food.

तुष्टाव गूढ: स्तोत्रैश्च प्रणम्य भक्तितो मुदा।
अवशेषं ददौ तस्मै संतुष्टो भक्तवत्सल:॥४॥

He bowed in reverence to him with devotion and offered prayers with deep devotion. The lord who loves his devotees was pleased and he offered the 'left over' to him.

ग्रासमात्रेण तत्रैव भुक्तं तेनैव किंचन।
किंचिद्रक्ष बन्धूनां भक्षणाय च दुर्लभम्॥५॥

The Brāhmaṇa after receiving the 'left over' at once consumed a part of it and the remaining part was kept by him to be distributed to his relatives.

सिद्धाश्रमे च यद्दत्तं गुरवे शूलपाणिने।
भक्त्युद्रेकाच्च तत्सर्वं भुक्तं च प्राप्तिमात्रत:॥६॥

Thereafter, arriving in Siddh*āśrama* he gave away the left over to lord Śiva who having been filled with devotion consumed the whole of it.

भुक्त्वा सुदुर्लभं वस्तु ननर्त प्रेमविह्वलः।
पुलकाङ्कितसर्वाङ्गः साश्रुनेत्रो मुदाऽन्वितः॥७॥

After consuming the 'left-over' which was beyond the reach of everyone, he was overwhelmed with joy and started dancing. He felt totally blissful in his body and his eyes were filled with tears; he felt extremely delighted.

गायन्मम गुणान्भक्त्या सुकण्ठः पञ्चवक्त्रतः।
रागभेदैकतानेन तालमानेन सुन्दरम्॥८॥

He started uttering the name of Hari from all his five mouths in different tunes and in sweet voice praising him in various ways.

पपात डमरुर्हस्ताच्छृङ्गं च व्याघ्रचर्म च।
स्वयं निपत्य पश्चाच्च रुदन्मूर्छामवाप ह॥९॥

Since he was totally engrossed in the dhyānam of Hari, the ḍamarū, the conch and tigers skin fell down. He also fell down fainted and started crying.

अतीव कमनीयं तद्रूपं ध्यात्वैकमानसः।
सहस्रदलमध्यस्थं मां पश्यन्हृत्सरोरुहे॥१०॥

He was in deep meditation with the thousand pettaled lotus of his heart completely devoted to the lord Hari.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे देवी दुर्गा दुर्गतिनाशिनी।
मुदाऽऽजगाम शीघ्रं तत्प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा॥११॥

In the meantime Durgā, the destroyer of the evil times, with smiling face and eyes arrived immediately there.

रुदन्तं मूर्च्छितं दृष्ट्वा निपतन्तं च भक्तितः।
प्रहस्य वार्तां पप्रच्छ कुमारं शूलपाणिनः॥१२॥

Finding Śiva crying and in unconscious condition falling here and there, Durgā laughed and questioned Sanatkumāra about the condition of Śiva.

सर्वं तां कथयामास कुमारः संपुटाञ्जलिः।
श्रुत्वा चुकोप सा देवी शिवं प्रस्फुरिताधरा॥१३॥
तां शप्तुमुद्यतां देवीमुत्थाय च त्रिलोचनः।
बोधयामास विविधं तुष्टाव संपुटाञ्जलिः॥१४॥

Sanatkumāra with folded hands narrated the entire episode to Durgā, hearing which she was enraged and her lips started fluttering. When Śiva found that Durgā was about to pronounce a curse, he got up and convinced her variously praising with folded hands.

श्रुत्वा मनोहरं स्तोत्रं न शशाप शिवं शिवा।
दुष्टं चक्रे तदुच्छिष्टमभक्ष्यं विदुषामपि॥१५॥

Listening to the pleasant stotra, Pārvatī did not pronounce a curse on Śiva but she desire that left-over should not be consumed even by the intellectuals.

न लोकानां प्रभावश्च तपः सौभाग्यतेजसाम्।
ब्रह्माण्डे सर्वसंहर्ता चकम्पे पार्वतीभये॥१६॥

But the illustrious and fortunate people would not have the effect of the same. Śiva who happens to be the destroyer of the universe felt upset with the curse of Pārvatī and started trembling.

उवाच तं जगन्माता नीतिसारं परं वचः।
गणप्रसूः सकोपा च रक्तपङ्कजलोचना॥१७॥

Thereafter Pārvatī the mother of the universe and one who is the creator of all the virtues whose eyes had become red like red lotus spoke in anger the words which were the essence of the tradition.

अहो तपःप्रभावश्च तेजसश्च न जीविनाम्।
स ब्रह्माण्डस्य संहर्ता चकम्पे शैलकन्यका॥१८॥

This is the influence of the tapas and not of the tejas of the people. The one who destroy the old universe, he is being terrified by Pārvatī, the daughter of mountain.

पार्वत्युवाच

त्वं पोष्टा जगतां पाता ममैव च विशेषतः।
वक्ता चतुर्णां वेदानां जनकश्च स्वयं विभुः॥१९॥

Pārvatī said- You happen to be the preserver of the universe beside being the protector. You are especially so with me. Besides you happen to be the reciter of the four Vedas besides being their creator and you are yourself all virtuous.

मुक्तिप्रदाता भक्तानां दाता च सर्वसंपदाम्।
त्वं चेत्करोषि दुर्नीतिं को वा धर्मं च पाति वै॥२०॥

You bestow salvation to your devotees besides all the riches. In case you indulge in improper way then who could save the dharma?.

सदा ते परिपाल्याऽहं पोष्या भक्त्या च किंकरी।
वञ्चिता कर्मदोषेण हरनिर्माल्यभक्षणे।।२१।।

I always maintain and feed by you. I am also your slave. Because of my own misdeeds I have been deprived of consuming the 'left over' of Viṣ ṇu.

किंचिच्छुद्धं हिरण्येन किंचिंद्वस्तु च वायुना।
किचित्प्रक्षालनैनैव सर्वं विष्णोर्निवेदनात्।।२२।।
विष्णोनिवेदितान्नेन यष्टव्या सर्वदेवता।
पितरोऽतिथयस्वैवमिति वेदेषु निश्चितम्।।२३।।

Certain things get purified with gold, some of them by air and some of them by washing and some of them got purified by offering them to Viṣṇu. The food offer to Viṣṇu is revered by all the gods, the manes and the guests who feel satisfied with the same. This has been prescribed in the Vedas.

अनिवेद्यमभक्ष्यं च नैवेद्यमुदरे हरो।
त्यक्त्वा करोति यो भक्त्या पार्षदप्रवरो भवेत्।।२४।।

The one who discarding the food which is unfit for conception and consumed the naivedya of Viṣṇu he is considered to be the best of the attendants of Viṣṇu.

अमृतं सर्ववस्तूनामिष्टं सारं सुदुर्लभम्।
विष्णोर्निवेदितान्नस्य कलां नार्हति षोडशीम्।।२५।।

The nectar does not compare even one-sixteenth part of the food offered to lord Viṣṇu Such food is the best of all and difficult to get besides being the essence of all the eatables.

हन्त्यकालिकमृत्युं तदमृतं मूढरञ्जनम्।
नैवेद्यं च हरेरेव हरितुल्यं करोत्यहो।।२६।।

The nectar helps in driving the untimely death and pleases the fools but the naivedya of Viṣṇu turns one who consumes it like Viṣṇu himself. This is quite astonishing.

यदृच्छया तन्नैवेद्यं यो भुङ्क्ते साधुसङ्गतः।
षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणां प्राप्नोति तपसः फलम्।।२७।।

The one who consumes the naivedya of Viṣṇu because of his own sweet will, he achieves the reward of performing tapas for sixty thousand years.

यो निवेद्य हरिं भुङ्क्ते भक्त्या भक्तश्च नित्यशः।
किंवा तपस्यां कर्ता च स हरेस्तेजसा समः।।२८।।

Such of the devotee who always with their mind filled with devotion, offer food to the lord and consume the 'left-over', such persons in spite of their performing tapas compare themselves with the lord in lustre.

श्रुतं पुरा त्वन्मुखतः पुष्करे मुनिसंसदि।
अहं वेदविधाता न किमहं वक्तुमीश्वरी।।२९।।

In the earlier times in Puṣkara-kṣetra I had heard all this from your mouth in the assembly of the sages. I do not happen to be the creator of the Vedas nor could I be competent enough to speak on the subject.

सुचिरं च तपस्तप्त्वा मया लब्धस्त्वमीश्वरः।
त्वया विष्णोः प्रसादेन वञ्चिताऽहं कथं प्रभो।।३०।।

O lord, I have achieved you as my husband after performing tapas for long time; then why was I deprived of consuming the naivedya of Viṣ ṇu.

यतो न दत्तं नैवेद्यं विष्णोर्मह्यं त्वयाऽधुना।
अतो मत्तो गृहाणैतत्फलमेव महेश्वरः।।३१।।
अद्यप्रभृति ये लोका नैवेद्यं भुञ्जते तव।
ते जन्मैकं सारमेया भविष्यन्त्येव भारते।।३२।।

O lord Śiva, you have presently deprived me from consuming the naivedya of Śiva, therefore you will have to receive the reward for the same from me just now. From today onwards, whosoever will consume your naivedya, will be born as a dog in the land of Bhārata.

इत्युक्त्वा पार्वतीमाता रुरोद पुरतो विभोः।
दृष्टिः पपात तत्कण्ठे नीलकण्ठो बभूव ह।।३३।।
तदा शिवः शिवां भक्त्या कृत्वा वक्षसि सादरम्।
तन्मानभङ्गं स्तोत्रेण विनयेन चकार ह।।३४।।

Thus speaking, the mother Pārvatī started crying before Śiva. She at once looked at the throat of Śiva as a result of which he came to be known as Nīlakaṇṭha or blue throated. Śiva then embraced gracefully Pārvatī and relieved her anguish by praising her.

करेण चक्षुषोर्नीरं मंसृज्य पुनः पुनः।
बोधयामास विविधैर्नीतिवाक्यैर्मनोहरैः॥३५॥

He wiped out the tears from her eyes again and again and by praising her gently he removed her anguish and spoke appropriate words to her.

परितुष्टा च सा देवी भर्तारं समुवाच ह।
कलेवरं च त्यक्ष्यामि नैवेद्येन विना हरेः॥३६॥
बिभर्ति(र्मि) देहं सततं तव सौभाग्यवर्धनम्।
कथं वहामि सौभाग्यरहितं च कलेवरम्॥३७॥

Getting pleased the goddess spoke to the lord, Unless I consume the naivedya of Viṣṇu I shall end my life. I maintain this body to maintain your fortune. Now how can I maintain the body without the grace.

अपूर्वं तव नैवेद्य जन्ममृत्युजराहरम्।
कृतं दुष्टं च यत्तस्मात्पश्य देहं त्यजामि च॥३८॥

Your naivedya which removes the, birth, death and old age was incomplete and since you have disowned it, it has become impure. Therefore in your very presence, I am ending my life.

लिङ्गोपरि च यद्दत्तं तदेवाग्राह्यमीश्वर।
सुपवित्रं भवेत्तस्य विष्णोर्नैवेद्यमिश्रितम्॥३९॥

O lord, only such of the naivedya which will be offered to Śivaliṅga will be unsuitable for consumption and in case your naivedya is mixed with the naivedya of Viṣṇu it will become extremely auspicious.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा सा देवी देहं त्यक्तुं समुद्यता।
त्रस्तो हरस्तत्पुरतः स्तुत्वा च स्वीचकार ह॥४०॥

Thus speaking the goddess got ready to end her life. Thereafter, the terrified Śiva accepted her words praising her at the same time.

शंकर उवाच
स्थिरा भव महादेवि चण्डिके जगदम्बिके।
ममापराधमखिलं क्षन्तुमर्हसि सुन्दरि॥४१॥
मां भृत्यं तपसा क्रीतं कृपां कुरु ममोपरि।
ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेशानां बीजभूते सनातनि॥४२॥

Śiva said- O great goddess, O Caṇḍikā, O mother of the universe, be composed, O beautiful one, you forgive me for my failing, you have purchased me by you tapas, therefore you be compassionate on me. You are eternal and happen to be the seed of Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Maheśa.

अहो गोलोकनाथस्य गुणातीतस्य निर्गुणे।
सर्वशक्तिस्वरूपे च सदैव सहचारिणि॥४३॥

You are all virtuous, the invisible prowess of the lord of the universe, the form of all the prowess and you are always my companion.

साकारे च निराकारे नित्ये स्वेच्छामये प्रिये।
कृपया तद्विभोरेव मम वक्षसि सांप्रतम्॥४४॥

O dear one, you are visible as well as invisible, eternal and move at will, you are present in my heart because of the grace of the virtuous lord Kṛṣṇa.

सर्वबीजस्वरूपे च महामये मनोहरे।
सर्वसिद्धिप्रदे देवि मुक्तिदे कृष्णभक्तिदे॥४५॥
इच्छैवं श्रीहरेः साक्षान्नाहं दातुमपि क्षमः।
तदा देहं परित्यज्य निर्गुणं व्रज निर्गुणे॥४६॥

You are the form of all the seeds, Mahāmāyā, quite a pleasant one, the one who bestows all the siddhis and salvation beside the devotion of lord Kṛṣṇa. This was the desire of lord Kṛṣṇa himself because of which I did not give you his naivedya. O invisible one, you realise this reason carefully and only than end your life and get merged in the invisible one.

इत्येवमुक्त्व पुरतस्तस्थौ च चन्द्रशेखरः।
बभूव सुप्रसन्ना सा प्रणनाम हरं परम्॥४७॥

Thus speaking lord Śiva having the crescent on his head stood before her. Thereafter the goddess got immensely pleased and offered her salutation to Śiva.

इत्येवं पार्वतीस्तोत्रं शंकरेण कृतं पुरा।
यः पठेद्विपदाग्रस्तः स भयादेव मुच्यते॥४८॥

Thus this stotra of Pārvatī was created by Śiva in ancient times. The one who is entangled in controversies recites this stotra he is relieved of all the dangers.

मित्रभेदो भवेद्दूरं तत्संप्रीतिर्भवेत्पुरा।
पार्वती परितुष्टा च न त्यजेत्तस्य मन्दिरम्॥४९॥

All his bickering with friends would disappear and the earlier friendship would be restored. The goddess Pārvatī would never desert him.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

श्रुत्वा प्रतिज्ञां नाथस्य परितुष्टा बभूव सा।
जगाम स्वर्णदीं तूर्णं स्नानार्थं शंकराज्ञया॥५०॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Listening to the words of her husband, Pārvatī felt satisfied and with the permission of lord Śiva, she went to the bank of the Gaṅgā for taking a bath.

स्नात्वा संपूज्य भक्त्या च सुरमिष्टं च निर्गुणम्।
चकार प्रस्तुतं शीघ्रं मिष्टान्नं व्यञ्जनानि च॥५१॥

After taking a bath, she with her mind filled with devotion adored lord Śiva who is eternal end thereafter at once prepared sweets and other eatables.

शिवः स्नात्वा च संपूज्य ब्रह्मज्योतिः सनातनम्।
तुष्टाव परया भक्त्या मामेव हृदयस्थितम्॥५२॥

On the other hand Śiva also after taking bath adored the eternal flame of Brahman and with his mind filled with devotion he started praising her.

गत्वा सर्वमहं भुक्त्वा तस्मै दत्त्वाऽभिवाञ्छितम्॥
नैवेद्यं पार्वती लेभे तव मूलं समागता॥५३॥

I than went to them and bestowed the desired reward for them. Pārvatī than took refuge under your feet and accepted your naivedya.

भुक्त्वाऽवशेषं सा देवी सह भर्त्रा मुदान्विता।
तुष्टाव शंकरं भक्त्या प्रणनाम मुहुर्मुहुः॥५४॥

Thereafter Pārvatī with Śiva consuming the 'left-over' with delight praised me again and again.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं त्वया पृष्टं सुरेश्वरि।
अभिशप्तं शंकरस्य निर्माल्यं येन हेतुना॥५५॥

O chief of the goddesses thus I have narrated to you everything whatever was asked by you and the reason for which the 'left-over' of Śiva was cursed.

Shattering of the Prides of Pārvatī

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

दर्पभङ्गः श्रुतो देवि शंकरस्य जगद्गुरोः।
अधुना श्रूयतां मत्तो दुर्गादर्पविमोचनम्॥१॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- You have listened to the episode of the shattering of the pride of Śiva. Now you listen from me to the episode of the shattering of the pride of Durgā.

तेजसा सर्वदेवानामाविर्भूय जगत्प्रसूः।
दधार कामिनीरूपं कमनीयं मनोहरम्॥२॥

The goddess who emerged out of the lustre of all the gods took to the form of Mohinī once.

निहत्य दानवेन्द्रांश्च ररक्ष देवताकुलम्।
लेभे जन्म ततो देवी जठरे दक्षयोषितः॥३॥

By killing the great demons she protected the gods. Thereafter she was born out of the womb of the wife of Dakṣa.

पिनाकपाणिं जग्राह सा देवी सुरसाधनम्।
शश्वत्परमभक्त्या च सिषेवे स्वामिनं सती॥४॥

She then accepted Śiva the holder of bow who always performed the tasks of gods as her husband. Satī continued to serve her husband with devotion.

दक्षेण सार्धं दैवेन बभूव शिवशत्रुता।
निरर्थकं दैवयोगात्पुरा वै सुरसंसदि॥५॥

At once by a turn of destiny, in the assembly of the gods, Dakṣa became uselessly inimical to Śiva.

दक्षश्चकार यज्ञं च तत आगत्य कोपतः।
सर्वान्विज्ञापयामास तत्रैव शंकरं विना॥६॥

After returning from the assembly Dakṣa organised a yajña in which all the gods except Śiva were invited.

सस्त्रीका देवताः सर्वा आजग्मुर्दक्षमन्दिरम्।
सगणः शंकरः कोपान्नाऽऽजगामाभिमानतः॥७॥

All the gods went to the abode of Dakṣa with their spouses but Śiva together with his attendants did not attend the yajña because of anger and pride.

सती पतिं च मोहेन बोधयामास यत्नतः।
न तं चालयितुं शक्ता बभूव चञ्चला स्वयम्॥८॥

Satī tried to convince Śiva of participating in the yajña due to the illusion, but she could not persuade him to go there. Thereafter she herself went there.

आजगाम पितुर्गेहं दर्पात्तस्य विनाऽऽज्ञया।
तस्य शापेन तस्याश्च दर्पभङ्गो बभूव ह॥९॥
न हि संभाषणं चक्रे वाङ्मात्रेण पिता च ताम्।
श्रुत्वा च निन्दां भर्तुश्च देहं तत्याज मानतः॥१०॥

She went to the place of Dakṣa of her own sweet will without the permission of Śiva and the pride of Satī was shattered because of the curse. On her arrival in the hose of her father. Dakṣa did not welcome her. He did not welcome her even with of a few words. Then hearing the denouncement of her husband, she ended her life there.

एवं प्रिये निगदितं सतीदर्पविमोचनम्।
तस्या जन्मान्तरं नित्यं दर्पभङ्गश्च श्रूयताम्॥११॥

O my beloved thus the pride of Satī, was shattered by me. How I tell you the story as to how her pride after having been born as Pārvatī was shattered. You listen to me.

लेभे जन्म सती शीघ्रं जठरे शैलयोषितः।
शिवस्तस्याश्चिताभस्म चास्थि जग्राह भक्तितः॥१२॥

After ending her life as Satī, she was born from the womb of Menā, the wife of Himavān. Śiva on the other hand infatuated with the love of Satī plastered the ashes of her pyre on his body.

चकार मालामस्थ्नां च भस्मना तनुलेपनम्।
स्मारं स्मारं सतीं प्रेम्णा भ्रामं भ्रामं पुनः पुनः॥१३॥

He made a garland of her bones and wore it round his neck, The ashes of her body served as a decoration of the body of Śiva. He. reciting the name of Satī started roaming about everywhere.

सुषाव मेना तां देवीमतीव सुमनोहराम्।
सृष्टौ विधातुस्तस्याश्च ह्युपमा नास्ति कुत्र च॥१४॥

On the other hand, Menā gave birth to a beautiful goddess, the comparison of whom could not be found in the creation of Brahma.

गुणप्रसूर्गुणान्सर्वान्सर्वरूपान्बिभर्ति सा।
सर्वाश्च देवपत्न्यस्तत्कलां नार्हन्ति षोडशीम्॥१५॥
बभूव वर्धमाना सा शुक्ले चन्द्रकला यथा।
अतीव यौवनस्था च शैलगेहे दिने दिने॥१६॥
बभूवाऽऽकाशवाणी च तां संबोध्य जगत्प्रसूम्।
शिवे शिवं च तपसा कठोरेण लभेति च॥१७॥
विनेश्वरं च तपसा प्राप्ता हि गर्भसंभवम्।
प्रहस्य तस्थौ श्रुत्वेति सा च यौवनगर्विता॥१८॥
मम जन्मान्तरीयं च भस्मास्थि च बिभर्ति यः।
स मां प्रौढां कथं दृष्ट्वा न गृह्णात्यत्र जन्मनि॥१९॥

She was the mother of all the virtues and possessed all the virtues in her. All the spouses of the gods could not be compared even to the one sixteenth part of her beauty. As the moon goes on increasing in the bright fortnight similarly the goddess started growing in the house of Himālaya day by day. When she achieved the youthful age, there was a divine voice from the sky with spoke addressing her, "O Śiva you achieve Śiva by performing great tapas because without performing tapas it would be difficult for you to achieve him and to conceived from him". On hearing the divine voice, Pārvatī was filled with pride of her youthfulness laughed and then kept quiet. She started thinking within herself that the one who has applied ashes of her body on his is body and is also adorning his body with the garland her my bones why should he not accept me on her becoming an adult.

यो विदग्धश्च ब्रह्माण्डं बभ्राम मम शोकतः।
स कथं मां न गृह्णाति दृष्ट्वा परमसुन्दरीम्॥२०॥

The one who in spite of being so intelligent went on roaming about the universe because of the grief stricken-heart why should he not own her, because she is so beautiful at present.

दक्षयज्ञं यो बभञ्ज मम हेतोः कृपानिधिः।
स कथं मां न गृह्णाति पत्नीं जन्मनि जन्मनि॥२१॥

The compassionate one who destroyed the yajña of Dakṣa for her sake, why should he not accept her as his wife who has always been adoring her in various births.

या यस्य पत्नी यो यस्या भर्ता प्राक्तनतः पुरा।
कुतो विश्वे तयोर्भेदो निषेको नान्यथा भवेत्॥२२॥

The one who was the husband and the one who was the wife in earlier births how can there be a difference on earth. No one could change the destiny.

सर्वरूपगुणाधारं मत्वा स्वमतिमानतः।
न चकार तपः साध्वी न विज्ञाय तमीश्वरम्॥२३॥

Having been with pride because of her beauty and virtues, Pārvatī did not performed tapes not did she consider Śiva as a lord.

सुन्दरीषु च सर्वासु मत्तो नास्त्येव सुन्दरी।
हृदीति मत्वा गर्वेण च चकार तपः शिवा॥२४॥

She thought, "There was no other lady comparable to me in beauty". Thus thinking she did not performed tapas.

रूपयौवनवेषाणां पुमान्ग्राही स्वयोषिताम्।
शिवो मच्छुतिमात्रेण मां गृह्णाति विना तपः॥२५॥
हृदीति मत्वा गिरिजा तस्थौ हिमगिरेर्गृहे।
शश्वत्सहचरीमध्ये क्रीडोन्मत्ता दिवानिशम्॥२६॥

She thought that every body likes to have a damsel who is youthful, beautiful and clad in beautiful garments. Therefore Śiva would surely accept her as his wife when she performs tapas. Thus thinking, Girajā remaining in the abode of her father Himavān, spent her time with her female friends and did not go for tapas.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तूर्णं दूतः शैलेन्द्रसंसदि।
उवाचऽऽगत्य मधुरं तत्पुरः संपुटाञ्जलिः॥२७॥

In the meantime messengers arrived in the assembly of the lord of mountains and spoke in sweet voice.

दूत उवाच

उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ शैलेन्द्र गच्छाक्षयवटान्तिकम्।
आजगाम महादेवः सगणो वृषवाहनः॥२८॥

The messengers said- O lord of the mountain, you get up and move towards the eternal banyan tree. Lord Śiva mounted on the bull is staying there under the tree with his attendants.

मधुपर्कादिकं दत्त्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः।
पूजनं कुरु शैलेन्द्र देवेन्द्रं तमतीन्द्रियम्॥२९॥
सिद्धिस्वरूपं सिद्धेशं योगीन्द्राणां गुरोर्गुरुम्।
मृत्युञ्जयं कालकालं ब्रह्मज्योतिः सनातनम्॥३०॥
परमात्मस्वरूपं च सगुणं निर्गुणं विभुम्।
भक्तध्यानार्थममलं दधानं देहमीश्वरम्॥३१॥

You go there and adore lord Śiva with devotion. He is the one who has controlled the organs of senses and you offer madhuparka to him. He is the form of siddhis, the lord of siddhis the teacher of yogīs, the one who has overcome the death, is the death for the time, has divine lustre, is eternal, the form of great soul, possesses all the virtues and is without virtues also, is all-pervading and has taken to a spotless form of Maheśvara for the sake of his meditating devotees.

शैलो दूतवचः श्रुत्वा समुत्तस्थौ मुदाऽन्वितम्।
मधुपर्कादिकं नीत्वा जगाम शंकरान्तिकम्॥३२॥

On listening to the words of the messengers, the lord of the mountain was delighted and he reached Śiva carrying madhuparka with him.

देवी दूतवचः श्रुत्वा प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणा।
हृदीति मेने मद्धेतोराजगाम महेश्वरः॥३३॥

On hearing the words of the messenger, the eyes of goddess Pārvatī felt delighted. She thought in her mind that the lord had arrived there for her sake only.

चकार वेषमतुलं दधार वस्त्रमुत्तमम्।
रत्नेन्द्रसारालंकारान्रत्नमालां मनोहराम्॥३४॥

She clad herself in beautiful garments and then adorned herself with the best of gem-studded ornaments and the garland of diamonds.

पारिजातप्रसूनानां मालां चन्दनसंयुताम्।
चकार शंकरार्थं च मत्वा मालां मनोहराम्॥३५॥

She then prepared a garland of Pārijāta flowers and soaked it with sandal-paste for the sake of Śiva. Finding herself to be extremely charming she sat on the lion throne and looked at her face in the mirror which was adorned with a spot of kastūrī and vermilion. Her eyes appeared like the lotus flowers of the winter season surrounded by the black-wasps creating a hissing sound.

सुकोमलौष्ठयुगलं ताम्बूलरागसंयुतम्।
अतीव सुन्दरं रम्यपक्वबिम्बफलं यथा।।३८।।

Both her lips were quite soft and had the redness resulting in the chewing of the betel. They were quite beautiful and looked like the ripe wood-apples.

रत्नकुण्डलदीप्त्या च गण्डस्थलविराजितम्।

As the peacock on Sumeru mountain starts dancing at dawn, similarly the gem-studded kuṇḍalas were adorning her ears.

अत्यनिर्वचनीयं च दन्तपङ्क्तिमनोहरम्।
यथा मुक्तासमूहं च सजलं जलदागमे।।४०।।

The beauty of the line of her teeth was beyond description and looked like the jewels during the rainy season.

गजमुक्तासमायुक्तं सुचारुनासिकोत्तमम्।
सुशोभितं यथा मेरुं स्वर्णदीजलधारया।।४१।।

Her nose appeared beautiful like the falling of Gaṅgā from the Meru mountain and a beautiful gem adorned it.

As the new cloud looks beautiful with the line of sky-larks, similarly the garland of jasmine flowers adorned her hair-do.

बदरीफलतुल्यं च चारुपत्रकशोभिताम्।।४४।।

Her nipples which were beautifully painted looked like the jujubi fruits.

अतीव सुन्दरं रम्यमुदरं वर्तुलाकृति।।४५।।

she was thin-waisted and looked quite charming. Her navel was deep and shining, the belly was roundish and looked quite beautiful.

दधतं रत्नमञ्जीरं राजहंसानुकारि च।
रत्नेन्द्रसाराभरणं निर्मितं विश्वकर्मणा।।४८।।

Her anklets created the sound like the sweet notes issued by the geese. Viśvakarmā had made her ornaments with the best of gems.

रत्नकङ्कणकेयूरशङ्खभूषणभूषितम्।।४९।।

They were issuing the lustre of gold and her hands looked quite beautiful. She was adorned with beautiful armlets and wristlets besides the ornaments of conch.

She held in her hand an attractive mirror of gems and had the finger rings studded with rubies-which was issuing the lustre like the red lotus flower.

दृष्ट्वा स्वरूपमतुलं दध्यौ शंकरमीश्वरम्।
विशिष्य मनसा शश्वद्दर्तुश्चरणपङ्कजम्।।५१।।

Witnessing such a beauty for herself, she devoted her mind to Śiva. She especially meditated upon him to achieve him as her husband.

पितरं मातरं बन्धुं साध्वीवर्गं सहोदरम्।
अन्तरे सा न सस्मार किंचिदेव शिवं विना॥५२॥

At that point of time she did not think of her father, mother, brother, female friends and other relatives.

अथ शैलेश्वरस्तत्र ददर्श चन्द्रशेखरम्।
स्वर्णदीपुलिनाद्रम्यादुत्पतन्तं च सस्मितम्॥५३॥

Himālaya on the other hand reaching before Śiva looked at him. He was smiling when he reached the bank of the charming Gaṅgā.

Holding a rosary he was reciting my name and his head was adorned with matted locks of hair having the complexion of molten gold. He was mounted on a bull, holding a trident in his hand. The Nāgas served as his yajñopavīta and the lustre of the limbs of bodies resembled the crystal. He was clad in tiger skin and wearing the garland of bones; with ashes all on his body, he looked graceful. He had no garments on his person, was five-faced having three eyes in each one of them, all his limbs emitted the lustre of crores of suns. Himavān found the eleven Rudras surrounding him who were illumining with divine lustre.

Mahākāla was lodged to the left of Śiva while Nandikeśvara was standing to his right, the Pretas, goblins, Piśācas, Kūṣmāṇḍa, Brahmarākṣ asas, Vetālas, Kṣetra-pālas the valorous Bhairavas, Sanaka, Sananda, Sanatkumāra, Sanātana, Jaigīṣavya, Devala, Kāṇāda, Gautama, Pippalāda, Kaṇakhana, Voḍhu, Pañcaśikha, Kaṭ ha, Jājāli, Karakha, Karṇa, Lomaśa, Sūryavarcā, Kātyāyana, Pāṇini, Durvāsā, Śātātapa, Pāribhadra, Aṣṭāvakra and Marudbhava were standing before him. Himālaya offered his salutation to then.

मूर्ध्ना निपत्य भूमौ स दण्डवत्संपुटाञ्जलिः।
अथो अनल्पया भक्त्या धृत्वा तच्चरणाम्बुजमाम।

धर्मदत्तेन स्तोत्रेण तुष्टाव परमेश्वरम्।
तुष्टे ब्राह्मे दिनेऽतीते पुष्करे सूर्यपर्वणि॥६४॥

Then prostrating on the ground he stood before him with folded hands. Thereafter, touching his feet he started washing them with her tears. At that point of time he felt overwhelmed with emotions and the tears started flowing from his eyes. He thereafter started offering prayer to Śiva with the stotra given to him by Dharma. The stotra was handed down by Brahmā to Dharma at the time of the solar eclipse,.

हिमालय उवाच

त्वं ब्रह्मा सृष्टिकर्ता च त्वं विष्णुः परिपालकः।
त्वं शिवः शिवदोऽनन्तः सर्वसंहारकारकः॥६५॥
त्वमीश्वरो गुणातीतो ज्योतीरूपः सनातनः।
प्रकृतः प्रकृतीशश्च प्राकृतः प्रकृतेः परः॥६६॥

Himālaya said- You are the creator, known as Brahmā, the preserver like Viṣṇu and bestower of welfare as Śiva and also the destroyer of the universe; you are the lord beyond qualities, the form of eternal flame, eternal, nature, lord of Prakṛti, beyond Prakṛti and the nature.

नानारूपविधाता त्वं भक्तानां ध्यानहेतवे।
येषु रूपेषु यत्प्रीतिस्तत्तद्रूपं बिभर्षि च॥६७॥

You take to many forms and the devotees meditate upon you. Whosoever adores you in whichever form, you take to that form.

सूर्यस्त्वं सृष्टिजनक आधारः सर्वतेजसाम्।
सोमस्त्वं सस्यपाता च सततं शीतरश्मिना॥६८॥

You are like the sun who creates the universe; you are the base of all the lustres and also serve the crops in the form of cool rays of the moon.

वायुस्त्वं वरुणस्त्वं च त्वमग्निः सर्वदाहकः।
इन्द्रस्त्वं देवराजश्च कालो मृत्युर्यमस्तथा॥६९॥
मृत्युंजयो मृत्युमृत्युः कालकालो यमान्तकः।

विदुषां जनकस्त्वं च विद्वांश्च विदुषां गुरुः।
मन्त्रस्त्वं हि जपस्त्वं हि तपस्त्वं तत्फलप्रदः॥७१॥
वाक्त्वं वागधिदेवी त्वं तत्कर्ता तद्गुरुः स्वयम्।
अहो सरस्वतीबीजं कस्त्वां स्तोतुमिहेश्वरः॥७२॥

You represent the wind, Varuṇa, fire, the destroyer of all, Indra the lord of gods, Kāla, the death, Yama, the one who has over-powered the death, for the god of death, kāla for the time, death for Yama you are the Vedas, the creator of the Vedas, well-versed in the Vedic and post-Vedic literature, the creator of intellectual; you are a great intellectual yourself, the teacher of intellectuals, mantra, recitation, tapas and you bestow the reward for the same. You are the speech the goddess of speech besides being her creator and the teacher, the seed of Sarasvatī is quite astonishing, therefore who can offer prayer to you?.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा शैलेन्द्रस्तस्थौ धृत्वा पदाम्बुजम्।
तत्रोवास तमाबोध्य चावरुह्य वृषाच्छिवः॥७३॥

Thus speaking Himālaya fell at his feet and then stood there. Śiva then descended from the bull. Addressing Himavān he sat there.

स्तोत्रमेतन्महापुण्यं त्रिसंध्यं यः पठेन्नरः।
मुच्यते सर्वपापेभ्यो भयेभ्यश्च भवार्णवे॥७४॥

The one who recites this stotra thrice a day, is relieved of all the cures and makes one to cross over the ocean of universe fearlessly.

अपुत्रो लभते पुत्रं मासमेकं पठेद्यदि।
भार्याहीनो लभेद्भार्यां सुशीलां सुमनोहराम्॥७५॥

रणमध्ये महाभीते हिंस्रजन्तुसमन्विते।
सर्वतो मुच्यते स्तुत्वा शंकरस्य प्रसादतः॥७८॥

One who recites the same for a month gets a son if he has no son, the one having no wife get a chaste wife besides the riches suddenly which he had lost long back. By the grace of Śiva, the dethroned king gets back his kingdom, when a person is in dangers like the prison, cremation ground, danger from enemies, in the flames of fire, breaking of the boat and getting surrounded by the wild animals one is relieved of all these dangers.

In place of five faces only one face could be seen which had only two eyes. The face had the lustre of the full moon of the winter season and was glittering. His lips could put to shame the lustre of the mid-day and his lips added to the beauty of his face. The bull Nandī was burnt into the white moon and the goblins were turned into dancers. O goddess, everything of Śiva was changed at that moment. Finding Śiva in that form, Menā felt pleased. Some of the damsels got infatuated with passion while looking at Śiva and started staring at him. While some of them fainted with the excessive passions.

काश्चिद्विनिन्द्य कान्तांश्च प्रशशंसुर्महेश्वरम्।

Some of them started praising Śiva denouncing their husbands and some of them mentally embraced him.

काचिन्मानसिकं कामात्कुर्वन्ती चुम्बनं मुदा।
ध्रुवं कामं करिष्यामो वयं च कामसागरे॥१७॥

Some of the damsels mentally kissed him saying that they would enjoy passionate pleasure with him.

They desired that they should get the same type of husband even after death because in that state of mind there, their condition was of no use to them. They thought that their devoted husbands were of no use to them. Staring at Śiva for such a long time, many of the damsels started expressing their views about Śiva variously.

काश्चिद्दृष्ट्वा शिवं किंचिन्मुख माच्छाद्य वाससा।
सस्मिता वक्रनयना: पश्यन्त्येवं पुन: पुन:॥२०॥

Some of them covered their faces in shyness with a piece of cloth smiling at the same time. They were looking at him with side-glances.

वयं गृहं न यास्यामो यास्याम: शिवसंनिधिम्।
शरत्सुधांशुवदनं द्रक्ष्यामोऽहर्निशं मुदा॥२१॥

Some of them were saying, "we shall not return to our abodes now and shall go to Śiva and stare at his moon like face which resembles the full moon of the winter season throughout day and night.

संसारं न करिष्याम: प्रविशामो हुताशनम्।
भविता न: शिव: स्वामीत्येवं जलपन्ति काश्चन॥२२।

Now we shall not get ourselves involved in the worldly affairs or we shall enter into burning flames, only Śiva could be our husband. Many of the damsels were talking like this.

अहो पुण्यवती दुर्गा श्लाघ्यते जन्म भारते।
यस्या अयं शिव: स्वामीत्येवं जल्पन्ति काश्चन॥२३॥

They said, "Durgā is quite virtuous and her birth in the land of Bhārata is quite auspicious because she is going to be wedded to Śiva. Some of the damsels were talking among themselves like this. Menā on the other hand having an audience with Śiva delightfully went back to her abode. Himālaya also adored Śiva and bowing in reverence to him went back to his abode. Thereafter Himālaya in consultation with Menā in a secluded place deputed Pārvatī to Śiva.

Pārvatī accompanied by her female friends decorating herself delightfully went to Śiva.

Finding the peaceful Śiva with a smiling face, she went round him seven times and smilingly offered her salutation to him. Śiva at that point of time blessing her said, "O beautiful one, you achieve an extremely loveable, virtuous, eternal, the best of intellectuals and the beautiful person as your husband. O auspicious one, you would always remain virtuous and filled with fortunes concerning the husband. O chaste damsel, your son would be as virtuous as Nārāyaṇa himself, O mother of the universe, you will be adored always in the world, you will be best of all the ladies in the three worlds. O beautiful one, you have offered salutation to me after going round seven times, therefore I feel satisfied with you for seven births. You will reap the reward for the same, the one who adores the holy places, the husband, the family god, the teacher, the mantra and the medicine with whatever idea in mind, he achieves success in the same way. Thus speaking Śiva the lord of the yogis went into meditation seated on the skin of the tiger.

Thereafter the goddess washed the feet of Śiva with water and sipped it with devotion and rinsed the feet with the costumes sanctified by fire. She then offered to him the lion-throne studded with gems and made by Viśvakarmā. Then she offered him naivedya in the bronze vase. Than she offered arghya with the water of Gaṅgā. She also offered the sandal-paste, kastūrī and saffron which were filled with fragrance. Thereafter she adorned his neck which looked beautiful with, spot of the poison, with the garland of jasmine flowers.

She adored him with devotion and showered flowers on him. Thereafter she offered nectar and sweet honey in vases of gold. She lighted hundreds of lamps around him. Burning fragrant incense around him, she offered him the costumes which were difficult to get in the three worlds beside a yajñopavīta of gold and fragrant cool water for drinking. She offered him the ornaments made of the best of gem, Kāmadhenu cow with her horn adorned with plates of gold, articles for use in taking a bath, water from the sacred places and charming betels.

दत्त्वा षोडशोपचारं प्रणनाम पुनः पुनः।

Thus she performed sixteen types of pūjā of Śiva and bowed in reverence to him again and again. This became her daily routine. She used to offer pūjā to Śiva daily with devotion and then returned to the abode of her parents.

Indra the god of gods heard about the news from the mouth of the apsarās and he also got attracted towards Pārvatī. He started dancing in ecstasy. Indra at once summoned the god of love by sending a messenger to him. Kāmadeva, on his part, arrived in Amarāvatī, the kingdom of Indra.

He deputed the god of love at once to the place of Śiva and Pārvatī. Kāmadeva arrived with his five arrows at the place where both Śiva and Pārvatī were present. The god of love on arriving there found both Śiva and Pārvatī together. Śiva was quite peaceful being the lord of the three worlds having delightful face and the eyes, the god of love remaining in the sky took the bow in his hand and shot an infallible arrow delightfully at Śiva but the infallible weapon became infructuous when it came into contact with Śiva like the sky which remains infallible. Similarly the attack of Kāma on Śiva was infructuous. At this the god of love was terribly afraid.

Finding Śiva who had overpowered death, Kāma the god of love, started trembling and getting terrified started reciting the name of Indra and other gods. All the gods were terrified at the anger of Śiva and felt panicky and arrived there and started praising Śiva reciting the stotras.

Nandī got you have so adoring. The fire flame emerged from Śiva's third eye on the forehead, the fire-flames that emerge from the forehead of Śiva went on higher. Those fire-flames looked like the fire of dissolution and started roaming about in the sky and then descended on the earth and searching in all the directions spotted Kāmadeva and fell on him with the rage of Śiva. The god of love was reduced to ashes in a moment.

At the sight of this the minds of the gods were filled with grief, who cast their heads downwards. Thereafter, Rati the spouse of the god of love appeared before Śiva and started lamenting.

Thereafter the terrified gods also offered prayer to Śiva. Crying again and again the gods spoke to Rati, "O mother you take out some dust of the body of the god of love and keep it safe, shed away the fear we shall somehow bring back the god of love to life and you will again get back your beloved. When the anger of Śiva is subsided and he gets pleased, only then this could be possible. At that point of time, finding Rati so lamenting Pārvatī fainted.

Thereafter she started the virtuous Śiva who had controlled all his senses. Leaving Pārvatī so crying Śiva went to his abode.

At that point of time the pride of Pārvatī was shattered. Thereafter the daughter of the mountain disowned the pride for her youthfulness and beauty.

At that point of time she became shy in showing her face to her female friends. Thereafter, all the gods reassuring Rati and prostrating before Śiva getting upset with their mind filled with grief they left for their respective abodes. O Rādhā, thereafter, Rati the wife of Kāmadeva with her mind filled with grief and terror went on crying and with her eyes getting red like blood she offered prayer to Śiva and then left for her abode. But Pārvatī feeling ashamed never went back to the abode of her father but disregarding the advice of her parents and the female friends, she went to the forest.

Thereafter her female friends with their minds filled with grief, went to their respective abodes. Disregarding the words of her mother, she want to the bank of Gaṅgā and started performing tapas there, in order to achieve the three-eyed Śiva as her husband.

After the tapas Pārvatī achieved Śiva and Rati also with the boon of Śiva got back Kāmadeva. O Rādhā, thus I have spoken to you about the episode of the shattering of the pride of Pārvatī. "Which is quite secretive. What more do you want to listen from me.

Tapas of Pārvatī

राधिकोवाच

अहो विचित्रं चरितमपूर्वं किं श्रुतं विभो।
सुन्दरं श्रुतिपीयूषं निगूढं ज्ञानकारणम्।।१।।
न विशेषं समासं च श्रुतं न व्यासमीप्सितम्।
अधुना श्रोतुमिच्छामि विस्तीर्णं कथय प्रभो।।२।।

Rādhikā said- O virtuous one, I have been able to listen to the unprecedented and astonishing story which serves like nectar for the ears and is quite deep and bestows knowledge. O lord, whatever have I heard has neither been told in brief nor in detail. But now I intend to listen to it in detail you tell me.

किं किं तपः कठोरं च चकार पार्वती स्वयम्।
कं कं वरं वा संप्राप्य कथमाप महेश्वरम्।।३।।
रतिः केन प्रकारेण जीवयामास मन्मथम्।
पार्वतीशिवयोः कृष्ण विवाहं वर्णय प्रभो।।४।।

What type of hard tapas was performed by Pārvatī and what type of boons did she achieve together with lord Maheśvara? How did Rati get the god of love back to life? O lord Kṛṣṇa, you kindly define the marriage of Śiva and Pārvatī.

तयो रहसि संभोगं पापिनां पापमोचनम्।
कथ्यतां करुणासिन्धो दुःखिनां दुःखमोचनम्।।५।।

O ocean of compassion, you describe to me about their union in seclusion, which removes from the sinners of all the sins and the grief of all the grief-stricken people.

दम्पतिविरहोक्तिश्च कर्णज्वाला च योषितः।
श्रोतुं कौतूहलं कृष्ण पुनः संमेलनं तयोः।।६।।
अग्निज्वाला विषज्वाला क्षमा सोढुं च योषितः।
दम्पतीविरहज्वाला न श्रोतुं च क्षणं क्षमा।।७।।

O Kṛṣṇa, the words of a woman separated from the husband serve as a fire flame for the women. Therefore I am quite anxious to know about the reunion of Śiva and Pārvatī. The women can wear the flames of fire and the flames of the poison but they are unable to bear even for a moment the flames of separation.

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा विस्मितश्चकिताननः।
विस्तीर्णं वक्तुमारेभे हृदयेन विदूयता।।८।।

On hearing the words of Rādhikā, Kṛṣṇa was surprised and his face gave an appearance of astonishment. Thereafter he started speaking with his mind overpowered with passion.

दम्पतीविरहोक्तिं च या राधा श्रोतुमक्षमा।
विच्छेदे शतवर्षीये किमस्या भविता मम।।९।।
इत्येवं मानसे कृत्वा मायेशो माययाऽन्वितः।
कृपासिन्धुश्च कृपया कथां कथितुमुद्यतः।।१०।।

Rādhā who was unable to listen to the separation of the story of the couple, what shall be her position at the time of her separation from the lord for a hundred years? Thus thinking in her mind, the lord of illusion who is all filled with Māyā and is the ocean of mercy, started narrating the story.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

प्राणाधिके राधिके त्वं श्रूयतां प्राणवल्लभे।
प्राणाधिदेवि प्राणेशि प्राणाधारे मनोहरे।।११।।

वटमूलाद्गते रुद्रे पार्वती तपसे ययौ।
पुनः पुनः स्वमात्रा च पित्रा च विनिवारिता॥१२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O beloved of my life, O Rādhikā, you are dearer to me than my life, now you listen to me. O beloved, you are the goddess of my life, the support of my life, O pleasant one, when lord Rudra left the place where he was lodged under the banyan tree then Pārvatī also started performing several tapas in spite of the objection by her parents.

गत्वा सा स्वर्णदीतीरं स्नात्वा त्रिषवणं मुदा।
संदेशे च मया दत्तं जजाप तं मनुं मुदा॥१३॥

Reaching the bank of Gaṅgā she took a bath thrice a day and started reciting the mantra given by me.

वर्षमेकं च संपूर्णमनाहारा स्वभक्तितः।
तप्त्वा तपः कठोरं च चकार जगदम्बिका॥१४॥
ग्रीष्मे च परितो वह्निं प्रज्वलन्तं दिवानिशम्।
कृत्वा प्रतस्थौ तन्मध्ये संततं जपती मनुम्॥१५॥
शश्वत्श्मशाने वर्षासु कृत्वा योगासनं शिवा।
शिलां दृष्ट्वा च संसिक्तां बभूव जलधारया॥१६॥

With her devotion, the mother of the universe performed tapas for one year without consuming anything, She used to raise fire around her during the summer season and always remained inside it throughout day and night, reciting the mantra. In the rainy season she seated herself in the yogāsana posture in the cremation grounds and continued to stare at the stone of lord Śiva getting drenched with the rain water.

शीते जलान्तरे शश्वत्प्रतस्थौ भक्तिपूर्वकम्।
अनाहारा शरद्रौद्रनीहारासु निशासु च॥१७॥
एवं कृत्वा परं वर्षमप्राप्य शंकरं सती।
शुचा कृत्वाऽग्निकुण्डं च प्रवेष्टुं सा समुद्यता॥१८॥

In the winter season she used to enter the cold water and even during the nights of terrific cold during which the snow used to fall she remained without food and performed the hard tapas with devotion. Thus after performing such a hard tapas for one year, Śiva did not appear before her and at that point of time in utter disgust she prepared herself to enter in to the flames of fire-altar.

तामग्निकुण्डं विशतीं तपसाऽतिकृशां सतीम्।
दृष्ट्वा शिवः कृपासिन्धुः कृपया तां जगाम ह॥१९॥
अतीव वामनो बालो विप्ररूपी स्वतेजसा।

शुक्लयज्ञोपवीती च शुक्लवासाश्च सस्मितः।
श्वेताब्जबीजमालां च बिभ्रत्तिलकमुज्ज्वलम्॥२१॥

Finding Pārvatī who had grown very weak because of performing tapas was entering into the fire-altar, Śiva, the ocean of mercy, at once reached before her in the form of a dwarf Brāhmaṇa boy. Śiva was delighted in his heart. He had the matted lock of hair on the head and was holding a daṇḍa and chatra. He was clad in white garment, white yajñopavīta wearing the garland of white lotus flowers and the white sandal-paste was applied on his forehead. He was serenely smiling.

निर्जने बालकं दृष्ट्वा स्निग्धा साऽपि जगाद ह।

को भवानिति पप्रच्छ तं शिशुं पुरतः स्थितम्।
मनसाऽऽलिङ्गनं कर्तुमिच्छन्ती परमादरम्॥२३॥

Finding the boy in lonely place the mind of Pārvatī was filled with love. Getting influenced with his lustre, she discarding tapas spoke to the boy, "Who are you?" Pārvatī intended to embrace the boy lovingly.

श्रुत्वा शैलसुताप्रश्नं प्रहस्य परमेश्वरः।
उवाचातीव मधुरं कर्णपीयूषमीश्वरम्॥२४॥

On hearing the question of the daughter of the mountain, Śiva the lord of the universe laughed and then spoke the words which entered the ears of Pārvatī like nectar.

शंकर उवाच

इच्छागामी बटुरहं तपस्वी विप्रबालकः।
का त्वं कान्ताऽतिकान्तारे तपश्चरसि सुन्दरि॥२५॥

Śiva said- I am a Brāhmaṇa boy and am an ascetic roaming about at will. O beautiful one, who are you and why are you performing tapas in this lonely forest, in spite of your being so beautiful.

वद कस्य कुले जाता कस्य कन्या च काऽभिधा।
तपसः फलदात्री त्वं कस्माद्धेतोस्तपस्तव॥२६॥

In whose race have you been born? Who is your father? What is your name? You being yourself the one who bestows the reward of tapas, why are you performing tapas yourself?.

अहो वा तपसां राशिः स्वयं मूर्तिमती सती।
तपो वा लोकशिक्षार्थं करोषि कमलेक्षणे॥२७॥

O lotus eyed one, you are the actual form of tapas. Surely this tapas of yours is meant for educating the universe.

स्वयं तेजःस्वरूपा वा मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।
विधाय भक्तध्यानार्थं विग्रहं भारते जनुः॥२८॥

You are yourself the ball of lustre, besides being Mūla-Prakṛti and Īśvarī and you have taken to this form for the sake of the devotees in the land of Bhārata.

किंवा त्रिलोके लक्ष्मीस्त्वं संपद्रूपा सनातनी।
रक्षां विधातुं जगतामागता धातुरन्तिके॥२९॥
किंवाऽम्बिका त्वं देवानां स्वयं मूर्तिमती सती।
सावित्री भारते जन्म स्वेच्छया लब्धुमागता॥३०॥
राधिकाधिष्ठातृदेवी वा स्वयं साक्षात्सरस्वती।
सर्वविद्याः प्रकटितुं स्वेच्छया जन्म भारते॥३१॥

Otherwise you are the eternal Lakṣmī, the goddess of riches in the three worlds, you have reached before Brahma for the protection of the three worlds or are you the mother of the gods or Satī or Sāvitrī who takes to human births with her own will. Or otherwise are you the great goddess of music known as goddess Sarasvatī from whom all types of knowledge emerged. You have been born on earth with your own sweet will.

एतासु मध्ये का वा त्वं नाहं तर्कितुमीश्वरः।
या सा भवति कल्याणि परितुष्टा च मां भव॥३२॥

Out of these goddesses, whom do you represent. I am unable to visualise the same. O goddess of welfare, whatever I have asked you, be pleased with me.

सति त्वयि प्रसन्नायां प्रसन्नः परमेश्वरः।
परिव्रतायां तुष्टायां तुष्टो नारायणः स्वयम्॥३३॥
तुष्टे नारायणे देवे शश्वत्तुष्टं जगत्त्रयम्।
तरुमूलेषु सिक्तेषु शाखाः सिक्ता यथा प्रिये॥३४॥

O Satī, if you remain happy, the lord also becomes happy and when a chaste lady is pleased the lord Nārāyaṇa himself gets pleased. O dear one, with the pleasing of lord Nārāyaṇa, all the three worlds similarly get pleased, since with the pouring of water at the roots of the trees, the branches sprout.

शिशोस्तद्वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य परमेश्वरी।
उवाच वचनं चारु कर्णपीयूषमीश्वरी॥३५॥

On hearing the words of the boy, the great goddess smiled for a moment and spoke the words which were pleasing like the pouring of nectar in the ears.

पार्वत्युवाच
नाहं वेदप्रसूर्लक्ष्मीर्वागधिष्ठातृदेवता।
जन्म मे भारते वर्षे सांप्रतं शैलकन्यका॥३६॥

Pārvatī said- I am neither Sāvitrī the creator of the Vedas, nor Lakṣmī or the goddess of speech. I am pleasantly born in the land of Bhārata and am the daughter of the king of mountains.

पूर्वं जन्म दक्षगेहे सती शंकरकामिनी।
योगेन त्यक्तदेहाऽहं तातभर्तृविनिन्दया॥३७॥

In my earlier birth, I had been born in the house of Dakṣa and happened to be the wife of Śiva named Satī. When my father denounced my husband I ended my life with the use of yogic practices.

अत्र जन्मनि पुण्येन संप्राप्ते शंकरे द्विज।
मां त्यक्त्वा भस्मसात्कृत्वा मन्मथं स जगाम ह॥३८॥

O Brāhmaṇa, in this birth also because of my earlier deeds I achieved Śiva but he, reducing the god of love to ashes disowned me and left the place.

प्रयाते शंकरे तापाद्व्रीडयाऽहं पितुर्गृहात्।
आगमत्तपसे चित्तं ममेदं स्वर्णदीतटे॥३९॥

With the departure of Śiva I was filled with mental agony and shame. I therefore left my parents and arrived here at the bank of the Gaṅgā.

तप: कृत्वा कठोरं च सुचिरं प्राणवल्लभम्।
अप्राप्याग्नि प्रवेष्टुं च त्वां च दृष्ट्वा क्षणं स्थिता॥४०॥

I performed severe tapas for long but in spite of that I have not been able to achieve Śiva. I am thus going to enter the flames of the fire-altar. But finding you here I have stopped for a moment.

गच्छ त्वं प्रविशाम्यग्नौ प्रलयाग्निशिखोपमे।
कृत्वा स्वकामनां विप्र हरप्राप्तिमनीषिताम्॥४१॥

O Brāhmaṇa now you go, I am going to enter this fire of dissolution which is burning in flames, in order to achieve Śiva by entering it.

यत्र यत्र जनुर्लब्ध्वा लभिष्यामि शिवं परम्।
प्राणाधिकं प्रियं कान्तं विभुं जन्मनि जन्मनि॥४२॥

In future I would achieve Śiva always who is dearer to me than my life, he is my only lord.

सर्वा हि स्वप्रियं लब्धुं लभन्ति जन्म वाञ्छितम्।
तज्जन्म पतिलाभार्थं सर्वासां च श्रुतौ श्रुतम्॥४३॥

All women are born in human form in order to achieve their beloved. Their birth is only meant for achieving a noble husband.

प्राक्तनीयो हि यो भर्ता स तासां प्रतिजन्मनि।
या स्त्री येषां सुनियता सा तेषां जन्मजन्मनि॥४४॥

The women generally achieve the same husband whom they had in their earlier births. Whatever woman is destined for one, she achieves the same in every birth.

तद्देहमिह न प्राप्य कृत्वा घोरतरं तप:।
कृत्वाऽग्निकुण्डे काम्यं च लभिष्यामि परत्र तम्॥४५॥

Therefore, in case I do not achieve my husband after performing several tapas during this birth. I shall offer this body in the fire-altar. With the desire of having Śiva as my husband in my mind if I enter the fire, I am sure to achieve him in the next birth.

इत्युक्त्वा पार्वती तत्र तत्पुर: प्रविवेश ह।
निषिध्यमाना पुरतो ब्राह्मणेन पुन: पुन:॥४६॥
वह्निप्रवेशं कुर्वन्त्या: पार्वत्या: परमेश्वरि।
बभूव तपसा सद्यो वह्निश्चन्दनवद्ध्रुवम्॥४७॥

Thus speaking Pārvatī, in spite of dissuading her by the Brāhmaṇa boy, from entering into the fire, she entered the fire-altar.

But the fire became cool like the sandal-paste.

क्षणं तदन्तरे स्थित्वा चोत्पतन्तीं शिवां शिव:।
पुन: प्रपच्छ सहसा वृन्दावनविनोदिनि॥४८॥

O Rādhā, you enjoy the divine play in Vṛndāvana, remaining there in the fire for a moment, she came Out end suddenly Śiva asked.

महादेव उवाच

अहो तपस्ते किं भद्रे न बुद्धं किंचिदेव हि।
न दग्धो वह्निना देहो न च प्राप्तो मनीषित:॥४९॥
शिवं कल्याणरूपं च भर्तारं कर्तुमिच्छसि।
अविग्रहं पतिं कृत्वा किं वा ते वाञ्छितं भवेत्॥५०॥

Śiva said- O noble damsel, what is your tapas? I am unable to understand it. Neither your body could be burnt out in the fire nor could you get the husband of your choice. You intend to achieve Śiva, the form of welfare, as your husband but he is invisible. By achieving an invisible husband, what purpose of yours would be served?

संहर्तारं च भर्तारं यदीच्छसि शुचिस्मिते।
कान्तमिच्छति का वा स्त्री सर्वसंहारकारणम्॥५१॥

O damsel, with a pious smile, in case you want to make the one who is the destroyer of all as your husband, then you tell me which one of the women would like to have a destroyer of all as her husband.

मोक्षं वाञ्छसि चेद्देवि कृत्वा कान्तं स्वरूपिणम्।
सर्वमुक्तिप्रदा त्वं च तपस्या विफला तव॥५२॥

O goddess, in case by achieving him as your husband, you want to achieve mokṣa then for that purpose your tapas is of no use, because you yourself bestow salvation to everyone.

शिवश्च मङ्गले मोक्षे संहर्ता न च दृश्यते।
शिवशब्दस्य चान्योऽर्थो न हि वेदे निरूपित:॥५३॥

The meaning of the word Śiva is welfare or prosperity, besides salvation and destruction, there is no other meaning for the word Śiva. No other meaning has been given to the word Śiva even in the Vedas.

तं च संहारकर्तारं यदि वाञ्छसि सुन्दरि।
लभिष्यसे रतं रुद्रं सर्वलोकभयंकरम्॥५४॥

O beautiful one, in case you are attractive towards the destroyer of all, then you will find yourself attracted towards the one who happens to be the terrific Rudra.

न भविष्यति मोक्षस्ते स्वाभीष्टं देवसेवनम्।
हरिस्मृतिरमोघा च सर्वमङ्गलदा सदा॥५५॥
शीघ्रं पितृगृहं गच्छ तत्र द्रक्ष्यसि शंकरम्।
ममाऽऽशिषा स्वतपसां फलेन च सुदुर्लभम्॥५६॥

You would therefore neither achieve mokṣa nor the desired husband. Reciting of the name of Hari never goes infructuous. The said name always bestowed welfare. Now you should at once go back to your father's house, with my blessing and as a reward of your tapas, you would achieve Śiva who is beyond the reach of all, there itself.

इत्युक्त्वा पार्वतीं विप्रस्तत्रैवान्तरधीयत।
दुर्गा ययौ पितुर्गेहं महादेवेति वादिनि॥५७॥

Thus speaking, the Brāhmaṇa disappeared from there and Pārvatī reciting the name of Mahādeva went back to her parents, house.

पार्वत्यागमनं श्रुत्वा मेनका च हिमालयः।
दिव्यं यानं पुरस्कृत्य प्रययौ हर्षविह्वलः॥५८॥

Hearing about the arrival of Pārvatī both Menā and Himālaya were filled with delight and they moved towards the path, mounted on a divine plane.

O Rādhikā, the royal road was sprinkled with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and decorated with fruits, branches and pitchers of welfare and further decorated with banners and flags beside the mango-leaves, tied in cords. The trunks of banana trees were also placed here and there for the purpose of decoration.

Some of the damsels whose sons and husbands were alive, holding lamps, fried paddy, Dūrvā-grass, food and flowers in their hands moved forward to welcome Pārvatī.

On both sides of the road the noble Brāhmaṇas, the sages, the Brahmacārīs, the dancers and the elephants stood in attendance looking graceful.

The family priests holding garlands of jasmine flowers in their hands collectively recited the welfare sound. At that point of time various types of musical instrument were sounded, besides the blowing of conches. The vermilion and sandal-paste were mixed with water and it was sprinkled on the roads.

प्रविश्य नगरं दुर्गा ददर्श पितरौ पुरः।

At the time of entering into the city, Durgā came across her parents who were fully delighted and rushed towards her with the tears of joy flowing from their eyes.

प्रसन्नवदना देवी चाऽऽलिभिः प्रणनाम तौ।

The delightful goddess accompanied by her female friends offered salutation to her parents. Both of them collectively blessed her and embraced her.

हे वत्से वत्सेत्युच्चार्य रुदन्तौ प्रेमविह्वलौ।
तदा तां च रथे कृत्वा जग्मतुर्निजमन्दिरम्॥६७॥

They spoke, "O Daughter." Overwhelmed with love, they started sobbing. Then the made Durgā to mount on the chariot and moved towards their home.

All the ladies welcomed Durgā and the Brāhmaṇas pronounced their blessing on her. The riches were distributed among the bards and the Brāhmaṇas.

They performed the welfare ceremony and also arranged for the recitation of the Vedas. Then they lived in the palaces with the girl.

Filled with pleasure and spending time pleasantly, the king of the mountains once went to the bank of the Gaṅgā for performing tapas. Menā was seated in the palace court-yard with Pārvatī. In the meantime a beggar arrived there who happened to be a dancer besides being a singer.

सहसैक आजगाम मेनकासंनिधिं मुदा।

He pleasantly reached before Menā. He had a musical instrument of the horn in the left hand and a ḍamarū in the right hand.

कृत्वा विभूतिगात्रोऽतिवृद्धोऽतीव जरातुर:।

He had applied ashes on his body. He looked pretty old and suffering from old age. He was clad in red garments and was carrying a bundle on his back. He had a beautiful neck and looked quite charming.

He while dancing recited my glory. Sometimes he blew the horn and sometimes he played on the ḍamarū. Hearing that music and the songs all the boys, girl, old and young men and women besides the old ladies arrived there delightfully.

श्रुत्वा तु सुन्दरं गीतं सुतानस्वरसंयुतम्।

Listening to the charming song of the beggar which was in the sweet and the best tone, all the people were suddenly overpowered with illusion and they also fainted.

Durgā also fainted and she started visualising the form of Śiva who held a trident and paṭṭiśa in his hand and was clad in tiger skin.

All his limbs were plastered with the ashes. He had a charming face and was wearing round his neck a garland of spotless bones. He wore a serene smile on his face, his appearance was indicative of his inner pleasure. He had five faces, each one of which had three eyes. He held a rosary in his hand, wore a yajñopavīta of serpent on his shoulder and a crescent crown on the forehead; he looked quite beautiful. He spoke to Pārvatī to ask for a boon. She bowed in reverence to lord Śiva mentally in her heart had asked for the boon, "You be my husband". Śiva said, "Be it so" and then he disappeared. Finding Śiva having disappeared from her heart, Durgā regained her consciousness. When she opened her eyes she found the beggar singing there. Menā getting delighted with the song, dance and music of Śiva, went to him carrying the gold coins and gem in a plate in order to offer him but the beggar insisted on getting Durgā alone as the offering and nothing else.

पुनश्च नर्तनं कर्तुमुद्यतः कौतुकेन च।

When he again got ready to start his dance, Menā got enraged at his words and she was also surprised.

She denounced the beggar and asked her people to turn him out saying, "Durgā has to be the wife of Śiva who is the lord of the three worlds. The degraded beggar who is desirous of her should be turned out".

At that point of time Himālaya the king of the mountain arrived home after performing tapas and, reaching the courtyard, he found the beggar there. He was meditating upon Nārāyaṇa at the pleasant bank of the river Gaṅgā but he was somehow disturbed in his meditation as a result of which his mind was upset. On hearing about the news from the mouth or Menā, he smiled and was enraged as well.

आज्ञां चकार स्वचरं बहिः कर्तुं च भिक्षुकम्।
आकाशमिव दुःस्पर्शं प्रज्वलन्तं स्वतेजसा॥८९॥

He then commanded his messengers to turn out the beggar from that place. But It was difficult even to touch the beggar, like the sky. He was illumining with his lustre.

Nobody could turn him out since no one could approach near him. Himavān then visualised in a moment that the beggar has taken to a beautiful form with four arms, having the kirīṭa-crown on his head, kuṇḍalas in his ears and was clad in the yellow lower garment. He had dark complexion which attracted the minds very much. His face had serene smile spread over it. All his limbs were plastered with sandal-paste and was getting anxious to bestow his grace on his devotees, all the flowers which Himavān had offered while performing the pūjā of Gadādhara, were all seen present on the body of the beggar. He also found the incense, the lamp and the pleasant naivedya which was offered by the lord of the mountain to lord Viṣṇu was also present there around him before the beggar, in the second moment. The same beggar took to the two-armed form. Holding a beautiful flute in his hand, he was is the form of a cowherd, in tender age, with a smiling face and a peacock feather fixed on his head. Adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments and the limbs pasted with the fragrant sandalwood-paste he was wearing the long garland of forest flowers. He appeared like Śrī Kṛṣṇa having the dark-complexioned body. He then found him again in the spotless form of Śiva, holding a trident and paṭṭiśa in his hand, clad in tiger skin having applied ashes on the body, wearing a garland of bones and the complexion of gold. He held a ḍamarū and horn in his hands. He had an extremely pleasant appearance.

Holding a rosary of white lotuses, he was reciting the name of Hari and wearing a smile on his face, he appeared anxious and bestowed grace on his devotees. He had five faces, having three eyes on each one of them which had a dazzling lustre. In the next moment he found the beggar in the form of the four armed Brahmā, the creator of the universe who was holding a white rosary and reciting the name of Hari. The next moment he found him in Triguṇātmaka-sūrya, with the divine tejas illumining the universe. In the next moment he found him again in the form of the fire emitting immense fire flames.

The next moment he found him in the form of a moon who delighted all. In the next moment he found him in the form of tejas invisible, spotless, unattached and in the form of the great soul. Thus finding the beggar appearing in several forms, the eyes of Himālaya were filled with tears of joy. He felt overwhelmed. Finding the beggar taking to so many forms he then prostrated before him and with his mind filled with devotion, he went round him offering his salutations to him again and again.

Thereafter jumping with delight, the king of the mountain, when the again looked at the beggar, he found that he was the beggar in reality. This was visualised by him, with the illusion of Viṣṇu. The king of the mountain forgot about everything about his taking to various forms. On the other hand the beggar demanded of alms from him, carrying the begging bowl with him. He was clad in red garments holding a horn and a typical type of ḍamarū, he was only anxious to receive Durgā as charity and nothing else.

But influenced with the illusion of lord Viṣṇu, the king of the mountain did not accept his request. The beggar on his part refused to accept anything else and disappeared from the scene. O dear one, after the departure of the beggar both Menā and Himavān came to realise that Śiva the lord of the universe before them like a demon during the day but had disappeared finding them so much devoted towards Śiva. The gods then felt worried.

Then they started to device ways and means for the protection of Sumeru because of its weight. They started talking among themselves that in case Himālaya with his utmost devotion would offer his daughter to Śiva then he would surely achieve nirvāṇa as well as mokṣa. In case Himālaya which is the abode of several gems, disappeared from the land of Bhārata then the name of the earth as Ratnagarbhā possessing the gems or in her womb Vasundharā would become false. Because by offering his daughter to Śiva, he discarding his pleasant form would achieve the divine form and then Himālaya would achieve Viṣṇuloka. Reaching there, he would achieve the Sārūpya mokṣa of lord Viṣṇu without any effort.

सम्प्राप्य पार्षदत्वं च हरिदासो भविष्यति।
दशवापीसमा कन्या दीयते ब्राह्मणाय ताम्।।११६।।

Thereafter they would achieve the place of a courtier and then would become slaves of lord Viṣṇu. By offering a daughter to a Brāhmaṇa, one achieved merit of constructing ten step wells.

In case the daughter is given to such a person who is well-versed in the Vedas, having the noble character the one who does not accept charity, who performs always sandhyā, yajña and the reciting of the Vedas regularly, the one who is truthful, the father achieves the merit of digging ten step wells. The one who gives away his daughter to a Brāhmaṇa who performs the sandhyā, thrice a day, is truthful, householder, well-versed in the Vedas and gives away his daughter to such a person. By performing charity he becomes successful, the one who accepts charity is devoid of performing of sandhyā and is a fool, the giver gets half the merit. The Brāhmaṇa, who accepts the wife of others, the one who performed yajña the wicked is devoid of the performing of sandhyā and in case a daughter is given to him one achieved the merit of the digging of a single step-well. In case, a daughter is given to a Brāhmaṇa who is deprived of the sandhyā of three types and the Gāyatrī mantra, is wicked and is born of a Vaiśya, the donor gets the merit of constructing half a step-well. A Brāhmaṇa who is a sinner, born of Śūdra women or the one who is born of Brāhmaṇa and Kṣatriya or the one who is like cāṇḍāla and if a girl given to him, the donor falls into the hell.

If a girl is given to a Brāhmaṇa who is devoted to Viṣṇu, is intelligent, truthful and the one who has controlled all his senses, the donor earns the merit of constructing twenty step wells. He then takes to the divine form for sixty thousand years and the donor enjoys all the pleasures in the abode of Viṣṇu. By giving away the daughter to Viṣṇu or Śiva, the donor achieves the form of Nārāyaṇa. This has been ordained in the Vedas. When a devotee of Viṣṇu offer a daughter in marriage to a Brāhmaṇa for the pleasure of Viṣ ṇu, he surely achieves the slavehood of lord Viṣ ṇu.

O beloved, thus thinking all the gods consulted among themselves and intended depute Bṛhaspati to the abode of Himālaya they went to Bṛhaspati to depute him for the purpose. All the gods went to Bṛhaspati and offering their salutation to him said,

हिमालयगृहं गत्वा कुरु निन्दां च शूलिनः।
पिनाकिनं विना दुर्गा वरं नान्यं वरिष्यति॥१२९॥

"You go to the place of Himavān and denounce Śiva because except Śiva, Durgā is not going to marry anyone else.

वेदवेदाङ्गविज्ञाता महाभक्तो हरौ हरे॥१३२॥

In that case, Himavān would give away his daughter to Śiva unmindfully and if he does so he would achieve the complete merit of giving away the daughter in charity. In due course of time, the lord of the mountains could be free and achieve salvation but presently he has to remain on earth, you go and arrange for the stay of Himālaya permanently on the land of Bhārata. Listening to the words of the gods, Bṛhaspati touched his ears with both the hands declining the offer and, reciting the name of Nārāyaṇa, he refused to oblige them. Bṛhaspati who was quite well-versed in the Vedas besides being the devotee of Viṣṇu and Śiva denounced the gods repeatedly and said.

बृहस्पतिरुवाच

श्रूयतां मद्वचः सत्यं हे देवाः स्वार्थसाधकाः।
नीतिसारं च वेदोक्तं परिणामसुखावहम्।
हरकेशवयोर्भक्तं ये च निन्दन्ति पापिनः॥१३३॥

ते पच्यन्तेऽन्धकूपे वै चाऽऽयुषोऽर्धं विधेरहो॥१३८॥

Bṛhaspati said- O selfish gods, a you listen to my truthful words which are a gist of polity, according to the Vedas and would result in pleasure. Such of the sinners who denounce Śiva or Viṣṇu or their devotees, the Brāhmaṇas on earth, their own teacher, the chaste ladies, the noble husbands, the beggars. Brahmacārīs and the gods who happen to be the seed of the universe, they fall into the kālasūtra hell and remain there till the land of the world. They have to consume there vomit refuse and urine daily. They are bitten by the crores of insects daily which makes them cry aloud. Those who denounce the creator of the universe and teacher of Brahmā, Śiva, the best of the gods, Durgā, Lakṣmī, Sarasvatī, Gītā, Tulasī, Gaṅgā, Vedas, Sāvitrī, Vratas, Tapas, Adoration, Mantra and the Guru who give the mantra, they fall into the andhakūpa hell and remain there till the life of Brahma.

भक्षिताः सर्पसंघैश्च शब्दं कुर्वन्ति संततम्।
ये निन्दन्ति हृषीकेशं देवसाम्यं विधाय च॥१३९॥
विष्णुभक्तिप्रदं चैव पुराणं च श्रुतेः परम्।

अतीव कातरा भीताः शब्दं कुर्वन्ति संततम्॥१४२॥

Groups of snakes eat them up, as a result of which they cry aloud always. Such of the people who compare lord Madhusūdana with other gods and also denounce him such of the people who find fault with the Purāṇas which bestow the devotion of Viṣṇu or whatever is treated to be the Vedas and find fault with them, denounce Rādhā and the cowherdesses who actually are her forms denounce adorable Brāhmaṇas, even they have to fall into the hell till the life of Brahmā. They are hanged with their heads placed upside down and the legs are raised up. The serpents with different deformities and other insects like the serpents bite all their limbs and they getting terrified cry aloud.

श्लेष्ममूत्रपुरीषाणि ध्रुवं भक्षन्ति क्षोभिताः।
उल्कां ददति रुष्टाश्च तन्मुखे यमकिंकराः॥१४३॥

They have to consume the vomit, urine and refuse and have to face the unkind messengers of Yama who place burning rods in their mouths.

त्रिसंध्यं तर्जनं कृत्वा कुर्वन्ति दण्डताडनम्।
कुर्वन्ति मूत्रपानं च प्रहारैस्तृषिताम्भिया॥१४४॥

They torture them thrice a day beating them with rods and when they feel thirsty, they have to consume only urine.

तदा कल्पान्तरे स्रष्टुं सृष्टिं च प्रथमे पुनः।
तेषां भवेत्प्रतीकार इत्याह कमलोद्भवः॥१४५॥

In the other kalpas their sins are pardoned. This has been ordained by Brahmā.

कृत्वा हि शिवनिन्दां च यास्यन्ति नरकं सुराः।
इममेवोपकारं च कर्तुमिच्छथ पुत्रकाः॥१४६॥

By denouncing Śiva, all the gods would be thrown into the hell. O sons, is it not good whatever you want to do.

ब्रह्मणा प्रेरितो दक्षो दत्त्वा शूलभृते सुताम्।
न पापं परमैश्वर्यं संप्राप हरनिन्दकः॥१४७॥

With the inspiration of Brahmā, Dakṣa gave away his daughter to Śiva. Because of this he could not earn a sin even after denouncing him. On the other hand he achieved all the fortunes.

अनिच्छया सुतां दत्त्वा तुर्यपुण्यं ललाभ सः।
अहो विहाय सारूप्यं तुच्छं स्वर्गं ललाभ सः॥१४८॥

Of course it happened to be like this that he achieved only one fourth of the merit because he gave away his daughter to Śiva unwillingly, therefore he could not achieve salvation but could achieve only heaven.

कश्चिन्मध्ये च युष्माकं गत्वा शैलगृहं सुराः।
संपादयत्वभिमतं शैलेन्द्रस्य प्रयत्नतः॥१४९॥
अनिच्छया सुतां दत्त्वां सुखं तिष्ठतु भारते।
तस्मै भक्त्या सुतां दत्त्वा मोक्षं प्राप्स्यति निश्चितम्॥१५०॥

O gods, someone from you should go to the house of the king of mountains and with considerable efforts you should act according to wisdom. By offering his daughter in marriage to Śiva unwillingly, Himālaya can remain in Bhārata but in case he offers his daughter with devotion then he would surely achieve the merit and the mokṣa.

पश्चात्सप्तर्षयः सर्वे गृहीत्वा तामरुन्धतीम्।
ध्रुवं तस्य गृहं गत्वा बोधयिष्यन्ति पर्वतम्॥१५१॥
विना पिनाकिनं दुर्गा वरं नान्यं वरिष्यति।
अनिच्छया सुतां तस्मै प्रदास्य ति सुताज्ञया॥१५२॥
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं देवा गच्छन्तु मन्दिरम्।
इत्युक्त्वा वाक्पतिः शीघ्रं तपसे स्वर्णदीं गतः॥१५३॥

Thereafter, developing discard Saptarṣis together with Arundhatī will go to the abode of Himālaya and try to convince him. Durgā on the other hand, would never accept anyone else as her husband without Śiva. In that case at the insistence of his daughter, Himālaya would surely gave away in marriage his daughter to Śiva. Thus I have spoken everything to you. All other gods should revert to their respective abodes. Thus speaking Bṛhaspati left for the bank of the Gaṅgā for performing tapas.

Chapter - 41

The story of king Anarṇya

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

तदा देवाः समालोच्य जग्मुस्ते ब्रह्मणोऽन्तिकम्।
सर्वे निवेदनं चक्रुर्ब्रह्माणं जगतां पतिम्॥१॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- All the gods deliberated on the matter considerably and then arrived at the abode of Brahmā. All of them then submitted themselves before the creator of the universe.

देवा ऊचुः

तव सृष्टौ जगत्स्रष्टा रत्नाधारो हिमालयः।
स चेत्प्राप्स्यति मोक्षं च रत्नगर्भा कुतो मही॥२॥
सुतां शूलभृते भक्त्या शैलेश्वरः स्वयम्।
नारायणस्य सारूप्यं संप्राप्स्यति न संशयः॥३॥

The gods said- O creator of the universe, in your universe, Himālaya happens to be the abode of the gems and diamonds. In case he attains mokṣa then the title of the earth as Ratnagarbhā (having gems in her womb) would become infructuous. Himālaya, after giving away his daughter in marriage to Śiva the holder of the trident with devotion sure to achieve the Sārūpya mokṣa of Nārāyaṇa. There is no doubt about it.

त्वं तस्य निन्दनं कृत्वा विमतिं प्रतिपादय।
त्वया विना क्षमो नान्यो गच्छ शैलगृहे प्रभो॥४॥

O lord, therefore you go to the abode of Himālaya and denuding Śiva pollute his mind. No one else except you can perform this task.

देवानां वचनं श्रुत्वा तानुवाच विधिः स्वयम्।
वचनं नीतिसारं च कर्णपीयूषमुत्तमम्॥५॥

On hearing the words of the gods, Brahmā himself spoke out the words which were sweet like nectar for the ears and were the best in polity.

ब्रह्मोवाच

नाहं कर्तुं क्षमो वत्साः शिवनिन्दां सुदुष्कराम्।
संपद्विनाशरूपां च विपदो बीजरूपिणीम्॥६॥

Brahmā said- O my children, I am unable to denounce Śiva which is extremely difficult and results in the destruction of all the riches and could create all round miseries.

भूतेशं प्रस्थापयत स्वात्मनिन्दां करोतु सः।
परनिन्दा विनाशाय स्वनिन्दा यशसे परम्॥७॥

You send Bhūtanātha to him with the player that he should denounce himself in the abode of Himālaya. By denouncing others one earns destruction and by denouncing himself one earns great glory.

ब्रह्मणो वचनं श्रुत्वा तं प्रणम्य सुराः प्रिये।
शीघ्रं ययुस्ते कैलासं गत्वा च तुष्टुवुः शिवम्॥८॥

O dear, on hearing the words of Brahmā all the gods left his place after offering their salutations to him. They then reached Kailāsa and they started praising him.

सर्वं निवेदनं चक्रुः शंकरं करुणालयम्।
स ययौ शैलमूलं च तानाश्वास्य प्रहस्य च॥९॥
देवा मुमुदिरे सर्वे शीघ्रं गत्वा स्वमन्दिरम्।
इष्टसिद्धिर्मुदे शश्वदसिद्धिर्दुःखवर्धिनी॥१०॥

Thereafter, the gods told everything to Śiva the ocean of mercy, hearing which he laughed aloud. He assured the gods and reached the abode of Himālaya himself. All the gods felt immensely delighted at this and reaching their own abodes they started rejoicing there because the success in one's mission is always delightful and getting unsuccessful in one's mission is always painful.

अथ शैलः सभामध्ये समुवास मुदाऽन्वितः।
बन्धुवर्गैः परिवृतः पार्वतीसहितः स्वयम्॥११॥

Himālaya the king of mountains was seated in his court surrounded by his wife and Pārvatī.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र विप्ररूपी शिवः स्वयम्।
समाजगाम सहसा प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः॥१२॥
दण्डी छत्री दीर्घवासा बिभ्रत्तिलकमुत्तमम्।
करे स्फटिकमाला च शालग्रामं गले दधत्॥१३॥

In the meantime Śiva himself arrived there suddenly in the form of a Brāhmaṇa. His face and eyes were delightful and he was holding a staff and a cakra. in his hands. He was clad in a long costume and his forehead was plastered with the best of tilakam. He hold a rosary of crystal beads in his hand and an image of Śālagrāma was hanging around him neck.

तं च दृष्ट्वा समुत्तस्थौ सगणश्च हिमालयः।
ननाम दण्डवद्भूमौ भक्त्याऽतिथिमपूर्वकम्॥१४॥
ननाम पार्वती भक्त्या प्राणेशं विप्ररूपिणम्।
आशिषं युयुजे विप्रः सर्वेषां प्रीतिपूर्वकम्॥१५॥
शैलदत्तासने शीघ्रमुवास ब्राह्मणः स्वयम्।
मधुपर्कादिकं सर्वं जग्राह प्रीतिपूर्वकम्॥१६॥

Finding him there, Himālaya got up with his attendants and with his mind filled with devotion, he bowed in reverence to him, welcoming him at the same time. He then prostrated on the ground and finding the lord of her life in the form of a Brāhmaṇa, Pārvatī also offered her salutation to him. The Brāhmaṇa lovingly bless everyone and occupied the seat offered by the king of mountains and was seated in Sukhāsana. He accepted madhuparka and other eatables offered by the king of the mountains.

पप्रच्छ कुशलं शैलो ब्राह्मणं को भवानिति।
उवाच सर्वं विप्रेन्द्रो गिरीन्द्रं सादरेण च॥१७॥

Himavān asked the Brāhmaṇa about his welfare saying, "You kindly let me know your introduction". On hearing this the Brāhmaṇa spoke to the king of the mountains everything respectfully.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

वाटिकां वृत्तिमाश्रित्य भ्रमामि धरणीतले।
मनोयायी सर्वगामी सर्वज्ञोऽहं गुरोर्वरात्॥१८॥

Brāhmaṇa said- I roam over the universe and perform the marriage of the boys and girls. My mind is very sharp. With the boon of my feet I can reach everywhere and I know everything.

मया ज्ञातं शंकराय सुतां दातुं त्वमिच्छसि।
इमां पद्मासमां दिव्यामज्ञातकुलशीलिने॥१९॥

I have come to know that you intend to marry your daughter who is like Lakṣmī to Śiva, whose family or caste is unknown.

निराश्रयायासङ्गायारूपाय निर्गुणाय च।
श्मशानगामिने सर्वभूतनाथाय योगिने॥२०॥
दिग्वाससेऽहिगात्राय विभूतिभूषणाय च।
व्यालग्राहिस्वरूपाय कालव्यापादनाय च॥२१॥
अज्ञातमृत्यवेऽज्ञायानाथायाबन्धवे भवे।
तप्तस्वर्णजटाभारधारिणे निर्धनाय च॥२२॥
अज्ञातवयसेऽतीव वृद्धाय चाविकारिणे।
सर्वाश्रयाय भ्रमिणे नागहाराय भिक्षवे॥२३॥

He knows about and is deprived of beauty and the companion. He is without qualities and resides in the cremation grounds. He is lord of all the Bhūtas (goblins), he always remains without robes and the serpents are coiled around his body. He applies ashes on his body and roams about like a snake charmer. He is the destroyer of Kāla, who has overcome death. He is without wisdom and an orphan having no relatives in the universe. He has matted locks of hair having the completion of molten gold. He is a pauper and his age is unknown being pretty old, without blemish and the refuge of everyone. He always remains wandering adorning his body with the ornaments of serpents.

निबोध ज्ञानिनां श्रेष्ठं नारायणं कुलोद्भवम्।
स ते पात्रानुरूपश्च पार्वतीदातृकर्मणि॥२४॥

This is his only introduction and you are going to marry your daughter to such a person. Nārāyaṇa is the best among the intellectuals and belongs to the noble race. You better understand his importance. He is the only suitable person to whom Pārvatī should be given in marriage by you.

महाजनः स्मेरमुखः श्रुतिमात्राद्भविष्यति।
लक्षशैलाधिपस्त्वं च न तस्यैकोऽस्ति बान्धवः॥२५॥
बान्धवान्मेनकां प्रश्नं कुरु शीघ्रं प्रयत्नतः।
सर्वान्पृच्छ प्रयत्नेन हे बन्धो पार्वतीं विना॥२६॥

The people will laugh at the news that Pārvatī was going to marry Śiva. You are the lord of lakhs of the mountains but Śiva does not have a single relative for himself. Therefore, you consult all your relatives and your wife Menā about this. O friend, I shall speak only this that you should consult everyone on the subject but do not consult Pārvatī about it.

रोगिणे नौषधं शश्वत्कुपथ्यं रोचते सदा।
इत्युक्त्वा ब्राह्मणः शीघ्रं स्नात्वा भुक्त्वा मुदाऽन्वितः॥२७॥
जगाम स्वालयं शान्तो वृन्दावनविनोदिनि।
ब्राह्मणस्य वचः श्रुत्वा मेनोवाच हिमालयम्॥
शोकेन साश्रुनयना हृदयेन विदूयता॥२८॥

Because an ailing person does not like the medicine, he only intends to indulge in eating according to his will. Thus speaking the Brāhmaṇa delightfully took his bath and food with Himālaya and left the place peacefully. O Rādhā, you enjoy the love-sport in Vṛndāvana. On hearing the words of Brāhmaṇa, was filled with agony. Her eyes were filled with tears and she said to Himālaya.

मेनकोवाच

श्रृणु शैलेन्द्र मद्वाक्यं परिणामसुखावहम्।
पृच्छ शैलवरानस्मै न दास्यामि सुतामहम्॥२९॥

Menakaā said- O lord of the mountains, you listen to my words which would be beneficial at the end. You consult all the best of the mountains. I shall never give away my daughter in marriage to Śiva.

त्यक्ष्यामि सर्वान्विषयान्भक्ष्यामि विषमेव च।
गले बद्ध्वाऽम्बिकां पश्य यास्यामि घोरकाननम्॥३०॥

Look here I shall discard everything and can consumption also and can also live in a dense forest binding Pārvatī around my neck.

गृहीत्वा पार्वतीं मेना गत्वा कोपालयं रुषा।
त्यक्त्वाऽऽहारं रुदन्ती च चकार शयनं भुवि॥३१॥

Thus speaking Menā holding the hand of Pārvatī went to the chamber in anger. She discarding food started crying and slept on the floor.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वसिष्ठो भ्रातृभिः सह।
आजगाम पुनस्तैश्च युक्ता पश्चादरुन्धती॥३२॥

In the meantime, Vasiṣṭha accompanied with his brothers and Arundhatī arrived there.

प्रणम्य शैलस्तान्सर्वान्स्वर्णसिंहासनं ददौ।
दत्त्वा षोडशोपचारान्पूजयामास भक्तितः॥३३॥

Himavān after offering his salutation to them gave them golden seats and adored them making sixteen types of offering.

ऋषयश्च सभामध्ये सुखमूषुः सुखासने।
जगामारुन्धती तूर्णं यत्र मेना च पार्वती॥३४॥

All the sages were comfortably seated in the assembly and Arundhatī went to the place where Pārvatī and Menā were lodged.

गत्वा ददर्श मेनां च शयानां शोकमूर्च्छिताम्।
उवाच मधुरं साध्वी सावधानां हितं वचः॥३५॥

Reaching there she found that Menā was drowned on the ocean of grief lying on the ground. The chaste Arundhatī than spoke sweet words to Menā which were also beneficial to her.

अरुन्धत्युवाच

उत्तिष्ठ मेनके साध्वि त्वद्गृहेऽहमरुन्धती।
पितॄणां मानसी कन्या मां जानीहि विधेर्वधूम्॥३६॥

Arundhatī said- O chaste lady, Menā get up. I am Arundhatī who has arrived in your home. I happen to be the mind born daughter of the manes. You consider myself to be the daughter-in-law of Brahmā.

अरुन्धत्याः स्वरं श्रुत्वा शीघ्रमुत्थाय मेनका।
उवाच शिरसा नत्वा तां पद्मामिव तेजसा॥३७॥

On hearing the words of Arundhatī, Menā at once got up and she bowed in reverence to Arundhatī who was having the divine lustre.

मेनकोवाच

अहोऽद्य किमिदं पुण्यमस्माकं पुण्यजन्मनाम्।
वधूर्जगद्विधः पत्नी वसिष्ठस्य ममाऽऽलये॥३८॥

Menakā said- what is the great merit that has emerged today as a result of which the daughter-in-law of Brahmā has arrived in my abode who happens to be the wife of Vasiṣṭha.

संभ्रमेणेदमेवोक्तं गृहं तेऽहं च किंकरी।
ईश्वरी जगतां द्रष्टुमागतां बहुपुण्यतः॥३९॥
पाद्यं दत्त्वा स्वर्णपीठे वासयामास तां सतीम्।

भोजयामास मिष्टान्नं बुभुजे कन्यया सह॥४०॥

O goddess, I am your slave-girl. You treat this house as your home. Because of our great merit we have been fortunate enough to meet the goddess of the Universe. She spoke this quickly. Thereafter she offered to the chaste lady, the pādya and arghya, also gave her the golden seat over which she was seated. She was served the sweet food and thereafter she also tools the food with her daughter.

शिवस्य हेतोर्नीतिं च बोधयामास मेनकाम्।
अरुन्धती प्रसङ्गेन संबन्धयोजनानि च॥४१॥

Arundhatī then tried to convince Menā about the qualities of Śiva and also insisted that the marriage should be performed.

अथ शलमृषीन्द्राश्च नीतिसारं परं वचः।
बोधयामासुः संबन्धयोजनानि प्रसङ्गतः॥४२॥

On the other hand the sages also spoke to Himavān with the best of the words which were quite appropriate. beneficial and pleasing about the marriage of Śiva and Pārvatī.

ऋष्यु ऊचुः

शैलेन्द्र श्रूयतां वाक्यमस्माकं शुभकारकम्।
शिवाय पार्वतीं देहि संहर्तुः श्वशुरो भव॥४३॥

The sages said- O lord of the mountains listen to our beneficial words, you give away in marriage your daughter Pārvatī to Śiva and become the father-in-law of the destroyer of all.

अयाचितारं देवेशं बोधयाऽऽशु प्रयत्नतः।
तव शङ्काविनाशाय ब्रह्मसंबन्धकर्मणि॥४४॥

You should try to convince Śiva making considerable efforts and starts preparation for the marriage. Soon the doubt about the performing of marriage with Śiva and Pārvatī would be removed.

नेच्छको दारसंयोगे शंकरो योगिनां वरः।
विधेः प्रार्थनया देवस्तव कन्यां ग्रहीष्यति॥४५॥
दुहितुस्ते तपस्यान्ते प्रतिज्ञानं चकार सः।
हेतुद्वयेन योगीन्द्रो विवाहं च करिष्यति॥४६॥
ऋषीणां वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य च हिमालयः।
उवाच किंचिद्भीतश्च परं विनयपूर्वकम्॥४७॥

Śiva the lord of the yogīs would never be desirous of the marriage, he would accept your daughter in marriage only at the request of Brāhmaṇas. After the completion, of the tapas of your daughter, he had given such a promise. Because of this, Śiva the lord of the yogīs would surely accept the proposal of the marriage. At this words of the sages, Himālaya smiled and feeling panicky he humbly spoke to them.

हिमालय उवाच

शिवस्य राजसामग्रीं न हि पश्यामि कांचन।
किंचिदाश्रममैश्वर्यं किंवा स्वजनबान्धवम्॥४८॥

Himālaya said- Śiva does not possess any riches like a king nor does he have any source of pleasure. He has no house no riches and no relatives.

न कन्यामतिनिर्लिप्तयोगिने दातुमर्हति।
यूयं विधातुः पुत्राश्च सत्यं वदत निश्चितम्॥४९॥

He is a pauper and remain uninvolved and giving away the daughter to an ascetic like him would not be proper. You people are the sons of Brahmā therefore you be graceful to tender me some sane and definite advice.

नानुरूपाय पात्राय पिता कन्यां ददाति चेत्।
कामाल्लोभाद्भयान्मोहाच्छताब्दं नरकं व्रजेत्॥५०॥
न हि दास्याम्यहं कन्यामिच्छया शूलपाणिने।
यद्विधानं भवेद्योग्यमृषयस्तद्विधीयताम्॥५१॥

In case a father because of passion, greed, danger and love gives away in marriage his daughter to an unsuitable person, he has to fall in the hell for long. Therefore I shall not gave away my daughter in marriage to Śiva of my own sweet will O sages. you move according to the best possible way.

हिमालयवचः श्रुत्वा वसिष्ठो विधिनन्दनः।
वेदवेदाङ्गविज्ञाता वेदोक्तं वक्तुमुद्यतः॥५२॥

On listening to the words of Himavān, the sage Vasiṣṭha who was well-versed in the Vedas and post-Vedic literature spoke to Himavān the words which were completely according to the provision of the Vedas.

वसिष्ठ उवाच

वचनं त्रिविधं शैल लौकिके वैदिके तथा।
सर्वं जानाति शास्त्रज्ञो निर्मलज्ञानचक्षुषा॥५३॥

Vasiṣṭha said- O lord of the mountains there are three types of words defined in the Vedas, the person who is well-versed in the scriptures is fully aware of the truth, by his divine sight.

असत्यमहितं पश्चात्सांप्रतं श्रुतिसुन्दरम्।
सुबुद्धं शत्रुर्वदति न हितं च कदाचन॥५४॥

The first category of words are those which should be pleasing to all the ears and could be understood quickly. But later on could be false and are found to be harmful. Such words are spoken only by enemies and they do not bestow welfare at all.

आपातप्रीतिजनकं परिणामसुखावहम्।
दयालुर्धर्मशीलश्च बोधयत्येव बान्धवम्॥५५॥

The second type of words are those which appeared to be painful in the beginning but they result in delight. Such words are spoken by highly religious people who are quite compassionate. Such words are spoken only to one's close relatives and brothers.

श्रुतिमात्रात्सुधातुल्यं सर्वकाले सुखावहम्।
सत्यसारं हितकरं वचसां श्रेष्ठमीप्सितम्॥५६॥

The third type of words are those which serve like nectar in the ears as soon as one hear them and they look quite sweet. Such words are pleasant for all times, such words are truthful, beneficial, the best and desired by all.

एवं च त्रिविधं शैल नीतिशास्त्रनिरूपितम्।
कथ्यतां त्रिषु मध्ये किं वदामि वाक्यमीप्सितम्॥५७॥

O lord of the mountains thus three types of words have been described in the scriptures, which one of the words of these three categorise desired by you. I would like to speak about the same.

बाह्यसंपद्विहीनश्च शंकरस्त्रिदशेश्वरः।
तत्त्वज्ञानसमुद्रेषु संनिमग्नैकमानसः॥५८॥

O lord of the mountains, lord Śiva is free from the outward show because his mind is always engrossed in the ocean of the tattvas.

आपातभ्रमसंपत्तिर्विद्युच्छ्रीरिव नाशिनी।
सदानन्दस्येश्वरस्य स्वात्मारामस्य का स्पृहा॥५९॥

The wealth and the riches are by nature unstable and perishable like the lightening, therefore there would be no desire with Śiva who is blissful and remains engrossed in his own soul.

गृही ददाति स्वसुतां राज्यसंपत्तिशालिने।
कन्यां विद्वेषिणे दत्त्वा कन्याघाती भवेत्पिता॥६०॥

The householder gives away his daughter in marriage to a wealthy person. A father who gives away his daughter in marriage to a person who is envious of the ladies, he is termed as the killer of the daughter.

को वदेच्छंकरो दुःखी कुबेरो यस्य किंकरः।
भ्रूभङ्गलीलया सृष्टिं स्रष्टुं नष्टुं क्षमो हि यः॥६१॥

who says that Śiva is a pauper or is filled with grief The one who has the attendants like Kubera and the one with whose simple frowning the universe could be created or destroyed.

निर्गुणः परमात्मा च य ईशः प्रकृते परः।
सर्वेशः स च निर्लिप्तो लिप्तश्च सर्वजन्तुषु॥६२॥

the same lord who is devoid of guṇas is the eternal soul, the lord of all, beyond Prakṛti is uninvolved and pervades in all the creatures.

स एकः सृष्टिसंहारे स सर्वः सृष्टिकर्मणि।
निराकारश्च साकारो विभुः स्वेच्छामयः स्वयम्॥६३॥

He is not alone in the act of the destruction of the universe. He can also create the universe, he is formless as well as with form. He pervades everywhere, he is the one who moves at will.

य ईशस्त्रिविधां मूर्तिं विधत्ते सृष्टिकर्मणि।
सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तजननीं ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवाभिधाम्॥६४॥
ब्रह्मा च ब्रह्मलोकस्थो विष्णुः क्षीरोदवासकृत्।
शिवः कैलासवासी च सर्वाः कृष्णविभूतयः॥६५॥

Taking to the Trimūrti form merging in him Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva at one place, in one form, he performs the task of creation, preservation and destruction of the universe. Brahmā resides in the Brahmaloka, Viṣṇu resides in the ocean of the milk and Śiva has Kailāsa as his abode. All the three are the vibhūtis of lord Kṛṣṇa.

श्रीकृष्णश्च द्विधाभूतो द्विभुजश्च चतुर्भुजः।
चतुर्भुजश्च वैकुण्ठे गोलोके द्विभुजः स्वयम्॥६६॥

Lord Kṛṣṇa has two forms, the first one has two arms and the second one has four arms. In his four-armed form, he resides in Vaikuṇṭha and in his two-armed form he resides in Goloka.

तस्य देवस्य तेऽशाश्च ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
केचिद्देवाः कलास्तस्य क लांशाश्चैव केचन॥६७॥

Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva are the aṁśas of Kṛṣ ṇa. Same of the gods happen to be his rays and while the other is only the part of his rays.

कृष्णः सृष्ट्युन्मुखश्चापि प्रकृति तत्र निर्ममे।
निर्माय तां च तद्योनौ वीर्याधानं चकार ह॥६८॥

It is lord Kṛṣṇa who had created Prakṛti with the sole purpose of the creation of the universe and for the purpose of creation, the seed was implanted in her womb.

ततो डिम्भः समुद्भूतस्तन्मध्ये च महाविराट्।
महाविष्णुः स विज्ञेयो श्रीकृष्णषोडशांशकः॥६९॥

Out of that womb an egg was born, out of which Mahāvirāṭ appeared. He is also known as Mahāviṣṇu who happens to be the sixteenth Goloka of Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

नाभिपद्मोद्भवो ब्रह्मा तस्यैव जलशायिनः।
भालोद्भवस्तस्य स्रष्टुः शंकरश्चन्द्रशेखरः॥७०॥

The four faced Brahmā emerged out of the navel of Mahāviṣṇu who was reclining on the serpent bed in the ocean. Lord Śiva appeared from the forehead of Brahmā.

महाविष्णु(ष्णो) र्वामपार्श्वात्संभूतो विष्णुरेव च।
सर्वे प्राकृतिकाः शैलब्रह्मविष्णुशिवादयः॥७१॥

Viṣṇu appeared from the left side of Mahāviṣ ṇu. O king of the mountains, Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva are all the forms of Prākṛtika.

धत्ते चतुर्विधां मूर्तिं प्रकृतिः कृष्णसंभवा।
अंशेन लीलया सृष्ट्यै कलया बहुधा तथा॥७२॥

Prakṛti was born out of Śrī Kṛṣṇa taking herself to four forms. For performing in the universe play fully they took to many forms by their rays and aṁśas.

कृष्णवामाङ्गसंभूता राधा रासेश्वरी स्वयम्।
मुखोद्भवा स्वयं वाणी रागाधिष्ठातृदेवता॥७३॥
वक्षःस्थलोद्भवा लक्ष्मी सर्वसंपत्स्वरूपिणी।

नाम्ना सती शिवं प्राप दक्षस्तस्मै ददौ च ताम्।
योगेन देहं तत्याज श्रुत्वा सा भर्तृनिन्दनम्॥७६॥

Rāseśvarī Rādhā appeared from the left side of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and from her mouth Sarasvatī, the goddess of all the Rāgas emerged. Lakṣmī representing all the riches emerged from her breasts. She displayed her Śivā form with the lustre of all the gods for the killing of the demon. Thereafter, she bestowed the Rājalakṣmī on the gods. After the change of kalpa, she was born out of the womb of the wife of Dakṣa and was known by the name of Satī who married to Śiva. Dakṣa himself gave her away in marriage but listening to the denouncement of her husband, Satī ended her life.

पितॄणां मानसी कन्या मेनका तव गेहिनी।

शिवा शिवस्य पत्नीयं शैल जन्मनि जन्मनि।
कल्पे कल्पे बुद्धिरूपा ज्ञानिनां जननी परा॥७८॥

Your wife Menā happens to be the mind-born daughter of the manes. Jagadambikā was born out of the womb of Menā, O lord of the mountains, Śivā happens to be the wife of Śiva in all the kalpas. She represents the wisdom of the best of the intellectuals.

जातिस्मरा च सर्वज्ञा सिद्धिदा सिद्धिरूपिणी।
अस्या अस्थि चिताभस्म भक्त्या धत्ते शिवः स्वयम्॥७९।

She bestows success and is all Knowledgeable. She remembers the events of all her previous births, Śiva adorns himself with the garland of her bones and applies the ashes of her fire, on his body.

ददासि स्वेच्छया कन्यां देहि भद्र शिवाय च।
अथवा सा स्वयं कान्तस्थानं यास्यति द्रक्ष्यसि॥८०॥

O form of welfare, you give away your daughter willingly to Śiva. Otherwise she is sure to proceed to the abode of her lord and you will keep on watching the sight.

प्राक्तनाद्यस्य या कान्ता सा तं प्राप्नोति वल्लभम्।
प्रजापतेर्निबन्धं च न कोऽपि खण्डितुं क्षमः॥८१॥

Whichever husband, a women had in her previous birth, the same husband is achieved by her in the present birth. No one can change this order of Brahmā.

विवाहे नोत्सुकः शंभुः स्वात्मारामश्च तत्त्ववित्।
तष्टुवुस्तं सुराः सर्वे तारकाख्येन पीडिताः॥८२॥
देवानां पीडनं दृष्ट्वा ब्रह्मणा प्रार्थितो विभुः।
कृपया स्वीचकाराऽऽशु कृपालुर्देवसंसदि॥८३॥

Śiva is well-aware of tattvas who moves in his own way therefore he is not quite anxious for the marriage. All the gods who were terrified by Tārakāsura prayed to Śiva. Realising the pain of the gods, Brahmā prayed to Śiva. The compassionate Śiva agreed to have her gracefully as his wife.

कृत्वा प्रतिज्ञां योगीन्द्रो दृष्ट्वा क्लेशमसंख्यकम्।
दुहितुस्ते तपःस्थानमाजगाम द्विजात्मकः॥८४॥
तामाश्वस्य वरं दत्त्वा जगाम निजमन्दिरम्।
तच्छ्रुत्वैवाऽऽययुः सर्वे सुराः शक्रादयो मुदा॥८५॥

Promising to marry her. Śiva the lord of the yogīs himself witnessed the severe, tapas performed by your daughter and he himself went there in the form of a Brāhmaṇa boy. He assured her and also granted a born to her and thereafter he left for the place. On hearing the news the gods like Indra and others were filled with delight.

नारायणश्च भगवान्ब्रह्मा धर्मश्च सांप्रतम्।
ऋषयो मुनयः सर्वे गन्धर्वा यक्षराक्षसाः॥८६॥
तत्र सर्वे मुदा युक्तैः समालोचनकर्तृभिः।
प्रस्थापिता वयं शीघ्रमनृणा सा अरुन्धती॥८७॥

Thereafter lord Nārāyaṇa, Brahmā, Dharma and all the gods, Sages, Gandharvas, Yakṣas and Rākṣasas met at a particular place and all of them discussed on the subject. All of them had speedily sent me here. The goddess Arundhatī had already performed his job.

तव प्रबोधने प्रीतिर्वर्धते महती सदा।
संप्राप्तं शुभकार्यं च सर्वकालसुखावहम्॥८८॥

I feel delighted in talking to you, Śiva who is bestower of pleasure in all the time proposed to be marriage in your presence.

शिवां शिवाय शैलेन्द्र स्वेच्छया चेन्न दास्यसि।
भविता वा विवाहश्च भवितव्यबलेन च॥८९॥

O lord of the mountains in case you do not give away Pārvatī in marriage to Śiva willingly than the marriage would be performed as the move of destiny.

आगमिष्यति देवो यो नारायणसहायवान्।
रत्नसाररथे कृत्वा देवानां प्रवरं वरम्॥९०॥
योगीन्द्राणां वरेण्यं तं ज्ञानिनां च गुरोर्गुरुम्।

वरं ददौ शिवायै स शिवश्च तपसः स्थले।
न हीश्वरप्रतिज्ञातं दुर्लभं विफलं भवेत्॥९२॥

Lord Śiva would be mounted over she chariot studded with best of gems. He is the best of the yogīs the teacher of the intellectuals free from the beginning, middle or end is without blemish and is without birth. Accompanied by Nārāyaṇa the best of the gods he would arrived here, the same Śiva has already granted a boon to Pārvatī, while she was performing tapas. The infallible words of the lord cannot be otherwise.

ब्रह्मादिस्तम्बपर्यन्तं सर्वं नश्वरमस्थिरम्।
अहो प्रतिज्ञा दुर्लङ्घ्या साधूनामविनाशिनी॥९३॥

Everything right from Brahmā to the blade of grass is perishable and unstable but the words of infallible ascetics cannot be otherwise.

एको महेन्द्रः शैलानां पक्षांश्चिच्छेद लीलया।
पवनो लीलया मेरोः शृङ्गभङ्गं चकार ह॥९४॥

All the wings of the mountains were cut off by Indra in a moment playfully; playing with the wind the peaks of mountains were shattered.

के वा शैलेषु योद्धार: सुरै: सह हिमालय।
पतिष्यन्ति समुद्रेषु पवनै: प्रेरिता: क्षणात्॥९५॥

Therefore O Himālaya, which one of the mountains with you is competent enough to wage a war against the gods. With the force of the wind all the mountains will fall into the ocean in no time.

एकार्थे यदि शैलेन्द्र सर्वसंपद्विनश्यति।
सर्वान्रक्षति तद्दत्त्वा विना च शरणागतम्॥९६॥

O king of the mountains, in case by giving away one thing, one can save the destruction of others, one should protect the rest by giving away one. This rule is not applicable for the one who comes to take refuge with you.

शरणागतरक्षार्थं प्राणांश्च दातुमर्हति।
पुत्रदारधनं सर्वानिति नीतिविदो विदु:॥९७॥

It would be quite appropriate to give away even the life for the protection of the one who has taken refuge. Then what to speak of the son, the wife and riches besides other things? This has been ordained by people who are well-versed in the scriptures.

दत्त्वा विप्राय स्वसुतामनरण्यो नृपेश्वर:।
ब्रह्मशापाद्विमुक्तश्च ररक्ष सर्वसंपदम्॥९८॥

The king Anaraṇya was freed from the curse of a Brāhmaṇa by giving away his daughter to him in marriage By doing this, he was able to protect all his riches.

तमाशु बोधयामासुर्नीतिशास्त्रविदो जना:।
ब्रह्मशापनिमग्नं च ब्रह्मण्यमतिकातरम्॥९९॥

He was well-wishers of Brāhmaṇas but facing the curse from them, Anaraṇya was advised by those well-versed in the scriptures is duty at that time. By following the same he was freed from the danger.

त्वमेवं शैलराजेन्द्र सुतां दत्त्वा शिवाय च।
रक्ष सर्वान्बन्धुवर्गान्वशे कुरु सुरानपि॥१००॥

O lord of the mountains, similarly you also save all your relatives and friends by giving away your daughter to Śiva and get control on the gods.

वसिष्ठस्य वच: श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य पर्वतेश्वर:।
पप्रच्छ नृपवृत्तान्तं हृदयेन विदूयता॥१०१॥

On hearing the words of Vasiṣṭha, Himālaya, the king of the mountains laughed aloud and with a painful heart he enquired about the story of Anaraṇya.

हिमालय उवाच

कस्य वंशोद्भवो ब्रह्मन्ननरण्यो नृपेश्वर:।
सुतां दत्त्वा स च कथमरक्षत्सर्वसंपदम्॥१०२॥

Himālaya said- O Brāhmaṇa, in which race was the king Anaraṇya born and how did he get himself relieved of the danger by giving away his daughter to the Brāhmaṇa and saved all his fortunes.

वसिष्ठ उवाच

मनुवंशोद्भवो राजा सोऽनरण्यो नृपेश्वर:।
चिरंजीवी धर्मशीलो वैष्णवो विजितेन्द्रिय:॥१०३॥

Vasiṣṭha said- The king Anaraṇya was born in the race of Manu. He had long life, was quite a religious one, was a Vaiṣṇava and had controlled all his senses.

स्वायंभुवो मनु: पूर्वं ब्रह्मपुत्रोऽतिधार्मिक:।
राज्यं चकार धर्मेण युगानामेकसप्ततिम्॥१०४॥

The name of the Manu happens to be Svāyambhuva who had been the son of Brahmā and was quite a religiously minded king. He ruled quite religiously by the period of seventy one yugas.

ततो जगाम वैकुण्ठं सहित: शतरूपया।
संप्राप्य दास्यं सांनिध्यं हरेर्दासो बभूव ह॥१०५॥

Thereafter he went to Vaikuṇṭha with his daughter named Śatarūpā. There he achieved the slavehood of Hari and became his attendant.

मनुर्बभूव तत्पश्चात्स्वयं स्वारोचिषो महान्।
स्वारोचिषे गते शैल बभूव मनुरुत्तम:॥१०६॥

O lord of the mountain, thereafter the great Svārociś Manu was there. Thereafter Uttama Manu appeared.

उत्तमे निर्गते धर्मी तामसो मनुरेव च।
ततो मनुर्बभूवात्र रैवतो ज्ञानिनां वर:॥१०७॥

Thereafter the Tāmas Manu who was the form of Dharma appeared and he was succeeded by Raivata Manu.

एकादशो मनुश्रेष्ठो धर्मसावर्णिरुच्यते।
ततश्च रुद्रसावर्णिर्विष्णुभक्तो जितेन्द्रियः॥११०॥

Thereafter the sixth one was Cākṣuṣa the seventh was Śrāddhadeva and the eighth one was the great Sāvaraṇi who was the son of Sūrya, who had in earlier birth born as the king Suratha in the family of Caitra. The ninth Manu was Dakṣa Sāvaraṇi and the tenth was Brahma Sāvaraṇi. The eleventh one was Dharma Sāvaraṇi and the twelfth was Rudra Sāvaraṇi who happened to be a great devotee of Viṣṇu and had controlled all his senses.

तत्परो देवसावर्णिरिन्द्रसावर्णिकस्ततः।

एतेषु समतीतेषु बभूव ब्रह्मणो दिनम्।
इन्द्रसावर्णिवृत्तान्तं सर्वं मत्तो निशामय॥११२॥

Thereafter, Deva Sāvaraṇi was born and after him the fourteenth the Manu was Indra Sāvaraṇi. O brother, thus I have narrated to you the names of all the fourteenth Manus, after the passing of whom a day of Brahmā is counted. Now you listen to the story of Indra Sāvaraṇi.

मनूनां प्रवरो धर्मी शुद्धभक्तो गदाभृतः।

तस्य पुत्रो महायोगी पुरीषतरुरेव च।
तस्य पुत्रोऽतितेजस्वी गोकामुख इति स्मृतः॥११५॥

Indra Sāvaraṇi happened to be the best of the Manus, was quite a religious one and was a great devotee of Viṣṇu the holder of Gadā. He ruled the earth for a period of seventy one yugas quite religiously. Thereafter, entrusting the care of his kingdom to Surendra his son he himself went to the forest for tapas. Surendra had a valorous son named Śrīniketu who had a son named Purīṣataru who was a great yogī. Purīśataru had an illustrious son known by the name of Gokāmukha.

वृद्धश्रवाः सुतस्तस्य तत्पुत्रो भानुरेव च।

जिह्वलस्य सुतः शृङ्गी तत्पुत्रो भीम एव च।
तत्पुत्रोऽपि यशश्चन्द्रो यशसा च शशी जितः॥११७॥

He had a son named Vṛddhaśravā and Vṛddhaśravā had a son named Bhānu, Bhānu had a son named Puṇḍrīka, while Puṇḍrīka had the son named Jihvala, Jihvala had the son named Śṛṅgī and Śṛṅgī had the son named Bhīma, Bhīma had a son named Yaśaścandra, who with his glory conquered even the glory of moon.

तत्पुत्रो धार्मिकः श्रीमान्धरारण्यश्च एव च।
तत्पुत्रो मङ्गलारण्यस्तपस्वी ज्ञानिनां वरः॥११९॥

His spotless glory was always recited by the gods and the sages. He had a son named Vareṇya. Vareṇya had the son named Purāraṇya who had a son named Dharāraṇya who was a quite a religious one. He had son named Maṅgalāraṇya who was a great ascetic and a great intellectual.

अपुत्रको नृपश्रेष्ठस्तपसे पुष्करं गतः।

संप्राप्य वैष्णवं पुत्रमनरण्यं जितेन्द्रियम्।
दत्त्वा तस्मै च राज्यं च जगाम तपसे वनम्॥१२१॥

Maṅgalāraṇya, the best of the kings was issueless. He, therefore, performed great tapas in Puṣkara region. He performed tapas for a long time and than achieved a boon, as a result of which he was bestowed with a son, who had controlled all his desires and was known by the name of Anaraṇya he entrusting the kingship to his son went to the forest for performing tapas.

अनरण्यो नृपश्रेष्ठः सप्तद्वीपमहीपतिः।
चकार यज्ञशतकं भृगुणा च पुरोधसा॥१२२॥

Anaraṇya the best of the king ruled the seven continents and he appointed Bhṛgu as his family priest and performed an hundred yajñas.

तुच्छं मत्वाऽऽशु शक्रत्वं न लेभे नश्वरं सुधीः।
लीलया च जितः शक्रो लीलया च जितो बलिः॥१२३॥

The king who was full of wisdom did not accept the position of Indra taking it to be quite perishable. He actually conquered Bali and Indra quite playfully.

जिताश्च दानवेन्द्रा वै ज्वलता स्वेन तेजसा।

तपःस्थाने निर्जने च गन्धर्वं स ददर्श ह।
स्त्रीषु निमग्नचित्तं च शृङ्गाररससागरे॥१२७॥

With the great luster he possessed the king of demons was also defeated. O Himālaya the king had a hundred sons and a beautiful daughter named Padmā who resembled Lakṣmī in beauty. Remaining in the house of her father she became youthful Thereafter the king sent the messengers to all sides. Once the great ascetic named Pippalāda was anxious to go to his āśrama. In that secluded place he came across to Gandharva who was enjoying the love-sport in the company of the damsels.

कामादतीव मत्तं च न जानन्तं दिवानिशम्।

Having been drowned in passion, the Gandharva was intoxicated and lost the sense about the day or the night. The sage witnessing the sight was filled with passion. From that day onwards, he remained upset and started thinking about his marriage. Once the sage Pippalāda was moving towards the bank of Puśpabhadra river for taking a bath. He spotted the princess Padmā on his way, who was quite youthful and looked like Kamalā in beauty. He enquired about her from the people there as to who was she and who was her father.

जना निवेदनं चक्रुः पद्माऽनरण्यकन्यका।

The people told him that she happened to be Padmā, daughter of Anaraṇya. Thereafter taking his bath and adoring lord Kṛṣṇa, the passionate. Sage went to the palace of Anaraṇya for receiving charity. Finding the sage there, the king felt panicky and he bowed in reverence to him offering madhuparka and performing pūjā for him. The sage accepted all his offering delightfully and than demanded the hand of his daughter.

मौनी बभूव नृपतिः किंचिन्निर्वक्तुमक्षमः।

रुरोद राजा सगणो दृष्ट्वा वृद्धं जरातुरम्

The king kept quiet. He was unable to speak out anything. The sage again put up his demand, "O king give me the hand of your daughter otherwise I shall reduce all your riches to ashes by pronouncing a curse. At that point of time with the lustre of the sage, all the courtiers of the kings were immensely influenced. Finding the body of the sage badly affected with old age, the king started crying with all his attendants and courtiers. All the queens also started crying. No one could think as to what could be done in those circumstances.

मूर्छां प्राप महाराज्ञी कन्या माता शुचाऽऽकुला।

The chief queen who happened to be the mother of the daughter got filled with grief and was fainted. Those well-versed in polity and the scriptures advised the king "O king. you have to give away in marriage the girl today or any other day. Do you think it proper to give away your daughter to some-one else besides the ascetic? I do not find anyone more suitable in the three worlds beside this Brāhmaṇa who could be given your daughter in marriage. you save all your riches by giving away the daughter to the sage. The entire kingdom would be destroyed for the sake of the princess.

One should disown everyone else except the one who takes refuge to save everything. The king listened to the intellectuals and while lamenting again and again adorning his daughter with all the ornaments. gave her away in marriage, to the sage. The sage also accompanied with his wife delightfully returned to his abode.

राजा सर्वान्परित्यज्य जगाम तपसे शुचा।

The king also, with this mind filled with grief, left the kingdom for performing tapas. His beautiful wife getting separated from the daughter and husband ended her life.

In the absence of the king his sons, grandson and the attendants were fainted. The king Anaraṇya reciting the name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa went to Goloka after performing tapas. Thereafter the eldest son of the king succeeded him and he treated all the people in his kingdom like his own sons .

Chapter - 42

Death of Satī

वसिष्ठ उवाच

अथानरण्यस्य कन्या सिषेवे भक्तितो मुनिम्।
कर्मणा मनसा वाचा लक्ष्मीर्नारायणं यथा॥१॥
एकदा स्वर्णनदीं स्नातुं गच्छन्तीं सस्मितां सतीम्।

विज्ञातुमन्तस्तत्त्वं च तस्याश्च मुनियोषितः॥४॥

Vasiṣṭha said- The daughter of king Anaraṇya served the sage physically, mentally and by speech with utmost devotion like Lakṣmī served Nārāyaṇa. Once while she was going to, the bank of Gaṅgā smilingly, for taking a bath, Dharma taking to the form of a beautiful king appeared before her in order to test her devotion. He started talking like a passionate person who was mounted over a gem-studded chariot, was adorned with gem- studded ornaments, was quite youthful and was as beautiful as the god of love. In order to test the inner feeling of the wife of the sage, Dharma spoke to her.

धर्म उवाच

अयि सुन्दरि लक्ष्मीव राजयोग्ये मनोहरे।
अतीव यौवनस्थे च कामिनी स्थिरयौवने॥५॥
जरातुरस्य वृद्धस्य समीपे त्वं न राजसे।
चन्दनागुरुसंलिप्ता राजसे राजवक्षसि॥६॥

Dharma said- O beautiful one, you are as attractive as Lakṣmī herself. O damsel, you are in youthful age and this youthful life is meant for the enjoyment of a king. Therefore, do you not feel disgraced by living with the sage who is pretty old. Getting your body plastered with sandal-paste and aguru you should adorn the lap of a king.

विप्रं तप:सु निरतं सत्यज्ञं मरणोन्मुखम्।

What is the use of that old Brāhmaṇa who is nearing death, is truthful and is always engaged in performing tapas. You disown him and look at me. I am a king. I am well-versed in the love-sport and presently I have been infested with passion.

A beautiful damsel achieves a beautiful person because of the good deeds of her earlier birth. She gets all her desires fulfilled with the embrace of a charming person.

O dear one, I am well-versed in the scriptures on love, possess thousands of beautiful damsels. I shall disown all of them. O damsel you make me your slave.

Accompanied with a charming damsel like you I shall roam about in the lonely places having no water, charming places, the mountains, the banks of the rivers and rivulets, flower orchards where the breeze is filled with the fragrance of flowers, besides the beautiful sandal-wood trees of the Malaya mountain. I am competent enough to subside the flame of passion arising in your body. You come along with me and enjoy my company making your present birth a success.

Thus speaking he descended from the chariot and he tried to catch hold of the hand of the princes:. At this, the chaste-lady spoke to him denouncing him at the same time.

पद्मोवाच

पिप्पलादं मुनिश्रेष्ठं तपसा पूतविग्रहम्।

Padmā said- O degraded king you are extremely sinful therefore move away. In case you cast a voluptuous eye on me, you would surely be reduced to ashes. Pippalāda is a sage who has, purified his body by great tapas. Leaving him, shall I enjoy company of a wicked person who has been defeated by the damsels.

You should realise it that with the touch of a person who is controlled by the women, one gets destroyed, there is no other greater sinner on earth like the one who is defeated by the ladies. Therefore you consider myself as your mother and should not speak like this, otherwise with the pronouncing of a curse by me, you would vanish.

श्रुत्वा धर्म: सतीशापं नृपमूर्तिं विहाय च।
धृत्वा स्वमूर्तिं देवेश: कम्पमान उवाच ताम्।।१८।।

On hearing about the curse of a chaste women, Dharma at once shed away the form of a king and took to a real form and with a trembling voice, he spoke to Padmā.

धर्म उवाच

I had come to you in order to test your mind in spite of the fact that I know fully well about the mind of the chaste lady. But still moved by the destiny I arrived here to test your chastity, O chaste lady you have done well by denouncing me. It is not Improper, it is quite appropriate to put a person moving on the wrong path in the right direction.

The one who has created Prakṛti, Mahāviṣṇu, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and other gods I how in reverence to him. The one who in earlier times bestowed whiteness to the milk, coolness to the water, burning to Agni, I bow in reverence to the same Kṛṣṇa.

अतितेजः समुत्थाय तेजोरूपाय मूर्तये।
गुणश्रेष्ठनिर्गुणाय तस्मै कृष्णाय ते नमः॥२८॥

The one who is extremely illustrious and the form of tejas, I bow in reverence too the Kṛṣṇa who happens to be full of qualities and even without qualities.

It is sinful, whatever I have spoken to you. O virtuous one, I spoke all that in anger, foolishness and because of the nature of women and cursed you also. Therefore, I am bow thinking about the curse.

The sky, all the directions and the wind could be destroyed but the curse of a chaste lady could never be destroyed. And with your destruction, the entire universe would vanish. Thus thinking I am standing here thoughtlessly. In spite of that I tell you that O king of the gods in the Satyayuga, the moon will shine with the full rays having four feet and you will illumine during the day and night. But, O lord in the Tretāyuga, you will be deprived of one foot. O virtuous one, during the Dvāpara you will have two feet only and during Kaliyuga your three feet could be destroyed. During the time of Kali, you will have the lustre of one feet only which would the multiplied by four times during Satyayuga, O virtuous one, during the Satyayuga you would remain all-pervading but in other yugas you would pervade partially. You will also be present only in the temples, sacred places, houses of the noble people which would become your abode.

Dharma said- O lady you are quite graceful, you are devoted to your husband, you will always meet with welfare, you have protected me and therefore I shall grant a boon to you. You accept it. O girl, your husband would become youthful, would be well-versed in love-sport, beautiful, virtuous and will have and ever-lasting youth. O chaste lady by achieving all the riches and fortunes you would also remain ever young. O daughter, your husband would live longer than Mārkaṇḍeya would possessed more riches than Kubera, would have more fortunes than Indra, would be more devoted to Viṣṇu and would be a siddha greater than Kapila. Your husband would always enjoy fortunes through out his life. O chaste lady, you would achieve the palaces far greater than the palaces of Kubera, you would achieve ten sons who would be more virtuous and enjoy longer life than your virtuous husband. There is no doubt about it. O mountain king, thus speaking is lord Dharma kept quiet.

Padmā than went round him and offered her salutation to him and then left for her abode. Dharma also reverted to his abode pronouncing boon on her.

Thereafter the noble sons were born to her who were more virtuous than their father. O king of the mountains, I have narrated to you the entire-ancient story.

The king Anaranya after giving away his daughter, protected all his kingdom and riches. You also give away your daughter to Śiva who is the lord of all and protect your kingdom together with all your relatives.

O lord of Mahālakṣmī, after a week an auspicious time would come when the moon would reach in Lagneśa and accompanied with his son Budha. All the moon and the stars would be quite favourable and auspicious it could be Monday of Mārgaśīrṣa month. This lagna is without any blemish, all the planets favourably-look at the king and there would be no unkind planet. It would be the best time and would bestower of progeny, would provide long life to the husband, deprive of widowhood, would bestow pleasure in all the births, would never make the husband and wife to separate. This would thus be the best of the combination. At that point of time you give away four daughter who happens to be the Mūlaprakṛti, Īśvarī, is the form of the tejas of all the gods, adored by all the gods, mother of the universe while Mahādeva who happens to be the father of the universe and become graceful.

In the earlier kalpa for the protection of the gods Mūlaprakṛti had emerged out of the lustre of the gods illumining all the ten directions.

By her grace the gods were rid of the enemies. The same Jagadambā after the change of kalpa, at the command of lord Kṛṣṇa was born as the daughter of Dakṣa. Dakṣa, on his part gave away the daughter in marriage to Śiva the holder of trident. O mountain, thereafter in the yajña of my father there was an assembly of gods, there developed a great row between Śiva and Dakṣa, as a result of which Śiva offering his salutation to Brahmā left this place.

Dakṣa also getting annoyed left the place with his attendants and reached his abode thereafter Dakṣa in anger collected the material for yajña and organise a great yajña. Out of jealousy, Dakṣ a did not invite Śiva in the yajña Finding this Satī developed a great rage against her father. Her eyes became red and with a painful heart she went to the place of her fathers yajña and from there she went to her mother.

Thereafter the all knowledgeable and the best of all the goddesses Satī spoke to her mother all the happening of the future in which the destruction of the yajña the insult of her father and the running away of all the gods towards Himālaya the fleeing of the sages and the performers of the yajña, besides the mountains, the victory of the gaṇas of Śiva, her own death and the wandering of Śiva infested with the grief of the separation of his wife-in all the directions forming of a lake with the tears flowing from the eyes of Śiva the consoling of Śiva by Janārdana and his composing himself, her own rebirth in the abode of Himālaya and marriage with Śiva. Thus she narrated everything to her mother. Thereafter, Satī with a painful heart left the place in spite of being dissuaded to do so by her sisters.

After shedding the body of Satī she entered in the cave of Gandhamādana mountain and entered the divine form in the cave, She in fact entered the same divine form by which she had killed the demons in earlier times, All the gods were completely surprised at the sight and started crying in panic. The army of Śiva arrived in the abode of Dakṣa and destroyed the yajña of Dakṣa. Getting filled with grief, they rushed back to Śiva and conveyed the news to him. On hearing this, Śiva went to the bank of the Gaṅgā and found the body of Pārvatī lying there.

दीनदैन्यापहारी च विललाप परं वच:।।६।।

At that point of time his eyes were filled with tears. Though he happens to be the refuge of down-trodden and removes the miseries of the miserable people, still his condition became miserable and he started lamenting.

शंकर उवाच

उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ सुभगे सति प्राणेश्वरि प्रिये।
शंकरोऽहं तव स्वामी पश्य मां निकटागतम्।।७।।

Śiva said- O beautiful one, O chaste lady of my life, get up I happen to be Śiva, your husband. You look at me since I have come to you.

शिवं शिवप्रदं सर्वसंपद्रूपं च सिद्धिदम्।
सर्वात्मानं च सर्वेशं शवतुल्यं त्वया विना।।८।।

Though I possess the form of welfare, bestow welfare and the form of all the riches, bestow success, the soul all and the lord of all but in spite of that I happen to be like a dead body without you.

शक्तोऽहं च त्वया सार्धं सर्वशक्तिस्वरूपया।
शक्तिहीन: शवसमो निश्चेष्ट: सर्वकर्मसु।।९।।

You possess all the prowess, I become competent only when you are with me. Without you I loose my śakti and become still in all the performance.

यश्च शक्तिं न जानाति ज्ञानहीनश्च निन्दति।
तं त्यक्तुमुचितं विज्ञे कथं मां त्यजसि प्रिये।।१०।।

O dear, you possess the special knowledge, the one who is not aware of the importance of śakti, such a person devoid of knowledge and denounce her. It is not proper for you to leave me. But why are you disowning me?.

स्वयं ब्रह्मा स्वयं विष्णु: साध्यभूता वयं तव।
सस्मितं सकटाक्षं च वद किंचित्सुधोपमम्।।११।।

Myself Brahmā and Viṣṇu adore you always. Now you speak smilingly nectar-like words casting side glances.

मधुराभासदृष्ट्या च मां दग्धं सेचनं कुरु।

कथमद्यापि रुष्टेव विलपन्तं न भाषसे।
प्राणाधिके समुत्तिष्ठ रुदन्तं मां न पश्यसि॥१३॥

You supply water to the like the rain water who has been burnt out by your separation, you always smiled at me looking from a distance and talked to me lovingly, why are you so much annoyed with me and are not talking to me when I am so lamenting. O lady of my life, get up why don't you look at me.

परित्यज्य च नः प्राणान्गन्तुं नार्हसि सुन्दरि।

पतिव्रते समुत्तिष्ठ कथं मां नाद्य सेवसे।
कथं करोषि विज्ञाय व्रतभङ्गं श्रुतिप्रसूः॥१५॥

O beautiful one it is not proper for you to leave me after death like this. O best lady of my life you are beyond everyone, O mother of the universe, get up. O chaste damsel, why don't you serve me today? You are the mother of the Vedas. What is all this being done by you breaking the vrata?.

इत्युक्त्वा मृतदेहं च प्रियाया विरहातुरः।

अधरे चाधरं दत्त्वा वक्षो वक्षसि शंकरः।
पुनः पुनः समाश्लिष्य पुनर्मूर्च्छामवाप सः॥१७॥

Thus speaking Śiva infested with the separation of Satī, lifted up the body of his beloved and embraced her, kissing at again and again. He placed his lips over her lips and the chest over her breasts. Thus he embraced her again and again while lamenting.

पुनः स चेतनां प्राप्य वेगादुत्थाय शोकतः।

सप्तद्वीपं सप्तसिन्धुं लोकालोकं च काञ्चनम्।
बभ्राम भ्रान्तवज्ज्ञानी सतीं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि॥१९॥

After regaining consciousness, he got up with force infatuated with grief. Inspire of his being the teacher of the intellectuals, he started wandering like an intoxicated person. Carrying the body of Satī, he wandered in the seven islands, seven oceans various countries and mountains. He started wandering in the fallacy.

शत शृङ्गगिरेः पार्श्वे जम्बुद्वीपे च भारते।
सुनिर्जनेऽक्षयवटे गङ्गातीरे सरित्तटे॥२०॥

While so wandering he went at Śataśṛṅgagiri in Bhārata in Jambudvīpa, Akṣayavaṭa, in the deserted land on the bank of Gaṅgā.

रुरोदोच्चैः स्वयं कृत्वा सति साध्वीत्युदीर्य च।

यत्र स्नात्वा पुनर्जन्म नराणां न भवेद्गिरे।
शतजन्मकृतं पापं स्नानमात्रेण नश्यति॥२३॥

He started crying, "O Satī, O chaste women". Thus crying he started shouting loudly. At that point of time the tears flowing from the eyes of Śiva were turned into a lake which was given the name of Netrasara. In due course of time it became the place for performing tapas by the sages. This auspicious and holy place was spread over an area of two yojanas. O mountain, while taking a bath in that sacred place, the humans do not have to be reborn. Having a dip into that water all the sins of the people disappear.

त्यक्त्वा तां मानवीं मूर्तिं नरा यान्ति हरेः पदम्।
तत्र स रोदनं त्यक्त्वा पुनर्बभ्राम मेदिनीम्॥२४॥

Discarding the human body, the people achieve the place of Viṣṇu. Then stopping crying he again started wandering on the earth.

पूर्णमब्दं महायोगी विरहातुरमानसः।

नित्य तद्भस्म भक्त्या च चकार गात्रलेपनम्॥२७॥

Śiva the great yogī was badly infested with separation and for a full one year he kept on wandering. O king of the mountains, wherever the limbs from the body of Satī fell the place was known Siddhapīṭha. Thereafter, Śiva cremating the remaining parts of the body of Satī, prepared a garland of her bones and wore it around his neck. The ashes of the body of Satī were applied by Śiva on his body.

सति प्राणेश्वरीत्युक्त्वा पुनर्मूर्च्छामवाप सः।

Then reciting the name of Satī the lady of his life, Śiva again fainted. The one who was always roaming in his own soul, even forgot Brahman. Thus the one who fulfilled the desires of others became lifeless with the grief of the separation of Satī and was seated under the banyan tree. He was lying there unconsciousness and finding him in that condition, all the gods were surprised. All of them than went to Śiva Lord Nārāyaṇa also accompanied with his attendants reached at the place. His feet were adorned by Kamalā with the ornaments of gems. He was wearing a pītāmbara had four arms, wore a smile on his face, was delightful and adorned with long garland of forest flowers. Dharma accompanied by gods and the sages arrived there and bowed in reverence to the lord of Lakṣmī. All of them were seated in an assembly there. Thereafter lord Hari took Śiva in his lap, who happen to be the teacher of the intellectuals and was crying. He than started consoling him.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

स्वात्माराम निबोधेदं मदीयं वचनं शृणु।
हितमध्यात्मसारं च दुःखशोकनिकृन्तनम्॥३४॥

The lord said- O lord, you are the one who roams about in his own soul, you listen to my words which are beneficial, divine, essence of the Vedas and destroy the grief.

मायाश्रिता गुणाः सर्वे हेतवः सुखदुःखयोः।
विष्णुमाया बलवती गुणयुक्तं प्रबाधते॥३७॥

Though you yourself happen to be the seed of the divine knowledge, possess supreme knowledge, are all knowledgeable and happen to be the creator of the creators, still I am imparting you the divine knowledge. When the life is in danger, even and unwise parson can render advise to a learned person. This is the tradition that the people try to convince one and other at appropriate time. All the virtues are controlled by Māyā which result into the pleasure and the pain for the humans. Therefore the powerful illusion of Viṣṇu causes more pain to the virtuous person.

हर्षं ऐश्वर्यदर्पश्च संततं तत्र वर्धते।

O Śambhu, O Īśvara, during the bad times one has to face pain, grief and fear. When the bad time is over and the good time arrives everything could be achieved. During that time the pleasure and fortunes go on increasing. Therefore the intellectuals considered it to be like a dream.

ज्ञानं लभ महादेव ज्ञानबीज सनातन।

O Mahādeva, you receive the knowledge. You are the seed of the knowledge and are eternal. Regain your consciousness. You will meet with welfare. You will surely get back Satī.

O Śiva as the coolness never leaves the waters the power of burning never leaves the fire, the lustre never leaves the sun, the fragrance never leaves the earth, similarly Satī cannot be separated from you. O mountain, on hearing this Śiva opened his eyes and looking at Hari he spoke. Whatever he spoke to him, you listen from me.

Śiva said- O form of lustre, who are you? Who are all the people surrounding you? What is Satī? Who am I? Who are you all talking with me where are these attendants going? You please tell me.

O mountain, on hearing this Hari started robbing with his attendants. He made Śiva to bathe with his tears. With the combination of the tears of Śiva and Nārāyaṇa, a pleasant lake was formed which was known by the name of Bhuvanapāvana-Tīrtha. It is located in the land of Bhārata, beyond the Astācala-mountain, close to the Akṣayaṭa tree which is a sacred place and provides salvation to the ascetics for performing tapas there. Thereafter Hari spoke in the presence of the gods and the chaste sages to Śiva, the words which were quite divine in nature.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

The lord said- O Śiva you are knowledgeable and blissful beside being eternal. You listen to me whatever I speak. O ocean of knowledge, you and the one who is beyond everything, you have forgotten the divine knowledge and are infested in grief. The good and bad days come and go during every one is life, they happen to be the cause of pleasure and pain for the people. One gets delighted with his pleasure and arrogance, prowess and pride, love and the desire for possession, jealousy, always appear on earth. One gets only feels because of the pain, grief and anger.

हतान्येतानि सर्वाणि हते वीजे महेश्वर।
सुदिनं दुर्दिनं चैव सर्वं कर्मोद्भवं भव॥५३॥

O Maheśvara, with the destruction of the seed all these get automatically destroyed. O Śiva the good days and bad days are achieved because of the past deeds.

तत्कर्म तपसां साध्यं कर्मणां च शुभाशुभम्।
तपः स्वभावसाध्यं च स्वभावोऽभ्यासतो भवेत्॥५४॥

The actions are successful by tapas and one gets the good and bad reward because of his own actions. The tapas can be attained by nature and the nature is the result of the constant practice.

The practice is achieved by noble company and while coming across with noble people, one achieves the merits. The unstable mind is the cause of merit or the sin. O Śambhu, the mind as well as all the organ of senses or my aṁśas, you are the creator of all and you happen to be the supreme knowledge and Brahmā is the lord of intelligence. The eternal Brahman and the great soul are one. Because of the difference in qualities, they achieved different forms. The Brahmatattva happens to be the one but appears in various forms. O Śiva, it is with qualities and without qualities as well.

मायाश्रितो यः सगुणो मायातीतश्च निर्गुणः।
स्वेच्छामयश्च भगवानिच्छया विकरोति च॥५८॥

The one who takes shelter under the illusion is called Saguṇa and the one who is devoid of illusion is called Nirguṇa. The lord always moves at will he appears of his own will in various form.

His will-power is given the name of Prakṛti which is eternal and is the creator of all. All the people describe the eternal Brahman in the form of lustre, but some other intellectuals taking him to be associated with Prakṛti call him Dvividha. Those who call him one, you listen to their argument. Brahmā, Māyā and Jīvātamā is beyond both. Both of them (Māyā and Jīvātamā) emerged from the Brahman. Therefore Brahman happens to be the cause of all, the same Brahman in spite of his being one, by his own will is divided into two. His will power is described as Prakṛti who happens to be the mother of all the śaktis. Because of the combination of all, the same great soul is described as Saguṇa. Indeed it happens to be the foundation of all, being eternal, the lord of all, the witness of all and the one who bestows the reward to all. O Śambhu, the body also is of two types, one is eternal and other is Prākṛta.

नित्यं विनाशरहितं नश्वरं प्राकृतं सदा।

आवयोरंशभूता ये प्राकृता नष्टविग्रहाः।
रुद्रादयस्त्वदंशाश्च मदंशा विष्णुरूपिणः॥६६॥

The eternal body never perishes but the Prākṛta body is perishable. O lord, the bodies of both of us are eternal. Such of the creatures who are our aṁśas or born out of the Triguṇātmikā Prakṛti and therefore they are called Prākṛta. The Prākṛta body is always perishable. Rudra and all other happen to be your aṁśas and those who are in the form of Viṣṇu happen to be my aṁśa.

पुरुषश्च सदा नित्यो नित्या प्रकृतिरीश्वरी।
सदा तौ द्वौ च संश्लिष्टौ सर्वेशां पितरौ शिव॥६९॥

I have two forms one having two arms and other having four arms. In my four-armed form I live in Vaikuṇṭha with Lakṣmī and other courtiers. In my two-armed form I am known by the name of Kṛṣṇa and reside in Goloka together with the cowherdesses and Rādhā. Such of the people who consider Brahma Dvividha, there are two main tattvas according to their opinion which include eternal Puruṣa and eternal Prakṛti Īśvarī. O Śiva, both of them are united together and they happen to be the parents of all.

सशरीरौ निःशरीरौ स्वेच्छया सर्वरूपिणौ।

शोकनाशो भवतु ते शिवं शिव ममाऽऽशिषा॥७२॥

Both of them take to definite form or remain formless according to their will, both of them have the form of all. As the Puruṣa has the eternal importance, similarly the Prakṛti also enjoys the same position O Śiva, if you intend to achieve Satī then adore Prakṛti. In the earlier times, whatever stotra you had delightfully given to Durvāsā, it is indeed divine and has been described in the Kaṇvaśākhā. You adore the mother of the universe with that stotra. O Śiva with my blessings you will get rid of the grief.

Your welfare would increase and you will be deprived of the ocean of the grief caused by the separation of your wife from you very soon. O king of the mountains, thus speaking lord Viṣṇu, the husband of Kamalā, kept quiet and lord Śiva started adoring Prakṛti at the same time. He took his bath and with his mind filled with devotion and overwhelmed he bowed in reverence to Kṛṣṇa and Brahmā.

Some people consider Prakṛti to be the biggest force and some of them describe Puruṣa to be like that. Some of the intellectuals consider that the two theory emerged from the difference in the descriptive details.

महाविष्णोर्नाभिदेशे स्थितं तं कमलोद्भवम्।

In the earlier times Brahmā who was seated on the lotus which had emerged out of the navel of Viṣṇu and the demon named Madhu and Kaiṭabha got ready to kill him. At that point of time Brahmā adored you seeking protection from the demon and in order to save Brahmā you woke up Nārāyaṇa from his sleep.

Thereafter, Nārāyaṇa with the help of your śakti killed both the demons. With your co-operation he is known as the lord of all and without you he feels helpless.

O greet goddess, protect me.

स्वात्मदर्शनपण्येन क्रीणीहि परमेश्वरि॥९६॥

O Īśvarī presently I am burning in the fire of separation from you. You protect me. O Parmeśvarī you purchase me by paying the price of appearing before me.

After thus speaking Śiva kept quiet. He than looked towards the sky and found the goddess Prakṛti present there. She was mounted on a chariot of gems, having hundred arms, with a delightful face, having the lustre of the molten gold, adorned with the gem-studded ornaments wearing a serene smile on the delightful face. She was mother of the universe in the form of Satī. Śiva who was suffering because of the separation again started offering prayer to her while sobbing and spoke to her the about pain of his separation.

दर्शयामासास्थिमालां स्वाङ्गस्थं भस्मभूषणम्।
कृत्वा बहु परीहारं तोषयामास सुन्दरीम्॥१००॥

He displayed the garland of bones worn by him and also the ashes applied by him on his body and satisfied the beautiful Satī.

नारायणश्च ब्रह्मा च धर्मः शेषः सुरर्षयः।
शिवं रक्षेश्वरीत्युक्त्वा तुष्टुवुस्ते सनातनीम्॥१०१॥

At that point of time Nārāyaṇa, Dharma, Brahmā, Śeṣa, the gods and the sages spoke, "O Īśvarī protect Śiva". Thus speaking they offered prayer to the goddess.

बभूव परितुष्टा सा तेषां स्तोत्रेण तत्क्षणम्।
उवाच कृपया शंभुं प्राणेशं प्राणवल्लभा॥१०२॥

With the reciting of the stotra, by all of them, she was at once pleased and she spoke to Śiva who was dearer to her than her life.

प्रकृतिरुवाच

स्थिरो भव महादेव मम प्राणाधिके प्रभो।

अहं शैलेन्द्रकामिन्यां लब्ध्वा जन्म महेश्वर।
तव पत्नी भविष्यामि मुञ्च त्वं विरहज्वरम्॥१०४॥

Prakṛti said- O Mahādeva, you keep patience. O lord you are dearer to me than my life. O Yogīśvara, you are my soul and my lord in every birth. O Maheśvara, I would be born from the womb of Menā the wife of Himālaya the king of the mountains and shall become your wife. Therefore you shed away the grief of my separation.

इत्युक्त्वा शिवमाश्वास्य चान्तर्धानं चकार सा।
सुराजग्मुस्तमाश्वास्यलज्जानम्रात्मकंधरम्॥१०५॥

Thus speaking assuring Śiva, the goddess disappeared. Thereafter, the gods bowing in shame before Śiva assured him variously and left for their respective abodes.

हर्षान्तरात्मा गिरीशः कैलासं तु जगाम ह।
ननर्त सगणस्तूर्णं संत्यज्य विरहज्वरम्॥१०६॥

Śiva than left for the Kailāsa mountain and freeing himself from the flames of separation, he started dancing with his gaṇas.

इदं शिवकृतं स्तोत्रं प्रकृत्या यः पठेन्नरः।
न भवेत्कामिनीभेदस्तस्य जन्मनि जन्मनि॥१०७॥

Whosoever recites this stotra of Prakṛti, composed by Śiva, would never have to face separation from his wife in any birth.

इह लोके सुखं भुक्त्वा स याति शिवमन्दिरम्।
धर्मार्थकाममोक्षांश्च लभते नात्र संशयः॥१०८॥

After enjoying all the worldly pleasures during the present life he would achieve the abode of Śiva and enjoys dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa, there is no doubt about it.

Then kāma enjoyed the company of Rati for a hundred divine years and during the period they remained unmindful of the day and night. Both of them were well-versed in the scriptures on love-sports. This both of them ware engrossed in pleasure and engaged themselves in the conjugal pleasure in which Rati never felt detached.

पतिविच्छेदसंतापं विजहौ सा रतिर्मुदा।
प्राप्य रत्नमपहृतं कः क्षणं त्यक्तुमुत्सहेत्।।१८।।

Thereafter Rati, shed away the grief of the separation from her husband. A person who gets back his last diamond would never part with it even for a moment.

O Rādhikā, I have now narrated to you the cause of the grief of Rati and its disappearing. Now you listen to the charming union of Hara and Gaurī which is like nectar for the ears, quite astonishing, which fulfils all the desires, removes the suffering, bestowers all the pleasures beside being auspicious.

Śiva was residing in the house of his father-in-law together with Pārvatī Thereafter Śiva with the permission of Himavān for the enjoying love-sport mounted on the gem-studded chariot which was built by Viśvakarmā inlaying precious gems. Both of them mounted on the chariot and departed from the place of Himavān.

They roamed about in the mountain of hundred peaks and Suvasana besides mountains like Malay a, Gandhamādana, Nandana, Puṣ pabhadra, Pāribhadra, Bhadraka, Pulinda, Kalinda, Puṅḍra, Piṇḍāraka and Andhaka mountains. They went round many of the charming forest, sea-shore, close to Astācala (mountain of the setting sun), under the pleasant roots of banyan tree where he had disowned Satī and lamented for long, several other places and the places which were devoid of animals and birds and were completely deserted. They travelled according to their own sweet-will and enjoyed the company of each other.

Again Śiva delightfully took Satī to the places where he had roamed about carrying her dead body on his shoulders.

Thus enjoying the conjugal pleasures for long and they were still, not satisfied after the laps of a thousand years.

The one who is beyond the illusion and is known as the lord of illusion was influenced by, the illusion of the illusion itself. The great yogī who had created time became unmindful of the same.

शक्तिशक्तिमतोस्तत्र न बभूव परिश्रमः।
जहतोः सर्वसंतापमन्योन्यविरहोद्भवम्॥३०॥

He shed away the entire grief emanating from his separation from Satī and therefore they did not have to make efforts for keeping śakti and the bestower of śakti together.

The minds of both of them were, attracted towards the pleasure. The bodies were overwhelmed lying on the flowers bed. They were fainted with passion and were unrobed with the enjoying of the pleasure. Both of them were well- versed in the conjugal pleasures and had injured each other's bodies with nails or teeth. The sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī, vermilion, spots which were painted over their bodies were erased. The knots of hair were dishevelled and the garments had been torn. They were creating sound with the garments, anklets, armlets, kuṇḍalas, while engaging in the physical exercise over flower bed crushing the flowers, they were breathing heavily. Even though they were equal in strength and the performing of the love-shorts and were feeder of the universe, but in spite of that the earth was pressed with their weight getting torn out, she started shaking together with the mountains and the ocean.

Because of your excessive weight the earth started shaking and with her shaking the serpent Śeṣa also felt terrified. with the suffering of the serpent Śeṣa, the tortoise also started trembling because of the agony of the tortoise even the wind god became upset as a result of which the breathing of all the creatures was disturbed, with the disturbing of all the creatures, all of them were upset. Thereafter, Brahmā and all other gods reached Viṣṇu to take refuge with him. All the gods narrated the entire story to lord Nārāyaṇa who spoke to Brahmā accordingly.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said- O Brahman, the time for disturbing their conjugal pleasure has not get arrived. Everything would be done at the appropriate time. After the lapse of a thousand years, they themselves would feel disinterested. At the moment Śiva would like to enjoy the conjugal pleasure. No one the earth would be competent enough to dissuade him from doing that.

Any-one who separates husband and wife from the conjugal pleasures, he has to face separation between, the husband and wife in every birth. Thereafter the sinful person falls into the kālasūtra hell and remains there for a lakh of years. In the present birth he remains devoid of knowledge and devoid of glory he becomes a pauper. The love-sport of Rambhā and Indra was disturbed by the great sage Durvāsā as a result of which he had to face separation from his wife.

पुनरन्यां च संप्राप्य निषेव्य शूलपाणिनम्।
दिव्यवर्षसहस्रं च विजहौ विरहज्वरम्॥४६॥

Thereafter, he adored lord Śiva the holder of the trident for a thousand years. He than got back another wife, as a result of which his suffering, because of separation came to an end.

The great sage Gautama disturbed the conjugal pleasure of Rohiṇī and Candramā, as a result of which he had to face the separation from his wife. He also performed tapas in the Puṣkara for a divine thousand years. Meditating upon Śiva he got back Ahalayā as a result of which his grief came to an end.

Once the sage, in a secluded forest, found his own son named Brahmāṇḍaka enjoying the conjugal pleasure with his wife and he separated him in anger. as a result of this in due course of time he was separated from his son. Thereafter in the second kalpa he performed tapas for Śiva and after getting back his son he was relieved of his anxiety.

As a result of this the sage Viśvāmitra who deprived of the riches, the kingdom and was denounced badly. Thereafter, he adored Śiva who is the bestower of all the riches. As a result of this he went to Vaikuṇṭha with all his relatives.

It is because of this, that Ajāmila the best of the Brāhmaṇas was engaged in union with a degraded women. the god could stop him from doing so.

Therefore O Brahman, the action is quite powerful, everything can be achieved with the same and the reward for that action is bestowed by me, who can make it otherwise?.

Śiva, who bestows the reward of actions, is going to enjoy the conjugal pleasure for a thousand years. After the completion of a thousand years Śiva would moved in such a way that his semen would fall on the earth as a result of which Skanda would be born who would redeem the devotees, I am always the form of welfare, therefore why should all of you worry, when I am there?.

After speaking like this, he immediately went back to his inner apartment and the gods. also went to their respective abodes, while Śiva and Pārvatī enjoyed their conjugal pleasure nicely.

नारायण उवाच

Nārāyaṇa said- Kṛṣṇa together with [illegible] who wears a smile on her face always looks with side glances, went to the forest of sandal-wood in a secluded place.

That secluded place was extremely charming where the cool fragrant breeze was blowing and had a number of flower orchard in the same. They enjoyed each others companies in that place. The beds of flowers garlands were available there, the sweet sound of the cuckoos was being heard, the black-wasps were issuing hissing sound. The place was the best for the passionate damsels.

While enjoying the conjugal pleasure both Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa became motionless. What more do you want to listen from me.

O Nārada, whosoever, listens to this welfare ceremony quite attentively he is never has to face a separation from his relatives. Getting plunged in the ocean of grief, after developing the difference of opinion with the son, the wife, the servant and the relatives whosoever, listens to the same for a month, he surely gets his desire fulfilled.

Sūta said- O great sage, Nārāyaṇa the son of Dharma kept quiet after thus speaking. Thereafter the sage Nārada asked him.

Shattering of the Pride of Indra

नारद उवाच

अथ क्रीडान्तरे राधा किं पप्रच्छ हरिं विभुम्।
कां कथां कथयामास कथ्यतां करुणानिधे॥१॥

Nārada said- O ocean of compassion, after the completion of the conjugal pleasures, what did Rādhikā ask from Śrī Kṛṣṇa and which was the story told by him to her. You kindly tell me.

नारायण उवाच

उत्थाय सुखसंभोगाद्राधां कृत्वा पुरो हरिः।
उवास मलयद्रोण्यां वटमूले मनोहरे॥२॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Getting free after enjoying of the conjugal pleasures, Hari and the pleasant Rādhā reached under the pleasant root of the banyan tree on the Malayācala and took their seats there.

राधा तं परिपप्रच्छ सस्मितं सुमनोहरम्।
दर्पभङ्गं वज्रभृतो निगूढं श्रुतिसुन्दरम्॥३॥

Rādhikā then smilingly put a question to the beautiful Kṛṣṇa about the shattering of the pride of Indra which was quite secretive and was quite pleasant for the ears.

राधिकोवाच

Rādhikā said- O Hari, the teacher of the universe, I have come to know the story about the glory of Śiva, the holder of trident and the shattering of his pride besides that of Pārvatī, the marriage of Śiva and Pārvatī. Now you tell me how the pride of Indra and others was shattered. I would like to know in detail all the stories.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

दर्पभङ्गं सुरपतेस्त्रिषु लोकेषु विश्रुतम्।

कर्णपीयूषमतुलं सुन्दरं शृणु सुन्दरि॥६॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- The story about the shattering of the pride of Kṛṣṇa, the lord of the gods, is well-known in the universe, The story is quite charming and serves like nectar for the ears. You please listen to it.

पुरा शतमखो दर्पात्कृत्वा शतमखान्मुदा।
बभूव सर्वेदेवानामध्यक्षः संपदा युतः॥७॥

In the earlier times, Indra having a hundred eyes proudly performed a hundred yajñas and achieved the presidency of the gods.

दिने दिने तदैश्वर्यं वर्धते तपसां फलात्।
दीक्षां तं कारयामास सिद्धमन्त्रं बृहस्पतिः॥८॥
स जजाप महामन्त्रं पुष्करे शतवत्सरम्।
बभूव मन्त्रसिद्धश्च परिपूर्णमनोरथः॥९॥

As a result of the tapas, his fortunes went on increasing. Bṛhaspati bestowed him the knowledge of Siddhamantra. Indra, recited the said mantra in the Puṣkara region for a hundred years, by reciting the mantra Indra met with success and achieved his desired boon.

ब्रह्मस्वरूपां प्रकृतिं संपन्मूढो न मन्यते।
सा तं शशाप स्वगुरोः शापं लेभेऽतिकोपतः॥१०॥

Thereafter, Indra became arrogant with possession of the riches and did not care for Prakṛti who happens to be the form of Brahman. Therefore Prakṛti pronounced a curse on Indra. Similarly he also earned a curse from his teacher.

एकदा प्रकृतेः शापाद्धतबुद्धिः स्वसंसदि।
गुरुं दृष्ट्वा समुत्थाय न ननाम मदान्वितः॥११॥

Indra having lost his wisdom with the curse of Prakṛti. Once, with the curse of Prakṛti Indra had lost his wisdom and when the teacher Bṛhaspati arrived in his court he neither welcomed him nor did he offer his salutation, to him, what to speak of rising from his seat.

बृहस्पतिस्ततः कोपान्नोवास गृहमाययौ।
न तस्थौ तारकाभ्याशे तपसे काननं ययौ॥१२॥

At this, Bṛhaspati was annoyed and instead of sitting there, he went back to his home. There also he did not stay with Tārā, but he left towards the forest for performing tapas.

उवाच मनसा दीनो यातु संपद्धरेरिति।

Feeling painful at heart he declared, Indra should be deprived of all his glory and riches. There-after when wisdom dawned over Indra, he said, "Where has my lord gone." Thus speaking he got up at once from his lion-throne and reached Tārā. With his mind filled with devotion and bowing in reverence to her with folded hands, he met Tārā. He narrated the entire episode to her and than started crying aloud. Finding him so crying Tārā also started crying.

वत्स गच्छ गृहं नैव गुरुं द्रक्ष्यसि सांप्रतम्।
दुर्दिनान्ते गुरुं प्राप्य पुनर्लक्ष्मीमवाप्यसि॥१६॥

She said, "O son you return home, you will not be able to meet your teacher at this time. You will be abide to meet your teacher only after the bad-days are over only then you would be able to get back your riches.

अधुना कर्मणां भोगं भुङक्ष्व मूढ दुराशय।
दुर्दिने स्वगुरो रोषः सुदिने परितोषणम्॥१७॥

O foolish and wicked minded one, you have to suffer for your misdeeds. If you have got the curse of your teacher in bad time, you would surely receive his pleasure in good time.

सुदिनं दुर्दिनं शक्र कारणं सुखदुःखयोः।
इत्युक्त्वा तारका देवी विरराम पतिव्रता॥१८॥

O Indra, the bad time and the good time are always the cause for the pain and pleasures. Thus speaking the chaste Tārā kept quiet.

Thereafter Indra went to the river Mandākinī for taking a bath and he found the beautiful wife of Gautama there, who was smiling serenely with side-glances At the sight of his developed breasts and the pelvic region, Indra was infested with passion and he fainted there. On regaining consciousness, instead of taking bath, he took to the form of her husband Gautama and reached her. The passionate Indra dragged Ahalayā who was wearing a wet Sari towards himself and then enjoyed her company. At that point of time the wife of the sage felt fatigued because of passion and was fainted.

Both Indra and the wife of the preceptor were fainted after the union. In the meantime the sage Gautama arrived there.

O dear one, the sage found Indra and his wife in compromising position. The sage was enraged like the flames of fire.

After knowing about the truth with the application of his divine knowledge, he was disturbed in anger. Regaining consciousness Indra found the sage in the form of the god of death and getting panicky, he fell at his lotus-like feet. Gautama whose face, eyes had grown red in anger looked at Indra who had fallen on his feet getting fearful and spoke to him the appropriate words.

Gautama said- O Indra, disgrace to you. You are the son of Kaśyapa, the best of the gods, who was quite intelligent and you are the great grandson of Brahmā the creator of the universe, then how could you. achieve such a nasty mind. Disgrace to you. The one whose maternal grand father happens to be Dakṣa Prajāpati and the mother is the chaste Aditi, how could their son be so degraded. This is quite astonishing you are the one who is well-versed in the Vedas and are quite intelligent but in your actions you are passionate for the Yoni. Therefore a hundred yonis would develop over your body and for full one year the smell of the yoni would emerge from your body. Thereafter with the adoration of Sūrya the yoni would be turned into the form of the eyes. O foolish one the reason for which you have desecrated the chastity of my beloved. Therefore with my curse and the anger of your teacher you will be deprived of all your riches. O foolish one because of your being my pupil I have not taken life out of you. O foolish one, because of the consideration of my own. teacher I am not ending your life because he happens to be quite an illustrious one and is intimately related to me. In order to avoid any misunderstanding between us I am leaving you alive. Therefore, O son Devendra, get up and go back to your house. Whatever good or bad happens, it does happen because of ones own deeds. At the advise of the great sage Indra went to the Puṣkara region.

Reaching there he started performing tapas with great devotion and repented immensely. At that point of time, the sage looked at Ahalayā who was rolling on his feet and said, "O beloved, Indra has made use of your body forcibly. You go to the forest and making a stone image of your own stay there. I am quite well-aware of the reality. Still because of the fact that you have been used by an other, you become degraded and you are unfit for my used. O Ahalayā, whether the women is desirous or not, in case per chance the semen of another person enters her womb then I tell you, the method of her purification. You listen in case a women is used by anyone against her desire she never gets polluted. On the other hand she gets purified after repentance.

अहल्ये याति दैवेन तदुपायं निशामय।
अकामतो न दुष्टा सा प्रायश्चित्तेन शुध्यति॥३९॥
कामभोगेन त्याज्या सा कर्मभोगेन शुध्यति।
पितृपाके दैवपाके पूजायां नाधिकारिणी॥४०॥

In case she herself indulges in the company of others She could be disowned and she could be purified after facing the result of her deeds, she cannot participate in the yajña of gods, manes and adoration.

षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि कालसूत्रं प्रयाति सा।
षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि क्षयं कृत्वा स्वकर्मणः॥४१॥

She falls into the kālasūtra hell and remains there for sixty thousand years. Thereafter she get purified after suffering for her misdeeds.

स्वामिनो वचनात्सा तु प्रणम्य स्वामिनं भिया।
नाथ नाथेति कुर्वन्ती रुदन्ती वनमाप सा॥४२॥

On hearing the words of Gautama, the terrified Ahalayā bowed in reverence to the sage and said, O lord, again and again. Thus speaking, she went to the forest.

षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि भुक्त्वा भोगं मुनिप्रिया।
श्रीरामचरणस्पर्शात्सद्यः श्रद्धा बभूव ह॥४३॥

For her misdeeds after, sixty thousand years, she was purified with the touch of the feet of Śrī Rāma.

त्रैलोक्यमोहनं रूपं विधाय मुनिकामिनी।
जगाम गौतमाभ्याशं मुनिः संप्राप्य (प) सुन्दरीम्॥४४

She then attained a charming face which could attract the three, worlds and went back again to sage Gautama who owned her delightfully.

अथ शक्रस्य वृत्तान्तं परमं शृणु सुन्दरि।
पापघ्नं पुण्यबीजं तत्संव्यस्य कथयामि ते॥४५॥

O beautiful one, now I shall tell you the best of the story of Indra which relieves one of all the sins and makes him attain merit.

एकदा च गुरोः कोपात्प्रकृतेरवहेलनात्।
ब्रह्महत्या वज्रभृतो बभूव हतचेतसः॥४६॥
शक्रस्त्यक्तगुरुर्दैवग्रस्तो दैत्यनिपीडितः।
जगाम शरणं भीतो ब्रह्माणं जगतां गुरुम्॥४७॥

Once with the anger of the teacher and moving against nature, Indra the holder of vajra, was deprived of intelligence and as such he earned the sin of Brahmahatyā. After having been defeated by the demons, Indra went to Brahmā, the teacher of the universe.

तदाज्ञया विश्वरूपं चकार च पुरोहितम्।
बभूव तत्र विश्वस्तो दैवाद्बुद्धिहतो हरिः॥४८॥

With the permission of Brahmā he made Viśvarūpa as his priest and started a yajña because of evil times, having lost his wisdom, Indra believed in Viśvarūpa completely.

दैत्यदौहित्रस्य भावं विज्ञाय च विचक्षणः।
प्रचिच्छेद शिरस्तस्य तीक्ष्णबाणेन लीलया॥४९॥
विश्वरूपपिता त्वष्टा श्रुत्वा सद्यश्चुकोप ह।

इन्द्रशत्रो विवर्धस्वेत्युक्त्वा यज्ञं चकार ह॥५०॥

Thereafter Viśvarūpa who was the maternal grand-son of the Daityas became wicked and Indra came to realise his wickedness. Therefore he cut off the head of Viśvarūpa with an arrow. Hearing about the death of his son, Tvaṣṭā the father of Viśvarūpa was enraged and he went to Indra. Reaching him he said to him, "O enemy of the Indra, you go on increasing your riches." Thus speaking he completed the yajña.

यज्ञकुण्डात्समुत्तस्थौ वृत्रो नाम महासुरः।
चकार निग्रहं कोपाद्देवानामवलीलया॥५१॥

A demon named Vṛtra emerged out of the fire alter established his superiority on the gods in no time.

शक्रो महामुनेरस्थ्नां वज्रं कृत्वा सुदारुणम्।
जघान वृत्रं देवानां कण्टकं दैत्यमर्दनः॥५२॥

Thereafter Indra the destroyer of the demons, made vajra of the bone of the Dadhīci and killed Vṛtra who was like a thorn for the gods.

ब्रह्महत्या शुनासीरं दुद्राव हतचेतनम्।
रक्तवस्त्रपरीधाना वृद्धस्त्रीवेषधारिणी॥५३॥
सप्ततालप्रमाणा सा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका।
ईषाप्रमाणदशना महाभीतं चकार तम्॥५४॥

But Indra, who was not quite conscious attracted the sin of Brahmahatyā. The Brahmahatyā was clad in red garments and looked like an old woman. Her height equated with seven tāla trees and her throat, lips and palate had dried up her teeth resembled plough-shafts. She terrified Indra very much.

धावन्तं परि (मनु) धावन्ती बलिष्ठा हतचेतनम्।
खड्गहस्ता दयाहीना वेगेन परिधावति॥५५॥
इन्द्रो दृष्ट्वा च तां घोरां स्मारं स्मारं गुरोः पदम्।
विवेश मानससरो मृणालसूक्ष्मसूत्रतः॥५६॥

When Indra was so running away he was followed by her. Brahmahatyā was quite strong and Indra lost his senses. Her nature was quite cruel and holding a sword in her hand, she rushed towards Indra. Finding the terrific Brahmahatyā following him, he remembered the feet of his teacher and through the lotus stalk, he took to a tiny form and reached Mānasarovara.

तत्र गन्तुं न शक्ता सा ब्रह्मणः शापकारणात्।
सा तस्थौ वटशाखायां सरसस्तटसंनिधौ॥५७॥

Brahmahatyā because of the curse of Brahmā could not reach there. Therefore, she was perched over a tree branch standing at the bank of lake Mānasarovara.

अथात्र नहुषो भूपस्त्रिलोकेशो बभूव ह।
स ययाचे शचीं देवान्बलिष्ठो दुर्बलानपि॥५८॥

At that point of time king Nahuṣa was made the lord of the three worlds, Nahuṣa was quite powerful and the gods were quite weak. Therefore after establishing himself over the thrown of Indra, Nahuṣa demanded that Indrāṇī, the spouse of Indra should be made to serve him.

शची श्रुत्वा महाभीता तारकां शरणं ययौ।
तारा निर्भर्त्स्य स्वपतिं भृत्यपत्नीं ररक्ष च॥५९॥

On hearing this Śacī felt terrified and she went to take refuge with goddess Tārā. Tārā on her part, denounced her husband very badly and than protected Śacī.

शचीमाश्वास्य च गुरुर्जगाम तत्सरो मुदा।
आजुहाव शुनासीरं कातरं हतचेतनम्॥६०॥

The teacher assured Śacī and went to Mānasarovara and started calling Indra who was panic-stricken and quite dejected.

बृहस्पतिरुवाच

उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ हे वत्स भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते।
त्वदीश्वरं स्वरेणैव निशामयभयं त्यज॥६१॥

Bṛhaspati said- O son, get up. Why should you be afraid when I am there, you recognise me from my voice that I am your teacher don't be afraid and come out.

स्वरं बृहस्पतेर्ज्ञात्वा सर्वसिद्धीश्वरो हरिः।
सूक्ष्मरूपं परित्यज्य स्वरूपं च दधार सः॥६२॥
उत्थाय सद्यः संभ्रान्तो गुरुं तं सूर्यवर्चसम्।
दृष्ट्वा ननाम संप्रीत्या संप्रीतं त्यक्तकोपकम्॥६३॥
पादाम्बुजे निपतितं रुदन्तं भयविह्वलम्।
निधाय वक्षसि प्रेम्णा रुरोद प्रेमविह्वलः॥६४॥
रुदन्तं वाक्पतिं तुष्टं तुष्टाव त्रिदशेश्वरः।

पुटाञ्जलिः पुलकितो भक्तिम्रात्मकंधरः॥६५॥

Recognising the voice of Bṛhaspati, Indra the lord of all the siddhis, discarded his tiny form and to taking to his original form met his teacher who was illumining like the sun. He had been quite happy discarding all the anger. He bowed in reverence to him with devotion and falling on his feet, he started crying. Getting filled with love the teacher picked up Indra and lovingly embraced him and he himself started crying. Finding Bṛhaspati having been fully satisfied and weeping, Indra was fully satisfied and overwhelmed. His head was bowed down in reverence and with folded hands he started praising him.

इन्द्र उवाच

क्षमस्व भगवन्दोषं कृपां कुरु कृपानिधे।
भृत्यापराधं सततं न गृह्णाति सदीश्वरः॥६६॥

Indra said- O ocean of mercy, you forgive me for my sins, be compassionate on me, the noble lords do not mind about the sins of their servants.

स्वभार्यासु स्वशिष्येषु स्वभृत्येषु सुतेषु च।
दुर्बलः सबलो वाऽपि को दण्डं कर्तुमक्षमः॥६७॥

Which one of the person would be incompetent to punish his own sons, wife, pupil and servant even if he is quite weak having no strength.

त्रिषु कोटिषु देवेषु देवकोऽहमपण्डितः।
त्वत्प्रसादात्सुरश्रेष्ठ कृपया वर्धितस्त्वया॥६८॥
संहर्तुमीशस्त्वं सर्वमहं को वाऽपि कीटवत्।
स्वयं विधातुः पौत्रश्च पुनः स्रष्टुं स्वयं क्षमः॥६९॥

Of all the three crores of the gods, I am the only one who is extremely foolish, but O best of the gods, for your own pleasure, you have always sought for my glory, you will be competent enough to destroy all. Who am I like a small insect, you are yourself the grandson of Brahmā are quite competent enough to create the universe. After having been so eulogised by Indra, Bṛhaspati his teacher was fully satisfied and expressing his pleasure through his face and eyes, he spoke to Indra lovingly.

इति तस्य स्तवं श्रुत्वा परितुष्टो गुरुः स्वयम्।
उवाच वचनं प्रीत्या प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः॥७०॥

गुरुरुवाच

स्थिरो भव महाभाग निश्चलां कमलां लभ।
संप्राप्य परमैश्वर्यं पूर्वस्माच्च चतुर्गुणम्॥७१॥

Bṛhaspati said- O virtuous one, be composed and receive the ever-lasting riches. O son, Indra you will receive four times more, the wealth, return to Amarāvatī and rule on the city.

गच्छामरावतीं वत्स राज्यं कुरु पुरंदर।
हतशत्रुर्मत्प्रसादाद्गत्वा पश्य शचीं सतीम्॥७२॥

By my grace all your enemies would be destroyed. You go at once and meet the chaste Śacī.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स गुरुः सशिष्यो गन्तुमुद्यतः।
ददर्श पुरतो घोरां ब्रह्महत्यां सुदुःसहाम्॥७३॥
दृष्ट्वा शक्रो महाभीतस्तं गुरुं शरणं ययौ।
बृहस्पतिर्महाभीतः सस्मार मधुसूदनम्॥७४॥
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी।
स्वल्पाक्षरा च बह्वर्था तां शुश्राव बृहस्पतिः॥७५॥

Thus speaking, as soon as the both the teacher and the pupil were about the leave that place. Brahmahatyā in terrific form appeared before them. Indra felt terrified and took refuge with. his teacher. At that point of time Bṛhaspati feeling panicky recited the name of Madhusūdana. In the meantime there was a divine voice from the sky which carried deep meaning in few words. Bṛhaspati heard it.

संसारविजयं नाम सर्वाशुभविनाशनम्।
राधिकाकवचं दत्त्वा शिष्यं रक्षाधुनेति च॥७६॥

It said, "You save your pupil by giving him the Rādhā-kavaca which destroys all the evils.

तदा त्वत्कवचं दत्त्वा शिष्याय शिष्यवत्सलः।
चकार भस्मसात्तां च हुंकारेणैव लीलया॥७७॥

Thereafter, the teacher to whom the pupil was immensely dear gave to Indra, your kavaca and destroyed the Brahmahatyā with a huṁkāra.

तदा शिष्यं गृहीत्वा च गत्वा ताममरावतीम्।
ददर्श च्छिन्नभग्नां च शत्रुणा वचनाद्गुरोः॥७८॥

Thereafter accompanied with the pupil, Bṛhaspati went to Amarāvatī and found that the city had been destroyed by the enemy.

भर्तुरागमनं श्रुत्वा शची संहृष्टमानसा।
प्रणम्य च गुरुं भक्त्या स्वकान्तं प्रणनाम सा॥७९॥

On hearing about the arrival of her husband, Śacī was delighted. She bowed in reverence to the teacher and else her husband.

श्रुत्वाऽऽगमनमिन्द्रस्य समाजग्मुः सुराः प्रिये।
ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव हर्षगद्गदमानसाः॥८०॥
योजयामास सत्कारुं निर्मातुममरावतीम्।
पूर्णमब्दशतं शिल्पी निर्ममे रुचिरां पुरीम्॥८१॥
नानारत्नविचित्राढ्यां मणिरत्नेन्द्रनिर्मिताम्।

विश्वकर्मा गृहं गन्तुं न शशाक विनाऽऽज्ञया।
परमोद्विग्नचित्तश्च ब्रह्माणं शरणं ययौ॥८३॥

Thereafter hearing about the arrival of Indra, all the gods, the sages and the ascetics felt delighted and were overwhelmed. They all reached before Indra. Indra was entrusted with the task of rebuilding of Amarāvatī to Viśvakarmā the best of the architects. The architect spent a hundred year in rebuilding the city of Amarāvatī, it was inlaid with various types of gems, diamonds and precious stones and looked quite charming and beautiful but Indra was not satisfied with it. On the other hand Viśvakarmā could not return to his abode, without his permission Therefore with a disturbed mind he went to take refuge with Brahmā.

विज्ञाय तदभिप्रायं तमुवाच विधिः स्वयम्।
तव कर्मक्षयादेव तावच्छ्वो भवितेति च॥८४॥
श्रुत्वा तद्वचनं कारुः शीघ्रं प्रापामरावतीम्।
ब्रह्मा जगाम वैकुण्ठं प्रणम्योवाच मातरम्॥८५॥

Realising the cause of his arrival Brahmā himself said to him, "Because of your own actions, you have been stopped here and with the destruction of those deeds you would be relieved of your assignment from this place tomorrow." On hearing the words of Brahmā, Viśvakarmā at once returned to Amarāvatī and Brahmā went to Vaikuṇṭha. There, he bowed in reverence to his parents and told them about the difficulty of Viśvakarmā.

हरिर्ब्रह्माणमाश्वास्य प्रस्थाप्य स्वगृहं च तम्।
विप्ररूपं समास्थाय चाऽऽजगामामरावतीम्॥८६॥
दण्डी छत्री शुक्लवासा बिभ्रत्तिलकमुज्ज्वलम्।
अतिखर्वः शुक्लदन्तः सस्मितः सुमनोहरः॥८७॥
वयसाऽतिशिशुर्बुद्ध्या ज्ञानवृद्धाद्विचक्षणः।
स्वयं विधातुर्धाता च दाता च सर्वसंपदाम्॥८८॥

Lord Viṣṇu assured Brahmā and sent him back to his abode. He himself took to the form of a Brāhmaṇa boy and reached Amarāvatī. He was holding a Daṇḍa and Chatra. He was clad in white garments and his forehead was painted with tilakam he was dwarfish in outlook and white teeth. He wore a serene smile on his face which was quite charming He was in the form of a small boy but he possessed the divine intelligence. He himself was Brahmā for Brahmā and bestower of all the riches.

इन्द्रद्वारे समुत्तिष्ठन्द्वारपालमुवाच ह।
ब्रूहीदं ब्राह्मणो द्वारे शीघ्रं त्वां द्रष्टुमागतः॥८९॥
इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा द्वारि ज्ञानं चकार तम्।
स च शीघ्रं समागम्य ददर्श ब्राह्मणार्भकम्॥९०॥

Reaching at the gate of the palace of Indra, he told the gate-keeper, "You inform Indra that a Brāhmaṇa boy has arrived to meet him." On hearing the words of the boy, the gate-keeper informed Indra and Indra at once met the Brāhmaṇa boy.

बालकानां बालिकानां समूहैः परिवेष्टितम्।
हसद्भिश्च महोत्साहात्सस्मितं तेजसाऽन्वितम्॥९१॥
प्रणनाम हरिर्भक्त्या तं हरिं शिशुरूपिणम्।
आशिषं युयुजे प्रीत्या तं हरिर्भक्तवत्सलः॥९२॥
मधुपर्कादिकं दत्त्वा शक्रः पूजां चकार तम्।
पप्रच्छाऽऽगमनं कस्माद्वदेति विप्रबालकम्॥९३॥

The boy and girls surrounded him joyfully from all sides but he was smiling quite nicely and he was quite illustrious in his form. Indra bowed in reverence to Hari who had arrived in the form of a boy with great devotion. The lord on his part blessed him variously. Indra adored him, offering him madhuparka and other eatables. Thereafter he questioned the boy, "What brings you here.".

इन्द्रस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच द्विजार्भकः।
मेघगम्भीरया वाचा बृहस्पतिगुरोर्गुरुः॥९४॥

On hearing the words of Indra, the Brāhmaṇa boy who happened to be like teacher Bṛhaspati spoke in a deep voice like the cloud.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

समागतोऽहं त्वां द्रष्टुं प्रष्टुं वचनमीप्सितम्।
चित्रं नगरनिर्माणं समाकर्ण्याद्भुतं हरे॥९५॥

Brāhmaṇa said- O Hari, I have come to meet you after coming to know about the construction of this astonishing city and to ask you some important questions.

कतिवर्षं च निर्माणे भवान्संकल्पितो यथा।
कतिचित्तां विश्वकर्मा निर्माणं वा करिष्यति॥९६॥

What is the time schedule fixed for the construction of this city or otherwise for how long Viśvakarmā would be engaged in the construction work.

एवंभूतं च निर्माणं न केनेन्द्रेण निर्मितम्।
नैवंविधसुनिर्माणे विश्वकर्मा परः क्षमः॥९७॥

No Indra has so far resorted to this type of construction. No other Viśvakarmā would be competent enough to carry out such a type of construction.

बालकस्य वचः श्रुत्वा जहास स सुरेश्वरः।
संपन्मदातिमत्तश्च पुनः पप्रच्छ बालकम्॥९८॥

On hearing the words of the boy, Indra getting arrogant because of the immense riches, laughed and enquired from the boy again.

कतीन्द्राणां समहश्च त्वया दृष्टः श्रुतोऽथवा।
विश्वकर्मा कतिविधस्तं मे ब्रूहि शिशोऽधुना॥९९॥
शक्रस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य विप्रबालकः।
तमुवाच श्रुतिसुखं पीयूषसदृशं वचः॥१००॥

"O boy how many of the Indras have you seen so far or heard about them and how many type of Viśvakarmās have been heard or seen by you. You kindly let me know in detail. On hearing the words of Indra, the Brāhmaṇa boy smiled and spoke the words which were sweet like nectar and were pleasant to listen.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

जानामि कश्यपं तात तव तातं प्रजापतिम्।
मुनिं मरीचिनामानं तत्तातं च तपोनिधिम्॥१०१॥

Brāhmaṇa said- I am well-aware of your father who happens to be Prajāpati Kaśyapa. I also know your father who was the great ascetic and was Known by the name of Marīci.

नाभिपद्मोद्भवं विष्णोः स्तुत्वा तं विधिमीश्वरम्।
रक्षितारं च तं विष्णुं परं सत्त्वगुणान्वितम्॥१०२॥

I am also well-acquainted with Brahmā, the lord of the gods who emerged out of the lotus, that was born from the navel of Viṣṇu. I have also acquaintance with Mahāviṣṇu who is the protector of Sattvaguṇa.

एकार्णवं च प्रलयं सत्त्वशून्यं भयानकम्।
सृष्टिं कतिविधां शक्र कल्पं कतिविधं ध्रुवम्॥१०३॥
ब्रह्माण्डं च कतिविधं ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वरान्।
ब्रह्माण्डेषु कतिविधानिन्द्रान्को गन्तुमीश्वरः॥१०४॥

I am also well-aware of the deluge of the ocean at the time of dissolution which looked quite terrible and was without any creatures. O Indra definitely the universe is of various types and the kalpas are also different while the Brahmāṇḍas are innumerable. In these Brahmāṇḍas several Brahmās, Viṣṇus, Maheśvaras and Indras have emerged. who can count their numbers but I am aware of all of them.

यदि संख्याऽस्ति रेणूनां धरायां च सुराधिप।
तथाऽपि संख्या शक्राणां नास्त्येवेति विदुर्बुधाः॥१०५।

O best of the gods even if one is able to count the particles of dust on earth in spite of that the number of Indras cannot be counted. This is the opinion of the intellectuals.

शक्रस्याऽऽयुश्चाधिकारो युगानामेकसप्ततिः।
अष्टाविंशतिशक्राणां पतनेऽहर्निशं विधेः॥१०६॥

The life and sovereignty of Indra is limited to four yugas. After the fall of twenty eight Indras, a day of Brahmā is counted.

विधेरष्टोत्तरशतमायुरेव प्रमाणतः।
सुरेन्द्राणां च का संख्या नास्ति संख्या विधेरपि॥१०७

Thus Brahmā lives for hundred and eight years. The number of Brahmās also cannot be counted, what to speak of the numbers of Indras.

ब्रह्माण्डसंख्या यत्र क्व ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः।
महाविष्णोर्लोमकूपोद्भवे तोये सुनिर्मले॥१०८॥
ब्रह्माण्डेऽस्ति यथा नौका भवतोये च कृत्रिमा।
एवं लोम्नः प्रमाणेन ब्रह्माण्डाः सन्त्यसंख्यकाः॥१०९॥

When the number of Brahmāṇḍas cannot be counted then how could one count a number of Brahmās, Viṣṇus and Śiva. An the hair-pits of Mahāviṣṇu, the position of Brahmāṇḍas in the spotless water is the same, as a boat which floats on the waters of the river. Thus as the number of hair-pits on the body of Mahāviṣṇu are innumerable, similarly the Brahmāṇḍas are also believed to be innumerable.

ब्रह्माण्डे च कतिविधाः सुराः सन्त्येव त्वत्समाः।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र ददर्श पुरुषोत्तमः॥११०॥
पिपीलिकासमूहं च व्यायतं धनुषां शतम्।
क्रमशस्तान्संनिरीक्ष्य जहासोच्चैर्द्विजार्भकः॥१११॥
नोवाच किंचिन्मौनी च गम्भीरः सागरो यथा।
दृष्ट्वा हास्यं विप्रबटोर्गाथां श्रुत्वाऽतिविस्मितः
पप्रच्छ च पुनर्विप्रं शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकः॥११२॥

in each one of the Brahmāṇḍas, many of the gods like you reside. In the meantime Hari looked at a large number of ants was spread over the length of a thousand bows looking at them the Brāhmaṇa boy laughed aloud but did not speak out anything, keeping quiet he looked serious. Realising about the joke of the Brāhmaṇa boy and listening to his words, Indra was immensely surprised. His throat, lips and palate dried up. Thereafter he questioned the Brāhmaṇa boy.

इन्द्र उवाच

कथं हससि विप्रेन्द्र मां शीघ्रं कारणं वद।
त्वं वा को माययाच्छन्नः शिशुरूपी गुणार्णवः॥११३॥

Indra said- O Brāhmaṇa boy, why are laughing; you tell me the reason for it at once. Otherwise tell me influenced by the illusion and possessing all the virtues who are you in the form of a boy?

इन्द्रस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच द्विजार्भकः।
आध्यात्मिकं नीतिसारं ज्ञानबीजं परं वचः॥११४॥

On hearing the words of Indra, the Brāhmaṇa boy spoke out divine knowledge which was the form of seed for everything.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

दृष्टः पिपीलिकासंघो हेतुरस्य निगूढकः।
मा मां पृच्छ शोकबीजं तव चाज्ञानकारणम्॥११५॥

Brāhmaṇa said- Are you looking at the group of the ants, the reason for the same is quite deep. You don't ask me about the reason for your foolishness and grief.

सांसारिकाणां संसारवृक्षमूलनिकृन्तनम्।
अज्ञानतमसि च्छन्नं ज्ञानदीपमनुत्तमम्॥११६॥
निगूढं सर्ववेदेषु सिद्धानामपि दुर्लभम्।
योगिनां प्राणतुल्यं च मूढाहंकारभञ्जनम्॥११७॥

This is the destroyer of the roots of the tree? of the universe, surrounded by several creatures. It is covered with the darkness of foolishness. The best of the light is available in the Vedas which is beyond the reached of the siddhas, yogīs and destroys the arrogance of the people.

इत्युक्त्वा तत्र संतस्थौ सस्मितो द्विजपुंगवः।
पुनः पप्रच्छ शक्रस्तं शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकः॥११८॥

Thus speaking the boy who kept on smiling became mum. Than Indra whose throat, lips and palate had dried up again said to the boys.

शक्र उवाच

ब्रूहि विप्रबटो शीघ्रं ज्ञानदीपं पुरातनम्।
न जानामि शिशुः कस्त्वं ज्ञानराशिः स्वमूर्तिमान्॥११९॥
इन्द्रस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा विप्ररूपी जनार्दनः।
ज्ञानं भाषितुमारेभे योगीन्द्राणां सुदुर्लभम्॥१२०॥

Indra said-"O Brāhmaṇa boy you enlighten me about the ancient light of the knowledge. You are the ocean of knowledge and are illustrious one. Who are you in the form of a boy, I am unable to know about you." On hearing the words of Indra the boy who was else than Janārdana himself, imparted the divine knowledge to Indra which was beyond the reached of even the great yogīs.

ब्राह्मण उवाच

सृष्टः पिपीलिकासंघ एकैकः क्रमशो मया।
सर्वे स्वकर्मणा शक्र शक्रीभूताः सुरालये॥१२१॥
अधुना कर्मणा सर्वे क्रमशो भूतजन्मनाम्।
अतीतकाले संप्राप्ता भूतजातिं पिपीलिकाम्॥१२२॥

Brāhmaṇa said- O Indra, I have created the entire group of the ants, one by one, all these ants had been established, on a throne of Indra one by one. All of them after having been born in various yugas have currently been born as ants.

कर्मणा जीविनो यान्ति वैकुण्ठं च निरामयम्।
कर्मणा ब्रह्मलोकं च शिवलोकं च कर्मणा॥१२३॥

The people achieved Vaikuṇṭha by means of their actions and by means their karmas alone they achiever Brahmaloka and Śivaloka.

स्वर्गं स्वर्गसमास्थानं पातालं च स्वकर्मणा।
कर्मणा नरकं घोरं स्वात्मदुःखैककारणम्॥१२४॥

By means of their own karmas they achieve the heaven and the nether-world which is also like heaven. By means of actions, they fall into the hell.

कर्मणा सूकरीगर्भं कर्मणा क्षुद्रजीवनम्।
कर्मणा पशुपत्नीनां कर्मणा पक्षियोषिताम्॥१२५॥
कर्मणा कीटयोनिं च वृक्षत्वं च स्वकर्मणा।
स्वकर्मणा सुखी दुःखी सेव्यः सेवक एव च॥१२६॥

With the same actions, the people are born from the womb of a pig and by the same actions they are born as degraded ones. By actions alone one achieves the womb of animals, the birds, the insects, besides the trees and becomes a lord or a slave.

कर्मणा ब्राह्मणत्वं च दैवं चापि स्वकर्मणा।
स्वकर्मणा च प्रेतत्वं ब्रह्मत्वं च स्वकर्मणा॥१२७॥

By actions alone one is born as a Brāhmaṇa and a god or the position of Brahmā.

कर्मणा शिबिकारोहो राजेन्द्रश्च स्वकर्मणा।
कर्मणा व्याधियुक्तश्च कर्मणैवातिसुन्दरः॥१२८॥

By ones' own action, one is mounted in a palanquin and with the same process, one becomes a great king. By actions alone one achieves the ailment or the beauty.

कर्मणा स्वाङ्गहीनश्च स्वाङ्गवृद्धश्च कर्मणा।
विधाता कर्मसूत्रेण फलदाता च जीविनाम्॥१२९॥

By actions alone one is born without limbs or deformed or with excess of limbs, with the actions alone Brahmā provides reward for the actions.

कर्म स्वभावसाध्यं च स्वभावोऽभ्यासजीवकः।
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वमाध्यात्मिकपरं वचः॥१३०॥
सुखदं पुण्यदं सारं नरकार्णवतारकम्।
संसारं स्वप्नवत्सर्वं देवेन्द्र सचराचरम्॥१३१॥

The actions are performed by nature and by practice. Thus I have narrated to you everything divine which bestows pleasures, merit and is the form of tattva besides relieving one of the ocean of hell. O Devendra, the entire universe irrespective of the moveable and immovable creatures is perishable.

मृत्युश्च मस्तकस्थायी सर्वेषां कालयोगतः।
जलबुद्बुदवत्सर्वं जीविनां च शुभाशुभम्॥१३२॥
शक्र शश्वद्भ्रमत्येव नाऽऽविष्टस्तत्र पण्डितः।
इत्येवमुक्त्वा विप्रश्च तत्र तस्थौ च सस्मितः॥१३३॥

In this universe with the combination of time, the death hovers around the head of everyone. Everything of the creatures irrespective of good and bad are like the water bubbles. O Indra, the intellectuals always roam about in this world but never get attracted towards anyone. Thus speaking the Brāhmaṇa boy kept on sitting there.

विस्मितस्त्रिदशाध्यक्षो नाऽऽत्मानं बहु मन्यते।
एतस्मिन्नन्तरे शीघ्रमाजगाम मुनीश्वरः॥१३४॥
अतिवृद्धो महायोगी ज्ञानेन वयसा महान्।
कृष्णाजिनी जटाधारी बिभ्रत्तिलकमुज्ज्वलम्॥१३५॥
वक्षःस्थले रोमचक्रं बिभर्ति मस्तके कटम्।
स्थितं सर्वं मध्यदेशे किंचिदुत्पाटितं स्फुटम्॥१३६॥
समागत्य द्वयोर्मध्ये तस्थौ स्थाणुवदेव सः।
महेन्द्रो ब्राह्मणं दृष्ट्वा प्रणनाम मुदाऽन्वितः॥१३७॥

मधुपर्कादिकं दत्त्वा पूजयामास भक्तितः।
प्रपच्छ कुशलं विप्रं चकार विनयं परम्॥१३८॥
तुष्टावातिथिभावेन मुदा सादरपूर्वकम्।
विप्रार्भकस्तेन सार्धं संभाषां च चकार सः॥
स्ववाञ्छितं परं प्राह सर्वं विनयपूर्वकम्॥१३९॥

On hearing this Indra was immensely surprised; he stopped thinking so much of himself. In the meantime a great sage arrived there and was quite old was a great yogī and was immensely filled with knowledge. He was clad in black deer skin, had the matted lock of hair on the head, had applied bright tilakam on the forehead. He had a cakra of hair on the chest and carried a mat on his head. All his hair of the body was intact accept that a few of the hair had been pulled out. He came and stood in between the Brāhmaṇa boy and Indra like a log of wood. Finding the Brāhmaṇa there, Indra bowed in reverence to him and with his mind filled with devotion, offered him madhuparka, adoring him at the same time. Thereafter he meekly asked the Brāhmaṇa about his welfare and pleased him with his delightful welcome. Thereafter the Brāhmaṇa boy talked to him meekly to express him the feeling of his mind.

बालक उवाच

कुतस्त्वमागतो विप्र किन्नाम भवतो वद।
को वाऽत्राऽऽगमने हेतुर्निवासः कुत्र तेऽधुना॥१४०॥
कटं कथं मस्तके तं लोमचक्रं च वक्षसि।
अत्युन्नतं मध्यदेशे किंचिदुत्पाटितं मुने॥१४१॥
मां चेत्कृपाऽस्तिते विप्र सर्वं संव्यस्य कथ्यताम्।
अत्यद्भुतमिदं सर्वं श्रोतुं कौतूहलं मम॥१४२॥

The boy said- "O Brāhmaṇa, where from have you arrive? What is your name and the purpose of your arrival here? Where do you live? Why are you carrying a mat over your head? O sage what does the cakra of hair on your chest represent? It is quite vast but in the middle of it some hair has been pulled out? O Brahman, in base you will be graceful to me than you tell me in detail. I am getting anxious to know about this astonishing reality."

स शिशोर्वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच महामुनिः।
सर्वं स्वकीयवृत्तान्तं शक्रस्य पुरतो मुदा॥१४३॥

On hearing the words of the boy, the great sage revealed before Indra delightfully, his story.

मुनिरुवाच

अल्पायुषा मया विप्र कुत्रापि न कृता गृहाः।
न विवाहश्चोपजीव्यं भिक्षोपजीविनाऽधुना॥१४४॥

The sage said- O Brāhmaṇa, my life is going to end shortly. Therefore, I have not built up any house anywhere. I am not married nor I have arranged for my living. Now a days, I live on charities of others.

लोमशेति च मन्नाम हेतुविप्रस्य दर्शनम्।
वर्षणातपशान्त्यर्थं मस्तकस्थं कटं मम॥१४५॥

My name is Lomaśa, I have arrived here to have an audience with the Brāhmaṇa. I have placed the mat on my head, in order to protect myself from the rain and the sun-shine.

वक्षःस्थलस्थितं रोमचक्रं तत्कारणं शृणु।
सांसारिकाणां भयदं विवेकजननं परम्॥१४६॥

The circle of hair over my chest has a reason behind it, which would be fearful for the people of the universe but enlightens the intellectuals.

आयुः संख्याप्रमाणं मे लोमचक्रं च वक्षसि।
शक्रैकपतने विप्र लोमैकोत्पाटनं मम॥१४७॥

This cakra of my chest is indicative of my age. O Brāhmaṇa with the fall of an Indra a hair from my chest is pulled out.

उत्पाटितानि लोमानि तेन मध्ये स्थितानि च।
ब्रह्मणो द्विपरार्धे च मम मृत्युर्निरूपितः॥१४८॥

Similarly many of the hair from the cakra have been pulled out. In spite of that, many of them still remain, with the completion of the second half of Brahmā's life, my death has been destined.

असंख्यविधयो ब्रह्मन्मरिष्यन्ति मृता अपि।
कलत्रेण च पुत्रेण गृहेण किं प्रयोजनम्॥१४९॥

Innumerable Brahmās have met with their end and would also die in future, I am the least concerned, with the men and women or a houses.

ब्रह्मण: पतने चक्षुर्निमेषश्च हरेर्भवेत्।
तत्पादपद्ममतुलं चिन्तयामि निरन्तरम्।।१५०।।

With the fall of Brahmā Viṣṇu, winks but once. Therefore I always devote my mind at his foots like feet.

दुर्लभं श्रीहरेर्दास्यं भक्तिर्मुक्तेर्गरीयसी।
स्वप्नवत्सर्वमैश्वर्यं तद्भक्तिव्यवधायकम्।।१५१।।

The slavehood of the feet of lord Hari is difficult to get which is greater than the devotion and the salvation. The entire fortunes are like a dream and obstruct in achieving the devotion of the lord.

इदं गद्गुरुणा दत्तं शंभुना ज्ञानमुत्तमम्।
विना भक्तिं न गृह्णामि सालोक्यादिचतुष्टयम्।।१५२।।

This is the best of the knowledge which was bestowed on me by Śiva who happens to be my teacher because of which without his devotion I am not interested in achieving Sālokya and other types of salvation.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा स मुनिर्जगाम शिवसंनिधिम्।
शिशुरूपी हरिस्तत्रैवान्तर्धानं चकार ह।।१५३।।

Thus speaking the sage went to the abode of Śiva and Śiva in the form of Viṣṇu also disappeared from the place.

इन्द्रस्तु स्वप्नवद्दृष्ट्वा बभूव तत्र विस्मित:।
तृष्णामात्रं च संपत्तौ नास्त्येव परमेश्वरे।।१५४।।
विश्वकर्माणमानीय प्रियमुक्त्वा शतक्रतु:।
दत्त्वा रत्नानि संपूज्य तं प्रस्थापितवान्गृहम्।।१५५।।

Indra looked at the whole scene like a dream and was immensely surprised now he had no desire left for the property. He immediately called for Viśvakarmā and talking to him lovingly, presented to him innumerable gems beside honouring him and sent him back to his abode.

सर्वं विन्यस्य पुत्रे च शरणं गन्तुमुद्यत:।
शची राज्यश्रियं त्यक्त्वा विवेकी क्षयकामुक:।।१५६।।

He than thought of giving everything to his son and to take refuge with the lord his intelligence woke up and disowning Śacī and Rājalakṣmī, he became desirous of the reduction of his fate.

दृष्ट्वा विवेकिनं कान्तं हृदयेन विदूयता।
शची जगाम शोकार्ता संत्रस्ता शरणं गुरो:।।१५७।।

On the other hand, Indrāṇī found that her husband was expressing his pain of the heart and had taken the shelter of intelligence, she was upset with grief and getting afraid went to the teacher to take refuge with him.

सर्वं निवेदनं कृत्वा समानीय बृहस्पतिम्।
बोधयामास शक्रं तं नीतिसारेण कामिनी।।१५८।।

She narrated the entire story and brought him to her abode. She somehow enlightened Indra on polity.

गुरु: शास्त्रविशेषं च दम्पतीरससंयुतम्।

The sage Bṛhaspati taught them the scriptures on the love for the couples which was himself composed by him.

नीतिशास्त्रं बहुविधं बोधयामास वाक्पति:।
स चकार तदा राज्यं वृन्दावनविनोदिनि।।१६०।।

Bṛhaspati communicated the gist of the scriptures quite carefully to Indra. O cowherdess of Vṛndāvana, thereafter Indra started ruling as before.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं शक्रदर्पविमोचनम्।

O great goddess now I have narrated to you the about the shattering of the pride of Indra you have yourself witnessed the waves in which the pride of Indra was shattered in the yajña of Nanda.

Shattering of the Pride of the Sun

राधिकोवाच

कथितो भवता मह्यं दर्पभङ्ग: श्रुतो हरे:।
दर्पभङ्गं रवेश्चापि श्रोतुमिच्छामि तत्त्वत:॥१॥

Rādhikā said- You have narrated to me the episodes relating to the shattering of the pride of Indra but now I would like to listen to the episode relating to the shattering of the pride of Sūrya.

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

एकदैवोदयं कृत्वा रविरस्तं जगाम ह।
माली सुमाली दैत्येन्द्रो दीप्तिं कर्तुं समुद्यतौ॥२॥
महासंपन्मदोन्मत्तौ शंकरस्य वरेण च।
तयोश्च प्रभया रात्रिर्न भवेदिति सुन्दरि॥३॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Once the sun was set after rising but the two demons Mālī and Sumālī started illuminating the earth like the sun-shine. Both the demons with the boons of Śiva had become quite powerful and were intoxicated. Because of the lustre emerging from their bodies, The night's ceased to exist.

रुष्ट: सूर्य: स्वशूलेन तौ जघानावलीलया।
पतितौ सूर्यशूलेन मूर्च्छितौ धरणीतले॥४॥

At this the sun was immensely enraged and he attacked both of them with a trident. Having been wounded with the trident of the sun, both of them fainted and fall down on earth.

भक्तापायं च विज्ञाय शंकरो भक्तवत्सल:।
आगत्य जीवयामास महाज्ञानेन तौ विभु:॥५॥

Śiva finding the destruction of their devotees, arrived there and with the application of his divine knowledge, he revived them back to their lives.

तौ च नत्वा शिवं भक्त्या जग्मतुर्निजमन्दिरम्।
दुद्राव च महादेव: सूर्यं हन्तुं रुषा ज्वलन्॥६॥

दृष्ट्वा संहारकर्तारं जिघांसन्तं हरं रवि:।
भिया पलायमानश्च ब्रह्माणं शरणं ययौ॥७॥

Both of them bowed in reverence to Śiva and went back to their respective. abodes. In the meantime Śiva getting immensely annoyed started following. Sūrya in order to destroy him. Sūrya realised that Śiva, the destroyer of the universe himself intends to destroy him. The panic-stricken Sūrya rushed to Brahmā and took refuge with him.

दुद्राव च महादेवो ब्रह्मणो निलयं रुषा।
शूलमत्यर्थमुद्यम्य कालकालो विधेर्विधि:॥८॥

Thereafter, Śiva carrying the trident attacked the place of Brahmā. Śiva happens to be the death for the death and is also Brahmā for Brahmā.

दृष्ट्वा ब्रह्मा हरं रुष्टं तुष्टाव परमेश्वरम्।
चतुर्वक्त्रेण वेदोक्तस्तोत्रेण जगतां पति:॥९॥

Finding lord Śiva having been annoyed he started offering prayer by vedic hymns to him from his four mouths.

ब्रह्मोवाच

प्रसीद दक्षयज्ञघ्न सूर्यं मच्छरणागतम्।
त्वयैव सृष्ट: सृष्टेश्च समारम्भे जगद्गुरो॥१०॥

Brahmā said- O teacher of the universe, you are the destroyer of the yajña of Dakṣa and creator of the entire universe, therefore, you be pleased with Sūrya who has taken refuge with me.

आशुतोष महाभाग प्रसीद भक्तवत्सल।
कृपया च कृपासिन्धो रक्ष रक्षं दिवाकरम्॥११॥

You are graceful on devotees, O virtuous one, you get pleased easily and are the ocean of mercy be pleased with us and protect Sūrya.

ब्रह्मस्वरूप भगवन्सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तकारण।
स्वयं रविं विनिर्माय स्वयं संहर्तुमिच्छसि॥१२॥

O lord, you are the form of Brahman and are responsible for the preservation and destruction. The sun had been created by you and now you yourself intend to destroy it.

स्वयं ब्रह्मा स्वयं शेषो धर्मः सूर्यो हुताशनः।
इन्द्रचन्द्रादयो देवास्त्वत्तो भीताः परात्परः॥१३॥

You are yourself Brahmā, Śeṣa, Dharma, Sūrya and Agni. You are the one who is beyond everything, the moon and all other gods are afraid of you.

ऋषयो मुनयश्चैव त्वां निषेव्य तपोधनाः।
तपसां फलदाता त्वं तपस्त्वं तपसां फलम्॥१४॥
इत्येवमुक्त्वा ब्रह्मा तं सूर्यमानीय भक्तितः।
प्रीत्या समर्पयामास शंकरे दीनवत्सले॥१५॥

The ascetics and recluses, earn the title of Tapodhanas after serving you. You are the bestower of the reward of tapas, the form of tapas and also are the form of the reward of tapas. Thus speaking Brahmā carried Sūrya and placed him at the feet of Śiva with great devotion.

शंभुस्तमाशिषं कृत्वा विधिं नत्वा जगद्विधिः।
प्रसन्नवदनः श्रीमानालयं प्रययौ मुदा॥१६॥

Thereafter, Śiva the creator of the universe pronounced his blessing to Sūrya and with a delightful mind bowing at the feet of Brahmā reverted to his abode.

इति धातृकृतं स्तोत्रं संकटे यः पठेन्नरः।
भयात्प्रमुच्यते भीतो बद्धो मुच्येत बन्धनात्॥१७॥

The one who recites this stotra composed by Brahmā for Śiva at the time of danger, he is relieved of all the dangers and is relieved of all fetters.

राजद्वारे श्मशाने च भग्नपोते महार्णवे।
स्तोत्रस्मरणमात्रेण मुच्यते नात्र संशयः॥१८॥

Whosoever recites this stotra in the royal courts cremation grounds after breaking of the ship in the ocean, he is surely relieved of all the dangers and meets with success.

Shattering of the Pride of Agni

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

सूर्यः प्रणम्य ब्रह्माणं मुदा युक्तस्तदाज्ञया।
चकार विनयं प्रीत्या तेजस्वी त्रिगुणात्मकः॥१॥
अथ वह्नेरुपाख्यानं सावधानं निशामय।
गोपनीयं पुराणेषु कर्णपीयूषमुत्तमम्॥२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Sūrya who happens to be Triguṇātmaka and the illustrious one bowed in reverence to Brahmā and at his command shedding his pride started behaving in a docile manner. Now you listen to the story of Agni quite carefully. This story is quite secretive in the Purāṇas and serve as a nectar and is the best for the ears.

त्रैलोक्यं भस्मसात्कर्तुमेकदाग्निः समुद्यतः।
शततालप्रमाणां तां शिखां कृत्वा भयानकाम्॥३॥
क्षुभितः कुपितश्चैव भृगोः शापस्य कारणात्।
स्वं च तेजस्विनं मत्वा तुच्छं मत्वाऽन्यमात्मनः॥४॥

Once Agni, the god of fire got ready to reduce the three lokas to ashes. At that point of time his flame were rising to the height of hundred tāla trees. He had been enraged getting upset with the curse of Bhṛgu. Thinking himself to be an extremely illustrious one he thought others to be of no consequence.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे विष्णुराजगामावलीलया।
वह्नेस्तां दाहिकीं शक्तिं तां जहार पुरः स्थितः॥५॥

In the meantime, Viṣṇu arrived there and standing before him Agni took away the power of Agni to burn.

मायया शिशुरूपी च तमुवाच जनार्दनः।
सस्मितो विनयं कृत्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः॥६॥

Having the form of a boy by his illution, lord Janardana told him smilingly and gently with devotion.

शिशुरुवाच

कथं रुष्टोऽसि भगवन्भवान्मां कारणं वद।

त्रैलोक्यं भस्मसात्कर्तुमुद्यतोऽसि निरर्थकम्॥७॥

The boy said- O lord, why are you annoyed you tell me the reason for it? Why have you got ready to bum the three worlds for nothing.

त्वमेव भृगुणा शप्तो भृगोश्च दमनं कुरु।
एकापराधात्त्रैलोक्यं भस्मीकर्तुं न चार्हसि॥८॥

Bhṛgu has pronounced a curse on you, therefore you can suppress Bhṛgu, how far is it justified to destroy all the three worlds for the fault of one person?.

विश्वं च ब्रह्मणा सृष्टं तस्य पाता स्वयं हरिः।
संहर्ता भगवान्रुद्र एवमेव क्रमो भवेत्॥९॥

Brahmā has created this world and Viṣṇu is the preserver of the same. the responsibility for destruction of the universe rests with Śiva this is the order prescribed since the time immemorial.

तत्कथं भस्मसात्कर्तुमीश्वरे शंकरे स्थिते।
रक्षितारं हरिं जित्वा संहारं कुरु सत्वरम्॥१०॥

How have you thought of destroying the universe, yourself when Śiva is very much present? In case you have to do this, better be victorious over Viṣṇu and thereafter, you can destroy the universe.

इत्युक्त्वा ब्राह्मणबटुः शरपत्रं पुरः स्थितम्।
अतिशुष्कं करे धृत्वा दग्धं कर्तुं ददौ मुदा॥११॥

Thus speaking the Brāhmaṇa mendicant nicked up a dried leaf of a tree in his hand and with a delightful mind, gave it to Agni for burning it.

दृष्ट्वा शुष्केन्धनं वह्निर्लेलिहानो भयानकः।
स वव्रे शिखया विप्रं मेघेन शशिनं यथा॥१२॥

At the sight of that any leaf, the god Agni started moving his tongue. He covered the Brāhmaṇa boy with his flames in the same way as the moon is covered the clouds.

न च दग्धं शुष्कपत्रं लोमैकं च शिशोस्तथा।
दृष्ट्वा व्रीडायुतो वह्निर्निस्तब्धो हि शिशोः पुरः॥१३॥

But he could neither burn the dry leaf of the tree nor could he do any harm to the Brāhmaṇa boy. At the sight of this, the god Agni felt ashamed and he felt standing totally surprised before the boy.

कृत्वा वह्नेर्दर्पभङ्गमन्तर्धानं चकार सः।
वह्निः स्वमूर्तिं संहृत्य स्वस्थानं भीतवद्ययौ॥१४॥

The lord in the form of a boy shattered the pride of Agni and then disappeared. He felt terrified and shedding away his terrific form, felt frightened and left for his abide.

उक्तो वह्नेर्दर्पभङ्गः परं वै श्रोतुमिच्छसि।
नित्यनूतनमाख्यानं देवानां दर्पमोचनम्॥१५॥

I have narrated to you the story of the shattering of the pride of Agni. What more do you want to listen from me? The shattering of the pride of gods is a new story.

राधिकोवाच

शेषाणां दर्पभङ्गं च क्रमेण कथय प्रभो।
कथापीयूषधारां ते श्रुत्वा तृप्येत को भुवि॥१६॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, you narrate to me about the shattering of the pride of others. Who can be satisfied by with the nectar-like story spoken from your mouth.

नारायण उवाच

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा सस्मितो भगवान्प्रभुः।
कथां कथितुमारेभे श्रुत्वा रम्यां पुरातनीम्॥१७॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Rādhikā Śrī Kṛṣṇa smiled and started narrating the ancient but charming story.

इति श्रीब्रह्मवै० महा० कृष्णजन्मख० नारदना० अग्निदर्पमोचनं नामैपञ्चाशत्तमोऽध्यायः॥४९॥

Chapter - 50

Shattering of the Pride of Durvāsā

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

दुर्वाससो दर्पभङ्गं कथयामि शृणु प्रिये।
महामुनेर्योगिनश्च रुद्रांशस्यातितेजस:॥१॥
एकदा चाम्बरीषश्च कृत्वा च द्वादशीव्रतम्।
पारणं कर्तुमारेभे भोजयित्वा द्विजान्बहून्॥२॥

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र चाऽऽजगाम मुनिः स्वयम्।
क्षुधार्तश्च तृषार्तश्च विष्णुव्रतपरायणः॥३॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O dear one, Durvāsā a great yogī was born out of the aṁśa of Śiva. He was quite illustrious and you listen to the manner in which his pride was reduced to ashes. Once the king Ambarīṣa performing the Dvādaśī-vrata, served food to many Brāhmaṇas and sat there to break his own fast. In the meantime the sage Durvāsā arrived there who was quite hungry and thirsty because of performing Viṣṇu vrata.

मां भोज्य महाभागेत्येवं स नृपमुक्तवान्।
राजा भक्त्या ददौ तस्मै परमान्नं सुधोपमम्॥४॥

He said to the king, "O virtuous one, give me the food." The king at once, with his mind filled with devotion, served him the pāyasam.

सकेशं पायसं दृष्ट्वा राजानं शप्तुमुद्यतः।
जटां निकृत्य शिरसः स्थापयामास भूतले॥५॥

But a hair emerged from the pāyasa as a result of which Durvāsā got ready to pronounce a curse on him. He plucked a lock of hair from his head and threw it on the ground.

जटामध्यात्समुद्भतो ज्वलदग्निशिखोपमः।
सप्ततालप्रमाणश्च पुरुषः प्रलयान्तकः॥६॥

Out of the lock of hair a divine person emerges like the burning flames, who was seven tāla trees in height and was horrible to look at.

नृपश्रेष्ठं सराजानं कोपेन हन्तुमुद्यतः।
भयेन कम्पिताः सर्वे शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकाः॥७॥
सस्मार च महाभीता राजा मम पदाम्बुजम्।
सर्वविघ्नस्योपशमः स्मृतिमात्राद्बभूव ह॥८॥

In anger he got ready to kill the king. Terrified from that horrible person all the people present there started trembling with fear. Their throats, lips and palates dried up the terrified king started thinking of my lotus-like feet. as soon as he remembered my lotus-like feet, all his dangers were ever.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे चक्रं दुर्निवार्यं सुदर्शनम्।
तेजसा मम तुल्यं च कोटिसूर्यप्रभोपमम्॥९॥

आविर्बभूव सहसा सभामध्ये च घूर्णितम्।
निकृत्य कृत्यापुरुषं दुद्राव मुनिपुंगवम्॥१०॥

But in the meantime the Sudarśana-cakra of Viṣṇu appeared there which was quite horrible and possessed the lustre of crores of suns. He started roaming about in the assembly of the king and in an instant he cut into pieces, the artificial person created by the sage Durvāsā and started running after the sage.

सशैलसागरां पृथ्वीं काञ्चनीं भूमिमुत्तमाम्।
भ्रामयित्वा महीं सर्वां पुनर्दुद्राव तं मुनिम्॥११॥

The cakra followed Durvāsā through out all the seven oceans, the Sumeru mountains and the entire universe.

धावन्तं मुक्तकेशं तं भीतं कातरमातुरम्।
तेजसाऽऽच्छाद्य सूर्यं तं दीप्तिं कुर्वन्तमुत्तमाम्॥१२॥
कैलासं सप्तस्वर्गं च ब्रह्मलोकमनामयम्।
विप्रेन्द्रो भ्रमणं कृत्वा वैकुण्ठं शरणं ययौ॥१३॥

The locks of hair of the sage were dishevelled, while running, getting frightened totally disgusted. Durvāsā the great Brāhmaṇa could cover even the lustre of the sun with his glory and was illumining the area through which he was running. He went to Kailāsa, the seven heavens the Brahmaloka and ultimately took refuge with Viṣṇu.

पादपद्मे पतन्तं च ददर्श विप्रपुंगवम्।
कृपया च कृपासिन्धुर्ददौ विप्राय निर्भयम्॥१४॥

Thereafter Viṣṇu the ocean of mercy finding that Durvāsā had fallen on his feet, assured him all protection.

नारायणवरेणैव बभूव विज्वरो द्विजः।
पुनर्ययौ हरिं स्तुत्वा नृपगेहं तदाज्ञया॥१५॥

Thereafter Nārāyaṇa by pronouncing a boon on him, relieved Durvāsā of his mental agony. Offering prayer to Nārāyaṇa. Durvāsā returned to the abode of the king.

राजा मुनीन्द्रं संप्राप्य भोजयामास पायसम्।
स्वयं च पारणां चक्रे सस्त्रीकः सहबान्धवः॥१६॥

The king on getting back the sage felt delightful. He again served paysam and nice food first to the sage and then took his food together with his wife and other relatives.

राजानमाशिषं कृत्वा भुक्त्वा विप्रो गृहं ययौ।
मया नियोजितं चक्रं भक्तानां रक्षणाय च॥१७॥
नश्यन्ति सर्वे प्रलये न मे भक्तः प्रणश्यति।
सर्वे देवा मम प्राणा भक्ताः प्राणाधिका मम॥१८॥

After taking his food the Brāhmaṇa blessed the king variously and went back to his home. I had issued the cakra for the protection of my devotee. During the time of dissolution everything is destroyed but my devotee can never be destroyed. All the gods are like my life, but my devotees are more important to me than the gods.

त्वं च लक्ष्मीर्महामाया सावित्री वा सरस्वती।
ब्रह्मा शंभुरनन्तश्च धर्मश्च ब्राह्मणास्तथा॥१९॥
गोपाङ्गनाश्च गोपाश्च सर्वे प्रियतमा मम।
तेभ्यः प्रियाः परा भक्ताः प्रियो भक्तान्न कश्चन॥२०

Your self Lakṣmī, Mahāmāyā, Sāvitrī, Sarasvatī, Brahmā, Śiva, Ananta, Dharma, Brāhmaṇas, cowherdesses, the cowherds are all very dear to me. But my devotees are far dearer to me than all of them. No one else is dearer to me than my devotees.

दत्त्वा सुदर्शनं चक्रं भक्तानां रक्षणाय च।
तथाऽपि न प्रतीतिर्मे स्वयं द्रष्टुं प्रयामि तान्॥२१॥

Even after issuing Sudarśana-cakra for the protection of my devotees I still don't have satisfaction, therefore I myself rush for their protection.

दुर्वाससो दर्पभङ्गः श्रुतो मत्तः सुरेश्वरि।
आज्ञापय महाभागे किं भूयः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥२२॥

O great goddess, O virtuous one, you have listened from me the way how the pride of Durvāsā was shattered. What else do you want to listen from me, you give me the command.

राधिकोवाच

धन्वन्तरेर्दर्पभङ्गं कथयस्व जगद्गुरो।
पुराणे गोपनीयं च श्रोतुं कौतूहलं मम॥२३॥

Rādhikā said- O teacher of the universe, I am getting anxious to know about the shattering of the pride of Dhanvantari, you kindly tell me the same.

Shattering of the Pride of Dhanvantari

श्रीकृष्ण उवाच

नारायणांशो भगवान्स्वयं धन्वन्तरिर्महान्।
पुरा समुद्रमथने समुत्तस्थौ महोदधेः।।१।।
सर्ववेदेषु निष्णातो मन्त्रतन्त्रविशारदः।
शिष्यो हि वैनतेयस्य शंकरस्योपशिष्यकः।।२।।

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- Lord Dhanvantari himself is a great personality and represents the aṁśa of Nārāyaṇa. In earlier times, he emerged from the churning of the ocean. He was well-versed in all the Vedas beside the mantras and the tantras. He happened to be the pupil of Garuḍa and the small pupil of Śiva.

शिष्याणां सहस्रेण गतः कैलासमीश्वरि।
ददर्श तक्षकं मार्गे लेलिहानं भयानकम्।।३।।
लक्षनागैः परिवृतं शैलतुल्यं विषोल्बणम्।
भोक्तुं कोपात्समायान्तमेवं दृष्ट्वा जहास च।।४।।
दम्भौ धन्वन्तरेः शिष्यो धृत्वा तक्षकमुल्बणम्।
मन्त्रेण जृम्भितं कृत्वा निर्विषं तं चकार ह।।५।।
अमूल्यं मणिरत्नं च जहार मस्तकस्थिरम्।
करेण भ्रामयित्वा च प्रेरयामास दूरतः।।६।।

O goddess, he went to Kailāsa once together with thousands of his pupils. On the way he met with the terrific Takṣaka serpent who was taking out its tongue again and again. It was filled with terrific poison. That horrible serpent was surrounded by many other serpents and rushed towards Dhanvantari in order to bite him. At the sight of this, the proud pupils of Dhanvantari started laughing, he with the use of the terrific mantra made the serpent Takṣaka motionless and deprived it of the poison. He took out the gem-studded in its hoods and holding it in his hand he moved it round and round and then threw it far away.

निश्चेष्टस्तक्षकस्तस्थौ तत्र मार्गे यथा मृतः।
गणा निवेदनं चक्रुर्गत्वा वासुकिसंनिधिम्॥७॥

The serpent Takṣaka lay there motionless. The servants of Takṣaka went to Vāsuki and narrated the happenings to him.

वासुकिस्तत्समाकर्ण्य प्रज्वलन्नतिकोपतः।
सर्पान्प्रस्थापयामासासंख्यांश्चैव विषोल्बणान्॥८॥

On hearing this Vāsuki started burning with anger and he dispatched innumerable serpents with horrible, poison at that place. There were five chief commanders known as Droṇa, Kālīya, Karkoṭaka, Puṇḍarīka and Dhanañjaya.

सर्पसेनाग्रणीनां च मुख्यान्पञ्च विशारदान्।
द्रोणकालीयकर्कोटपुण्डरीकधनंजयान्॥९॥
सर्वे नागाः समाजग्मुर्यत्र धन्वन्तरिः स्वयम्।
भयमापुः शिष्यगणा दृष्ट्वा नागानसंख्यकान्॥१०॥

All the Nāgas arrived at the place of Dhanvantari. Finding the innumerable snakes there, the pupil of Dhanvantari were frightened.

नागनिःश्वासवातेन सर्वे शिष्या मृता इव।
निश्चेष्टा ज्ञानरहिताः शेरते धरणीतले॥११॥

With the simple breathing of the Nāgas, all the pupils of Dhanvantari fell down on earth and could not move.

धन्वन्तरिश्च भगवान्पीयूषवर्षणेन च।
जीवयामास शिष्यांश्च मन्त्रेण च गुरुं स्मरन्॥१२॥

Thereafter lord Dhanvantari reciting the name of his teacher showered the nectar pronouncing mantras, as a result of which all of them got back their lives.

चेतनां कारयित्वा च शिष्याणां च जगद्गुरुः।
चकार जृम्भितं मन्त्रैः सर्पसंघं विषोल्बणम्॥१३॥

Dhanvantari the teacher of the universe, brought his pupils back to life and made the serpents motionless.

सर्वे बभूवुर्निश्चेष्टा जृम्भितास्ते मृता इव।
कोऽपि नालं ततो देवि वार्तां दातुं गणेषु च॥१४॥
वासुकिर्बुबुधे सर्वं सर्वज्ञः सर्वसंकटम्।
आजुहाव जगद्गौरीं भगिनीं ज्ञानरूपिणीम्॥१५॥

All the serpents lay there like the dead snakes. O goddess, not a single serpent was there who could convey the news of the misfortune of the serpent. But Vāsuki who himself knew well the happening everywhere, realised the teacher ahead and he summoned his sister named Jagadgaurī who was the embodiment of knowledge.

वासुकिरुवाच

मनसे त्वं समागच्छ नागान्रक्षातिसंकटात्।
जगत्त्रये महाभागे पूजा तव भविष्यति॥१६॥
वासुकेर्वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्योवाच कन्यका।
वाक्यं पीयूषतुल्यं च विनयावनतस्थिता॥१७॥

Vāsuki said- O Manasā you go and relieve the Nāgas of the danger. O virtuous one, you will be adored the world over by doing this. On hearing the words of Vāsuki, the girl stood there smilingly and humbly spoke to him the wards which were as sweet as the nectar.

मनसोवाच

नागेन्द्र शृणु मद्वाक्यं यास्यामि समरं प्रति।
भद्राभद्रं दैवसाध्यं करिष्यामि यथोचितम्॥१८॥

Manasā said- O lord of the Nāgas, you kindly listen to my words. I shall go to the battle-field. The good and bad or the victory or defeat rest with the destiny. But still I shall perform my appropriate duty.

तं शत्रुं संहरिष्यामि लीलया समरस्थले।
अहं यं निहनिष्यामि तं को रक्षितुमीश्वरः॥१९॥

I shall destroy the enemies in the battle-field in no time. Who can protect the person who is killed at my hands.

यदि ब्रह्मादयो देवाः समायान्ति रणस्थले।
तथाऽपि तव शत्रुं च प्रजेष्यामि न संशयः॥२०॥

In case the gods like Brahmā and others also arrive in the battle-field, in spite of that, I shall be able to defeat your enemies. There is no doubt about it.

गुरुर्मे भगवाञ्शेषः सिद्धमन्त्रं च दत्त्वान्।
नारायणस्य जगतामीशस्य परमाद्भुतम्॥२१॥
बिभर्मि कवचं कण्ठे परं त्रैलोक्यमङ्गलम्।
संसारं भस्मसात्कृत्वा पुनः स्रष्टुमहं क्षमा॥२२॥

Lord Śeṣa happens to be my teacher who has Bestowed the Siddhamantra to me, I wear the kavaca of Viṣṇu, around my neck, who provides welfare to the entire universe. With the influence of that kavaca I can be in a position to destroy the entire universe.

शिष्याऽहं मन्त्रशास्त्रेषु शंभोर्भगवतः पुरा।
महाज्ञानं दत्तवान्स मह्यं च कृपया विभुः॥२३॥

In the scriptures on mantras I am the pupil of Śiva. In the earlier times lord Śiva having been filled with compassion bestowed the great knowledge on me.

शंभोश्च शिष्यो गरूडो गणयामि न तं ध्रुवम्।
धन्वन्तरिस्तच्छिष्याणामेकः किं गणयामि तम्॥२४॥

Garuḍa too happens to be the pupil of Śiva, but when I do not care for Garuḍa the least than why should I bother about his pupils and Dhanvantari is quite insignificant a person.

इत्युक्त्वा सा जगामैका त्यक्त्वा नागगणान्रुषा।
प्रणम्य श्रीहरिं शंभुं शेषं च हृष्टमानसा॥२५॥

Thus speaking she delightfully bowed in reverence to lord Hari, Śiva and Śeṣa. Thereafter leaving aside the Nāgas, she herself proceeded to the place in great anger.

यत्र धन्वन्तरिर्देवः प्रसन्नवदनेक्षणः।
तत्राऽऽजगाम सा देवी कोपरक्तेक्षणा रुषा॥२६॥

There she found Dhanvantari seated quite delightfully. The goddess Manasā reached there with her eyes burning in anger.

दृष्टिमात्रेण सर्पांश्च जीवयामास सुन्दरी।
विषदृष्ट्या शत्रुशिष्यान्निश्चेष्टांश्च चकार ह॥२७॥

With the simple casting of a glance she brought the serpents back to life and with her poison's look she made all the pupils of Dhanvantari motionless.

धन्वन्तरिस्तु भगवान्मन्त्रशास्त्रविशारदः।
मन्त्रेण यत्नं कृतवान्नोत्थापयितुमीश्वरः॥२८॥
दृष्ट्वा धन्वन्तरिं देवी प्रहस्योवाच सत्वरम्।
बहूक्तिमर्थयुक्तां च साहंकारां सुरेश्वरि॥२९॥

Thereafter lord Dhanvantari tried revive his pupils back to life with the application of mantra but he could not be successful. O goddess, Manasā then spoke to Dhanvantari the words which were filled with pride.

मनसोवाच

मन्त्रार्थं मन्त्रशिल्पं च मन्त्रभेदं महौषधम्।
वद जानासि किं सिद्ध शिष्योऽसि गरूडस्य च॥३०॥
अहं च वैतनेयश्च शिष्यौ शंभोश्च विश्रुतौ।
सुकल्पकालं सुचिरमहं धन्वन्तरे शृणु॥३१॥

Manasā said- O siddha, tell me whether you are aware of the meaning of Mantraśilpa, Mantrabheda and the great medicine? You happen to be the pupil of Garuḍa. O Dhanvantari, listen both myself and Garuḍa are the famous pupils of Śiva and have received education from him for a kalpa.

इत्युक्त्वा सरसः पद्मं समानीय जगत्प्रसूः।
मन्त्रसंवलितं कृत्वा प्रेरयामास कोपतः॥३२॥

After thus speaking, the mother of the universe took out all the lotus flowers from the lake sanctified them with mantras and in anger threw them on Dhanvantari.

दृष्ट्वाऽऽगतं पद्मपुष्पं ज्वलदग्नि शिखोपमम्।
धन्वन्तरिश्च निःश्वासैर्भस्मसात्तच्चकार ह॥३३॥
तच्च धन्वन्तरिं दृष्ट्वा समन्त्ररेणुमुष्टिना।
चकार निष्फलं भस्म तां प्रहस्यावलीलया॥३४॥

Thereafter finding the lotus flowers coming like burning flames to him, Dhanvantari took a deep sigh and with the discharge of the air from his mouth, he reduce all of them to ashes. Thereafter he started laughing carelessly.

देवी जग्राह शक्तिं च ग्रीष्मसूर्यसमप्रभाम्।
मन्त्रसंवलितां कृत्वा प्रेरयामास तं रिपुम्॥३५॥

The goddess then attacked the enemies with the sanctified śakti which illumined the universe like the sun of the summer season.

दृष्ट्वा जाज्वल्यमानां तां शक्तिं धन्वन्तरिः स्वयम्।
विष्णुदत्तेन शूलेन समुच्चिच्छेद लीलया॥३६॥

Finding that flaming śakti approaching him, Dhanvantari shot the trident given to him by Viṣ ṇu, which destroyed the same.

तां च शक्तिं वृथा दृष्ट्वा प्रजज्वालेश्वरी रुषा।
जग्राह नागपाशं च घोरमव्यर्थमुल्बणम्॥३७॥
नागलक्षसमायुक्तं सिद्धमन्त्रेण मन्त्रितम्।
प्रेरयामास कोपेन कालान्तकसमप्रभम्॥३८॥

Finding her śakti having been rendered infructuous, the goddess started burning in rage. She than took in her hand, the indestructible Nāgapāśa having in lakh of Nāgas and muttering the mantras she sanctified the same which was quite illustrious and she shot it in anger.

धन्वन्तरिर्नागपाशं दृष्ट्वा च सस्मितो मुदा।
सस्मार गरुडं तूर्णमाजगाम खगेश्वरः॥३९॥

Dhanvantari finding the Nāgapāśa there, smiled for a while and remembered Garuḍa who arrived there at once.

सर्पास्त्रमागतं दृष्ट्वा गरुडो हरिवाहनः।
निधाय चञ्चुना शीघ्रं बुभुजे क्षुधितश्चिरम्॥४०॥

Finding the weapon of serpent shot by mantra Garuḍa who was quite hungry for a long time cut into the pieces all the snakes and ate them up.

नागास्त्रं निष्फलं दृष्ट्वा कोपरक्तेक्षणा भृशम्।
ज ग्राह भस्ममुष्टिं च शिवदत्तां पुरा प्रिये॥४१॥
भस्ममुष्टिं मन्त्रपूतां दृष्ट्वा च प्रेरितां यथा।
पक्षवातेन चिक्षेप शिष्यं पश्चान्निधाय च॥४२॥
निरस्तां भस्ममुष्टिं च दृष्ट्वा देवी चुकोप ह।
जग्राह शूलमव्यर्थं हन्तुं धन्वन्तरिं स्वयम्॥४३॥
शिवदत्तं च शूलं च शतसूर्यसमप्रभम्।
अव्यर्थशूलं लोकेषु प्रलयाग्निसमप्रभम्॥४४॥

O dear, when the Nāgapāśa was found infructous the eyes of goddess Manasā became red. She took out a handful of ashes which were given to her by Śiva in earlier times. She threw away the ashes given to her by Śiva after muttering the mantras. Garuḍa finding the ashes having been thrown over at by Dhanvantari he covered him with the spread of his wings and shattered the entire ashes. At the sight of this the goddess Manasā started burning in rage. She then took up the infallible trident given to her by Śiva, in her hand for the purpose of killing Dhanvantari. The infallible trident had the lustre of hundreds of suns and was illumining like the fire of the dissolution.

अथ ब्रह्मा तथा शंभुराजगाम रणाजिरम्।
धन्वन्तरेश्च रक्षार्थं शमनार्थं खगस्य च॥४५॥

Thereafter for the protection of Dhanvantari and in pacifying Garuḍa Brahmā and Śiva also arrived in the battle-field.

दृष्ट्वा शंभुं जगद्गौरी विधिं च जगतां पतिम्।
भक्त्या ननाम तावेव निःशङ्का शूलधारिणी॥४६॥

Manias was standing fearlessly holding the trident in her hand and finding Brahmā and Śiva there, she bowed in reverence to both of them.

धन्वन्तरिश्च गरुडः प्रणनाम सुरेश्वरौ।
तुष्टाव परया भक्त्या तौ च चक्रतुराशिषम्॥४७॥

Dhanvantari and Garuḍa on the other hand also offered their salutation to them and with their mind filled with devotion offered prayers to them. Both of them showered their blessing on them.

उवाच ब्रह्मा मधुरं हितं धन्वन्तरिं मुदा।
पूजार्थं मनसायाश्च लोकानां हितकाम्यया॥४८॥

For the welfare of the people and for the adoration of goddess Manasā Brahmā spoke very sweet and beneficial words to Dhanvantari.

ब्रह्मोवाच

धन्वन्तरे महाभाग सर्वशास्त्रविशारद।
रणं ते मनसा सार्धं न हि साम्यं च मे मतम्॥४९॥

Brahmā said- O virtuous one, O Dhanvantari, you are well-verged in all the scriptures. According to our opinion, it is not proper for you to fight with goddess Manasā.

शिवदत्तेन शूलेन दुर्निवार्येण सर्वतः।
त्रैलोक्यं भस्मसात्कर्तुं क्षमेयं त्रिदशेश्वरी॥५०॥
ध्यानं कौथुमशाखोक्तं कृत्वा भक्त्या समाहितः।
दत्त्वा षोडशोपचारं देव्याश्च कुरु पूजनम्॥५१॥
आस्तीकोक्तेन स्तोत्रेण स्तवनं कर्तुमर्हसि।
परितुष्टा च मनसा वरं तुभ्यं प्रदास्यति॥५२॥

She is the great goddess and can destroy the three worlds with the use of the trident given to her by Śiva. with a devoted mind you adore her according to the method prescribed in the Kauthuma-śākhā which sixteen types of offerings. You should adore her by reciting the stotra composed by Āstīka. The goddess Manasā would pronounce a boon on you after getting pleased with your devotion.

ब्रह्मणो वचनं श्रुत्वा चकारानुमतिं शिवः।
वैनतेयश्च संप्रीत्या बोधयामास यत्नतः॥५३॥

Listening to the words of Brahmā, Śiva also supported him and tried to convince Dhanvantari speaking loving words.

एषां च वचनं श्रुत्वा स्नात्वा शुचिरलंकृतः।
विधिं पुरोहितं कृत्वा पूजां कर्तुं समुद्यतः॥५४॥

On listening to the words of all of them, Dhanvantari took his bath and getting purified, making Brahmā to serve as a priest, he started adoring goddess Manasā.

धन्वन्तरिरुवाच

इहाऽऽगच्छ जगद्गौरि गृहाण मम पूजनम्।
पूज्या त्वं त्रिषु लोकेषु पुरा कश्यपकन्यके॥५५॥

Dhanvantari said- O Jagadgauri, you arrive here and accept my adoration. O daughter of Kaśyapa, you are already adored in all the three worlds.

त्वया जितं जगत्सर्वं देवि विष्णुस्वरूपया।
तेन तेऽस्त्रप्रयोगश्च न कृतो रणभूमिषु॥५६॥

O goddess, you have won the entire universe with the form of Viṣṇu, that is why you have not used the weapon in the battle-field.

इत्युक्त्वा संयतो भूत्वा भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधरः।
गृहीत्वा शुक्लकुसुमं ध्यानं कर्तुं समुद्यतः॥५७॥

Thus sneaking with apt attention and. the mind filled with devotion, bowing before her, he offered white flowers to her and started meditating.

सर्वविद्याप्रदां शान्तां सर्वविद्याविशारदाम्।
नागेन्द्रवाहिनीं देवीं भजे नागेश्वरीं पराम्॥६०॥

She had the complexion of white campaka flowers having all the beautiful limbs, wearing a smile on the face, clad in fine garments, having the beautiful tuft of hair, adorned with all the gem-studded ornaments, She provides protection to all, having divine form, being compassionate on the devotees, bestower of the knowledge, having the peaceful mind possessing all the knowledge, using the Nāgas as the vehicle the mistress of the Nāgas. Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the proud Rādhā spoke to him, "O lord I am unable to walk, therefore you carry me.".

राधिकावचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य मधुसूदनः।
मामारुहेत्येवमुक्त्वा सोऽन्तर्धानं चकार ह॥४॥

Listening to the words of Rādhikā lord Madhusūdana smiled and said, "You climb on me." Thus speaking the lord disappeared from the place. Finding this Rādhā lamented for a while. Thereafter searching for him here and there, she went to Vṛndāvana. Entering in the forest of sandal-wood she went on crying and got disgusted. She then looked at the cowherdesses who were filled with grief, upset with fear, having red faces and unstable eyes. She went on roaming from one forest, to the others crying uttering the name of lord. She did not eat anything and was quite angry.

तां दृष्ट्वा राधिका सा च प्रेमविच्छेदकातरा।
कथयामास वृत्तान्तं मलयभ्रमणादिकम्॥८॥

Feeling disgusted in separation from love, she narrated the story of her roaming about over the Malaya mountain.

ताभिः सार्धं च सा राधा रुरोद विरहातुरा।

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे कृष्णस्तत्र चन्दनकानने।

In the meantime lord Kṛṣṇa appeared before Rādhikā and all the cowherdesses in the forest of sandal-wood.

राधा गोपाङ्गनाभिश्च दृष्ट्वा प्राणेश्वरं मुदा।
सस्मिता च प्रदुद्राव पुलकाञ्चितविग्रहा॥१२॥

Finding her lord present there together with the cowherdesses, Rādhikā felt delighted; her body was filled with emotions. Displaying a serene smile on the face, she rushed towards him.

तूर्णं कृष्णं समाश्लिष्य जहार मुरली रुषा।

पुनः संधारयामास वस्त्रं मालां मनोहराम्।

She at once embraced Kṛṣṇa and snatching away his flute, the rosary and pītāmbara, she unrobed him. After getting satisfied Rādhā, who enjoyed in the Vṛndāvana, returned to Kṛṣṇa his robes, rosary and the flute.

चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमाक्तं च कातरम्।

She than pasted the paste of sandal-wood, aguru, kastūrī and saffron on his body and started kissing his face again and again, looking at the same.

क्षणं संतर्जयामास क्षणं स्तोत्रं चकार ह।
सकर्पूरं च ताम्बूलं क्षणं तस्मै ददौ मुदा॥१६॥

In a moment she denounced him in an another moment she praised him. Still in another moment she offered fragrant betel with camphor to him.

अथ गोपाङ्गनाः सर्वा रुरुदुः प्रेमविह्वलाः।

क्षणं तं भर्त्सयामासुः स्तोत्रं चक्रुःक्षणं मुदा।
क्षणं ददुर्भूषणं च क्षणं तस्मै च चन्दनम्॥१९॥

Thereafter infatuated with love, all the cowherdesses narrated their mental agony because of the separation. In the next moment the cowherdesses started denouncing him and in another moment getting pleased they started praising him. In a moment they adorned him with all the ornaments and in an other-moment they applied the sandal-paste on his body.

काश्चिदूचुः प्राणचोरं पश्य रक्षेति सन्ततम्।
एवं पुनर्न कर्तव्यमनेनेति च काश्चन॥२०॥

Someone of them said, "Look he is the chief and our lives. you keep a guard on him always he should not disappear now.".

काश्चिदूचुरिमं मध्ये यूयं कुरुत सत्वरम्।
निबद्धप्रेमपाशेन हृदये चेति काश्चन॥२१॥

Someone said, "All of you should surround him from all sides". Someone said, "Binding him with the fetters of love you keep him in your heart."

काश्चिदूचुरयं नास्ति प्रतीतिर्न कदाचन।
यत्नाच्चेतनचोरं च पश्य पश्येति काश्चन॥२२॥

Someone said, "Never believe in him further." Some said, "He is the chief of the mind, therefore look at him again and again.".

काश्चिदूचुर्निष्ठुरोऽयं नरघातीति कोपतः।
न पुनर्वदते मां च काश्चनेति च नारद॥२३॥

Someone said, "Getting angry he is heartless and killer of the humans". Someone said, "He is net talking to me".

निर्जनानि च रम्याणि यानि यानि वनानि च।
भ्रमेयुर्गोपिकास्तानि कृष्णेन सह कौतुकात्॥२४॥

All the cowherds and cowherdesses should roamed about in all the charming places with Kṛṣ ṇa play fully.

एवं तं गोपिकाः सर्वा मध्ये कृत्वा सदीश्वरम्।
ययुर्वनान्तरं यत्र सुरम्यं रासमण्डलम्॥२५॥

Thus thinking all the cowherdesses surrounded lord Kṛṣṇa from all the sides in charming Rāsamaṇḍala and proceeded to that place.

रासं गत्वा स्वर्णपीठे तस्थौ स रसिकेश्वरः।
निशि भाति यथाऽऽकाशे चन्द्रस्तारागणैः सह॥२६॥

Reaching there, lord Kṛṣṇa was seated on the lion-throne and appeared like the moon surrounded by the stars in the sky.

नानामूर्तीर्विधायात्र सह ताभिर्जनार्दनः।
चकार च पुनः क्रीडां कामुकीनां मनोहराम्॥२७॥

Thereafter Janārdana multiplied himself into many forms and enjoyed the love-sport with the cowherdess which are liked by the passionate damsels.

स्वयं राधा करे धृत्वा पूर्वोक्तं रतिमन्दिरम्।
विश्वकर्मविनिर्माणमारुरोह स्मरातुरः॥२८॥
चन्दनागुरुकस्तूरीकुङ्कुमाक्तं सुवासितम्।
तत्र चम्पकतल्पे स सुष्वाप च तया सह॥२९॥

Thereafter, passionate Kṛṣṇa holding the hand of Rādhā reached in the pleasure-chamber which was built by Viśvakarmā and had the fragrance of sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī and saffron. He then enjoyed the company of Rādhā on the bed of campaka flowers.

नानाप्रकारशृङ्गारं कामशास्त्रविशारदः।
चकार कामी क्रीडां च कामिन्या सह कौतुकी॥३०॥

Kṛṣṇa was well-versed in the love-sports and the Scriptures on love and he enjoyed the conjugal pleasures in many ways.

बभूव सुरतिस्तत्र सुचिरं च तयोर्मुने।
रतिनिष्ठा तयो रम्या निरतिर्नास्ति तत्क्षणम्॥३१॥

O sage, thus both of them were engaged in each other companies for a long time. At that point of time their attraction towards the conjugal-pleasures could not be subsided.

एवं तौ तस्थतुस्तत्र राधाकृष्णौ रसोत्सुकौ।
तस्थुस्ता गोपिकाभिश्च सुरतौ कृष्णमूर्तयः॥३२॥

Thus Kṛṣṇa was always anxious for love-sport and he in many forms enjoyed the company of the cowherdesses.

नारद उवाच

आदौ राधां समुच्चार्य पश्चात्कृष्णं विदुर्बुधाः।
निमित्तमस्य मां भक्त वद भक्तजनप्रिय॥३३॥

Nārada said- O loveable by the devotees, why do the people recite the name of Rādhā first and than of Kṛṣṇa. What is the reason behind it. You kindly tell me. Who happens to be a true devotee of the lord.

नारायण उवाच

निमित्तस्य त्रिविधं कथयामि निशामय।
जगन्माता च प्रकृतिः पुरुषश्च जगत्पिता॥३४॥

गरीयसी त्रिजगतां माता शतगुणै: पितु:।
राधाकृष्णेति गौरीशेत्येवं शब्द: श्रुतौ श्रुत:॥३५॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- I am going to speak out three reasons to you. you listen to them. First of all Prakṛti happens to be the mother of the universe and Puruṣa is the father of the universe. In all the three worlds the glory of the mother is hundred times more than that of the father, that is why the terms of Rādhā, Kṛṣṇa and Gaurīśa, is used in the Vedas.

कृष्णराधेशगौरीति लोके न च कदा श्रुत:।
प्रसीद रोहिणीचन्द्र गृहाणार्घ्यमिदं मम॥३६॥
गृहाणार्घ्यं मया दत्तं संज्ञया सह भास्कर।
प्रसीद कमलाकान्त गृहाण मम पूजनम्॥३७॥
इति दृष्टं सामवेदे कौथुमे मुनिसत्तम।
राशब्दोच्चारणादेव स्फीतो भवति माधव:॥३८॥
धाशब्दोच्चारत: पश्चाद्धावत्येव ससंभ्रम:।
आदौ पुरुषमुच्चार्य पश्चात्प्रकृतिमुच्चरेत्॥३९॥
स भवेन्मातृघाती च वेदातिक्रमणे मुने।
त्रैलोक्ये भारतं धन्यं कर्मक्षेत्रं च पुण्यदम्॥४०॥
ततो वृन्दावनं पुण्यं राधापादाब्जरेणुना।
षष्टिवर्षसहस्राणि तपस्तप्तं च वेधसा॥४१॥
राधिकाचरणाम्भोजपादरेणूपलब्धये।

Even in the universe no body recited the name of Kṛṣṇa Rādhā and Īśagaurī is never heard. Even for others the terms Rohiṇīcandra and Sūrya with Sañjñā is never heard of. you accept this meaning of mind and be happy. O lord of Kamalā, you accent my adoration and be happy. This is what has been recited. Therefore O best of the sages, in Kauthumī-śākhā of the Sāmaveda, it has been prescribed like this. With the reciting of the word रा Mādhava gets ready and with the reciting of धा he runs after following her. O sage, the one who recites the name of Puruṣa first and Prakṛti later on, he desecrates the Vedas and is considered to be the killer of the mother. Thus the auspicious land of Bhārata is considered to be the land of action and bestows great merit. Out of the land of Bhārata, Vṛndāvana is considered to be more auspicious because the dust of the feet of Rādhā had fallen there. To achieve the dust of the feet of Rādhā, Brahmā had performed tapas for sixty thousand years.

Rāsalīlā of Śrī Kṛṣṇa

नारद उवाच

समतीते पूर्णरासे किं चकार जगत्पतिः।
रहस्यं किं बभूवाथ तद्भवान्वक्तुमर्हति॥१॥

Nārada said- After completion of Rāsalīlā, what else the lord of the universe do? You kindly tell me.

नारायण उवाच

रासं निवर्त्य रासे च रासेश्वर्या समन्वितः।
स्वयं रासेश्वरस्तस्माद्यमुनापुलिनं ययौ॥२॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- After performing the divine dance in the Rāsamaṇḍala Śrī Kṛṣṇa together with the goddess Rādhā went to the bank of the Yamunā.

तत्र स्नात्वा जलं पीत्वा निर्मलं निर्मले जले।
सार्धं गोपाङ्गनाभिश्च जलक्रीडां चकार सः॥३॥

Taking bath in the spot less clean water of the Yamunā and drinking the water, he performed the water sport together with all the cowherdesses.

ततो जगाम भगवान्भाण्डीरं राधया सह।
गोपाङ्गनाश्च स्वगृहान्प्रययुर्विरहातुराः॥४॥
क्रीडां चकार रहसि भाण्डीरे मालतीवने।
मालतीपुष्पशय्यायां रम्यायां रमणोत्सुकः॥५॥
कृत्वा क्रीडां च तत्रैव वासन्तीकाननं ययौ।
रेमे तत्रैव रासेशो वसन्ते सुमनोहरे॥६॥

Thereafter Śrī Kṛṣṇa accompanied with Rādhā went to the Bhāṇḍīra forest and the cowherdesses suffering from the pangs of separation, went to their respective abodes. In the forest of Bhāṇḍīra in the orchard of the jasmine flowers Śrī Kṛṣṇa and Rādhā enjoyed the company of each other on the charming bed and thereafter they went to the Vāsantī orchard. Lord Kṛṣṇa presently enjoyed the company of Rādhā in that forest.

तत्रैव रमणं कृत्वा ययौ चन्दनकानम्।
चन्दनोक्षितसर्वाङ्गो गृहीत्वा चन्दनोक्षिताम्॥७॥
रम्ये चन्दनतल्पे च स्निग्धे चन्दनपल्लवे।
पूर्णचन्द्रे समुदिते विजहार तया सह॥८॥

Rādhā, whose body was plastered with the sandal-paste, Śrī Kṛṣṇa went to the sandal-wood forest, he enjoyed the company of Rādhā on the bed of the tender leaves of the sandal-wood trees in the spotless rays of the moon.

कृत्वा विहारं तत्रैव ययौ चम्पककाननम्।
रम्ये चम्पतकल्पे च चकार रतिमीश्वरः॥९॥
रतिं निर्वृत्य तत्रैव ययौ पद्मवनं प्रभुः।
पद्मपत्रसमाकीर्णे तल्पेऽतिसुमनोहरे॥१०॥
सार्धं तत्र पद्ममुख्या शीतेन पद्मवायुना।
चकार सुखसंभोगं ययौ निद्रां तया सह॥११॥

After their performance in that place Śrī Kṛṣṇa went with Rādhā to the forest of jasmine flowers. Both of them enjoyed each others company on the charming bed of the jasmine flowers. Getting relieved of the love-sport they then went to the forest of lotus flowers. There they enjoyed on the bed of lotus flowers from which the fragrance of these flowers was issuing carried by the cool breeze. Thus Kṛṣṇa enjoyed the company of the lotus faced Rādhā in that place and he went to sleep there.

विहाय निद्रां निद्रेशो ददर्श निद्रितां प्रियाम्।
शयानां पद्मतल्पे च सुखसंभोगमात्रतः॥१२॥

Thereafter Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the lord of the sleep, rose up from the sleep and started staring at the beloved Rādhā who was comfortably sleeping on the bed of lotus flowers.

दृष्ट्वा मुखं च धर्माक्तं शरच्चन्द्रविनिन्दितम्।
अतिसंलुप्तसिन्दूरं लुप्तं कज्जलमुल्बणम्॥१३॥
संलुप्ताधररागं च संलुप्तगण्डपत्रकम्।
विस्रस्तकबरीभारं नेत्रोत्पलविमुद्रितम्॥१४॥
रत्नकुण्डलयुग्मेनामूल्येन परिशोभितम्।
राजितं मौक्तिकेनैव गजराजोद्भवेन च॥१५॥

He looked at the lotus-like face of Rādhā which put to shame the moon of the winter season. She had developed the drops of sweating on the face in which the spots of vermilion had disappeared. Similarly the collyrium of the eyes, the paint of the lips and the printings on the cheeks had disappeared the knots of hair on the head had disarranged and the eyes were shut like the blue lotus flowers, her face was adorned with the invaluable two kuṇḍalas and Gajamuktā.

प्रेम्णा स्वसूक्ष्मवस्त्रेण वह्निशुद्धेन माधवः।
चकार मार्जनं भक्त्या तद्वक्त्रं भक्तवत्सलः॥१६॥

Thereafter Mādhava, who is always graceful on his devotees, rinsed her face with the fine garment lovingly which was sanctified by Agni.

केशसंमार्जनं कृत्वा निर्माय कबरीं हरिः।
माधवीमालतीमालाजालेन परिशोभिताम्॥१७॥
रत्नपट्टसूत्रबद्धां वामवक्त्रां मनोहराम्।
अतीव वर्तुलाकारां कन्दपुष्पसुशोभिताम्॥१८॥

The lord than combed her hair and decorated her head with jasmine flowers making a beautiful knot, binding it with the string of gems, she was seated turning her face towards the left and looked quite charming. Her head was decorated with beautiful circular lotus flower.

ददौ सिन्दूरतिलकमधश्चन्दनमुज्ज्वलम्।
कस्तूरीबिन्दुना सार्धं परितः परिशोभिताम्॥१९॥

He applied a tilakam of vermilion on her forehead and a spot of kastūrī was also made under it together with another spot of the sandal-paste, decorating the same from all the sides.

चकार पत्रकं गण्डयुग्मे चित्रविचित्रितम्।
प्रददौ कज्जलं भक्त्या नेत्रोत्पलसमुज्ज्वलम्॥२०॥
चकाराधररागं च राधायाश्चानुरागतः।
कर्णभूषणयुग्मं च चकारातीव निर्मलम्॥२१॥

He than painted beautiful leaves on the cheeks and applied collyrium with devotion on the eyes resembling the blue lotus flowers. Thereafter lovingly her lips were also painted and her ears were adorned with beautiful ear ornaments.

अमूल्यरत्नहारं च स्तनभारयुगोज्ज्वलम्।
ददौ कण्ठे च वैकुण्ठो मणिराजिविराजितम्॥२२॥
वह्निशुद्धांशुकं दिव्यममूल्यं विश्वरत्नतः।
वासयामास वसनं कस्तूरीकुङ्कुमाक्तकम्॥२३॥

He then adorned her with invaluable garlands of gems which were falling on her breasts. He adorned her neck with a garland of invaluable diamonds, he also adorned her with several types of ornaments. She was clad in beautiful costumes sanctified by fire on which the kastūrī and saffron were sprinkled.

प्रददौ पादयुगले रत्नमञ्जीररञ्जितम्।
चकारालक्तकं भक्त्या पादाङ्गुलिनखेषु च॥२४॥

Her pair of feet were adorned with gem-studded anklets and the toes were painted red, with devotion.

चकार सेवां सेव्यायाः सेव्यस्त्रिजगतां सताम्।
अहो सेवकसंभक्त्या श्वेतेन चामरेण च॥२५॥

Thus lord Kṛṣṇa who in adored by the entire universe, served Rādhā, like a servant with utmost devotion and also moved the white fly-whisk.

सर्वभावविदां श्रेष्ठो बोधज्ञः कामशास्त्रवित्।
कामिनीं बोधयामास वासयामास वक्षसि॥२६॥
प्रेम्णा च प्रददौ तस्यै सद्रत्नदर्पणं शुभम्।
सुवेषदर्शनार्थं च मुखचन्द्रं च मार्जितुम्॥२७॥

Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa who is well-versed in the scriptures of love and also is well-aware of the feeling connected therewith being best of the intellectuals woke up his beloved and embraced her. Thereafter, he presented to her a beautiful mirror of gems to unable her to look at her reflection in the mirror.

नापुष्पैर्विरचितामम्लानां चन्दनोक्षिताम्।
गण्डे सौभाग्ययुक्तायाः सौभाग्येन ददौ हरिः॥२८॥
कस्तूरीकुङ्कुमाक्तं च सुगन्धि चन्दनं ततः।
ददौ प्रियायाः सर्वाङ्गे प्रियः प्रेमभरेण च॥२९॥

The immensely virtuous goddess Rādhā was adorned by Śrī Kṛṣṇa with many of the garlands of flowers soaked in sandal-paste, beside the undecaying flowers. Getting filled with love Śrī Kṛṣṇa applied on the entire body of Rādhā, the paste of kastūrī, saffron and sandal-paste.

पारिजातस्य कुसुमं दत्तं रहसि ब्रह्मणा।
प्रददौ तत्कबर्यां च ललितायाश्च नारद॥३०॥
कमलं निर्मलं दिव्यं सहस्रदलमुज्ज्वलम्।
शिवेन दत्तं रहसि ददौ तद्दक्षिणे करे॥३१॥

O Nārada, the Pārijāta flower which was given to him by Brahmā was place by Kṛṣṇa on the head of Rādhā. Than he placed the lotus of thousand petals which was spotless and divine issuing lustre and was given to Kṛṣṇa by Śiva in a lonely place.

अतिसारं मणीन्द्राणां मणिरत्नं च कौस्तुभम्।
दत्तं रहसि धर्मेण तस्यै सुप्रीतये ददौ॥३२॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa also adorned the person of Rādhā with kaustubha gem which happens to be the best of all the gems and was given to him by Dharma in a lonely place.

आसवं रत्नपात्रस्थं दस्रदत्तं च निर्जने।
पानार्थं प्रददौ तस्यै कामोन्मादकरं परम्॥३३॥

He then gave the divine beverage which increased pass ion and was given by the divine physician Aśvinīkumāra to Kṛṣṇa in a lonely place. He handed over the beverage for her drinking in the vase of gems to Rādhā.

मालतीमाधवीकुन्दमन्दारचम्पकादिकम्।
पुष्पं सद्रत्नपात्रस्थं तस्यै सुप्रीतये ददौ॥३४॥

He than placed jasmine, Mādhavī, Kunda, Mandāra and campaka flowers in different vases and handed them over to Rādhā for her pleasure.

सुदुर्लभं च ताम्बूलं कर्पूरादिसुसंस्कृतम्।
भक्षणं कारयामास समयज्ञश्च तां प्रियाम्॥३५॥
सुदुर्लभं च विश्वेषु वाक्पतेः परिनिर्मितम्।

अतिसूक्ष्ममनुपमं दत्तं भक्त्या विराजितम्।

देवराजेन दत्तं च गजराजेन्द्रमौक्तिकम्।
नासिकाभूषणं चारु तस्यै सुप्रीत्ये ददौ॥३८॥

Thereafter Kṛṣṇa who is well aware of exigencies of the times gave away to Rādhā a betel with camphor which was difficult to get in the universe. Thereafter unrobing her she was clad in beautiful garments which ware prepared by Bṛhaspati and were invaluable and extremely charming. these handed over to the Kṛṣṇa by Varuṇa in seclusion with great devotion. Indra had given Gajendra-muktā which serves as a nose ornament, was also given by Kṛṣṇa to Rādhā.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र सुशीलाद्याश्च गोपिकाः।

काश्चिच्चन्दनहस्ताश्च काश्चिच्चामरवाहिकाः।
काश्चित्कस्तूरिहस्ताश्च मालाहस्ताश्च काश्चन॥४१॥

In the meantime the sixty extremely dear cowherdesses of Rādhā accompanied with sixty thousand cowherdesses delightfully reached there following the foot steps of Kṛṣṇa and Rādhā. Some of them held sandal-paste, some fly-whisks, some kastūrī and others held the garlands.

काश्चित्सिन्दूरहस्ताश्च काश्चित्कङ्कतिकाकराः।
काश्चिदलक्तककरा वस्त्रहस्ताश्च काश्चन॥४२॥

Some of them held the vermilion, some of them held the lotuses and the combs, some of them held the paint for the feet, some of them carried the costumes.

काश्चिच्चक्रुश्च सेवां च राधायाः श्वेतचामरैः।
काश्चिच्चक्रुश्च देव्याश्च पादसंवाहनं मुदा॥४७॥

Some of them held the mirrors, some of them held the lotus for playing and some of the held the garlands. Some of them held the flower vases. Some of them held the beverages and some of them carried ornaments. Some of them carried karatālas in their hands, some carried double drums, some carried musical instruments and the vīṇās. Thus thirty six types of Rāga-Rāginis assembled there in the form of cowherdesses. They had arrived in the land of Bhārata with Rādhā. On reaching before Rādhā some of them started singing, some of them started dancing, some of the them started moving the fly-whisks and some off them started delightfully pressing her feet.

काचिद्ददौ च ताम्बूलं भक्षणार्थं महामुने।

O great sage, some others offered betels for her consumption. Thus in the sacred place of Vṛndāvana of lord Kṛṣṇa occupying the heart of Rādhā together with the cowherdesses, was drinking beverages in a moment, in another moment he started chewing betel and in another moment he went to sleep delightfully, in another moment he enjoyed the love-sport with Rādhā in the palaces made of gems and in another moment, he started enjoying water sport with Rādhā in the waters of Yamunā. O son, thus I have narrated to you the Rāsalīlā of the lord who moves according to this own will, is complete in all respects is without qualities and independent, beyond Prakṛti, Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva. I have narrated to you the life story of lord Kṛṣṇa, his childhood plays and other events. What else do you want to listen from me.

Nārada said- O best of the sages what did Kṛṣ ṇa do thereafter why did he go to Mathurā leaving the abode of Nanda? How did Nanda, the cowherdess Yaśodā behave in the absence of Kṛṣ ṇa? How could they remain alive without him?.

चक्षुर्निमेषविच्छेदाद्या राधा न हि जीवति।
कथं दधार सा देवी प्राणान्प्राणेश्वरं विना॥३॥

The goddess Rādhikā who could not remain alive with the separation from Kṛṣṇa even for the sinking of the eyes, how could she remain alive after the departure of his beloved.

Then arriving at Mathurā what did Kṛṣṇa do. You kindly let me know all the events relating to the Kṛṣṇa up to the time of his departure for the heaven.

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- In the city of Mathurā, the king Kaṁsa performed a yajña of bow in which Kṛṣṇa was invited. Kṛṣṇa arrived in Mathurā at the invitation of the king. In order to invite him the king deputed Akrūra as a messenger. At the instance of the king Akrūra went to Nandagāṁva in the house of Nanda and accompanied with Kṛṣ ṇa and other cowherds he went back to Mathurā. O sage, reaching Mathurā, Kṛṣṇa killed the king, killing washarman, Cāṇūra, Muṣṭika, Kuvalayāpīḍa, he freed his parents from the prison. Kṛṣṇa the lord of the Gopis enjoyed the company of Kubjā and sent her to Goloka.

Thereafter the thread ceremony of Kṛṣṇa was performed. He then went to the āśrama of the sage Sāndīpani at Avantī for getting education.

On return from that place he defeated Jarāsandha and killing Kālayavana, Ugrasena was properly crowned as the king. There-after he built the city of Dvārakā within the ocean and becoming victorious on the group of kings, he abducted Rukmiṇī and married her.

Thus he married also Kālindī, Lakṣmaṇā, Śaivyā, Satyā, Satī, Jāmbavatī, Mitravindā and Nāgnajitī. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa killed Narakāsura in the battle-field and abducted the sixteen thousand damsels kept by him in captivity and marrying them he enjoyed their company.

Thereafter he won Indra quite easily and winning Candraśekhara cut of the hands of Bāṇāsura. He freed his grandson from the captivity of Bāṇāsura and returned to Dvārakā and he appeared before all the people in their respective houses.

He than met in the yajña of Vāsudeva, his beloved Rādhikā who had arrived there to attend they yajña. After freeing Sudāmā from the curse after a hundred years he again visited the auspicious Vṛndāvana together with Rādhā.

Thereafter in the sacred land of Bhārata Śrī Kṛṣṇa the lord of the universe performed Rāsalīlā in Rāsamaṇḍala of Vṛndāvana for fourteen years. He stayed in the house of Nanda for eleven years. Thus lord Kṛṣṇa remained on earth for a thousand hundred years, living in Mathurā and Dvārakā. During this period the lord rid the earth of her weight. O sage the eternal lord Kṛṣṇa spent hundred and twenty five years on earth and thereafter he left for heaven, he bestowed Yaśodā Nanda, the intelligent Vṛṣ abhāhu, Kalāvatī the mother of Rādhā, the Sāmīpya type of salvation. O great sage, the cowherdesses Rādhikā on the other hand accompanying Kṛṣṇa reached Goloka for performing Dharma in every yuga. Thus I have narrated to you the story of lord Kṛṣṇa in brief which bestows dharma, artha and mokṣa. Considering all to be perishable right from Brahmā to the blade of grass, one should recite the name of the blissful son of Nanda who moves at will is the eternal Brahman, great soul, the lord imperishable, invisible, who bestows his grace on his devotees and takes to a definite form, is truthful, eternal, independent, the lord of all, beyond Prakṛti is without qualities, unattached, invisible and without blemish.

The Influence of Śrī Kṛṣṇa

नारायण उवाच

स एव भगवान्कृष्णः सर्वात्मा पुरुषः परः।
दुराराध्योऽतिसाध्यश्च सर्वाराध्यः सुखप्रदः॥१॥
निजभक्तातिसाध्यश्चाभक्तस्यासाध्य एव च।
शश्वद्दृश्यः स्वभक्तस्याभक्तस्यादृश्य एव च॥२॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- The same lord Kṛṣṇa happens to be the soul of all, is the best among the humans, difficult to be adored, adored with efforts, adored by all, is the bestower of pleasure, adored by his devotees quite easily, impossible for adoration by the non-believer, he is the one who is visible to his devotees always and cannot be visible to the non-devotees.

दुर्ज्ञेयं तस्य चरितं कार्यं हृदयमेव च।
बद्धास्तन्मायया सर्वे मोहिताश्च दुरन्तया॥३॥

His actions and life stories are difficult to understand. The illusion of his immense prowess controls all the people who remain influenced by the same.

यद्भयाद्वाति वातोऽचयं कूर्मं धत्ते निराश्रयः।
कूर्मोऽनन्तं विधत्ते च यद्भयेन निरन्तरम्॥४॥
बिभर्ति शेषो विश्वं च यद्भयेन च नारद।
सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः शिरसश्चैकदेशतः॥५॥

The wind blows getting afraid of him and the tortoise carries the earth with pleasure. Because of his influence the tortoise always carries Śeṣa on his head. O Nārada, under his influence, the serpent Śeṣa with a thousand hoods carries the entire universe on one of its hoods.

सप्तसागरसंयुक्ता सप्तद्वीपा वसुंधरा।
शैलकाननसंयुक्ता पातालाः सप्त एव च॥६॥
सप्त स्वर्गाश्च विविधा ब्रह्मलोकसमन्विताः।
एवं विश्वं त्रिभुवनं कृत्रिमं परिकीर्तितम्॥७॥
यद्भयेन विधात्रा च प्रतिसृष्टै च निर्मितम्।
एवं विश्वान्यसंख्यानि लोमकूपैर्महान्विराट्॥८॥
यद्भयेन विधत्ते च यदन्नो ध्यायते हि यम्।
विष्णुः पाति च संसारं यद्भयेन कृपानिधिः॥९॥

The earth with seven oceans, seven islands and innumerable forests and mountains, the nether world, seven lokas, Brahmaloka and seven heavens comprise of the universe because of his fear. Brahmā creates the three Bhuvnas at the time of creation which are eternal. Because of his fear such innumerable globes are enshrined in the hair-pits of Mahāvirāṭ who happens to be his aṁśa and always meditates upon him. Under his influence the compassionate Viṣṇu protects the universe.

कालाग्निरुद्रो यद्भीतः कालः संहरते प्रजाः।
मृत्युंजयो महादेवो यद्भयाद्ध्यायते च यम्॥१०॥
षड्गुणैरनुरागैश्च विरागी विरतः सदा।

धत्ते च धरणी लोकान्यद्भयेन चराचरान्।
सूयते प्रकृति सृष्टै यद्भयान्महदादिकम्॥१३॥

Getting afraid of him, Rudra destroyed the universe with the flames of the fire of dissolution. Afraid of him Mahādeva who has conquered the death getting disinterested with six guṇas and attractions always meditate upon him. Getting afraid of him the fire burns, because of him the sun emits heat. Because of him Indra pours the rain through the clouds, because of him the fear of death pervades the universe. Because of him Dharmarāja controls the sinners, because of him the earth carries the moveable and immovable lokas, because of him Prakṛti at the time of creation creates Mahada and other elements.

दुर्ज्ञेयं तदभिप्रायं को वा जानाति पुत्रक।

कथं तत्याज गोपीश्च राधां प्राणाधिकां प्रियाम्।
यशोदां बान्धवादींश्च नन्दं वा नन्दनन्दनः॥१६॥

O son, who can be aware of his secret meaning. O son, he happens to be the one whose influence is unknown to Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva. How can I be aware of his movements being a person devoid of wisdom. Lord Kṛṣṇa the son of Nanda leaving Vṛndāvana, why did he go to Mathurā, why did he disown the cowherdesses, Rādhā who was dearer to him than his life, Yaśodā, Nanda and other relatives?.

दर्पहा दर्पद: सोऽपि सर्वेषां सर्वद: सदा।

अन्येषां भावनाहेतोर्ब्रह्मप्राप्तिस्तथा भवेत्।
एवं किंचिद्वितर्कं च कुरुते कमलोद्भव:॥१८॥

The lord always shatters the pride of all, bestows the pride and provides everything on everyone. Because of the curse of Sudāmā he shattered the pride of Rādhā and all other people achieved Brahma as desired by them. Thus Brahmā also entered into some controversy.

चकार दर्पभङ्गं च महाविष्णु:पुरा विभु:।
ब्रह्मणश्च तथा विष्णो: शेषस्य च शिवस्य च॥१९॥
धर्मस्य च यमस्यापि साम्बस्य चन्द्रसूर्ययो:।

प्राणधिष्ठातृदेव्याश्च प्रियाया: प्राणतोऽपि च।
प्राणधिकाया राधाया अन्येषामपि का कथा॥२४॥

Thereafter the all-pervading Mahāviṣṇu shattered the pride of Brahmā. Similarly the pride of Viṣṇu, Śeṣa, Śiva, Dharma, Yama, Sāmba, Sun, Moon, Garuḍa, Agni, Bṛhaspati, Durvāsā, gate-keeper named Jaya and Vijaya, the gods, the demons, yours, Kāmadeva, Indra, Lakṣ maṇa, Arjuna, Bāṇāsura, Bhṛgu, mountain Sumeru, the ocean, the wind, Varuṇa, Sarasvatī, Durgā, Kamalā, Pṛthvī, Sāvitrī, Gaṅgā, Manasā and Rādhikā the great goddess, who had been dearer to the lord than his own life was shattered. Then what to speak of others?

हत्वा दर्पं च सर्वेषां प्रसादं च चकार स:।
कर्ता हर्ता पालयिता स्रष्टा स्रष्टुश्च सर्वत:॥२५॥

But he, while shattering the pride of all, became compassionate on them because he happens to be the creator of the entire universe, the destroyer and the one who preserves besides being the creator of the entire creation.

यं स्तोतुमीशो नालं च पञ्चवक्त्रैस्तु शंकर:।

स्तोतुं नालमनन्तश्च सहस्रवदनैरहो।
स्वयं विष्णुर्विश्वव्यापी नालं स्तोतुं जनार्दन:॥२७॥

Even Śiva is unable to recite his glory with all his five mouths. Brahmā the creator of the universe also cannot recite his glory with all his four mouths. Besides the all-pervading Viṣṇu who is also known by the name of Janārdana is unable to recite his glory.

महाविराण्न शक्तोऽपि यं स्तोतुं परमेश्वरम्।
कम्पिता यस्य पुरत: प्रकृति: परमात्मन:॥२८॥

Even Mahāvirāṭ is unable to recite his glory; even Prakṛti feels nervous in the presence of the great soul.

इत्येवं कथितो ब्रह्मन्प्रभाव: परमात्मन:।
निर्गुणस्य च कृष्णस्य किं भूय: श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥३०॥

O Nārada, even Sarasvatī becomes motionless while offering prayer to him in his presence. Even the Vedas are unable to recite his glory. O Brahman, I have thus narrated to you the glory of Śrī Kṛṣṇa who happens to be Nirguṇa and the great soul. What else do you want to listen from me?.

Stotra of Lakṣmī

नारद उवाच

किमपूर्वं श्रुतं ब्रह्मन्रहस्यं परमाद्भुतम्।
अनन्तचरितं धन्यमनन्तस्याच्युतस्य च॥१॥

Nārada said- O Brahman, I have listened to the endless story of Kṛṣṇa which is quite astonishing, secretive and astonishing.

कथं कृष्णो महाविष्णोर्दर्पभङ्गं चकार सः।
अन्येषां वा कथमहो तद्भवान्वक्तुमर्हति॥२॥

I would like to listen to the way Śrī Kṛṣṇa shattered the pride of Mahāviṣṇu and others. You kindly tell me this in detail.

स्वत: श्रीकृष्णचरितमतीव मधुरं श्रुतौ।
अतीव मधुरं रम्यं काव्यं कविमुखात्तत:॥३॥

The life story of lord Kṛṣṇa is quite sweet but it is always pleasant to listen to the story from the mouth of a good poet which becomes immensely sweeter (thus by listening to the story of lord Kṛṣṇa from your mouth, it would add to the sweetness further).

नारायण उवाच

महाविष्णोरहंकारो बभूव सहसेति च।
सर्वं मल्लोमकूपेषु विश्वान्येवाऽहमीशवर:॥४॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Once Mahāviṣṇu was inflated with pride suddenly that the entire universe was lodged in his hair-pits and therefore he was the supreme lord.

संहारभैरवो भूत्वा तं स जग्रास लीलया।
स्थिते मूर्धावशेषे च प्रसादं तं चकार सः॥५॥
सर्वात्मना ध्यायमान: स्तुतो भीतं कृपानिधि:।
तच्छरीरं सुसंपन्नं पुनरेव चकार स॥६॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa took to the form of Saṁhāra-bhairava and started swallowing him. When only the head was left Mahāviṣṇu started offering prayers devotedly to the lord. Finding him terrified the merciful lord restored his body completely.

ब्रह्मण: सहसा ब्रह्मन्निति दर्पो बभूव ह।
अहं त्रिजगतां धाता कर्ताऽहमीश्वर: स्वयम्॥७॥
मत्पर: पूजितो नास्ति मत्परश्च जितेन्द्रिय:।
इत्येवं मनसा कृत्वा बहुदर्पो बभूव ह॥८॥

O Brahman, similarly Brahmā also was once so inflated with pride that he was the sole creator of the universe and as such the supreme lord. He thought that there was none else who could be more adorable than him, nor was there anyone else who had so completely controlled his sense organs. Having thus resolved in his mind, he was filled with pride.

तं ब्रह्मणां समूहं च दर्शयामास तत्क्षणम्।
गोलोके स्वसमीपे च वसन्तं पुरतो विभो:॥
चतुर्वक्त्रं पञ्चवक्त्रं षड्वक्त्रं च ततोऽधिकम्॥९॥
शतवक्त्रं च प्रत्येकं ब्रह्माण्डौघं च लीलया।
त्यक्तुकामं स्वदेहं च व्रीडया नतकंधरम्॥१०॥
पुन: प्रसादं कृपया तं चकार कृपानिधि:।
कालेन मोहिनीद्वारा तमपूज्यं चकार स:॥११॥
स्वकन्यां दर्शयित्वा तं सकामं च चकार ह।
पुनस्तद्दर्पभङ्गं च शिवद्वारा चकार स:॥१२॥
तत्याज लज्जया देहं पुनर्देहं दधार स:।
पुनश्चकार तं पूज्यं ब्रह्माणं ब्रह्मण: प्रभु:॥१३॥
ज्ञानं ददौ महाज्ञानी ज्ञानानन्द: सनातन:।
विष्णोर्बभूव गर्वश्च जगत्पाताऽहमीश्वर:॥१४॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa displayed the forms in which there were creatures with five faces, four faces, six faces and many of them having a hundred faces. He displayed the Brahmāṇḍa together with Brahmā playfully as a result of which Brahmā felt ashamed and he lowered his head in shame and got ready to end his life. Thereafter the lord who is the ocean of mercy bestowed his grace on him. At the appropriate time he made him unadorable and as a result of the curse of Mohinī, he made him passionate by displaying his own daughter before him and thereafter he got his pride shattered through Śiva. Getting ashamed he thought of ending his life and took to another body. Thereafter the great intellectual and eternal who is also the form of intellectuals and an eternal lord took to the form of a Brāhmaṇa and appeared before Brahmā and made him adorable again bestowing the divine knowledge on him. Similarly lord Viṣṇu also was once inflated with pride and thought, "I alone maintain the entire universe and as such I happen to be the supreme lord.".

तमात्मविस्मृतं कृष्णश्चकार रामजन्मनि।
अहं विश्वं बिभर्मीति शेषो दर्पी बभूव ह॥१५॥
तद्दर्पं गरुडद्वारा चूर्णीभूतं चकार सः।
एकदा पूजितो नागैर्गरुडः कृष्णवाहनः॥१६॥
न पूजितश्च शेषेण स्वदर्पेण पुरा मुने।
गरुडेन जितं क्रोधात्तमनन्तं मनस्विनम्॥१७॥
चकार मोक्षणं तस्य श्रीकृष्णश्च कृपानिधिः।
स्वयं शिवः स्वदर्पाच्च विवाहं न चकार सः॥१८॥
तं कृत्वा मायया मोहं कारयामास स्त्रीयुतम्।
पुनर्जहार तत्पत्नीं दक्षकन्यां महासतीम्॥१९॥
वर्षं शुशोच तद्देहं क्रोडे कृत्वा च शंकरः।
नानास्थानं च बभ्राम रुदञ्छोकान्मुहुर्मुहुः॥२०॥

Thereafter at the time of the incarnation of Rāma he shattered his pride by making him forget himself and his pride was shattered. Śeṣa also once was filled with pride feeling, "I carry the entire universe on my head and there was no one else comparable to me." Finding this the lord got his pride shattered through Garuḍa. O sage, once all the serpents adored Garuḍa the vehicle of Kṛṣṇa, but serpent Śeṣa refused to do so, swollen with pride. At this Garuḍa was enraged and subjugated Ananta; thereafter all merciful Kṛṣṇa got him released. Lord Śiva even was not prepared to marry because of the pride in him. Lord Kṛṣṇa influenced him with his illusion and got him married; thereafter his wife named Mahāsatī the daughter of Dakṣa was kidnapped (because she ultimately burnt his body in the fire-altar of Dakṣa). Thereafter lord Śiva carrying the dead body of Satī in his lap suffered from the pain and grief for many years. He cried again and again because of his grief and roamed about in several places.

जन्मान्तरे पुनः प्राप्य तां सती पार्वती मुदा।
विस्स्मार च स्वज्ञानं दक्षशापः पुनः शिवः॥२१॥
पुनश्चाऽऽङ्गीरसद्वारा स्मारयामास सत्वरम्।
एकदा सरथः शम्भुः प्रेरितस्त्रिपुरे पुरा॥२२॥
हत्या दैत्यं शिवक्षारा त्रिपुरारिं चकार तम्।
सर्वं वरं च सर्वस्मै दातुं शंभुः कृपानिधि॥२३॥
स्वयं कल्पतरुर्भूत्वा प्रतिज्ञां च चकार सः।
वृकासुरोऽनुष्ठानं च कृत्वा वव्रे वरं विभुम्॥२४॥
दास्यामि हस्तं यन्मूर्ध्नि भस्मसाद्भवतु क्षणात्।
जगाद जगतां नाथ ईप्सितं ते भविष्यति॥२५॥
इति लब्ध्वा वरं रुद्राद्गच्छन्तं शंकर विभुम्।
हस्तं दातुं च तं मूर्ध्नि प्राधावत्सत्वरं पुरा॥२६॥

Thereafter, getting back Satī in the form of Pārvatī, he was fully delighted but because of the curse of Dakṣa he forgot all his divine knowledge. Durvāsā, the son of Aṅgirā, helped him in restoring the divine knowledge to Śiva. Similarly in the earlier times, lord Kṛṣṇa sent Śiva mounted on a chariot for the killing of Tripurāsura. Though the compassionate Śiva could bestow all the books on everyone and himself being kalpavṛkṣa took a vow thereafter, Vṛkāsura adored lord Śiva and achieved a boon from Śiva, who said, "Your desire will be fulfilled." Thus with the boon of Rudra, the demon before leaving that place intended to place his hand on Śiva's head.

अतीव भीतः शंभुश्च जगाम शरणं हरिम्।
भगवांश्च शिवस्यार्थे दैत्यं भस्मीचकार सः॥२७॥

Finding this, Śiva felt panicky and went to take refuge with the lord. Thereafter, the lord reduced to ashes that demon for the sake of Śiva.

शिवं युद्धं च कुर्वन्तं बाणयुद्धे पुरा विभुः।
लीलया जृम्भणास्त्रेण जडीभूतं चकार सः॥२८॥

In the earlier times, while fighting with Bāṇāsura, Śiva was playfully made motionless by the lord Kṛṣṇa.

समागतं दक्षयज्ञे शंभुं दम्भेन लीलया।
वारयामास भगवान्हस्तं दत्त्वा च तद्गले॥२९॥

Again in the yajña of Dakṣa, the lord removed Śiva from the place by holding him by the neck.

केदारकन्यकाद्वारा शप्तो धर्मोऽतिदैवतः।
बभूवातिकृशो भीतः कुह्वामेव यथा शशी॥३०॥

Similarly Dharma attracted a great curse from the daughter of Kedāra, as a result of which he became very weak like the moon of the dark fortnight.

तदा तस्याश्च शापान्ते सत्ये पूर्णो बभूव ह।
त्रिपाद्बभूव त्रेतायां द्वापरं च द्विपादिति॥३१॥
एकपाच्च कलौ सोऽपि कलेरन्ते पुनः क्षयः।
षोडशांशोऽतिक्लिष्टश्च सस्मार चरणं विभोः॥३२॥
तदा सत्ययुगारम्भे परिपूर्णोऽभवत्पुनः।
पुनर्युगानुरोधेन क्रमेण च पुनः क्षयः॥३३॥
यमो माण्डवशापेन शूद्रयोनिमवाप ह।
तदा पुनः शताब्दान्ते पुनः शुद्धो बभूव ह॥३४॥

After the end of the curse, in Satyayuga he became complete and healthy. In Tretāyuga he had three feet only, in the Dvāpara only two and in the age of Kali he had only one foot left and thereafter he completely disappears. Thus Dharma getting present in sixteen parts was immensely upset and started adoring at the feet of the lord. He was complete in the Satyayuga in all respects. Similarly he went on increasing and decreasing according to the yugas; as a result of the curse of the sage Māṇḍava even Yama had to be born in the house of Śūdra and could be purified only after a hundred years.

साम्बो विमातृशापेन गलत्कुष्ठी बभूव सः।
तदा सूर्यव्रतं कृत्वा पुनः शुद्धो बभूव सः॥३५॥

Sāmba attracted leprosy because of the curse of his step-mother. He after performing the vrata of Sūrya was purified again.

चन्द्रो दर्पमदेनैव जहार च गुरोः प्रियाम्।
बभूव दर्पभङ्गोऽस्य यक्ष्मग्रस्तो बभूव सः॥३६॥

Infatuated with pride Candramā abducted Tārā, the wife of Bṛhaspati as a result, he attracted the disease of consumption and his pride was shattered.

सूर्यो दर्पात्तेजसरश्च हन्तुं शंकरकिंकरम्।
सुमालीत्यभिधं दैत्यं जगामाऽऽशु गिरिं प्रति॥३७॥
अहर्निशं दीप्तिकरं कुर्वन्तं विषयं रवेः।
सूर्येण भीतो दैत्यश्च शंकरं शरणं ययौ॥३८॥

Because of the pride of his lustre, Sūrya went after Sumālī a devotee of Śiva in order to kill him. The sun was performing the duty of illumining the universe day and night. Getting terrified by the sun, the demon took refuge with Śiva.

सूर्यं दृष्ट्वा शंकरश्च जग्राह शूलमेव च।
भीतो दुद्राव सूर्यश्च दृष्ट्वा तं शूलिनं मुने॥३९॥
जघान काश्यां शूलेन शूली काशीश्वरो रविम्।
मूर्च्छां संप्राप्य शूलेन दर्पभङ्गो बभूव ह॥४०॥
सान्द्रान्धकारः सहसा जग्राहा पृथिवीतलम्।
आशुतोषो महादेवो जीवयामास तत्क्षणम्॥४१॥

O sage, finding Sūrya there Śiva took up his trident to strike at Sūrya, as a result of which he was terrified and while running he left Kāśī. Then Śiva the lord of Kāśī attacked Sūrya with his trident, as a result of which he fainted and fell down on the ground. And thus his pride was shattered. Thereafter the entire universe was plunged in to darkness. Finding this, Śiva who gets pleased in no time revived the sun back to life.

तुष्टाव शंकरं सूर्यो लज्जितोऽपि भयेन च।
कृत्वा तमाशिषं तुष्टो ययौ गेहं कृपानिधिः॥४२॥
विभुर्गरुत्मतो दर्पं बभञ्ज लीलया पुरा।
निःश्वासैः प्रेरितस्यापि शिवस्य वृषभस्य च॥४३॥
आगच्छन्तं च वैकुण्ठं पृष्ठे कृत्वा शिवं पुरा।
द्रष्टुं समागतं भक्त्या देवं नारायणं परम्॥४४॥

Getting ashamed and terrified, Sūrya then adored Śiva. The all merciful Śiva delightfully pronounced his blessing on Sūrya and left for his abode. In earlier times the lord shattered the pride of Garuḍa in no time, with the breathing of Nandī who was serving as a mount to Śiva. Garuḍa flew away at the time when Śiva was intending to meet Nārāyaṇa mounted on the back of Nandī.

वह्निर्दर्पी भृगोः शापात्सर्वभक्षो बभूव ह।
गुरोः स्वभार्याहरणाद्दर्पश्चूर्णो बभूव ह॥४५॥

Similarly the pride of Agni was shattered because of the curse of sage Bhrgu and he became the consumer of everything; the pride of Brhaspati was shattered with the abduction of his wife Tārā.

दुर्वाससो दर्पभङ्गो बभूव ह्यम्बरीषतः।
सुदर्शनेन चक्रेण विष्णोर्दुर्विषहेण च॥४६॥

The pride of Durvāsā was shattered because of the unbearable Sudarśana-cakra when he wanted to kill Ambarīṣa a devotee of Viṣṇu .

जयस्य विजयस्यापि दर्पभङ्गं चकार सः।
वैकुण्ठात्पतितस्यापि ब्रह्माशापच्छलेन च॥४७॥

The lord threw away his attendants Jaya and Vijaya from Vaikuṇṭha with the curse of the Brāhmaṇa sage Sanatkumāra and shattered their pride.

नृसिंहेण हतः सोऽपि हिरण्यकशिपुर्यथा।
सूकरेण हिरण्याक्षो लीलया च रसातले॥४८॥

In due course of time both Jaya and Vijaya were born as the demons named Hiraṇyakaśipu and Hiraṇyākṣa. Out of these too Hiraṇyakaśipu was killed by lord Nṛsiṁha and similarly Hiraṇyākṣa was killed by Viṣṇu in the form of Varāha incarnation who rescued the earth from the deep water.

रावणः कुम्भकर्णश्च निहतौ रामबाणतः।
जन्मान्तरे च लङ्कायां ब्रह्मणा प्रार्थितस्य च॥४९॥
शिशुपालो हि निहतः कृष्णबाणेन लीलया।
दन्तवक्रश्च सहसा परिपूर्णोऽत्र जन्मनि॥५०॥
सुराणां दर्पभङ्गं च दैत्यद्वारा चकार ह।
असुराणां सुरद्वारा विरोधेन परस्परम्॥५१॥

In due course of time both of them were born as Rāvaṇa and Kumbhakarṇa and were killed in Laṅkā by the arrows of Rāma. Brahmā had already prayed for their killing in earlier times. Then in the third birth they were born as Śiśupāla and Dantavakra who achieved heaven after having been killed at the hands of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Thus lord Kṛṣṇa created differences between the gods and the demons, shattered their pride in one way or the other.

विधिद्वारा दर्पभङ्गः भवतश्च चकार सः।
भवानासीन्नारदश्च पुरा पुत्रः प्रजापतेः॥५२॥
गन्धर्वश्च पितुः शापाच्छूद्रीपुत्रस्ततः क्रमात्।
ततः पुनर्नारदश्च प्रसादादधुना विभोः॥५३॥

The lord has also shattered your pride through Brahmā because in the earlier times you happened to be Nārada the son of Prajāpati. With the curse of your father you became a Gandharva, son of a Śūdra woman and in due course of time you were reborn as Nārada.

मम साध्यं विश्वमिति कामदर्पो बभूव ह।
तं प्रमत्तं हरद्वारा भस्माच्च चकार सः॥५४॥

Once the god of love was also inflated with pride thinking that the entire universe was controlled by him. Then the lord got the god of love reduced to ashes through Śiva and getting pleased, brought him back to life. since that time the god of love never tries to influence the devotees of the lord.

चकार दर्पभङ्गं च दर्पिणो लक्ष्मणस्य च।

Lord also shattered the pride of Lakṣmaṇa in the battle-field when he had to face the trident of Śiva which was shot by Rāvaṇa.

पुनस्तं जीवयामास रामस्य स्तवनेन च।
स्वयं विस्मृतविष्णोश्च ब्रह्मशापेन नारद॥५७॥

O Nārada, Rāma offered prayer who himself had incarnated on earth and had forgotten his true form because of the curse of Brahma. Lakṣ maṇa was revived back to life.

चकार दर्पभङ्गं च कार्तवीर्यार्जुनस्य च।

In the earlier times the lord shattered the pride of Kārtavīryārjuna of the use of the battle-axe by Paraśurāma. The pride of Arjuna was also shattered with the death of the Brāhmaṇa boy, the abduction of the wives of Kṛṣṇa and at the time of the battle between Karṇa and Arjuna.

बाणस्य चोषाहरणे चिच्छेद च भुजान्विभुः।
भृगोश्च दक्षयज्ञे च दर्पभङ्गं चकार सः।।६०।।

At the time of abduction of Ūṣā, the lord himself cut off the arms of Bāṇāsura and shattered his pride. The pride of Bhṛgu was shattered in the yajña of Dakṣa.

पर्शुरामस्य रामस्य विवाहो पथि गच्छतः।
बभञ्ज दर्पं समरे रामद्वारा पुरा विभुः।।६१।।

In the marriage of Rāma when Paraśurāma met him on the way, his pride was shattered by him.

समुद्राणां दर्पभङ्गं चकारागस्त्यभक्षणात्।।६२।।

The pride of the Sumeru mountain was shattered with the breaking of its peaks by the wind. The pride of the ocean was shattered when Agastya drank its water.

अकाले सृष्टिहरणे तत्पुत्रमरणे पुरा।
कोपयुक्तस्य वायोश्च दर्पभङ्गं चकार सः।।६३।।

In the earlier times the pride of enraged wind was shattered by the lord when he wanted to untimely destroy the universe by killing the sun.

कलहे गङ्गया सार्धं वाण्या नारायणाग्रतः।
सरस्वतीं च तत्याज तस्या दर्पं बभञ्ज सः।।६५।।

At the time of journey on the abduction of Ūṣā, the lord left Dvārakā but by pronouncing a curse on Varuṇa who was abducting the cows of Bāṇāsura, his pride was shattered. At the time of quarrel between Gaṅgā and Sarasvatī in the presence of Viṣṇu he shattered the pride of Sarasvatī by disowning her.

Śiva disowned the proud Durgā, while living in Himālaya and reduced the god of love to ashes and he himself went for performing tapas. Thereafter, the goddess felt very much ashamed, after her pride was shattered she started adoring lord Viṣṇu for getting back Śiva as her husband. For this purpose she went to the forest for performing tapas.

While performing tapas in Bhārata for a long time, she achieved the eternal lord Śiva as her husband with the blessing of lord Viṣṇu.

महासौभाग्ययुक्ता सा बभूव शंकरप्रिया।
विश्वेषु सर्वदेवीषु पूज्या वन्द्या स्तुता सुरैः।।६९।।

The goddess became quite fortunate and the beloved of Śiva, besides being adorable by all the gods and the goddesses of the universe.

O great sage, in the earlier times, Mahālakṣmī also was once filled with pride. Then he made Jaya and Vijaya to insult her, as a result of which her pride was shattered. She, after bestowing the boon on her devotees, was entering the door when the gate-keepers stopped her.

यदात्मनस्तिरस्कारं साभिमाना महासती।
स्मृत्वा हरेः पादपद्मं देहं त्यक्तुं समुद्यता।।७२।।

The extremely proud and chaste Mahālakṣmī was enraged because her insult was about to end her life, devoting her mind at the lotus-like feet of the lord.

तदा ब्रह्मा महेशश्च विष्णुर्धर्मश्च भास्करः।
चन्द्रश्च कामदेवश्च वैश्वानरो धनेश्वरः।।७३।।

समाययूरुदन्तस्ते पद्मायाः पुरतः पुरा।
तुष्टुवुश्च महालक्ष्मीं मूलप्रकृतिमीश्वरीम्।।७५।।

At that point of time all the gods like Brahmā, Śiva, Viṣṇu, Dharma, Sūrya, Moon, Kāmadeva, Vaiśvānara, Kubera, the sages, the ascetic, Vināyaka, the Manus, Mahendra, Varuṇa, Vāyu and Agni arrived before Lakṣmī while crying. They started eulogising the Mūlaprakṛti and Īśvarī known as Mahālakṣmī.

क्षमस्व भगवत्यम्ब क्षमाशीले परात्परे।
शुद्धसत्त्वस्वरूपे च कोपादिपरिवर्जिते॥७६॥

The gods said- You forgive us O mother, O Bhagavatī you are beyond everyone and have the form of spotless and sattva. You are beyond anger, forgive us.

उपमे सर्वसाध्वीनां देवीनां देवपूजिते।
त्वया विना जगत्सर्वं मृततुल्यं च निष्फलम्॥७७॥

You are the best of all the chaste goddesses, adored by all the gods, without you the entire universe is like death and infructuous.

सर्वसंपत्स्वरूपा त्वं सर्वेषां सर्वरूपिणी।
रासेश्वर्यधिदेवी त्वं त्वत्कला: सर्वयोषित:॥७८॥

You represent the fortunes of all, you happen to be the form of all, you are Rāseśvarī and the great goddess. All the women on earth represent was rays.

कैलासे पार्वती त्वं च क्षीरोदे सिन्धुकन्यका।
स्वर्गे च स्वर्गलक्ष्मीस्त्वं मर्त्यलक्ष्मीश्च भूतले॥७९॥

You are Prakṛti in Kailāsa, Sindhuputrī, Mahālakṣmī in the ocean of milk, Svargalakṣmī in the heaven and Martyalakṣmī on earth.

वैकुण्ठे च महालक्ष्मीर्देवदेवी सरस्वती।
गङ्गा च तुलसी त्वं च सावित्री ब्रह्मलोकत:॥८०॥

Similarly in Vaikuṇṭha you are Mahālakṣmī, Sarasvatī, goddess of the gods, Gaṅgā, Tulasī and Sāvitrī of Brahmaloka.

कृष्णप्राणाधिदेवी त्वं गोलोके राधिका स्वयम्।
रासे रासेश्वरी त्वं च वृन्दा वृन्दावने वने॥८१॥

In the Goloka you are the great goddess Rādhā who is dearer to Kṛṣṇa than his life, Rāseśvarī at the time of divine dance and Vṛndā in Vṛndāvana.

कृष्णप्रिया त्वं भाण्डीरे चन्द्रा चन्दनकानने।
विरजा चम्पकवने शतशृङ्गे च सुन्दरी॥८२॥

You are Kṛṣṇapriyā in the Bhāṇḍīra forest, Candrā in the forest of sandal-wood, Virajā in the forest of campaka flowers and Sundarī in the mountain of a hundred peaks.

पद्मावती पद्मवने मालती मालतीवने।
कुन्ददन्ती कुन्दवने सुशीला केतकीवने॥८३॥

You are Padmāvatī of Padmā forest, Mālatī of the Mālatī forest, Kundadantī in the forest of lotus flower and Suśīlā in the forest of Ketakī flowers.

कदम्बमाला त्वं देवी कदम्बकाननेऽपि च।
राजलक्ष्मी राजगेहे गृहलक्ष्मीर्गृहे गृहे॥८४॥

You are Kadambamālā in the kadamba forest, Rājalakṣmī in the royal houses, Gṛhalakṣmī in every house.

इत्युक्त्वा देवता: सर्वे मुनयो मनवस्तथा।
रुरुदुर्नम्रवदना: शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका:॥८५॥

Thus speaking all the gods, the sages and Manu bowed in reverence to her and started crying with their throats, lips and palates having been dried up.

इति लक्ष्मीस्तवं पुण्यं सर्वदेवै: कृतं शुभम्।
य: पठेत्प्रातरुत्थाय स वै सर्वं लभेद्ध्रुवम्॥८६॥

Thus whosoever recites this Lakṣmī stotra composed by gods early in the morning, surely gets everything.

अभार्यो लभते भार्यां विनीतां च सुतां सतीम्।
सुशीलां सुन्दरीं रम्यामतिसुप्रियवादिनीम्॥८७॥
पुत्रपौत्रवतीं शुद्धां कुलजां कोमलां वराम्।
अपुत्रो लभते पुत्रं वैष्णवं चिरजीविनम्॥८८॥
परमैश्वर्ययुक्तं च विद्यावन्तं यशस्विनम्।
भ्रष्टराज्यो लभेद्राज्यं भ्रष्टश्रीर्लभते श्रियम्॥८९॥
हतबन्धुर्लभेद्बन्धुं घनभ्रष्टो धनं लभेत्।
कीर्तिहीनो लभेत्कीर्तिं प्रतिष्ठां च लभेद्ध्रुवम्॥९०॥

One who is deprived of a wife gets a very chaste, noble and charming wife having a sweet tongue besides grandsons and all the riches. He gets a damsel of high family with tender limbs. The one having no son gets a Vaiṣṇava son having a long life, possessing all the riches and the one who is well educated. The people who are deprived of their kingdom would get it back and regain the lost riches and the lost relatives. The pauper would receive enough of riches with glory.

सर्वमङ्गलदं स्तोत्रं शोकसंतापनाशनम्।
हर्षानन्दकरं शश्वद्धर्ममोक्षसुहृत्प्रदम्।।९१।।

Thus this stotra is quite beneficial, bestows welfare, destroys grief and always bestows dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa besides good friends.

Detachment of Lakṣmī

नारायण उवाच

देवानां स्तवनं श्रुत्वा त्यक्त्वा च रोदनं सती।
उवाच सुप्रसन्ना तांस्तेषां स्तोत्रेण नारद।।१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- O Nārada adoring the gods, the chaste Lakṣmī stopped crying who was pleased with their prayer.

महालक्ष्मीरुवाच

त्यजामि देहं न क्रोधान्न वैराग्येण सांप्रतम्।
इदं हृदि समालोच्य देवास्तच्छ्रू यतामिति।।२।।

Mahālakṣmī said- O gods, I am not ending my life because of detachment on anger. Therefore whatever has been resolved by me in my mind, I am going to tell you. You please listen to it.

यस्मिन्सदीशे महति सर्वसाम्ये च निर्गुणे।
सर्वात्मनि सदानन्दे समता तृणशैलयो:।।३।।
भ्रूभङ्गलीलया लक्ष्मीर्लक्षं स्रष्टुमलं च य:।
भृत्ये स्त्रियां यत्समता किं कार्यं तस्य सेवया।।४।।

The supreme lord is great and is alive for all. He is without qualities, is the soul of all, blissful and for him there is hardly any difference between a blade of grass and a mountain. Therefore the one who could by his simple frowning create lakhs of Lakṣmīs and treat equally the wives of others as well as the servants, what is the use of serving him?.

तत्पत्नीनां प्रधानाऽहं निरस्ता द्वारिणाऽधुना।
तद्भृ त्यभृत्यभृत्येन परिपूर्णेन नेप्सिता।।५।।
त्यक्ष्यामि जीवनमहमसौभाग्या च स्वामिनी।
वह्नौ च कामनां कृत्वा यथा भद्रं भवेत्पुरा।।६।।

I am the foremost of all his wives, in spite of that the gate-keepers stopped me like him who happens to be the servant of the servants. I am no more attracted towards Kṛṣṇa. Having been deprived of the fortune of my husband, I am desirous of the fire flames and intend to end my life in them. I can by doing so achieve the welfare which I did earlier.

या स्त्री भर्तुरसौभाग्या साऽसौभाग्या च सर्वत:।
शयनेऽभोजने तस्यसा न सुखं जीवनं वृथा।।७।।
यस्या नास्ति प्रियप्रेम तस्या जन्म निरर्थकम्।
तत्किं पुत्रे धने रूपे संपत्तौ यौवनेऽथवा।।८।।

The woman who is deprived of the fortune of her husband, becomes unfortunate from all sides. She does not enjoy any pleasure in sleep and taking food and her life becomes useless. The one who cannot achieve love for her husband, her life is of no consequence. Therefore, the sun, riches, beauty, wealth and youthfulness are of no consequence to her.

यद्भक्तिर्नास्ति कान्ते च सर्वप्रियतमे परे।
साऽशुचिर्धर्महीना च सर्वकर्मविवर्जिता।।९।।

The one who is not devoted lovingly towards her husband, becomes impure, devoid of dharma and is prevented from performing all the duties.

पतिर्वन्धुर्गतिर्भर्ता दैवतं गुरुरेव च।
सर्वस्माच्च पर: स्वामी न गुरु: स्वामिन: पर:।।१०।।
पिता माता सुतो भ्राता क्लिष्टो दातुमिदं धनम्।
सर्वस्वदाता स्वामी च मूढानां योषितां सुरा:।।११।।

Because the husband happens to be the true relative, the movement, the preserver, the god and the teacher and as such he happens to be the supreme lord. There is no other teacher better than the husband. O gods, the parents, the sun and brother can endow with the riches with difficulties but even to the foolish wives, their husbands provide them everything.

काचिदेव हि जानाति महासाध्वी च स्वामिनम्।
अतिसद्वंशजाता च सुशीला कुलपालिका।।१२।।

Therefore only an immensely chaste lady could realise the true importance of her husband. Having been born in a high family such a damsel is quite humble and follows the tradition of the family.

आशद्वंशप्रसूता या दु:शीला धर्मवर्जिता।
मुखदुष्टा योनिदुष्टा पतिं निन्दति कोपत:।।१३।।

The one who is born in a low family, possessing a hostile temperament, devoid of dharma, speaker of harsh words and becomes a loose woman, always denounces her husband in anger.

या स्त्री सर्पपरं द्वेष्टि पतिं विष्णुसमं गुरुम्।
कुम्भीपाके पचति सा यावदिन्द्राश्चतुर्दश।।१४।।
व्रतं चानशनं दानं सत्यं पुण्यं तपश्चिरम्।
पतिभक्तिविहीनाया भस्मीभूतं निरर्थकम्।।१५।।

Such of the women who is the best of all and becomes envious and her husband like Viṣṇu who happens to be her teacher. She has to fall in the kumbhīpāka hell for a period of fourteen Indras. The woman who is not devoted to her husband, all her vratas, fasting, performing of charities, good deeds and the tapas performed for a long time, are reduced to ashes.

अत: किंचिन्न वक्ष्यामि निष्ठुरं पतिमीश्वरम्।
भृत्यापराधैर्देवस्य प्राणांस्त्यक्ष्यामि निश्चितम्।।१६।।

Therefore I shall not speak out anything against my heartless husband who happens to be the lord and because of the sin committed by his servants, I shall end my life.

पतिदोषे महासाध्वी पतिं न निष्ठुरं वदेत्।
यदि सोढुमशक्ता च प्राणांस्त्यजति धर्मत:।।१७।।

Because the immensely chaste woman does not utter harsh words to her husband even when he is at fault and in case she is unable to bear the insult she devotedly ends her life.

पतिसेवा व्रतं स्त्रीणां पतिसेवा परं तप:।
पतिसेवा परो धर्म: पतिसेवा सुरार्चनम्।।१८।।
पतिसेवा परं सत्यं दानतीर्थानुकीर्तनम्।
सर्वदेवमय: स्वामी सर्वदेवमय: शुचि:।।१९।।

Therefore, it is incumbent on the women to serve their husband. The serving of husband is a great tapas. The serving of the husband is the great dharma and the serving of the husband is like the adoration of the gods, the serving of the husband is quite truthful and is the form of the holy places as well as the performing of the charities. Therefore, the husband of the woman is equated with gods. He has the form of the gods and has the auspicious form.

सर्वपुण्यस्वरूपश्च पतिरूपी जनार्दन:।
या सती भर्तुरुच्छिष्टं भुङ्क्ते पादोदकं सदा।।२०।।
तस्या दर्शमुपस्पर्शं नित्यं वाञ्छन्ति देवता:।
तत: सर्वाणि तीर्थानि पुनन्ति पापिनो ह्यघात्।।२१।।

He is immensely chaste and happens to be lord Kṛṣṇa in the form of husband. Therefore, such of the women who consume the food taken by her husband and sip the water of his feet, the gods are always anxious to have an audience with such women. With the touch of such women all the holy places are relieved of all the sins.

इत्युक्त्वा च महासाध्वी रुरोद च मुहुर्मुहु:।
उवाच ब्रह्मा भीतश्च भक्तिनम्रात्मकंधर:।।२२।।

Thus speaking the immensely chaste Lakṣmī started sobbing again and again. Witnessing this Brahmā spoke to her in great devotion.

ब्रह्मोवाच

भविष्यति न भद्रं च जयस्य विजयस्य च।
त्वया न शप्तौ तौ मूढौ प्रियापराधभीतया।।२३।।
सापराधं च धर्मिष्ठ: क्षमया न शपेद्यदि।
सर्वनाशो भवेत्तस्य निश्चितं मा चिरं सति।।२४।।

Brahmā said- O chaste damsel, you have not pronounced a curse on Jaya and Vijaya, taking it to be sinful, keeping in view the mind of the husband. Therefore those foolish people will never achieve salvation. If a noble person out of his merciful nature does not pronounce a curse, he surely meets with his destruction.

यदि शप्तुं न शक्तश्च न दण्डं कर्तुमीश्वरः।
सापराधे च पुरुषे धर्मो दण्डं करोति च॥२५॥

In case he is unable to pronounce a curse and is also not in a position to give some punishment then in such a case the sinner is punished by dharma himself.

सर्वं क्षमस्व हे मार्तगच्छ गच्छ प्रियान्तिकम्।
मां च त्वत्स्वामिनो भक्तं नियोज्य सृष्टिकर्मणि॥२६॥

Therefore O mother, whatever has happened you kindly forgive it and direct me who happens to be a devotee of your lord, in engaging myself in the task of the creation of the universe. You also better go back to your beloved.

इत्युक्त्वा तां पुरस्कृत्वा सार्धं देवैर्मुनीन्द्रकैः।
शीघ्रं जगाम वैकुण्ठं वैकुण्ठं स्तोतुमीश्वरः॥२७॥

Thus speaking Brahmā in the company of the gods and the sages placing Lakṣmī in the fore-front proceeded to Vaikuṇṭha in order to offer prayer to lord Viṣṇu.

तत्र गत्वा जगन्नाथं तुष्टाव कमलासनः।
चतुर्वक्त्रैश्चतुर्वक्त्रश्चतुर्वेदविदां गुरुम्॥२८॥

On reaching there Brahmā who was seated on the seat of lotus flower, started adoring the lord with all his four faces.

ब्रह्मणः स्तवनं श्रुत्वा दृष्ट्वा लक्ष्मीं पुरःसराम्।
रुदतीं नम्रवदनामुवाच कमलापतिः॥२९॥

The lord Kamalāpati listened to the prayer of Brahmā and also looked at Lakṣmī who was standing there lowering her head.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

सर्वं जानामि सर्वज्ञः सर्वात्मा सर्वपालकः।
सर्वशास्ता च सर्वादिकारणं कमलोद्भव॥३०॥

Lord said- O Brahmā born of the lotus, I know everything and happen to be the soul of all, I am the preserver of all, I control all and happen to be the cause of all. Thus I know everything.

भक्ते कलत्रे बन्धौ च सर्वत्र समता मम।
विशेषतोऽतिमद्भक्तः कलत्रात्पर एव च॥३१॥
मद्भक्तौ तव पुत्रौ च द्वारपालौ दुरन्तकौ।
क्षम मामपराधं च तयोश्च भक्तिपूर्णयोः॥३२॥

I have a feeling of equality for my devotees, the wife of other relatives but the main thing is that my devotee is greater than my wife therefore the invincible gate-keepers who happen to be my great devotees and are your own sons, you kindly forgive their fault and also mine.

मद्भक्तिपूर्णो बलवान्दैत्येभ्यो न बिभेति च।
रक्षितो मम चक्रेण भक्तिमाध्वीकदुर्मदः॥३३॥
इत्युक्त्वा जगतां नाथो लक्ष्मीं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।
समानीय द्वारपालं तमुवाचेदमेव च॥३४॥
मा भैर्वत्स सुखं तिष्ठ भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते।
मद्भक्तानां च कः शास्ता गच्छ वत्साऽऽत्मनः पदम्॥३५

A devotee of mine filled with my devotion never gets panicky from the valorous warriors or even the demons. By consuming the wine of the devotion, my devotees get intoxicated and they are protected always with my Sudarśana-cakra. Thus speaking the lord of the universe held Lakṣ mī and embraced her. Thereafter he called for the gate-keepers and said to them, 'O sons, don't be afraid. Remain comfortable. You cannot be afraid of any one till I am there. Who else can rule on my devotees? Therefore, O sons, you be established nicely in your position.

इत्युक्त्वा भगवांस्तत्र विरराम महामुने।
ययुर्देवाश्च स्वस्थानं प्रणम्य जगदीश्वरम्॥३६॥

O great sage, thus speaking lord Viṣṇu kept quiet. Thereafter all the gods bowing in reverence to the lord of the universe retired to their respective abodes.

नारायणवचः श्रुत्वा द्वारपाल उवाच तम्।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गो भक्तिन म्रात्मकंधरः॥३७॥

On hearing the words of Nārāyaṇa, the bodies of the gate-keeper were overwhelmed and their hair stood on end, they stood in devotion and said.

जय उवाच

नाहं बिभेमि देवांश्च लक्ष्मीं मुनिगणांस्तथा।
त्वदीयचरणाम्भोजध्यानैकतानमानसः॥३८॥

Jaya said- O lord since I am devoted at your lotus-like feet with a stable mind, I am not afraid of Lakṣmī, the gods and the sages.

अथाष्टपञ्चाशत्तमोऽध्याय:

Chapter - 58

The Shattering of the pride of the Goddess Earth, Sāvitrī, Gaṅgā, Manasā and Rādhā

नारायण उवाच

बभूव दर्प: पृथ्व्याश्च सर्वाधाराऽहमेव च।
पृथुद्वारा च तद्दर्पं जघान चैव तत्प्रभु:।।१।।

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- Once the goddess earth was also filled with pride, thinking that she was the foundation of everything. Thereafter, the lord got her pride shattered through Pṛthu.

बभूव दर्प: सावित्र्या वेदमाताऽहमेव च।
काले चकार तस्याश्च सपुत्राया अदर्शनम्।।२।।
बभूव दर्पं गङ्गाया अहं निर्वाणदेति च।
जह्नुद्वारा च तद्दर्पं जहार जगतां पति:।।३।।

Then Sāvitrī was filled with pride being the creator of the Vedas, the lord at once made her disappear along with her sons. Thereafter Gaṅgā was filled with pride thinking that she was the only source for providing salvation to the people. The lord of the universe shattered her pride through the king Jahnu.

जहार मनसादर्पं दुर्गाद्वारा पुरा मुने।
विरजोपगतं कृष्णं भर्त्सयामास कोपत:।।४।।
प्रविशन्तं रासगृहं गोपीभिर्विनिवारितम्।
दौवारिकाभिर्वेत्रैश्च ताडितं तं च दर्पत:।।५।।

O sage, in the earlier times, the lord shattered the pride of Manasā through Durgā. Once Rādhā denounced Kṛṣṇa very badly finding him seated with Virajā and filled with pride she entered the dancing hall and she had them beaten by the gate-keepers and the cowherdesses with canes .

सुदाम्ना निजभक्तेन राधा शप्ता बभूव ह।
देवेन सहसा ध्वस्ता गोलोकादागता धराम्।।६।।
वृषभानुस्त्रियां जाता कलावत्यां च नारद।
कृष्णास्तदनुरोधेन कंसभीतिच्छलेन च।।७।।
समागतो नन्दगेहं तेनाहं नन्दनन्दन:।
सुदाम्न: शापविच्छेदपालनार्थं जगत्पति:।।८।।
पुनर्जगाम मथुरामित्याह कमलोद्भव:।
अस्यापरमभिप्रायं को वा जानाति नारद।।९।।
कथं जात: समायातो मथुरायाश्च गोकुलम्।
इत्येवं कथितं सर्वमपरं श्रूयतामिति।।१०।।
यथा जगाम मथुरां नन्दान्स नन्दनन्दन:।
शोकं नन्दो यशोदा च यथा संप्रात दैवत:।।११।।
यथा गोपाश्च गोप्यश्च गावो वृन्दावने वने।
वने वने वा वन्यास्ते वन्या जानन्ति किंचन।।१२।।

Thereafter Nārada made Sudāmā who happens to be .his devotee, fo pronounce a curse on Rādhā. As a move of destiny getting her pride suddenly shattered, Rādhā had to be born on earth leaving the Goloka. She was born from the womb of Kalāvatī the wife of Vṛṣabhānu. Lord Kṛṣṇa also at her request went to the abode of Nanda on the pretext of the fear from the Kaṁsa. That is why I have been given the name of Nanda-nandana. In order to fulfil the provisions of the curse of Sudāmā Kṛṣṇa who happens to be the lord of the universe again went to Mathurā. This has been told to me by Brahmā who was born out of lotus. O Nārada, immediately after birth why did he move from to Gokula to Mathurā; no one could ever know about his intentions. I have thus spoken to you everything. Now you listen to me further. You listen from me the way Kṛṣṇa the one who delighted the mind of Nanda went to Mathurā, the way Yaśodā and Nanda felt painful at heart, how the cowherds and cowherdesses of Vṛndāvana together with the cows started roaming about in the forest. By roaming about in the forest they became wild and only the forest dwellers could speak out smoothing about them .

वनं रम्यं वन्यपदमपि त्यक्त्वा वने वने।
श्मशाने वाऽश्मशाने वा बभ्राम भामिनी मुने॥१३॥

O sage, leaving aside the best of the orchards and pleasant groves they started roaming about living in one forest or the other, the cremation grounds or other places connected with the cremation grounds.

ग्रामं त्यक्त्वा च बभ्राम चेतनाऽचेतना क्षणम्।
क्षणेन वर्जिता सा च प्रार्थयन्ती प्रतिक्षणम्॥१४॥

Deserting the villages they started roaming about. Sometimes they lost their senses and sometimes they regained the same, sometimes they separated themselves from all and sometimes they started offering prayers. Sometimes they took deep sighs and in other moments they were engrossed in the devotion of the lord, sometimes they lay on bed and sometimes they got up from the same.

Chapter - 59

The Prayer of Indrāṇī to her teacher at the shattering of the pride of Indra

नारायण उवाच

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं सर्वेषां दर्पभञ्जनम्।
इन्द्रस्य दर्पभङ्गं च विस्तरेण निशामय॥१॥
इन्द्रो दर्पात्सभायां च रत्नसिंहासनाद्वरात्।
नोत्तस्थौ स्वगुरुं दृष्ट्वा ब्रह्मिष्ठं च बृहस्पतिम्॥२॥
गुरुर्जगामातिरुष्ट: स्वापमाने समत्सर:।
तथापि कृपया धर्मी स्नेहाच्च न शशाप तम्॥३॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- I have narrated to you about the shattering of the pride of all; now you listen to the story of the shattering of the pride of Indra in detail. Finding her teacher who was always engrossed in Brahman, Indra did not welcome him, having been filled with pride he did not get up from the gem-studded lion-throne. Bṛhaspati felt immensely enraged at his insult and left the place. In spite of the fact that the immensely chaste teacher felt envious at that time still he did not pronounce a curse out of love for him.

विना शापेन तद्दर्पश्चूर्णीभूतो बभूव ह।
अन्यश्चेन्न शपेद्धर्मात्प्रेम्णा वा चातिकिल्विषम्॥४॥
तथाऽपि तं च फलति धर्मस्तं हन्ति नारद।
यो यं हिंस्रं सापराधं शपेत्कोपेन धार्मिक:॥५॥
विनाश: सापराधस्य धर्मो नष्टश्च धर्मिण:।
तेनाधर्मेण शक्रस्य ब्रह्महत्या बभूव ह॥६॥
भीतस्त्यक्त्वा स्वराज्यं च प्रययौ स सरोवरम्।
सरस: पद्मसूत्रे च निवासं च चकार स:॥७॥

But even without pronouncing a curse by Bṛhaspati the pride of Indra was shattered. O Nārada, in case someone does not pronounce a curse on a great sinner because his love for him or because of dharma but in spite of that the sinner has to reap the reward for the same and dharma destroys him completely. A religious person whenever he pronounces a curse on a sinful person, the sinner surely gets destroyed but the religious person is deprived of his dharma. Because of that sin Indra attached Brahmahatyā and terrified with the same he left his kingdom and went to a lake and started residing in the lotus stalk in a tiny form.

गन्तुं न शक्ता हत्या च पुण्यं विष्णुसरोवरम्।
श्रेष्ठं भरतवर्षे च तप:स्थानं तपस्विनाम्॥८॥

The lake which happened to be quite auspicious and delighted lord Viṣṇu, Brahmahatyā could not reach the lake. The same lake happens to be the prominent holy place of the people of Bhārata.

तदेव पुष्करं तीर्थं प्रवदन्ति पुराविद:।
राजयभ्रष्टं हरिं दृष्ट्वा हरिभक्तो नराधिप:॥९॥
बलाज्जहार तद्राज्यं नहुषो नाम धार्मिक:।
दृष्ट्वा शचीं वरारोमनपत्यां च सुन्दरीम्॥१०॥

स्वर्गगङ्गा च गच्छन्तीं हृदयेन विदूयता।
नवयौवनसंपन्नां रत्नालंकारभूषिताम्॥११॥
सुकोमलां तां सुदतीं वदन्तीं च महासतीम्।
मूर्च्छां संप्राप राजेन्द्रः कामेन यौवनेन च॥
उवाच तत्पुरः स्थित्वा सुविनीतश्च दासवत्॥१२॥

The ancient intellectuals term it as the Puṣ kara-tīrtha. When Indra was so dethroned from his kingdom, his place was forcibly taken by Nahuṣa who happened to be a great devotee of lord Viṣṇu. Once she spotted Śacī. She had beautiful limbs and was without any children. She was quite charming, youthful and adorned with the gem-studded ornaments. She had a beautiful line of teeth. With a painful heart she was talking with her female friends and was moving towards Ākāśa-Gaṅgā. Finding the chaste lady there, Rajendra Nahuṣa's mind was filled with passion and he fainted because of his young age. On regaining consciousness, he stood before her and started talking to her in a very meek and amiable way.

नहुष उवाच

धातुर्गतिर्विचित्राऽहो न बोध्या च सतामपि॥१३॥
ईदृशी स्त्री भगाङ्गस्य लुब्धस्य परयोषिति।
ईदृशी सुन्दरी यस्य परभार्यासु तन्मनः॥१४॥

Nahuṣa said- The movement of Brahmā is quite surprising which remains unknown to the noble people. The one whose wife is so beautiful, still his mind was attracted towards other women and become greedy for the other woman and as a result of which he earned yonīs on the entire body.

अस्या अग्रे च का रम्भा कोर्वशी का तिलोत्तमा।
का वा मेना घृताची वा रत्नमाला कलावती॥१५॥
कालिका सुन्दरी भद्रावती चम्पावती तथा।
एताश्चाप्सरसश्चान्याः कलां नार्हन्ति षोड्शीम्॥१६॥

The apsarās like Rambhā, Urvaśī, Tilottamā, Menā, Ghṛtācī, Ratnamālā, Kalāvatī, Kālikā, Sundarī, Bhadrāvatī, Campāvatī are of no consequence before Śacī and do not compare to the sixteenth ray of the same.

इमां विहाय मूढोऽन्यां कथं गच्छति मन्दधीः।
अस्माकं योषितोऽस्याश्च चेटितुल्याश्च निश्चितम्॥१७॥

It is surprising that foolish Indra is desirous of other women, disregarding his chaste wife. All my wives are surely like her maid-servants.

मां भजस्व वरारोहे सुप्रीता भव किंकरम्।
यथा राधा च गोलोके कृष्णवक्षसि राजते॥१८॥
वैकुण्ठोरसि वैकुण्ठे यथा लक्ष्मीः सरस्वती।
ब्रह्मलोके च ब्रह्माणी यथैव ब्रह्मवक्षसि॥१९॥
यथा मूर्तिर्महासाध्वी धर्मवक्षःस्थलस्थिता।
पातालतललक्ष्मीर्वा यथैवाऽनन्तवक्षसि॥२०॥
यथा पुष्टिर्गणेशे च देवसेना च कार्तिके।
वरुणे वरुणानी च यथा स्वाहा हुताशने॥२१॥
यथा रतिः कामदेवे यथा संज्ञा दिनेश्वरे।
वायोः पत्नी यथा वायौ यथा चन्द्रे च रोहिणी॥२२॥
यथाऽदितिर्देवमाता तव श्वश्रूश्च कश्यपे।
यथा हिमालये मेना पितृकन्या च मानसी॥२३॥
लोपामुद्रा यथाऽगस्त्ये यथा तारा बृहस्पतौ।
कर्दमे देवहूतिश्च वसिष्ठेऽरुन्धती यथा॥२४॥
मनौ च शतरूपेव दमयन्ती नले यथा।
तथा भव त्वं सौभाग्या मम वक्षसि सुन्दरि॥२५॥

Thus thinking in his mind, he spoke to Śacī, O damsel be compassionate on a servant like me and. adore me. As Rādhā adorned the chest of Kṛṣṇa in Goloka or Lakṣmī adorns the lap of Viṣ ṇu together with Sarasvatī or Brāhmaṇī adores the lap of Brahmā or Mahāśatī adores the lap of Dharma, Lakṣmī in the lap of Ananta, in the nether world, Puṣṭi in the lap of Gaṇeśa, Devsenā in the lap of Kārttikeya, Varuṇānī in the lap of Varuṇa, Svāhā in the lap of the fire god, Rati in the lap of Kāmadeva, Sañjñā in the lap of Sūrya, the wife of Vāyu in the lap of the wind-god, Rohiṇī in the lap of the moon, Devamātā Aditi your mother in-law in the lap of Kaśyapa, Menā mind born daughter of manes in the lap of Himālaya, Lopāmudrā in the lap of Agastya, Tārā in the lap of Bṛhaspati, Devahūtī in the lap of Kardama, Arundhatī in the lap of Vasiṣṭha, Śatarūpā in the lap of Manu, Damayantī in the lap of Nala, similarly O beautiful one, you the virtuous one accept me.

लीलया च सहस्रेन्द्राञ्छेत्तुं शक्तोऽहमीश्वरः।
नारी वाञ्छति जारं च स्वामिनो बलवत्तरम्॥२६॥

I am more valorous than thousands of Indras and can shatter their pride. The wife adores her paramour more than her husband.

I shall roam about on the peaks of the Sumeru mountain in your company which is quite inaccessible and is quite a secluded a place. Or otherwise we can visit the beautiful place of the sandal-wood forest at Malayācala which is well-known for enjoying the conjugal pleasures. Similarly we can move to Nandakavana, Puṣpabhadrā river, the mountain known by the name of hundred peaks, the banks of Godāvarī, where the pleasant cool breeze always blows or the river Campāvatī and its banks, the attractive campaka forest, cremation grounds, the terrific cremation grounds, the pleasant and lonely forests, the deserted caves of the mountains, the mountains, the forest, islands and the places which are difficult of access, the rivers and rivulets devoid of all the acquit animals, the sea-shores because at such places a competent person can really enjoy the company of a competent woman which is quite rewarding. We shall enjoy the bed of flowers soaked in sandal-paste. You enjoy all your conjugal pleasures with me. O goddess, with the boon of Brahmā, I am free from old age or death.

मां कुरुष्व पतिं भद्रे नित्यं सुस्थिरयौवनम्।

शरत्पार्वणचन्द्रास्यं चन्द्रवंशसमुद्भवम्।
आगतामुर्वशीं मह्यां त्यक्तवन्तं च याचतीम्॥३५॥

O virtuous one, my youthfulness is eternal and stable and therefore you accept me as your husband because I am clad in the best of garments, I am beautiful, patient, well-versed in the scriptures, possess a face like the full moon of the winter season and have been born in the lunar race. When I was on earth then for enjoying the love-sports with me, Urvaśī, herself came to me, but I discouraged her.

I have never been desirous of others' wives but on finding you today, my mind has been disturbed. Therefore I am prepared to discard all other women, clad in the best of gem-studded ornaments for your sake or I shall keep them as your slaves. O beautiful damsel, I shall garland you with the precious garland of gems by defeating Varuṇa with Brahmāstra. By becoming victorious on the god of fire, I shall bestow on you the two divine garments. Therefore, O goddess you provide an opportunity for a slave like me to serve you. O beautiful one, after achieving victory on the gods I shall adorn you with the makara-kuṇḍalas worn by Aditi, which are made of the best of gems. By getting victorious on the moon I shall snatch away the inaccessible armlets of Rohiṇī and give them to you or otherwise Candramā who is suffering from consumption and happens to be my ancestor, would give me the precious ornaments even without my fighting with him. O auspicious one, I shall beg from Śiva who is always pleased with the prayers and is the lord of the devotees, is quite a compassionate one, is kalpataru; for providing the anklets of Pārvatī which creates a beautiful sound and I shall give them to you. O dear one, the couple of wristlets of Gaṅgā which are studded with the best of gems are difficult to get. I shall get them for you today itself by waging a war. O gracious one, I shall snatch away the beautiful ornaments of Sañjñā, the wife of Sūrya which is made of the best of gems and shall give them to you. I shall get you the spotless mirror of Rati, the wife of Kāmadeva, by winning the god of love. O beautiful one, after adoring lord Viṣṇu I shall seek for the decaying lotus of Lakṣmī and give it to you. Thus I shall also by performing tapas take away the rings of Sāvitrī from Brahmā. I shall also give to you the vīṇā of Sarasvatī who always sings, playing on the vīṇā. Performing the vrata for Nārāyaṇa I shall also give to you the ornaments of the toes of the wife of Kubera. Thus speaking Nahuṣa fell at the lotus-like feet of Indrāṇī.

उवाच तं शची त्रस्ता राजमार्गगतं नृपम्।
उत्थाप्य तं करे धृत्वा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका
स्मारं स्मारं पदाम्भोजं महासाध्वी हरेर्गुरोः॥५२॥

Thereafter, getting nervous she lifted up the king holding him with her hands who had fallen on her feet on the royal path. At that point of time the throat, lips and palates of Indrāṇī had dried up. Thereafter thinking of the feet of Bṛhaspati again and again, the chaste Indrāṇī said to Nahuṣa.

शृणु वत्स महाराज हे तात भयभञ्जन॥५३॥
भय त्राता च राजा च सर्वेषां पालकः पिता।
भ्रष्टश्रीश्च महेन्द्रोऽद्यत्वं च स्वर्गे नृपोऽधुना॥५४॥
यो राजा स पिता पाता प्रजानामेव निश्चितम्।
गुरुपत्नी राजपत्नी देवपत्नी तथा वधूः॥५५॥
पित्रोः स्वसा शिष्यपत्नी भृत्यपत्नी च मातुली।
पितृपत्नी भ्रातृपत्नी श्वश्रूश्च भगिनी सुता॥५६॥
गर्भधात्रीष्टदेवी च पुंसः षोडश मातरः।
त्वं नरो देवभार्याऽहं माता ते देवसंमता॥५७॥

Śacī said- O son, O great lord, O father, the remover of fear, you listen to whatever I am going to speak. The king saves everyone from the fears, being the preserver he happens to be the father of everyone. Presently Mahendra has been dethroned and you have taken over as the king of heaven. The king happens to be the father of the people, their protector and surely everything for them. The wife of the teacher, the wife of the king, wives of the gods, wife of the son, sister of the mother, sister of the father, wife of the pupils, wife of the servant, wife of the maternal uncle, co-wife, wife of the brother, the mother-in-law, the sister, the daughter and the family goddess have been defined to be the sixteen mothers in the scriptures. You are a human being and I happen to be the wife of the god, therefore I also happen to be like your mother.

गच्छ वत्सादितिं रन्तुं यदि चेच्छसि मातरम्।
सर्वेषां निष्कृतिश्चास्ति न वत्स मातृगामिनाम्॥५८॥
कुम्भीपाके ते पचन्ति यावद्वै ब्रह्मणो वयः।
ततो भवन्ति कृमयः कल्पाः सप्त भवन्ति ते॥५९॥
ततश्च कुष्ठिनो म्लेच्छा भवन्ति सप्तजन्मसु।
नास्त्येव निष्कृतिस्तेषामित्याह कमलोद्भवः॥६०॥

O son, in case you intend to enjoy the company of the mother then go to Aditi because, O son, there is a provision for repentance for every sin but the one who enjoys the company of his mother, no repentance has been prescribed for him. Such a person has to fall in the kumbhīpāka hell. Thereafter for seven births he suffers from leprosy and also the mlecchas. Therefore no remedy has been prescribed for him; this has been ordained by Brahmā.

एवं विट्क्षत्रशूद्राणां ब्राह्मणीगमने नृप।
वेदेषु निष्कृतिर्नास्ति चेत्याङ्गिरसभाषितम्॥६१॥

O king, therefore, according to Bṛhaspati no remedy has been prescribed for enjoying the women of the Brāhmaṇī Kṣatriya, Vaiśya and Śūdra. No such remedy has been prescribed in the Vedas as well.

स्वर्गसंपत्तिभोगश्च सुखं संसारिणां ध्रुवम्।
मुमुक्षूणां च मोक्षश्च तपश्चैव तपस्विनाम्॥६२॥
ब्राह्मणानां च ब्राह्मण्यं मुनीनां मौनमेव च।
वेदाभ्यासो वैदिकानां कवीनां काव्यवर्णनम्॥६३॥
विष्णुदास्यं वैष्णवानां विष्णुभक्तिरसं परम्।
विष्णुभक्तिं विना नैव मुक्तिं वाञ्छन्ति वैष्णवाः॥६४।

For the people of the universe it is quite appropriate to enjoy the riches of the heaven which provides pleasure. Similarly the truth seeker enjoys the achievement of mokṣa, tapas happen to be the pleasure for the Tapasvīs. The aim of Brāhmaṇas is to achieve Brāhmaṇatva, for sages, it is incumbent to remain mum, for the people engaged in the learning of the Vedas, they have to be pleased with the putting into practice of the Vedic hymns. The poets enjoy the creation of poetry, the Vaiṣṇavas enjoy the achieving of the slavehood of Viṣṇu and the devotion of the lord. The Vaiṣṇavas are never interested in any type of salvation except their devotion of lord Viṣṇu.

मलाढ्येषु च क्लेदेषु दुर्गन्धिनिलयेषु च।
साधूनां किं सुखं साधो स्त्रीणां योनिषु मां वद॥६५॥

O saintly person, therefore you kindly let me know as to what type of pleasure one gets by enjoying the company of a damsel when the pelvic region is filled with dirt and watery substance.

कुलप्रदीप राजेन्द्र राज्ञां मण्डलवर्तिनाम्।
लब्धं च भारते जन्म पुण्येन बहुजन्मनाम्॥६६॥
पद्मानां चन्द्रवंश्यानां नृपाणां दीप्तिहेतवे।
त्वमाविरासीस्तेजस्वी ग्रीष्ममध्याह्नभास्करः॥६७॥

O great king, the light of the race, you have attained birth in the sacred land of Bhārata after performing several noble deeds. You have been born in the race of the Cakravartī kings, in order to illumine the king of the lunar race possessing the lustre of lotus flower of the moon of the winter season.

सर्वेषामाश्रमाणां च स्वधर्मश्च यशः परम्।
स्वधर्महीना नरके पतन्ति मूढचेतसः॥६८॥

Therefore the dharma of the dwellers of the hermitage have their own dharma and great glory. The people having been deprived of the dharma foolishly fall into hell.

ब्राह्मणस्य स्वधर्मश्च त्रिसंध्यमर्चनं हरेः।
तत्पादोदकनैवेद्यभक्षणं च सुधाधिकम्॥६९॥

It is the beauty of the Brāhmaṇa to adore the lord at least thrice a day and consume the water of his feet and naivedya which are more important than nectar.

अन्नं विष्ठा जलं मूत्रमनिवेद्य हरेर्नृप।
भवन्ति सूकराः सर्वे ब्राह्मणा यदि भुञ्जते॥७०॥

O king, in case a Brāhmaṇa consumes food without first offering it to the lord it becomes like refuse and the water is turned into urine and the same Brāhmaṇa in turn is born as a pig.

आजीवं भुञ्जते विप्रा एकादश्यां न भुञ्जते।
कृष्णजन्मदिने चैव शिवरात्रौ सुनिश्चितम्॥७१॥

Even if the Brāhmaṇas consume food throughout the year but on Ekādaśī day they should not take food. Similarly on the birthday of Kṛṣṇa, on Śivarātri day, they should not consume anything.

तथा रामनवम्यां च यत्नतः पुण्यवासरे।
ब्राह्मणानां स्वधर्मश्च कथितो ब्रह्मणा नृप॥७२॥

Similarly on the day of Rāmanavamī they are prohibited from taking food. O king, this has been prescribed by Brahmā for the Brāhmaṇas.

व्रतं पतिव्रतानां च पतिसेवा परं तपः।
यथा पुत्रः परपतिरेष धर्मश्च योषिताम्॥७३॥

Similarly the biggest dharma for the chaste woman is to serve her husband. It is the dharma of the women to look at other men like their own sons.

पालयन्ति यथा भूपाः प्रजाः पुत्रानिवौरसान्।
प्रजास्त्रियं च पश्यन्ति राजानो मातरं यथा॥७४॥

The kings treat the people like the sons who are born of their own wives and treat the women of the people of the kingdom as their mothers.

यज्ञं कुर्वन्ति विष्णोश्च सेवनं देवविप्रयोः।
निवारणं च दुष्टानां शिष्टानां प्रतिपालनम्॥७५॥
इति धर्मः क्षत्रियाणां कथितो ब्रह्मणा पुरा।
वाणिज्यं चैव वैश्यानां स्वधर्मो धर्मसंचयः॥७६॥

They perform yajña, adore lord Viṣṇu and the Brāhmaṇas and also govern the wicked people and the noble people are also well looked after by them. This is the dharma for Kṣatriyas which has been prescribed by Brahmā in the earlier times. The Vaiśyas have to manage the business which is their dharma.

शूद्राणां विप्रसेवा च परो धर्मो विधीयते।
सर्वन्यासो हरौ भूप धर्मः संन्यासिनां ध्रुवम्॥७७॥
रक्तैकवासा दण्डी च बिभर्ति मृत्कमण्डलुम्।
सर्वत्र समदर्शी च स्मरेन्नारायणं सदा॥७८॥
करोति भ्रमणं नित्यं गेहे गेहे न तिष्ठति।
विद्यामन्त्रं च कस्मैचिन्न ददाति च लोभतः॥७९॥

The dharma of Śūdras is to serve the Brāhmaṇas. O king, the dharma of the ascetics or mendicants is to disown everything. They are required to be clad in red garment holding a daṇḍa and earthen kamaṇḍalu. They have to keep the feeling of the quality for all devoting their mind always at the feet of lord Nārāyaṇa. They roam about always and do not stay in the house of anyone and do not part with the mantras for the sake of greed.

करोति नाऽऽश्रमं भिक्षुः करोति नान्यवासनाम्।
करोति नान्यसङ्गं च निर्मोहः सङ्गवर्जितः॥८०॥

The Bhikṣus do not build their dwelling places and are relieved of all the desires and do not accompany anyone. Getting detached, they always avoid the company of others.

न स्वादु भुङ्क्ते लोभाच्च स्त्रीमुखं न हि पश्यति।
न वाञ्छितं भक्ष्यवस्तु याचते गृहिणं व्रती॥८१॥

They do not eat tasty food because of greed, do not look at women, never beg for eatables from a householder and always conduct themselves as those performing vratas.

इति संन्यासिनां धर्म इत्याह कमलोद्भवः।
इति ते कथितं पुत्र गच्छ वत्स यथासुखम्॥८२॥
इत्युक्त्वा च महेन्द्राणी विरराम च वर्त्मनि।
उवाच नहुषो राजा शचीं वक्रप्रकंधरः॥८३॥

This is the dharma prescribed for the mendicants by Brahmā. O son, I have thus told you everything; now you can move with pleasure. Thus speaking the chief queen of Indra kept quiet. Thereafter king Nahuṣa turned his face towards her and said.

नहुष उवाच

त्वया यत्कथितं देवी सर्वं तत्तु विपर्ययम्।
यथार्थधर्मं वेदोक्तं निबोध कथयामि ते॥८४॥

Nahuṣa Said- O goddess, whatever you have spoken is just the reverse. Now I will tell you the real dharma prescribed in the Vedas, which you please hear from me.

कर्मणां फलभोगश्च सर्वेषां सुरसुन्दरि।
नैव स्वर्गे न पाताले नान्यद्वीपे श्रुतौ श्रुतम्॥८५॥
कृत्वा शुभाशुभं कर्म पुण्यक्षेत्रे च भारते।
अन्यत्र तत्फलं भुङ्क्ते कर्मी कर्मनिबन्धनात्॥८६॥

O damsel, all the people don't have to reap their deeds in heaven or earth or Pātāla or islands. This has been ordained in the Vedas. Only the good or bad deeds performed in the auspicious land of Bhārata have to reap the reward in other worlds. Because the one who performs the action has a binding for the same, he cannot remain without facing the reward for the same.

हिमालयादासमुद्रं पुण्यक्षेत्रं च भारतम्।
श्रेष्ठं सर्वस्थालानां च मुनीनां च तपःस्थलम्॥८७॥

The area between the Himālaya and the ocean is known to be Bhāratavarṣa which is the best of all the regions and is the land of tapas for the mendicants.

तत्र लब्ध्वा जन्म जीवी वञ्चितो विष्णुमायया।
शश्वत्करोति विषयं विहाय सेवनं हरेः॥८८॥

After being born on the auspicious land of Bhārata, the Jīva is influenced by the illusion of lord Viṣṇu and instead of serving the lord, he indulges himself all the worldly pleasures.

कृत्वा तत्र महत्पुण्यं स्वर्गं गच्छति पुण्यवान्।
गृहीत्वा सर्वकन्याश्च चिरं स्वर्गे प्रमोदते॥८९॥

But an auspicious soul earning great merit proceeds to heaven where it enjoys the company of various girls.

स्वर्गमागच्छति नरो विहाय मानवीं तनुम्।
स्वशरीरेणाऽऽगतोऽहं मत्पुण्यं पश्य सुन्दरि॥९०॥

O beautiful one, the human being after his death arrives in heaven but look at my merit, I have arrived here with my human body.

अनेकजन्मपुण्येन चाऽऽगतः स्वर्गमीप्सितम्।
ततः किं केन पुण्येन दर्शनं मे त्वया सह॥९१॥

One achieves heaven with the performing of good deeds for many births but I know not as a result of which a real merit I have been able to meet you today and I am talking to you here.

न हि कर्मस्थलमिदं स्वभोगस्थलमेव च।
सारं च सर्वभोगानां वरस्त्रीभोगमेव च॥९२॥
भोगस्थले भोगवस्तु न हि त्यक्तुं प्रशस्यते।
भावानुरक्ता रसिका भोग्या त्वं भोगिनामिह॥९३॥

This heaven is not a land for performing deeds. This is a place for enjoying pleasure and of all the pleasures, to keep the company of the beautiful damsels happens to be the best. At the place which is meant for enjoying pleasures, it would not be proper to neglect the same at that place. You will be the one who would be attracted towards the feelings of passion and are to be used by the passionate people.

द्रव्यमस्वामिकं भोग्यं सुखं त्यजति मन्दधीः।
अविरोधसुखत्यागी पशुरेव न संशयः॥९४॥
गच्छ कान्ते गृहं गत्वा कुरु तल्पं मनोहरम्।
रमणीयं च रहसि वरं रतिकरं परम्॥९५॥

Only a fool disowns something which is meant for pleasure, in the absence of the lord. The one who disowns the pleasure which can be achieved without any obstruction would be treated as an animal. There is no doubt about it. Therefore O damsel, you come to my house and reaching there, adorn my beautiful bed which is quite charming, is placed in seclusion and is the best for the performance of the love-sport.

त्यज द्वैधं च मनसो निश्चितं वरवर्णिनि।
वरानने मया सार्धं मोदस्व वरमन्दिरे॥९६॥

O passionate damsel, you be firm in your mind and take a decision. O beautiful faced one, you enjoy pleasure with me in the best of the palaces.

अमूल्यरत्नमालां च मणिराजविराजिताम्।
भिक्षां कृत्वा च दास्यामि लक्ष्मीवक्षसि शोभिताम्॥९७॥

I shall beg for the garment of gems which adorn the breasts of goddess Lakṣmī and offer the same to you.

मणिं चानन्तशिरसः सर्वेषामतिदुर्लभम्।
दुष्प्राप्यं त्रिषु लोकेषु तुभ्यं दास्यामि सुन्दरि॥९८॥

मणिरत्नं कौस्तुभं च यो नारायणवक्षसि।
भिक्षां कृत्वा तु दास्यामि कृत्वा नारायणव्रतम्॥९९॥
चन्द्रशेखरमौलेश्च यदर्धं चन्द्रभूषणम्।
जरामृत्युव्याधिहरं शक्तं क्रीडाकरं वरम्॥१००॥
अतीव विश्वदुष्प्राप्यं विश्ववन्द्यं च सुन्दरम्।
विश्वनाथव्रतं कृत्वा तुभ्यं दास्यामि निश्चितम्॥१०१॥
दास्यामि ते श्रीसूर्यस्य मणिश्रेष्ठं स्यमन्तकम्।
भक्त्या सूर्यव्रतं कृत्वा त्रिषु लोकेषु दुर्लभम्॥१०२॥
अष्टौ भारान्सुवर्णं च यश्च नित्यं प्रसूयते।
जरामृत्युहरं चव परं क्रीडाकरं प्रिये॥१०३॥

O beautiful one, the precious gem which illumines the hood of lord Ananta, can be snatched away by me which is difficult to get in the three worlds and shall be brought by me and presented to you. I shall snatch away the kaustubha gem adorning the chest of Nārāyaṇa and give it to you. I shall get for you the crescent adorning the head of Śiva which destroys old age, death and ailments, besides being quite competent, quite playful and inaccessible in the universe. I shall surely get it for you after performing tapas. O dear one, I shall get the precious gems from Sūrya after adoring him with devotion which is difficult to get in the three worlds and bestows gold eight times a day and is beyond old age, death and makes one enjoy the best of love-sport.

अमूल्यरत्ननिर्माणं पात्ररत्नं मनोहरम्।
संततं मधुपूर्णं च दास्यामि मदनस्य च॥१०४॥

The vase of gem of the god of love which always remains filled with honey and represents the precious gems, shall surely be brought and presented to you.

अमूल्यरत्ननिर्माणं सूर्यतुल्यं च तेजसा।
नानचित्रविचित्राढ्यं निर्माणमीश्वरेच्छया॥१०५॥
निर्मलं मण्डलाकारं मणिराजविराजितम्।
हस्तलक्षपरिमितं चतुरस्रं च सुन्दरि॥१०६॥
पद्मापद्मासनं श्रेष्ठं प्रेष्ठं तस्या सुदुर्लभम्।
ध्रुवं तुभ्यं प्रदास्यामि कृत्वा पद्मालयाव्रतम्॥१०७॥

O beautiful one, I shall get you the invaluable gem-studded lotus seat of Lakṣmī which illumines like the sun rays and which is painted variously and was built at the command of the lord, is spotless, circular, inlaid with lines of diamonds, is spread over an area of a lakh of hands, square in shape and is best of all, loved by Lakṣmī, the most difficult to get. The same will be presented by me to you.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा नहुषः कृत्वा वर्त्मनिरोधनम्।
पुनः पपात चरणे महेन्द्राण्या मुहुर्मुहुः॥१०८॥

Thus speaking, Nahuṣa stood there obstructing the forward movement of Śacī and started falling on her feet again and again.

नृपस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका।
तमुवाच महेन्द्राणी स्मारं स्मारं गुरुं हरिम्॥१०९॥

Listening to the words of Nahuṣa, the throat, lips and palate of Śacī dried up but remembering in her mind the lord and the teacher, she said to him.

शच्युवाच
अचेतनस्य मूढस्य कार्याकार्यमजानतः।
श्रोष्याम्यद्य कतिविधां कथां कामातुरस्य च॥११०॥

Śacī thought in her mind- This foolish fellow getting passionate has lost his senses and has become unmindful of good and bad deeds. For how long shall I have to listen to further?.

मधुमत्तः सुरामत्तः काममत्तो विचेतनः।
मृत्युं न गणयेत्कामी कामेन हतमानसः॥१११॥

The one who is intoxicated with honey or drinks, getting infatuated with passion, unconscious and the one who is over-powered with voluptuous ideas, does not care for his death.

त्यज मामद्य हे मत्त मातृतुल्यां रजस्वलाम्।
ऋतोः प्रथमो दिवसो ह्यद्य हे नृप मे ध्रुवम्॥११२॥
प्रथमे दिवसे स्त्री च चाण्डाली सा रजस्वला।
द्वितीये दिवसे म्लेच्छा तृतीये रजकी तथा॥११३॥
शुद्धा भर्तुश्चतुर्थेऽह्नि न शुद्धा दैवपै ययौः।
असच्छूद्रासमा सा च तद्दिने च परं प्रति॥११४॥

Thus thinking in her mind she spoke to the king, "O intoxicated one, I am like your mother and am in period, therefore you leave me. O king this is the first day of my menses and as such a woman in such a condition is treated as a cāṇḍāla. On the second day she is treated like a mleccha woman and on the third day like a washer woman and only with fourth day she becomes fit for her husband and not for the performing of the adoration of gods or the manes. But even on that day she remains like an unclean Śūdra woman.

प्रथमे दिवसे कान्तां यो हि गच्छेद्रजस्वलाम्।
ब्रह्महत्याचतुर्थांशं लभते नात्र संशयः॥११५॥

Therefore, the person who cohabits with a woman in period on the first day, he earns one-fourth sin of Brahmahatyā. There is no doubt about it.

स पुमात्र हि कर्मार्हो दैवे पित्र्ये च कर्मणि।
अधमः स च सर्वेषां निन्दितश्च यशस्करः॥११६॥
द्वितीये दिवसे नारीं यो व्रजेच्च रजस्वलाम्।
कामतः परिपूर्णाञ्च गोहत्यां लभते ध्रुवम्॥११७॥
आजीवनं नाधिकारी पितृविप्रसुरार्चने।
अमनुष्योऽयशस्यः स्यादित्याङ्गिरसभाषितम्॥११८॥

Such a person becomes unfit for performing the adoration of the gods and the manes and becomes entitled to the denouncement and earns a bad name. On the second day of the menses of a women, who enjoys her company he surely earns the sin of Gohatyā, he becomes unfit for adoring the Brāhmaṇa, the manes and the gods for the whole life. He earns bad name and in human indignities, this has been ordained by Bṛhaspati.

तृतीये दिवसे जायां यो हि गच्छेद्रजस्वलाम्।
स मूढो भ्रूणहत्यां च लभते नात्र संशयः॥११९॥

The one who enjoys the company of a damsel on the third day of the menstruation he earns the sin of killing foetus; there is no doubt about it.

पूर्ववत्पतितः सोऽपि न चार्हः सर्वकर्मसु।
असच्छूद्रा चतुर्थेऽह्नि न गच्छेत्तां विचक्षणः॥
यदि मां मातरं मूढ ग्रहीष्यसि बलेन च॥१२०॥
ऋतावतीते दिवसे गमनं च करिष्यसि।
शच्याश्च वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्य नहुषस्तथा॥१२१॥
उवाच मधुरं शान्तः शक्रकान्तां च सुव्रताम्।
देवपत्नी सदा शुद्धा तन्नूनं मानवं प्रति॥१२२॥

Having so fallen like the earlier cases he also becomes unfit to performing the auspicious deeds. The intelligent person should not cohabits with a women who is considered to be an untouchable even on the fourth day of menstruation. O foolish one, even if you intend to enjoy my company who is like your mother, then you can do so only after the period of menstruation. On hearing the words of chaste Śacī. Nahuṣa laughed and with peaceful and sweet words he spoke to her. The wife of a god is always pure but for a human being it is not so.

शयने भोजने देवी नाशुद्धा मानवं प्रति।
रजस्वलायाः संभोगे कर्मक्षेत्रे च भारते॥१२३॥
त्वयोक्तं च भवेत्पा पं नात्र दु(स्व)र्गे च सुन्दरि।
कर्मक्षेत्रेऽपि तत्कर्म यद्वेदोक्तं शुभाशुभम्॥१२४॥
न भवेद्वैष्णवानां च ज्वलतां ब्रह्मतेजसा।
यथा प्रदीप्ते वह्नौ च शुष्काणि च तृणानि च॥१२५॥
भवन्ति भस्मीभूतानि तथा पापानि वैष्णवे।
वह्निसूर्यब्राह्मणेभ्यस्तेजीयान्वैष्णवः सदा॥१२६॥

At time of sleeping as well as taking food, for a human being the wife of god can never be impure. O beautiful one, the sin you have highlighted about cohabiting with a woman in menstruation is applicable only into the sacred land of Bhārata and not to heaven. The results of the good or bad deeds performed in the auspicious land of Bhārata getting illumined with the lustre of Brahma are not applicable to the Vaiṣṇavas because as the blade of grass is reduced to ashes in the flaming fire, so all sins are reduced to ashes, with a Vaiṣṇava. This is because the Vaiṣṇavas are more illustrious as compared to Agni, Sūrya and the Brāhmaṇas. .

रक्षितो विष्णुचक्रेण स्वतन्त्रो मत्तकुंजरः।
न विचारो न भोगश्च वैष्णवानां स्वकर्मणाम्॥१२७॥

They are quite independent, because they are protected by the Sudarśana-cakra of Viṣṇu as was done in the case of the intoxicated elephant. The Vaiṣṇavas do not have to reap the reward of their actions nor do they have to think of any actions.

लिखितं साम्नि कौथुम्यां कुरु प्रश्नं बृहस्पतिम्।
अस्मांश्च सर्वे जानन्ति चन्द्रवंश्यांश्च वैष्णवान्॥१२८

All these things are enshrined in the kauthumī-śākhā of Sāmaveda. You can consult your teacher Bṛhaspati in this regard. We are the Vaiṣ ṇavas of the lunar race and are well-known the world over.

देवमन्यं न सेवन्ते चन्द्रवंश्या हरिं विना।
सद्वंशप्रभवो यो हि ब्राह्मण: क्षत्रियोऽथवा॥१२९॥
विष्णुमन्त्रं न गृह्णाति वञ्चितो देवमायया।
को वा मन्त्रश्च के देवा न हि शास्ता यमो मम॥१३०॥

The kṣatriyas of the lunar race except the lord do not adore any other gods and goddesses. Having been born in the high Brāhmaṇa or Kṣ atriyas race, the people having been deprived of the illusion of Viṣṇu, do not receive Viṣṇu-mantra. But for me there is neither any mantra nor a god. Even Yama cannot exercise his control on me.

सर्वाञ्छास्तुं समर्थोऽहं ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवान्विना।
शय्यां कुरु गृहं गत्वा शीघ्रं यास्यामि ते गृहम्॥१३१॥

I myself alone, except Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva can govern the universe. Therefore, reaching your home, you adorn the bed. I shall reach there in no time.

ऋतुपापं मयि भवेत्तव किं गच्छ शोभने।
इत्युक्त्वा नहुषो राजा प्रफुल्लवदनेक्षण:॥१३२॥
रत्नयानं समारुह्य ययौ नन्दनकाननम्।
न ययौ सा शची गेहं प्रजगाम गुरोर्गृहम्॥१३३॥

"O beautiful one, I shall earn the sin of cohabiting with a woman in period. You don't have to lose anything. Therefore you go home." Thus speaking and with a delightful mind king Nahuṣa mounted on a gem-studded vehicle, proceeded to Nandana-vana and Śacī instead of going to her place, went to her teacher.

गत्वा कुशासनस्थं च ददर्श च बृहस्पतिम्।
तारासेवितपादाब्जं ज्वलन्तं ब्रह्मतेजसा॥१३४॥
जपमालाकरं शश्वज्जपन्तं कृष्णमीप्सितम्।
परमं परमानन्दं परमात्मानमीश्वरम्॥१३५॥
निर्गुणं च निरीहं च स्वतन्त्रं प्रकृते: परम्।
स्वेच्छामयं परं ब्रह्म भक्तानुग्रहविग्रहम्॥१३६॥

Reaching there she found Bṛhaspati seated on the seat of kuśa-grass and Tārā was serving at his lotus-like feet. He was illumining with the divine lustre. Tārā holding a rosary in her hand was reciting the name of lord Kṛṣṇa who is the supreme lord, all blissful, the soul of all, the great lord, without qualities, unattached, beyond Prakṛti, moves at will, eternal Parabrahma, bestower of grace on his devotees and takes to human form for their sake.

तमानन्दाश्रुनेत्रं च ननाम शिरसा भुवि।
रुदती साश्रुनेत्रा सा मज्जन्ती भक्तिसागरे॥१३७॥
शोकार्णवे निमज्जन्ती हृदयेन विदूयता।
तुष्टाव भीता स्वगुरुं ब्रह्मिष्ठं च कृपानिधिम्॥१३८॥

She then looked at her teacher whose eyes were filled with blissful tears. Śacī found the teacher getting drowned in the ocean of devotion. She bowed before him placing her head on the ground. Śacī was drowning in the ocean of grief and feeling painful at heart, getting terrified, she started praising, the teacher who was all merciful and was engrossed in the adoration of Brahman.

शच्युवाच

रक्ष रक्ष महाभाग मां भीतां शरणागताम्।
त्वमीश्वर: स्वदासीं च निमग्नां शोकसागरे॥१३९॥

Śacī said- O virtuous one, you are free from fear, you save your slave who is terrified and drowned in the ocean of grief and has arrived to take refuse with you, you save her. You are an all competent one.

अनीश्वरश्चेश्वरो वा बलवान्वा सुदुर्बल:।
स्वशिष्यभार्यां पुत्रांश्च शासितुं च सदा क्षम:॥१४०॥

You are competent to control the lord or the demon, the valorous or the weak, you are competent enough to control the wife and the sons of your pupils.

दूरीभूत: स्वराज्याच्च स्वशिष्यश्च कृतस्त्वया।
शान्तिर्बभूव दोषस्य चाधुनाऽनुग्रहं कुरु॥१४१॥

Your pupil Indra has been deprived of his kingdom because of the sin committed by him; therefore you be merciful now.

अनाथां सर्वशून्यां मां शून्यांताममरावतीम्।
संपच्छून्यमाश्रमं मे पश्य रक्ष कृपानिधे॥१४२॥

O ocean of mercy, I am helpless and an orphan, you take care of the city of Amarāvatī which is devoid of the gods, the riches, besides my abode.

दस्युग्रस्तां च मां रक्ष देशं किंकरमानय।
दत्त्वा चरणरेणूंस्तं शुभाशीर्वचनं कुरु॥१४३॥

I am presently being terrified by the robbers. You kindly protect me and bring back Indra who happens to be your slave and grace him with the dust of your feet and pronounce your blessings on him.

सर्वेषां च गुरूणां च जन्मदाता परो गुरुः।
पितुः शतगुणा माता पूज्या वन्द्या गरीयसी॥१४४॥
विद्यादाता मन्त्रदाता ज्ञानदो हरिभक्तिदः।
पूज्यो वन्द्यश्च सेव्यश्च मातुः शतगुणो गुरुः॥१४५॥
मन्त्राद्युद्गिरणेनैव गुरुरित्युच्यते बुधैः।
अन्यो वन्द्यो गुरुरयमन्यश्चारोपितो गुरुः॥१४६॥

Of all the teachers, the father happens to be the greatest of teachers, but the mother is hundred times more adorable as a teacher than the father who is all glorious, the teacher who bestows knowledge on someone is hundred times greater than the mother, the bestower of the mantras, the knowledge and the devotion of the gods, is more adorable than anyone else. The teacher with the reciting of the mantras makes them enter into the ears of the pupil which earns him the title of Guru. The other gurus are also adorable, while some of the teachers are only imaginary.

अज्ञानतिमिरान्धस्य ज्ञानाञ्जनशालाकया।
चक्षुरुन्मीलितं येन तस्मै श्रीगुरवे नमः॥१४७॥
अदीक्षितस्य मूर्खस्य निष्कृतिर्नास्ति निश्चितम्।
सर्वकर्मस्वनर्हस्य नरके तत्पशोः स्थितिः॥१४८॥

I adore the teacher who has removed the darkness of ignorance from the eyes of his pupil, who has applied the collyrium of his knowledge in the eyes of his pupils. I bow in reverence to the greatness of such a teacher. The one who has not received Dīkṣā there does not seem to be any rescue for him. He is unfit for all the deeds, such an animal only falls into hell.

जन्मदाताऽन्नदाता च माताऽन्ये गुरवस्तथा।
पारं कर्तुं न शक्तास्ते घोरसंसारसागरे॥१४९॥
विद्यामन्त्रज्ञानदाता निपुणः पारकर्मणि।
स शक्तः शिष्यमुद्धर्तुमीश्वरश्चेश्वरात्परः॥१५०॥

The father who gives birth, the giver of food and the teacher of other kinds do not help in crossing the ocean of the universe on the teacher who bestows knowledge, mantra or education, can help one in crossing the ocean of the universe. The pupils are surely redeemed by them. He is like the lord and the lord is even greater than him.

गुरुर्विष्णुर्गुरुर्ब्रह्मा गुरुर्देवो महेश्वरः।
गुरुर्धर्मो गुरुः शेषः सर्वात्मा निर्गुणो गुरुः॥१५१॥
सर्वतीर्थाश्रयश्चैव सर्वदेवाश्रयो गुरुः।
सर्ववेदस्वरूपश्च गुरुरूपी हरिः स्वयम्॥१५२॥

Similarly Viṣṇu is the teacher, Brahmā is the teacher, Maheśvara is the teacher, Dharma is the teacher, Śeṣa is the teacher and the from of all the teacher, is without qualities. He is the refuge of all the holy places, the refuge of all the gods and is the from of all the Vedas, therefore they like the lord himself.

अभीष्टदेवे रुष्टे च गुरुः शक्तो हि रक्षितुम्।
गुरौ रुष्टेऽभीष्टदेवो न हि शक्तश्च रक्षितुम्॥१५३॥
सर्वे ग्रहाश्च यं रुष्टा यं रुष्टा देवब्राह्मणाः।
त्वमेव रुष्टो भवसि गुरुरेव हि देवताः॥१५४॥

When the family god is annoyed, it is only the teacher who can save one from his wrath, but when the teacher is annoys the family gods cannot protect the person. The one who annoys all the planets, the gods and the Brāhmaṇas, the teacher also gets annoyed on them. And the teacher himself is a god.

न गुरोश्च प्रियश्चाऽऽत्मा न गुरोश्च प्रियः सुतः।
धनं प्रियं च न गुरोर्न च भार्या प्रिया तथा॥१५५॥

No one is dearer on earth as compared to guru, neither the son, nor the riches or the wife.

न गुरोश्च प्रियो धर्मो न गुरोश्च प्रियं तपः।
न गुरोश्च प्रियं सत्यं न पुण्यं च गुरोः परम्॥१५६॥

Dharma is also not dearer than the teacher, neither tapas nor satya and there is no other merit greater than the teacher.

गुरोः परो न शास्ता च न हि बन्धुर्गुरोः परः।
देवो राजा च शास्ता च शिष्याणां च सदा गुरुः॥१५७॥
यावच्छक्तो दातुमन्नं तावच्छास्ता तदन्नदः।
गुरुः शास्ता च शिष्याणां प्रतिजन्मनि जन्मनि॥१५८॥

There is no better ruler than the teacher, no better well-wisher than the teacher. For the teacher is always the god, the king and the ruler. The one who gives away food enjoys himself till such time as he provides the food, but a teacher rules on his people during many births.

मन्त्रो विद्या गुरुर्देवः पूर्वलब्धो यथा पतिः।
प्रतिजन्मनि बन्धेन सर्वेषामुपरि स्थितः॥१५९॥

Like the husband, the mantra and knowledge, the teacher also is achieved by the performing of the good deeds of earlier births. Having been bound with the fetters of the Karma the teachers are placed in the highest position in every birth.

पिता गुरुश्च वन्द्यश्च यत्र जन्मनि जन्मदः।
गुरवोऽन्ये तथा माता गुरुश्च प्रतिजन्मनि॥१६०॥

The father gives birth during this birth only and he is adored in the same births as a teacher also, the mothers as the teacher is also be considered like that but the teacher is adorable in all the births.

विप्राणां त्वं वरिष्ठश्च गरिष्ठश्च तपस्विनाम्।
ब्रह्मिष्ठो ब्रह्मविद्ब्रह्मन् धर्मिष्ठः सर्वधर्मिणाम्॥१६१॥

O Brahman, you are the best of the Brāhmaṇas, the most illustrious one among the ascetics, the one completely devoted to Brahma, possessing knowledge of Brahma, the best of all the religious people.

तुष्टो भव मुनिश्रेष्ठ मां च शक्रं च सांप्रतम्।
त्वयि तुष्टे सदा तुष्टा भवन्ति ग्रहदेवताः॥१६२॥

Therefore, O best of the sages, you be pleased with me and Indra presently because if you are pleased with me all the gods will be pleased;.

इत्युक्त्वा सा शची ब्रह्मन्पुनरुच्चौ रुरोद ह।
दृष्ट्वा तद्रोदनं तारा रुरोदोच्चैर्मुहुर्मुहुः॥१६३॥

O Brahman, thus speaking Śacī again started crying aloud. On finding her crying Tārā too followed her.

पपात चरणे तारा रुरोद च पुनः पुनः।
अपराधं क्षमेत्युक्त्वा गुरुस्तुष्टोऽयुवाच ताम्॥१६४॥

Thereafter, Tārā falling at the feet of the teacher started crying and said, "You kindly forgive the sin". Thereafter the teacher was pleased and said to them.

गुरुरुवाच

उत्तिष्ठ तारे श्च्याश्च सर्वं भद्रं भविष्यति।
सद्यः प्राप्स्यति भर्तारं महेन्द्रं च मदाशिषा॥१६५॥

The teacher said- O Tārā you get up, Śacī will surely meet with welfare. With my blessing she would surely achieve Indra.

इत्युक्त्वा स गुरुस्तत्र विरराम च नारद।
पपात चरणे तारा पुनरेव रुरोद च॥१६६॥
गृहीत्वा च शचीं तारा संस्थाप्य च स्ववक्षसि।
बोधयामास विविधमाध्यात्मिकमनुत्तमम्॥१६७॥
शचीकृतं गुरुस्तोत्रं पूजाकाले च यः पठेत्।
गुरुश्चाभीष्टदेवश्च संतुष्टः प्रतिजन्मनि॥१६८॥

O Nārada, thus speaking the teacher kept quiet but Tārā again fell on his feet and started crying. Thereafter, Tārā embracing Śacī, imparted her various types of divine knowledge. The one who recites the Guru-stotra composed by Śacī regularly at the time of adoration, all his teachers get pleased with him in every birth.

ग्रहदेवद्विजास्तं च परितुष्टाश्च संततम्।
राजानो बान्धवाश्चैव संतुष्टाः सर्वतः सदा॥१६९॥
गुरुभक्तिं विष्णुभक्तिं वाञ्छितं लभते ध्रुवम्।
सदा हर्षो भवेत्तस्य न च शोकः कदाचन॥१७०॥

The planets, the gods and Brāhmaṇas always remain pleased with him. He always pleases his relatives and kings. He surely achieves the devotion of the teacher and Viṣṇu obtaining all success; he is always delightful and is deprived of grief.

पुत्रार्थी लभते पुत्रं भार्यार्थी लभते प्रियाम्।
सुस्वरूपां गुणवतीं सतीं पुत्रवतीं ध्रुवम्।।१७१।।
रोगार्तो मुच्यते रोगाद्बद्धो मुच्येत बन्धनात्।
अस्पष्टकीर्तिः सुयशा मूर्खो भवति पण्डितः।।१७२।।

The one desirous of getting a son, gets a son; the one desirous of getting a wife, gets a beautiful, virtuous, chaste wife who bears his sons. The one suffering from ailment is relieved of the same and the person in fetters is freed from them. The person having no glory becomes glorious and a foolish person becomes an intellectual.

कदाचिद्बन्धुविच्छेदो न भवेत्तस्य निश्चितम्।
नित्यं तद्वर्धते धर्मो विपुलं निर्मलं यशः।।१७३।।
लभते परमैश्वर्यं पुत्रपौत्रधनान्वितम्।
इह सर्वसुखं भुक्त्वा प्राप्यते श्रीहरेः पदम्।।१७४।।
न भवेत्तत्पुनर्जन्म हरिदास्यं लभेद्ध्रुवम्।

शश्वत्पिबति शान्तिश्च विष्णुभक्तिरसामृतम्।
जन्ममृत्युजराव्याधिशोकसंतापनाशनम्।।१७६।।

He never has to suffer from the separation of his relatives, this is certain. There is always an increase of dharma and he always enjoys spotless glory. He achieves all the fortunes including sons and grandsons, enjoying all the pleasures in this world; he ultimately achieves the place of the lord.

Achieving the slavehood of lord Hari there, he is never reborn and he is always influenced by the devotion of lord Hari. He always consumes the nectar of the devotion of the lord Viṣṇu getting peaceful and becoming free from birth, death, old age, ailment, grief and mental agony.

Indra Relieved of the Bondage

नारायण उवाच

शचीस्तोत्रं समाकर्ण्यं परितुष्टो बृहस्पतिः।
उवाच मधुरं शान्तः कान्तामिन्द्रस्य नारद॥१॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- O Nārada, after listening to the prayer of Śacī, Bṛhaspati was immensely pleased; thereafter quite peacefully he spoke sweet these words to her .

बृहस्पतिरुवाच

त्यज वत्से भयं सर्वं भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते।
यथा कचस्य पत्नी मे तथा त्वमपि शोभने॥२॥

Bṛhaspati said- O daughter, you be free from all danger, you will face no danger as long as I am alive. O beautiful one, as I have my daughter-in-law, the son of Kaca you are like her.

यथा पुत्रस्तथा शिष्यो न भेदः पुत्रशिष्ययोः।
तर्पणे पितृदाने च पालने परितोषणे॥३॥
यथाऽग्निदाता पुत्रश्च तथा शिष्यश्च निश्चितम्।
इतीदं कण्वशाखायामुवाच कमलोद्भवः॥४॥

Because as the son serves the food, Piṇḍadāna and maintains the parents, similarly the pupil also does so. Therefore there is no difference between a son and a pupil. As the son performs the last rites, similarly the pupil also does so. This is certain and this has been prescribed by Brahmā in Kaṇva-śākhā.

पिता माता गुरुर्भार्या शिशुश्चानाथबान्धवाः।
एते पुंसां नित्यपोष्या इत्याह कमलोद्भवः॥५॥
यश्चैतांश्च न पुष्णाति भस्मान्तं तस्य सूतकम्।
दैवे पित्र्ये न कर्मार्हः सोऽपीत्याह महेश्वरः॥६॥
कुरुते नरबुद्धिं च मातरं पितरं गुरुम्।
अयशस्तस्य सर्वत्र विघ्न एव पदे पदे॥७॥

Brahmā has ordained that the father, the mother, the teacher, the wife, the children and orphan relatives are to be served by the people.

The one who does not take care of them has to remain infested with impurity, right from birth to cremation and is not considered fit to perform the adoration of gods or the manes; this has been prescribed by lord Śiva. The one who illiterates his parents and the teacher, earns a bad name and has to face obstruction at every step.

संपन्मत्तो यः करोति स्वगुरोश्च पराभवम्।
अचिरात्सर्वनाशश्च भवेत्तस्य सुनिश्चितम्॥८॥

Getting intoxicated with riches if he insults his teacher, he surely meets with his destruction. This is certain.

मां च दृष्ट्वा सभामध्ये नोत्तस्थौ पाकशासनः।
तत्फलं भुज्यते साक्षात्सद्यः पश्य च सांप्रतम्॥९॥
अहं करोमि मोक्षं च तव रक्षां सुनिश्चितम्।
शासितुं रक्षितुं शक्तः स एव गुरुरुच्यते॥१०॥

After finding my arrival at his court, Indra did not get up to welcome me from his lion-throne and presently he had to suffer for the same. I will surely protect you and also redeem Indra because the one who can rule and protect everyone of his pupils, only he is called the true teacher.

न पश्यति सतीत्वं च हृच्छुद्धायाश्च योषितः।
यन्मानसे विकल्पश्च तस्य धर्मश्च नश्यति॥११॥

The one who becomes careless about his wife, who is spotlessly chaste and only thinks of his own selfish ends, several types of desires therefore arise in his mind and ultimately his dharma is destroyed.

भविष्यति प्रभावस्ते दुर्गायाश्च समः सति।
लक्ष्मीसमा प्रतिष्ठा च यशस्तद्यशसा समम्॥१२॥

O chaste damsel, your influence would be like that of Durgā and your glory would be like that of Lakṣmī.

सौभाग्यं राधिकातुल्यं तत्समं प्रेमभर्तरि।
तत्तुल्यं गौरवं मान्यं प्रीतिः प्राधान्यमीश्वरे॥१३॥

Your fortune would be like that of Rādhikā and like her you would achieve love, glory, affection. You and I would always be devoted to Indra.

रोहिण्याश्च समापेक्षा पूज्या च भारतीसमा।
शुद्धा निरुपमा शश्वत्सावित्रीसदृशी सदा॥१४॥

You will be desirable by Indra like Rohiṇī, would be adorable like Sarasvatī and would always be spotless like Sāvitrī.

एतस्मिन्नन्तरे तत्र आगतो नहुषाच्चरः।

दूत उवाच

उत्तिष्ठ देवि शीघ्रं त्वं गच्छस्व नहुषं प्रति।
क्रीडां कर्तुं च रहसि रम्ये नन्दनकानने॥१६॥

In the meantime a messenger arrived from the house of Nahuṣa and feeling panicky, he spoke before Bṛhaspati. The messenger said- "O goddess, get up, Nahuṣa is waiting for you in a charming and lonely place in Nandana-vana for love-sport and you immediately move on to that place."

दूतस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच बृहस्पतिः।
कम्पितावयवः कोपाद्रक्तपङ्कजलोचनः॥१७॥

On hearing the words of the messenger, Bṛhaspati was enraged. His body started shaking and the eyes turned red the blood.

गुरुरुवाच

सप्तर्षीणां च स्कन्धे च दत्वा स्वशिविकां शुभाम्।
तामारुह्य सुवेषश्च गमनं कर्तुमर्हसि॥१९॥

Bṛhaspati said- You go and inform Nahuṣa, "in case you intend to enjoy the conjugal pleasure with Śacī, then you come at night mounted on an unprecedented vehicle. Or otherwise you come in a palanquin carried by Saptarṣis clad in beautiful costumes."

वाक्पतेर्वचनं श्रुत्वा गत्वोवाच नृपं तदा।
दूतस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रहस्योवाच किंकरम्॥२०॥

On hearing the words of Bṛhaspati, the messengers went back and informed the king accordingly. Listening to the words of the messenger, Nahuṣa laughed and said to the messenger.

गच्छ गच्छ त्वरन् गच्छ सप्तर्षीञ्छीघ्रमानय।

उपायं च करिष्यामि तै: सार्धं साप्रतं चर॥२१॥

"O messenger, you move at once and bring the Saptarṣis here at once I shall make suitable arrangements with them.".

नृपस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा गत्वा दूतस्तदन्तिकम्।
उवाच सर्वास्तत्रैव यथोक्तं नहुषेण च॥२२॥

On hearing the words of the king, the messengers went to Saptarṣis and repeated the words of Nahuṣa to them.

दूतस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा ययु: सप्तर्षयो मुदा।
राजा दृष्ट्वा च तान्सर्वान्ननामोवाच सादरम्॥२३॥

On hearing the words of the messengers, all the Saptarṣis arrived at the palace of the king delightfully who bowed in reverence to them.

नहुष उवाच

यूयं च ब्रह्मण: पुत्रा ज्वलन्तो ब्रह्मतेजसा।
ब्रह्मण: सदृशा: सर्वे सततं भक्तवत्सला:॥२४॥

Nahuṣa said- All of you are the sons of Brahma, possessing the eternal lustre and are attached to your devotees like Brahmā himself.

नारायणपरा: शश्वच्छुद्धसत्त्वस्वरूपिण:।
मोहमात्सर्यहीनाश्च दर्पाहंकारवर्जिता:॥२५॥
नारायणसमा: सर्वे तेजसा यशसा सदा।
गुणेन कृपया प्रेम्णा वरदानेन निश्चितम्॥२६॥

Because of your devotion to Nārāyaṇa you are spotless and are the form of sattva, free from attachment, pride and arrogance. You equate yourself with Nārāyaṇa in lustre and glory, you are also like him in virtues, compassion, love and granting the boons.

इत्युक्त्वा प्रणतो राजा तुष्टाव च रुरोद च।

ऋषय ऊचु:

वरं वृणीष्व हे वत्स यत्ते मनसि वाञ्छितम्।
सर्वं दातुं वयं शक्ता नासाध्यं नश्च किंचन॥२८॥

Thus speaking the king meekly prayed to them and started crying. Finding the king filled with grief, the ascetics said. Saptarṣis said- O son, you ask for a boon; whatever is desired by you we are sure to bestow on you. There is nothing beyond our competence.

इन्द्रत्वं वा मनुत्वं वा चिरायुर्वा तत: परम्।
सप्तद्वीपेश्वरत्वं चाप्यतीव सुचिरं सुखम्॥२९॥
अथापि सर्वसिद्धित्वं सर्वैश्वर्यं सुदुर्लभम्।
मुक्तिं वा हरिभक्तिं वा तपसा या सुदुर्लभा॥३०॥

The position of Indra, Manu, long life, the lordship of seven islands, becoming eternal and achieving of everlasting pleasure, all the success of all the fortunes which are beyond the reach of anyone else or salvation or the devotion to Hari or whatever is beyond the reach of anyone else can be bestowed by us.

किमीप्सितं ते हे वत्स ब्रूहि न: सांप्रतं मुदा।
सर्वं तुभ्यं प्रदायैव यास्यामस्तपसे मुदा॥३१॥

O son, in which one of these things are you interested you tell us just now with pleasure, we shall bestow everything delightfully and thereafter leave for performing tapas.

युगलक्षसमं यच्च क्षणं कृष्णार्चनं विना।
तद्दिनं दुर्दिनं यत्तद्ध्यानसेवनवर्जितम्॥३२॥

The time spent without the adoration of Kṛṣṇa is equated with lakhs of yugas and the day which is spent without his adoration is considered to be a bad day.

The one who desires for something else than serving him is considered to be like inviting his total destruction and the consumption of poison.

विना तत्सेवनं यो हि विषयान्यं च वाञ्छति।
विषमत्ति प्रणाशाय विहायामृतमीप्सितम्॥३३॥
ब्रह्मा शिवश्च धर्मश्च विष्णुश्चापि महान्विराट्।

तेषां च वचनं श्रुत्वा तानुवाच नृपेश्वर:।
स लज्जितो नम्रवक्त्र मायामोहितमानस:॥३६॥

All the gods like Brahmā, Śiva, Dharma, Viṣṇu, Mahāvirāṭ, Gaṇeśa, Sūrya, Śeṣa, Sanaka and other sages always meditate upon his lotus-like feet. The same feet relieve of birth, death, old age and ailment. We always meditate upon the same. On hearing the words of the Saptarṣis, Nahuṣa who was influenced by illusion spoke in shame casting his head downwards.

नहुष उवाच

सर्वं दातुं समर्थाश्च यूयं च भक्तवत्सलाः।
अधुना देहि (दत्त) मे तूर्णं शचीदानमभीप्सितम्।।३७।।
सप्तर्षिवाहनं कान्तं शचीच्छति महासती।
एतदेव मम वरं निष्पन्नं कुरुताचिरम्।।३८।।

Nahuṣa said- "You are competent enough to bestow everything and are graceful to the devotees. Therefore, you kindly bestow the boon of granting Śacī to me at the moment. The chaste Śacī desires that her beloved should be carried by Saptarṣis in a vehicle. I only desire this much of the boon, you kindly bestow on me your grace accordingly.".

नहुषस्य वचः श्रुत्वा मनुयश्च परस्परम्।
अत्युच्चैर्जहसुः सर्वे कौतुकेन च नारद।।३९।
राजानं मोहितं मत्वा वेष्टितं विष्णुमायया।
चक्रुः प्रतिज्ञां तं वोढुं कृपया दीनवत्सलाः।।४०।।

O Nārada, on hearing the words of Nahuṣa, all the ascetics playfully laughed aloud. Finding that the king had been influenced by the illusion of Viṣṇu, the Ṛṣis who were graceful on the down-trodden people agreed to carry the palanquin of the king Nahuṣa.

चक्रुः स्कन्धे तच्छिविकां मुक्तामाणिक्यभूषिताम्।
राजा ययौ सुवेषश्च रत्नभूषणभूषितः।।४१।।
दृष्ट्वा चातिविलम्बं च भर्त्सयामास तान्नृपः।

महानजगरो भूत्वा पत वै मूढमानस।
दर्शनाद्धर्मपुत्रस्य तव मोक्षो भविष्यति।।४३।।

Thereafter the palanquin which was inlaid with several gems was carried on their shoulders. King Nahuṣa adorned himself with all the gem-studded ornament and the best of costumes was seated in the palanquin. Finding that the sages were moving quite slowly, the king admonished them for their low speed. The sage Durvāsā who was leading them all was enraged and he pronounced a curse on the king saying, "O foolish minded king, you fall down becoming a huge python." You will be relieved of the curse only at an audience with Yudhiṣṭhira. O great king, thereafter, you will proceed to Vaikuṇṭha mounted on a gem-studded plane and would enjoy all the pleasures, because the actions never remain infructuous.

रत्नयानेन वैकुण्ठं गत्वा वैकुण्ठसेवनम्।
करिष्यसि महाराज न कर्म निष्फलं भवेत्।।४४।।
इत्युक्त्वा प्रययुः सर्वे प्रहस्य मुनिसत्तमाः।
राजा पपात तच्छापात्सर्पो भूत्वा महामुने।।४५।।
शची जगाम तच्छ्रुत्वा गुरुं नत्वाऽमरावतीम्।
ययौ बृहस्पति शीघ्रं यत्रेन्द्रः पद्मतन्तुषु।।४६।।

O great sage, thus speaking all the sages left the place similarly and with the curse pronounced on the king he was turned into a snake. On hearing this Śacī bowed in reverence to her teacher and went back to the city of Amarāvatī. Bṛhaspati also reached there quickly, the place where Indra was hiding himself in the lotus stalk.

गत्वा सरोवराभ्याशमाजुहाव सुरेश्वरम्।
अतिप्रसन्नवदनः कृपया च कृपानिधिः।।४७।।

The merciful Bṛhaspati with a delightful mind went into the lake and started calling Indra.

बृहस्पतिरुवाच

अयि वत्स त्वमागच्छ भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते।
त्यज भीतिमिहागच्छ गुरुस्तेहं बृहस्पतिः।।४८।।
स्वगुरोश्च स्वरं श्रुत्वा महेन्द्रो हृष्टमानसः।
रूपं विहाय सूक्ष्मं च स्वरूपेण समाययौ।।४९।।
पपात दण्डवन्मूर्ध्ना भक्त्या चरणयोर्गुरोः।
तं रुदन्तं महाभीतं मुदोरसि चकार सः।।५०।।

Bṛhaspati said- O son, you come near me because, as long as I am there, you can never be afraid, be fearless and come to me, I am Bṛhaspati your teacher calling for you. Recognising the voice of his teacher Mahendra at once was filled with delight and shedding away his tiny form, took to his natural form. On reaching before the teacher he prostrated before him. Bṛhaspati on his part lifted up the terrified and crying Indra and embraced him lovingly.

कारयित्वा सोमयागं प्रायश्चित्तार्थमेव च।
रत्नसिंहासने रम्ये वासयामास तं गुरुः॥५१॥
प्रददौ परमैश्वर्यं पूर्वस्माच्च चतुर्गुणम्।
आगत्य सर्वदेवाश्च चक्रुः सेवां मुदाऽन्विता॥५२॥

Thereafter he had the soma-yajña performed by Indra for his repentance and then enthroned him on the gem-studded lion-throne. He was bestowed on him four times more the fortune and all the gods returned to serve him.

शची संप्राप भर्तारं महेन्द्रं त्रिदशेश्वरम्।
मन्दिरे पुष्पतल्पे च मुमुदे सा मुदाऽन्विता॥५३॥

Śacī getting back Indra the lord of gods went to her place and delightfully started enjoying the conjugal pleasures on a bed of roses.

इत्येवं कथितं वत्स महेन्द्रदर्पभञ्जनम्।
शचीसतीत्वरक्षा च किं भूयः श्रोतुमिच्छसि॥५४॥

O son, thus I have narrated to you the story relating to the shattering of the pride of Mahendra and the protection of the chastity of Śacī. What else do you want to listen to from me?.

सोमयागविधानं च ब्रूहि मां मुनिसत्तम।
कथं तं कारयामास गुरुश्च किं फलं परम्॥५५॥

Nārada said- O best of the sages, you kindly tell me the method of performing Soma-yajña. How does the teacher get the yajña performed and what is the result of the same?.

नारायण उवाच

ब्रह्महत्याप्रशमनं सोमयागफलं मुने।
वर्षं सोमलतापानं यजमानः करोति च॥५६॥
वर्षमेकं फलं भुङ्क्ते वर्षमेकं जलं मुदा।
त्रैवार्षिकं व्रतमिदं सर्वपपप्रणाशनम्॥५७॥
यस्य त्रैवार्षिकं धान्यं निहितं भूतवृद्धये।
अधिकं वाऽपि विद्येत स सोमं पातुमर्हति॥५८॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, the main object of performing the Soma-yajña is to relieve one of the curses of the Brahmahatyā. According to the procedure laid down in the scriptures, the performer has to consume Somalatā for a year. He takes fruit for one year and for one year he has to live on the water alone. It destroys all the sins and can be completed in three years. The one who keeps a stock of eatables for three years, for increase in the welfare of the people for three years and stores the food stuffs for more than that period, he alone gets entitled to the drinking of Soma.

महाराजश्च देवो वा यागं कर्तुमलं मुने।
न सर्वसाध्यो यज्ञोऽयं बह्वन्नो बहुदक्षिणः॥५९॥

O sage, only the great king or the god can perform this yajña and none else because one has to distribute enough of riches and food stuffs as dakṣiṇā for this yajña.

Chapter - 61

The Shattering of the Pride of Indra through Bali

नारायण उवाच

इति ते कथितं किंचिदिन्द्रस्य दर्पभञ्जनम्।
अपरं श्रूयतां ब्रह्मन्सावधानं निगूढकम्॥१॥

Śrī Nārāyaṇa said- O Brahman, I have spoken to you about the shattering of the pride of Indra to some extent. Now you listen to the second incident about him quite carefully.

समुद्रमथनं कृत्वा पीत्वाऽमृतरसं पुरा।
निर्जित्य दैत्यसंघांश्च बहुदर्पो बभूव ह॥२॥
तदा कृष्णो बलिद्वारा शक्रदर्पं बभञ्ज ह।
भ्रष्टश्रियो बभूवुस्ते देवा इन्द्रपुरोगमाः॥३॥
तदा बृहस्पतेः स्तोत्राददितेश्च व्रतेन ते।
जातश्च स्वांशकलयाऽप्यदित्यां वामनो विभुः॥४॥
याच्ञां कृत्वा बलिं राज्यं कृपया च कृपानिधिः।
तस्मै ददौ महेन्द्राय देवेभ्यश्चापि संपदम्॥५॥

In the earlier times Indra, after churning the ocean, consumed the nectar and defeated the demons. As a result of this he was inflated with pride. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa got his pride shattered through Bali. All the gods like Indra and others had been deprived of their glory. Thereafter with the reciting of the stotra of Bṛhaspati and performing of the vratas by Aditi, the lord was pleased and he incarnated himself as the incarnation of Vāmana from the womb of Aditi. Thereafter the compassionate lord begged from Bali for his kingdom and restored Mahendra to the gem-studded lion-throne and well established the gods.

बभूव शक्रदर्पश्च पुनः कल्पान्तरे पुरा।
विभुर्दुर्वाससो द्वारा जहार तच्छ्रियं मुने॥६॥
पुनर्ददौ च कृपया कृपालुर्भक्तवत्सलः।
पुनः श्रीदुर्मदः सोऽपि जहार गौतमप्रियाम्॥७॥
तदा गौतमशापेन भगाङ्गश्च बभूव सः।
संप्राप यातनामिन्द्रः स्वाङ्गवेदनया पुरा॥८॥

O sage, similarly in the first kalpa, Indra again was inflated with pride which was shattered through Durvāsā. He was thus deprived of all the glory but the lord who is always graceful to his devotees restored his glory to Indra. Thereafter getting intoxicated with this glory, Indra desecrated the chastity of Ahalyā, the wife of Gautama. As a result of the curse of Gautama Indra had a thousand yonis on his body. Indra thus had to face immense pain in his body.

उच्चैस्तं जहसुदृष्ट्वा ऋषयो मनवस्तदा।
देवाश्च लज्जिताः सर्वे मृततुल्यो बृहस्पतिः॥९॥
तदा सहस्रवर्षं च तपस्तप्त्वा रवेः पुरा।
रवेर्वरेण शक्रः स सहस्राक्षो बभूव ह॥१०॥
कलङ्करूपमिन्द्रस्य तच्चक्षुर्निकरं परम्।
यथा चन्द्रे कलङ्कश्च तारकाहरणादभूत्॥११॥

At the sight of Indra all the sages and the ascetics started laughing aloud. All the gods felt ashamed and Bṛhaspati fell down as if dead. Thereafter Indra meditated on Sūrya for a thousand years. With the boon of Sūrya, Indra was turned into a thousand-eyed one as the moon got the blemish because of the abducting of Tārā, similarly the appearing of a large number of eyes on the body of Indra also earned him blemish.

नारद उवाच

ब्रह्मन् केन प्रकारेण जहार गौतमप्रियाम्।
महासतीमहल्यां च पूज्यां भुवनपावनीम्॥१२॥
शुद्धाशयां महाभागां निर्मलां कमलाकलाम्।
एतद्वेदितुमिच्छामि वद वेदविदां वर॥१३॥

Nārada said- O Brahman, O best among those well-versed in the Vedas, how was Ahalyā the beloved of Gautama who was immensely chaste, adorable, quite auspicious in the universe, having a spotless heart, immensely meritorious, without blemish and was born of the aṁśa of Kamalā, how could Indra abduct her you kindly tell me, I intend to listen to this story.

नारायण उवाच

पुष्करे तीर्थयात्रायां सूर्यपर्वणि नारद।
तत्राऽऽगतामहल्यां च ददर्श पाकशासनः॥१४॥

Nārāyaṇa said- O Nārada, Indra spotted Ahalyā who had come on a pilgrimage to Puṣ kara-tīrtha.

सुस्मितां सुदतीं शान्तां पीनश्रोणिपयोधराम्।
मूर्छामवाप चेन्द्रश्च दृष्टिमात्रेण तत्क्षणात्॥१५॥
अथापरदिने तां च दृष्ट्वा मन्दाकिनी तटे।
एकाकिनीं सुस्मितां च स्नातीं नग्नां सलज्जिताम्॥१६।

She had a smiling face, beautiful teeth, peaceful and solid pelvic region, besides the breasts. Finding her there Indra got fainted. The next day on the bank of river Mandākinī, Indra again met her where she was alone and smiling and for taking her bath she getting herself unrobed with shyness .

दृष्ट्वा श्रोणिं स्तनयुगमतीव विपुलं हरिः।
मूर्छामवाप कामार्तो जहार चेतनां पुनः॥१७॥
क्षणेन चेतनां प्राप्य गत्वा कामी तदन्तिकम्।
उवाच श्लक्ष्णया वाचा विनयेन पतिव्रताम्॥१८॥

At the sight of her developed pelvic region and the breasts, Indra lost his senses. On regaining consciousness the passionate Indra went to her and started flattering the chaste lady.

महेन्द्र उवाच

अहो गुणमहो रूपमहो किं वा नवं वयः।
अहो किं वा मुखश्रीस्ते शरच्चन्द्रं विनिन्दती॥१९॥
अहो कटाक्षं कुटिलं पुंसां चित्तविकर्षणम्।
किमहो लोचनं पद्मप्रभामोचनमीप्सितम्॥२०॥

Mahendra said- This virtuous beauty and the youthfulness is quite astonishing; your face is putting to shame the full moon of the winter season, your side-glances are attracting the minds of the people. The beauty of your eyes resembles the beauty of the lotus flower.

गमनं रमणीयं च गजखञ्जनभञ्जनम्।
अहो वाक्यं सुमधुरं पीयूषादपि दुर्लभम्॥२१॥
किमहो विपुलश्रोणी कामाधारा मनोहरा।
कामदा कामुकायैव मुनिमानसमोहिनी॥२२॥

Your walking resembles an intoxicated elephant or a wagtail bird, your speech is nectar-like and quite sweet which is difficult to get. The developed hips which are the best are quite pleasing, increase passion in a passionate person and attract even the sages as well.

अतीव कठिना पीना रम्भास्तम्भविडम्बिता।
अहो नितम्बयुगुलं वर्तुलं चन्द्रबिम्बवत्॥२३॥
श्रीयुक्तं श्रीफलयुगतुल्यं ते स्तनयुग्मकम्।
अत्युन्नतं सुकठिनं त्रैलोक्यचित्तमोहनम्॥२४॥

The thighs resemble the trunk of the banana trees and are quite solid. Both the hips are round like the lunar disc, both your nipples are quite charming and the lips resemble the ripe wood apples and are quite charming.

अहो किं वा तपस्तेपे गौतमश्च तपोधनः।
संप्राप यत्फलेनैव सुदतीं सुन्दरीं वराम्॥२५॥
निषेव्य प्रकृतिं दुर्गां विष्णुमायां सनातनीम्।
लक्ष्मीं च लक्ष्मीसदृशीमीदृशीं प्राप पद्मिनीम्॥२६॥
सुकोमलां सुवदनां ललनां नलिनाननाम्।
शुद्धां च सुदतीं श्यामां न्यग्रोधदलमध्यमाम्॥२७॥
त्वत्पालनं च जानामि कामशास्त्रविचक्षणः।
कामो वा कामुकश्चन्द्रः किं त्वा जानाति गौतमः॥२८

The ascetic Gautama must have performed tapas only for your sake to get you in reward; you are such a damsel with beautiful teeth. Did he achieve this beautiful damsel after adoring lord Viṣṇu and his illusion the eternal Prakṛti named Durgā the lotus-like damsel who resembles in beauty goddess Lakṣmī having very tender limbs, beautiful face, charming body, lotus-like face, having spotless and attractive teeth, having youthful body of sixteen years, tough breasts, heavy buttocks and thin waist. I am well aware of maintaining you being well-versed in the art of making love or otherwise only the god of love or the passionate moon can realise your worth. What can Gautama know about you?.

मां प्रशंसन्ति नित्यं ते कामशास्त्रविचक्षणाः।
उर्वश्याद्याश्चाप्सरसो मां प्रशंसन्ति संततम्॥२९॥
दासीं कृत्वा च दास्यामि शचीं तुभ्यं वरानने।
त्रैलोक्यलक्ष्मीं विपुलां गृहाण त्यज गौतमम्॥३०॥
अनभिज्ञं कामशास्त्रे दुर्बलं च तपस्विनम्।
अव्यवहार्यं निष्कामं नारायणपरायणम्॥३१॥

The intellectuals well-versed in the art of making love, praise me always together with Urvaśī and other apsarās. O beautiful damsel, I shall make Śacī as your slave and entrust you to her care and by remaining with me you can enjoy the unlimited treasure. Therefore you should disown Gautama, who is unaware of the scriptures on love, is quite weak, a mendicant, not very practical, having no desires and is devoted to Nārāyaṇa .

अविदग्धो विधाता च योजयामास योऽक्षमम्।
ईदृशीं कामुकीं रम्यां ददाति च तपस्विने॥३२॥

The foolish creator has made an unequal couple comprising of a mendicant and a passionate damsel.

इत्युक्त्वा कामुकः शक्रः पपात चरणे मुदा।
तमुवाच महासाध्वी वेदोक्तं च यथोचितम्॥३३॥

Thus speaking the passionate Indra delightfully fell on the feet of Ahalyā. Thereafter the immensely chaste Ahalyā started speaking the words which were quite appropriate and according to the Vedas.

अहल्योवाच

अभाग्याद्ब्रह्मणश्चापि मरीचेश्च तपस्विन:।
अभाग्यात्कश्यपस्यापि त्वं पुत्र: पापमानस:॥३४॥
किं तज्जपेन तपसा मौनेन च व्रतेन च।
सुरार्चनेन तीर्थेन स्त्रीभिर्यस्य मनोहतम्॥३५॥
स्त्री रूपं निर्मितं सृष्टौ मोहाय कामिनां मन:।
अन्यथा न भवेत्सृष्टि: स्रष्टा तेने पुराऽऽज्ञया॥३६॥

Ahalyā said- Because of the misfortune of Brahmā and the mendicant Marīci besides Kaśyapa you happen to be the unfortunate son born in their race, the person whose mind is injured by the women; the recitation, tapas, mind, vratas, adoration of the gods and visiting of the holy places are of no consequence for him. The damsels were created in the universe to attract the minds of the people. Otherwise there would have been no creation. Therefore, in the earlier times at the command of lord, Brahmā resorted to the creation.

सर्वं मायाकरण्डश्च धर्ममार्गार्गलं नृणाम्।
व्यवधानं च तपसां दोषाणामाश्रयं परम्॥३७॥
कर्मबन्धनिबद्धानां निगडं कठिनं स्मृतम्।
प्रदीपरूपं कीटानां मीनानां बडिशं यथा॥३८॥

The female is the jackpot of illusion and could be responsible for diverting the attention of the people from the path of righteousness. She is a powerful obstruction in the performing of tapas and is the abode of all the sins. This is the strong bondage for the people who are already indulging in the karmas; she happens to entangle the humans like fish in a net and the humans serve her like the fire flies in burning lamp.

विषकुम्भं दुग्धमुखमारम्भे मधुरोपमम्।

ऋषय: सनकाद्याश्च नोद्वाहं चक्रुरीप्सितम्।
परस्त्रीषु मनो येषां तेषां सर्वं च निष्फलम्॥४०॥

She has milk in the mouth but inside pitchers of poison are kept in full. She is initially quite sweet but in the end she pushes people into hell serving herself as a step for the same. This is the reason why the ascetics like Sanaka and others did not marry. The one who is attracted to the wives of others, his action becomes infructuous.

परस्त्रीसेवनं शक्र इहैवात्ययशस्करम्।
परत्र नरकं घोरं ददाति कामुकाय च॥४१॥
इत्युक्त्वा च महासाध्वी विहाय तं च कामुकम्।
प्रययौ स्वगृहं तूर्णं गृहिणी गौतमस्य च॥४२॥

O Indra, to enjoy the company of others' wives attracts bad names and hell after death. Thus speaking, the immensely chaste wife of Gautama, leaving Indra quickly went to her abode.

तत्सर्वं कथयामास गौतमाय तपस्विने।
तस्थौ प्रहस्य स मुनिर्महेन्द्रं च विनिन्द्यच॥४३॥
एकदा गौतम: शीघ्रं जगाम शंकरालयम्।
शक्रो गौतमरूपेण तां संभोगं चकार स:॥४४॥

Reaching there she narrated the entire story to the sage Gautama laughingly denounced Indra very much. Soon thereafter Gautama went to Śiva, in the meantime Indra impersonating himself as Gautama enjoyed the company of Ahalyā.

सर्वं ज्ञात्वा च सर्वज्ञ: मन्दिरद्वारमाययौ।
निर्गच्छन्तं महेन्द्रं च ददर्श मुनिपुंगव:॥४५॥
नग्नामहल्यां रहसि पीनश्रोणिपयोधराम्।
मुनि: शशाप शक्रं च भगाङ्गश्च भवेति च॥४६॥
कोपाच्छशाप पत्नीं च रुदतीं भयविह्वलाम्।

ययौ च स्वगृहं शक्रो लज्जैकतानमानस:।
उवाच मधुरं भीता स्वामिनं शोककर्शिता॥४८॥

The all knowledgeable sage came to know about everything and immediately returned to his abode. Gatuama the best of the sages spotted Indra moving out of his hermitage and also found Ahalyā having the developed pelvic region and the breasts, lying unrobed there. The sage then pronounced a curse on Indra, "You will have yonis all through your body". In anger he pronounced a curse also on the terrified and crying. Ahalyā, "In the thick forest you will be turned into a stone". After getting immensely ashamed Indra went to his abode but the terrified Ahalyā with her mind filled with grief spoke sweet words to Gautama.

अहल्योवाच

मां च दासीं च निर्दोषां कथं त्यजसि धार्मिक।
त्वं च वेदविदां श्रेष्ठो विचारं कुरु धर्मत:।।४९।।

गौतम उवाच

त्वां जानामि मन: शुद्धां सुव्रतां च पतिव्रताम्।
त्यक्ष्यामि च तथाऽपि त्वां परवीर्यं च बिभ्रतीम्।।५०।।

Ahalyā said- O religious one, why are you disowning a sinless person like me. You are well-versed in the Vedas and think it over from the religious angle. Gautama said- I am well aware of the fact that you have a spotless heart, being absolutely chaste and well disciplined but you have borne the semen of others, that is why I have to disown you.

परभोग्या च या कान्ता साऽशुद्धा सर्वकर्मसु।
तां यो गच्छेन्महामूढो नरकं तस्य कल्पकम्।।५१।।
अन्नं विष्ठा जलं मूत्रं परभोग्याश्च(या) निश्चितम्।
उपस्पृशेन्न तस्याश्च हन्ति पुण्यं पुराकृतम्।।५२।।

The woman who is enjoyed by others is considered to be unchaste, therefore such of the persons as enjoy the company of his wife again, being utterly foolish, has to fall in to hell for a long time. The food touched by a woman who is enjoyed by others, turns into refuse and the water becomes like urine. This is certain therefore one should not touch her and by doing so the entire merit earned in the earlier life is destroyed .

अनिच्छया च शृंङ्गारे स्त्री जारेण न दुष्यति।
दुष्टा स्त्री निश्चितं साध्वी स्वेच्छा श्रृङ्गारकर्मणि।।५३
त्वं शक्रं स्वामिनं मत्वा सुखं भुक्त्वा रतिं गृहे।
पश्चाद्बभूव ते ज्ञानं मां दृष्ट्वा च निशामय।।५४।।

If a women enjoys the company of another person unwillingly, she is not desecrated. The one who indulges in the passionate advances other men earns blemish. You have enjoyed the company of Indra taking him to be your husband and you could realise the truth after my appearing before you.

गच्छ गच्छ महारण्यं भव पाषाणरूपिणी।

मां संप्राप्स्यसि तत्पुण्यात्पुनरेवाऽऽगमिष्यसि।
गच्छ कान्ते महारण्यमित्युक्त्वा तपसे ययौ।।५६।।

Therefore you go to the deep forest and remain there in the form of a rock. Thereafter with the touch of the feet of Rāma you will again become sanctified and because of that merit you would again come here and achieve me. Therefore, O damsel, "you go to the forest". Thus speaking Gautama went to the forest for performing tapas.

इत्येवं कथितं सर्वं महेन्द्रदर्पभञ्जनम्।
पुन: संप्राप लक्ष्मीं च विभोश्च कृपया मुने।।५७।।

O sage, I have thus narrated to you the story about the shattering of the pride of Indra in detail but Indra could get back the lost glory and the riches by the grace of the lord.

Chapter - 62

The life story of Rāma

नारद उवाच

ब्रह्मन् केन प्रकारेण रामो दाशरथि: स्वयम्।
चकार मोक्षणं कुत्र युगे गौतमयोषित:।।१।।

Nārada said- O Brahman, when did Rāma the son of Daśaratha an incarnation of Viṣṇu redeem Ahalyā, in which yuga did he do so and at which place?.

रामावतारं सुखदं समासेन मनोहरम्।
कथयस्व महाभाग श्रोतुं कौतूहलं मम।।२।।

O virtuous one, you kindly narrate to me the pleasant story of the incarnation of Rāma for which I am getting anxious. Therefore you narrate the story in brief.

नारायण उवाच

ब्रह्मणा प्रार्थितो विष्णुर्जातो दशरथात्स्वयम्।
कौसल्यायां च भगवांस्त्रेतायां च मुदाऽन्वित:।।३।।

कैकेय्यां भरतश्चैव रामतुल्यो गुणेन च।
लक्ष्मणश्चापि शत्रुघ्नः सुमित्रायां गुणार्णवः।।४।।

Nārāyaṇa said- At the request of Brahmā, Nārāyaṇa narrated the story of lord Viṣṇu's incarnation as Rāma in the Tretāyuga who was born out of the womb of Kauśalyā. Similarly Bharata who was equal in qualities with Rāma was born of Kaikeyī and Lakṣmaṇa the ocean of virtues and Śatrughna were born of the womb of Sumitrā.

विश्वामित्रप्रेषितश्च श्रीरामश्च सलक्ष्मणः।
प्रययौ मिथिलां रम्यां सीताग्रहणहेतवे।।५।।
दृष्ट्वा पाषाणरूपा च रामो वर्त्मनि कामिनीम्।
विश्वामित्रं च पप्रच्छ कारणं जगदीश्वरः।।६।।

Thereafter with the influence of Viśvāmitra, Rāma visited Mithilā together with Lakṣmaṇa and accepted the hand of Jānakī in marriage. While moving on the way Rāma the lord of the universe looked at a rock in the form of a damsel and enquired from Viśvāmitra the reason for its existence at that place.

रामस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा विश्वामित्रो महातपाः।
उवाच तत्र धर्मिष्ठो रहस्यं सर्वमेव च।।७।।
कारणं तन्मुखाच्छ्रुत्वा रामो भुवनपावनः।
पस्पर्श पादाङ्गुलिना सा बभूव च पद्मिनी।।८।।

Thereafter, the extremely religious and the greatest and the great tapasvī Viśvāmitra narrated to Rāma the story relating to the turning of Ahalyā into a stone. Rāma who could purify the universe, on hearing the story from the mouth of Viśvāmitra pleased his toe on the stone as a result of which she was instantaneously turned into a human figure of a beautiful woman.

सा राममाशिषं कृत्वा प्रययौ भर्तृमन्दिरम्।
शुभाशिषं ददौ तस्मै भार्यां संप्राप्य गौतमः।।९।।

Thereafter pronouncing a blessing on Rāma, she at once proceeded towards the abode of her husband. Gautama also on finding his wife back blessed Śrī Rāma immensely.

रामश्च मिथिलां गत्वा धनुर्भङ्गं शिवस्य च।
चकार पाणिग्रहणं सीतायाश्चैव नारद।।१०।।

O Nārada, thereafter Rāma on reaching Mithilā broke the bow of Śiva and got Sītā's hand in marriage.

कृत्वा विवाहं राजेन्द्रो भृगुदर्पं निहत्य च।
अयोध्यां प्रययौ रम्यां क्रीडाकौतुकमङ्गलैः।।११।।

O best of the king, Śrī Rāma after the marriage, shattered the pride of Paraśurāma and playfully performed the welfare sports and moved on to the city of Ayodhyā.

राजा पुत्रं नृपं कर्तुमियेष कृतसादरम्।
सप्ततीर्थोदकं तूर्णमानीय मुनिपुंगवान्।।१२।।

The king Daśaratha gracefully intended to enthrone Rāma as the king. The water from seven holy places was collected and all the sages were gracefully invited.

कृताधिवासं श्रीरामं सर्वं मङ्गलसंयुतम्।
दृष्ट्वा भरतमाता च कैकेयी शोकविह्वला।।१३।।
वरयामास राजानं पूर्वमङ्गीकृतं वरम्।
रामस्य वनवासं च राजत्वं भरतस्य च।।१४।।

With all the welfare ceremonies the Adhivāsa was performed but Kaikeyī, the mother of Bharata, felt extremely envious at the thought of the crowning of Rāma. She asked for the encashment of the two boons she had received from Daśaratha in earlier times. According to one boon Rāma was to be exciled and Bharata was to be crowned as the king.

वरं दातुं महाराजो नेयेष प्रेममोहितः।
धर्मसत्यभयेनैवोवाच रामो नृपं सुधीः।।१५।।

Filled with the love of Rāma the king was reluctant to grant the boons. But Rāma who was well-versed in the scriptures and the dharma insisted on the king to be truthful.

श्रीराम उवाच

तडागशतदानेन यत्पुण्यं लभते नरः।
ततोऽधिकं च लभते वापीदानेन निश्चितम्।।१६।।

Śrī Rāma said- The merit one achieves by building of a hundred lakes is comparable to the one like the donating of a step-well.

दशवापीप्रदानेन यत्पुण्यं लभते नरः।
ततोऽधिकं च लभते पुण्यं कन्याप्रदानतः।।१७।।

The merit one earns by donating ten step-wells the same merit is achieved by giving away a daughter in marriage.

दशकन्याप्रदानेन यत्पुण्यं लभते नरः।
ततोऽधिकं च लभते यज्ञैकेन नराधिप॥१८॥

O king, the merit one gets by giving away in marriage ten girls, he receives greater merits than that by performing a yajña.

शतयज्ञेन यत्पुण्यं लभते पुण्यकृज्जनः।
ततोऽधिकं च लभते पुत्रास्यदर्शनेन च॥१९॥

The merit one earns by performing a hundred yajñas he achieves a greater merit by looking at the face of his son.

दर्शने शतपुत्राणां यत्पुण्यं लभते नरः।
तत्पुण्यं लभते नूनं पुण्यवान्सत्यपालनात्॥२०॥

The merit one gets by looking at the face of a hundred sons, he gets merits greater than that by being truthful.

न हि सत्यात्परो धर्मो नानृतात्पातकं परम्।
न हि गङ्गासमं तीर्थं न देवः केशवात्परः॥२१॥

Because there is no other dharma greater than being truthful and there is no other sin greater than being untruthful. There is no sacred place comparable to the Gaṅgā and there is no other god greater than lord Kṛṣṇa.

नास्ति धर्मात्परो बन्धुर्नास्ति धर्मात्परं धनम्।
धर्मात्प्रियः परः को वा स्वधर्मं रक्ष यत्नतः॥२२॥

There is no other relative greater than the dharma and no other riches are greater than dharma. Nothing is dearer in the universe than dharma. Therefore making all efforts you protect your dharma.

स्वधर्मे रक्षिते तात शश्वत्सर्वत्र मङ्गलम्।
यशस्यं सुप्रतिष्ठा च प्रतापः पूजनं परम्॥२३॥

O father, by protecting one's own dharma one always achieves welfare, glory, good name, praise and honour.

चतुर्दशाब्दं धर्मेण त्यक्त्वा गृहसुखं भ्रमन्।
वनवासं करिष्यामि सत्यस्य पालनाय ते॥२४॥
कृत्वा सत्यं च शपथमिच्छयाऽनिच्छयाऽथवा।
न कुर्यात्पालनं यो हि भस्मान्तं तस्य सूतकम्॥२५॥
कुम्भीपाके स पचति यावच्चन्द्रदिवाकरौ।
ततो मूको भवेत्कुष्ठी मानवः सप्तजन्मसु॥२६॥

Therefore in order to protect the truthfulness of your words, I, performing the dharma, disown the household pleasures and move for roaming about in the forest for fourteen years. I shall conduct my self as a forest-dweller. The one who willingly or unwillingly, by taking an oath for truth fullness, does not follow it he invites impurities which are carried with him as long as the sun and the moon last. Thereafter, he is born as a dumb person suffering from leprosy for seven births.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा श्रीरामो विधाय कल्कलं जटाम्।
प्रययौ च महारण्ये सीतया लक्ष्मणेन च॥२७॥
पुत्रशोकान्महाराजस्तत्याज स्वतनुं मुने।
पालनाय पितुः सत्यं रामो बभ्राम कानन॥२८॥

Thus speaking Rāma, clad in the bark garment, wearing matted locks of hair, accompanied by Lakṣmaṇa he moved on to the forest. O sage, the king on the other hand, lost his life in the grief from the separation of his son, Rāma. Rāma, on the other hand, in order to uphold the truthfulness, started wandering in the forest.

कालान्तरे महारण्ये भगिनी रावणस्य च।
भ्रमन्ती कानने घोरे भर्त्रा सार्धं सुकौतुकात्॥२९॥
ददर्श रामं कुलटा कामार्ता राक्षसी तदा।
पुलकाञ्चितसर्वाङ्गी मूर्छामाप स्मरेण च॥३०॥

After sometime in the great forest, Śūrpaṇakhā, the sister of Rāvaṇa, was wandering in the forest with her husband. The wicked demoness finding Rāma there, was infatuated with passion and her body was overwhelmed with passion and she fainted.

श्रीरामनिकटं गत्वा सस्मितोवाच कामुकी।
शश्वद्यौवनसंयुक्ताऽतिप्रौढा कामदुर्मदा॥३१॥

Therefore Śūrpaṇakhā who was intoxicated, youthful and well-versed in the love-sport wearing a smile on her face, went to Śrī Rāma and said.

शूर्पणखोवाच

हे राम हे घनश्याम रूपधाम गुणान्वित।
मायानुरक्तां वनितां मां गृहाण सुनिर्जने॥३२॥

Śūrpaṇakhā said- O Rāma you have the dark complexion and possess all the virtues; you kindly accept me in this secluded place, since I am infatuated with your love.

श्रुत्वा शूर्पणखावाक्यं धर्मं संस्मृत्य धार्मिकः।
उवाच मधुरं वाक्यं शापभीतश्च नारद॥३३॥

O Nārada, the extremely religious Rāma getting terrified because of the curse and keeping in mind the dharma, spoke very sweet words.

श्रीराम उवाच

अम्ब मातः सभार्योऽहमभार्यं गच्छ मेऽनुजम्।
दुःखं प्रियोऽन्यां प्रभजेदितरं च सुखालयम्॥३४॥

Śrī Rāma said- O mother, I am here with my wife therefore you go to my younger brother who doesn't have a wife at the moment. If a husband gets attracted towards another woman in the presence of his wife it becomes quite painful; therefore you go to Lakṣmaṇa who happens to be the other person.

रामस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा प्रययौ लक्ष्मणं मुदा।
ददर्श लक्ष्मणं शान्तं कान्तं च लक्षणान्वितम्॥३५॥

Listening to the words of Rāma, she went to Lakṣmaṇa and glanced at him, who was quite peaceful, beautiful and having all the auspicious symbols.

मां भजस्व महाभागेत्युवाच च पुनः पुनः।
लक्ष्मणस्तद्वचः श्रुत्वा तामुवाच कुतूहलात्॥३६॥

She requested him again and again, saying "O virtuous one, you use me." Lakṣmaṇa on the other hand on listening to her words spoke to her.

लक्ष्मण उवाच

विहाय रामं सर्वेशं हे मूढे दासमिच्छसि।
सीतादासी च मत्पत्नी सीतादासोऽहमेव च॥३७॥
भव सीतासपत्नी त्वं गच्छ रामं मदीश्वरम्।
तव पुत्रो भविष्यामि सीतायाश्च यथा सति॥३८॥

Lakṣmaṇa said- "O foolish one, why do you want to live with a servant like me, leaving aside Rāma who is the lord of all. I am the slave of Sītā. My wife also is the slave of Sītā; therefore, you go to Rāma who is my lord and become a co-wife of Sītā. O chaste lady, the since I happen to be like the son of Sītā and I happen to be your son as well and shall remain like that.".

लक्ष्मणस्य वचः श्रुत्वा कामेन हतमानसा।
उवाच लक्ष्मणं मूढा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका॥३९॥

On hearing the words of Lakṣmaṇa the passionate Śūrpaṇakhā was hurt in her mind and her throat, lips and palate were dried up. The foolish demoness then told Lakṣmaṇa.

शूर्पणखोवाच

यदि त्यजसि मां मूढ कामात्स्वयमुपस्थिताम्।
युवयोश्च विपत्तिश्च भविष्यति न संशयः॥४०॥
ब्रह्मा च मोहिनीं त्यक्त्वा विश्वेऽपूज्यो बभूव सः।
रम्भाशापेन दक्षश्च छागमस्तो बभूव सः॥४१॥
स्ववैद्यश्चोर्वशीशापाद्यज्ञभागविवर्जितः।
रूपहीनः कुबेरश्च मेनाशापेन लक्ष्मण॥४२॥

Śūrpaṇakhā said- O foolish one, I have arrived here of my own will. In case you disown me in spite of that, you will have to face a great misery. These is no doubt about it. Brahmā became unadorable in the universe because of his neglecting Mohinī. Dakṣa had to carry the head of a goat on his body because of the curse of Rambhā. Because of the curse of Urvaśī, the Aśvinīkumāras were deprived of their share in the yajñas. O Lakṣmaṇa, because of the curse of Menā, Kubera became ugly.

कामो घृताचीशापेन बभूव भस्मसाच्छिवात्।
बलिर्मदालसाशापाद्भ्रष्टराज्यो बभूव ह॥४३॥

Because of the curse of Ghṛtācī, Kāmadeva was reduced to ashes by Śiva; because of the curse of Madālasā, Bali had to be dethroned.

शापेन मिश्रकेश्याश्च हतभार्यो बृहस्पतिः।
मम शापात्तथा रामो हतभार्यो भविष्यति॥४४॥

Because of the curse of Miśrakeśī, Tārā the wife of Bṛhaspati was kidnapped. Similarly with my curse, the wife of Rāma would be abducted.

कामातुरां यौवनस्थां भार्यां स्वयमुपस्थिताम्।
न त्यजेद्धर्मभीतश्च श्रुतं माध्यंदिने पुरा॥४५॥

Because in the earlier times in Mādhyandinī-śākhā of the Vedas, it has been heard that if a passionate and youthful wife herself comes to a person she should never be disappointed.

इह त्यक्त्वा विपद्ग्रस्तः परत्र नरकं व्रजेत्।
श्रुत्वा शूर्पणखावाक्यमर्धचन्द्रेण लक्ष्मणः॥४६॥
चिच्छेद नासिकां तस्याः क्षुरधारेण लीलया।
तस्या भ्राता च युयुधे बलवान्खरदूषणः॥४७॥
ससैन्यो लक्ष्मणास्त्रेण स जगाम यमालयम्।
चतुर्दशसहस्रं च राक्षसान्खरदूषणम्॥४८॥
मृतान्दृष्ट्वा शूर्पणखा भर्त्सयामास रावणम्।
सर्वं निवेदनं कृत्वा जगाम पुष्करं तदा॥४९॥
ब्रह्मणश्च वरं प्राप कृत्वा च दुष्करं तपः।
उवाच तादृशीं दृष्ट्वा निराहारां तपस्विनी॥५०॥
सर्वज्ञस्तन्मनो मत्वा कृपासिन्धुश्च नारद॥५१॥

By doing so one meets with misery in the present word and achieves hell in the other world. On hearing the words of Śūrpaṇakhā Lakṣ maṇa took out a dagger and with a sharp edged crescent arrow, he severed her nose. Thereafter her valorous brother Khara, Dūṣaṇa arrived there and fought with Rāma but were dispatched to the heavenly abode with the use of weapon by Lakṣ maṇa. Finding Khara, Dūṣaṇa having been killed, together with fourteen thousand demons, Śūrpaṇakhā went to Laṅkā and denounced Rāvaṇa and narrated the entire story to him. Thereafter, she retired to Puṣkara-kṣetra. By performing great tapas there she got a boon from Brahmā. O Nārada, finding that a female ascetic was performing tapas after fasting completely, Brahmā the ocean of mercy understood her desire and said.

ब्रह्मोवाच

अप्राप्य रामं दुष्प्रापं करोषि दुष्करं तपः।
जितेन्द्रियाणां प्रवरं लक्ष्मणं धर्मलक्षणम्॥५२॥
ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवादीनामीश्वरं प्रकृतेः परम्।
जन्मान्तरे च भर्तारं प्राप्स्यसि त्वं वरानने॥५३॥

Brahmā said- You are performing severe tapas to achieve Rāma who is self-disciplined or Lakṣ maṇa who is the incarnation of dharma as your husband. Both of them are beyond Brahmā, Viṣ ṇu and Śiva, Prakṛti and are inaccessible. Therefore, O beautiful one, you will get them as your husband in the next birth .

इत्येवमुक्त्वा ब्रह्मा च जगाम स्वालयं मुदा।
देहं तत्याज सा वह्नौ सा च कुब्जा बभूव ह॥५४॥

Thus speaking Brahmā delightfully went back to his abode. The demoness then entered the fire and ended her life. During the next birth, she was born as hunch back.

अथ शूर्पणखा वाक्यात्कोपात्कम्पितविग्रहः।
जहार मायया सीतां मायावी राक्षसेश्वरः॥५५॥

On the other hand listening to the words of Śūrpaṇakhā, the great demon Rāvaṇa was filled with illusion and was immensely enraged. He started trembling. He kidnapped Sītā deceitfully.

सीतां न दृष्ट्वा रामश्च मूर्च्छां प्राप चिरं मुने।
चेतनां कारयामास भ्राता चऽऽध्यात्मिकेन च॥५६॥

O sage, finding Sītā missing, Rāma fainted for a long time. His younger brother Lakṣmaṇa brought him back to his senses after making many efforts.

ततो बभ्राम गहनं शैलं च कंदरं नदम्।
अहर्निशं च शोकार्तो मुनीनामाश्रमं मुने॥५७॥
चिरमन्वेषणं कृत्वा न दृष्ट्वा जानकीं विभुः।
चकार मित्रतां रामः सुग्रीवेण स्वयं प्रभुः॥५८॥

O sage, thereafter both of them started searching for Sītā throughout day and night in thick forest, mountains caves, rivers and various other places like the abodes of the ascetics. Both of them were filled with grief but being unsuccessful in their efforts, they made friends with Sugrīva.

निहत्य वालिनं बाणैर्ददौ राज्यं च लीलया।
सुग्रीवाय च मित्राय स्वीकारपालनाय वै॥५९॥

In order to upkeep his word Śrī Rāma killed Bali with his arrow and enthroned Sugrīva as the king of Kiṣkindhā.

दूतान्प्रस्थापयामास सर्वत्र वानरेश्वरः।
तस्थौ सुग्रीवभवने श्रीरामश्च सलक्ष्मणः॥६०॥
हनूमते वरं दत्त्वा रम्यं रत्नाङ्गुलीयकम्।

तं च प्रस्थापयामास दक्षिणां दिशमुत्तमाम्।
सुप्रीत्याऽऽलिङ्गनं दत्त्वा पादरेणून्सुदुर्लभान्॥६२॥

Thereafter Sugrīva the king of the monkeys also fulfilled his word for the searching of Sītā and sent his messengers everywhere. Rāma and Lakṣmaṇa continued to stay with Sugrīva. Blessing Hanumān Rāma gave away his beautiful ring studded with gems to Hanumān and also gave him a message for Sītā by means of which she could maintain her life. Thereafter, he embraced Hanumān lovingly and giving her the inaccessible dust of his feet, sent him towards the southern direction.

हनुमान्प्रययौ लङ्का सीतान्वेशणहेतवे।
रामादधीतसंदेशो ययौ रुद्रकलोद्भव:॥६३॥

Hanumān who was born of the aṁśa of Rudra receiving the message from Rāma travelled to Laṅkā in search of Sītā.

अशोककानने सीतां ददर्श शोककर्शिताम्।
निराहाररामतिकृशां कुह्वां चन्द्रकलामिव॥६४॥
सततं राम रामेति जपन्तीं भक्तिपूर्वकम्।

महालक्ष्मीलक्ष्मयुक्तां प्रज्वलन्तीं स्वतेजसा।
पुण्यदां सर्वतीर्थानां दृष्ट्वा भुवनपावनीम्॥६७॥

On reaching Laṅkā he found Jānakī in Aśokavāṭikā who had become quite lean and thin because of grief, remaining without food and was quite lean like the moon rays on a moonless night. She was reciting the name of Rāma in her mind filled with devotion. She was carrying the locks of hair on her head and had the complexion of molten gold. She was always devoted to the name of Rāma throughout day and night. She had a spotless mind was quite noble, performing the best of vratas, quite chaste, possessing the symptoms of Mahālakṣmī. She was illumining with her own lustre and was the one who could provide all the merits of the holy places and could purify the entire universe.

प्रणम्य मातरं दृष्ट्वा रुदतीं वायुनन्दन:।

हनुमानुवाच

Bowing in reverence to the mother, Hanumān found her weeping. Then he handed over the finger ring of Rāma to her and holding her feet Hanumān started crying. Thereafter he conveyed the message of Rāma to her which could save Sītā's life. Hanumān said- Both Rāma and Lakṣmaṇa are getting ready beyond the ocean. The valorous monkeys have made friends with Rāma. Lord Rāma after killing Bali, has enthroned Sugrīva, his friend, as the king of the monkeys and has also restored his wife to him. Sugrīva has taken a vow to free you. All the monkeys have proceeded to all the directions in search of you.

प्राप्य मङ्गलवार्तां च मत्तो राजीवलोचन:।
गम्भीरं सागरं बद्ध्वा सोऽचिरेणाऽऽगमिष्यति॥७३॥
निहत्य रावणं पापं सपुत्रं च सबान्धवम्।
करिष्यत्यचिरेणैव हे मातस्तव मोक्षणम्॥७४॥

O mother, getting news from me about your presence here, the lotus eyed Rāma would bridge the deep ocean and arrive here. Killing the wicked Rāvaṇa with his friends or relatives would free you from the bondage.

अद्य रत्नमयीं लङ्कां नि:शङ्कस्त्वत्प्रसादत:।
भस्मीभूतां करिष्यामि मात: पश्य च सस्मितम्॥७५॥

By your grace, I am going to reduce the city of Laṅkā, made in gems, to ashes, you will find it delightful.

मर्कटीडिम्भतुल्यां च लङ्कां पश्यामि सुव्रते।
मूत्रतुल्यं समुद्रं च शरावमिव भूतलम्॥७६॥
पिपीलिकासंघमिव ससैन्यं रावणं तथा।
संहर्तुं च समर्थोऽहं मुहूर्तार्धेन लीलया॥७७॥

O performer of the noble vratas, I look at Laṅkā like the child of a monkey. Similarly I consider the ocean like urine, the entire earth like a cup, Rāvaṇa with his demon army like a heap of ants. In half a Muhūrta I shall destroy them all playfully.

रामप्रतिज्ञारक्षार्थं न हनिष्यामि सांप्रतम्।
स्वस्था भव महाभागे त्यज भीतिं मदीश्वरि॥७८॥

Because of the words of Rāma I shall not indulge into whole-sale killing at the moment. O virtuous one, O mistress, you be cheerful discarding all fear.

वानरस्य वचः श्रुत्वा रुरोदोच्चैर्मुहुर्मुहुः।
उवाच वचनं भीता सीता रामपतिव्रता॥७९॥

On hearing the words of the monkey, Jānakī started weeping again and again and feeling panicky, the chaste Sītā, the wife of Rāma, spoke to Hanumān.

सीतोवाच

अये जीवति मे रामो मच्छोकार्णवदारुणात्॥८०॥

Sītā said- In the ocean of my grief Rāma is still alive.

अपि मे कुशली नाथः कौसल्यानन्दनः प्रभुः।
कीदृशच कृशाङ्गश्च जानकीजीवनोऽधुना॥८१॥

Is my lord, the son of Kauśalyā, hail and hearty? How could Rāma be at the moment? He must have grown weak.

किमाहारश्च किं भुङ्क्ते मम प्राणाधिकः प्रियः।
अपि पारे समुद्रस्य सत्यं सीतापतिः स्वयम्॥८२॥

Rāma who is dearer to me than my life what type of food does he consume? Is it a fact that Rāma the husband of Sītā is residing beyond the ocean?.

अपि सत्यं स संनद्धो न शोकेन हतः प्रभुः।
अपि स्मरति मां पापां स्वामिनो दुःखरूपिणीम्॥८३॥

Is it a fact that my lord has firmly resolved to arrive here? Is my lord not infested with grief, does he remember a sinful person like me who has been the cause for his grief.

मदर्थे कति दुःखं वा संप्राप स मदीश्वरः।
हारो नाऽऽरोर्पितः कण्ठे पुरा व्यवहितो रतौ॥८४॥
अधुनैवाऽऽवयोर्मध्ये समुद्रः शतयोजनः।
अपि द्रक्ष्यामि तं रामं करुणासागरं प्रभुम्॥८५॥

My lord had to suffer immensely for my sake. In the earlier times, he, at the time of enjoying conjugal pleasures did not use the garland taking them to be obstructions between the two bodies but at the present moment the obstruction is in the form of a hundred yojanas wide ocean. Shall it be possible for me to have an audience with the ocean of mercy.

कान्तं शान्तं नितान्तं च धर्मिष्ठं धर्मकर्मणि।
अपि सेवां करिष्यामि पादपद्मे पुनः प्रभोः॥८६॥

Who is beautiful, peaceful, quite religious and the chaste lord? Shall it be possible for me to serve at the lotus-like feet of lord Rāma.

पतिसेवाविहीनाया मूढाया जीवनं वृथा।
अपि मे धर्मपुत्रश्च सत्यं जीवति लक्ष्मणः॥८७॥
मच्छोकसागरे मग्नो भग्नदर्पो मया विना।
वीराणां प्रवरो धर्मी देवकल्पश्च देवरः॥८८॥
अपि सत्यं ससंनद्धो मत्प्रभोरनुजः सदा।
अपि द्रक्ष्यामि सत्यं तं लक्ष्मणं धर्मलक्षणम्॥
प्राणानामधिकं प्रेम्णा धन्यं पुण्यस्वरूपिणम्॥८९॥

The life of a foolish woman who is deprived of the service of her husband, is of no consequence. Is my dharmaputra Lakṣmaṇa perfectly all right? My husband always remains drowned in the ocean of grief, whose pride is shattered at the moment. My Devara is the best of the warriors, quite chaste and god-like. Does the younger brother of my lord have a firm resolve? Can I have a look at Lakṣmaṇa who is dearer to me than my life, is quite graceful, the form of merit and the form of dharma.

इत्येवं वचनं श्रुत्वा दत्त्वा प्रत्युत्तरं शुभम्।
भस्मीभूतां च तां लङ्कां चकार लीलया मुने॥९०॥

O sage, on hearing the words of Jānakī, Hanumān spoke the words which were filled with welfare and assured her that he could reduce Laṅkā to ashes without much effort.

पुनः प्रबोधं तस्यै च दत्त्वा वायुसुतः कपिः।
प्रययौ लीलया वेगाद्यत्र राजीवलोचनः॥९१॥

Thereafter, Hanumān the son of wind-god, reassured Jānakī again and quite easily went back to the lord having lotus-like eyes.

सर्वं तत्कथयामास वृत्तान्तं मातुरेव च।
सीतामङ्गलवृत्तान्तं श्रुत्वा रामो रुरोद च॥९२॥

On reaching there he conveyed the entire news about Jānakī to him. On listening to the news of welfare about Sītā, Rāma became emotional.

रुरोदोच्चैर्लक्ष्मणश्च सुग्रीवश्चापि नारद।
वानरा रुरुदुः सर्वे महाबलपराक्रमाः॥९३॥

O Nārada, at that point of time, Lakṣmaṇa and Sugrīva also became emotional and started crying. Thereafter all the valorous monkeys also followed them.

निबध्य सेतुं लङ्कां च प्रययौ रघुनन्दनः।
ससैन्यः सानुजः शीघ्रं संनद्धश्चापि नारद॥९४॥

O Nārada, Rāma, then got ready with the army and his younger brother. They constructed a bridge on the ocean and then left for Laṅkā.

निहत्य रावणं रामो रणं कृत्वा सबान्धवम्।
चकार मोक्षणं ब्रह्मन् सीतायाश्च शुभे क्षणे॥९५॥
कृत्वा पुष्पकयानेन सीतां सत्यपरायणाम्।
अयोध्यां प्रययौ शीघ्रं क्रीडाकौतुकमङ्गलैः॥९६॥
क्रीडां चकार भगवान् सीतां कृत्वा च वक्षसि।
विजहौ विरहज्वालां सीता रामश्च तत्क्षणम्॥९७॥
सप्तद्वीपेश्वरो रामो बभूव पृथिवीतले।
बभूव निखिला पृथ्वी आधिव्याधिविवर्जिता॥९८॥

O Brahman, Rāma, after waging a war killed Rāvaṇa with all his relatives and relieved Jānakī of all the dangers and freed her. Thereafter, the truthful Rāma was made to board on the Pus paka-plane. Rāma reached Ayodhyā playfully. Rāma embraced Sītā there and enjoyed love-sport with her as a result of which the pain of separation between both of them disappeared. Śrī Rāma became the lord of the seven continents of the earth and the entire earth was freed from mental agonies and diseases.

बभूवतू रामपुत्रौ धार्मिकौ च कुशीलवौ।
तयोश्च पुत्रैः पौत्रैश्च सूर्यवंशोद्भवा नृपाः॥९९॥

Lord Rāma had two sons named Lava and Kuśa. The solar race was further spread with their sons and grandsons.

इति ते कथितं वत्स श्रीरामचरितं शुभम्।
सुखदं मोक्षदं सारं पारपोतं भवार्णवे॥१००॥

O son, thus I have spoken to you about the life story of Śrī Rāma which is quite pleasant, the form of tattvas, bestows salvation and serves as a boat for the crossing of the ocean of the universe.

The bad dream of Kaṁsa

नारायण उवाच

अथ कंसो विचिन्त्यैवं दृष्ट्वा दु:स्वप्नमेव च।
समुद्विग्नो महाभीतो निराहारो निरुत्सुक:।।१।।
पुत्रं मित्रं बन्धुगणं बान्धवं च पुरोहितम्।
समानीय सभामध्ये तानुवाच सुदु:खित:।।२।।

Nārāyaṇa said- Thereafter Kaṁsa thinking of a bad dream, felt immensely agitated and frightened and leaving eating food, was filled with grief. He summoned his sons, friends, brothers, relatives and the family priest in his court and started narrating his bad dream to them.

कंस उवाच

मया दृष्टो निशीथे यो दु:स्वप्नो हि भयप्रद:।
निबोधत बुधा: सर्वे बान्धवाश्च पुरोहिता:।।३।।

Kaṁsa said- I witnessed an extremely bad dream at the dead of night. All the intellectuals, relatives and family priests but listen to me.

बिभ्रती रक्तपुष्पाणां मालां सा रक्तचन्दनम्।
रक्ताम्बरं खड्गतीक्ष्णं खर्परं च भयंकरम्।।४।।
प्रकृत्याट्टाट्टहासं च लोलजिह्वा भयंकरी।
अतीव वृद्धा कृष्णाङ्गी नगरे मम नृत्यति।।५।।

I found in my dream that in my city an old woman with black body was dancing. She was adorned with a garland of red flowers with the red sandal-paste applied on her body. She was clad in red garments and was laughing aloud. She held a sharp sword in her hand and a terrific skull-cup; her moving tongue was protruding and looked quite horrible .

मुक्तकेशी छिन्ननासा कृष्णा कृष्णाम्बरप्रिया।
विधवा सा महाशूद्री मामालिङ्गितुमिच्छति॥६॥

Similarly there was another black woman who was clad in black garments who appeared like a Mahāśūdra woman. Her dried hair was dishevelled and the nose was cut off. She wanted to embrace me.

मलिनं चैलखण्डं च बिभ्रती रूक्षमूर्धजान्।
दधती चूर्णतिलकं कपोले मम वक्षसि॥७॥
कृष्णवर्णानि पक्वानि च्छिन्नभिन्नानि सत्यक।
पतन्ति कृत्वा शब्दांश्च शश्वत्तालफलानि च॥८॥

She was clad in dirty garments had dried up hair and applied tilakam of the ashes. O Satyaka, I found that the ripe fruits of tāla, having black colours were falling on my cheeks, one after the other continuously creating a sound.

कुचैलो विकृताकारो म्लेच्छो हि रूक्षमूर्धजः।
ददाति मह्यं भूषायां छिन्नभिन्नकपर्दकान्॥९॥
महारुष्टा च दिव्या स्त्री पतिपुत्रवती सती।
बभञ्ज पूर्णकुम्भं च साऽभिशप्य पुनः पुनः॥१०॥

A deformed mleccha woman adorned with dirty garments, having dry hair was offering broken small-shells for the making of ornaments. A chaste lady having her son alive, in great anger pronounced a curse again and again on me and broke a pitcher filled with water.

अम्लानामोड्रूमालां च रक्तचन्दनचर्चिताम्।
ददाति मह्यं विप्रश्च महारुष्टोऽतिशप्य च॥११॥

I also saw that a Brāhmaṇa filled with anger was pronouncing a curse on me, was offering me his undecayed garland which was soaked in the red sandal-paste.

क्षणमङ्गारवृष्टिश्च भस्मवृष्टिः क्षणं क्षणम्।
क्षणं क्षणं रक्तवृष्टिर्भवेच्च नगरे मम॥१२॥

I also found that in every bit of my kingdom there was a rain of burning flames, ashes and blood.

वानरं वायसं श्वानं भल्लूकं सूकरं खरम्।
पश्यामि विकटाकारं शब्दं कुर्वन्तमुल्बणम्॥१३॥

I found that a monkey of terrific size, the crows, the dogs, the bears, the pigs and the donkeys were creating a terrific noise.

पश्यामि शुष्ककाष्ठानां राशिमम्लानकज्जलम्।
अरुणोदयवेलायां कपींश्छिन्ननखानि च॥१४॥

The dry-wood had been collected the blackness of which could not be removed.

पीतवस्त्रपरिधाना शुक्लचन्दनचर्चिता।
बिभ्रती मालतीमालां रत्नभूषणभूषिता॥१५॥
क्रीडाकमलहस्ता सा सिन्दूरबिन्दुशोभिता।
कृत्वाऽभिशापं मां रुष्टा याति मन्मन्दिरात्सती॥१६॥

At the time of the sun-rise, I found the monkeys and the nails. A chaste woman came out of my palace. She was clad in pītāmbara and had applied the white sandal-paste and other cosmetics, adorned with garland of jasmine flowers and gem-studded ornaments. She was holding a lotus flower playfully and her forehead was painted with the spots of vermilion. The chaste lady getting annoyed with me pronounced a curse on me and left my palace .

पाशहस्तांश्च पुरुषान्मुक्तकेशान्भयंकरान्।
अतिरूक्षांश्च पश्यामि विशतो नगरं मम॥१७॥

I found some people with dishevelled hair entering in my kingdom holding nooses in their hands. They looked quite terrific and dry.

नग्ननारी मुक्तकेशी नृत्यन्ती च गृहे गृहे।
अतीव विकृताकारां पश्यामि सस्मितां सदा॥१८॥
छिन्ननासा च विधवा महाशूद्री दिगम्बरा।
सा तैलाभ्यङ्गितं मां च करोत्यतिभयंकरी॥१९॥

I found unrobed women dancing in each and every house having dishevelled hair and terrific form. Then there was an unrobed widow, who belonged to the Śūdra caste and whose nose was cut-off, looked quite terrific and was applying oil on my body.

निर्वाणाङ्गारयुक्ताश्च भस्मपूर्णा दिगम्बरा।
अतिप्रभातसमये चित्राः पश्यामि सस्मिताः॥२०॥

I found all these astonishing types of women in the early morning who were carrying fire flames. They had no clothes on their bodies and had applied ashes on their entire bodies. They were smiling.

पश्यामि च विवाहं च नृत्यगीतमनोहरम्।
रक्तवस्त्रपरीधानान्पुरुषान्रक्तमूर्धजान्।।२१।।

In the dream I witnessed a marriage function which looked quite pleasant but I witnessed some people who were clad in red clothes, having red hair on the body.

रक्तं वमन्तं पुरुषं नृत्यन्तं नग्नमुल्बणम्।
धावन्तं च शायानं च पश्यामि सस्मितं सदा।।२२।।

I found a naked person who looked quite frightening, who vomited blood sometimes and danced sometimes. Sometimes he was found running and sometimes he slept while at the other times he smiled.

राहुग्रस्तं च गगने मण्डलं चन्द्रसूर्ययोः।
एककाले च पश्यामि सर्वग्रासं च बान्धवाः।।२३।।
उल्कापातं धूमकेतुं भूकम्पं राष्ट्रविप्लवम्।
झञ्झावातं महोत्पातं पश्यामि च पुरोहित।।२४।।

O brother, I found that both sun and the moon had risen in the sky at one and the same time. O family priest, in my dream I witnessed the falling of a comet, earth-quakes, national calamities, great storms and terrific disturbances.

वायुना घूर्णमानाश्च च्छिन्नस्कन्धान्महीरुहान्।।
पतितान्पर्वतांश्चैव पश्यामि पृथिवीतले।।२५।।

The trees were shaking, because of the force of the wind their branches were being broken and the mountain peaks were found falling on the earth.

पुरुषं छिन्नशिरसं नृत्यन्तं नग्नमुच्छ्रितम्।
मुण्डमालाकरं घोरं पश्यामि च गृहे गृहे।।२६।।

In every house a tall and naked male figure was found dancing, having no head. That terrific person held a garland of human skulls in his hands.

दग्धं सर्वाश्रमं भस्मपूर्णमङ्गारसंकुलम्।
हाहाकारं च कुर्वन्तं सर्वं पश्यामि सर्वतः।।२७।।

All the houses were filled with dust after having been burnt to ashes and all the people were crying in panic all round.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा राजा स विरराम सभातले।
दृष्ट्वा (श्रुत्वा) स्वप्नं बान्धवाश्च न तमुक्त्वानिशश्वसुः।।

O Nārada, after thus speaking the king Kaṁsa kept quiet. Listening to that dream all the brothers and relatives of the king started heaving deep sighs.

जहार चेतनां सद्यः सत्यकश्च पुरोहितः।
मत्वा विनाशं कंसस्य यजमानस्य नारद।।२९।।
रुरोद नारीवर्गश्च पिता माता च शोकतः।
मेने विनाशकालं च सद्यः स्वयमुपस्थितम्।।३०।।

The family priest Satyaka realising the total destruction of Kaṁsa approaching fainted, all the wives and parents of Kaṁsa started crying in grief; they came to realise that the time of destruction was fast approaching .

Yajña of Kaṁsa

नारायण उवाच

सर्वं कृत्वा परामर्शं सत्यकश्च पुरोहित:।
बुद्धिमाञ्छुक्रशिष्यश्च तमुवाच हितं मुने।।१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, Satyaka the family priest of Kaṁsa, who was quite intelligent and a pupil of Śukrācārya took into consideration all that had been spoken by the king. He then spoke to him beneficial words.

सत्यक उवाच

भयं त्यज महाभाग भयं किं ते मयि स्थिते।
कुरु यागं महेशस्य सर्वारिष्टविनाशनम्।।२।।

Satyaka said- O virtuous one, be fearless, why should you be afraid when I am there. You perform the yajña of Śiva which removes all the obstructions.

यागो धनुर्मखो नाम बह्वन्नो बहुदक्षिणः।
दुःस्वप्नानां नाशकरः शत्रुभीतिविनाशकः॥३॥

The yajña is called after Dhanurmakha and after its performance, one has to give away as dakṣiṇā food and riches, which removes the bad dreams and destroys all dangers from the enemy.

आध्यात्मिकमाधिदैवमाधिभौतिकमुत्कटम्।
एषां त्रिविधोत्पातानां खण्डनो भूतिवर्धनः॥४॥

While performing this yajña one is relieved of the dangers like Ādhyātmika, Ādhidaivika and Ādhibhautika disturbances besides removing all obstructions. It also bestows on one enough of fortune.

यागे समाप्ते शंभुश्च जरामृत्युहरं वरम्।
ददाति साक्षाद्भवति दाता च सर्वसंपदाम्॥५॥

At the end of the yajña lord Śiva himself appears in person and removing old age and death, bestows the desired boon. Thereafter the performer of the yajña is filled with all the riches.

चकारेमं च यागं च पुरा बाणो महाबलः।
नन्दी परशुरामश्च भल्लश्च बलिनां वरः॥६॥

In earlier times the valorous Bāṇāsura, Nandī, Paraśurāma and Bhalla the best of the warriors had performed this yajña.

पुरा ददौ धनुरिदं शिवो नन्दीश्वराय च।
यागेन भूत्वा सिद्धः स ददौ बाणाय धार्मिकः॥७॥
कृत्वा यागं महासिद्धौ ददौ रामाय पुष्करे।
तुभ्यं ददौ परशुरामः कृपया च कृपानिधिः॥८॥

In earlier times Śiva had given this bow to Nandīśvara who met with success in the yajña. The religious-minded Nandīśvara handed over the bow to Bāṇāsura. By achieving success through the yajña Bāṇā handed over the bow at Puṣkara region to Paraśurāma and the compassionate Paraśurāma had given the same to you.

सहस्रहस्तपरिमितं दैर्घ्येऽतिकठिनं नृप।
दशहस्तप्रशस्तं च शंकरेच्छाविनिर्मितम्॥९॥

O king, the bow is a thousand hands in length, it is quite hard and ten hands in width. It moves according to the will of Śiva.

पशुपतेः पाशुपतं युक्तयानेन दुर्वहम्।
सर्वे भङ्क्तुं न शक्ताश्च देवं नारायणं विना॥१०॥

This Pāśupata weapon of Śiva is difficult to be moved. No one else can break it except Nārāyaṇa himself.

यागे च धनुषः पूजां शंकरस्य तु शंकरे।
कुरु शीघ्रं शुभार्थं च सर्वान्कुरु निमन्त्रणम्॥११॥

You adore this bow in the welfare yajña of Śiva and extend invitation to all.

अस्मिन्यागे धनुर्भङ्गो भवेद्यदि नराधिप।
विनाशो यजमानस्य भविष्यति न संशयः॥१२॥

O king in case the bow is broken in the yajña the performer of the yajña has to meet with his end. There is no doubt about it.

भग्ने धनुषि यागश्च भग्नो भवति निश्चितम्।
फलं ददाति को वाऽत्र चानिष्पन्ने च कर्मणि॥१३॥

And with the breaking of the bow the yajña is surely desecrated. When the yajña is not completed then the question of reaping its reward would not arise.

ब्रह्मा च धनुषो मूले मध्ये नारायणः स्वयम्।
अग्रे चोग्रप्रतापश्च महादेवो महामते॥१४॥
धनुर्हि त्रिविकारं च सद्रत्नखचितं वरम्।
ग्रीष्ममध्याह्नमार्तण्डप्रभाप्रच्छन्नकारणम्॥१५॥

O intelligent one, Brahmā resides at the base of the bow, Nārāyaṇa in the middle and lord Śiva resides in the ground. First of all it is inlaid with gems and issues lustre like the sun or the mid-day sun of the summer season.

अशक्तश्च नमयितुमनन्तश्च महाबलः।
सूर्यश्च कार्तिकेयश्च का कथाऽन्यस्य भूमिप॥१६॥
त्रिपुरारिः पुराऽनेन जघान त्रिपुरं मुदा।
निर्भयं कुरु स्वच्छन्दं मङ्गलार्हं महोत्सवम्॥१७॥

O king, the valorous Ananta, Sūrya and Kārttikeya cannot handle it, then what to speak of others? In the earlier times Śiva had killed Tripurāsura with this bow. Therefore, you arrange for the success of this yajña fearlessly.

सत्यकस्य वचः श्रुत्वा चन्द्रवंशविवर्धनः।
उवाच कंसः सर्वार्थे सततं च हितैषिणम्॥१८॥

On hearing the words of Satyaka, Kaṁsa, the king of the solar race, spoke to the family priest who was his great well-wisher.

कंस उवाच

बसुदेवगृहे जज्ञे मद्वधी कुलनाशनः।
स्वच्छन्दं नन्दगृहे च वर्धते नन्दनन्दनः॥१९॥

Kaṁsa said- My killer and the destroyer of my race, Kṛṣṇa, has been born in the house of Vasudeva and is presently living in the house of Nanda.

मद्बन्धुवर्गाञ्छूरांश्च मन्त्रिणः सुविशारदान्।
भगिनीं पूतनां पूतां जघान बालको बली॥२०॥

That valorous boy has killed my valorous relatives and quite competent courtiers besides sister Pūtanā.

गोवर्धनं दधारैककरेण बलवर्धनः।
महेन्द्रस्य च शूरस्य चकार च पराभवम्॥२१॥

He is competent enough to increase his strength at will and could raise up the mountain Govarddhana on a single hand and also defeated the immensely powerful Mahendra.

ब्रह्माणं दर्शामास ब्रह्मरूपं चराचरम्।
निवहं बालवत्सानां चकार कृत्रिमं मुदा॥२२॥

He also displayed his divine form to Brahma and also created illusory cowherds and cowherdesses besides the calves.

तमेव बलिनं हन्तुं मन्त्रणां कुरु सत्यक।
मम शत्रुर्विना तेन नास्तीह धरणीतले॥२३॥

Therefore, O Satyaka, you somehow manage the killing of the same valorous boy because in the entire universe, except that boy there is no one else who could be inimical to me.

नहि स्वर्गे न पाताले त्रिषु लोकेषु निश्चितम्।
सन्ति सन्तश्च राजानः सर्वत्र मम बान्धवाः॥२४॥
महातपस्वी ब्रह्मा च तपस्वी शंकरः स्वयम्।
विष्णुः सर्वत्र सर्वात्मा समदर्शी सनातनः॥२५॥
नन्दपुत्रं निहत्याहं त्रिषु लोकेषु पूजितः।
सार्वभौमो भविष्यामि सप्तद्वीपेश्वरो महान्॥२६॥

In heaven, Pātāla and earth there is no other enemy for me. This is certain. All the best of the kings everywhere in the world are friendly to me. Brahmā is an ascetic and similar is the case with Śiva while Viṣṇu is all-pervading and eternal, therefore, simply with the killing of Kṛṣṇa the son of Nanda, I would be adored the world over. I shall then become the lord of the seven continents and a great king.

स्वर्गे निहत्य शक्रं च दुर्बलं दैत्यनिर्जितम्।
भविष्यामि महेन्द्रश्च तत्र निर्जित्य भास्करम्॥२७॥

By defeating the daityas and the gods in the heaven, I shall kill the weak Indra and defeating the sun I shall achieve the place of Mahendra.

यक्ष्मग्रस्तं च चन्द्रं च ममैव पूर्वपुरुषम्।
वायुं कुबेरं वरुणं यमं जेष्यामि निश्चितम्॥२८॥

My ancestors who are suffering from consumption besides the wind, Kubera, Varuṇa and Yama would surely be defeated by me.

गच्छ नन्दव्रजं शीघ्रं नन्दं च नन्दनन्दनम्।
तद्भ्रातरं च बलिनं बलमानय सांप्रतम्॥२९॥

Therefore you go to the city of Vraja ruled by Nanda. Go to the Nanda and bring Kṛṣṇa here as well as his brother Baladeva expeditiously.

कंसस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा तमुवाच स सत्यकः।
हितं सत्यं नीतिसारं परं सामयिकं तथा॥३०॥

On hearing the words of Kaṁsa, Satyaka spoke beneficial words which were quite appropriate and could bestow prosperity.

सत्यक उवाच

अक्रूरमुद्धवं वाऽपि वसुदेवमथापि वा।
प्रस्थापय महाभाग नन्दव्रजमभीप्सितम्॥३१॥

Satyaka said- O virtuous one, in Vraja of Nanda, you kindly depute Akrūra, Uddhava and Vasudeva.

सत्यकस्य वचः श्रुत्वा वसन्तं तत्र संसदि।
स्वर्णसिंहासनस्थं च वसुदेवमुवाच सः॥३२॥

On hearing the words of Satyaka, Kaṁsa spoke to Vasudeva who was seated on a lion-throne in the court.

कंस उवाच

तत्त्वज्ञो नीतिशास्त्राणां त्वमुपायविशारदः।
व्रज नन्दव्रजं बन्धो वसुदेव सुतालयम्॥३३॥

वृषभानं च नन्दं च बलं च नन्दनन्दनम्।
शीघ्रमानय यज्ञेऽत्र सर्वं गोकुलवासिनम्॥३४॥

Kaṁsa said- O brother Vasudeva, you are well-versed in polity and are quite competent in the making of devices. Therefore, you go to the place of your son in Vraja of Nanda, informing them about the festivities of yajña. You bring with you Vṛṣabhānu, Nanda, Balabhadra, Kṛṣṇa and all the residents of Gokula here.

गृहीत्वा पत्रिकां दूता गच्छन्तु च चतुर्दिशम्।
नृपान्मुनिगणान्सर्वान्कर्तुं विज्ञापनं मुदा॥३५॥

The messengers carrying the messages of the king moved to other kings and the sages on all directions.

नृपस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुकः।
उवाच वचनं ब्रह्मन् हृदयेन विदूषता॥३६॥

O Brahman, on hearing the words of the king the throat, lips and palate of Vasudeva were dried up and he spoke with a painful heart.

वसुदेव उवाच

नियुक्तमत्र राजेन्द्र गमनं मम सांप्रतम्।
विज्ञापितुं नन्दव्रजं नन्दं वा नन्दनन्दनम्॥३७॥
यद्यायातो नन्दपुत्रो यागे ते च महोत्सवे।
अवश्यं तद्विरोधश्च भविष्यति त्वया सह॥३८॥

Vasudeva said- O king, you have entrusted the duty of my going to Vraja and to invite Nanda and his son, but in case the son of Nanda arrives here at the time of the festivities, your yajña here is bound to face some controversies.

तमहं च समानीय कारयिष्यामि संयुतम्।

पित्राऽऽनीतो मृतः कृष्ण इति सर्वो वदिष्यति।
वसुदेवः सुतद्वारा जघान नृपमेव च॥४०॥

Then should I bring him for waging a war? It will not be proper for me and it would be a sort of obstruction there. The people would say that Kṛṣṇa was killed when he was brought here by his father himself or otherwise Vasudeva got the king killed through his son.

द्वयोरेकतरस्यापि सद्यो मृत्युर्भविष्यति।
पतिष्यन्ति च शूराश्च नास्ति युद्धं निरामिषम्॥४१॥

Either one of you would be surely killed at the spot and no one knows the number of warriors which would be killed further because the war can never be peaceful.

वसुदेववचः श्रुत्वा रक्तपङ्कजलोचनः।
खड्गं गृहीत्वा तं हन्तुं प्रययौ नृपतीश्वरः॥४२॥

On hearing the words of Vasudeva, the eyes of the great king Kaṁsa became red with anger. He holding a sword in his hand rushed to kill Vasudeva.

हाहेति कृत्वा पुत्रं च वारयामास तत्क्षणम्।
उग्रसेनो महाराजमतीव बलवान्मुने॥४३॥
स्वपीठाद्वसुदेवश्च कोपाविष्टो गृहं ययौ।

At this slight, Ugrasena cried in panic and dissuaded Kaṁsa from doing so. Vasudeva also left for his abode in anger. Thereafter the king Kaṁsa deputed Akrūra to Vraja for getting the son of Nanda to Mathurā.

Festivities of Akrūra

नारायण उवाच

कंसस्य वचनं श्रुत्वा सोऽक्रूरो धर्मिणां वरः।
उवाच चोद्धवं शान्तं शान्तः प्रहृष्टमानसः॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said- On hearing the words of Kaṁsa, Akrūra who was the best of the religious people, quite peaceful and who always remained happy in his heart, calmly said to Uddhava.

अक्रूर उवाच

सुप्रभाताऽद्य रजनी बभूव मे शुभं दिनम्।
तुष्टाश्च गुरवो विप्रा देवा मामिति निश्चितम्॥२॥
कोटिजन्मार्जितं पुण्यं मम स्वयमुपस्थितम्।
बभूव मे समुत्पन्नं यद्यत्कर्म शुभाशुभम्॥३॥
चिच्छेद बन्धनिगडं मम बद्धस्य कर्मणा।
कारागाराश्च संसारान्मुक्तो यामि हरेःपदम्॥४॥

Akrūra said- "Today, our night has been turned into a dawn. The day is quite auspicious. The teacher, the Brāhmaṇas and the gods are indeed happy with me, the merit I had earned during the crores of last births has appeared before me. Akrūra who was held in bondage because of his actions, the same have been destroyed today. Getting relieved of the prison of the universe, I am proceeding to the abode of Hari.

सुहृदर्थी कृतोऽहं च कंसेन विदुषा रुषा।
वरेण तुल्यो देवस्य क्रोधो मम बभूव ह॥५॥

The intelligent Kaṁsa has made me to seek for a friend. Therefore, the anger of the king has turned into a boon for me.

व्रजराजं समाहर्तुं व्रजं यास्यामि सांप्रतम्।
द्रक्ष्यामि परमं पूज्यं भुक्तिमुक्तिप्रदायिनम्॥६॥

I shall immediately move to Vraja in order to bring Śrī Kṛṣṇa here. Kṛṣṇa who happens to be the bestower of enjoyment of pleasures and mokṣ a will meet me there.

He has a complexion of new clouds, the eyes like blue lotus flowers he is clad in pītāmbara on his entire body, would be covered with dust or applied with the sandal-paste. He would otherwise have the butter rubbed on his limbs and would be smiling; I shall look at him in this form.

Otherwise either seated or walking, either sleeping or awake, I would be in a position to look at the lord. After looking at him in the auspicious moment I shall achieve great pleasure.

यत्पादपद्मं ध्यायन्ते ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवादय:।
न हि जानाति यस्यान्तमनन्तोऽनन्तविग्रह:।।११।।

Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and all the gods meditate upon his lotus-like feet and the serpent Ananta having the vast body is unable to know about his end.

यत्प्रभावं न जानन्ति देवा: सन्तश्च संततम्।
यस्य स्तोत्रे जडीभूता भीता देवी सरस्वती।।१२।।

The influence of whom is unknown to the gods and the ascetics, the one whose glory is beyond the recitation of Sarasvatī and while doing so she becomes dumb.

For serving whom Mahālakṣmī is deputed like a slave girl and the auspicious Gaṅgā emerged out of his feet which removes birth, death, old age and ailment, is the best in the three worlds and destroys the sins of others to just have a glance at her.

त्रैलोक्यजननी देवी मुलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।।१५।।

At whose lotus-like feet Durgā meditated who happens to be the destroyer of all the misfortunes, is the mother of the three lokas, is the great goddess besides being Mūla-prakṛti.

वदन्ति योगिन: शश्वद्ध्यायन्तेऽहर्निशं शिशुम्।।२०।।

Lord Viṣṇu in whose hair-pits, innumerable globes are enshrined and who happens to be harder than the hardest and who happens to be the sixteenth Goloka of lord Kṛṣṇa. O brother, I am going to have a look at him; he has an illusory form, is the inner soul of all, all knowledgeable beyond Prakṛti, the form of eternal light, who takes to a definite form in order to grace his devotees, is beyond qualities, unattached, devoid of bliss, devoid of shelter, the great lord, all blissful, bestower of bliss, the one who delights Nanda, who moves at will, is beyond everyone, the cause of all and is believed to be eternal. All the ascetics meditate upon his child-like form throughout the day and night .

मन्वन्तरसहस्त्रं च निराहार: कृशोदर:।
पद्मे पाद्मस्तपस्तेपे पुरा पाद्मं तु यत्कृते।।२१।।
पुन: कुरु तपस्यां च तदा द्रक्ष्यसि मामिति।
सकृच्छब्दं च शुश्राव न ददर्श तथाऽपि तम्।।२२।।

In the initial Pādmakalpa, Brahmā who emerged from the lotus, performed tapas seated on a lotus for a thousand manvantaras in which because of his remaining without food, his belly shrank. He then heard the words, "Perform the tapas again and you will find me". But in spite of performing such a long tapas he was unable to have an audience with the lord.

तावत्कालं पुनस्तप्त्वा वरं प्राप ददर्श तम्।
ईदृशं परमेशं च द्रक्ष्याम्यद्य तमुद्धव॥२३॥

O Uddhava, in the meantime he performed tapas again and then he had an audience with the lord who also bestowed on him a boon. I would be able to have an audience with such a great lord.

पुरा शंभुस्तपस्तेपे यावद्वै ब्रह्मणो वयः।
ज्योतिर्मण्डलमध्ये च गोलोके तं ददर्श सः॥२४॥

In the earlier times Śiva had performed tapas up to the length of the sage of Brahmā and then he could look at the lord in the Jyotirmaṇḍala in Goloka.

सर्वतत्त्वं सर्वसिद्धं ममतत्त्वं परं वरम्।
संप्राप तत्पदाम्भोजे भक्तिं च निर्मलां पराम्॥२५॥
चकाराऽऽत्मसमं तं च यो भक्तो (क्तं) भक्तवत्सलः।
ईदृशं परमेशं च द्रक्ष्याम्यद्य तमुद्धव॥२६॥

He then achieved the best of his devotion besides the knowledge of all the tattvas, all the success and the best of the tattvas. The lord who is graceful to his devotees, made Śiva like him. O Uddhava, I shall have an opportunity to meet with such a lord today.

सहस्रशक्रपातान्तं निराहारः कृशोदरः।
यस्यानन्तस्तपस्तेपे भक्त्या च परमात्मनः॥२७॥
तदा चाऽऽत्मसमं ज्ञानं ददौ तस्मै य ईश्वरः।
ईदृशं परमेशं च द्रक्ष्याम्यद्य तमुद्धव॥२८॥

O Uddhava, Ananta had adored the lord for the life of a thousand Indras with devotion, remaining without food and only after that he could achieve the lord who bestowed all the knowledge on him. I am going to meet such a great lord today.

सहस्रशक्रपातान्तं धर्मस्तेपे च यत्तपः।
तदा बभूव साक्षी स धर्मिणां सर्वकर्मिणाम्॥२९॥
शास्ता च फलदाता च यत्प्रसादान्नृणामिह।

अष्टाविंशतिरिन्द्राणां पतने यद्दिवानिशम्।
एवं क्रमेण मासाब्दैः शताब्दं ब्रह्मणो वयः॥३१॥
अहो यस्य निमेषेण ब्रह्मणः पतनं भवेत्।
ईदृशं परमात्मानं द्रक्ष्याम्यद्य तमुद्धव॥३२॥

Dharma also meditated upon him up to the life of a thousand Indras and as a result of the same he became the witness of the deeds of all and by the grace of the same he became the ruler on the humans and the bestower of the reward for their deeds. O Uddhava, I shall have a chance of meeting with such a great lord today, whose one day and night is counted after the destruction of twenty-eight Indras. In this order with the passage of months and years, Brahmā lives for a hundred years and after the spending of the age of Brahmā, whose one second is counted. I am going to meet with such a great lord .

नास्ति भूरजसा संख्या यथैव ब्रह्मणां तथा।
तथैव बन्धो विश्वानां तदाधारो महाविराट्॥३३॥
विश्वे विश्वे च प्रत्येकं ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवादयः।

यत्षोडशांशः स विराट् सृष्टो नष्टश्च लीलया।
ईदृशं सर्वशास्तारं द्रक्ष्याम्यद्य तमुद्धव॥३५॥

O brother, as the particles of dust on earth are beyond counting, similarly the number of Brahmāṇḍas also is beyond counting the base of which happens to be Mahāvirāṭ. In every globe there are separate Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and other gods besides the sages, the ascetics, siddhas, human beings and other movable and immovable creatures. The one whose sixteenth Goloka is Virāṭ, who is playfully born and is destroyed such a great lord who is a ruler will be met my me today.

इत्येवमुक्त्वाऽक्रूरश्च पुलकाञ्चितविग्रहः।
मूर्च्छां प्राप साश्रुनेत्रो दध्यौ तच्चरणाम्बुजम्॥३६॥

Thus speaking Akrūra felt overwhelmed and his eyes started shedding tears of joy. He fainted at that time. He then started adoring the lotus-like feet of the lord.

बभूव भक्तिपूर्णश्च स्मारं स्मारं पदाम्बुजम्।
कृत्वा प्रदक्षिणं वाऽपि कृष्णस्य परमात्मनः॥३७॥

उद्धवश्च तमाश्लिष्य प्रशशंस पुनः पुनः।
स च शीघ्रं ययौ गेहमक्रूरोऽपि स्वमन्दिरम्॥३८॥

Remembering the lotus-like feet of the lord Kṛṣṇa again and again with devotion, he circumambulated lord Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter Uddhava embraced Akrūra again and again and praised him. Thereafter, he immediately left for his abode and Akrūra also went back to his abode.

The removal of Rādhā's Grief

नारायण उवाच

अथ रासेश्वरीयुक्तो रासे रासेश्वरः स्वयम्।
स च रेमे तया सार्धमतीव रमणोत्सुकः॥१॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Lord Kṛṣṇa, the foremost among those performing Rāsa getting anxious for a union with Rādhā, spent pleasant time with her in Rāsamaṇḍala.

सुखसंभोगमात्रेण ययौ निद्रां च राधिका।
दृष्ट्वा स्वप्नं समुत्थाय दीनोवाच प्रियं दिने॥२॥

After the union with Kṛṣṇa, Rādhikā felt sleepy she then had a dream after which she rose up and sat down. She then meekly submitted herself to lord Kṛṣṇa her beloved.

राधिकोवाच

अहो स्वामिन्निहाऽऽगच्छ त्वां करोमि स्ववक्षसि।
परिणामे विधाता मे न जाने किं करिष्यति॥३॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, you come here. Let me embrace you because I am not aware of what the destiny would do to me after this.

इत्युक्त्वा सा महाभागा प्रियं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।
दुःस्वप्नं कथयामास हृदयेन विदूयता॥४॥

Thus speaking, the immensely virtuous Rādhā embraced her beloved and started speaking about the bad dream, she had witnessed.

राधिकोवाच

रत्नसिंहासनेऽहं च रत्नच्छत्रं च बिभ्रती।
तदातपत्रं जग्राह रुष्टो विप्रश्च मे प्रभो॥५॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, I was seated on the gem-studded lion-throne under an umbrella of gems. At that very moment a Brāhmaṇa getting annoyed with me, snatched away the umbrella from my hands.

सागरे कज्जलाकारे महाघोरे च दुस्तरे।
गभीरे प्रेरयामास मामेव दुर्बलां स च॥६॥

He forcefully drove a weak person like me in the terrific, insurmountable and deep ocean which looked like an ocean of collyrium.

तत्र स्रोतसि शोकार्ता भ्रमामि च मुहुर्मुहुः।
महोर्मीणां च वेगेन व्याकुला नक्रसंकुले॥७॥
त्राहि त्राहीति हे नाथ त्वां वदामि पुनः पुनः।
त्वां न दृष्ट्वा महाभीता करोमि प्रार्थना सुरम्॥८॥

Getting panicky I started looking in the ocean again and again which was infested with crocodiles and the high waves which made me upset. "O lord, you protect me. I repeated these words again and again; I was terrified at finding you nowhere and then started offering prayer to the god.

कृष्ण तत्र निमज्जन्ती पश्यामि चन्द्रमण्डलम्।
निपतन्तं च गगनाच्छतखण्डं च भूतले॥९॥
क्षणान्तरे च पश्यामि गगनात्सूर्यमण्डलम्।
बभूव च चतुःखण्डं निपत्य धरणीतले॥१०॥

O Kṛṣṇa while I was drowning in the ocean I found that the moon was reduced to a hundred particles and even the sky was falling on earth.

एककाले च गगने मण्डलं चन्द्रसूर्ययोः।
अतीव कज्जलाकारं सर्वं ग्रस्तं च राहुणा॥११॥

In the second moment I found the solar disc which fell from the sky on the earth was reduced to four pieces. Thereafter, I found that both the sun and the moon had risen in the sky and were eclipsed by Rāhu who was completely black.

क्षणान्तरे च पश्यामि ब्राह्मणो दीप्तिमानिति।
मत्क्रोडस्थं सुधाकुम्भं बभञ्ज च रुषेति च॥१२॥

The next moment, I found that an illustrious Brāhmaṇa snatched away the pitcher of nectar from me and broke it in anger.

क्षणान्तरे च पश्यामि महारुष्टं च ब्राह्मणम्।
गृहीत्वा च व्रजन्तं च चक्षुषो: पुरुषं मम॥१३॥

Again I found that the angry Brāhmaṇa was dragging away my beloved from me.

क्रीडाकमलदण्डं च हस्ताद्ध्वस्तं मम प्रभो।
सहसा खण्डखण्डं च बभूव सह हेतुना॥१४॥
हस्ताद्ध्वस्तश्च सहसा सद्रत्नसारदर्पण:।
निर्मल: कज्जलाकार: खण्डखण्डो बभूव ह॥१५॥

O lord suddenly the lotus stalk held in my hands fell down on the ground and was reduced to pieces. The spotless mirror which was made of the best of gems was suddenly broken into pieces, falling from hands. The mirror which was quite spotless was rendered black after the fall, like the collyrium.

हारो मे रत्नसाराणां छिन्नो भूत्वा च वक्षस:।
अतीव मलिनं पद्मं पपात धरणीतले॥१६॥

The garland of gems worn by me on the breasts was broken and shattered. The lotus also faded out and fell down on the ground.

सौधपुत्तलिका: सर्वा नृत्यन्ति च हसन्ति च।
आस्फोटयन्ति गायन्ति रुदन्ति च क्षणं क्षणम्॥१७॥

All the puppets of my mansion were dancing and laughing. In a moment they clapped their hands and in another moment they started singing and then crying.

कृष्णवर्णं बृहच्चक्रं खे भ्रमन्तं मुहुर्मुहु:।
निपतन्तं चोत्पतन्तं पश्यामि च भयंकरम्॥१८॥

A cakra of black colour was roaming in the sky, sometimes it fell down on earth and was again raised up.

प्राणाधिदेव: पुरुषो नि:सृत्याभ्यन्तरान्मम।
राधे विदायं देहीति ततो यामीत्युवाच ह॥१९॥
कृष्णवर्णा च प्रतिमा मामाश्लिष्यति चुम्बति।
कृष्णवस्त्रपरीधाना चेति पश्यामि सांप्रतम्॥२०॥
इतीदं विपरीतं च दृष्ट्वा च प्राणवल्लभ।
नृत्यन्ति दक्षिणाङ्गानि प्राणा आन्दोलयन्ति मे॥२१॥
रुदन्ति शोकात्कर्षन्ति समुद्विग्नं च मानसम्।
किमिदं किमिदं नाथ वद वेदविदां वर॥२२॥

Getting out my great lord who is dearer to me than my life he was saying. "O Rādhā you send me off. I am going. An image of black colour clad in black costumes embraced me. This is what I have witnessed in the dream. O lord of my life thus witnessing the opposite type of dream, my right limbs are fluttering. I am feeling restless and am crying because of the onset of grief. My mind is extremely disturbed. O lord, you happen to be the best of the gods, therefore you tell me immediately as to what does it means.".

इत्युक्त्वा राधिका देवी शुष्ककण्ठोष्ठतालुका।
पपात तत्पदाम्भोजे भीता सा शोकविह्वला॥२३॥
श्रुत्वा स्वप्नं जगन्नाथो देवीं कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि।
आध्यात्मिकेन योगेन बोधयामास तत्क्षणम्॥२४॥

Thus speaking Rādhikā, whose throat, lips and palate had dried up, getting frightened and filled with grief, fell at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter, lord Kṛṣṇa who is the lord of the universe, listening to the dream of Rādhikā embraced her and with the application of his divine yogic powers, he enlightened her.

तत्याज शोकं सा देवी ज्ञानं संप्राप्य निर्मलम्।
शान्तं च भगवन्तं च कृत्वा कान्तं स्ववक्षसि॥२५॥

Thereafter, when Rādhā was imparted with the spotless divine knowledge, she was relieved of her grief and then embraced the lord gracefully.

Description of Spiritual Yoga

नारायण उवाच

विरहव्याकुलां दृष्ट्वा कामिनीं काममोहन:।
कृत्वा वक्षसि तां कृष्णो ययौ क्रीडासरोवरम्।।१।।
राजराजेश्वरी राधा कृष्णवक्षसि राजते।

सौदामिनीव जलदे नवीने गगने मुने॥२॥

Nārāyaṇa said- Kṛṣṇa the lord of passion, finding his beloved becoming conscious due to the idea of separation from him, embraced her and moved towards the lake of water-sport. O sage, at that point of time, the great goddess Rādhā appearing in the lap of Kṛṣṇa as the clouds appear in the sky and the lightning appearing in the clouds.

रेमे स रमया सार्धं कृपया च कृपानिधिः।

रत्नभूषाभूषितया रासरत्नश्च कौतुकात्।
रसरत्नाकरे रम्ये निमग्नो रसिकेश्वरः॥५॥

All merciful Kṛṣṇa gracefully enjoyed the company of Rādhā, Śrī Kṛṣṇa looked in both of them as an emerald in a heap of gems. There was a bed made of the best of the gems and a lamp made of gems was burning. All the ascetics of the divine dance were made of the gems including the ornaments. Lord Kṛṣṇa was then adorned with the gem-studded ornaments and in the company of Rādhā, who was also adorned with gem-studded ornament were engrossed in the ocean of love-sport.

रासे रासेश्वरी राधा रासेश्वरमुवाच सा।
सुरतौ विरतौ सत्यां विरते न मनोरथे॥६॥

Getting disinterested in the love-sport without getting her mind detached from the same, Rādhā the goddess of the divine dance, spoke to Kṛṣṇa the lord of the divine dance.

राधिकोवाच

प्रफुल्लाऽहं त्वया नाथ मृता म्लाना च त्वां विना।
यथा महौषधिगणः प्रभाते भाति भास्करे॥७॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, I always remain delighted with you and without you I feel like a dead person and get faded, like the bunch of great medicinal plants blossoms in the morning and getting faded with the sunshine.

नक्तं दीपशिखेवाहं त्वया सार्धं त्वया विना।
दिने दिने यथा क्षीणा कृष्णपक्षे विधोः कला॥८॥
तव वक्षसि मे दीप्तिः पूर्णचन्द्रप्रभासमा।
सद्यो मृता त्वया त्यक्ता कुह्वां चन्द्रकला यथा॥९॥

I shine with you like the light of the lamp at the night. Without you my lustre goes on decreasing like the lustre of the moon in the black fortnight. I always illumined like the full moon placing my head on your chest and getting deprived of you. I get destroyed at once like the moon rays in the moonless night.

ज्वलदग्निशिखेवाहं घृताहुत्या त्वया सह।
त्वया विनाऽहं निर्वाणा शिशिरे पद्मिनी यथा॥१०॥

With you I remain like the flames of fire in which ghee is poured and without you I get faded like the lotus flower in the winter season.

चिन्ताज्वरजराग्रस्ता मत्तस्त्वयि गतेऽप्यहम्।
अस्तंगते रवौ चन्द्रे ध्वान्तग्रस्ता धरा यथा॥११॥

When you leave me get myself drowned in the worries as the sun or the moon cover the earth with darkness after they set.

भ्रष्टो वेषस्त्वां विना मे रूपयौवनचेतनम्।
तारावली परिभ्रष्टा सूर्यसूतोदये यथा॥१२॥

Without you my costumes, beauty, youthfulness, consciousness get destroyed in the same way as the stars get destroyed at dawn.

त्वमेवाऽऽत्मा च सर्वेषां मम नाथो विशेषतः॥
तनुर्यथाऽऽत्मना त्यक्ता तथाऽहं च त्वया विना॥१३॥

You are the soul of all but you happen to be the only lord of mind. Without you I remain like the body without the soul.

पञ्चप्राणात्मकस्त्वं मे मृताऽहं च त्वया विना।
दृष्टेश्च गोलकौ यद्वद्दृशिः पुत्तलिकां विना॥१४॥

You are my five prāṇas and as such without you I feel like a dead person, like the eyes which become useless without the eye-balls.

स्थलं यथा चित्रयुक्तं त्वया सार्धमहं तथा।
असंस्कृता त्वया हीना तृणाच्छन्ना यथा मही॥१५॥

With you I glitter like a painted surface and without you I look like the earth grown with wild vegetation.

त्वया सार्धमहं कृष्ण चित्रयुक्तेव मृन्मयी।
त्वां विना जलधौताऽहं विरूपा मृन्मयीव च।।१६।।
गोपाङ्गनानां शोभा च त्वया रासेश्वरेण च।
हारे स्वर्णविकारे च श्वेतेन मणिना सह।।१७।।

O Kṛṣṇa, I remain with you like the painted image of gold and without you, I look like an image of clay filled with dust and water. You are the lord of the divine dance and as such all the cowherdesses appear before you as the crystal gems appear in the garland of gold.

व्रजराज त्वया सार्ध राजन्ते राजराजयः।
यथा चन्द्रेण नभसि ताराराजिर्विराजते।।१८।।

O lord of Vraja, the group of kings illumine with you as the constellation surround the moon in the sky.

त्वया शोभा यशोदाया नन्दस्य नन्दनन्दन।
यथा शाखाफलस्कन्धैस्तरु राजिर्विराजते।।१९।।

O son of Nanda, as the fruits and branches decorate the trees similarly you decorate or glorify Yaśodā and Nanda.

त्वया सार्धं गोकुलेश शोभा गोकुलवासिनाम्।
यथा सर्वा लोकराजी राजेन्द्रेण विराजते।।२०।।

O lord of Gokula, with you the people of Gokula appear so graceful as the great king is surrounded by his people.

रामस्यापि च रासेश त्वया शोभा मनोहरा।
राजते देवराजेन यथा स्वर्गेऽमरावती।।२१।।

O great king, with you the divine dance also looks pleasant as the city of Amarāvatī looks glorious in the heaven of Devarāja Indra.

वृन्दावनस्य वृक्षाणां त्वं च शोभा पतिर्गतिः।
अन्येषां च वनानां च बलवान्केसरी यथा।।२२।।

You are the lustre of the trees of Vṛndāvana, their lord and the sun, as the lion is considered to be quite glorious in the forest among the wild animals.

त्वया विना यशोदा च निमग्ना शोकसागरे।
अप्राप्य वत्सं सुरभिः क्रोशन्ती व्याकुला यथा।।२३।।

Without you, the mother Yaśodā is engrossed in grief like the cow who cries without her calf.

आन्दोलयन्ति नन्दस्य प्राणा दग्धं च मानसम्।
त्वया विना तप्तपात्रे यथा धान्यसमूहकः।।२४।।

Without you Nanda feels restless and his mind is reduced to ashes as the paddy gets fried in the heated vase.

इत्युक्त्वा परमप्रेम्णा सा पतन्ती हरेः पदे।
पुनराध्यात्मिकेनैव बोधयामास तां विभुः।।२५।।

Thus speaking Rādhikā infatuated with love held the feet of Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa again enlightened her with spiritual knowledge.

आध्यात्मिको महायोगो मोहसंछेदकारणम्।
यथा पर्शुश्च वृक्षाणां तीक्ष्णधारश्च नारद।।२६।।

O Nārada, the spiritual knowledge removes the illusion in the same way as a sharp edged axe cuts the trees.

नारद उवाच

आध्यात्मिक महायोगं वद वेदविदां वर।
शोकच्छेदं च लोकानां श्रोतुं कौतूहलं मम।।२७।।

नारायण उवाच

आध्यात्मिको महायोगो न ज्ञातो योगिनामपि।
स च नानाप्रकारश्च सर्वं वेत्ति हरिः स्वयम्।।२८।।

Nārada said- O best of those well-versed in the Vedas, you enlighten us on the spiritual Mahāyoga which destroys the grief of the people. I am quite anxious to hear about it. Nārāyaṇa said- Even the yogīs are not quite aware of the spiritual Mahāyoga which is of various kinds and is known to lord Hari completely.

किंचिदाध्यात्मिकं चैव गोलोके राधिकेश्वरः।
सुप्रीतः कथयामास त्रिपुरारिं यथा मुने।।२९।।

O sage, Śrī Kṛṣṇa the lord of Rādhā, had narrated a few parts of the divine Mahāyoga to Śiva getting extremely delighted.

सहस्रेन्द्रनिपातान्तं तपः कुर्वन्तमीश्वरम्।
श्रेष्ठं ज्येष्ठं वैष्णवानां वरिष्ठं च तपस्विनाम्।।३०।।

Śiva performed tapas up to a thousand Indras. He happened to be the best of Vaiṣṇavas and quite senior and the best among the mendicants.

पुष्करे दुष्करं तप्त्वा पाद्मे पाद्मं च पद्मजः।
दृष्ट्वा तं सादरं कृष्ण उवाच किंचिदेव तम्।।३१।।

शतेन्द्रपातपर्यन्तं कठोरेण कृशोदरम्।
निश्चेष्टमस्थिसारं च कृपया च कृपानिधिः॥३२॥

In the Pādmakalpa Brahmā performed severe austerities in the Puṣkara-kṣetra. Finding him there, lord Kṛṣṇa revealed a little of the Mahāyoga to Brahmā. Brahmā performed tapas for a period of a hundred Indras, when he was reduced to only a skeleton. Thereafter the compassionate lord gracefully spoke to him.

सिंहक्षेत्रे पुरा धर्मं मत्तातं धर्मिणां वरम्।
चतुर्दशेन्द्रावच्छिन्नं तपस्तप्त्वा कृशोदरम्॥३३॥
पपाठाऽऽध्यात्मिकं किंचित्कृपया च कृपानिधिः।
किचिच्छतेन्द्रावच्छिन्नं मां तपन्तमुवाच सः॥३४॥
किंचित्सनत्कुमारं च तपन्तं सुचिरं परम्।
सुतपन्तमनन्तं च किंचिच्चोवाच नारद॥३५॥

In the earlier times my father who was quite a religious one, performed tapas in the Siṁhakṣ etra which prolonged to fourteen Indras and was rendered quite weak. Therefter, the lord becoming merciful bestowed the knowledge of the spiritual Mahāyoga. Thereafter, the same knowledge was imparted to Sanatkumāra who performed tapas for a hundred Indras. He was also imparted with a bit of the knowledge. Thereafter, O Nārada, after performing severe tapas for a long time, the same knowledge, in part, was given to Ananta.

चिरं तपन्तं कपिलं हिमशैले तपस्विनम्।
पुष्करे भास्करे किंचित्तपन्तं दुष्करं तपः॥३६॥
उवाच किंचित्प्रह्लादं किंचिद्दुर्वाससं भृगुम्।
एवं निगूढं भक्तं च कृपया भक्तवत्सलः॥३७॥

Thereafter Kapila performed severe tapas for a long time on Himālaya and to Bhāskara, who performed hard tapas in the Puṣkara region, the part of the same divine knowledge was imparted to them. Thereafter the lord who is graceful on his devotees, parted with no part of the same knowledge to Prahlāda, Durvāsā, Bhṛgu and Nigūḍha.

क्रीडासरोवरे रम्ये यदुवाच कृपानिधिः।
शोकार्ता राधिकां तच्च कथयामि निशामय॥३८॥

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa had imparted knowledge of the same to Rādhikā on the charming bank of the lake of the water sport. I am going to speak out the same to you which you please listen to.

विरसां रसिकां दृष्ट्वा वासयित्वा च वक्षसि।
उवाचाऽऽध्यात्मिकं किंचिद्योगिनी योगिनां गुरुः॥३९॥

Finding his beloved quite sad, the lord, who happens to be the teacher of the yogīs, embraced her and started narrating to him the spiritual yoga.

श्रीकृष्णउवाच

जातिस्मरे स्मराऽऽत्मानं कथं विस्मरसि प्रिये।
सर्वं गोलोकवृत्तान्तं सुदाम्नः शापमेव च॥४०॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O beloved, you remember the happening of the past birth, you recollect the past happening. Why do you forgot yourself? You remember the curse of Sudāmā pronounced by him in the Goloka.

शापात्किंचिद्दिनं दीने त्वद्विच्छेदो मया सह।
भविष्यति महाभोगे मेलनं पुनरावयोः॥४१॥

O goddess of humility, we shall be separated from each other for sometime because of the curse of Sudāmā. O virtuous one, we shall meet again.

पुनरेव गमिष्यामि गोलोकं तं निजालयम्।
गत्वा गोपाङ्गनाभिश्च गोपैर्गोलोकवासिभिः॥४२॥

We shall again visit Goloka and enjoy the company of the cowherds and cowherdesses there.

अधुनाऽऽध्यात्मिकं किंचित्त्वां वदामि निशामय।
शोकघ्नं हर्षदं सारं सुखदं मानसस्य च॥४३॥

Listen, presently I am going to speak about the spiritual yoga to you which removes grief, bestows pleasure, is the form of tattva and provides solace to the mind.

अहं सर्वान्तरात्मा च निर्लिप्तः सर्वकर्मसु।
विद्यमानश्च सर्वेषु सर्वत्रादृष्ट एव च॥४४॥

I happen to be the inner soul of everyone, am involved in all the actions, omnipresent and pervade everywhere in invisible form.

वायुश्चरति सर्वत्र यथैव सर्ववस्तुषु।
नप च लिप्तस्तथैवाहं साक्षी च सर्वकर्मणाम्॥४५॥

As the wind pervades everywhere but is not involved similar is my case. I am the witness of all the deeds.

जीवो मत्प्रतिबिम्बश्च सर्वत्र सर्वजीविषु।
भोक्ता शुभाशुभानां च कर्ता च कर्मणां सदा॥४६॥

I am present in all the bodies in the form of Jīva (soul) which happens to be my reflection. The Jīva has to face the reward of good and bad deeds and is also the creator of actions.

यथा जलघटेष्वेव मण्डलं चन्द्रसूर्ययोः।
भग्नेषु तेषु संश्लिष्टस्तयोरेव तथा मयि॥४७॥
जीवः श्लिष्टस्तथा काले मृतेषु जीविषु प्रिये।
आवां च विद्यमानौ च सततं सर्वजन्तुषु॥४८॥

As the pitchers filled with water get the reflection of the sun and the moon, but when the pitcher is broken, the reflection of the sun and the moon disappear. Similarly, the soul merges in me. The soul disappears from the body at the appropriate time. Both of us always remain in all the creatures.

O beautiful one, I am the base and the universe is lodged on the base. Without the base the structure cannot remain in the same way as no task can be established without a reason. O beloved, all things are perishable whether they are produced in large numbers or in small numbers. Some of the gods happen to be my aṁśa but some of the gods represent my rays, some of them are the part of my rays and some of them are the aṁśas of my aṁśa. Prakṛti also happens to be my aṁśa which has the form of atom and which can take to five forms. Sarasvatī, Lakṣmī, Durgā, yourself and Sāvitrī represent the five forms of Prakṛti. All the gods having invisible or visible forms are also the forms of Prakṛti. I happen to be the soul of all and with the demand of my devotees I take to various forms. O Rādhā, all the things of nature which are born or destroyed in due course of time, I myself alone remain present at the beginning and at the end of the creation. As the sun-shine cannot be separated from the sun rays, the whiteness cannot be separated from the milk, similarly both of us cannot be separated from each other. There is absolutely no difference between both of us; this is certain. In the universe I happen to be Mahāvirāṭ in whose hair-pits, innumerable globes are enshrined. At that time from your own aṁśa, you become Mahatī the wife of Mahāvirāṭ. In the universe, I remain as a junior Virāṭ, out of the navel of whom the universe emerged. O chaste lady, in the hair-pits of Viṣṇu, my aṁśa always resides. At that point of time you appear as Bṛhatī the wife of Viṣṇu. In every globe, we find Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Śiva and other gods. All the three Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva happen to be my aṁśas and the rest are my rays.

मत्कलांशांशकलया सर्वे देवि चराचराः।
वैकुण्ठे त्वं महालक्ष्मीरहं तत्र चतुर्भुजः॥५९॥

स च विश्वाद्बहिश्चोर्ध्वं यथा गोलोक एव च।
सरस्वती त्वं सत्ये च सावित्री ब्रह्मणः प्रिया:॥६०॥

O goddess, then the whole movable and immovable universe happens to be particle Goloka. You reside in Vaikuṇṭha as Mahālakṣmī, where I reside as Viṣṇu having four arms. Like Goloka it is lodged above Brahmāṇḍa where you happen to be Sarasvatī. In the Satyaloka you happen to be the beloved Sāvitrī of Brahmā.

शिवलोके शिवा त्वं च मूलप्रकृतिरीश्वरी।
विनाश्य दुर्गं दुर्गा च सर्वदुर्गतिनाशिनी॥६१॥
सा एव दक्षकन्या च सा एव शैलकन्यका।
कैलासे पार्वती तेन सौभाग्या शिववक्षसि॥६२॥

In the abode of Śiva you become Śivā. You are Īśvarī and the Mūlaprakṛti. You are the one who destroyed the demon named Durgā and destroyed all the evil forces. Therefore, you are given the name of Durgā. The same Durgā happened to be the Satī, the daughter of Dakṣa and then became the daughter of Himavān. This is the reason why the virtuous Pārvatī always remains in the heart of Śiva the lord of Kailāsa .

स्वांशेन त्वं सिन्धुकन्या क्षीरोदे विष्णुवक्षसि।
अहं स्वांशेन सृष्टौ च ब्रह्मविष्णुमहेश्वराः॥६३॥
त्वं च लक्ष्मी शिवा धात्री सावित्री च पृथक्पृथक्।
गोलोके च स्वयं राधा रासे रासेश्वरी सदा॥६४॥

In the ocean of milk, you happen to be the beloved of Viṣṇu in the form of Sindhukanyā (Lakṣmī) who emerged out of your aṁśa. At the time of creation, I remain present with Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva and you represent Lakṣmī, Pārvatī, Sarasvatī, Sāvitrī, separately. In the Goloka you appear as Rādhā and in the divine dance you are known as Rāseśvarī

वृन्दा वृन्दावने रम्ये विरजा विरजातटे।
सा त्वं सुदामशापेन भारतं पुण्यमागता॥६५॥
पूतं कर्तुं भारतं च वृन्दारण्यं च सुन्दरि।
त्वत्कलांशाशकलया विश्वेषु सर्वयोषितः॥६६॥

In the plesant Vṛndāvana you are known as Vṛndā and on the bank of Virajā river you appear as the cowherdess Virajā. You were cursed by Sudāmā at that very place as a result of which you arrived in Bhārata. O beautiful one, in order to purify Bhārata and Vṛndāvana you are present here and all the women of the world appear from your aṁśa.

या योषित्सा च भवती यः पुमान्सोऽहमेव च।
अहं च कलया वह्निस्त्वं स्वाहा दाहिका प्रिया॥६७॥
त्वया सह समर्थोऽहं नालं दग्धुं च त्वां विना।
अहं दीप्तिमतां सूर्यः कलया त्वं प्रभाकरी॥६८॥

You happen to be the form of all the women in the universe. With my aṁśa, I become the fire and you with your aṁśa appear as the power of burning as Svāhā the beloved of Agni. I am in a position to burn and destroy only when you are with me, but without you I feel helpless. By my own rays I shine as the sun in the sky and you happen to be my lustre.

संज्ञा त्वं च त्वया भामि त्वां विनाऽहं न दीप्तिमान्।
अहं च कलया चन्द्रस्त्वं च शोभा च रोहिणी॥६९॥
मनोहरस्त्वया सार्धं त्वां विना न सुन्दरः।
अहमिन्द्रश्च कलया स्वर्गलक्ष्मीश्च त्वं शची॥७०॥
त्वया सार्धं देवराजो हतश्रीश्च त्वया विना।
अहं धर्मश्च कलया त्वं च मूर्तिश्च धर्मिणी॥७१॥
नाहं शक्तो धर्मकृत्यो त्वां च धर्मक्रियां विना।
अहं यज्ञश्च कलया त्वं च स्वांशेन दक्षिणा॥७२॥

You happen to be Sañjñā the beloved of Sūrya and I shine only when you are with me and without you I cannot shine from my rays. I become the moon and you accordingly become Rohiṇī. By your remaining with me, I am always pleasant and without you I don't have the lustre by my own rays. I conduct myself as Indra and you happen to be Śacī the Lakṣmī of the heaven with you I happen to be the lord of the gods and without you I happen to be lustrless. By my rays, I happen to be Dharma and you happen to be Dharmiṇī, the spouse of Dharma. I perform all the function of Dharma with you and without you I feel helpless. I am the form of yajña and from my rays and with your aṁśa you appear as dakṣiṇā the spouse of yajña.

त्वया सार्धं च फलदोऽप्यसमर्थस्त्वया विना।
कलया पितृलोकोऽहं स्वांशेन त्वं स्वधा सती।।७३।।
त्वयाऽलं कव्यदाने च सदा नालं त्वया विनां
अहं पुमांस्त्वं प्रकृतिर्न स्रष्टाऽहं त्वया विना।।७४।।

With you I bestow the reward and without you I am helpless. With my own rays I represent the abode of manes and from your aṁśa you conduct yourself as chaste Svādhā. With you on my side I am in a position to accept the offering of piṇḍas and without you I am helpless. If I am Puruṣa you happen to be Prakṛti and as such I am unable to create the universe without you.

त्वं च संपत्स्वरूपाऽहमीश्वरश्च त्वया सह।
लक्ष्मीयुक्तस्त्वया लक्ष्म्या निःश्रीकश्च त्वया विना।।७५।।
यथा नालं कुलालश्च घटं कर्तुं मृदा विना।
अहं शेषश्च कलया स्वांशेन त्वं वसुंधरा।।७६।।
त्वां सस्यरत्नाधारां च बिभर्मि मूर्ध्नि सुन्दरि।
त्वं च कान्तिश्च शान्तिश्च भूतिर्मूर्तिमती सती।।७७।।
तुष्टिः पुष्टिः क्षमा लज्जा क्षुधा तृष्णा परा दया।
निद्रा श्रद्धा च तन्द्रा च मूर्छा च संनतिः क्रिया।।७८।।
मूर्तिरूपा भक्तिरूपा देहिनां देहरूपिणी।
ममाऽऽधारा सदा त्वं च तवाऽत्माऽहं परस्परम्।।७९।।
यथा त्वं च तथाऽहं च समौ प्रकृतिपूरुषौ।
न हि सृष्टिर्भवेद्देवि द्वयोरेकतरं विना।।८०।।

You represent all the riches and therefore with you remaining on my side, I become the lord. With your remaining with me I am known as the lord of Lakṣmī and without you I am devoid of all my glory as the potter is unable to make a vase without the clay. Similarly without you, the universe cannot be created. With my rays I happen to be Śeṣa and from your aṁśa you happen to be the goddess earth. O beautiful one, being the place of all the cereals and the gems I hold you always over my head. You are the lustre, peace, fortune, absolutely chaste, satisfaction, growth, forgiveness, shyness, hunger, lust, compassion, sleep, faith, drowsiness, unconsciousness, adoration, the form of all, the form of devotion and the bodies of all, those who possess the body. You are always my base and I happen to be your soul. Therefore, as you are, so am I. Both Prakṛti and Puruṣa have the same form. O goddess, the universe cannot survive without either of them.

इत्युक्त्वा परमात्मा च राधां प्राणाधिकां प्रियाम्।

स च क्रीडानियुक्तश्च बभूव रत्नमन्दिरे।
तथा च राधया सार्धं कामुक्या सह कामुकः।।८२।।

O Nārada, thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa embraced his beloved Rādhā and getting filled with passion, he took the passionate Rādhā in to the house of gems and enjoyed her company there.

Chapter - 68

Rādhā's request to Kṛṣṇa

नारायण उवाच

कृत्वा क्रीडां समुत्थाय पुष्पतल्पात्पुरातनः।
निद्रितां प्राणसदृशीं बोधयामास तत्क्षणम्।।१।।

Nārāyaṇa said- After performing the love-sport, the eternal lord Kṛṣṇa got up from the bed of roses and woke up his beloved also.

वस्त्राञ्चलेन संस्कृत्य कृत्वा तन्निर्मलं मुखम्।
उवाच मधुरं शान्तं शान्तां च मधुसूदनः।।२।।

He cleaned her mouth a the piece of cloth. Thereafter Madhusūdana spoke to Rādhā peaceful and sweet words.

अयि तिष्ठ क्षणं राधे रासेश्वरि शुचिस्मिते।
व्रज वृन्दावनं वाऽपि व्रजं व्रजं व्रजेश्वरि।।३।।
रासाधिष्ठातृदेवि त्वं रासं रासे कुरु क्षणम्।
ग्रामे ग्रामे यथा सन्ति सर्वत्र ग्रामदेवताः।।४।।
प्रियालिनिवहैः सार्धं क्षणं चन्दनकाननम्।
क्षणं वा चम्पकवनं गच्छ वा तिष्ठ सुन्दरि।।५।।
क्षणं गृहं च यास्यामि विशिष्टं कार्यमस्ति मे।

विदायं देहि मे प्रीत्या क्षणं मां प्राणवल्लभे॥६॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- O goddess of divine dance, O goddess who cuts pleasant jokes, you wait here for a moment in the dancing hall, thereafter you can move to Vṛndāvana or Vraja. You are the great goddess of the divine dance therefore moving to the Rāsamaṇḍala to perform the divine dance for a moment as the god of the village remains in every village, similarly you first go with cowherdesses to the Candana-vana and then for a moment you move on to the Campāvana and stay there. O beautiful one, for a moment I shall go to my abode where I have to attend to an important work. Therefore, O lady of my life, you leave me gladly for a moment.

प्राणाधिष्ठातृदेवी त्वं प्राणाश्च त्वयि सन्ति मे।
प्राणी विहाय प्राणांश्च कुत्र स्थातुं क्षमः प्रिये॥७॥

Because you happen to be the goddess of my life and my life always remains with you, O dear one, where can a person live without the life.

त्वयि मे मानसं शश्वत्त्वं मे संसारवासना।
त्वत्तो मम प्रिया नास्ति त्वमेव शंकरात्प्रिया॥८॥
प्राणा मे शंकरः सत्यं त्वं च प्राणाधिका सति।
इत्युक्त्वा तां समाश्लिष्य भगवान् गन्तुमुद्यतः॥९॥
अक्रूरागमनं ज्ञात्वा सर्वज्ञः सर्वसाधनः।
आत्मा पाता च सर्वेषां सर्वोपकारकारकः॥१०॥

My mind always remains attracted towards you, you are my worldly pleasure and no one is dearer to me than you. You are dearer than Śiva. O chaste lady, this is true that Śiva happens to be my life but you happen to be dearer to me than my life. Thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa who is all knowledgeable, all competent, soul of all, the protector and is the lord who does good to everyone embracing Rādhikā got ready to leave.

दृष्ट्वा तमेव गच्छन्तमुत्सुकं भिन्नमानसम्।
उवाच राधिका देवी हृदयेन विदूयता॥११॥

Goddess Rādhikā, finding the lord getting ready to go, spoke with a sad mind.

राधिकोवाच

हे नाथ रमणप्रेष्ठ श्रेष्ठश्च प्रेयसां मम।
हे कृष्ण हे रमानाथा व्रजेश मा व्रज व्रजम्॥१२॥
अधुना त्वां प्राणनाथ पश्यामि भिन्नमानसम्।
गते त्वयि मम प्रेम गतं सौभाग्यमेव च॥१३॥

Rādhikā said- O lord, O my dear husband, you are the best among those who are loved by me, O lord Kṛṣṇa, you do not go to Vraja. O lord of my life presently I find that your mind is disturbed, therefore in case you leave at the moment, my fortune and love would also depart.

क्व यासि मां विनिक्षिप्य गम्भीरे शोकसागरे।
विरहव्याकुलां दीनां त्वय्येव शरणागताम्॥१४॥

Therefore throwing me in the vast and deep ocean of grief, where are you going? I am getting upset because of separation. I am quite humble and I take refuge in you.

न यास्यामि पुनर्गेहं यास्यामि काननान्तरम्।
कृष्ण कृष्णेति कृष्णेति गायं गायं दिवानिशम्॥१५॥

In case you leave then I will not go back to my house. I shall go to some forest, reciting the name of Kṛṣṇa.

न यास्याम्यथवाऽरण्यं यास्यामि कामसागरे।
तत्र त्वत्कामनां कृत्वा त्यक्ष्यामि च कलेवरम्॥१६॥

Otherwise I shall not go to the forest but I shall drown myself in the ocean of love and getting desirous of you I shall end my life.

यथाऽऽकाशो यथाऽऽत्मा च यथा चन्द्रो यथा रविः।
तथा त्वं यासि मत्पार्श्वे निबद्धो वसनाञ्चले॥१७॥

As the light the soul, the moon and the sun remain together similarly how could you leave when you are entangled with me with the corner of my costumes?.

अधुना यासि नैराश्यं कृत्वा मे दीनवत्सल।
न युक्तं हि परित्यक्तुं दीनां मां शरणागताम्॥१८॥

O lord of the down-trodden, in case you leave at the moment disappointing me then it would not be proper for you to leave a humble person like me who has taken refuge in you.

यत्पादपद्मं ध्यायन्ते ब्रह्मविष्णुशिवादयः।
त्वां मायया गोपवेषं कथं जानामि मत्सरी॥१९॥

The one whose feet are adored always by Brahmā, Viṣṇu and Śiva, he is taking to the form of a cowherd because of his illusion, how can I really know about you who is envious of you.

कृतं यद्देव दुर्नीतमपराधसहस्रकम्।
यदुक्तं पतिभावेन चाभिमानेन तत्क्षम॥२०॥

O lord I have committed innumerable sins improperly and whatever I had spoken to you taking you as my husband in arrogance. You kindly forgive me.

चूर्णीभूतश्च मद्गर्वो दूरीभूतो मनोरथः।
विज्ञातुमात्मसौभाग्यं किमन्यत्कथयामि ते॥२१॥
ज्ञात्वा गर्गमुखाच्छ्रुत्वा मोहिता तव मायया।

यासि चेन्मां परित्यज्य सकलङ्को भविष्यसि।
त्वत्पुत्रपौत्रा नश्यन्ति ब्रह्मकोपानलेन च॥२३॥

My pride has been shattered and the goal has been left behind, what more can I speak in order to know about my fortune? In spite of knowing about the truth, about you from the mouth of Garga, I am still infatuated with the illusion, therefore getting over-powered with love and devotion, I am unable to speak out anything but in case you are going, leaving me alone then you will earn a blemish and all your sons. and grandsons would be destroyed in the fire of the anger.

क्षणं युगशतं मन्ये त्वां विना प्राणवल्लभम्।
कथं शताब्दं त्वां त्यक्त्वा बिभर्मि जीवनं प्रभो॥२४॥

You are the lord of my life and without you even a moment is spent by me like a yuga. Therefore, O lord how can I remain alive getting separated from you for a hundred years.

इत्युक्त्वा राधिका कोपात्पपात धरणीतले।
मूर्च्छां संप्राप सहसा जहार चेतनां मुने॥२५॥

O sage thus speaking Rādhikā fell down on the ground in anger and fainted losing consciousness.

कृष्णस्तां मूर्च्छितां दृष्ट्वा कृपया च कृपानिधिः।
चेतनां कारयित्वा च वासयामास वक्षसि॥२६॥

Thereafter the all merciful Kṛṣṇa finding her fainted, brought her back to senses and embraced her.

बोधयामास विविधं योगैः शोकविखण्डनैः।
तथाऽपि शोकं त्यक्तुं च न शशाक शुचिस्मिता॥२७।

In spite of the face that he had bestowed the divine knowledge of the yogic practices on her which could remove the grief but in spite of that Rādhikā, who always had a smiling face could not be relieved of the grief.

सामान्यवस्तुविश्लेषो नृणां शोकाय केवलम्।
देहात्मनोश्च विच्छेदः क्व सुखाय प्रकल्पते॥२८॥

When the separation from ordinary things creates grief for a person then how could the separation from the body and the soul be pleasant.

न ययौ तत्र दिवसे व्रजराजो व्रजं पति।
क्रीडासरोवराभ्याशं प्रययौ राधया सह॥२९॥

The lord of Vraja could not go to Vraja on that day. He took Rādhā to the lake of the love-sport.

तत्र गत्वा पुनः क्रीडां चकार च तया सह।
विजहौ विरहज्वालां रासे रासेश्वरी मुदा॥३०॥

Reaching there he again had the divine play with Rādhā as a result of which the burning sensation of the mind of the goddess of the divine dance was subsided.

राधा सा स्वामिना सार्धं पुष्पचन्दनचर्चिता।
पुष्पचन्दनतल्पे च तस्थौ रहसि नारद॥३१॥

Thereafter, O Nārada, getting decorated with flowers and sandal-paste, Rādhā enjoyed the company of her husband Kṛṣṇa on the bed of roses.

Chapter - 69

Description of the sport of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa

नारद उवाच

अतः परं किं रहस्यं राधाकेशवयोर्वद।
निगूढतत्त्वमस्पष्टं तन्मे व्याख्यातुमर्हसि।।१।।

Nārada said- Thereafter what is the extremely secret and secret tattva of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa and what was their other tattva you kindly tell me.

शृणुं नारद वक्ष्यामि रहस्यं परमाद्भुतम्।
गोपनीयं च वेदेषु पुराणेषु पुराविदाम्।।२।।
पुन: सकामो भगवान्कृष्ण: स्वेच्छामयो विभु:।
रेमे स रमया सार्धं विदग्धश्च विदग्धया।।३।।

Nārāyaṇa said- O Nārada, I will speak to you the extremely secretive tattva which the ancient people describe as quite secret in the Vedas and other scriptures. You please listen to me. Thereafter, the passionate, moving at will, all-pervading and clever lord Kṛṣṇa enjoyed the love-sport with beautiful Rādhā.

चतु:षष्टिकलाशक्त्या यथा कान्ता कलावती।
कामशास्त्रेषु निपुणा विदग्धा रसिकेश्वरी।।४।।

नानारूपधरा साध्वी प्रसिद्धा सिद्धयोगिनी।।७।।

Rādhā was completely like the figure of her mother Kalāvatī. Kalāvatī had the strength of sixty-four arts, quite attractive, well-versed in the sports of love, extremely intelligent, passionate, well-versed in passionate advances, always filled with passionate desires, completely passionate, most beautiful of woman, having quite stable youth-fullness and was the mind-born daughter of the manes, was quite fortunate, arrogant, the pupil of Śiva, possessed all knowledge, who lived for a hundred kalpas, well-versed in the Vedas and post-Vedic literature, well-versed in yogic practices and polity, the one who could change to many forms, quite chaste and was the well-known Siddhayoginī.

तत्कन्या राधिका देवी मातृतुल्या च कामुकी।

Her daughter named Rādhikā was also like her mother and quite passionate. The noble Rādhikā displayed several types of dispositions in the divine dance for lord Kṛṣṇa who was always anxious to perform for the sake of his beloved and particularly Rādhā who was quite dear to him, enjoyed sixty-four types of āsanas, by which the pelvic region and the breasts were injured with the nails, the painting of the sandal-wood paste and the vermilion was shattered and the hair-do was disarranged. She enjoyed everlasting pleasure by getting unrobed and fainted with grief. Her entire body was filled with emotions and she was overwhelmed. She went to sleep in the same position.

दृष्ट्वा तां निद्रितां कृष्ण: कृपया च कृपानिधि:।
रुरोद मायया मायी मायेशो लोकशिक्षया।।१२।।

Thereafter, finding her enjoying the sleep, the compassionate lord Kṛṣṇa who is the lord of illusion also, just for educating people getting filled with illusion cried aloud.

कृत्वा वक्षसि राधां च चुचुम्ब च पुन: पुन:।
स्नातां च नेत्रसलिलै: प्राणाधिष्ठातृदेवताम्।।१३।।

Embracing the great goddess Rādhā he kissed her again and again. She was bathed with the waters of his tears.

प्राणाधिकां प्रियतमां धारयामास वाससी।
वह्निशुद्धेऽतिसूक्ष्मे चामूल्ये विश्वसुदुर्लभे।।१४।।

Kṛṣṇa then clad his beloved with the garments sanctified by fire which were quite fine and were invaluable besides being difficult to get in the universe.

कबरीं रचयामास ददौ कुङ्कुमचन्दनम्।
तद्गात्रे च गले हारममूल्यं रत्ननिर्मितम्।।१५।।
सिन्दूरं च ददौ तस्या: सीमन्ताध:स्थलेऽमले।

चकार पत्रकं गण्डे नानाचित्रविचित्रकम्।

पादाङ्गुलिनखाग्रे च सुन्दरालक्तकं ददौ।
नानासुवेषोज्ज्वलितां तां निद्राकुलितां विभुः॥१८॥

He made a knot of her hair, plastered her body with saffron and sandal-paste, adorned her neck with garlands of invaluable gems and applied vermilion on the head at the point of the parting of the hair; her cheeks were decorated with various types of flowers like lotus and others and her feet were adorned with the gem-studded anklets, beautiful red paint was applied over her feet and the toes. Thus the lord decorated his beloved when she was fast asleep by applying various types of cosmetics.

पुनश्चकार मोहेन गाढालिङ्गनमीप्सितम्।
पुनश्च चुम्बनं कृत्वा निवेश्य च स्ववक्षसि॥१९॥
सुष्वाप जगतां स्वामी कान्ताविरहकातरः।

आगत्य नत्वा सिरसा तुष्टाव संपुटाञ्जलिः॥२१॥
सामवेदोक्तस्तोत्रेण परिपूर्णतमं विभुम्॥२२॥

Thereafter infatuated with love, he embraced her and implanted kisses on her repeatedly, he then laid her against his chest and then went to sleep himself. In the meantime the grandsire Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa and the gods arrived there together with the sages. They saluted before him bowing their heads and with folded hands started offering prayers as prescribed in the Sāmaveda.

ब्रह्मोवाच

जय जय जगदीश वन्दितचरण निर्गुण निराकार स्वेच्छामय भक्तानुग्रह नित्यविग्रह॥२३॥

गोपवेष मायया मायेश सुवेष सुशील शान्त सर्वकान्त दान्त नितान्तज्ञानानन्द परात्परतर प्रकृतेः पर सर्वान्तरात्मरूप निर्लिप्त साक्षिस्वरूप व्यक्ताव्यक्तनिरञ्जन भारावतारण करुणार्णव शोकसंतापग्रसन जरामृत्युभयादिहरण शरणपञ्जर भक्तानुग्रहकारक भक्तवत्सल भक्तसंचितधन ओं नमोऽस्तु ते॥२४॥

सर्वाधिष्ठातृदेवायेत्युक्त्वा वै प्रीणनाय च।
पुनःपुनरुवाचेदं मूर्च्छितश्च बभूव ह॥२५॥

Brahmā said- O lord of the universe, victory to you, all of us adore your sacred feet. You are beyond the guṇas like sattva, rajas and tamas you are formless, moving at will, graceful to the devotees, having the eternal form, taking to the form of a cowherd by illusion, lord of the illusion, clad in the best of garments, having the best nature, peaceful, loveable by all, can subjugate all, possessing eternal knowledge, quite blissful, beyond everything, beyond Prakṛti, residing in the heart of everyone, unattached witness of the deeds of all the people; you are formless as well as with form, spotless, remover of the burden of earth, ocean of mercy, destroyer of the grief and sufferings of the people, destroyer of old age, death and fear, serving as a sage for those who take refuge in you, graceful and compassionate to the devotees and are the immense treasure of the devotees, we bow in reverence to you. You are the great god of all, we bow in reverence to you. Whatever was spoken by Brahmā again and again to please the god, was spoken with utmost devotion, after which he fainted.

इति ब्रह्मकृतं स्तोत्रं यः शृणोनि समाहितः।
तत्सर्वाभीष्टसिद्धिश्च भवत्येव न संशयः॥२६॥

Whosoever recited the stotra composed by Brahmā or listens to it with an attentive mind, all his desires get fulfilled, there is no doubt about it.

अपुत्रो लभते पुत्रं प्रियाहीनो लभेत्प्रियाम्।
निर्धनो लभते सत्यं परिपूर्णतमं धनम्॥२७॥

A man without son gets a son, without a wife, gets a wife and a pauper receives immense riches surely.

इह लोके सुखं भुक्त्वा चान्ते दास्यं लभेद्धरेः।
अचलां भक्तिमाप्नोति मुक्तेरपि सुदुर्लभाम्॥२८॥

Enjoying all the pleasures in this world, he achieves the slavehood of the lord ultimately and, achieves his everlasting abode.

स्तुत्वा च जगतां धाता प्रणम्य च पुनः पुनः।
शनैः शनैः समुत्थाय भक्त्या पुनरुवाच ह॥२९॥

He was thus eulogised by Brahmā who prostrated before him again and again with his mind filled with devotion.

ब्रह्मोवाच

उत्तिष्ठ देवदेवेश परमानन्दकारण।
नन्दनन्दन सानन्द नित्यानन्द नमोऽस्तु ते॥३०॥
व्रज नन्दालयं नाथ त्यज वृन्दावनं वनम्।
स्मर सुदामशापं च शतवर्षनिबन्धनम्॥३१॥

Brahmā said- O lord of the gods, O blissful one, the delight of Nanda, you are filled with bliss, are all blissful, I bow in reverence to you. O lord, leaving Vṛndāvana you go to the abode of Nanda. You remember the curse of Sudāmā in which you have to remain separated from your beloved for a hundred years.

भक्तशापानुरोधने शतवर्षं प्रियां त्यज।
पुनरेनां च संप्राप्य गोलोकं च गमिष्यसि॥३२॥
गत्वा पितृगृहं देव पश्चात्क्रूरं समागतम्।
पितृव्यमतिथिं मान्यं धन्यं वैश्णवमीश्वर॥३३॥
तेन सार्धं मधुपुरीं भगवन् गच्छ सांप्रतम्।
कुरु शंभोर्धनुर्भङ्गं भग्नं वैरिगणं हरे॥३४॥

Because of the curse of your devotees, you have to get separated from your beloved for a hundred years. You will get back again and go to Goloka but O lord, presently you go and reach the abode of your father and meet Akrūra who happens to be your uncle and has arrived here. He is quite adorable, graceful and a great Vaiṣ ṇava. O lord, you go to Mathurā accompanied by him. O Hari, reaching there you break the bow of Śiva and destroy the enemies.

हन कंसं दुरात्मानं तातं बोधय मातरम्।
निर्माणं द्वारकायाश्च भारावतरणं भुवः॥३५॥

You free yourself from your parents from the bondage, killing the wicked Kaṁsa. Thereafter you build the city of Dvārakā and relieve the earth of her burden.

दह वाराणसीं शंभोः शक्रस्य सदनं विभो।
शिवस्य जृम्भणं युद्धे बाणस्य भुजकृन्तनम्॥३६॥

O virtuous one, destroying the city of Kāśī of lord Śiva you have to destroy the abode of Indra also, engaging Śiva in a trance, you destroy the arms of Bāṇāsura.

रुक्मिणीहरणं नाथ घातनं नरकस्य च।
षोडशानां सहस्रं च स्त्रीणां पाणिग्रहं कुरु॥३७॥

O lord, kidnapping Rukmiṇī, you kill Narakāsura and marry the sixty thousand girls there.

त्यज प्रियां प्राणसमां व्रजेश्वर व्रजं व्रज।
उत्तिष्ठोत्तिष्ठ भद्रं ते यावद्राधा न जाग्रति॥३८॥

O lord of Vraja, disowning your beloved who is dearer to you than your life, you proceed to Vraja. Till such time as Rādhā does not wake up, you get up at once. You will meet with welfare.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा ब्रह्मा च सेन्द्रैर्देवगणैः सह।
जगाम ब्रह्मलोकं च शेषश्च शंकरस्तथा॥३९॥

Thus speaking Indra together with the gods like Brahmā went back to Brahmaloka. The serpent Śeṣa and Śiva also retired to their respective abodes.

पुष्पचन्दनवृष्टिं च कृष्णस्योपरि देवताः।
चक्रुः प्रीत्या च भक्त्या च वाग्बभूवाशरीरिणी॥४०॥
बध कंसं वधार्हं च स्वपित्रोर्मोक्षणं कुरु।
क्षयं कुरु भुवो भारं नारदेत्येवमेव च॥४१॥

Thereafter filled with devotion the god showered the flowers soaked with sandal-paste on the lord and they heard a divine voice from the sky which said, "Kaṁsa is fit for killing. By killing him relieve your parents of bondage and then relieve the earth of her burden.".

इत्येवं तद्वचः श्रुत्वा भगवान् भूतभावनः।
राधा भगवती त्यक्त्वा समुत्तस्थौ शनैः शनैः॥४२॥

Hearing all these words, for the welfare of the people, lord Kṛṣṇa leaving aside Rādhā got up slowly.

ययौ हरिः कियद्दूरं निरीक्ष्य च पुनः पुनः।
क्षणं तस्थौ चन्दनानां वने वाससमीपतः॥४३॥

Looking at Rādhā again and again the lord went up to a distance and he stopped for a moment in his abode in the Candana-vana.

विहाय राधा निन्द्रां सा समुत्तस्थौ स्वतल्पतः।
न निरीक्ष्य हरिं शान्तं कान्तं च प्राणवल्लभम्॥४४॥
हा नाथ रमण प्रेष्ठ प्राणेश प्राणवल्लभ।

प्राणचोर प्रियतम क्व गतोऽसीत्युवाच ह॥४५॥

Rādhā on the other hand woke up and get up from her bed. She was peaceful, beautiful but finding her lord missing who was beautiful and peaceful, she said, "O lord, the extremely dear one, O lord of my life, the chief of my life, O beloved one, where have you gone.

क्षणमन्वेषणं कृत्वां बभ्राम मालतीवनम्।
उवास क्षणमुत्तस्थौ क्षणं सुष्वाप भूतले॥४६॥
रुरोद क्षणमत्युच्चैर्विललाप मुहुर्मुहुः।
आगच्छाऽऽगच्छ हे नाथेत्येवमुक्त्वा पुनः पुनः॥४७॥

After searching for him for a moment she went to the Mālatī-vana. She rested there for a while and again got up and then slept on the floor. She started crying in a moment saying, "O lord." Repeating these words again and again, she started lamenting loudly.

मूर्च्छां संप्राप संतापात्संप्तता विरहानलैः।
भूतले च तृणाच्छन्ने पपात च यथा मृता॥४८॥

Burning with the fire of separation she fainted and she lay there on the grassy land like a dead person.

आययुस्तत्र गोप्यश्च ब्रह्मञ्छतसहस्रशः।
काश्चिच्चामरहस्ताश्च गृहीत्वा चन्दनद्रवम्॥४९॥

O Brahman, at that point of time a lakh of cowherdesses arrived there to serve her, some of whom were carrying in their hands the fly-whisks and sandal-paste.

तासां मध्ये प्रिया लीला कृत्वा राधां स्ववक्षसि।
मृतामिव प्रियां दृष्ट्वा रुरोद प्रेमविह्वला॥५०॥

Līlā has been the most favourable of the cowherdesses of Rādhā who picked her up and embraced her. Finding her friend like a dead person, she was upset and started crying.

सजलं पङ्कजदलं पङ्कोपरि निधाय च।
स्थापयामास तां राधां निश्चेष्टां च मृतामिव॥५१॥

She spread the lotus leaves on the ground and then she placed the body of Rādhā on the same who was sleeping without any movement.

गोपीभिः सेवितां तत्र रुचिरैः श्वेतचामरैः।
चन्दनद्रवयुक्तां च स्निग्धवस्त्रान्वितां सतीम्॥५२॥
ददर्श कृष्णस्तत्रैत्य तामेव प्राणवल्लभाम्।
निवारितश्च गोपीभिर्बलिष्ठाभिश्च नारद॥५३॥
यथा नीतः सापराधो दण्डयो राजभटादिभिः।
चकार राधां क्रोडे च समागत्य कृपानिधिः॥५४॥
चेतनां कारयामास बोधयामास बोधनैः।
संप्राप्य चेतनां देवी ददर्श प्राणवल्लभाम्॥५५॥
बभूव सुस्थिरा देवी तत्याज विरहज्वरम्।
चकार कान्तं सा कान्ता गात्रालिङ्गनमीप्सितम्॥५६॥
नानाप्रकारशृङ्गारं चकार मधुसूदनः।
उवास रत्नतल्पे च राधां कृत्वा स्ववक्षसि॥५७॥

The cowherdesses holding beautiful white fly-whisks started serving her and applying sandal-paste on her body and then clad her in a thick garment. In the meantime, lord Kṛṣṇa also arrived there and found Rādhā there who was dearer to him than his life. O Nārada, at that point of time the strong and powerful cowherdesses were preventing the entry of Kṛṣṇa towards the place of Rādhā like the soldiers of the king. But the compassionate Kṛṣṇa, reaching there lifted Rādhā and took her in his lap and enlightened her with various types of divine knowledge. On regaining consciousness, Rādhā looked at the lord of her life and getting composed, she shed away the pain of separation. Thereafter, the beautiful Rādhā embraced her beloved and Madhusūdana on his part carried Rādhā to the bed of gems and enjoyed the love-sport with her.

राधासखी रत्नमाला विदग्धा सर्वपूजिता।
उवाच कृष्णं मधुरं नीतिसारमनुत्तमम्॥५८॥

Thereafter Ratnamālā, the dearest friend of Rādhā, spoke to Kṛṣṇa in sweet tone the words which were very appropriate.

रत्नमालोवाच

शृणु कृष्ण प्रवक्ष्यामि परिणामसुखावहम्।
हितं तथ्यं नीतिसारं दंपत्योः प्रीतिकारणम्॥५९॥
संमतं कामशास्त्रेषु नीतौ वेदपुराणयोः।
लौकिकव्यवहारेषु प्रशस्यं सुयशस्करम्॥६०।

Ratnamālā said- O Kṛṣṇa, you listen to me, I am going to talk to you that which would be quite pleasant, beneficial, truthful and the tattva of polity besides being the cause of immense love of a couple. It is strictly according to the scriptures on love, polity, Vedas, Purāṇas and human behaviour. These words also bestow great reputation.

नारीणां च प्रिया माता प्रियो भ्राता च बन्धुषु।
ततः प्रियश्च पुत्रश्च पुत्रादेव प्रियः पतिः॥६१॥

Of all the women the mother is extremely lovable of all the relatives, the brothers is lovable and the son is more lovable than him. A husband is more lovable than the son.

शतपुत्रात्प्रियः स्वामी साध्वीनां साधुसंमतः।
रसिकानां विदग्धानां न हि भर्तु. परः प्रियः॥६२॥

The chaste lady loves her husband more than a hundred sons. This is well-known. The passionate woman and the one who is well versed in the art of making love is devoted to her husband the most and no one can equal the husband.

यदि भर्ता विदग्धश्च विदग्धानां सुखावहः।
अन्यथा विषतुल्यश्च विषमश्चेत्खलः खलु॥६३॥

In case the husband is also well-versed in the art of making love, in spite of that for the ladies he is quite pleasant and in case a husband is wicked and foolish, he is treated like poison and is always troublesome.

संसारे चानृते वत्स दंपत्योः प्रीतिरेव च।
परस्परं च समता प्रियसौभाग्यमीप्सितम्॥६४॥

O Kṛṣṇa, the love of a couple is considered to be quite important in the universe. The equality of a couple is the biggest fortune and is also desirable.

दंपत्योः समता नास्ति यत्र-यत्र हि मन्दिरे।
अलक्ष्मीस्तत्र तत्रैव विफलं जीवनं तयोः॥६५॥

The household in which the couple is not treated with equality, poverty dwells there and the life of both of them becomes of no consequence.

सुस्वामिनां विभेदश्च परं दुःखं च योषिताम्।
शोकसंतापबीजं च जीवितं मरणाधिकम्॥६६॥

It is extremely painful for the woman to get separated from a meritorious husband. This separation could be the seed of grief and lamenting. And they have to suffer from it throughout the life.

स्वप्ने जागरणे चापि पतिः प्राणाश्च योषितः।
पतिरेव गुरुः स्त्रीणामिह लोके परत्र च॥६७॥

Whether sleeping or awake, the husband happens to be the life of the women. He is also considered to be their teacher in this as well as in the future life.

अस्मात्त्वयि गते नाथे मूर्च्छां संप्राप राधिका।
पपात सहसा भूमौ तृणाच्छन्ने च भूतले॥६८॥

It is because of this that Rādhikā fainted after your departure and fell down suddenly on the grassy land.

मया दत्तं मुखेऽस्याश्च शीतलं जलमुत्तमम्।
तदा श्वासो बभूवास्याश्चेतनं बाल्यमेव च॥६९॥

I poured the cool and best water over her after which she regained consciousness and she started breathing again and again she regained her glow.

क्षणं वदति हे नाथ हे कृष्णेति क्षणं सखी।
क्षणं रोदिति संतप्ता मूर्च्छां प्राप्नोति तत्क्षणम्॥७०॥
राधिकायाः शरीरं संतप्तं विरहानलैः।
दग्धलोहयष्टिसममस्पृश्यमनलोपमम्॥७१॥

Another cowherdesses spoke again, "O lord, O Kṛṣṇa," she then started crying in a moment and in a moment she fell down and fainted. As the iron rod becomes untouchable having been burnt in fire similarly the body of Rādhā became untouchable with the fire of separation .

स्वप्ने जागरणे रात्रौ दिवसे च गृहे वने।
जले स्थले चान्तरिक्षेऽभ्युदये चन्द्रसूर्ययोः॥७२॥
नास्ति भेदश्च राधाया मृततुल्या जडाकृतिः।
शश्वत्पश्यति स्थानस्था सर्वं विष्णुमयं जगत्॥७३॥

While sleeping or awake, during day or night in the house or in the forest on land or in water, in the sun and the moon shining in the sky,

Rādhā became motionless like a dead person. She was unable to distinguish anything. Lying on the ground she thought everything in the from of Viṣṇu.

स्निग्धपङ्के पङ्कजानां सजलानि दलानि च।

Collecting the petals of lotus flowers, a bed was made for her on the wet land Rādhā suffering from the pain of separation slept on that bed, the sandal-paste was applied on the thick garments and her female friends started serving her by moving the fly-whisks of white colour but with the touch of the limbs of Rādhā, the mud dried up and the leaves of the lotus flower were also burn out. O Hari, the sandal-paste was dried up and the complexion of the body was turned into the colour of black hair.

The spot of vermilion was turned into black. The costumes, the divine dance and the divine people were discarded. Ratnamālā finding Rādhā in such a condition went to Kṛṣṇa and spoke sweet words which were quite beneficial for Rādhā.

हे कृष्ण कमलाकान्त त्वद्वियोगेन मत्सखी।

Ratnamālā said- O Kṛṣṇa, O lord of Kamalā, in separation from you, my friend would surely meet the end of her life. In case you do not arrive, she is sure to die.

Lord Kṛṣṇa said- O Ratnamālā, since I am the lord on to myself I am quite competent to remove the cause of her suffering but I am not competent enough to shatter the twin of the destiny.

Nārāyaṇa said- Thereafter Akrūra who was dispatched by Kaṁsa, went to his abode and took food including sweets mixed with camphor, scented betel and fragrant water and comfortably slept on the bed. Towards the end of the night, he witnessed a dream which was described in the Vedas and the Purāṇas. He found that the Brāhmaṇa boy who was quite healthy, his hair tied in a knot, clad in two garments was sleeping on the bed. He had a beautiful complexion and his face was devoid of any worry or grief. He was in tender age, having a dark complexion and two hands, holding a flute in hand, clad in pītāmbara, adorned with a garland of forest flowers, having the body plastered with sandal-paste, wearing the garland of jasmine flowers, adorned with the best of the ornaments studded with gems, having peacock feathers on his head, wearing a serene smile on the face and having the eyes like lotus flowers. O sage, he witnessed that beautiful boy in his dream for the first time .

Thereafter he saw a chaste lady whose husband and son were alive. She was clad in yellow garments adorned with the ornament of gems, holding a burning lamp in one hand and white paddy in the other. She had beautiful limbs and the face was like that of the beautiful moon of the winter season. She was wearing a serene smile on her face and was anxious to shower a boon.

He then found himself crying infatuated with illusion, then carrying the flowers and white paddy in his hands. In a moment his body was plastered with sandal-paste, in a moment he found himself seated on a roof, in the ocean filled with blood, with his wounded limbs and filled himself with blood and puss.

O Nārada, getting permission from Uddhava, adorning his teacher and the gods, with his mind set at the feet of lord Kṛṣṇa, he travelled to the abode of Kṛṣṇa. At the time of the start of his journey, he met with various auspicious symbols which bestowed welfare. He found the he-jackal and she-jackal on his left, a vase filled with water, the mangoos, Nīlakaṇtha bird, a beautiful chaste woman adorned with divine ornaments whose husband and son were alive, white flowers, garland of flowers, fried paddy, a wagtail bird. On the right side he met with the burning fire flames, a Brāhmaṇa, a bull, an Thereafter he met with snake, cuckoo, welfare sound of the musical instruments, recital of the music of Kṛṣṇa, reciting of the name of Hari and sound of victory. Thus witnessing the auspicious symbols and hearing of auspicious sound, Akrūra delightfully remembered the name of the lord and entered Vṛndāvana .

He found there the desirable Rāsamaṇḍala which was quite pleasant and was decorated with sandal-paste, aguru, kastūrī, flowers and where the fragrant cool breeze was blowing. It had several welfare pitchers, trunks of banana tree, tender leaves of the mango trees tied to a cord and spread everywhere. The place was decorated with several gems and three crores of beautiful diamonds, studded in the temple and a hundred crores of charming kuñja-cottages. Looking at the divine dance he walked in Vṛndāvana up to a distance.

Thereafter he came across the beautiful and charming Vraja of Nanda. It was quite charming like Vaikuṇṭha, having many beautiful houses and steps besides the pillars which were decorated with various types of creepers and gems; it was built by Viśvakarmā, using the best of gems. By the visible road he entered the royal gate, having a number of banners and decorated with a large number of gems. It was decorated with pearls and rubies beside the mirrors made of the gems; if had a number of maṅgala kalaśas made of gems.

When Nanda came to know about the arrival of Akrūra he was immensely delighted. Accompanied by Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa, he went to welcome him. Vṛṣabhānu and other cowherds and dancers were moving ahead. Placing the pitchers filled with water and the elephant to the fore besides black cow, they could with them madhuparka, pādya, the āsanas of gems. Nanda went to him with a delightful and humble face. The boys and the servants then saw the virtuous Akrūra there. He was immediately embraced and all the cowherds offered their salutation to him bowing their heads on the feat of Akrūra who blessed them all.

O sage, thus all the people were united together. Akrūra lifted up Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma in his lap and was overwhelmed with emotion, feeling blissful and tears started flowing from his eyes. He felt gratified and since he was successful in his mission he kissed their tender cheeks.

At that point of time, he found Kṛṣṇa having two arms clad in yellow garment, adorned with the jasmine flowers with the sandal-paste having been applied on his limbs, holding a flute in his hand. Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa and other gods including the sages like Sanaka and others were offering prayers to him. The girls of the cowherds were staring at him continuously.

The next moment he found the lord in the lap of Akrūra with four arms wearing a smile on his face surrounded by Lakṣmī and Sarasvatī, adorned with the garland of forest flowers and flanked by the courtiers like Sunanda, Nanda and Kumuda. Many of the devotees and siddhas were serving him.

In the next moment they found him with five faces, three eyes, having the complexion of spotless crystal gems, adorned with Nāgas, without robes, like eternal Brahma and with the ashes applied on his body. He had the matted locks of hair on his head and was holding a rosary in his hand like a yogī.

Again he was found in extremely graceful form, which put the lustre of the moon to shame crores of beautiful gods of love. He was loved by innumerable damsels, quite passionate and filled with passion. Finding such a type of boy, Akrūra embraced him.

O Nārada, then Akrūra placed the boy on the gem-studded lion-throne, offered to him by Nanda and with his mind filled with devotion, he went round the lord and then offered his salutation to him placing his head on the ground.

He suddenly fell down on the ground. He again saw that the lord who was standing outside was also in his heart, was the soul of all, being Īśvara, was found in dark complexion, all round, was established in the universe and the from of the universe. O Nārada, finding Akrūra having fainted, Nanda lifted him up and seated him honourably on the gem-studded lion-throne. He then enquired of him about the news and also said, "What is there being visible." Thereafter he served him with delicious sweet food and enquired about his welfare again and again. Akrūra on his part conveyed the news of Kaṁsa to him .

He carried five types of eatables like milk, curd, ghee, butter and butter milk with him and other valuable eatables. Accompanied by Vṛṣabhānu, Nanda, Sunanda and Candrabhānu, they got ready for the journey. Nanda the lord of Vraja made several of the musical instruments to be sounded including double drums, drums, paṇavas, ḍamarū, big drums and several other musical instruments.

श्रुत्वा वाद्यं च गोप्यश्च गमनं रामकृष्णयोः।

कृष्णेन वारिताः सर्वाः प्रेरिता राधया द्विज।

Listening to the sound of musical instruments and coming to know of the departure of Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa to Mathurā, the cowherdesses were extremely enraged and they arrived there finding Kṛṣṇa having mounted on the chariot. O Brahman, thereafter, inspired by Rādhā the cowherdesses in anger, in spite of dissuading lord Kṛṣṇa not to do so, broke the royal chariot with their kicks.

तत्र सर्वेषु गोपेश हाहाकारं कृतेषु च।

काचित्क्रूरं तमक्रूरं भर्त्सयामास कोपतः।
काश्चिद्बद्ध्वा च वस्त्रेण चाक्रूरं प्रययुस्ततः॥८२॥

All the cowherds cried in panic but the powerful cowherdesses embraced Kṛṣṇa and took him away. Some of them called Akrūra in anger to be quite cruel and denounced him. Some of them bound Akrūra with clothes.

काचित्तं ताडयामास कङ्कणेन करेण च।

क्षतविक्षतसर्वाङ्गं दृष्ट्वाऽक्रूरं च माधवः।

O sage, some of the cowherdesses removed the costumes of Akrūra and tried to break his armlets with their hands. Thereafter, Mādhava found Akrūra having been so injured he went to Rādhā and tried to convince her.

आध्यात्मिकेन योगेन विनयेन च सादरम्।

The lord then humbly enlightened her about the divine yoga and also to Akrūra. Again for convincing Rādhā, Kṛṣṇa went to her. In the meantime, they found a divine chariot moving in the sky which was decorated with beautiful costumes besides the gems and was built by Viśvakarmā. At the sight of the chariot, the lord of the universe went to the palace of his mother. He took his food together with all his relatives and slept there. Then the lord was surrounded by the sages Indra, Brahmā, Śiva, Śeṣa and other ascetics. O Nārada, thereafter Rādhā together with the cowherdesses also slept on the flower bed. All the people of Gokula were filled with delight, some of them started dancing and some of them were singing.

Nārāyaṇa said- With the fragrant wind blowing Rādhikā was sleeping on the bed of flowers and sandal-paste. After the three fourths of the night was over, Kṛṣṇa woke up Yaśodā to perform the welfare ceremony in the auspicious moment when the moon and the constellations were in a favourable position, lagna was auspicious and the unfavourable planets which had no bad no effect. Lord Hari himself got up and assured his relatives. Getting afraid of Rādhikā he stopped the playing of the musical instruments. The one who is independent and creator of the universe besides being the protector and maintains the entire universe, was found afraid of Rādhā.

He washed his feet and was clad in two garments. Thereafter the spotless paste was applied on his body. A pitcher filled with water was placed to his left which was filled with fruits and tender leaves and was painted with sandal-paste, aguru and Brāhmaṇas were placed to the right. In the forefront a chaste woman having the son and the husband alive was placed ahead carving the mirror and the burning lamp. The Dūrvā grass given by the teacher, beautiful flowers, the auspicious white paddy were placed on the bead, ghee, beverages, silver, gold and curd were shown to him, plastering his neck with sandal-paste, he was made to wear the garland of flowers. Thereafter, Kṛṣṇa was made to adore his teachers as well as the Brāhmaṇas.

Thereafter conches were blown and the Vedas were recited with music and the verses showering welfare were also recited by the Brāhmaṇas. Devoting the mind to the form or the one who bestows welfare, he lifted up his right foot to move forward.

The lord then pressing his nose with middle finger stopped breathing for a while from the left side, he them released the breath from the right side. Thereafter, he went to the best of the courtyard of Nanda. The lord was delightful, blissful, always engrossed in bliss, eternal, the eternal form, the eternal form of the seed, appearing in human form always, the lord of all, always engaged in welfare deeds, taking to new form always and always appearing youthful in garments and speaking always new words, his love is always achieved by internal efforts. His words are sweeter then the nectar and always look new; his feet are always eternal and fresh and his adoration is always new and eternal.

Thus the lord of illusion who always is combined with the illusion standing in that courtyard got ready to depart for the journey. In the courtyard, which was decorated with the trunks of banana trees, with tender flower leaves tied with the silken cord and the gems which were made by Viśvakarmā and painted with kastūrī, saffron and sandal-paste. Lord Kṛṣṇa together with Akrūra and other relatives made preparation for their departure. At that point of time Yaśodā stood on the left and Nanda on the right and embraced Kṛṣṇa, kissing his cheeks. The relatives also extended their love for Kṛṣṇa.

Nārāyaṇa said- O sage, lord Kṛṣṇa bowing in reverence to his teacher moved out of the camp and mounted the chariot that had arrived from heaven and moved towards the city of Mathurā. He entered in the beautiful city of Mathurā together with Akrūra and other attendants. The city of Mathurā was more beautiful than Amarāvatī, was quite charming, shining and studded with gems. It was constructed by Viśvakarmā and was invaluable, extremely beautiful, decorated with gem-studded pitchers, having hundreds of royal roads which were decorated with the best of gems and diamonds like the moon on all sides. It had many lanes which were numberless and was filled with many auspicious things, the best of the business people and thousands of lakes so abundantly found in the city. The damsels of the city were adorned with the best of the costumes and the ornaments studded with gems. The beautiful damsels were quite youthful and were raising their heads with the desire of having a look at the lotus-like face of lord Kṛṣṇa. They were looking at him with unstable eyes, their eye-brows were moving and roving. They were always feeling passionate, with the stiff pelvic region and the breasts, soft limbs, beautiful slender-waist and were well-versed in the love-sport.

The city of Amarāvatī had crores of vehicles studded with gems which were decorated with various types of ornaments and painted with paintings, variously decorated and were lodged in three crores of gardens. There were different types of fragrant flowers, in which the black wasps, greedy for the honey, were roaming about over the Bassia Latifolia trees attracting a large number of bees as well. The city had several types of forts which were invincible for the enemies and were filled by those well-versed in the scriptures on the military. Having a large number of valorous soldiers lodged in three crores of mansions, the city was quite pleasant and was built by Viśvakarmā with the best of gems. .

Looking at such a type of the city of Mathurā, the lotus-eyed lord was moving ahead. In the meantime he met with Kubjā (hunch back) who was quite old and was moving with the help of a staff, bending forward considerably. She was quite dry and was deformed and was carrying kastūrī and saffron in her hands. O Nārada, with her touch the sandal-paste and the flowers had become more fragrant.

The old women looked at lord Kṛṣṇa with a delightful mind, who was peaceful, full of lustre, abode of Lakṣmī, lord of Śrī and the abode of Śrī. The hunch-back suddenly folded her hands bowing in devotion. Bowing in devotion, lowering her head, she applied sandal-paste over the body of the lord and also on the attendants surrounding him. Holding the golden vase filled with sandal-paste, the old woman circumambulated lord Kṛṣṇa and offered her salutation to him again and again.

Thereafter at the sight of lord Kṛṣṇa, the old woman was filled with grace achieving youthfulness, beauty and a well-built body. Suddenly she appeared like beautiful and charming like Lakṣmī who was clad gem-studded in beautiful garments. Sanctified by fire and was adorned with several types of gem-studded ornaments having a youthful age of twelve years. She was quite pleasant and her lips appeared like ripe wood-apples. She was wearing a serene smile on her face, having a complexion like that of molten gold, beautiful pelvic region and teeth, the breasts like the fruit of wood-apple, wearing a garland of beautiful gems, walking slowly like an elephant adorned with the anklets of gems and the hair was well arranged in a knot which was adorned with a garland of jasmine flowers. The knot was filled towards the left in a roundish manner. The hunch-back had applied a spot of kastūrī on the forehead and above that there appeared a spot of sandal-paste. She was also adorned with a spot of vermilion like the flower of a pomegranate fruit. She was holding a mirror of gems in her hand. She was well-versed in the love-sport. She, looking with side-glances accepted lord Kṛṣṇa as her husband. The lord, on his part, also assured her and left for another place, getting gratified, Kubjā also delightfully went back to her abode like Lakṣmī. She looked at her palace which had been turned like that of Lakṣmī having the bed of gems and studded with the best of diamonds. A line of gems was inlaid in the same, the mirrors of gems were displayed on all sides which added to the grandeur. The red garments, betel, white fly-whisks and garland were held by the attendants appearing in large numbers in her abode. Reaching there delightfully, she consumed the sweet food and rested herself on the beautiful bed served by a number of female attendants. Then she went to sleep.

Thereafter the chaste lady placed on her bed the betel, camphor, kastūrī saffron and sandal-paste and nearby she placed the garland of jasmine flowers. She also arranged the cool drinking water, scented with camphor and also arranged for delicious sweets. Thereafter she physically, mentally and by actions devoted her mind at the feet of the lord. O sage, visualising about the arrival of lord Kṛṣṇa and devoting her mind to his lotus-like face, the passionate women looked at the universe in the form of Kṛṣṇa who was all passionate and filled with passion, moving a delightful mind.

ततो ददर्श श्रीकृष्णो मालाकारं मनोहरम्।

Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa looked at the gardener who was carrying the flower garlands in the royal palace. The gardener looking at the lord bowed in reverence over the ground and offered all the garlands to lord Kṛṣṇa.

कृष्णस्तस्मै वरं दत्त्वा स्वदास्यमतिदुर्लभम्।
माल्यं गृहीत्वा प्रययौ राजमार्गे वरं वर:॥३९॥
ततो ददर्श रजकं बिभ्रतं वस्त्रपुञ्जकम्।
अहंकृतिबलिष्ठं च सततं यौवनोद्धतम्॥४०॥

The lord on his part bestowed his inaccessible slavehood on the gardener and moved forward along the royal road. He then found a washerman carrying a heap of clothes who was quite strong, youthful and proud .

वस्त्रं ययाचे तं कृष्णो विनयेन महामुने।
स तस्मै च ददौ वस्त्रं तमुवाच च निष्ठुरम्॥४१॥

O sage, the lord humbly begged from him some clothes. The washerman, however, did not part with the clothes and on the other hand spoke some very harsh words.

गोरक्षकाणां त्वद्योग्यं वस्त्रमेतत्सुदुर्लभम्।
राजयोग्यं च हे मूढ हे गोपजनवल्लभ॥४२॥

The washerman said- O foolish one, O lord of the cowherds, the costumes are not meant for cowherds like you because they are meant for the king.

गृहीत्वा गोपकन्याश्च कन्यालोलुप लम्पट।
यद्विहार: कृतस्तत्र वृन्दारण्येऽप्यराजके॥४३॥
न चात्र तादृशं कर्म राज्ञ: कंसस्य वर्त्मनि।

You are greedy for girls and you are extremely wicked, the way in which you have behaved with the cowherd girl in Vṛndāvana, you cannot behave like that in the region of Kaṁsa, because the king who punishes the wicked is available here.

On hearing the words of the washerman, Madhusūdana laughed with Baladeva and together with all the cowherds. Thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa, administered a slap on the face of the washerman and snatched away all the costumes and wore them all with all the cowherds.

रत्नयानेन गोलोकं पार्षदैर्वेष्टितेन च।

शश्वद्यौवनयुक्तं च जरामृत्युहरं वरम्।

The chief of the washerman surrounded by his courtiers mounted a plane and turning to a divine form left for Goloka, having everlasting youthfulness, devoid of death and old age and the best. They were clad in yellow garments, wearing a serene smile on the faces and looked like Kṛṣṇa.

बभूव सोऽपि गोलोके पार्षदेषु च पार्षद:।

तस्मै ददौ स्वदास्यं च वरं ब्रह्मादिदुर्लभम्॥५२॥

The self-disciplined washerman reached Goloka and was turned into an attendant of the lord and started waiting there for the return of Kṛṣṇa. At sun-set Akrūra also went to his abode with the permission of lord Kṛṣṇa and Nanda. Baladeva, accompanied by Kṛṣṇa, went to a Vaiṣ ṇava Kuvinda who was very poor. The devoted Kuvinda bowed at the feet of the lord and adored him. The lord felt delighted and bestowed on him his slavehood which is beyond the reach of the gods like Brahmā and others.

पर्यङ्के सुषुपु: सर्वे भुक्त्वा मिष्टान्नमुत्तमम्।

गत्वा ददर्श कुब्जां तां रत्नतल्पे च निद्रिताम्।

After consuming the best of the sweets, all the people slept on the beds. At that point of time the lord left for the abode of Kubjā who was sleeping on the bed. Reaching there he looked at Kubjā who lying on the gem-studded bed and appeared like Lakṣmī, served by the female attendants on all sides.

बोधयामास तां कृष्णो न दासीस्वपि निद्रिताः।

सुदुर्लभं च गोलोकं जरामृत्युहरं परम्॥५८॥

Instead of waking all the attendants of Kubjā, lord woke her up alone and spoke to the chaste lady. Lord Kṛṣṇa said, "O virtuous one, O beautiful one, wake up and let me enjoy the love-sport with you because in earlier birth you happened to be Śūrpaṇakhā, the sister of Rāvaṇa. O damsel, during my incarnation as Rāma you had performed the tapas for me. Influenced by those tapas I have taken to this form and have come to you as your beloved. Therefore, you serve me. Presently you enjoy all the pleasures with me and then proceed on to Goloka which destroys birth and death.

Thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa embraced her and unrobing her, enjoyed her passionate advances. With a serene smile on her face, the passionate damsel felt shy at the first union but implanted a kiss on the lord. The lord took her in his lap like Lakṣmī.

O Nārada, the lord was well-versed in the art of making love and both of them did not rest during the physical union and they enjoyed the love-sport in various ways. Lord Kṛṣṇa scratched her breasts and the pelvic region with the nails and also sucked her nectar-like lips.

At the end of the night the lord implanted the semen in her womb after which the beautiful damsel fainted. In the lap of lord Kṛṣṇa she lost the consciousness about day and night, heaven or earth, water or earth.

Thus the time of day-break arrived and it appeared that moon had become dirty getting enraged with the husband. Thereafter the plane from Goloka arrived and she attaining the divine form went to Goloka. She was clad in the divine garments sanctified by Agni and adorned with the gem-studded ornament. She was having the complexion of molten gold becoming eternal and devoid of birth and death. O sage, she was known in the Goloka as the cowherdess Candramukhī and several types of cowherdesses became her attendants.

The lord also remaining there for a while went back to the palace where Nanda was staying delightfully. Kaṁsa on the other hand was enjoying a sound sleep in the night when he felt terrified and started witnessing frightening dreams. O sage, he saw the sun had fallen from the sky breaking into four pieces on earth and the moon also after falling from the sky had broken into ten pieces. A terrific unrobed man holding a terrific noose in his hand and besides, there also appeared a widow the wife of a Śūdra, who was also unrobed and had her nose cut off.

She was smiling and was using the line of ashes as tilakam, her white and black hair was turned upwards; she was holding a sword in one hand and a skull cup in the other, her tongue was protruding and was moving. She wore a garland of skulls round her neck. Similarly he also saw a donkey, a he-buffalo, a pig, a bear, a crow, a vulture, a white kite, a monkey, a white dog, a crocodile, a jackal, a heap of ashes, a heap of bones, a fruit of tāla tree, hair, cotton, coal, burning wood, a dead body over the burning fire, the wheel of the potter, the oil mill, the cremation ground, burnt wood, dry wood, kuśa-grass, straw, the moving headless body of a human, a crying dead body, the dry pool filled with ashes, the burnt fish, iron, the burnt out forest, Śūdra suffering from leprosy, a naked Brāhmaṇa having dishevelled hair pronouncing a horrible curse in anger, an enraged mendicant, an ascetic and a Vaiṣṇava. Thus witnessing a horrible dream he got up and spoke to his parents, brothers and the wife who was crying, infatuated with love. Thereafter he got the stage prepared and an elephant was made to stand there. He arranged for a terrific army of wrestlers. To start the welfare ceremony, he summoned the assembly and performed auspicious and welfare deeds reciting the welfare mantras. He cautioned his family priest.

Holding an astonishing sword in his hand, he seated himself on the stage and deputed the very strong warriors on duty. He made the kings, Brāhmaṇas, the mendicant, the relatives, people and the warrior to sit on the stage.

O Nārada, thereafter lord Kṛṣṇa together with Balarāma arrived there and playfully picked up the bow of Śiva. A thundering sound was created with the breaking of the bow. The entire city looked like having become deaf; looking at this Kaṁsa was immensely disturbed but lord Kṛṣṇa, the son of Devakī, was immensely delighted.

Killing the elephant and the wrestler he entered the assembly. At that point of time, all the ascetics with their delightful mind were looking at the lord. The gods were looking at the lord with a delightful mind, while the kings on the other hand, looked at him in the form of a great lord who was the ruler of the kings.

The parents looked at them like an infant, while the damsels looked at them like the beautiful god of love. Kaṁsa on the other hand looked at Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma as his own enemies as well as the enemies of his relatives. The wrestler looked at them like the god of death and all the Yādavas looked at them like their own lives .

Lord Kṛṣṇa holding the Sudarśana-cakra in his hand bowed in reverence to the sage, the Brāhmaṇas, his parents and the teacher and moved towards the stage and reached close to Kaṁsa. O sage, the all merciful lord who is attached to his devotees and bestowing his grace on the devotees dragged Kaṁsa from the platform and killed him without much difficulty.

At the time of the death, Kaṁsa looked at the entire universe like Kṛṣṇa and also found, the arrival of the plane studded with gems. O sage, taking to the divine form, he mounted on the plane and went to Viṣṇuloka and his lustre was merged into the lotus-like feet of lord Kṛṣṇa.

Thus after killing Kaṁsa he distributed riches to Brāhmaṇas and bestowed the kingship to the intelligent Ugrasena who was born in the lunar race. On the other hand the mother of Kaṁsa, his wives, the father, the brothers, the mother, the sisters and the wives or brothers started lamenting. They cried "O Rājendra, you appear before us, get up and occupy the royal lion-throne and rule over the country protecting the riches and the relatives besides the army. O valorous person, where have you gone leaving us like orphans, the people said. The one who could create and preserve all the creatures from Brahmā to the least blade of grass playfully and who is adored by Brahmā, Śeṣa, Śiva, Dharma, Sūrya, Gaṇeśa, Gaṅgā, the group of sages and the gods continuously during day and night, the same lord Kṛṣṇa is adored in the Vedas. Sarasavtī recites his name feeling panicky while Prakṛti offers prayers to him delightfully. He is beyond Prakṛti and in the form of eternal Brahma and is adored by all. He moves at will unattached, without qualities, without blemish, beyond everyone, eternal Brahma, the great soul, the great lord, eternal, the form of eternal flame, the one who takes to a definite form for the sake of his devotees, always blissful, eternal and imperishable, the same lord, under the influence of illusion and in order to relieve the earth of her burden, has incarnated on earth together with the cowherds. He is the lord of illusion. He is lord of all and in case he kills someone, no one on earth can protect him. The one who is protected by the eternal soul, who on earth can kill him?.

इत्येवमुक्त्वा सर्वश्च विरराम महामुने।
ब्राह्मणान्भोजयामास तेभ्य: सर्वं धनं ददौ॥१०६॥

O sage, all the people thus spoke among themselves and then kept quiet. Thereafter they served the Brāhmaṇas with food and distributed riches to them.

भगवानपि सर्वात्मा जगाम पितुरन्तिकम्।

On the other hand lord Kṛṣṇa who happens to be the soul of all went to his parents and he cut off the falters of iron and freed them. He prostrated before his parents and humbly offered prayers to them.

श्रीभगवानुवाच

सर्वेषामपि पूज्यानां पिता वन्द्यो महान् गुरु:।
पितु: शतगुणैर्माता गर्भधारणपोषणात्॥११०॥

Śrī Kṛṣṇa said- The one who does not maintain his father, mother, the teacher who bestows knowledge, the teacher who bestows mantra, such a person always remains impure throughout the world because, of all the people in the world the father is quite adorable besides the teacher and the mother who carries a child in her womb. The parents who bring up the child are therefore adorable a hundred times more.

Because they bestow welfare, of all those who bestow welfare to all are also treated as the mother. Therefore, there is no other relative closer than the mother in the universe but the teacher who bestows knowledge is more glorious than the mother because, according to the Vedas, there is no one else more adorable than him. O sage, thus speaking lord Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma offered their salutation to them. Thereafter the parents also embraced their children and were served with sweet food. Vasudeva getting delighted performed the welfare ceremonies and serving the Brāhmaṇas with food, distributed wealth among them.

Nanda and others relieved of Grief

नारायण उवाच

अथ कृष्णश्च सानन्दं नन्दं तं पितरं बल:।

उच्चै रुदन्तं निश्चेष्टं पुत्रविच्छेदकातरम्।

Nārāyaṇa said- Lord Kṛṣṇa imparted spiritual knowledge to Panda who was suffering from the grief of separation of the son and feeling helpless was crying aloud, getting fainted. Thereafter, the lord of the universe offered him the best of gems and said.

निबोध नन्द सानन्दं त्यज शोकं मुदं लभ।
ज्ञानं गृहाण मद्दत्तं यद्दत्तं ब्रह्मणे पुरा॥३॥
यद्यद्दत्तं च शेषाय गणेशायेश्वराय च।
दिनेशाय मुनीशाय योगीशाय च पुष्करे॥४॥

Kṛṣṇa said- O Nanda, shed away the grief and feel delighted and blissful, hearing my words. I am imparting divine knowledge to you which you kindly receive. The divine knowledge was imparted by me in earlier times at Puṣkara-kṣetra to Brahmā, Śeṣa, Gaṇeśa, Śiva, Sūrya, the ascetics and the great yogīs.

क: कस्य पुत्र: कस्तात: का माता कस्यचित्कुत:।
आयान्ति यान्ति संसारं परं स्वकृतकर्मणा॥५॥

The people continue to come and go in this universe according to the result of their actions. Therefore who is the father of whom and who is the son of whom?.

कर्मानुसाराज्जन्तुश्च जायते स्थानभेदत:।

Everyone takes birth at a particular place according to his karmas. Someone takes birth with the great yogīs, someone with the queen, some with Brāhmaṇa woman, someone with Kṣ atriyas, Vaiśyas and Śūdra women. Thus someone is born as a bird, someone as an animal. Influenced by my illusion, all the people feel delight in the various types of worldly pleasures and feel painful at heart with the departure of their relatives.

प्रजाभूमिधनादीनां विच्छेदो मरणाधिक:।
नित्यं भवति मूढश्च न च विद्वाञ्छुचा युत:॥९॥

For them the loss of their sons and daughter, the land and the riches is more painful than even death. Because of this, these foolish people suffer form grief but the intelligent never do so.

मद्भक्तो भक्तियुक्तश्च मद्याजी विजितेन्द्रिय:।
मन्मन्त्रोपासकश्चैव मत्सेवानिरत: शुचि:॥१०॥

My devotees who is filled with my devotion is self-disciplined and adores by the reciting of the mantras and because of his being always devoted to me, he always remains spotless and without blemish.

Feeling panicky from me the wind blows, the sun rises and illumines the universe, the moon rises with all the rays and Indra pours timely rains, the fire burns, the death takes sway the lives of the people, the trees blossom timely with flowers and fruits.

The wind has no base but it carries the tortoise, the tortoise carries Śeṣa and Śeṣa carries the mountains, the seven nether worlds stand in a line. The waters of the nether worlds are quite static and the earth is floating on the water.

The heaven and other seven lokas are based on earth, the Jyotiścakra and the constellation stand on the bases of the planets but the Vaikuṇṭha stands with out any base and is beyond the globe. Goloka is situated at a distance of fifty crores of yojanas beyond that, which is floating. The Goloka having no base is built with the best of gems having seven gates, having seven substances, seven moats and lakhs of boundary walls. A river named Virajā flows there. Goloka is surrounded by the mountains of hundred peaks covered with gems, a single peak of which spreads over an area of ten thousand yojanas and is filled with lustre.

It is surrounded by the blossoming Pārijāta flowers a thousand kalpavṛkṣa and a hundred flower orchards in which several types of flowers are blossoming. There are three crores of gem-studded houses, a lakh of cowherdesses who reside there well guarded, the lamps are made of gems, the beds are made of gems and several types of eatables are stored there. It has a hundred step-wells of honey. Similarly there are several step-wells filled with nectar and are also filled with several types of cosmetics and other articles required during love-sport. O lord of Vraja, thus I am narrating to you the number of the buildings of Goloka which are unknown even to the best of intellectuals. It has three crores of palaces which are studded with gems beside the charming and beautiful Bhavana of Rādhā. This palace of Rādhā is decorated with invaluable pitchers of gems and the mirrors of gems which illumine. There are lines of gem-studded pillars, has a large number of white fly whisks which are quite astonishing. The handles of the fly-whisks were decorated with the best of gems and rubies. The lamps of gems illumined the area. The steps are decorated with gems and the vases are also made of gems. The beds are also decorated with lines of gems and painted with three types of paintings with three moats. There are difficult entrance gates, there are sixteen apartments. At the gates of these apartments, sixteen lakhs of cowherdesses are deputed to guard them who are clad in the best of garments sanctified by fire and adorned with the best of gem-studded ornaments. They have the complexion of molten gold and illumine like hundreds of moons. The attendants of Rādhikā are lodged there

The court-yard of that palace is inlaid with beautiful gems, which is decorated with the best of the pillars studded with gems, the tree, the leaves and the fruits besides the welfare pitchers made of gems and the pedestals made with rubies. They have innumerable beautiful mirrors made of gems. Thus the palace is decorated with invaluable gems and happen to be the best of all the palaces on which Rādhikā is seated attended by a lakh of cowherdesses. She illumines like crores of full moons, having a complexion of white campaka flowers, adorned with all the beautiful ornaments and is clad in gem-studded costumes, holding in her hands a mirror and a beautiful lotus of gems; she applies a spot of vermilion of the size of the flowers of pomegranate and also spots of kastūrī and sandal-wood. She wears round her neck the garland of jasmine flowers and her hair is tied in a knot. The knot is tilted towards the left which attracts even the sages. Thus Rādhā is served by the cowherdesses all round. All the cowherdesses carry in their hands white fly-whisks and are adorned with the best of gem-studded ornaments. Rādhā happens to be the best of the goddesses of my life. She is currently reborn as the daughter of Vṛṣabhānu, because of the curse of Sudāmā.

शताब्दिको हि विच्छेदो भविष्यति मया सह।
तेन भारावतरणं करिष्यसि भुवः पितः॥४३॥
तदा यास्यामि गोलोकं तया सार्धं सुनिश्चतम्।
त्वया यशोदया चाऽपि गोपैर्गोपीभिरेव च॥४४॥
वृषभानेन तत्पत्न्या कलावत्या च बान्धवैः।
एवं च नन्दं सानन्दं यशोदां कथयिष्यसि॥४५॥
त्यज शोकं महाभाग व्रजैः सार्धं व्रजं व्रज।
अहमात्मा च साक्षी च निर्लिप्तः सर्वजीविषु॥४६॥

O father, I have to be separated from her for a hundred years during which period, I shall relieve the earth of her burden and thereafter I shall proceed to Goloka. This is certain. You yourself, Yaśodā, all the cowherds and cowherdesses, Vṛṣabhānu his wife Kalāvatī and all other relatives will proceed with me. O Nanda, you convey all this to Yaśodā also. Therefore, O virtuous one, now you shed away the grief and move to Vraja. I happen to be the soul of all, the witness of all, pervade in all, but still I remain uninvolved.

जीवो मत्प्रतिबिम्बश्च इत्येवं सर्वसंमतम्।
प्रकृतिर्मद्विकारा च साऽप्यहं प्रकृतिः स्वयम्॥४७॥
यथा दुग्धे च धावल्यं न तयोर्भेद एव च।
यथा जले तथा शैत्यं यथा वह्नौ च दाहिका॥४८॥
यथाऽऽकाशे तथा शब्दो भूमौ गन्धो यथा नृप।
यथा शोभा च चन्द्र च यथा दिनकरे प्रभा॥४९॥
यथा जीवस्तथाऽऽत्माहं तथैव राधया सह।
त्यज त्वं गोपिकाबुद्धिं राधायां मयि पुत्रताम्॥५०॥

Soul is my reflection, this is admitted by all, Prakṛti is my deformed form and I alone happen to be the form of Prakṛti. O king, as the whiteness cannot be separated from milk and the coolness of the water cannot be separated from it, the instinct of burning cannot be separated from fire, the sound cannot be separated from the sky, the fragrance cannot be separated from the earth, the lustre cannot be separated from the sun or the moon, the soul cannot be separated from the great soul since there is no difference between them. Similarly Rādhā and myself are inseparable. Therefore you shed away the feeling of being a cowherdess in Rādhā and myself being a son to you.

अहं सर्वस्य प्रभवः सा च प्रकृतिरीश्वरी।

O Nanda, both of us, myself and Rādhā who represent Prakṛti or the cause of everything. Therefore I am going to reveal to you my pleasant grandeur. You kindly listen to me. O father, in the earlier times, I have displayed the same grandeur to Brahmā. In the earlier times I happened to be Kṛṣṇa among the gods who appears in Goloka with two arms .

Similarly in Vaikuṇṭha I reside as Viṣṇu having four arms, in Śivaloka I reside as Śiva, in Brahmaloka reside as Brahmā. Among those having the lustre, I represent the sun, Agni in all the auspicious things, water in all the things which flow, the mind among the organs of senses, Vāyu among these moving with speed, Yama among those who provide punishment, Kāla among those which cannot be counted, in the letters Sāmaveda in the Vedas, Indra among the fourteen Indras, Kubera among the rich people, Īśāna among the Dikpālas, sky among those who are all-pervading, the soul among the creatures and Brāhmaṇa among the varṇas. In the riches I happen to be the best of gems, gold in the glittering articles, the kaustubha gem among the gems, Sanatkumāra among the Vaiṣṇavas, Gaṇapati among the Yogīndras, Pārijāta among the flowers, Puṣkara among the holy places, Śālagrāma among those who are unthinkable, Tulasī leaf among the leaves, Skanda among the army commanders, Lakṣmaṇa among the archers, Rāma among the great kings and the moon among the constellation .
